proceleusmatic. ‖ Tetrabrachius (-brǣ·kiŭs), pl. -ii [Gr. βραχίων arm], a monster having four arms (Billings Nat. Med. Dict. 1890). Tetraca·marous a., Bot. [Gr. καμάρα vault], having four closed carpels. Tetraca·nthous a. [Gr. ἄκανθα thorn], having four spines, as a fish, etc., or thorns in groups of four, as a plant (Mayne Exp. L. 1860). Tetraca·rpellary a., Bot. of a compound fruit: having four carpels. Tetracerous (tĭtrǣ·sĕrŏs), also † Tetrace·ratous, adjs., Zool. [Gr. τετράκερως four-horned], having four 'horns' or tentacles; belonging to the Tetracera, a family of four-horned gastropods. ‖ Tetrachœnium (-ăkĭ·niŭm), Bot., pl. -ia [see ACHENE], a fruit formed of four adherent achenes. Tetrachætous (-kĭ·tŭs) a., Entom. [Gr. χαίτη mane, hair], pertaining to the Tetrachætæ, a division of the brachycerous Diptera, comprising those in which the proboscis is composed of four pieces. ‖ Tetrachirus (-kəi·rŭs) [L., ad. Gr. τετράχειρ], a monster with four hands (Billings 1890). Tetrachroma·tic a., of, pertaining to, having, or distinguishing four colours. Tetrachromic (-krō·mik) a., of four colours; capable of distinguishing (only) four colours of the spectrum. Tetrachromist, one who holds a theory of four colours; cf. POLYCHROMIST. Tetrachronous (tĭtrǣ·kiŭnəs) a., Anc. Pros. [Gr. τετράχρονος containing four times], = tetrasemic. Tetraclone (-klōən) [Gr. κλών twig, spray], a four-rayed sponge-spicule with branched ends (Cent. Dict. Suppl. 1909). Tetraccoccous (-kŏ·kŭs) a., Bot. [Gr. κόκκος berry], having four cocci or carpels; also, applied to bacteria when in four segments (Jackson Gloss. Bot. T. 1900). Tetraco·ral, one of the Tetracoralla, a division of corals (= Rugosa) in which the septa are in multiples of four; so Tetraco·ralline a., of or pertaining to the Tetracoralla. Tetracotyleau (-kŏtĭlĕ·ăn) a., Biol. [Gr. κοτυλη cup], having four rounded pit-like suckers on the head or scolex, as a tapeworm. Tetracrepid (-krĕ·pĭd) a. [Gr. κρηπίς, κρηπιδ- boot, groundwork], a desmic sponge-spicule formed on a tetract nucleus. Tetracron, Geom., pl. -a, -ons [Gr. ἄκρον summit], a solid having four vertices or solid angles, a tetrahedron; cf. POLYACRON. Tetracy·clic a., having four cycles or circles; spec. in Bot., having four whorls of floral organs. Tetrade·nous a., Bot. [Gr. ἀδήν gland], having four glands (Mayne 1860). Tetraste·rid, also ‖ -is [Gr. τετρεστηρίς, -ιδ-, f. ἄστρον star], a space of four years, a quadrennium. † Tetrafo·liate, † Tetrafo·lious adjs., Bot., four-leaved; = tetraphyllous; bijugate (Mayne), Tetragamelian (-gămĕ·liăn) [Gr. γαμήλιος bridal], a. belonging to the Tetragamelia, a division of discomedusans (Hydrozoa Acraspeda) having four subgenital pits; sb. a member of this division. Tetragamy (tĭtrǣ·gămi) [Byz. Gr. τετραγαμία], a fourth marriage. Tetragenous (tĭtrǣ·djĭnəs) a., Bacteriol. [-GEN] and -OUS], forming square groups of four, as certain micrococci. Tetra·gnath [Gr. τετράγναθ-ος], a. having four jaws; sb. a kind of spider with four jaws; so † Tetragna·thian a. ‖ Tetragoni·dium, Bot., = TETRASPORE. Tetraleioclone (-ləi·ŏklōən) [Gr. λεῖ-ος smooth: see tetraclone], a four-rayed sponge-spicule with smooth arms (Cent. Dict. Suppl. 1909). Tetrale·mma, Logic [cf. DILEMMA], a position presenting four alternatives. Tetralo·phodont a. [Gr. λόφ-ος ridge + ὀδούς, ὀδοντ- tooth], having molars with four transverse ridges, as the sub-genus Tetralophodon of mastodons. Tetrama·sthous a. [Gr. μαστός breast], having four breasts. Tetrama·stigate a. [Gr. μαστιξ, μαστιγ- whip], having four flagella (Cent. Dict. 1891). Tetramyrmeclone (-mō·rmĭklōən) [Gr. μυρμηκιά wart: see tetraclone], a four-rayed sponge-spicule, the arms covered with tubercles (Cent. Dict. Suppl. 1909). Tetranephric (-ne·frĭk) a. [Gr. νεφρός kidney], having four uriniferous or Malpighian tubes. Tetrano·mial a., Math. [after BINOMIAL], consisting of four (algebraic) terms; quadrinomial. Tetraphala·ngeate a., Comp. Anat., having four phalanges. ‖ Tetrapha·rmacon (also in L. form -pharmacum) [Gr. τετραφάρμακον], a medicine or ointment consisting of four ingredients; hence Tetrapha·rmacal a., compounded of four ingredients. Tetra·phony [Gr. φωνή voice], in early mediæval music, diaphony for four voices. Tetraphyle·tic a. [Gr. φυλετικ-ός, f. φυλέτης tribesman, φυλή tribe]: see quot. Tetraphy·llous a. Bot. [Gr. φύλλον leaf], having or consisting of four leaves; abbreviated 4-phyllous. Tetraplocau·lous a., Bot. [Gr. τετραπλοῦς fourfold + καυλό-ς stem]: see quot. Tetrapneumo·nian, Zool., a. of or pertaining to the Tetrapneumones, a division of spiders with two pairs of lung-sacs (Cent. Dict. 1891); sb. a spider of this division. Tetrapneumonous a., Zool., having four lungs or respiratory organs; applied to the Tetrapneumones (see prec.) and to the Tetrapneumona, a group of holothurians (sea-cucumbers). Tetrapo·lar a., Biol., having four (instead of only two) poles or centres of radiation: said of a karyokinetic figure. Tetrapous a. [Gr. πούς foot], four-footed. Tetrapriori·dian a. [Gr. πρίων a saw: cf. Dipriorididian], applied to graptolites having four rows of thecæ showing four serrated edges. Tetraprostyle (-prŏ·stəil) a. [Gr. πρόστυλ-ος having pillars in front], of an ancient temple: having a portico with four pillars in front. † Tetra·ptative, a. rare [see APTATE v.], that combines four things. Tetraptote, Gram. [Gr. τετράπτωτ-ος], a noun with (only) four cases. Tetra·ptych (-ptĭk), rare [Gr. πτυχ- fold], a folding picture or the like in four compartments; cf. triptych. Tetrapy·lon [ad. Gr. τετράπυλον], a building or structure with four gates. Tetrapy·ramid, Cryst., in the triclinic system, that form in which each of the two faces intercepts the three crystallographic axes. † Tetrapyre·nous a., Bot. [Gr. πυρήν fruit-stone], having four stones, as a fruit. Tetraque·trous a., Bot. [mod. L. tetraquetr-us four-angled], having four sharp angles. Tetrascele: see tetraskela. ‖ Tetrascelus (tĭtrǣ·silĭs) [Gr. τετρασκελ-ής four-legged], a monster in which the legs are duplicated (Billings 1890). Tetraschistic (-ski·stĭk) a., Stoi. [Gr. σχιστός cloven], dividing into four by fission. Tetrasele·nodont a. [SELENODONT], having four crescentic ridges, as a molar tooth; also said of a ruminant that has such teeth. Tetrasene, Pros. [Gr. τετράσημ-ος adj.], sb. a foot consisting of or equal to four short syllables; a. = tetrasemic. Tetrase·mic a., Pros., equivalent to four moræ or short syllables. Tetrase·palous a., Bot., having four sepals. Tetraskele, also tetrascele (-sĭl) and tetraske·lion [see tetrascelus], a figure consisting of four limbs radiating from a centre; spec. the FYLFOT (C. D. Suppl. 1909). ‖ Tetraspa·ston [Gr. -σπαστος, -ον, drawn]: see quot. Tetraspe·rmous a., Bot. [Gr. σπέρμα seed], having four seeds, or seeds in fours; so Tetraspe·rmal, Tetraspe·rmatous adjs. Tetrasphe·ric, Tetrasphe·rical adjs., Math., of or pertaining to four spheres. Tetrasy·mmetry, Biol., symmetry characterized by division into four similar parts. † Tetrasy·ncrasy [Gr. σύγκρασις: see CRASIS], a mixture of four elements. Tetrateuch nonce-wd., a name for the first four books of the PENTATEUCH. Tetrathe·cal a., Bot. [Gr. θήκη case, cell], four-celled, as an ovary. Te·tratheism, the doctrine of four persons in the Godhead. Te·tratheite, a believer in tetratheism. Te·tratone, Mus., also in form tetra·tonon [ad. Gr. τετράτονον], an interval containing four whole tones; an augmented fifth. Te·tratop [Gr. τόπ-ος place], 'the four-dimensional angular space inclosed between four straight lines drawn from a point not in the same three-dimensional space' (Cent. Dict. 1891). Tetra·xial a., having four axes, as some sponge-spicules; so Tetra·xile a. in same sense. Tetra·xon [Gr. ἄξων axis], sb. a sponge-spicule with four axes radiating from a centre; adj. having four axes of growth; hence Tetraxo·nian a. = tetraxon adj. Tetrazo·mal a. (sb.) Geom. [Gr. ζῶμα girdle], applied to a curve having an equation of the form $\sqrt{U} + \sqrt{V} + \sqrt{W} + \sqrt{T} = 0$, in relation to which the four curves $\sqrt{U} = 0$, $\sqrt{V} = 0$, etc. have properties of the nature of girdling: cf. POLYZOME. Tetrazo·id, Biol., any one of the four ascidiozoids developed from the germinal disk in the ascidian genus Pyrosoma (Cent. Dict. Suppl. 1909).

1904 Athenæum 4 Aug. 133/3 Prof. Lankester gave a curious theory of his own as to the derivation of the elephant's trunk from the soft upper jaw and nasal area of the extinct Tetrabelodon. 1891 Cent. Dict., Tetrablastic. [1860 MAYNE Expos. Lex., Tetracamerus, applied by Mirbel to the etairium which is composed of four canuæ.] 1891 Cent. Dict., Tetracamarous. 1900 B. D. JACKSON Gloss. Bot. Terms. 1860 MAYNE Expos. Lex., Tetracaratus, = tetracerous. 1891 Cent. Dict., Tetracerous. 1865 HENSLOW Dict. Bot. Terms, Tetracœnium*..., a fruit formed by the separating of a single ovary into four nuts; as in the Labiatæ. 1902 BALDWIN Dict. Philos. & Psychol. II. 793 Ordinary vision, which is *tetrachromatic, was called, under the dominance of the colour-triangle, trichromatic. 1902 19th Cent. Apr. 605 The vision of the second eye was *tetrachromic. 1903 Nature 19 Nov. 71/2 The second class of the colour-blind see five, four, three, two, or one colour, according to the degree of their defect, and are called pentachromic, tetrachromic, etc. 1842 WORNUM in Smith's Dict. Grk. & Rom. Antiq. s. v. Painting § 3 Ancient *tetrachromists or polychromists. 1891 Cent. Dict., *Tetrachronous. a 1864 A. GRAYCITED in WEBSTER for Tetracœcous.* [1888 ROLLESTON & JACKSON Anim. Life 743 The Palæozoic Corals are for the most part classified as Rugosa s. Tetracoralla*...'The septa are arranged in four systems, which are either disposed in a bilaterally symmetrical manner, or else are regularly radiate.] 1909 Cent. Dict. Suppl., *Tetracotylean. 1888 SOLLAS in Challenger Rep. XXV, p. lix, It ...is in some cases difficult to say, in the absence of a visible crepis, whether a desma is rhabdocrepid or *tetracrepid. Ibid. p. lx, Tetracrepid Desma. 1878 MACNAB Botany lx. (288) 161 Dicotyledones... Flowers typically *tetracyclic pentamerous. 1678 PHILLIPS New World Wds. (ed. 4), Tetraeteris*, ...the space of four years, a word used by Astronomers, and Astrologers. a 1727 NEWTON Chronol. Amended i. (1728) 75 [The Greeks] omitted an intercalary month once in eight years, which made their Octaeteris, one half of which was their Tetraeteris. 1881 LANKESTER in Encycl. Brit. XII. 557/1 In the *Tetragnathian Rhinostomes these pits remain distinct from one another..., but in the Monogamelian Rhinostomæ they unite to form one continuous sub-genital cavity. 1862 J. C. ROBERTSON Hist. Christ. Ch. IV. v. II. Μορφαστοί. He [Synesius Metropolitan] says that the lawfulness of 'tetragamy' was believed to have been revealed to Euthymius. 1888 Science 15 June 283/2 The constituents of the colony turned out to be a *tetragenous microbe quite distinct from the plain atmospheric micrococcus. 1608 TOPSELL Serpents (1658) 771 Nicander...confesseth, that the Ash-coloured *Tetragnath, doth not by his biting infuse any venom or like hurt. Ibid., If a man be wounded of the *Tetragnathian Spider, the place waxeth whitish, with an intolerable, vehement, and continual pain in it. 1835 KIRBY Hab. & Inst. Anim. II. xvi. 85 Those Phalangians which are dominated Tetragnatha, or having four jaws. 1882 VINES Sachs' Bot. 287 The asexual organs of reproduction are gonidia; since four are usually formed in a mother-cell, they are termed Tetragonidia*...When the thallus consists of rows of cells, the tetragonidia are produced in the apical cell of lateral branches. 1867 AINWATER Logic 151 The names Trilemma, *Tetralemma, Polylemma have been sometimes given to this sort of Syllogism according to the number of members or horns. 1889 NICHOLSON & LYDEKKER Palæont. (ed. 3) II. 1398 In the *Tetralophodont group the number of ridges in the cheek-teeth is greater than in the former group. 1860 MAYNE Expos. Lex., *Tetramasthous. 1890 BILLINGS Nat. Med. Dict., Tetramasthous, having four breasts. 1898 A. S. PACKARD Text-bk. Entomol. 355 In at least one case (Melolontha), the *tetranephric is ontogenetically derived from the hexanephric condition by the suppression of one pair of tubules. 1817 H. T. COLEBROOKE Algebra, etc. 280 Put the binomial root for first term;...then put the *tetranomial, and afterwards the *tetranomial, for first radical term; until the proposed number be exhausted. 1898 Nature 3 Feb. 319/1 In the full-grown foetus of a Vespertilio the fourth digit of the manus is *tetraphalangeate. 1897 TOMLINSON Kenrick's Dict. 145 The *Tetrapharmacal unguent, which consists..of Wax, Rosine, Pitch and Bulls fat. 1727-41 CHAMBERS Cycl., Tetrapharmacum*, ..denotes any remedy consisting of four ingredients. 1842 BRANDE Dict. Sc., etc., Tetrapharmacon*, an ointment composed of four remedies; namely wax, resin, lard, and pitch. 1900 B. D. JACKSON Gloss. Bot. Terms, Tetraphyletic*, applied to hybrids with four strains in their descent. 1731 BAILEY vol. II, Tetraphyllous.* 1775 J. JENKINSON Descr. Brit. Pl. 158 The cup [of Charnock] is tetraphyllous and erect. 1900 B. D. JACKSON Gloss. Bot. Terms, Tetraplocaulous*, having quaternary axes. 1842 BRANDE Dict. Sc., etc., Tetrapneumonians*, Tetrapneumones,..a section of spiders..comprehending those which have four pulmonary sacs. 1902 D. J. HAMILTON in Encycl. Brit. XXXI. 574/1 (Description of Plate) D. *Tetrapolar karyokinesis. E. Another form of tetrapolar division. 1890 BILLINGS Nat. Med. Dict., Tetrapous, having four feet.] 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., *Tetrapous. 1888 Cassell's Encycl. Dict., *Tetraprionidian. 1891 Cent. Dict., *Tetraprostyle. 1471 RIPLEY Comp. Alch. IV. viii. in Ashm. Theat. Chem. Brit. (1652) 146 Thyrd mynyrall water and also the last of all, Fowre Elements together whych joynyth to abyde, *Tetraptative certainely Phylosophers doth hyt call. 1656 BLOUNT Glossogr., Tetraptote*, declined in four cases. 1704 J. HARRIS Lex. Techn. I, Tetraptotes, ...such defective Nouns, as have only four Cases; as Plus, which wants the Dative and Vocative Singular. 1904 H. C. BUTLER Archit. & Other Arts xii. 393 Conjectured to have been vaulted tetrapylons at the crossing of the basilicas. 1737 BAILEY vol. II, Tetrapyrenous, which has four Seeds or Kernels, as Agrifolium, Holly, &c.] 1882 MAW in Trans. Bot. XI. 88 The Scape..is either *tetraquetrous or triquetrous. 1882 LANKESTER in Encycl. Brit. XIX. 83/1 They [chlorophyll corpuscles] multiply by fission, usually *tetraschistic, independently of the general protoplasm. 1890 Amer. Nat. May 471 To sustain the view that the *tetraselenodont forms are the descendants of the pentaselenodont Artiodactyla. 1896 GILDERSLEEVE Lex. Gram. (ed. 3) 459 *Tetraseme long. 1891 Cent. Dict., *Tetrasemic. 1892 LOUDON Encycl. Pl. (1836) 1069 A *tetrasepalous tetrapetalous flower. 1842 BRANDE Dict. Sc., etc., Tetraspaston*, in Mechanics, a machine in which four pulleys all act together. 1860 MAYNE Expos. Lex., Tetraspermatus,..four-seeded; *tetraspermal: *tetraspermatous. 1760 J. LEE Introd. Bot. ii. viii. (1765) 89 Monopetalous *Tetraspermous. 1889 F. A. BATHER in Q. Journ. Geol. Soc. XLV. ii. 562 The structure above described for Engeniacrinus is ..also found..with the necessary modifications due to *tetrasymmetry, in Tetracrinus. 1651 BIGGS New Disp. § 246 If they will have the pus to be made out of a *Tetrasynncrasy or commixture of the humors. 1906 Rev. of Theol. & Philos. Jan. 457 An elaborate work on the Pentateuch (or rather the *Tetrateuch, since Deuteronomy is lightly passed over). 1849 BALFOUR Mem. Geology § 405 A quadricolular..or *tetrathecal..anther. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Tetrathecal, Biol., applied to a four-chambered ovary. 1874 J. H. BLUNT Dict. Sects & Heresies s. v. Damianists, Their theory led to the conclusion that there are four Gods, the three separate and subordinate Hypostases and the one superior Αὐτόθεος, hence they were also named Tetratheites. 1775 ASH, Tetratonon, the superfluous fifth. 1801 in BUSBY Dict. Mus. 1888 ROLLESTON & JACKSON Anim. Life 802 Tetractina: spicules to a great extent *tetraxile. 1886 Proc. Zool. Soc. 21 Dec. 581 Spicules more or less clearly *tetraxon, often branched. 1887 Sollas in Encycl. Brit. XXII. 416/2 (Sponges) Tetraxon Quadriradiate Type (Calthrops).—Growth from a centre in four directions inclined at about 120° to each other. 1889 Cayley Math. Papers VI. 488 On the Trizonal Curve and the *Tetrazonal Curve. Ibid. 486 The tetrazonals are each of them a curve of the order $4^{th}$; and they intersect therefore in only $16^{ts}$ points.

2. In Chemical nomenclature, in the names of compounds and derivatives with the general sense of 'four-', 'four times'. a. In substantives: (a) Prefixed to names of binary compounds of elements or radicals, names of salts, etc., to signify four atoms, groups, or equivalents of the element or radical in question; as tetrachloride, a compound of four atoms of chlorine with some other element or radical; so tetrasulphide, tetriodide, Tetroxide, tetrahydroxide, tetramethide, tetraacetate, tetraphosphate, etc. (b) Prefixed to names of elements or radicals (or the combining forms, as bromo-, nitro-, oxy-, phospho-, azo-) entering into the name of a compound, to signify that four atoms or groups of the element or radical are substituted in the substance designated by the rest of the name, as tetrabromobenzene, $C_6H_2Br_4$, in which four of the hydrogen atoms of benzene, $C_6H_6$, are replaced by four bromine atoms; so tetramethylbenzene, $C_6H_2(CH_3)_4$. (c) In some words used irregularly, as tetrasalicylide, $C_{28}H_{18}O_9$: see quot. 1875 [2].

1866 Odling Anim. Chem. 59 $C\ Cl_4$, Carbon tetrachloride. 1869 Roscoe Elem. Chem. xi. 121 Fluorine forms, with the silicon contained in the glass, a volatile compound called Silicon tetrafluoride. 1875 Watts Dict. Chem. VII. 1032 When the barium salt [of pyromucic acid] mixed with sodalime is heated, a compound called tetraphenol, $C_4H_4O$, distils over. Ibid. 1067 Schiff...prepares salicylide, $C_7H_4O_2$, and tetrasalicylide, $C_{28}H_{18}O_9$, by the action of phosphorous oxychloride on salicylic acid. 1880 Athenæum 11 Dec. 781/3 The Formation of Carbon Tetrabromide in the Manufacture of Bromine. 1886 Roscoe & Schorlemmer Treat. Chem. II. n. 434 Rhodium tetrahydroxide $Rh(OH)_4$, this compound separates out as a green powder. 1888 Morley & Muir Watts' Dict. Chem. I. 555 Tetrabromobenzene, $C_6H_2Br_4$; from p-nitro-benzoic acid and Br at 280°. 1892 Smyth Ritchie's Org. Chem. 18 Lead tetramethide, $Pb(CH_3)_4$, boils at 110°. 1900 Jrnl. Soc. Dyers XVI. 7 The solutions of the tetracetate in chloroform.

b. Prefixed to adjectives, in the names of acids, alcohols, aldehydes, ethers, salts, etc.; as tetrasodic, containing four sodium atoms; so tetraboric, etc.; tetrethylic, containing four ethyl groups; so tetramylic, etc.

1868 Watts Dict. Chem. V. 730 Tetraphosphamic acids..are amic acids derived from tetraphosphoric acid. 1868 Fownes' Chem. (ed. 10) 347 Tetrasodic Phosphate or Sodium Pyrophosphate is prepared by strongly heating common disodic orthophosphate..and re-crystallising. 1888 Morley & Muir Watts' Dict. Chem. I. 528 Pyroboric (or tetraboric) acid, $2B_2O_3.H_2O$ (= $H_2B_4O_7$).

c. In verbs and their pples. derived from sbs. as in a., as tetrabrominated, -chlorinated, -hydrated (containing 4 molecules of water).

1857 Miller Elem. Chem. III. 46 Tetrachlorinated Hydrochloric Ether, $C_4HCl.Cl_4$. 1873 Watts Fownes' Chem. (ed. 11) 767 Propyl-benzene..forms with excess of bromine a viscid tetrabrominated compound.

Tetrabasic (tetrăbā·sik), a. Chem. [f. Tetra- + Basic.] Of an acid: Containing four atoms of hydrogen replaceable by more electropositive elements or radicals. Of a salt: Derived from such an acid.

1863–72 Watts Dict. Chem. I. 459 Modes of distinguishing between monobasic, dibasic, tribasic, and tetrabasic acids. 1869 Roscoe Elem. Chem. xv. 154 Pyrophosphoric Acid.. $H_4P_2O_7$...This acid is tetrabasic, the four atoms of hydrogen being replaceable, either all or in part, by metals.

Tetrabelodon to -brachius: see Tetra-.

Tetrabranch (te·trăbræŋk), sb. and a. Zool. [f. Tetra- + Gr. βράγχια gills.] a. sb. A four-gilled cephalopod: see next. b. adj. = Tetrabranchiate a. (Cent. Dict. 1891).

1851 Woodward Mollusca I. 82 The Tetrabranchs could undoubtedly swim, by their respiratory siphons. 1890 Lankester Elem. Zool. II. (1879) 305 If we divide all known Cephalopods into Dibranchs (two-gilled) and Tetrabranchs (four-gilled).

Tetrabranchiate (tetrăbrænkiĕt), a. and sb. Zool. [ad. mod.L. tetrabranchiāt-um: see prec. and -ate[2] 2.] a. adj. Belonging to the Tetrabranchiata, an order of cephalopods (mostly extinct) having four branchiæ or gills. b. sb. A cephalopod belonging to this order; a tetrabranch.

1835–6 Todd's Cyclo. Anat. I. 557/2 The Sepia..manifests..a near affinity to the Tetrabranchiate order. 1851 Woodward Mollusca I. 78 The shell of the tetrabranchiate cephalopods is an extremely elongated cone. 1872 Nicholson Palæont. 189 The Tetrabranchiate forms, with chambered shells, attained their maximum in the..Silurian period.

Tetracamarous to -chitrus: see Tetra-.

‖ Tetracaulodon (kō·lŏdŏn). [mod.L., f. Tetra- + Gr. καυλό-ς stem + ὀδους, ὀδοντ- tooth.] An extinct elephantine genus having four tusks.

1833 Baltimore Med. & Surg. Jrnl. Oct. (Mayne). 1839 G. Roberts Dict. Geol., Tetracaulodon, a fossil extinct animal..allied to the mastodon;..having four projecting teeth. 1859 Page Handbk. Geol. Terms (1865) s. v., Professor Owen and others regard the tetracaulodon of Dr. Godman as the immature state of the Mastodon Giganteus.

Tetrachord (te·trăkōrd). [ad. Gr. τετράχορδον (sc. ὄργανον), a Greek musical instrument, f. τετρα-, Tetra- + χορδή string.]

1. An ancient musical instrument with four strings.

1603 Holland Plutarch Explan. Words, Tetrachord, an instrument in old time of foure strings. 1814 Mawm. & Cust. in Ann. Reg. 490/1 Most of the Greek women sing in a pleasing manner, accompanying themselves with a tetrachord, the tones of which are an excellent support to the voice. 1849 Donaldson Theat. Greeks (ed. 6) I. ii. 15 Terpander..substituted the seven-stringed cithara for the old tetrachord.

2. Mus. A scale-series of four notes, being the half of an octave. † b. The interval between the first and last notes of this series; a perfect fourth.

1603 Holland Plutarch's Mor. 1254 It was not for ignorance that in the Dorian tunes they forbare this Tetrachord. 1694 W. Holder Harmony iv. (1731) 66 (Table of Intervals), 4th, Diatessaron, Tetrachord. 1704 J. Harris Lex. Techn. I, Tetrachord, in Musick, is a Concord or Interval of 3 Tones. The Tetrachord of the Ancients was a rank of four Strings. 1847 Grote Greece II. xvi. III. 285 Such were the three modes or scales, each including only a tetrachord, upon which the earliest Greek masters worked. 1890 Athenæum 4 Jan. 24/3 The tetrachord [on an Arab lute] thus comprised C, D, E flat, E, and F.

c. transf. A stanza of four lines. rare.

1817 N. Drake Shakspeare I. 54 The Sonnet, of two tetrachords of disjunct alternate rhime. Ibid. 55 Three tetrachords in alternate rhime.

Hence Tetrachordal a., of or pertaining to a tetrachord or tetrachords. Also ‖ Tetrachordon (-kō·rdŏn) [see quot.], an instrument like a cottage pianoforte in form, in which the strings are pressed against a revolving cylinder to produce the tone.

†1850 Sarah A. Glover (title) Manual, containing a development of the *tetrachordal System. 1876 Stainer & Barrett Dict. Mus. Terms s. v. Tonic Sol-fa, Miss Sarah A. Glover, of Norwich, about thirty years ago projected and taught..a system which she called the tetrachordal system, which was the Tonic Sol-fa notation in its original form. Ibid., Tetrachordon, ..[so] called..from an idea that its sounds are similar to those produced by a string quartet.

Tetrachotomous (tetrăkŏ·tŏmŏs), a. Zool. and Bot. [f. Gr. τέτραχα in four parts + -τομος cut + -ous.] Ramifying into four branches or divisions; doubly dichotomous. So Tetrachotomy, division into four branches.

1829 Loudon Encycl. Pl. (1836) 403 note, Peduncles [of Euphorbia]..often dichotomous, trichotomous, or even tetrachotomous. 1858 C. J. Ellicott Destiny Creature Notes 172 Bull's theory is, in fact, really a 'tetrachotomy'—body, soul, spirit, and Holy Spirit.

Tetrachromatic to -chronous: see Tetra-.

Tetraclade (te·trăklēd), a. Zool. [f. Tetra- + Gr. κλάδ-ος shoot, sprout.] Branching in four; having four arms or rays. So Tetracladine (-klăd·ĕin) a., of or pertaining to the Tetracladina, a suborder of lithistid sponges having spicules branching into four or more processes; also Tetracladose (-klăd·ōs) a. in same sense.

1887 P. M. Duncan in Trnl. Linn. Soc. XV. No. 86. 324 The quadrifid or tetraclade spicula. 1889 Sollas in Encycl. Brit. XXII. 416/1 (Sponges) Some or all of the rays of the primitive calthrops..may bifurcate once or twice and finally terminate by subdividing into numerous variously shaped processes; such a tetracladine desma characterizes one division of the Lithistid sponges. Ibid. 422/1 A distinct passage can be traced from the Tetracladose to the Rhabdocrepid group. Ibid., The scleroblast..in the Tetracladine Lithistids lies in an angle between the arms.

Tetraclone to Tetracron: see Tetra-.

‖ Tetracolon (tetrăkō·lŏn). Pl. -cola. Gr. Pros. [a. Gr. τετράκωλον, adj. neut., having four members: see Tetra- and Colon[2].] A metrical period consisting of four cola or members.

1796 Burnney (ed. Kersey), Tetracolon, ..a Stanza, or Division in Lyrick Poetry, consisting of four Verses or Lines. 1902 Daily Chron. 18 Dec. 3/1 The verses from the pen of Joseph and Eugenius, with their diversity and intricacy of metre (including a tetracolon heptastichon).

Hence Tetracolic (-kŏ·lik) a., of or pertaining to a tetracolon; consisting of four cola.

1891 in Cent. Dict.

Tetract (te·trækt), a. and sb. Zool. [f. Tetra- + Gr. ἀκτ-ίς, ἀκτῖν- ray.] a. adj. Having four rays or branches; quadriradiate. b. sb. A four-rayed sponge-spicule. So Tetra·ctinal a., Tetra·ctine a. and sb., Tetra·ctinose a.

1886 Proc. Zool. Soc. 21 Dec. 581 The chief spicules are tetract. 1887 Sollas in Encycl. Brit. XXII. 416 (Fig. 12) d. calthrops (tetraxon tetractine). 1888 — in Challenger Rep. XXV. p. lix, Tetractine.—When all four actines of a tetraxon are present it is..a tetractine, but as the full designation of this required to distinguish it from a tetractinose triaxon is tetractine tetraxon, we shall substitute for it the equivalent 'calthrops'. 1891 Cent. Dict., Tetractinal.

Tetractinellid (tăvræktine·lid), a. and sb. Zool. [ad. mod.L. Tetractinellidæ (f. Gr. τετρα-, Tetra- + ἀκτίς (ἀκτῖν-) ray + L. dim. -ella): see -id.] a. adj. Belonging to the Tetractinellidæ (also called Tetractina), a sub-order of siliceous sponges with four-rayed spicules. b. sb. A sponge of this order. So Tetractinellidan a. and sb., Tetractinellina a.

1891 Cent. Dict., Tetractinellidan, Tetractinelline. 1892 Nat. Sc. Mar. 20 Tetractinellid spicules..occur..in the shallower regions. 1892 Athenæum 13 Feb. 218/2 The sponge remains..belong largely to the Monactinellidæ though tetractinellid, lithistid, and hexactinellid spicules are also present.

‖ Tetractys (tĕtræ·ktis). Also 8 tetrachty(s, 9 tetraktys. [a. Gr. τετρακτύς.] A set of four; the number four; esp. the Pythagorean name for the sum of the first four numbers (1 + 2 + 3 + 4 = 10) regarded as the source of all things.

1603 Holland Plutarch's Mor. 1317 That famous quaternarie of theirs, named Tetractys, which consisteth of foure mines, and amounteth to thirtie sixe, was their greatest oth. 1653 H. More Conject. Cabbal. Pref. (1713) 4 The Pythagoreans Oath, swearing by him that taught them the mystery of the Tetractys, or the number Four. a 1774 Tucker Lit. Nat. (1834) II. 415 Pythagoras had his tetrachty, his mystic numbers, his symbols. 1865 Grote Plato I. i. 12 note, The tetraktys (consecrated as the sum total of the first four numbers 1 + 2 + 3 + 4 = 10).

Hence Tetra·ctysm, the Pythagorean doctrine of the tetractys.

1846 T. W. Jenkyn Baxter's Wks. Pref. 50 Those who understand..what Tetractysm was to the Pythagoreans will ..comprehend what Triadism was to Baxter.

Tetracyclic: see Tetra-.

Tetrad (te·trăd). [ad. Gr. τετράς (τετραδ-) a group of four, the number four.]

1. A sum, group, or set of four; four (things, etc.) regarded as a single object of thought.

1653 H. More Conject. Cabbal. (1713) 82 It was a solemn Oath..to swear by him that delivered to them the mystery of the Tetractys, Tetrad, or number Four. Ibid. (see Tetractys). 1832 Coleridge Table Talk 24 Apr., The adorable tetractys, or tetrad, is the formula of God. 1895 Athenæum 2 Feb. 151/2 The great tetrad of senior wranglers of 1840 to 1843.

2. In spec. uses. a. Chem. An element, compound, or radical having a combining power of four units, i. e. of four atoms of hydrogen; a tetravalent element, etc.

1865 Reader I Apr. 372/3 A tetratomic atom or tetrad. 1866 Roscoe Elem. Chem. xxvii. 242 As in mineral chemistry we have radicals some of which are monads, and some tyads, triads, or tetrads. 1868 Fownes' Chem. (ed. 10) 259 Silicium and titanium are tetrads.

b. Biol. (a) A group of four cells, e. g. spores, pollen-grains. (b) A group of four chromosomes formed by the division of a single chromosome. (c) A quaternary unit of organization differentiated from a triad.

1876 tr. Schützenberger's Ferment. 52 In the tetrads arranged in the form of a cross, we observe, also, two plane surfaces at right angles. 1882 Vines Sachs' Bot. 456 The cavity of the sporangium becomes filled with a granular plasma in which lie the mother-cells and the tetrads of spores...All the spores of the sixteen tetrads formed in the microsporangia reach maturity. 1883 [see 3]. 1895 Oliver tr. Kerner's Nat. Hist. Plants II. 101 In Rhododendron hirsutum all the pollen-tetrads of an anther-cavity are held together by a mass of sticky viscin. a 1909 (in sense b) Wilson (cited in C. D. Supple) 1909 J. W. Jenkinson Exper. Embryol. 108 Granules of chromatin took the place of the tetrads and were unequally distributed to the spindle poles.

c. Mus. A chord of four notes (after Triad).

1882 Broadhouse Mus. Acoustics 332 The great majority of major tetrads in Palestrina's Stabat Mater are in the positions 1, 10, 8, 5, 3, 2, 4, 9.

d. In ancient systems of arithmetical notation: A group or series of four characters corresponding to successive powers of ten.

1882 Sir E. C. Bayley General. Mod. Numerals 11, 90 They [the Greeks] had however a system of 'octads' and 'tetrads' for expressing numbers of very high value.

e. Math. (See quot.)

1889 Cayley Math. Papers XII. 590 The term 'tetrad' is used in two distinct..senses, viz. a tetrad denotes any four points; and it also denotes the four vertices of a self-conjugate tetrahedron in regard to a quadric surface..Two or more tetrads, in regard to one and the same quadric surface, are called similar tetrads.

3. attrib., as tetrad metal, term; tetrad-deme Biol., an aggregation of tetrads: see 2 b (b) and Deme[2] 2.

1866 Odling Anim. Chem. 17 The fourth or tetrad term of our series of typical hydrides. 1868 Fownes' Chem. (ed. 10) 445 Tin is a tetrad metal. 1883 P. Geddes in Encycl. Brit. XVI. 843/2 Starting from the unit of the first order, the plastid or monad, and terming any undifferentiated aggregate a deme, we have a monad-deme integrating into a secondary unit or dyad, this rising through dyad-demes into a triad, this forming triad-demes, and these when differentiated becoming tetrads, the Botryllus-colony with which the evolution of compound individuality terminates being a tetrad-deme.

Tetradactyl (tetrădæ·ktil), a. and sb. Also -dactyle. [ad. Gr. τετραδάκτυλ-ος having four digits, f. τετρα-, Tetra- + δάκτυλος finger.] a. adj. Having four fingers or toes. b. sb. A four-toed animal (esp. a vertebrate). Hence Tetradacty·lity, Tetrada·ctyly, the condition of having four digits; also Tetrada·ctylous a. = a.

1835 Kirby Hab. & Inst. Anim. xvii. II. 194 The foot of birds is most commonly 'tetradactyle, with one toe or thumb at the heel and the other three in front. 1847 Webster, Tetradactyl, an animal having four toes. 1891 Nature 5 Feb. 320/2 If..a man has a finger amputated, his 'tetradactylity is a somatogenic property. 1828 Webster, 'Tetradactylous. 1851 Mantell Petrifact. I. § 3. 90 Narrow-toed tridactylous or tetradactylous species [of birds]. 1869 Gill-

MORE tr. Figuier's Reptl. & Birds v. 421 The feet tetradactylous, and furnished with long and strong claws. 1904 Amer. Nat. XXXVIII. 3 From the ancestral canid Cynodictis of the Oligocene and lower Miocene,..to Lycaon in which structural tetradactyly prevails.

Tetradarchy (tetrăd̄ärkl). [ad. Gr. τετραδαρχία, f. τετράδ TETRAD + -αρχία rule.] = TETRARCHY.

1839 THIRLWALL Greece VI. xlv. 14 Philip revived the distinction of the tetrarchicles. 1842 Smith's Dict. Grk. & Rom. Antiq. s. v. Tagus. The four divisions of the country, tetrarchies or tetradarchies, which he re-established.

Te·tradecane. Chem. [f. Gr. τετρα- four + δέκα ten + -ANE 2 b.] The saturated hydrocarbon or paraffin of the 14-carbon series, $C_{14}H_{30}$, = tetradecyl hydride; a waxy solid.

1877 WATTS Fownes' Chem. (ed. 12) II. 50 The boiling points and specific gravities of the higher paraffins of unknown structure..are as follows:..Tetradecane $C_{14}H_{30}$. Boiling point 236–240°.

So Tetradecene = tetradecylene. Tetradecenyl, the radical $C_{14}H_{27}$, as in tetradecenyl alcohol, $C_{14}H_{27}.OH$, f. aldehyde, etc. Tetradecenoic a. in tetradecenoic acid, $C_{14}H_{26}O_2$, a liquid boiling in vacuo at 275° to 280° C.; f. aldehyde, $C_{14}H_{26}O$, an oil not solid at -20° C. Tetradecinene $C_{14}H_{24}$ = CMe‡C.$C_{12}H_{25}$. Tetradecoic a., in t. acid, $C_{14}H_{28}O_2$ = $C_{13}H_{27}.CO_2H$, a liquid (mp. solid at -10° C.), got by the action of moist argentic oxide, $Ag_2O$, on the aldehyde; tetradecoic aldehyde, $C_{14}H_{28}O$, obtained in tables very soluble in alcohol, a product of the action of sodium on an ethereal solution of cenanthol. Tetradecyl or Tetradecanyl, the monatomic alcohol radical, $C_{14}H_{29}$, of this series; also attrib. = tetradecylic, as in tetradecyl alcohol. Hence Tetradecy·lic a., of or pertaining to this radical; so Tetradecylene, the olefine of this series, $C_{14}H_{28}$ = CH$_2$:CH.$C_{12}H_{25}$, a liquid substance; also attrib. as in tetradecylene glycol.

1868 WATTS Dict. Chem. V. 728 Tetradecyl, or Tetradecatyl..also called Myristyl. The fourteenth term of the series of alcohol-radicles, $C_{14}H_{29}$.. Myristic hydride, $C_{14}H_{30}$ is one of the constituents of American petroleum.. Tetradecylic or Myristic Alcohol, or Methal, $C_{14}H_{30}O$, is one of the constituents of spermaceti.

Tetradecapod (tetrăde·käpŏd), a. and sb. Zool. [ad. mod.L. Tetradecapoda, f. TETRA- + DECA- ten: cf. DECAPOD.] a. adj. Having fourteen feet; belonging to the Tetradecapoda, an order of Crustaceans. b. sb. A crustacean of this order. So (in same senses) Tetradeca·podan a. and sb.; Tetradeca·podous a.

1852 DANA Crustac. II. 1328 The two types, the Decapodan and Tetradecapodan. Ibid. 1576 Among the Tetradecapods there is the Chilian genus Amphoroidea. 1854 Chamb. Jrnl. I. 26/1 Attached to each of them was a small, pale, tetradecapodous animal. 1862 DANA Man. Geol., Crust. 153 Fourteen-footed species or Tetradecapods.

†Tetradiapa·son. Mus. Obs. [f. TETRA- + DIAPASON.] An interval of four octaves

1704 J. HARRIS Lex. Techn. I. Tetradiapason, a Quadruple Diapason,..otherwise called a Quadruple Eighth, or Nine and Twentieth. 1820 in BUSBY Dict. Music.

Tetradic (tĭtrae·dĭk), a. [f. TETRAD + -IC. Cf. F. tétradique (in Cotgr.).] Of, pertaining to, or of the nature of a tetrad.

1788 T. TAYLOR Proclus (1792) I. 179 The tetradic ternary, and the triadic quaternary.

b. Chem. That is a tetrad; tetravalent.

1868 Fownes' Chem. (ed. 10) 254. 1872 WATTS Dict. Chem. VI. 237 Carbon, which combines with 4 atoms of hydrogen, is tetratomic, tetradic, or quadrivalent. 1877 — Fownes' Chem. (ed. 12) I. 267 With silver..it [oxygen] forms the two oxides, $Ag_2O$ and $Ag_4O$, in the latter of which it is tetradic.

c. Anc. Pros. (a) Containing four different metres or rhythms. (b) Composed of groups of systems, each of which contains four unlike systems.

189x in Cent. Dict.

Tetradite (te·trădait). Ch. Hist. [ad. late Gr. τετραδίτης, pl. -αι, f. τετράς, -αδ- TETRAD: see -ITE 1.] (See quots.)

1727–41 CHAMBERS Cycl., Tetraditæ, Tetradites, in antiquity, a name given to several different sects of heretics, out of some particular respect they bore to the number four. 1842 BRANDE Dict. Sc. etc., Tetraditæ,..the Manichees and others, who believed the Godhead to consist of four instead of three persons, bore this name. 1882–3 Schaff's Encycl. Relig. Knowl. I. 601 Their adversaries called them Tetradites, Τετρασίται, because they had four gods,—the Father, the Son, the Holy Spirit, and the Divine Being—in which those three were united.

Tetradon: see TETRODON.

Tetradrachm (te·trădræm). Gr. Antiq. Also in L. and Gr. forms 6–9 tetradrachma, 7–8 -drachmon. [ad. Gr. τετράδραχμον: see TETRA- and DRACHM.] A silver coin of ancient Greece, of the value of four drachms: see DRACHM 1.

1579–80 NORTH Plutarch (1595) 323 Foure Tetradrachmas a day. 1770 SWINTON in Phil. Trans. LXI. 92 A fine Punic tetradrachm. 1807 ROBINSON Archæol. Græca v. xxvi. 567 The less ancient tetradrachms were current during four or five centuries. 1879 H. PHILLITS Notes Coins 6 The cistophori are tetradrachms bearing as their generic type a wreath and berries of ivy, surrounding a chest whence issue serpents.

Hence Tetradrachmal (-dræ·kmăl) a., of or pertaining to a tetradrachm.

1770 SWINTON in Phil. Trans. LXI. 98 The medal..is of the tetradrachmal form. 1771 RAPER ibid. 533 Had the first Denarius been Didrachmal or Tetradrachmal, so well-informed a writer must have known it.

Tetradymite (tĭtrae·dĭmoĭt). Min. [a. Ger. tetradymit (W. Haidinger, 1831), f. Gr. τετράδυμος fourfold + -ITE 1.] Telluride of bismuth, found in pale steel-grey laminæ with a bright metallic lustre. (The name has also been applied to WEHRLITE.)

1850 ANSTED Elem. Geol. § 491 Tetradymite, Tellurium, and bismuth. 1859 PAGE Handbk. Geol. Terms (1861), Tetradymite..,sulphotelluride of bismuth..from the quadruple nucles in which its crystals usually appear. 1874 Proc. Amer. Phil. Soc. XIV. 224 The sulphurous variety of tetradymite has been observed at several new localities.

Tetradymous (tĭtrae·dĭmœs), a. Bot. [f. Gr. τετράδυμ-ος (see prec.) + -OUS.] Said of an agaric having each perfect lamella or gill separated from the next by four equal short lamellæ and three longer ones alternately placed, thus |||||||; see also quots.

1846 HENSLOW Dict. Bot. Terms, Tetradymus, where every alternate lamella of an Agaric is shorter than the two contiguous to it, and one complete lamella terminates a set of every four pairs of short and long... Also, where four cells or cases are combined.] 1866 Treas. Bot., Tetradymous, having four cells or cases.

‖ Tetradynamia (tetrădĭnä·mĭă). Bot. [mod.L. (Linnæus, 1735), f. Gr. τετρα-, TETRA- + δύναμ-ις power, strength + -IA 1: cf. DIDYNAMIA.] The fifteenth class in the Linnæan Sexual System, comprising plants which bear hermaphrodite flowers with six stamens in pairs, four of which are longer than the others; corresponding to the N.O. Cruciferæ. Hence Tetradyna·mian a., = Tetradynamous; sb., a plant of the class Tetradynamia; Tetradyna·mious, Tetradyna·mous adjs., of or pertaining to this class; having four longer and two shorter stamens.

1760 J. LEE Introd. Bot. II. ii. (1765) 74 Tetradynamia... There are in the Flowers of this Class six Stamina, four of which are longer than the rest. 1785 MARTYN Rousseau's Bot. lx. (1794) 92 Tetradynamia is..one of your first acquaintance under the gentler appellation of cruciform flowers. 1828 WEBSTER, Tetradynamian. 1830 LINDLEY Nat. Syst. Bot. 20 The stamens are occasionally tetradynamous. 1860 MAYNE Expos. Lex., Tetradynamious, or tetradynamous.

Tetraëdral, etc.: see TETRAHEDRAL, etc.

Tetraëterid to -gnathian: see TETRA-.

Tetraglot (te·trăglŏt), a. [ad. Gr. type τετρα-γλωττ-ος*, f. τετρα-, TETRA- + γλῶττα tongue: cf. POLYGLOT.] Speaking four languages; written or composed in four languages. So † Tetraglo·ttic, † tetraglo·ttical adjs. Obs. in same sense.

1580 FLEMING in Baret's Alv. A a a a 4 This Quadruple Dictionarie, or Lexicon tetraglottical. 1682 WHEELER Journ. Greece 1. 32 He hath printed a Dictionary Tetraglot, Ancient and Vulgar Greek, Latin, and Italian. 1721 BAILEY, Tetraglottick. 1881 N. & Q. 6th Ser. III. 456/2 A tetraglot dictionary, a century older still.

Tetragon (te·trăgŏn), sb. (a.). Also 7 -gone. [ad. Gr. τετράγωνον a quadrangle: see TETRA- and -GON. So late L. tetragŏn-um, F. tetragone (14th c. in Godef. Compl.).]

1. Geom. A figure having four angles and four sides; a quadrangle considered as one of the polygons. Regular tetragon, a square.

1650 BULLEN LEMNIUS Charron's Wisd. (1659) 92 In figures the Pentagone contains the Tetragone. 1690 LEYBOURN Curs. Math. 588 Half the Angle of the Tetragon or Square. 1827 HUTTON Course Math. I. 283 An Equilateral Triangle is also a Regular Figure of three sides, and the Square is one of four: the former being also called a Trigon, and the latter a Tetragon.

2. A square fort; a quadrangular building or block of buildings. Cf. QUADRANGLE sb. 3.

1669 STAYNHED Fortification x A Tetragon or Square Fort. 1698 FRYER Acc. E. India & P. 37 The Fort is a Tetragone from Corner to Corner. 1884 Daily News 2 Feb. 5/7 Populations living in immense tetragons of brick and stone.

b. A quadrangular court surrounded by buildings or walls, e. g. a college quadrangle.

3. Astrol. The aspect of two planets when they are 90° distant from one another relatively to the earth; the square or quadrate aspect.

a 1626 BP. ANDREWES Serm. (1856) I. 185 In the horoscope of Christ's nativity...Whether a trigon or no, this tetragon I am sure there was. 1727–41 CHAMBERS Cycl., Tetragon, ..an aspect of two planets with regard to the earth, when they are distant from each other a fourth part of a circle, or 90°..The tetragon is expressed by the character □. [1819 J. WILSON Compl. Dict. Astrol., Tetragonus.]

B. adj. Four-cornered, tetragonal, quadrangular.

1794 MORSE Amer. Geog. 553 The remains of an ancient.. fortification: it is now a regular tetragon terrace, about four feet high, with bastions at each angle.

Tetragonal (tĭtræ·gŏnăl), a. (sb.) Also (in sense 4) -al. [f. prec. + -AL. So mod.F. tétragonal.]

1. Of or pertaining to a tetragon; having four angles; quadrangular.

1571 DIGGES Pantom. IV. T j b, When any equiangle triangle, square, or Pentagonum is..described within a circle, ..their sides are called the triangonall, and pentagonall Cordes of that circle. 1667 Phil. Trans. II. 627 Two Tetragonal Prismes of Tendons. 1874 COUES Birds N. W. 592 An elongated pyramid with a tetragonal base.

2. Bot. and Zool. Quadrangular in section, like a 'square' rod; tetraquetrous.

1753 CHAMBERS Cycl. Supp. s. v. Leaf, A leaf that has, instead of three ribs or edges, four or five, is..called tetragonal, pentagonal, &c. 1853 ROYLE Mat. Med. (ed. 2) 641 Norway Spruce Fir. Leaves scattered, tetragonal. 1875 C. C. BLAKE Zool. 109 The bill is elongate,..tetragonal, and acuminate.

† 3. Astrol. = QUARTILE a., QUADRATE a. 2. Obs.

1646 SIR T. BROWNE Pseud. Ep. iv. xii. 213 Reckoning on unto the seventh day, the Moone will be in a Tetragonall or Quadrate aspect, that is, 4. signes removed from that wherein the disease began.

4. Her. Represented as quadrangular: see quot. 1828 BERRY Encycl. Her. I. Gloss., Tetragonal Pyramids, piles are generally considered to represent wedges,..they are sometimes borne..square, in which latter case they may be termed square piles, or tetragonal pyramids reversed. 1889 ELVIN Dict. Her., Tetragonal Pyramids.

5. Crystal. Applied to a system of crystallization in which the three axes are at right angles, the two lateral axes being equal, and the vertical of a different length.

1868 DANA Min. (ed. 5) Introd. 21 Crystallography.. systems of crystallization...Having only the lateral axes equal. The Tetragonal and Hexagonal. 1878 GURNEY Crystallogr. 38 If four symmetrical planes only intersect in the same straight line it is called an axis of tetragonal symmetry. 1879 RUTLEY Stud. Rocks ix. 77 Crystals belonging to the tetragonal and hexagonal systems are singly refractive when viewed in the direction of the principal crystallographic axis.

† B. sb. = TETRAGON 1. Obs. rare—1.

1684 tr. Agrippa's Van. Arts To Rdr., The intricate Geometrician will imprison me in his Triangles and Tetragonals.

Hence Tetra·gonally adv., in a tetragonal manner or form; Tetra·gonalness.

1727 BAILEY vol. II, Tetragonalness, the having four Corners, Squareness. 1888 Cassell's Encycl. Dict., Tetragonally.

Tetragonidium: see TETRA- 1.

Tetragonism (tĭtræ·gŏnĭz'm). ? Obs. [ad. Gr. τετραγωνισμός squaring, quadrature; see TETRAGON and -ISM.] The squaring of the circle; the quadrature of any curve.

1704 J. HARRIS Lex. Techn. I, Tetragonism, with some Foreign Writers is the same as the Quadrature of the Circle. 1715 tr. Pancirollus' Rerum Mem. II. xvii. 382 [They] affirm the Invention of the Tetragonism we are speaking of. 1727–41 in CHAMBERS Cycl.

So † Tetra·gonist, one who attempts the squaring of the circle; † Tetragoni·stic, † Tetragoni·stical adjs., of or pertaining to tetragonism; tetragonistic(al) calculus, the differential calculus.

1674 BOYLE Excell. Theol. i. iii. 109 Such famous writers as Scaliger, Longomontanus, and other Tetragonists. 1710 J. HARRIS Lex. Techn. II, Tetragonistick Calculus, is the same with the Summatory or Differential Calculus of Leibnitz. 1727 BAILEY vol. II, Tetragonistical Calculus.

Tetragonus (tĭtræ·gŏnŭs), a. Bot. [f. TETRAGON or late L. tetragŏn-us tetragonal + -OUS.] Having four angles; = TETRAGONAL a. 2.

1760 J. LEE Introd. Bot. II. xxii. (1765) 125 Seed, a single one, oblong, often tetragonous. 1870 HOOKER Stud. Flora 245 Convolvulus arvensis, .. peduncle .. 4-gonous. 1872 OLIVER Elem. Bot. App. 310 [Common Wheat] Inflorescence spicate,..tetragonous.

Tetragram (te·trăgræm). [In sense 1, ad. Gr. τὸ τετράγραμμον (Clem. Alex. 666), 'the (word) of four letters', f. τετρα- four- + γράμμα letter; in sense 2 from γραμμή stroke, line.]

1. A word of four letters; = next.

1870 BREWER Dict. Phrase & Fable s. v. Tetragrammaton. The Greek Zeus, Latin Jove and Deus, Persian Sorn, Assyrian Adad, Arabian Allat, Egyptian Amon, German Gott, and a host of other words significant of Deity, are tetragrams. 1882–3 Schaff's Encycl. Relig. Knowl. I. 27 The Jews pronounced the tetragram YHWH by giving to it the vowels of Adonai.

2. Geom. The figure composed of four straight lines in a plane and their six points of intersection; commonly called complete quadrilateral.

1865 R. TOWNSEND Mod. Geom. I. vii. 145 Thus, for instance, in a tetrastigm or tetragram every line of connection of two points or point of intersection of two lines is said to be the opposite of that of the remaining two.

‖ Tetragrammaton (te·trăgræ·mătŏn). Pl. -ata. [a. Gr. (τὸ) τετραγράμματον (Philo 2. 152), 'the (word) of four letters', neut. of τετράγραμματος, adj. f. τετρα- four + γραμμα(τ- letter.] A word of four letters; spec. the Hebrew word written יהוה = YHWH or JHVH (vocalized as YAHWEH, JAHVEH, or JEHOVAH, q.v.); often substituted for that word (regarded as ineffable), and treated as a mysterious symbol of the name of God; sometimes used as a title of the Deity (see quot. 1689).

a 1400–50 Alexander 1592 Þe greatest of all gods names, þis title, Tetragramaton. 1577 tr. Bullinger's Decades (1592) 608 Among all the names of God that is the most excellent, which they call Tetragrammaton, that is (if we may so say), the fower lettered name. 1606 N. BAKNE Sir P. Sidney's Ourania C j b, Some call him mightie Tetragrammaton Of letters fower in composition. 1649 JER. TAYLOR Gt. Exemp. I. Ad Sect. v. 61 The Tetragrammaton or adoreable Mystery of the Patriarchs. 1689 T. PLUNKET Char. Gd. Commander 44 But the tremenduos Tetragrammaton Will not, not always be a looker on. 1768 TUCKER Lt. Nat. (1834) I. 462 The Quaternion is the holy Tetragrammaton, the same awful name variously pronounced among the sons of men: whether Jeva, Isis, Jove, Θεός, Zeus, or Deus; or..Tien, Alla, Dios, Idio, Dieu, or Lord; for these are all Tetragrammata. 1891 T. K. CHEYNE Orig. Ps. vi. 300 The earliest Greek copies reproduced the Tetragrammaton.

b. gen. with a and pr. A word of four letters used as a symbol.

1656 H. More Enthus. Tri. (1712) 50 In a Tetragrammaton there are five Parts, four Letters, and the Title Jod, from which come Nephesh, Ruach, Neschamah, Chajah, and Jachidah, five Persons of the Soul. 1665 Witnes Lord's Prayer 17 Our English tongue as well as the Hebrew hath a Tetragrammaton, whereby God may be named; to wit, Good.

† c. fig. An emblem or symbol of something sacred. Obs. rare.

1621 A. Corbet Answ. Let. Jesuit. Gent. 79 They are so passing vain-glorious a Societie, that call ye it the verie Tetragrammaton of the Catholicke church.

† d. as adj. Consisting of four letters. Obs.

a 1620 Babington Exp. Cath. Faith II. (1637) 195 O name that cannot bee expressed! O name truly tetragrammaton! 1614 Selden Titles Hon. 50 The Tetragrammaton name of the Almightie.

Hence † Tetragramma·tical a., consisting of four letters; pertaining to the or a tetragrammaton; Tetragrammato·nic a. [irreg. for -atic], of or pertaining to the tetragrammaton.

1759 J. Yeomans Abecedarian (title-p.), A Discourse on the Word, or A-Tau, tetragrammatical. 1895 Funk's Standard Dict. Tetragrammatonic.

‖ Tetragynia (tētrăd̄ʒ·ĭnĭă), a. Bot. [mod.L., f. Tetra-+Gr. γυνή woman, female, taken in sense 'female organ, pistil'.] The name of an order or division in many of the classes of the Linnæan Sexual System of plants, comprising those having four pistils. Hence Te·tragyn (rare), a plant of this order; Tetragy·nian, Tetragy·nious, Tetra·gynous adjs., belonging to this order of any class; having four pistils.

1760 J. Lee Introd. Bot. II. viii. (1765) 92 Tetragynia, comprehending such Plants as have four Styles. 1828 Webster, Tetragynian, in botany, a plant having four pistils. Tetragynian, having four pistils. 1860 Mayne Expos. Lex., Tetragynius, ..tetragynious. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Tetragynous, having a gynecium of four carpels. Mod. Hex, the Holly, is an example of tetrandria, Tetragynia.

Tetrahedral (tētrăhī·drăl, -he·drăl), a. Also 8–9 tetraedral. [f. late Gr. τετράεδρος (see Tetrahedron) + -al.]

1. a. Having four sides (in addition to the base or ends); enclosed or contained laterally by four plane surfaces, as a tetrahedral prism or pyramid. Tetrahedral angle, quoin, one bounded by four planes meeting at a common apex.

1794 G. Adams Nat. & Exp. Philos. II. xiv. 46 The internal cavity is found to be lined with beautiful tetrahedral prisms. 1812 Sir H. Davy Chem. Philos. 124 Four particles may compose a tetrahedron, five a tetraedral pyramid, six an octaedron. 1828 Stark Elem. Nat. Hist. II. 139 Body tetraedral, furrowed above. 1878 Gurney Crystallogr. 85 The tetrahedral quoins .. of the rhombic dodecahedron.

b. Quadrilateral, quadrangular. (Also in comb.)

1815 Kirby & Sp. Entomol. xxvii. (1818) II. 491 Cells with regular tetrahedral bottoms. Ibid. 494 The tetrahedral-bottomed transition cells..still preserved their usual shape of hexagonal prisms.

2. Of or pertaining to a tetrahedron; having the form of a tetrahedron; spec. in Cryst., belonging to a division of the isometric system of which the regular tetrahedron is the characteristic form.

1805–17 R. Jameson Char. Min. (ed. 3) 200 Tetrahedral (Haüy tétraèdre), when the crystal has the regular tetrahedron as a secondary form. Example, Tetrahedral blende. 1896 Harn Mod. Med. (ed. 6) 969 The spores are minute, tetrahedral granules, each presenting four facets, and are minutely ridged by a hexagonal network. 1903 A. Graham Bell in Nat. Geog. Mag. June 225 The Tetrahedral principle in Kite Structure. When a tetrahedral frame is provided with aero-surfaces of silk or other material..it becomes a tetrahedral kite, or kite having the form of a tetrahedron.

Hence Tetrahe·drally adv., in a tetrahedral manner or form. So Tetrahe·dric, Tetrahe·drical adjs., tetrahedral.

1860 Mayne Expos. Lex., Tetrahedricus, ..tetrahedrical. 1882 Webster, Tetrahedrally (citing Dana). 1882 Vines Sachs' Bot. 13 The four spores or pollen-grains do not lie in one plane but are arranged tetrahedrally, and have moreover a somewhat tetrahedral form. Ibid. 438. 1890 Smithsonian Rep. 567 This latter [double linking] is an immediate consequence of the tetrahedric conception.

Tetrahedrid (tētrăhī·drĭd, -he·drĭd), a. Cryst. [f. as prec. + -id [2].] = Tetrahedral a. 2.

1898 Story-Maskelyne Crystallogr. 208 Tetrahedrid mero-symmetry. The second case of holo-systematic hemi-symmetry, in which every normal is represented by a single face, is this[ etc.]. Ibid. 206, 207, 210.

Tetrahedrite (tētrăhī·drəit, -he·drəit). Min. [ad. Ger. tetraëdrit (W. Haidinger 1845), f. as prec. + -it, -ite [1] 2 b.] Native sulphide of antimony and copper, with various elements sometimes replacing one or the other of these, often occurring in tetrahedral crystals; fahlerz, fahlore.

1868 Watts Dict. Chem. V. 729 Large tetrahedral crystals of tetrahedrite, having mostly a rough dull surface, are found in the Cornish mines near St. Austel. 1900 L. Fletcher in Brit. Mus. Return 256.

Tetrahedroid (tētrăhī·droĭd, -he·droĭd), a. and sb. [f. as prec. + -oid.] a. adj. Resembling or approaching the form of a tetrahedron. b. sb. Geom. The envelope of a quadric surface which touches eight given straight lines.

1889 Cayley's Math. Papers I. 587 note, The surface here considered, the Tetrahedroid, is the general homographic transformation of the wave surface. 1899 Geog. Jrnl. Mar. 251 Cases, which..would go in the direction of producing tetrahedral, or tetrahedroid, deformation.

Tetrahedron (tētrăhī·drŏn, -he·drŏn). Geom. Pl. -a or -ons. Also 6–9 tetraedron; 6–8 tetra-(h)edrum. [ad. late Gr. τετράεδρον sb., prop. neut. of τετράεδρος adj. four-sided, f. τετρα- four + ἕδρα base.] A solid figure contained by four plane triangular faces, a triangular pyramid; spec. the regular tetrahedron, the first of the five regular solids, contained by four equilateral triangles. Hence, any solid body, esp. a crystal, of this form.

Orthogonal tetrahedron, one in which the opposite edges, taken in pairs, are at right angles to one another. Polar tetrahedron, one of which the faces are polar to the vertices of another tetrahedron.

1570 Billingsley Euclid xi. def. xxii. 319 A Tetrahedron is a solide which is contained vnder fower triangles equall and equilater. 1571 Digges Pantom. iv. T ij, Tetraedron.. a body Geometricall. Ibid. margin, Tetraedrum. 1653 H. More Antid. Ath. I. vii. § 5 The notion or idea of God ..is no more arbitrarious or fictitious than the notion of a cube or tetradrum or any other of the regular bodies in Geometry. 1706 W. Jones Syn. Palmar. Mathesios 234 The Tetraedrum of 4 solid ∠s. 1800 tr. Lagrange's Chem. I. 339 Susceptible of crystallizing in tetraedra. 1875 Bennett & Dyer Sachs' Bot. 50 They [crystalloids] appear as cubes, tetrahedra, octohedra, rhombohedra, and in other forms. 1878 Gurney Crystallogr. 92 Tetrahedra are contained by four equiangular triangles.

Tetrahexahe·dron. Geom. [f. Tetra-+Hexahedron.] A solid figure contained by twenty-four planes. † a. See quots. 1805–17, 1860. Obs. b. = Tetrakis-hexahedron. Hence Tetrahexahe·dral a., pertaining to, or having the form of, a tetrahexahedron.

1805–17 R. Jameson Char. Min. (ed. 3) 204 [A crystal is] tetrahexahedral..when its surface consists of..four..ranges of planes, disposed six and six above each other. 1828 Webster, Tetrahexahedral, in crystallography, exhibiting four ranges of faces, one above another, each range containing six faces. 1847–78 Tetrahexahedron, a solid bounded by twenty-four equal faces, four corresponding to each face of the cube. 1860 Mayne Expos. Lex., Tetrahexahedron, ..a figure having four ranges of bases, or faces, six in each range.

Tetrahydric (tētrăhī·drĭk), a. Chem. [f. Tetra-+Hydric.] Applied to an alcohol containing four hydroxyl groups, e.g. erythrite, $C_4H_6(OH)_4$.

1888 Morley & Muir Watts' Dict. Chem. I. 101 Erythrite is the only fatty tetra-hydric alcohol known.

Tetra-icosane (tētrăi·ə̄ĭkŏsēn). Chem. Also tetrak-, tetrao-. [f. Gr. τετρα- four + εἴκοσι twenty + -ane 2 b.] The saturated hydrocarbon or paraffin of the 24-carbon series, $C_{24}H_{50} = CH_3(CH_2)_{22}CH_3$, a solid waxy substance.

1894 Morley & Muir Watts' Dict. Chem. IV. 673/1 Tetra-icosane, $C_{24}H_{50}$. 1895 Funk's Stand. Dict., Tetrakosane. 1900 Cent. Dict. Suppl., Tetracosane.

So Tetra-icoso·icacid, $C_{24}H_{47}CO_2H$, a crystalline powder, very soluble in hot alcohol, occurring in the soap got by heating carnauba wax with aqueous NaOH.

1894 Morley & Muir Watts' Chem. Dict. IV. 673/1.

Tetrakaidekahedron. [f. Gr. τετρακαίδεκα- fourteen + ἕδρα base.] A fourteen-sided solid figure. Also tessaresædecahedron (Cent. Dict.).

1894 Athenæum 17 Feb. 216/3 At the request of Lord Kelvin, Mr. J. J. Walker exhibited and described Lord Kelvin's models of his "Tetrakaidekahedron".

Te·trakisa·zo-. Chem. [f. Gr. τετράκις four times + Azo-.] Occurring in names of compounds containing four azo- groups.

Te·trakisdo·decahe·dron. Cryst. [f. Gr. τετράκις four times + Dodecahedron.] A solid body bounded by forty-eight triangular planes; also called Hexakisoctahedron, octakis-hexahedron, tetrakonta-octahedron, and forty-eight scalenohedron; esp. the variety of this described in quot.

1895 Story-Maskelyne Crystallogr. 204 The complete form has the character of a pyramidion developement of the rhomb-dodecahedron, each face of the latter figure being surmounted by a rhomb-based pyramid, to which it forms a conterminous base. These therefore are the forms that may be correctly designated as tetrakisdodecahedra or dodecahedrid pyramidions.

Te·trakis-hexahe·dron. [f. Gr. τετράκις four times + Hexahedron.] A solid figure contained by twenty-four equal triangular planes, having the appearance of a cube with a low pyramid raised on each of its six faces. (In Cryst. belonging to the isometric system.) In Geom. the name is specially applied to the figure when the pyramids are of such a height that all the adjacent faces are equally inclined to each other, so that the figure meets the sphere circumscribing the fundamental cube at fourteen points. Also called tetrahexahedron (b), cube-pyramidion, and fluoroid.

1878 Gurney Crystallogr. 86 A four-faced cube, or more technically a tetrakishexahedron. 1887 Athenæum 10 Sept. 345/2 The new crystals are sharply defined cubes, of which some have the edges replaced by faces of the rhombic dodecahedron or of a tetrakishexahedron. 1895 Story-Maskelyne Crystallogr. 105–6 The tetrakis-hexahedron.. presents the aspect of a cube each face of which is surmounted by an obtuse pyramid, and it may, on this account, be termed the cube-pyramidion...The figure is a twenty-four-faced isoscelohedron.

Te·trakism. nonce-wd. [irreg. f. Gr. τετράκις four times + -ism.] A theory or doctrine of four (persons, aspects, etc.).

1896 Emerson Eng. Traits I. 18 Coleridge..went on defining, or rather refining..talked of 'trinism' and 'tetrakism', and much more.

Tetraleioclone, -lemma : see Tetra- I.

† Te·tralogue. Obs. rare. [f. Gr. τετρα-, Tetra- + λόγος speech, word, etc., after monologue, dialogue: cf. next.] A conversation between four persons or parties; also = Tetralogy.

1649 Roberts Clavis Bibl. 384 This song is also digested in forme..of a Tetralogue betwixt the Bridegroom, Christ; the Bridegrooms friends,..The Bride her selfe,..And The Churches Companions. 1822 T. Mitchell Aristoph. I. p. cxxvi, The works of Plato are usually divided into tetralogues.

Tetralogy (tētræ·lŏdʒi). [ad. Gr. τετραλογία, f. τετρα-, Tetra- + -λογία, -logy. Cf. F. tétralogie.]

1. Gr. Antiq. A series of four dramas, three tragic (the trilogy) and one satyric, exhibited at Athens at the festival of Dionysus.

1656 Stanley Hist. Philos. iv. (1701) 158/1 He made a compleat Tetralogy (four Drama's, as the manner was, when they contested, to be presented at four several Festivals). 1840 tr. C. O. Müller's Hist. Lit. Greece xxiv, § 2 In the several tetralogies, however, the satyrical drama must have been lost or perhaps never existed.

b. Hence, Any series of four related dramatic or literary compositions.

a 1742 [Warburton] Ricardus Aristarchus in Pope's Dunciad (1743) p. xxxi, May we not then be excused, if for the future we consider the Epics of Homer, Virgil, and Milton, together with this our poem, as a complete Tetralogy, in which the last worthily holdeth the place of station of the satyric piece? 1862 Goulburn Pers. Relig. iv. xii, A Tetralogy of Parables. 1883 St. James' Gaz. 3 Feb. 5 Wagner's 'tetralogy' of operas.

2. A set of four speeches. Cf. Tetralogue.

1661 Blount Glossogr. (ed. 2), Tetralogy (Gr.), a speaking or writing in four parts. 1866 Felton Anc. & Mod. Gr. II. i. ix. 163 They [speeches of Antiphon] are in the form of tetralogies, each tetralogy containing a speech and a reply of the plaintiff and the defendant. 1874 Mahaffy Soc. Life Greece v. 127 note, Discussed in Antiphon's second tetralogy.

Hence Tetralo·gic a., of or pertaining to a tetralogy.

1889 Haigh Attic Theatre 27 But although the generic terms trilogy and tetralogy were of relatively late origin, it was customary at a much earlier period to give a common name to groups of plays composed on the tetralogic system.

Tetralophodont to-mastigate : see Tetra-.

Te·tramerous (tētræ·mĕrŏs), a. [f. mod.L. tetramer-us (ad. Gr. τετραμερής four-parted, f. τετρα-, Tetra- + μέρ-ος part) + -ous.] Having, consisting of, or characterized by four parts. spec. a. Bot. Having the parts of the flower-whorl in series of four. (Often written 4-merous.) b. Entom. Having the tarsi four-jointed, as the Tetramera among Coleoptera. c. Having four rays, as a starfish.

1826 Kirby & Sp. Entomol. III. xxxv. 684 Tetramerous insects are those in which all the tarsi consist of four joints. 1835 Lindley Introd. Bot. (1848) I. 316 Tetramerous, if [a flower consists of organs] in fours. 1887 Henfrey Elem. Bot. 230 Papaveraceæ..Flowers regular, 2-merous or 4-merous. 1899 Dawin Orig. Spec. vii. (1872) 173 All the other flowers on the plant are tetramerous. 1861 Hulme tr. Moquin-Tandon II. iii. vi. 157 A tetramerous Coleopter belonging to the family Rhyncophora.

So Te·trameral a., having parts in fours; also, belonging to the Tetrameralia, a subdivision of the Hydrozoa Acraspeda in Claus's classification; Tetramera·lian a. = Tetrameral; sb. a member of the Tetrameralia; Te·tramere, a division of the fourth order in the supporting reticular skeleton of the extinct siliceous sponges (Cent. Dict. Suppl. 1909); Tetra·merism, the condition of being tetramerous; division into four parts or into sets of four.

[1888 Rolleston & Jackson Anim. Life 789 I. Tetrameralia: with four radial sectors...II. Octomeralia: with eight sectors.] 1888 Amer. Nat. XXII. 941 The morphological significance of the primary subdivision into four or tetramerism of the germ-bands of Nemathelminthes and Cœlenthes. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Tetramerism.

Tetrameter (tētræ·mĭtər). Pros. [ad. L. tetrameter-us sb., a. Gr. τετράμετρ-ος adj., f. τετρα-, Tetra- + μέτρον measure. So F. tétramètre.] A verse or period consisting of four measures.

In ancient prosody, a trochaic, iambic, or anapæstic tetrameter consisted of four dipodies (= eight feet); in other rhythms a tetrameter was a tetrapody or period of four feet. The name was given specifically to the Trochaic Tetrameter Catalectic or Septenarius, as in 'Crās aĭmēt quī | nūnqu' a| māvit | quĭque aĭmāvit | crās a mēt'.

1612 Selden Illustr. Drayton's Poly-olb. iv. 67 The first are couplets interchanged of xvi. & xiiii. feet, .. the second of equall tetrameters. 1693 Dryden Juvenal (1697) p. xii, He makes no difficulty to mingle Hexameters with Iambique Trimeters; or with Trochaique Tetrameters. 1837 Wheelwright tr. Aristoph. I. 93, I ask..what thou thinkest the most perfect measure, The trimeter or the tetrameter? 1869 Tozer Highl. Turkey II. 250 'The metre..is the iambic tetrameter catalectic.

b. attrib. or as adj.

1770 Langhorne Plutarch V. 272 A poem, entitled Pontius Glaucus,..written by him [Cicero], when a boy, in tetrameter verse. 1811 Elmsley in Edin. Rev. Nov. 72 To introduce these refractory names into tetrameter trochaics, Aristophanes has twice used a choriambus, and once an ionic a minore, in the place of the regular trochaic dipodia. 1827 Tate Grk. Metres § 10.

Tetramorph (te·trămŏf). Christian Art. [ad. Gr. τετράμορφον, prop. neut. adj. four-shaped, f. τετρα- four- + μορφή form.] A composite figure combining the symbols of the four evangelists (derived from Rev. iv. 6–8 and Ezek. i. 5–10).

1848 Mrs. Jameson Sacr. & Leg. Art (1850) 80 The Evangelists, or rather the Gospels, are represented as the tetramorph, or four-faced creature. 1854 Fairholt Dict. Terms Art 430/2 Tetramorph. (Gr.) in Christian Art, the union of the four attributes of the Evangelists in one figure, winged, standing on winged, fiery wheels; the wings being covered with eyes. 1875 R. St. J. Tyrwhitt in Smith & Cheetham's Dict. Chr. Antiq. I. 634/1 The most interesting 6th century representation of them [symbols of the evangelists]..is the quainly but most grandly-conceived tetramorph of the Rabula MSS. 1898 C. Bell tr. Huysman's Cathedral ix. 177 With Christ enthroned..between the winged beasts of the Tetramorph.

Tetramorphic (tetrămŏ·fik), a. [f. as prec. + -IC.] a. Nat. Hist. Occurring in four different forms. b. Of or pertaining to a tetramorph.

a. 1870 Hooker Stud. Flora 79 Oxalis, Wood-sorrel... Tetramorphic flowers occur. 1901 A. G. Butler in Proc. Zool. Soc. 15 Jan. 25 Limnas Vinsoniphus is tetramorphic both at Aden and on the White Nile.

b. 1901 N. & Q. 9th Ser. VIII. 530/1 The tetramorphic emblems..date perhaps from c. 860 A. D.

So Tetramorphism, the phenomenon of exhibiting four different forms; in Chem., the property of crystallizing in four several forms.

1909 in Cent. Dict., Suppl.

Tetramyrmecious,-nephric, etc.: see Tetra-.

‖ Tetrandria (tetræ·ndriă). Bot. [mod.L. (Linnæus, 1735), f. Gr. τετρα-, Tetra- + ἀνδρ-, stem of ἀνήρ man, male: cf. Polyandria, etc.] The fourth class in the Linnæan Sexual System, comprising plants bearing hermaphrodite flowers with four equal stamens. Also an order in the classes Gynandria, Monœcia, and Diœcia, having four stamens. So Tetra·nder, a plant having four stamens (Webster 1828); Tetra·ndrian a., having four stamens (ibid.); Tetra·ndrious (Mayne 1860), Tetra·ndrous adjs., having four equal stamens; belonging to the class Tetrandria.

1760 J. Lee Introd. Bot. II. xxiii. (1765) 130 Tetrandria, comprehending such Plants as have four Stamina. 1806 Galpine Brit. Bot. 261 Tetrandrous: spikes filiform, panicled. 1830 Lindley Nat. Syst. Bot. 72 Penæa has also tetrandrous flowers. 1872 Oliver Elem. Bot. I. iv. 39 In the Nettle, then, we have..in the male flower, stamens hypogynous, tetrandrous.

Tetrane (tetrēn). Chem. [f. Tetra- 2 + -ane 2 b.] The saturated hydrocarbon or paraffin of the tetracarbon series, $C_4H_{10}$, also called butane, quartane: see Tetryl.

1893 Thorpe Dict. Applied Chem. III. 813 Tetryl hydrides. Tetranes, butanes. 1. Normal tetrane, n-butane...Occurs in crude petroleum.

Tetrant (te·trănt). [ad. L. tetrans, tetrant-em (Vitruv.), ad. Gr. τετρᾶς.] = Quadrant sb.[1] 4 (b).

1860 Weale Dict. Terms (ed. 2), Tetrants, the four equal parts into which the area of a circle is divided by two diameters drawn at right angles to each other.

Tetraodon, etc.: see Tetrodon.

Tetraonid (tĕtrē·onid), a. (sb.) Ornith. [f. mod.L. Tetraonidæ, f. L. tetrao (-onem), a. Gr. τετράων, applied by Pliny to the Black Grouse and Capercaille, perh. also to other birds: see -id 3.] Pertaining to the family Tetraonidæ of gallinaceous birds, including the grouse and allied forms; also as sb. a member of this family. (The term has also been used more widely to include the partridges, quails, and other birds.) So Tetra·onoid, a. allied in form to the Tetraonidæ; sb. a tetraonoid bird (Funk's Stand. Dict. 1895); Tetra·onine a., belonging to the Tetraoninæ, as a subfamily of the Tetraonidæ: see above and Grouse sb. 1.

1847 Webster, Tetraonid, a term denoting a bird belonging to the tribe of which the tetrao is the type, as the grouse, partridge, quail, etc. 1882 Wilson Prehi. Man I. iii. 63 The name of the English partridge..is applied to one American tetraonid (Tetrao umbellus), the pheasant..to another, T. cupido. 1868 Huxley in Proc. Zool. Soc. 14 May 299 The great series of Gallinæ, Pavonine, Phasianine, and Tetraonine birds. 1885 Newton in Encycl. Brit. XVIII. 333/1 note, Caccabis lies 'on the Galline side of the boundary', while Perdix belongs to the Tetraonine group.

Tetra-paper. Chem. [Abbrev. of the full descriptive name: see quot.] A kind of test-paper.

1899 Cagney Yoksch's Clin. Diagn. v. (ed. 4) 160 This [masking of the result] may be prevented by the use of tetra-paper (tetramethyl-paraphenyl-diamine). Ibid. vii. 382 Tetra-paper..immersed in the fluid will show the presence of ozone by taking a blue colour.

† Tetrapetalose, a Bot. Obs. [f. as next: see -ose 1.] = Tetrapetalous.

1694 Phil. Trans. XVIII. 278 Tetrapetalose deformed Flowers coming out of the Scales of the Leaves. c 1711 Petiver Gazophyl. x. 96 Scarlet and blew tetrapetalose Flowers.

Tetrapetalous (tetrăpe·tălŏs), a. Bot. [f. mod.L. tetrapetalus (f. Gr. τετρα- four- + πέταλον Petal) + -ous.] Having four petals.

1697 Phil. Trans. XIX. 435 A wonderful strange Health-leaf of Tetrapetalous..Plant. 1704 J. Harris Lex. Techn. I, Tetrapetalous Flower..is that which consists of but four single coloured Leaves (which the Botanists call Petala). 1827 Keith Bot. Lex. 80 If the petals of a tetrapetalous corolla are so disposed on their receptacle as to spread out in the form of a cross, they are said to be cruciform.

Tetraphalangeate to-phyllous: see Tetra-.

† Tetraphyline. Mim. Obs. [ad. Ger. tetraphylin (Berzelius, 1836), f. Tetra- + Gr. φύλη tribe: see -ine 5.] An obs. name for Triphylite.

1836 R. D. T. Thomson's Rec. Gen. Sci. III. 477 Tetraphylline. This appears to be a variety of the preceding [Triphylline]. 1896 Chester Dict. Names Min., Tetraphyline...An obs. syn. of triphylite, the name given when a fourth base was discovered in it.

‖ Tetrapla (te·trăplă). Also 7–8 anglicized tetraples. [a. Gr. τετραπλᾶ, neut. pl. of τετραπλοῦς fourfold, f. τετρα-, Tetra- + -πλοος -fold. Cf. F. tétraples (Littré.)] A text consisting of four parallel versions, esp. that of the Old Testament made by Origen. Cf. Hexapla, Octapla.

1684 N. S. Crit. Eng. Edit. Bible xviii. 178 He maintains that the Tetraples and Hexaples of Origen..were call'd Tetraples, because they contain'd a fourfold Version; Hexaples because they comprehended six Versions. 1705 Hickeringill Priest-cr. iv. (1721) 242 Origen's Tetraples, Hexaples, and Octaples. 1831–3 E. Burton Eccl. Hist. xxiv. (1845) 516 Origen appears at first to have published the three versions of Aquila, Theodotion, and Symmachus, together with the Septuagint: they were arranged in four parallel columns, and the work was called Tetrapla.

Tetrapleuron (tetrăplĭu·rŏn). Pl. -a or -ons. [a. Gr. τετράπλευρον a figure with four sides, f. τετρα-, Tetra- + πλευρόν rib, side.]

1. A square column.

1837 Penny Cycl. IX. 325/1 Square pillars or tetrapleurons, with either a statue, or a caryatid figure standing before.

2. Morphol. Pl. Tetrapleura: Organic forms with bilateral symmetry having four antimeres or corresponding opposite parts. Cf. Dipleura.

1883 [see Dipleura].

Hence Tetrapleu·ral a., Morphol., zygopleural with four antimeres.

1891 in Cent. Dict.

Tetraplocaulous, etc.: see Tetra-.

Tetraplous (te·trăplŏs), a. [f. Gr. τετραπλόος, -πλοῦς fourfold + -ous.] Fourfold, quadruple.

1899 Proc. Zool. Soc. 16 May 684 Down the centre of the back is a series of tetraplous bright red spots.

Tetrapod (te·trăpŏd), a. and sb. [ad. mod.L. tetrapod-us, ad. Gr. τετράπους, τετραποδ- four-footed, f. τετρα-, Tetra- + πούς (ποδ-) foot. Cf. F. tétrapode.] a. adj. Having four feet or four limbs; spec. in Entom., belonging to the Tetrapoda, a division of butterflies having only four perfect legs, the anterior pair being unfitted for walking. b. sb. A four-footed animal; one of the Tetrapoda, applied by Cuvier to all vertebrates higher than fishes; in Entom., a butterfly belonging to the Tetrapoda. Hence Tetrapodichnite (-ĭknait), Geol. [-ichnite], the fossil footprint of a four-footed beast; Tetrapodo·logy, a treatise on quadrupeds; Tetrapodous a. = sense a. above.

1826 Kirby & Sp. Entomol. IV. xlvi. 343 Tetrapod,..an insect having only four perfect legs. 1835–6 Todd's Cycl. Anat. I. 265/2 No species of Bird ever deviates..from the tetrapodous type of formation. 1844 Page Rudim. Geol. § 225 (1851) 126 note, Professor Hitchcock adds a third class, tetrapodichnites, or the footsteps of some unknown four-footed animal. 1860 Mayne Expos. Lex., Tetrapodologia..., term for a treatise on quadrupeds; tetrapodology.

Tetrapody (tĕtrē·pŏdi). Pros. [ad. Gr. τετραποδία, f. τετραποδ-: see prec.] A group of four metrical feet; a verse of four feet. So Tetrapo·dic a., consisting of four metrical feet.

1846 Worcester, Tetrapody. 1889 Amer. Jrnl. Philol. July 225 The Bactrians and Indians..appear to have found the tetrapody short enough. Ibid., It seems more natural to assume the tetrapody as the primitive march-verse, and the tripody as an intentionally differentiated form for purposes of recitation. 1891 Harper's Mag. Mar. 570/2 Most folk-songs are constructed upon tetrapodic periods. Ibid. [see Dipody]. 1895 Gildersleeve Lat. Gram. (ed. 3) 458 Dipody..Tripody..Tetrapody.

Tetrapolar: see Tetra- 1.

‖ Tetrapolis (tĕtra·pŏlis). [a. Gr. τετράπολις of four cities; also sb.] A district of four cities; a state or political division consisting of four towns.

1846 Grote Greece I. v. I. 141 The inhabitants of the insignificant tetrapolis of Doris Proper. 1884 Boscawen Lect. in Builder 6 Dec., It was a tribe called the Akkadians who founded the tetrapolis of Nimrod.

Tetrapolitan (tetrăpŏ·lităn), a. [ad. mod.L. tetrapolitān-us of four cities, f. prec., after metropolitan.] Of or pertaining to four cities. Tetrapolitan Confession, a confession of faith drawn up by the four cities Strasburg, Memmingen, Constance, and Lindau, presented to the diet of Augsburg (1530).

1847 Prandi tr. Cantù's Reform. Europe I. 103 Those who were unwilling to admit the real presence, drew up another 'tetrapolitan confession'. 1906 C. G. M'Crie Beza's Poetr. Reformers 82 This symbol, generally styled the Tetrapolitan from the four cities..., is also called the Strasburg Confession.

Tetrapous to Tetraprionid: see Tetra-.

Tetrapterous (tĕtræ·ptĕrŏs), a. [f. mod.L. tetrapter-us (a. Gr. τετράπτερος four-winged, f. τετρα- four- + πτερ-όν wing) + -ous. Cf. F. tétrapère.] Having four wings; spec. in Entom. applied to four-winged flies; in Bot. having four wing-like appendages, as certain fruits. So Tetra·pter (see quot. 1846); Tetra·pteran a., tetrapterous; sb. a four-winged insect.

1826 Kirby & Sp. Entomol. III. xxix. 16 A Tetrapterous insect, the genus of which is uncertain, is said, when it is taken, to discharge its eggs like shot from a gun. Ibid. IV. xlvii. 376 A substance intermediate between that of the elytra of Coleoptera and that of the wings of the Tetrapterous Orders. 1842 Brande Dict. Sc. etc., Tetrapterans, Tetrapteros..., applied by some entomologists to the insects which have four wings, and which thus constitute an extensive primary division of the class. 1846 Smart Suppl., Tetrapteros, insects with four wings; fossil fishes having four fins. 1860 Mayne Expos. Lex., Tetrapterus Bot., having four wings, as the fruit of Tetragonia tetraptera. 1866 Treas. Bot., Tetrapterous, four-winged.

Tetraptote to -quetrous: see Tetra-.

Tetrarch (te·t-, tĕtrăk), sb.[1] Forms: 4 tetrarke, 5 -arche, 5- tetrarch; also 4–6 in L. form tetrarcha. [ad. late L. tetrarcha (Vulgate), cl. L. tetrarchēs, a. Gr. τετράρχης, f. τετρα- four- + -αρχης ruling, ruler. Cf. F. tétrarque (13th c.).]

1. Rom. Hist. The ruler of one of four divisions of a country or province; at a later period applied to subordinate rulers generally, esp. in Syria.

[c 1050 Byrhferth's Handboc in Anglia VIII. 299 Quadrans on lyden on grecisc ys gecweden tetrarcha.] 1382 Wyclif Matt. xiv. 1 Erode tetrarcha [gloss that is, prince of the fourthe part] 1388 tetrarke], herde the fame of Jhesu. 1432–50 tr. Higden (Rolls) IV. 233 He and his breber were made tetrarches, as hauenge the iiijte parte of a realm, from proctors. 1480 Caxton Chron. Eng. lv. (1520) 28/1 The Emperour..the half of the Iury and Alimane to Archylaus vnder name of Tetrarche. 1526 Tindale Matt. xiv. 1 Herod the tetrarcha. 1611 B. Jonson Catiline i. i, All the earth, Her kings, and tetrarchs, are their tributaries. 1718 Rowe tr. Lucan VII. 334 Kings and Tetarchs proud, a purple Train. 1877 C. Geikie Christ lx. (1879) 735 The tetrarch Antipas had come up from Tiberias, to show how devoutly he honoured the law.

2. transf. and fig. a. A ruler of a fourth part, or of one of four parts, divisions, elements, etc.; also a subordinate ruler generally.

1610 Histrio-m. II. 19 For his abundance pour'd at Plenties feet You shall be Tetrarchs of this petty world. 1651 Davenant Gondibert Pref. 45 The heads of the Church (where ever Christianity is preach'd) are Tetrarchs of Time; of which they command the fourth Division. 1671 Milton P. R. IV. 201 If I..have propos'd What both from Men and Angels I receive, Tetrarchs of fire, air, flood, and on the earth Nations besides. 1797 Burke Regic. Peace iii. Wks. VIII. 307 It is not to the Tetrarch of Sardinia..that we mean to prove [etc.].

attrib. 1642 Fuller Holy & Prof. St. III. xxi. 209 Men in whose constitutions one of the tetrarch Elements, fire, may seem to be omitted.

b. One of four joint rulers, directors, or heads.

a 1661 Fuller Worthies, Cornw. (1662) 1. 213 This was he who was one of the first four Tetrarchs or Joint-managers in chief of Marshall matters in Cornwall. 1902 Barini in Encycl. Brit. XXVIII. 496/2 The Parmassian school [had] as their tetrarchs and judges Théophile Gautier, Leconte de Lisle, Baudelaire, and Banville.

3. a. The commander of a subdivision of an ancient Greek phalanx. (The quot. may belong here or to sense 1.)

1845 Landor Imag. Conv., Scipio, Polyb., & Pan. (1853) 351 His bringing into the front of the center, as became some showy tetrarch rather than Hannibal, his eighty elephants.

b. In Fourier's social organization: A ruler of the fourth (ascending) rank.

1848 Tait's Mag. XV. 706 There will be duarchs for four phalanx, triarchs for 12, tetrarchs for 48.

Tetrarch, a. Bot. [f. Tetra- + Gr. ἀρχή beginning.] Proceeding from four distinct points of origin: cf. Diarch.

1884 Bower & Scott De Bary's Phaner. 363 Triarch and tetrarch bundles sometimes occur in thick roots of species which are usually diarch. Ibid. 354 In the case of diarch and tetrarch structure of the main root. Ibid., The phloem-groups of triarch and tetrarch roots of Papilionaceæ. 1895 Vines Students' Text-bk. Bot. 179 The stele may have—in different structures—one to many protoxylem (primitive wood) groups, and is accordingly described as monarch., diarch..triarch..tetrarch..polyarch. 1900 W. Wallace in Ann. Bot. Dec. 643 The tetrarch or triarch root [of Actinomma] has no pith and..no internal phloem.

Tetrarchate (te·trăkĕt). Also 7 -at. [f. Tetrarch sb.[1] + -ate 1; cf. exarchate and F. tétrarchat.] The office or position of a tetrarch.

1652 C. Cartwright Cert. Relig. I. 102 Your tetrarchate would be a gain for you to lose it. 1709 Stanhope Paraphr. IV. 90 Agrippa, Herod's Successor in the Tetrarchate of Galilee, 1874 H. R. Reynolds John Bapt. i. § 5. 41 It was Herod's feverish desire to emulate the title of King..that cost him his tetrarchate.

Tetrarchic (tĕtrā·kik), a. [ad. Gr. τετραρχικός of a tetrarch: see -ic.] Of or pertaining to four rulers; pertaining to a tetrarch or to a tetrarchy.

1818 W. Taylor in Monthly Rev. LXXXV. 528 The tetrarchic government is criticized. 1898 M. Ramsay in Expositor Aug. 132 Now began tetrarchic and then monarchic rule.

Tetrarchical (tĭtrɑ̈·ăkĭkăl), a. Now rare. [f. as prec. + -AL.] = prec.; also † of a country: Ruled by tetrarchs; divided into tetrarchies (obs.).
1638 Sir T. Herbert Trav. (ed. 2) 21 The whole Ile is Tetrarchicall, 4 severall Kings swaying their Ebony Scepters in each Toparchy. 1646 Sir T. Browne Pseud. Ep. v. x. (1650) 212 The Tetrarchicall or generall banners, of Judah, Ruben, Ephraim and Dan. *a*1751 Bolingbroke Ess. Author. Matters Relig. xxxii, The patriarchs had a sort of tetrarchical, or ethnarchical authority, for I suppose it is not easy to distinguish them.

Tetrarchy (te·trăkĭ). [ad. L. tetrarchia, a. Gr. τετραρχία, f. τετράρχης Tetrarch *sb.*1 Cf. F. tétrarchie (15th c. in Godef. Compl.).]
1. The district, division, or part of a country or province ruled by a tetrarch; the government or jurisdiction of a tetrarch.
1432–50 tr. Higden (Rolls) IV. 291 Wherefore Octouian.. sate to Archelaus the halfe parte of the Iewery, and Ydumea, in the name of a tetrarchye. 1591 G. Fletcher Russia Commun. (Hakl. Soc.) 3 These tetrarchies and provinces are reduced all into foure jurisdictions, which they call chetfyrds (that is), tetrarchies, or fourth-parts. 1656 Blount Glossogr., Tetrarchy, the government of the fourth part of a country [1674 adds] or a government of the whole by four persons. 1862 Merivale Rom. Emp. VI. lix. 540 The tetrarchy of Agrippa..menaced Galilee on its eastern flank.
2. transf. and fig. A government by four persons jointly; a set of four tetrarchs or rulers; a country divided into four petty governments.
*c*1630 Ridson Surv. Devon (1810) 3 The Danish tetrarchy. 1641 Milton Reform. II. Wks. 1851 III. 52 Hee ought to suspect a Hierarchy..to bee as dangerous and derogatory from his Crown as a Tetrarchy or a Heptarchy. 1716 M. Davies Athen. Brit. III. Diss. Physick 12 The honourable Tetrarchy of Physicians..Chirurgians, Apothecaries, and Chymists. 1862 Rawlinson Anc. Mon. I. i. 19 In each of these districts we have a sort of tetrarchy, or special pre-eminence of four cities. 1885 Spectator 8 Aug. 1033/2 Mr. Chamberlain's proposal for a tetrarchy in the guise of Local Government.

Tetrascele to -spherical: see Tetra-.

‖ Tetraspora·ngium. Bot. Pl. -ia. [mod. L., f. Tetra- + Sporangium; or f. Tetraspore + Gr. ἀγγεῖον receptacle.] A sporangium producing or containing tetraspores. Rarely anglicized as Te·traspora·nge (Cent. Dict. 1891).
1890 Athenæum 21 June 805/2 On the Development of the Tetrasporangia in Rhododendron rothii.

Tetraspore (te·trăspōəl). Bot. [f. Tetra- + Spore.] A group (usually) of four asexual spores, resulting from the division of a mother cell, in the Florideæ, a group of Algæ.
1857 Berkeley Cryptog. Bot. § 88. 108 Tetraspores, mostly immersed in the fronds. 1867 Brande & Cox Dict. Sc., etc. III. 754/2 Tetraspore [is] one of the forms of fructification found in some sea-weeds. It consists of little clusters of spores, in most cases four, but very rarely eight. 1875 J. H. Balfour in Encycl. Brit. I. 508/2 Spores have a tendency to divide into four; such compound spores are called tetraspores.
Hence Tetrasporic (-spŏ·rĭk), Tetrasporous (tetrăspō·rŏs, tĭtrăspō·rŏs) adjs., composed of or producing tetraspores.
1857 Berkeley Cryptog. Bot. § 172. 195 Distinguished by their almost constant production of tetrasporic, instead of polysporic, moniliform threads. 1874 Cooke Fungi 26 [He] has demonstrated that they are habitually tetrasporous.

Tetraster (tĭtrɛ·stăr). Biol. [mod.L., f. Tetra- + Gr. ἀστήρ star.] A karyokinetic figure formed in the modification of a cell-nucleus by the combination of four star-like masses of chromatin united by spindles or filaments.
1891 Billings Nat. Med. Dict., Tetraster, the figure presented when there are four centres of radiation during the indirect division of a nucleus into four daughter-nuclei. 1909 J. W. Jenkinson Exper. Embryol. 128 In the case where two sperm-nuclei unite with the egg-nucleus a tetraster is formed, that is four asters united by spindles in a square or rhombus.

Tetrastich (te·trăstĭk, tĭtrɛ·stĭk). Pros. Also 7–9 tetra·stic(h)on, (pl. -a); 7–8 tetrastic, -sticke, 7–9 -stick. [ad. L. tetrastichon a quatrain, a. Gr. τετράστιχον, neut. of τετράστιχος containing four rows, f. τετρα-, Tetra- + στίχος row, line of verse. Cf. F. tétrastiche, -ique.] A stanza of four lines.
1580 Spenser Let. to Harvey Wks. (Globe) App. ii. 709/1 Here I let you see my olde use of toying in Rymes turned into your artificiall straightnesse of Verse by this Tetrasticon. 1625 Ussher Answ. Jesuit 325 Therefore doth Theodorus Prodromus begin his Tetrastich upon our Saviours Resurrection. 1702 Spectator 4 T. L'Estrange's Vit. Quem. 62 What Man though always in the Pouts The following Tetrastick doubts? 1779 Johnson L. P., Milton Wks. II. 92 Selvaggi praised him in a distich, and Salsilli in a tetrastick: neither of them of much value. 1842 Johnson Typlogr. I. 330 The last page, on which are an Epistle and Tetrastichon in Roman. 1865 R. Palmer Bk. Praise 489 The two tetrastichs composing the first stanza are transposed.
Hence Tetra·stichal, Tetrastic·talic adjs., of, pertaining to, or of the nature of a tetrastich, or consisting of tetrastichs; Tetra·stichism, the formation of tetrastichs.
1882–3 Schaff's Encycl. Relig. Knowl. III. 1955 The alphabetical psalm (CXXVIII.) is almost entirely tetrastichic. 1890 G. Bickell in Athenæum 22 Nov. 700/3 There are hexastichic strophes throughout Prov. xxx.. and tetrastichic ones in i. 7–ix. 18. 1895 Q. Rev. Jan. 128 A tetrastichal metre should be chosen. 1898 R. Elton in Classical Rev. XII. 120 The process which Rutherford..aptly calls tetrastichism, i. e. reduction of a larger original to a total of four verses.

Tetrastichous (tĭtrɛ·stĭkŏs), a. Bot. and Zool. [f. mod.L. tetrastich-us (a. Gr. τετράστιχος: see prec.) + -ous.] Having organs or parts in four rows.
1866 Treas. Bot., Tetrastichous, having a four-cornered spike.

Tetrastigm (te·trăstĭg·m). Geom. [f. Gr. τετρα-, Tetra- + στίγμα prick, mark, point.] The complete figure composed of four points in a plane and their six connecting straight lines; commonly called complete quadrangle. 1863 [see Tetragram 2].

‖ Tetrastoon (tĭtrɛ·stŏ.ŏn), Arch. Pl. -oa. [a. Gr. τετράστοον, neuter of τετράστοος having four porticos (f. τετρα- + στοά porch).] A court-yard having open colonnades on each of its four sides.
1838 Britton Art & Archæol. Mid. Ages, Tetrastoön,.. a court-yard with porticos, or open colonnades on each of its four sides. 1908 W. M. Ramsay in Expositor Nov. 411 This atrium is what Engelmann calls a tetrastoon.

Tetrastyle (te·trăstaĭl), sb. and a. Arch. [ad. L. tetrastyl-us adj., tetrastyl-on sb., a. Gr. τετράστυλος (neut. -ον) with four pillars, f. τετρα-, Tetra- + στῦλος pillar. Cf. F. tétrastyle.]
A. sb. A structure having four pillars or columns; a group of four pillars.
1704 J. Harris Lex. Techn. I, Tetrastyle..is a Building which hath four Columns in the Faces before and behind. 1769 De Foe's Tour Gt. Brit. I. 369 An Organ of very good Workmship, and supported by a Tetrastyle of beautiful Gothic Columns. 1842 Francis Dict. Art, etc., Tetrastyle, a building having four columns in front.
B. adj. Having or consisting of four columns.
1837 Antiq. Athens 42 Including the tetrastyle portico and the Caryatid Caesa. 1858 J. L. Stephens Trvm., Russia 85/1 A tetrastyle Ionic temple of the purest white marble. 1842–76 Gwilt Archit. Gloss. s. v. Colonnade, If the columns are four in number, it is called tetrastyle.
So Tetrastylic (-stĭ·lĭk) a. = B.; also Tetrasty·lous a. Bot., having four styles or pistils.
1860 R. Brown Lex., Tetrastylus, .. having four styles .. : tetrastylous. 1895 Funk's Stand. Dict., Tetrastylic.

Tetrasyllable (tetrăsĭ·lăb'l), sb. (a.) [f. Tetra- + Syllable; cf. Gr. τετρασύλλαβος of four syllables.] a. sb. A word of four syllables. b. adj. Tetrasyllabic.
1589 Puttenham Eng. Poesie II. iii. (Arb.) 82 Euery sillable being allowed one time, either short or long, it fell out that euery tetrasillable had foure times, euery trissillable three, and the bissillable two. 1749 J. Mason Numbers in Poet. Comp. 17 Any two..joined together in a different Position make a different tetrasyllable Foot.
So Tetrasylla·bic, Tetrasylla·bical adjs., consisting of four syllables.
1656 Blount Glossogr., Tetrasyllabical, that hath or contains four syllables. 1721 Ash, Tetrasyllabic, containing four syllables. 1804 Mitford Inquiry 343 note, Describing the antient feet, classing them as dissyllabical, trissyllabical, and tetrasyllabical.
Tetrasymmetry to -theite: see Tetra-.
Tetrate: see Tetric a.[2]
Tetrathionic (tetrăθaĭ·ŏnĭk), a. Chem. [f. Tetra- + Gr. θεῖον sulphur + -ic: see -thionic.] In tetrathionic acid, $H_2S_4O_6$, a colourless, inodorous, very acid liquid, containing four atoms of sulphur in the molecule. Hence Tetrathi·onate, a salt of tetrathionic acid.
1848 Chem. Gaz. 1 Jan. 13 A double salt of the pentathionate and tetrathionate of potash. Ibid. 15 Sept. 369 Under the name of polythionic acids the author [P. Kessner] comprises the trithionic, tetrathionic and pentathionic acids. 1882 Fownes' Chem. (ed. 4) 140 Tetrathionic Acid ..was discovered by..Fordos and Gélis [1843]. 1864 J. Scoffern in Orr's Circ. Sc., Chem. 285 Bisulphuretted hyposulphuric acid (Tetrathionic acid). 1868 Watts Dict. Chem. V. 641 Tetrathionic Compounds. Ibid., Tetrathionate of Barium, $Ba''S_4O_6 + 2H_2O$,..is obtained in large tabular crystals.

Tetratomic (tetrăto·mĭk), a. Chem. [f. Tetr(a)- + Atomic.] Containing four atoms in the molecule. † b. = Tetravalent, Quadrivalent. Obs. † c. = Tetrahydric. Obs.
1862 Miller Elem. Chem. (ed. 2) III. 52 Tetratomic, or Tetrabasic elements, each atom of which in combination is equivalent to $H_4$, or four atoms of hydrogen. 1865 Reader 1 Apr. 372/3 Carbon has been shown by Kekulé [1857 Annalen der Chemie 104, p. 133] to be tetratomic. 1872 Watts Dict. Chem. VI. 237 Carbon, which combines with 4 atoms of hydrogen, is tetratomic, tetradic, or quadrivalent. 1880 Clerkinshaw Wurtz' Atom. Thr. 120 Both vapours are tetratomic, or, in other words, the molecules of phosphorus and arsenic are formed of four atoms.

Tetratone, -top: see Tetra-.

Tetratrocontane (tetraːtroːkŏntăn). Chem. [f. Tetra- + Gr. τριάκοντα thirty + -ane.] The saturated hydrocarbon or paraffin of the 34-carbon series, $C_{34}H_{70}$.

Tetravalent (tĭtrɛ·văleːnt, tetrăvē·lĕnt), a. Chem. [f. Gr. τετρα-, Tetra- + L. valent-em, pr. pple. of valēre to be worth.] Combining with four atoms of hydrogen or other monovalent element, or with four monovalent radicals, or capable of replacing four atoms of monovalent elements in a compound; thus the atoms of carbon and of lead are tetravalent in the compounds $CH_4$, $Pb(C_2H_5)_4$. Also called quadrivalent. So Tetravalence, the quality or fact of being tetravalent; quadrivalence.
1868 Williamson Chem. for Students 124 Oxygen is.. called a divalent element. A similar reasoning shows nitrogen to be trivalent; and carbon is tetravalent. 1887 Athenæum 13 Aug. 217/1 Proof is thus afforded that these elements [sulphur and selenium] are at least tetravalent in function.

Tetraxial to Tetraxonian: see Tetra-.

Tetrazole (te·trăzŏl). Chem. [f. Tetra- + Az(o- azote + L. oleum oil.] A colourless compound of carbon, nitrogen, and hydrogen, $N_4CH_2$ = $N\begin{smallmatrix}N=N\\ \diagup\diagdown\\ CH\end{smallmatrix}$. NH, having acidic properties, crystallizing in lustrous prisms or plates.
1892 Bladin in Jrnl. Chem. Soc. LXII. 1009 Tetrazole.. is obtained as a yellowish, crystalline mass, and is purified by crystallisation from alcohol.

Tetrazomal, Tetrazooid: see Tetra- I.

Te·trazone. Chem. [f. Tetra- + Az(o- + -one.] Name of a class of basic compounds containing four nitrogen atoms, with the formula $R_2NN : NNR_2$, in which R is any monovalent group. Ethyl tetrazone, $(C_2H_5)_2NN : NN(C_2H_5)_2$, is a basic liquid of alliaceous odour.
1895 in Funk's Standard Dict. 1899 in Syd. Soc. Lex.

Tetremimeral (tetrĭmĭ·mərăl), a. Pros. [f. Gr. τετρα- four- + ἡμιμερ-ής half, halved (f. ἡμι- half + μέρος part) + -al; after penthemimeral.] Occurring at the end of four half feet.
1906 Saintsbury Hist. Eng. Pros. I. 270 He mainly observes the tetremimeral cæsura, which is really important in rhyme-royal, very carefully.

‖ Tetrevangelium (tetrĕvănjɛ·lĭăm). [After med.L. tetrevangelia, pl. f. Gr. τετρα- four- + εὐαγγέλιον gospel, Evangel.] The four gospels collected into one manuscript or book.
1898 N. York Independent 27 Jan. (Cent. Suppl.) Codex Bezæ goes back not into a tetrevangelium, but into a detached collection .. in which the Lucan writings were a separate factor, unconnected with the rest. 1905 Expositor Aug. 123 We find it in the Tetrevangelium, a collection which was very probably made in Asia.

† Tetric, a.[1] Obs. Also 6 tetrik, † tetrick(e. [ad. L. tætric-us, tētric-us forbidding, harsh, gloomy, f. tæter foul: see -ic.] = Tetrical.
1533 Bellenden Livy I. viii. (S.T.S.) I. 45 In þe tetrik and soroufull science visit amang þe sabynis. 1620 Venner Via Recta iii. 23 It [wine]..correcteth the tetrick qualities which that age is subject vnto. 1682 Sir T. Browne Wks. (1835) IV. 276 Her youthful days are over, and her face hath become wrinkled and tetrick. 1811 H. Martyn Diary in Mem. (1825) III. 378 Amongst the others who came and sat with us, was my tetric adversary, Agra Acher.

So † Tetri·city [L. tætricitās], † Te·tritude [L. tætritūdo], the quality of being 'tetric', harshness, sourness; † Te·tricous a. = Tetric a.[1] 1623 Cockeram, Tetricitie, the sourenesse of the countenance. 1656 Blount Glossogr., Tetricity, sournesse or sadnesse of countenance. Tetritude, idem. 1727 Bailey Vol. II, Tetricous, sour in Countenance, austere, morose.

Te·tric, a.[2] Chem. [f. Gr. τετρα-, Tetra- 2 + -ic.] In tetric acid, a substance described by Demarçay in 1877, now believed to be $C_{10}H_{12}O_6$, or $C_5H_6O_3$. It is a colourless body crystallizing in triclinic prisms. Its salts are Tetrates.
1881 Watts Dict. Chem. VIII. 1918 Tetric acid and its homologues..are formed by the successive action of bromine and alcoholic potash on the ethylic ethers of aceto-acetic acid and its homologues.

Tetrical (te·trĭkăl), a. Obs. or arch. [f. as Tetric a.[1] + -al: see -ical.] Austere, severe, harsh, bitter, morose.
a 1529 Skelton Replic. Wks. 1843 I. 209 Touching the tetrycall theologiacaison of these demy diuines, and Stoicall studiantes. 1607–77 Feltham Resolves I. viii. 11 It is not good to be too tetrical and virulent. 1656 Blount Glossogr., Tetrical, rude, rough, unpleasant, sower, crabbish, hard to relish. 1772 Nugent tr. Hist. Pr. Gerund II. 81 Some so tetrical, so cross-grained, and of so corrupt a taste. 1901 M. Hume Span. People 488 He had none of the forbidding, tetrical Spanish form of devotion.
Hence Te·trical·ness, the quality of being tetrical.
1653 Gauden Hierasp. 170 It requires .. diligence .. to contend with younger ignorance, and elder obstinacy, and aged tetricalness.

Tetricity, -cous, Tetritude: see after Tetric[1].

[Tetrifolie, error in Holland (whence tetrifoil in Daniel) for tre-trifoly, i. e. tree-trefoil.
Tre-trifoly was applied by Turner to the Cytisus of the ancients (Medicago arborea). The black-wooded Cytisus of Pliny was the laburnum (Cytisus Laburnum).
1601 Holland Pliny XVI. xli. I. 490 Yet the Cytisus or Tetrifolie is blacker, and seemeth most to resemble the Ebene. 1606 Daniel Queen's Arcadia v. i. 85 And seek out Clouer for thy little Lambes, And Tetrifoil to cheerish vp their Dammes.]

Tetrobol (te·trŏbŏl). Also 7–8 tetrobolon, -um, 9 -us. [ad. mod.L. tetrobol-um, a. Gr. τετράβολον a four-obolus piece, f. τετρα- four + ὀβολός Obolus.] A silver coin of ancient Greece of the value of four oboli.
1693 tr. Blancard's Phys. Dict. (ed. 2), Tetrobolon, four Drams. 1706 Phillips (ed. Kersey), Tetrobolum, a Coin of four Oboli, about four Pence half-penny of our Money. 1842 Smith's Dict. Grk. & R. Antiq. s. v. Drachma, Specimens of the tetrobolus, triobolus, diobolus, three-quarter-obol, half-obol,..are still found. 1895 Athenæum 23 Nov. 723/1 An Æginetic hemi-drachm of about 40 grains..was equivalent to the Corinthian drachm or Attic tetrobol.

Tetrode (te·trōud). Zool. [f. TETRA- + Gr. ὁδός way.] A sponge-spicule with four equal rays in the same plane.

‖ Tetrodon (te·trŏdɒn). Ichthyol. Also tetra-odon, tetraodon. [mod.L. (Linnæus 1766), f. Gr. τετρα- four + ὀδούς, ὀδον- tooth. So F. tétrodon.] A genus of plectognathic fishes, typical of the family Tetrodontidæ, in which the jaws are divided longitudinally by a groove, giving the appearance of four large teeth; a fish of this family, a globe-fish. Hence Tetrodo·nic a., of, pertaining to, or derived from fishes of this genus; Chem. applied to a poisonous acid obtained from the roe of a fish of this genus (Cent. Dict. Suppl. 1909); Tetro-do·nin, a crystalline base obtained with tetrodonic acid. So Te·trodont (also tetraodont), a. having (apparently) four teeth; belonging to the Tetrodontidæ; sb. a tetrodon or globe-fish. Hence Tetrodo·ntid, Tetrodo·ntoid adjs. and sbs.

1774 GOLDSM. Nat. Hist. (1776) VI. 237 These are the Sun Fish, the Tetrodon, the Lunar Fish. 1820-34 Good's Study Med. (ed. 4) IV. 214 The genus tetradon, in one species, secretes an electric fluid. 1854 BADHAM Halieut. 409 The tetrodons seem as unsafe for food as the diodons. 1858 BAIRD Cyclop. Nat. Sci. s. v. Diodontidæ, The true diodonts,.. the tetraodonts,..and tetrodonts. 1883 Spectator 19 May 639 The tetradon, a knobbly, bladder-shaped creature, used by the Chinese as a lantern, when he has been scooped.

†Tetronymal, a. Obs. rare—°. [f. Gr. type *τετρόνυμ-ος (f. τετρα- four + ὄνομα name) + -AL.] 1656 BLOUNT Glossogr., Tetronimal, that hath four names.

Tetrose (te·trōus). Chem. [f. TETRA- + -OSE 2.] The name of the class of sugars containing four carbon atoms in the molecule. 1909 Cent. D. Suppl.

Tetrous (te·trəs), a. Now rare. [f. L. tæter (ître) offensive, foul + -OUS.] Offensive, foul.

Sometimes from contiguity of form and sense confused with TETTEROUS: so in quot. 1820.

1637 BRIAN Pisse-proph. (1679) 133 Your heart and head are assaulted with a tetrous vapour, so that you are melancholick and cannot take your rest. 1664 EVELYN Sylva (1776) 41x The Decoction [of Elder buds] is admirable to assuage inflammations and tetrous humours and especially the Scorbutis. 1890 A. W. TOURGEE in Chicago Advance 27 Mar., A leper whose tetrous spots threaten every soul that looks upon them.

Tetro·xide. Chem. [f. TETRA- 2 a + OXIDE.] A binary compound containing four atoms of oxygen; e. g. nitrogen tetroxide, $NO_4$.

1866 ROSCOE Elem. Chem. vii. 63 The same blue body [nitric trioxide] is obtained by adding water to nitric tetroxide and drying the distillate over calcium chloride. 1872 WATTS Dict. Chem. VI. 239 The tetroxide..appears.. to be capable of existing in the two polymeric modifications $NO_2$ and $N_2O_4$.

Tetroxy-. Chem. [f. as prec. + OXY(GEN).] In comb. equivalent to tetrahydroxy-, denoting the substitution of four hydroxyl groups (OH) in the compound to the name of which it is prefixed.

Tetryl (te·tril). Chem. [f. TETR(A- 2 + -YL.] The monovalent radical of the tetracarbon series, $C_4H_9$, also called BUTYL; chiefly attrib. = tetryltic, as in tetryl hydride = TETRANE, tetryl acetate, alcohol, aldehyde, chloride, oxide, sulphide, etc.; tetryl compounds, group, series, etc.

1887 MILLER Elem. Chem. III. 129 Tetryl, Butyl, or Valyl ..is one of the products obtained during the electrolysis of the valerate of potash. Ibid. 33 Valerianic or Tetrylformic [acid]. 1862 Ibid. 218 Tetryl Glycol (Butyl Glycol). 1868 WATTS Dict. Chem. V. 732 None of the tetryl-compounds can be directly prepared from it [tetryl]. Ibid., Tetryl forms compounds with other alcohol-radicles. Tetryl-ethyl, $C_6H_{14}$. ..Tetryl-amyl, $C_9H_{20}$..Tetryl-hexyl, $C_{10}H_{22}$.

Hence Te·trylamine, an amine or compound ammonia of tetryl, also called BUTYLAMINE; Te·trylate, a salt of tetrylic or butyric acid; Te·trylene, the olefine of the tetryl group, $C_4H_8$, also called Tetrene and BUTYLENE; attrib. as tetrylene-diamine; Te·trylenic a., pertaining to tetrylene; Tetrylic a., of tetryl, tetryl acid, etc.

1868 WATTS Dict. Chem. V. 737 With nitrate of silver, *tetrylamine forms a tawny yellow precipitate. 1857 MILLER Elem. Chem. III. 190 Hydrocarbons homologous with olefiant gas..., *Tetrylene, Butylene, or Oil Gas ($C_8H_8$)..was ascertained by Faraday to be one of the products furnished by the destructive distillation of oil. 1868 WATTS Dict. Chem. V. 738 Tetrylene at —18° is a colourless mobile oil, having an ethereal but peculiar and penetrating odour. Ibid. 739 *Tetrylenic alcohol, $C_4H_{10}O_2$, Tetryl-or Butyl-glycol..a colourless, viscid, inodorous liquid, having a mild aromatic taste. Ibid., Tetrylenic bromide, $C_4H_8Br_2$.. Tetrylenic chloride, $C_4H_8Cl_2$. 1857 MILLER Elem. Chem. III. 127 *Tetrylic alcohol is a colourless liquid of high refracting power, lighter than water.

Tett, tette, obs. forms of TEAT.

Tetter (te·tər), sb. Forms: 1 tetr, 1-6 tetter, 4-5 tetre, 5 -yr, -ere, 6-7 -ar, 6-8 tettar, (7 teater, 9 dial. titter), 6- tetter. [OE. teter:—OTeut. tetru-, pre-Teut. dedru-, Skr. dadru a kind of cutaneous disease, f. dā to crack; cf. Lith. dedervine tetter. The simple word is not preserved elsewhere in Teut., but cf. OHG. zitaroh (:—titruha*), MHG. siteroch, Bav. dial. zitt(e)roch, -en, Tyrol zittrich; also mod.Ger. zittermal, zitterflechte, Swiss zitterabel tetter, ringworm.]

1. A general term for any pustular herpetiform eruption of the skin, as eczema, herpes, impetigo, ringworm, etc.

Crusted, pustular, running tetter, impetigo; eating t., lupus; honeycomb t., favus; humid or moist t., eczema; milky t., milk-blotch; scaly t., psoriasis.

a700 Æpinal Glossa. (O.E.T.) 128 Basis, teter. Ibid. 502 Impetigo, tetr. Ibid. 931 Papula vel pustula, spryng vel tetr. *c725 Corpus Gloss. (O.E.T.) 128 Balsis, teter. *c897 K. ÆLFRED Gregory's Past. C. xi. 71 Se ðonne hæfð teter on his lichoman se hæfð on his mode gitsunga. *c1000 Sax. Leechd. I. 150 Hie ofgewinð þone scrut & þone teter. *a1050 Liber Scintill. xxv. 109 Teter witodlice hæfð on lichaman. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) II. 61 pere beep hoote bathes, [at waschep of teteres, oper sores and scabbes. *c1475 Pict. Voc. in Wr.-Wülcker 791/14 Hec serpedo, .a teters. 1584 COGAN Haven Health xxviii. (1636) 48 For a Tettar or Ring-worme a little Mustard laid upon it within a few dayes will cure it. 1602 SHAKS. Ham. I. v. 71. 1622 HAKEWILL Danid's Vow vii. 284 It is good..to kill a Tetter before it spread to a Ringworme. 1712 tr. Pomet's Hist. Drugs I. 66 The true Oil of Cedar is admirable for curing Tetters. 1850 BLACKIE Æschylus I. 125 A leprous tetter with corrosive tooth [would] Creep o'er my skin, and fasten on my flesh.

fig. 1641 MILTON Reform. 1, Wks. 1851 III. 19 What a universall tetter of impurity had invenom'd every part, order, and degree of the Church. 1647, 1705 [see RINGWORM 1 b]. 1693 SOUTHWELL Mead's Pest Prayer v. 1. The mercenary itch in an old woman; 'tis the very tetter of that sex. 1819 W. TENNANT Papistry Storm'd (1827) 145 In ran the nirn by chance, And lat out buth the wind and matter, That lang had kept in that tetter.

2. A cutaneous disease in animals, esp. horses.

1552 HULOET, Tetter for horse, herpeta. 1575 TURBERV. Venerie 227 The Tettar commeth vnto many dogs naturally or by kind or age. 1614 MARKHAM Cheap Husb. (1623) 120 To heale any Tetter, or drie scabbe in Horses. 1708 Lond. Gaz. No. 4400/4 A black Gelding..a Tetter on the off Breast. 1794 Sporting Mag. III. 156 A cure for warts or tetters on horses. 1819 Pantologia, Tetter, called by farriers the flying-worm, or ring-worm. It runs up and down the skin in different directions, from whence it receives its name.

†To·tter, v. Obs. rare. [f. prec.] trans. To affect with, or as with, a tetter.

1607 SHAKS. Cor. III. i. 79 So shall my Lungs Coine words ..against those Meazels Which we disdaine should Tetter vs.

Tetter-berry (te·tərberi). The common Bryony, Bryonia dioica; also, the berry of this plant. Variously said to cure and to produce tetter.

1597 GERARDE Herbal ii. cccvi. 720 In English Bryonie, white Bryonie, and tetter Berrie. 1598 FLORIO, Vitalba, wilde vine or tetterberrie growing in hedges with red berries ..the iuice whereof will cause the skin to blister. 1640 PARKINSON Theatr. Bot. ii. xiii. 181 Good against all fretting and running cankers, gangrenes and tetters, and therefore the berries [are] usually called of the Country people, Tetter berries. 1886 BRITTEN & H. Plant-n., Tetter-berry .. Hants., where children have an idea that the juice of the fruit will, if it touches the skin, produce tetter.

Te·tterish, a. [f. TETTER sb. + -ISH 1.] Of the nature of tetter: with quot. cf. 1758 in next.

1709 Brit. Apollo II. No. 36. 4/2 It..heales all Tetterish Humors.

Tetterous (te·tərəs), a. [f. TETTER sb. + -OUS.] Of the nature of, proceeding from, or causing tetter.

In quot. 1758 perhaps an error for TETROUS, foul.

1719 QUINCY Lex. Physico-Med. (1726), Noli-me-tangere, touch me not, is a tetterous Eruption, thus call'd, from its Soreness, or Difficulty of Cure. 1750 RUTTY in Phil. Trans. LI. 476 Scab, tetterous eruptions, scald head, and sore eyes. 1758 J. S. Le Drans's Observ. Surg. (1771) 131 A tetterous Humour..shall create an Obstruction.

Tetter-totter, variant of TITTER-TOTTER.

Tetterwort (te·tərwœrt). A cutaneous affection; = TETTER; a form of ringworm.

1622 T. SCOTT Belg. Pismire 28 [It] oueresprea̅des the face and body thereof, like a Canker or Tetter-worm. 1727 BAILEY vol. II, Tetterworm, an Insect. *c1825 FORBY Voc. E. Anglia, Titter-worm,..a cutaneous efflorescence, a series or confluence of minute pimples,..nor is it so troublesome and obstinate an affection as the ring-worm. It is a miliary eruption, in form rather vermicular than annular.

Tetterwort (te·tərwœrt). The common Celandine, Chelidonium majus: so called because supposed to cure tetters.

*a1400–50 Stockh. Med. MS. 175 Celydonye or teterwort, celidonie. 1578 LYTE Dodoens I. xx. 31 Called..in English Celandyne, Swallowwarte, and of some Tetterwurte. 1640 PARKINSON Theatr. Bot. v. lxx. 628 Tetterwort..the iuice often applyed to tetters..will quickly kill their sharpenesse. 1879 PRIOR Pop. Names Plants (ed. 3) 235 Tetter-wort, from its curing tetters.

b. In America, The Blood-root, or Red PUCCOON, Sanguinaria canadensis. 1891 in Cent. Dict.

†Te·tterwose. Obs. rare—°. [f. TETTER sb. + (?) OOZE sb.?] The Common Germander, Teucrium Chamædrys.

*a1500 Voc., Wr.-Wülcker 569/47 Camedreos,..Teterwose.

Te·ttery, a. [f. TETTER sb. + -Y.] Of the nature of tetter; tetterous.

1697 R. PRICE Bath Mem. 1. iv. 72 He came for a Tettery Eruption in his Neck and Chin. 1721 Lond. Gaz. No. 5977/4 All Leprous, Tettery, Scabby, Scaly, Scurfy, or other.. Breakings out upon the Skin.

†Tettish, teatish, a. Obs. [Origin of radical part tet or teat obscure: see also TETTY a.] Peevish, irritable, fretful.

1567 GOLDING Ovid's Met. XIII. (1579) 172 And thou the selfsame Galate art more tettish for to frame, Than Oxen of the wildernesse whom neuer wyght did tame. 1592 NASHE P. Penilesse (ed. 2) 16 Hee is an olde man for those yeares are most wayward and teatish). *a 1610 FLETCHER Wit without M. v. iii, This Rogues, if he had been soliter, sure had beaten me, is the most tettish Knave. 1621 — Pilgrim I. i, Who will be troubled with a tettish girl? *a 1625 — Woman's Prize v. i, Her sickness Has made her somewhat teatish.

‖ Tettix (te·tiks). [a. Gr. τέττιξ.]

1. The cicada or tree-cricket, a homopterous winged insect: so called by the ancient Greeks, and hence in reference to Greece, Greek poets, etc. The South European species is Cicada orni.

1775 R. CHANDLER Trav. Asia M. (1825) I. 343 The tettix or cicada in the day-time is extremely troublesome. 1816 KIRBY & SP. Entomol. xxiv. (1828) II. 402 One band entreats the shepherds to spare the innocuous Tettix, that nightingale of the Nymphs. 1871 M. COLLINS Inn of Strange Meetings 40 Anacreon's tettix, singing in the trees. 1900 Daily News 13 Dec. 5/2 The much-sung 'tettix', or cicada.

2. Entom. A genus of Acrididæ, or short-horned grasshoppers, typical of the orthopterous subfamily Tettigiinæ, having the pronotum horizontal and the antennæ thirteen- or fourteen-jointed. Two species are known in Britain and nine in U. S.

3. Golden tettix (Gr. χρυσοῦς τέττιξ), an ornament worn in the hair by Athenians before Solon's time, as an emblem of their being aboriginal.

1874 MAHAFFY Soc. Life Greece v. 135 Fastened their hair with a golden tettix. 1875 BROWNING Aristoph. Apol. 141 Citizens Like Aristeides and like Miltiades Wore each a golden tettix in his hair.

Tetty, variant of TEETY, easily offended.

Tet-work, obs. or erron. f. TUT-WORK, piecework. Teucall, obs. form of TROCALL.

Teuch, teugh, Sc. forms of TOUGH.

Teuchat, -it, Sc. variants of TEWIT, lapwing.

Teucrin (tiū·krin). Chem. [f. Bot. L. Teucrium, generic name of germander + -IN 1.]

1881 WATTS Dict. Chem. 3rd Suppl., Teucrin..a glucoside obtained from Teucrium fruticans, a Sicilian plant used as a remedy for intermittent fever.

Teuf-teuf: see TUFF-TUFF.

Teuk (tiūk). local. [From its note of alarm.] The name given in East Anglia, Essex, and Kent to a bird, the Redshank, Totanus calidris.

1889 ATKINSON Walks & Talks (1892) 300 A man went with a sailor to shoot teukes. 1892 Within an hour of Lond. (ed. 2) 256 The redshank, pool-snipe, teuke or took. [1910 Westm. Gaz. 29 Jan. 11/1 The Redshank. The clear 'teuk-teuk' will break upon the stillness that reigns around, showing your deadly presence is detected.] Ibid., The 'teuk', as they call the redshank in [the Essex marshes].

Teut (tiūt). Colloquial abbreviation of TEUTON.

1862 J. BROWN Lett. (1907) 152 That blue-eyed, soft and white-skinned Teut, polyandrous and heartless. 1876 BLACKIE Lang. & Lit. Highl. Scotl. i. 66 The Celts..delight in a peculiar use of the nasal organ, unknown to the Teut, whether in Saxony or in the British low countries.

Teutenage, obs. form of TUTENAG, zinc.

Teuthology (tiūθŏ·lŏdʒi). [ad. mod.L. teuthologia, irreg. (for teuthidologia*) f. Gr. τευθίς (-ίδο-) cuttle-fish, squid + -LOGY.] That branch of zoology which deals with cephalopods. Hence Teutho·logist.

1886 HOYLE in Challenger Rep. XVI. 61 More explicit information...would be very acceptable to teuthologists. 189x Cent. Dict., Teuthology.

Teu·tlose. Chem. [f. Gr. τεῦτλ-ον beet + -OSE 2.]

1868 WATTS Dict. Chem. V. 740 Teutlose,..a kind of sugar, resembling glucose, said to exist, under certain circumstances, in the juice of beet.

Teuto- (tiū·to), before a vowel Teut-, combining form irregularly f. TEUTON, TEUTONIC.

1. Combined with other ethnic sbs. or adjs. in the sense 'That is a Teuton, or Teutonic and . . .', as Teut-Aryan, Teuto-British, -Celt, -Celtic, etc.

1895 Funk's Stand. Dict., Teuto-Celtic, of mixed Teutonic and Celtic blood, as the people of northern France. 1897 19th Cent. May 795 The early Aryan or better Teutaryan children would seem to have used another word. 1899 Daily Chron. 24 Mar. 4/6 Sir Rowland Blennerhasset.. belonged to that class of international publicists represented by the Baron von Bunsen..,his Teuto-British contributions to our magazines will be much missed.

2. Formative of derivatives, as Teuto·latry, the idolizing of Teutonic or German nationality, ideas, etc.; Teutoma·nia, a mania for what is Teutonic or German; hence Teutoma·niac, one possessed with Teutomania; Teu·tophile, -phil sb., a lover or friend of Germany and the Germans; also adj.; Teutopho·bia, an intense dread of or aversion to Germany and the Germans; hence Teu·tophobe, one possessed with Teutophobia; Teu·tophobism.

1893 Chicago Advance 17 Aug., Words of warning against the danger of "Teutolatry" [= blind attachment to German biblical criticism]. 1898 A. HERBERT in Todd Irish Nemnius Notes 42 That crotchet is as old as Verstegan, who says the Picts were..phichtian or fighters...This was "Teutomania. 1899 Q. Rev. Apr. 440 To detest the Teutomania that worked at the expense of progress and good will. 1900 Dundee Advertiser 16 Apr. 16/3 France, which "Teutomaniacs are wont to brand as 'Celtic'. 1904 Jrnl. Philos. Psychol. & Sci. Meth. 4 Feb. 58 (C. D. Suppl.) Worthy of more attention than it receives in the current "Teutophile philosophy. 1904 Daily Chron. 29 Mar. 4/6 The late Tsar —who, as a Teutophobe, would never speak German. 1905 Daily News 9 Aug. 6 The misunderstandings..are directly attributable to the Teutophobe Press. 1903 Sat. Rev. 14 Mar. 330/1 A reasoned protest against English 'Teutophobia. 1904 Q. Rev. Jan. 320 These articles, apart from their 'Teutophobism, are..lucid surveys.

Teuton (tiū'tŏn, -tŭn). [ad. L. Teuton-ēs, Teuton-i (rarely sing. Teuton, -us), ethnic name. For sense 2 see Note to TEUTONIC.]

1. In pl. (usually in L. form Teutones) applied to an ancient people of unknown race, said to have inhabited the Cimbric Chersonesus in Jutland c 320 B.C., who, in company with the Cimbri, in 113–101 B.C. devastated Gaul and threatened the Roman republic.

1727–41 CHAMBERS Cycl., Teutonic, belonging to the Teutons, an ancient people of Germany, inhabiting chiefly along the coasts of the German ocean. 1839 Penny Cycl. XIV. 420/2 The consul Manilius and the proconsul Caepio were defeated by the Teutones and Cimbri in Gaul. 1879 FROUDE Cæsar v. 47 Both Teutones and Cimbri were Germans.

2. A German; in extended ethnic sense, any member of the races or peoples speaking a Germanic or Teutonic language; in Great Britain and its colonies, and the United States, often used like 'Saxon' in opposition to 'Celt', and in avoidance of 'German' in its modern political sense.

1833 D. MACMILLAN in Hughes Mem. ii. (1889) 20, I am very glad that my mother is a Teuton. 1841 SPALDING Italy & It. Isl. III. 221 These isolated Teutons constituted under the Venetian government a sort of smuggling free state. 1900 A. LANG in Blackw. Mag. Apr. 543/2 He is a partisan of the pure Teuton.

Hence Teu·tondom, the land or domain of the Teutons, Germany; the German people or state; Teutone·sque a. [-ESQUE], of Teutonic character.

1880 STALLYBRASS tr. Grimm's Teutonic Mythol. I. 103 Those divinities of whom there is least trace to be found in the rest of Teutondom. 1889 R. B. ANDERSON tr. Rydberg's Teutonic Mythol. 22 Did they look upon themselves as aborigines or as immigrants in Teutondom? 1839 DARLEY Resources of Fletcher's Wks. I. introd. 38 A Teutonesque consonantal language like ours, will, however polished, want sufficient melodiousness.

Teutonic (tiūtŏ'nik), a. and sb. Also 7 Theut-. [ad. L. Teutonic-us, f. Teuton-ēs: see Note below.]

A. adj. 1. Of or pertaining to the Teutons; German, esp. High German.

c 1645 HOWELL Lett. (1650) II. 80 The High Dutch or Teutonic tongue is one of the prime and most spacious maternall languages of Europe. 1687 North's Plutarch, Add. Lives (1676) 39 He [Charlemagne] began a Vulgar Teutonick Grammar. 1719 W. OLDSWORTH Quillet's Callipædia IV. 746 The fam'd Teutonick Valour, priz'd in war. 1724 WATERLAND Athan. Creed v. 67 There is in the emperor's library at Vienna, a German, or Teutonick version of this creed. 1770 (title) A Compendious View of the Grounds of the Teutonic Philosophy. With considerations by way of enquiry into..the writings of J. Behmen.

b. Of or pertaining to the ancient Teutones.

1618 BOLTON Florus' Hist. (1636) 117 The Cimbrian, Theutonicke, and Tiguri Warre. 1727–41 [see TEUTON 1].

2. Of or pertaining to the group of languages allied to German (including Gothic, Scandinavian, Low German, and English), forming one of the great branches of the Indo-European, Indo-Germanic, or Aryan family, and to the peoples or tribes speaking these languages: now often called Germanic, and sometimes Gothic. (See Note below.)

1727–41 CHAMBERS Cycl. s. v., Teutonic language, is the ancient language of Germany, which is ranked among the mother-tongues. 1768 BLACKSTONE Comm. III. xxiii. 350 Stierhook ascribes the invention of the jury, which in the Teutonic language is denominated nembda, to Regner, king of Sweden and Denmark. 1840 CARLYLE Heroes i. (1872) 22 The word Wooton, which is the original form of Odin, a word spread..over all the Teutonic Nations everywhere. 1846 MCCULLOCH Acc. Brit. Empire (1854) II. 79 The Normans, as well as the Saxons, were of Teutonic extraction. 1857 MAURICE Ep. St. John xx. 336 He raised up the Gothic or Teutonic race. 1864 BURTON Hist. I. i. 5 The eastern and northern parts of what now is Scotland were peopled by a race of very pure Teutonic blood and tongue. 1888 SKEAT Etymol. Dict. p. xviii, German, properly called High-German, to distinguish it from the other Teutonic dialects, which belong to Low-German.

3. Teutonic Knights, Teutonic Order (of Knights): A military order of German Knights (in med.L. Teutonicus Ordo Militaris, F. l'Ordre Teutonique, Ger. Deutsche Ritter, in 16th c. Teutsche Herren), originally enrolled c 1191 as the Teutonic Knights of St. Mary of Jerusalem, for service in the Holy Land.

Their first seat was at Acre; after the fall of the Latin kingdom of Jerusalem, they settled at Marienburg on the Vistula, and carried on a crusade against the neighbouring heathen nations of Prussia, Livonia, etc. Their conquests made them a great sovereign power, but from the 15th c. they rapidly declined, and were abolished in 1809. The order maintains a titular existence in Austria and Holland.

[1586 FERNE Blas. Gentrie 128 The habite and robes of a Teuch-knight was a cloake or mantell of white, with a blacke crosse vpon the same.] 1617 MORYSON Itin. I. 34 A house of old belonging to the Teutonicke order of Knights. Ibid. 61 Prussen of old was subiect to the order of the Teutonicke Knights. 1645 FULLER Gt. Th. in Bad T. (1841) 43 Martin de Golin, master of the Teutonic order, was taken prisoner by the Prussians, and delivered bound to be beheaded. 1727 BAILEY vol. II, Teutonick Order, ..The Order is now little known, tho' there is still a Great Master of it kept up. 1845 S. AUSTIN Ranke's Hist. Ref. I. 163 On the eastern frontier, where (in 1503) the Teutonic knights were incessantly pressed upon by the Poles and Russians. Ibid. II. ii. I. 373 Maximilian wished to hold him in check, on the one side by the Grand Duke of Moscow, on the other by the Teutonic Order.

4. Teutonic cross, a cross potent, being the badge of the Teutonic Order.

1282 OGILVIE (Annandale), Teutonic Cross.

B. sb. 1. † The language of any Teutonic race, spec. the German language (obs.); now by philologists applied only to the common or primitive speech, which afterwards broke up into the languages named in A. 2; also known as Germanic.

1631 WEEVER Anc. Fun. Mon. 684 Although the Teutonic be more mixed with other strange languages. 1668 WILKINS Real Char. i. § 3. 3 The Teutonic or German is now distinguished into Upper and Lower. 1727–41 CHAMBERS Cycl. s. v. Mother-tongue, Of mother tongues, Scaliger reckons ten in Europe, viz. the Greek, Latin, Teutonic or German, Sclavonic, Irish and British. 1755 Gentl. Mag. XXV. 150/1 An history of our language, in which it is regularly traced from the old Gothic and Teutonic to modern English. 1864 BURTON Scot Abr I. i. 14 All the way from the border to the Highland line, the people, high and low, came to speak in very pure Teutonic. 1870 HEIGHAM Teutonic Gram. 108 The perfect of the verb haldan must have been ha-hald in the primitive Teutonic.

† 2. = TEUTON 2. Obs.

1638 SIR T. HERBERT Trav. (ed. 2) 361 Verstegan (alias Rowley) [had not] dar'd to make us all Teutonicks. 1691 WOOD Ath. Oxon. II. 40 His Grandfather was by nativity a Teutonic.

† 3. pl. = Teutonic Knights: see A. 3. Obs.

1693 tr. Emilianne's Hist. Monast. Orders III. 280 The Knights of Rhodes..and the Teutonicks. 1706 MORSE Amer. Geog. II. 258 As grand Master of the Teutonics.

[Note. Late Roman writers reckoned the Teutones among the peoples of Germania, and Teutonicus became a common poetic equivalent for Germānicus. It is now however held by many that they were not a Germanic people. But, before 900, German writers in Latin began to follow Latin poetic precedent by using Theotiscus or Theotisca lingua instead of the barbarian or non-classical Theotisca, to render the native tiutisch, diutsch (OHG.), diutic, mod. deutsch = Old thiudisc, OE. þēodisc (literally 'national, popular, vulgar') as a designation of their vulgar tongue in contrast to Latin, as if this German adj. were identical with the ancient ethnic name. In 1200 lingua Teutonica was similarly used, and thenceforth Teutonicus becomes a usual L. rendering of Deutsch or German. Some Early German comparative philologists (e.g. Bopp in 1820) used Teutonisch as the name for the family of languages including Gothic, German, Scandinavian, and English; but for this Germanisch is now more used in German, and Germanic by many in English. But in English there is an awkwardness and sometimes ambiguity in using Germanic beside German (in its ordinary political sense), which does not arise in German or French, where germanisch and germanique are entirely distinct from deutsch and allemand. To avoid this, many English scholars prefer 'Teutonic' as the term for the linguistic family, and it is commonly so used in this dictionary.]

Teutonically (tiūtŏ'nikălĭ), adv. [f. prec.: see -ICALLY.] In the manner of a 'Teuton' or German; in German style.

1859 J. MARTINEAU Ess., etc. (1891) III. 534 The position Teutonically proved untenable to all 'thinkers of any force'. 1895 Athenæum 17 Aug. 232/1 Dr. Führer justly, if Teutonically, writes [etc.].

Teutonicism (tiūtŏ'nisiz'm). [f. as prec. + -ISM.] Teutonic (i.e. German) character or practice; a Teutonic expression; a Teutonism.

1842 SIR C. LYELL in Life, etc. (1881) II. 63 The terms bakery and bookbindery seem useful Teutonicisms. 1901 Westm. Gaz. 2 Oct. 4/3 Italian composers essaying the more classical forms are impelled to out-Herod Herod in the seriousness and Teutonicism of their productions.

Teutonism (tiū'tŏniz'm). [f. TEUTON + -ISM.]

1. An idiom or mode of expression peculiar to or characteristic of the Teutonic languages, esp. of German; a Germanism.

[1619 KEPLER Harmonia Mundi IV. v. in Opera (1864) V. 234 Idem quod vultus facies; quod etiam noster Teutonismus habet, qui faciem solet nominare dei vultum.] 1889 L. E. & D. Philos. Mag. Nov. 425 The translator has done his part of the work well, although we detect distinct Teutonisms here and there.

2. Teutonic or Germanic character, type, constitution, system, or spirit; German feeling and action (either in the wider ethnical or the restricted national or political sense).

1854 MILMAN Lat. Chr. III. vii. (1864) II. 101 Teutonic Europe, or Europe so deeply interpenetrated with Teutonism. 1881 Atlantic Monthly XLVIII. 230 During most of classic antiquity the centre of Teutonism seems to have been farther east than Germany. 1900 A. LANG in Blackw. Mag. Apr. 543/2 He regrets the Norman Conquest as an interference with unmixed Teutonism.

Teutonist (tiū'tŏnĭst). [f. as prec. + -IST.]

1. One versed in the history, etc., of the Teutonic race or languages; one who makes much of Teutonic influence in the history of England.

1882 Academy No. 571 112 [J. R. Green's] 'Making of England'..will probably long represent the last word of the Teutonist on the nature and extent of the primitive English settlement. 1883 T. KERSLAKE in N. & Q. 6th Ser. VII. 301/2 A canon of the most profound English Teutonist, the late Mr. Kemble.

2. One whose writings have a Teutonic character or style.

1894 G. ALLEN in Westm. Gaz. 25 July 3/1 You may divide our poets..into two great schools in this matter—the Classicists and the Teutonists, if I may venture so to style them..To this latter class belong Shakespeare, Keats, Coleridge, Burns, Rossetti, and the greater part of our romantic poets.

Teuto·nity. [f. as prec. + -ITY.] The quality or condition of being Teutonic; Teutonism.

1877 Athenæum I Dec. 696/2 The German lieutenant has dropped some of his superfluous Teutonity. 1886 Pall Mall G. 24 July 3/2 If any one is inclined to think that the termination ēz must imply Teutonity, let him remember that far from any German speech he will find such names as Retz, Batz, and Biarritz.

Teutonize (tiū'tŏnəiz), v. [f. TEUTON + -IZE.] trans. To make or render Teutonic or German.

1845 Blackw. Mag. LVII. 478 After Teutonising the Hebrew in this manner, he next proceeds to the Egyptian. 1867 FREEMAN Norm. Conq. I. iii. 126 Those Celtic lands ..had been..to a great extent Teutonized. 1882 Sat. Rev. 17 June 768/1 justified in treating, for all practical purposes, as Teutonic a nation so thoroughly Teutonized.

b. intr. To coniorm to Teutonism; to play the Teuton.

1882 in OGILVIE (Annandale).

Hence Teu·tonizing vbl. sb.; Teutonization, the action or process of rendering or being made Teutonic or German.

1855 MILMAN Lat. Chr. IV. x. (1864) II. 435 The Franks now ..shared with the Romans the great hierarchical dignities... 1879 TOMLINSON of the hierarchy [etc.], 1879 D. H. HAGEN in Archæol. Cantiana VIII. 11 From Kent the Teutonization of Britain began. 1878 Fraser's Mag. XVIII. 571 His style underwent a process of Teutonisation.

Teutono-, combining form of TEUTON, as in Teu·tonoma·nia, Teu·tonopho·be, Teu·tonopho·bia: see TEUTON-.

1892 DONALDSON New Cratylus § 97 (1890) 141 The Hellenic or Teutono-Persic language of the North. 1886 Pall Mall G. 18 Oct. 3/2 It was in Russia that he discovered the earthly paradise of Teutonophobia. 1897 Current Hist. (Buffalo, N.Y.) VII. 96 [He] is said to be neither a Teutonophobe nor a Francophil. 1905 H. PAUL in 19th Cent. Nov. 862 Ministers..will do good by tampering with Mr. Chamberlain's exploded Teutonomania.

Te·vel, ta·vel, v. Obs. exc. dial. Forms: 3-4 tauel, teuel, 9 Sc. tevel, tevvel. [Origin and primary meaning obscure; it is even uncertain whether there are not here two different words.

Senses 2 and 3 suggest a possible connexion with TAVE v. If sense 1 was orig. 'to contend (in words), we might compare Norw. tevla, Sw. täfla, 'to contend, cope, vie, rival, strive, struggle'; but these go back to ON. tefla to play at tables or draughts, = OE. tæflan, ME. TAVEL, which appears to have no connexion with this.]

† 1. intr. ? To talk, converse; or perh. rather, To discuss, argue, contend in words. Obs.

a 1225 St. Marher. 13 Ich leote ham talkin ant tauelin of godlec ant treowliche luuien ham, wiðuten uuel wilnung. a 1225 Leg. Kath. 822 þet he þet is nomecuhest & meast con cume cuðe þrof. & teuel (v. r. tauele) wið me. Ibid. 1254 Swa awundret of hire wittie wordes, & swa offearet & offruht, & alle hise feren, þet neiðe hare nan tunge to tauelin a tint wið [v. r. teuelin a dint].

† 2. To struggle, strive, contend; to labour. Obs.

1340 E. E. Allit. P. B. 1189 Trye yre tulkkes in toures teueled [printed teneled] wyth-inne, In bigge brutage [= brattice] of borde, bulde on pe walles. 13.. Gaw. & Gr. Knt. 1514 Fror] to telle of þis teuelyng of þis trewe knyȝtez, Hit is þe tytelet, token, and tyȝt of her werkkes.

3. intr. To behave in a disorderly or violent manner; to rage. Sc.

1828 CARLYLE Let. to J. Carlyle 25 Aug. in Froude Life (1882) II. ii. 37 Gawn up and down the country tevelling and screeching like a wild bear.

4. trans. (See quot.) Sc.

1825 JAMIESON, Teuvel, to confuse, to put into a disorderly state, Dumfr.

† Te·vell. Sc. Obs. rare. [app. a F. tavelle in its obs. sense 'a small edging lace, a Crowne-lace' (Cotgr. 1611): cf. TAVELL.] Lace.

1632 in 14th Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm. App. III. 235 Ane goun of cloth of gold, laid over with tevell of gold. Ibid., One blak dames goun, laid over with sylver tevell.

Tew (tiū), sb.[1] Obs. exc. dial. Also tue. [f. TEW v.[1]]

† 1. The tawing of leather: see TEW v.[1] 1. Obs.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 489/2 Tew, or tewynge of lethyr.

† 2. The work of preparation; labour. Obs.

1644 Hartlib's Legacy (1655) 286 Each Acre shall be worth ..at least six pound, thirteen shillings, four pence for the tew onely, and at least six pound, thirteen shillings and four pence more for the seed.

3. Constant work and bustling; a state of worry or excitement. dial. and U. S.

1825 BROCKETT N. C. Words s.v. Tue, Sure tues, great difficulty in accomplishing any thing. 1865 E. TABOR Rachel's Secr. I. vii. 103 There was no end of the tew and worry in a farm-house. 1880 TENNYSON Northern Cobbler IV. When we coon'd into Meeltin', at fust she wur all in a tew. 1883 HOWELLS Woman's Reason (Tauchn.) II. 27 My wife was always in a tew about the danger.

† Tew, sb.[2] Obs. Also 5 tewe, (7 tewe), tiew, 9 dial. tow). [Not known before 15th c.: app. corresp. to WFris. tûch, late MDu., mod.Du. tuig, MLG., LG. tûch, MHG. zieu, Ger. zeug, apparatus, gear, tools, utensils, implements, tackle: f. ablaut stem tiug- of tiuhan* to draw, lead (TEE v.[1]).]

1. Fishing-tackle; nets, fishing-lines, etc.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 490/1 Tew, of fyschynge, piscalia, in plurall, vetiarna [MS. rect-]. 1529 Will Y. Thomson (Somerset Ho.). A manshaw of all sorts except sperlyn nett. 1619 Fletcher M. Thomas i. iii, Dow.. The fool shall now fish for himself. Alice. Be sure then His tewgh be tith and strong :..He'l catch no fish else. 1622 Malynes Anc. Law-Merch. 246 Also that they shall be honest and true..being asked concerning the length and depth of their ropes or tewes when they are in driuing; neither shall they wittingly ..suffer their tewes to flit and run ouer one another.

fig. 1589 Warner Alb. Eng. vi. xxix. (1612) 144 She [Queen Catharine 14..] pitched T'ewe, he [Owen Tudor] mashed. 1602 Ibid. Epist. 391 This Cardinall, conspiring with William de la Poole,..pitched their Tewe to intangle the same Protector. 1603 Harsnet Pop. Impost. 12 The grounder of their Art [were] layde sure and a little tryed of their Tooles, whether their Tew would holde or no.

2. Implements, tools, materials for work generally; stuff. Also fig.

1616 T. Scott Philomythie C v] b, When..all your traines and tew in order laid. a 1658 Mede Wks. (1672) 815, I am not unwilling to communicate unto you the most of my tew, because, I perceive, you make some account of them. 1671 Skinner, Tew,..Instrumentum, Materia, Arma, Armamenta. 1674 N. Fairfax Bulk & Selv. 36 Another Argument..which may happily at first blush seem to have more tiew in it than all the stands we have met with hitherto. a 1825 Forby Voc. E. Anglia, Tow,..necessary tools or apparatus for any purpose (pronounced like cow). 1904 Eng. Dial. Dict., Tew, Adjective. w. Yo. Materials for work.

Tew, sb.[3] Sc. [Etymol. doubtful: perh. from same root as prec.] (?) The braces of a drum, or the braces and cords by which a drum is tightened.

c 1720 in Beveridge Culross & Tulliallan xix. (1885) II. 90 The council..allows the drummer to get as many new tews as will serve the drum.

Tew (tiū), v.[1] Obs. exc. dial. Forms: 4–7 tewe, 5 tewhe, tewyn, 6 teawe, 6–7 teaw, 7 tiew, tewgh, 8–9 tue, 7– tew. [In branch I. app. a later collateral, derivative, or altered form of Taw v.[1], with which it is synonymous; the form-history is obscure. Branch II. corresponds to nothing in Taw, and may be of other origin, though sense-development from branch I. is conceivable.]

I. trans. To convert skin into a species of leather, by steeping, beating, and manipulation; to dress; = Taw v.[1] 2.

c 1330 R. Brunne Chron. Wace (Rolls) 12453 Ful manye kynges had he [the giant Ryton] don slo, & flow þe berdes of alle þo; Til a pane, as a furour, he did hem tewe. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 490/1 Tewyn lethyr, frunio, corrudo. 1530 Palsgr. 754/2, I tewe lambskyn a noyle. 1601 Holland Pliny (1634) II. 473 Certaine skinnes of leather well tewed and dressed vntil they be soft. 1681 Chetham Angler's Vade-m. xxxiv. § 3 (1689) 186 After the skin is tewed in the skinner's lime-pits. 1709 Brit. Apollo II. No. 49. 4/1 Were his Hide tew'd by Tanners. Ig. 1709 Brit. Apollo II. No. 29. 3/2 Tew her Hide with an Oaken Plant.

b. intr. for refl. or passive.

c 1880 Northants. Dial., Take it [the leather] out again and let it lie and tew.

2. To work (anything) into proper consistency by beating, etc.; to temper (mortar). Now dial.

1641 Best Farm. Bks. (Surtees) 138 Then doe wee water it [the earth] and tewe it well att the first, and soe leaue it for her that serveth to temper. 1688 R. Holme Armoury iii. 28/2 Tew, to Batter or beat out a piece of Iron. 1721 Bailey, To Tew..to beat Mortar. To Tew Hemp..to beat or dress it. 1797 P. Wakefield Ment. Improv. (1801) III. 2 Kneading and tewing the two earths together is the most laborious part of the work. 1883 Huddersfield & Huddersf. Gloss. s. v., That lime wants better tewing.

3. transf. and fig. To deal with or employ.

1489 Churchw. Acc. Walberswick, Suffolk (Nichols 1797) 183 V s. man, or a men shall rec. the town doollys of herynys and sperlings..and to tewe them to most profyte of the town.

†b. To prepare or bring into a proper state or condition for some purpose. Obs.

1571 Golding Calvin on Ps. xxx. 9 No man can giue himselfe cheerfully vnto prayer, till he bee thoroughly teawed and well furbished by the crosse. a 1577 Gascoigne Flowers (1587) These chattering teeth, this trembling tooth Well tewed with careful cries. a 1619 Fletcher Wit without M. iii. 1, So tewed him up with Sack that he lies lashing a But of Malmsie for his Mares.

†4. To beat, flog, thrash, belabour. Also fig. = Taw v.[1] 3, 3 b. Obs.

1598 Dallington Meth. Trav. G ij, He left them all France, tyned and tewed, as bare as a birdes bone. 1600 Holland Livy 716 When they saw once the bodies of their Tribunes tewed with rods. 1622 Fletcher Begg. Bush iii. ii, Tew 'em, swinge 'em, Knock me their brains into their breeches. 1664 J. Wilson A. Commentus ii. 1, He does so tew the Pope; That man of sin, The Whore of Babylon. 1670 Narborough Jrnl. in Acc. Sev. Late Voy. i. (1694) 75 The Trees are much weather-beaten,..and the shore-sides much tewed with the surge of the Waters.

†b. To lay on (a rod, scourge). Obs. rare.

1583 Stocker Civ. Warres Lowe C. Ep. Ded. A ij b, Whiche rodes and scourges, when he hath in his great wisedome, teawed vpon them, for their amendement, he will surely..caste into the fire.

c. dial. To shake up, toss about, turn over (as hay); to tumble, rumple, crease, disarrange (dress); to pull about, pull in pieces; to discuss; to vex.

In Eng. Dial. Dict., cited as in use from Northern Counties to Warw., Northamp., E. Anglia.

II. 5. trans. To fatigue or tire with hard work; refl. = 6. dial.

1825 Brockett N. C. Words s. v. Tue, He tues himself. 1893 Cavlisle Pstr. 30 June 3/3 (E. D. D.), S—— went down before K—, who was sair tewed in the operation...The two giants could not be said to have tew'd themselves much.

c 1895 'Flit' Holderness Harvest 84 I'se been tewing mysen a'most to dead all forenoon.

6. intr. To work hard, to exert oneself, to toil; to bustle about. Now dial. and Cl. S.

1787 Grose Provinc. Gloss. To Tew,..also to work hard. 1825 Brockett N. C. Words, Tue, to labour long and patiently, to fatigue by repeated or continued exertion...A tuing life, a laborious life. A tuing soul, a hard working person. 1869 Trollope St. Olaves II. 4 Little folks like you an' me has to tew about and fend for 'em both. 1894 Baring-Gould Queen of L. xii, I tew from morning till night. 1909 Daily News 31 May 4 Our male folk, who after 'tewing' at the mill all the week are usually allowed to take their time at the Saturday tea table.

Hence Tewed (tiūd) ppl. a.; Tewing vbl. sb. (also attrib.) and ppl. a.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 490/1 *Tewwyd, frunitus. 1488 in Rijhon Ch. Acts (Surtees) 286, i bukskyn tewyd. 1612 Cotgr., Procassé, hurried, tossed tugged, tewed; spoiled, ouerworne, or misused, by much remouing. 1863 Mrs. Toogood Yorks. Dial., Tewed, tired, exhausted. 1892 Carruth in Kansas Univ. Mag. 1 (U. S.) (E. D. D.), I'm tewed and fretted. 1394-6 Cartular. Abb. de Whitby (Surtees) 623 Item pro tewyng xiiii pellium luporum, i s. ix. d. c 1430 Lydg. Min. Poems (Percy Soc.) 401 Whoos tewhyng hath coost many a crowche, Hire pyiche souple for to make. 1592 A. W. Tower x. Bullfrog to Bullfrog, Whom I bought him of, is very fat..and can't stand much tewing in the saddle. 1855 Robinson Whitby Gloss. s. v., 'A tewing hay time', the season wet and unfavourable for the hay,.. tewing much extra labour. 1882 Ogilvie (Annandale), tewing-beetle, a spade-shaped instrument for tewing or beating hemp. 1902 Baring-Gould Nebo the Nailer xix, She alway was a tewin' woman.

† Tew, v.[2] Obs. Also 8 tue. [app. a derivative or altered form of Tow v., of much later appearance; the phonology is obscure.] trans. To haul, tow (a ship, net, etc.); to drag, pull, tug; = Tow v.

1600 Holland Livy xxxv. xxx. 571 Marcellus caused a great hulke, laden with armed souldiours, to be fastened by an haling rope unto a gallie.., and so in the night by strength of oares to bee tewed and drawne up after it into Acradina. 1612 Drayton Poly-olb. xii. 197 The goodly river Lee..By which the Thames had then their full-freighted navies tew'd. 1622 Ibid. xxv. (1748) 367 The toiling fisher here is tewing of his net. a 1693 Urquhart's Rabelais iii. Prol. 7 He..tugg'd it, tew'd it, carry'd it [a tub]. 1706 Bannister in Sir J. Floyer Hot & Cold Bath. ii. 386 A Sprain ..tued, hal'd and wrested by ignorant Bone-setters. 1787 Grose Provinc. Gloss., To Tew, to pull or tow.

Tewch, Sc. form of Tough.

Tewel, tuel (tiū-ĕl). Now only dial. Forms: 4 tuelle, tuwel, 5 tewelle, touele, towel, 5–7 tewell, 6–8 tuell, 7 tuill, tewill, 4–8 tuel, 4– tewel. [a. Of. tuel, tuele, etc. (12th c. in Godef.) a tube, pipe, tuyere, mod.F. tuyau, = ME. Tutel beak, Sp., Pg., Pr. tudel tube:—Romanic type tūtellum*, referred to a German word repr. by MDu. tūte, Du. tuit pipe, nipple, etc., LG. tūte, tütte beak, snout, pipe, etc.: cf. also ON. tūta teat-like prominence, Sw. tut pipe, Da. tud spout. As to ulterior etymology see Franck, s. v. tuit.]

† 1. A shaft or opening for the escape of smoke, etc.; a chimney. Obs.

c 1386 Chaucer H. Fame iii. 559 Suche a smoke gan out wende..As dothe where that there mete lede Loo alle on high fro the tuelle. 1483 Cath. Angl. 380/2 A Tewelle of a chymnay, epicauterium. 1567 Fenton Trag. Disc. v. (1569) 1. 236 The chimber where our Cornelio was rammed up in the tewell of a chymney.

† b. transf. The vent or opening in a pie-crust.

c 1420 Liber Cocorum (1862) 38 In myddes þo lydde an tuel þou make, Set hit in þo ovyn for to bake; Sete take hit oute, fede hit with wyne.

† c. A conduit. Obs. rare—[1].

1792 Pearch Laws & Cust. Stannaries Introd. 13 The said Conduit, which the Tinners commonly call a Tuell, and may properly descend from the Latin Word Tutela.

2. The anus; the rectum, or lower bowel: now chiefly of animals, esp. horses. [Not in OFr.]

c 1386 Chaucer Sompn. T. 440 And whan this sike man felte this frere Aboute his tuwel [v. rr. tuel, tewel, touele] groue there sat heere. c 1425 tr. Arderne's Treat. Fistula (E.E.T.S.) 9 þe skynne atuyx þe tewel & þe fistule. 1523 Fitzherb. Husb. § 85 Brokken wynded is a yll dysease,.. and appereth at his nosethryll, at his flanke, and also at his tuell. 1598 Lyte Dodoens ii. xcvii. 261 Swellings and inflammations of the tuell or fundement. 1601 Holland Pliny xxi. xix. 106 Violets..a peculiar vertue they have.. to helpe the procidence or falling downe both of tuill and matrice. c 1720 W. Gibson Farrier's Dispens. x. (1734) 221 Keeping the Horses tail close to his Tuel. 1895 Gloss. E. Anglia, Tewel, the vent or fundament of a horse.

3. (See quots., and Tew-iron, Tuyere.)

1677 Moxon Mech. Exerc. No. x. 2 In the back of the Forge..is fixed a thick Iron plate, and a taper Pipe in it.. called a Tuwel, or (as some call it) a Tewl-Iron...Into this taper Pipe or Tewel is placed the Nose or Pipe of the Bellows. 1831 J. Holland Manuf. Metal I. 163 A stout perforated core of..iron, called the tewel or tew-iron.

Tewel(l, -el, obs. forms of Towel.

† Tewer. Obs. rare—[0]. [f. Tew v.[1] + -er[1].] One who taws leather; = Tawer.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 490/1 Tewere, corridiator. 1483 Cath. Angl. 380/2 A Tewer of skynnes,..coriarius.

Tewer, corrupt form of Tuyere.

Tewesday, Tewet, obs. ff. Tuesday, Tewhit.

Tewfikose (tiū-fikōus). Chem. [f. the name of Mohammed Tewfik Pasha (Khedive of Egypt 1879–92) + -ose[2].] A peculiar sugar found (1890–1) in the milk of the buffalo of the East, Bubalus Bufferlus, taking the place of the ordinary milk sugar. It yields glucose when hydrolysed.

1891 Daily Chron. 18 Mar. 8/5 A sugar of a hitherto undescribed variety—Tewfikose', as it is proposed to be called in honour of the Khedive. 1902 in Webster Supp.

Tewgh, tewhe: see Tiew v.[1], Tough.

Tewhit, tewit (tū-hwit, tū-wit, tiū-it; also tyū-xit, tyū-wxit, tiū-fit). Now local. Forms: α. 5, 8–9 tuchet, 6 tuechit, 9 teuchit, -at, tchuchet; β. 7 tuewhite, tequhyt, terwhite, 9 tuquheit, tewhit, teewheep, -whoap; γ. 6 tuwyte, 7- tewit (7–9 tewet, 7 teewitte); δ. 8–9 tewfet, tufit, 9 tufat, teufet, teufit, teafit. [Orig. echoic: see Pewit. The α and β forms are Sc.; the others are cited in the Eng. Dial. Dict. from Scotland to Yorks. and Chesh.] The common Lapwing or Pewit, Vanellus cristatus.

α. c 1450 Holland Howlat 834 The Tuchet gird to the Golk, and gaif him a fall. 1549 Compl. Scott. vi. 59 The tuechitis cryit theuis nek, quhen the pleitis clattrit. 1746 Forbes Dominie Deposed iii. iii, 'Tis strange what makes kirk-fouks so stupid,..Far better for them hunt the touchit. 1824 G. Beattie John o' Arnha (1826) 63 The timid teuchit sloucht ds crees. 1899 J. Colville Scot. Vernacular 12 The teuchat..wailed out in circles round the intruder.

β. 1629 Orkney Witch Trial in Dalyell Darker Superstith. Scott. (1834) 150 note, Get the bones of ane tequhyt, and carry thame in your clothes. 1822 Macfarlane Gallowhill. Encycl. s. v. Pirr, Eggs, somewhat like tewhit eggs in size and colour. 1835 J. M. Wilson Tales Borders I. 185/2 He was just in the situation of a tewhit that had lost its mate—te-whoat! te-whoat! it cried.

γ. 1592 Shuttleworths' Acc. (Chetham Soc.) 76 Towe tuwytes and a snype, iij*d*. 1678 Ray Willughby's Ornith. 307 In the North of England they call it the Tewit, from its cry. 1688 J. Clayton in Phil. Trans. XVII. 297 The Tewits are smaller than the English, and have no long Toppins. 1828 Craven Gloss., Tewet, a pewit or plover.

δ. 1787 Grose Provinc. Gloss., Tewfet, a lapwing. North. 1788 W. Marshall Yorksh. Gloss. (E. D. D.) Teafit,..the peewit, or green plover. 1898 Cumbld. Gloss., Teufet.

Tew-iron (tiū-ai-ŏrn). Also 6 tewe ireon, 7 teu iyron, 8 dial. tuiron, tuarn, 9 Sc. tō-airn. [Represents F. tuyère, through the form tewyre, yre being taken as the dial. yre, ire, Iron: see Tuyere.] See quots. 1825, 1888, and cf. Tewel 3.

1570 Wills & Inv. N. C. (Surtees) I. 329, I do gyue vnto John Dyckeborne a pair of bellowis w^th a tewe Ireon. c 1650 in Beveridge Culross & Tulliallan xxi. (1885) II. 166 To be discharged of their worke by stryking out of thair teu iyron, and thair other workloums. c 1700 Kennett (MS. Lansd. 1033, ff. 406), Four stones or walls, that next the bellows is called the Tuarn or Tuiron and wall. 1825 Jamieson, To-airn (o pron. as Gr. υ), a piece of iron, with a perforation so wide as to admit the pipe of the smith's bellows, built into the wall of his forge, to preserve the pipe from being consumed by the fire. 1840 Civil Engr. & Arch. Jrnl. III. 42/1, 5 inches of the end nearest the tew iron were burnt completely away. 1888 Elworthy W. Som. Wordbk., Tew-iron (the'uy'un), the nozzle of a smith's bellows, or of a smelting furnace...Tew-irons are regular articles of iron mongery.

Tewit, variant of Tewhit, lapwing.

Te-wit, te-whit, also 6 teuyt, tueit, imitations of the cry of some birds.

a 1518 Skelton Magnyf. 1005 And howe stylf she [hawk] dothe syt! Teuyt, teuyt! Where is my wyt? 1549 Compl. Scott. vi. 39 The oxee cryit tueit. 1791 Wolcott (P. Pindar) Commis. Ep. Ld. Lansdale 120 Jove's bird..Turn Owl to cry Tee-whit in some old barn.

Tewke, var. Tuke Obs., textile fabric.

Tewly (tiū-li), a. Now dial. Forms: 6–7 tuly, 7 tuely, 8 tooly, 7, 9- tewly. [Derivation uncertain: perh. from Tew sb.[1] or v.[1]; but the early spellings tu-, too- do not favour this.] Weak, sickly, delicate; poorly, unwell.

1538 Bale Temptacyon (1890) 14 Ye are but tuly, yeare no strongr persone doughtlesse. 1619 J. Dove Counsel (1620) 32 Timothy was surely weake, and but a sickely, tuely man. 1691 Ray S. & E. C. Words, Tewly or tuly, tender, sick: tuly stomached, weak stomached. 1787 Grose Provinc. Gloss., Tooly, tender, sickly. A sickly man or woman. Hampsh. 1898 Longm. Mag. Nov. 50 His head's wise enough, if his body be tewly.

Tewly, var. Tuly a. Obs. (of silk).

Tewne, Tewsday, obs. ff. Tune, Tuesday.

† Tewslite v. Obs. nonce-wd. [perh. intended for to-slite, OE. tōslītan to rend asunder, distract the mind of; but that vb. is not otherwise known after 1300, so that its actual survival is unlikely.]

1596 [Tarlton] News Purgat. (1844) 56, I have yet left one chapter of choplogick to tewslite you withall.

Tew-some, a. dial. [f. Tew v.[1], sb.[1] + -some.] Troublesome; restless, unquiet.

1828 Craven Gloss., Teughsome, unquiet, restless. 'For seur, this is lile teughsome barn'. 1881 Cornhill Mag. Oct. 392 A mother likes most the child that's most tewsome.

† Tewtaw, sb. Obs. Also 8 tewtow, 9 dial. tewtex. [Goes with next.

If the sb. was the earlier, its derivation would prob. be from Tew v.[1] + Taw sb.[1], or Tow sb. = 'that which tews taw or tow'; but if the vb. was the earlier, Taw would naturally be the vb., and tew either Tew sb.[1] or some other word. The origin of the second element was app. lost before the word became tewter. Johnson knew only the vb., which he considered a reduplicated form of tew.]

An implement for breaking hemp or flax.

1649 BLITHE Eng. Improv. Impr. (1653) 262–3 As to the working of it, you must provide your Brakes and Tewtawes both,..the brake which bruises and toughens the hard, and the Tewtaw that cuts and divides out the coare. 1727 BAILEY vol. II. A Tew-tew, a Tool to break or beat Hemp with. 1847–78 HALLIWELL, Tewter, an instrument for breaking flax, as a brake for hemp. Chesh. 1879 Miss JACKSON Shropsh. Word-bk., Tewter.

†Tewtaw, v. Obs. Also 9 dial. tewter. [Goes with prec., q.v.] trans. To beat or dress (hemp or flax); = TAW v.[1] Hence Tewtawing vbl. sb.

1601 HOLLAND Pliny (1634) II. a Before it can be occupied, it must be watered, dried, braked, tew-tawed, and with much labor..reduced..to be as soft and tender as wool. 1659 WORLIDGE Syst. Agric. (1681) 333 To Tew-taw Hemp. 1797 MORTIMER Husb. (1721) I. 135 The Method and Way of Watering, Pilling, Braking, Tew-tawing, &c. of Hemp and Flax. 1755 JOHNSON, Tewtaw (formed from tew by reduplication), to beat, to break. 1879 MISS JACKSON Shropsh. Word-bk., Tewter, to beat and break the hemp-stalk after it had been subjected to the action of fire.

Tewyre, corrupt f. TUYERE: cf. TEW-IRON.

†Texalte = to exalt: see T[1] and EXALT.

c 1450 Story Alexander in Wars Alexander 281 God hath sent me..for texalte and magnifye hys lawe.

Texan (te·ksăn), a. and sb. [f. next + -AN.] Of or pertaining to the State of Texas. In some specific names of animals, plants, etc.: e. g.

Texan armadillo, the PEBA; Texan fever = Texas fever; Texan hare, the American JACK-RABBIT; Texan pride, Phlox Drummondii, a bright-flowered annual, native in Texas; Texan shrew-mole, Scalops intimanus.

1860 BARTLETT Dict. Amer. Jackass Rabbit, known also as Mule Rabbit, Texan Hare, and Black-tailed Hare. 1888 Cassell's Encycl. Dict., Texan shrew-mole.

Texas (te·ksăs). The name of one of the United States, formerly a province of Mexico, then for a short time an independent republic.

1. Western U. S. The uppermost structure of a river-steamer, containing the pilot-house and officers' quarters. Also attrib.

1872 DE VERE American Humorists 128 The cabins below this [the upper deck] and above the grand saloon, where the officers of the boat are accommodated, also belong to Texas. 1883 [MARK TWAIN] Life on Mississippi iv. 43 The boiler deck, the lurricane deck, and the texas deck are fenced and ornamented with clean white railings. 1889 FARMER Dict. Amer., Texas tender, the waiter on the Texas or upper deck of a Mississippi steamer. 1901 W. CHURCHILL Crisis xxi, He escorted the ladies to quarters in the texas.

2. The elevated gallery, resembling a louver or clearstory, in a grain-elevator[1].

1909 in Cent. Dict. Suppl.

2. In names of native Texas plants, animals, etc.: as Texas head-tree, blue-grass, flax, grackle, millet, snakeroot, etc. Texas (cattle-) fever, a splenic fever, caused by the protozoan Pyrosoma bigeminum, localized in the South States, to which uninoculatized cattle are liable.

1858 SIMMONDS Dict. Trade, Texas Millet, the Sorghum cernuum, a prolific bread-corn cultivated in the tropics. 1902 Westm. Gaz. 2 June 10/2 It is officially announced that the cattle disease prevailing in Rhodesia is Texas fever which is spread by ticks.

†Texed, ppl. a. Obs. rare[−1]. [f. L. tex-bre to weave + -ED[1]; or perh. for text, ad. L. text-us, pa. pple. of tex-ere.] Woven.

1572 BOSSEWELL Armorie II. 105 Mounted on the nest texed with the slipps of the vine.

†Texile = to exile: see T[1] and EXILE v.

c 1430 LYDG. Min. Poems (Percy Soc.) 14 From [us] texile alle maner hevinesse.

Text (tekst), sb.[1] Also 4 tixte, tyxt(e, 4–5 tixt, 4–6 texte, (4, 7 (9 dial.) tex, 6 texe, 7 texed). [a. F. texte, also ONF. tixte, tiste (12th c. in Godef.), the Scriptures, etc., ad. med.L. textus the Gospel, written character (Du Cange), L. textus (u-stem) style, tissue of a literary work (Quintilian), lit. that which is woven, web, texture, f. text-, ppl. stem of tex-ĕre to weave.]

1. The wording of anything written or printed; the structure formed by the words in their order; the very words, phrases, and sentences as written.

13.. E. Allit. P. B. 1634 Fyrst telle me þe texte of þi rede lettrus. 13.. Gesta & Gen. Krist. 1515 For to telle of þis teuelyng of þis trewe knyztez, Hit is the tytelet, token, & tyxt of her werkkez. c 1500 Melusine xii. 45 They deluyered to Raymondyn the ground that was guen to hym after the texte or tenour of hys lettres. 1560 DAUS tr. Sleidane's Comm. 65 b, For those wordes.., this is my body, Luther vnderstode barely and symply after the texte of the letter. 1598 CUDWORTH Intell. Syst. I. iv. 240 The most of Plato's Followers..offering all kind of violence to his Text. 1720 SWIFT To Stella 138 Say, Stella, when you copy next, Will you keep strictly to the text? 1888 BRYCE Amer. Commw. II. iii. 326 Without venturing to propose alterations in the text of the Constitution.

†b. Applied vaguely to an original or authority whose words are quoted. Obs.

a 1400–50 Alexander 214 It be-tid on a tyme þe text me recordis, þat þe mode kynge..farne out of toune. c 1400 Destr. Troy 4007 But truly I telle as þe text sais.

c. fig. or in allusive use.

c 1440 York Myst. xxv. 535 Hayll! texte of trewthe þe trew to taste. Hayll! kyng & sire. 1589 WARNER Alb. Eng. vi. xxxi. 136 Pry Sir..your busie trade, you are besides the Text. a 1635 NAUNTON Fragm. Reg. (Arb.) 23 It is not without the text, to give a short touch on the helps, and advantages of her reign.

d. The wording adopted by an editor as (in his opinion) most nearly representing the author's original work; a book or edition containing this; also, with qualification, any form in which a writing exists or is current, as a good, bad, corrupt, critical, received text.

1841 MYERS Cath. Th. III. § 8. 26 Our present Received Text has been a growth—improved from many and various sources. 1845 GRAVES Rom. Law in Encycl. Metrop. II. 770/1 Hänel, the latest editor, has not inserted these seven constitutions in his text. 1870 FREEMAN Norm. Conq. (1877) II. App. 658 The text seems very corrupt. 1875 SCRIVENER Lect. Text N. Test. 7 The vast importance of preserving a pure text of the sacred writers. 1892 Athenæum 15 Aug. 219/1 No attempt has been made to settle the text.

2. esp. The very words and sentences as originally written: a. in the original language, as opposed to a translation or rendering; b. in the original form and order, as distinguished from a commentary, marginal or other, or from annotations. Hence, in later use, the body of any treatise, the authoritative or formal part as distinguished from notes, appendices, introduction, and other explanatory or supplementary matter.

1377 LANGL. P. Pl. B. XVII. 12 Dilige deum & proximum tuum, &c. Pis was þe ditte trewly..; þe glose was gloriously writen. c 1385 CHAUCER L. G. W. Prol. (MS. Cg) 86 The makede tixt in englis to declare. 1388 WYCLIF Prol. XV. 57 This symple creature hadde myche trauaile,..to studie it [Latin Bible] of the newe, the text with the glose. a 1430 96 Pal. Poetry xx. 1 The tixt of holy writ..Hit sleep, but glose be among. 1532 MORE Confut. Tindale Wks. 406/1 Nowe cumeth Tyndale and..sheweth that the latine texte and the Greke may be hys excuse and defence. 1576 FLEMING Panopl. Epist. 200 Nemo scriptis, 1 ad Nov. saith the Greeke text; Quidnam oratione, saith the Latine interpretation. 1700 DRYDEN Cymon & Iphig. 18 When his broad Comment makes the Text too plain. 1749 FIELDING Tom Jones III. iii, Coke upon Littleton, where the comment is of equal authority with the text. 1804 WELLINGTON in Gurw. Desp. (1837) III. 25 As these accompaniments, or possibly the text are seldom read. 1859 TENNYSON Vivien 679 And none can read the text, nor even I; And none can read the comment but myself. 1875 JOWETT Plato (ed. 2) IV. 256 There still remains an ambiguity both in the text and in the explanation. 1908 Athenæum 8 Aug. 147/3 All his references are to Arabic texts.

c. That portion of the contents of a manuscript or printed book, or of a page, which constitutes the original matter, as distinct from the notes or other critical appendages. In first quot. fig.

c 1369 CHAUCER Dethe Blaunche 333 And alle the wallys with colouris fyne Were peynted, bothe text and glose. 1597 MORLEY Introd. Mus. Annot., I hane..thought it best to set down in Annotations, such thinges as in the text could not so commodiously be handled. 1778 WARTON Hist. Eng. Poetry (1840) II. xxiii. 304 note, It is not immediately formed from the Troye-boke of Lydgate, as I have suggested in the text. 1848 MILL Pol. Econ. I. v. § 8 (1876) 48 note, Consequently, as shewn in the text, her labourers suffered. 1889 TENNYSON Vivien 669 Every marge enclosing in the midst A square of text that looks a little blot.

†3. spec. The very words and sentences of Holy Scripture; hence, the Scriptures themselves; also, any single book of the Scriptures. Obs.

13.. E. E. Allit. P. C. 37 For in þe texte, here þyse two [Poverty and Patience] arn in temes layde. 1393 LANGL. P. Pl. C. 11. 129 Ich theologie þe tixt knowe. c 1420 ? LYDG. Assembly of Gods 150 First by Doctryne, on that oon sycle, As I remembre, saie Holy Texte. 1542–3 Act 34 & 35 Hen. VIII, c. 1 § 10 It shalle lawfull to everye noble man..to reade..any texte of the Byble..so the same be doone quietlie. 1597 SHAKS. 2 Hen. IV, IV. iii. 7 To heare with reverence Your exposition on the holy Text. a 1668 DAVENANT Poems (1672) 329 Since Holy Text bids Faith to comprehend.

b. A copy of the Scriptures, or of a book of the Scriptures; spec. a volume containing the Gospels. Obs. exc. Hist. (See also TEXTUS.)

1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) I. 371 Iesus Crist apperede to Patrik, and took hym a staf, and be text of þe gospel þat beep in þe contray in þe archebishoppes ward. c 1440 St. Cuthbert (Surtees) 4431 He bare a boke..Of gospelles.. with perle and stanes preciouse þat text richely semed arayde. Ibid. 6800 Pe text of wangels fell in be water. c 1460 Oseney Regr. 174 Vpon the texte whee sware, both I and my wife. 1536 in Antiq. Sarisb. (1771) 201 Textus Evangeliorum. A Text after John, gilt with gold and having precious Stones and the relicks of dyvers saints. 1890 Bibliographer Dec. 6/2 The curious reader has only to look at that fine text, or book of the Gospels, bound in silver parcel-gilt, and jewelled. 1883 W. H. RICH-JONES Reg. St. Osmund I. 117 note, The 'Text', also called 'Evangelarium', was a complete copy of the four gospels.

4. A short passage from the Scriptures, esp. one quoted as authoritative, or illustrative of a point of belief or doctrine, as a motto, to point a moral, or esp. as the subject of an exposition or sermon.

In early practice these texts or portions of the holy text were cited in Latin from the Vulgate, connecting this use with 2.

1377 LANGL. P. Pl. B. III. 339 Quod bonum est tenete, treuthe þat teche wade! Ibid. XIII. 125 Pieres þe ploughman..no tixte ne taketh to meyntene his cause, But dilige deum and domine, quis habitabit, &c. 1528 TINDALE Wicked Mammon 45 b, This texte is playner than that it needeth to be expounded. 1529 FULKE Heskins' Parl. 527 The Sixtieth Chapter treateth vpon this text of S. Paule to the Hebrues: We haue an altar, &c. 1697 HEYLIN Hist. Ref. (1661) I. II. iv. 38 The Art of opening, or rather of undoing a Text of Scripture (as the phrase is now) was usurped by all. 1721 ADDISON Spect. No. 46 ¶ 6 A meer Sermon Pogpun, repeating and discharging Texts, Proofs, and Applications. 1782 PRIESTLEY Corrupt. Chr. II. VIII. 125 The preacher..named and opened his text. 1894 J. T. FOWLER Adamnan Pref. to A discourse for St. Columba's day on the text Exi de terra tua.

b. A short passage from some book or writer considered as authoritative; a received maxim or axiom; a proverb; an adage; in later use, esp. one used as a copy-book heading. Now rare.

c 1386 CHAUCER Prol. 177 He yaf nat of that text (v. rr. tixt, texte) a pulled hen That seith that hunters beth nat holy men. — Manciple's T. 132 [see TEXTUAL 1]. 1588 SHAKS. L. L. L. IV. iii. 268 Societie (saith the text) is the happinesse of life. 1592 — Rom. & Jul. IV. i. 22 What must be shall be. Ibid. That's a certaine text. 1862 Sat. Rev. 8 Feb. 156 'Recreation is good for mind and body', as the worn-out governess writes for a text at the top of her pupil's copy-book.

c. fig. The theme or subject on which any one speaks; the starting-point of a discussion; a statement on which any one dilates.

1605 SHAKS. Lear IV. II. 37 No more; the text is foolish. 1706 E. WARD Wooden World Diss. (1708) 18 The grand Text they hold forth upon is the Behaviour of their Lieutenants. 1821 SCOTT Kenilw. xi, Is it fit for a heretic horse boy like thee, to handle such a text as the Catholic clergy? 1847 TENNYSON Princess Prol. 108 Then the Maiden Aunt Took this fair day for text, and from it preach'd An universal culture for the crowd. 1870 J. BALDWIN BROWN Eccl. Truth 249 A fact is a text from another book, also of God's writing.

5. Short for TEXT-HAND. Also attrib. See also CHURCH-TEXT, GERMAN text. Chapel-text, an elaborated kind of church-text.

1588 SHAKS. L. L. L. V. ii. 42 Faire as a text B. in a Couple booke. 1610 GUILLIM Heraldry IV. v. (1611) 199 He beareth Gules, three Text Bases, or. 1653 ORD Lowe's Sacr. v. i, There shall be writ in text, Thy bastarding the issues of a prince. 1740 DYCHE & PARDON, Text,..sometimes..means a large sort of writing. 1825 J. WILSON Noct. Ambr. Wks. 1855 I. 20 'Their names are hath down in round text in the deevils doomsday book. 1904 Daily Chron. 23 June 4/6 Burns wrote a fine, bold hand..as big as Cromwell's or Bismarck's—what is called in Scotland 'half-text'.

6. The words of a song; = TESTO.

1890 in Cent. Dict.

7. attrib. (see also sense 5) and Comb., as text-bill, -copy, -critic, -critical adj., -criticism, -monger, -mongering vbl. sb. and ppl. adj., -motto, -quoter, -quoting ppl. adj., -transmission, -verse; text-blindness, word-blindness; text-cut, -engraving, -picture, an illustration occupying a space in the text of a book; text-divider, a preacher who didactically 'splits up' his text; so text-dividing; text-ink, ink used for the text of a manuscript or book; text-title, a half-title, at the beginning of the text of a book. See also TEXT-BOOK, -HAND, -LETTER, etc.

1610 Histrio-m. v. 62 Capt. Sirrah, what set you up there? Bel. *Text-bills for plays. 1909 Cent. Dict. Suppl. *Text-blindness. 1775 ASH, †Textiolgy,..a copy in text hand. 1870 MAGNUSSON tr. Augerneau's Lilja Introd. 27 Of no aid to the *text-critic of the present edition. 1905 Expositor July 22 [The Syriac N. T.] is quite invaluable from a *text-critical point of view. 1908 Q. Rev. July 70 Some centuries that *text-criticism arose. 1897 Westm. Gaz. 8 Mar. 2/1 The first number..contains two excellent plates and numerous *text-cuts. 1670 EACHARD Cont. Clergy 53 Not by every bungler and ordinary *text-divider. Ibid. 123 They have got, such a peculiar method of *text-dividing. 1894 Daily News 15 Nov. 6/2 Mr. Sheppard supplies a *text engraving of mad Margaret Nicholson. 1511 in Rel. Ant. I. 318 To make *texte ynke. 1883 W. S. LILLY in Contemp. Rev. Feb. 228 He is speaking of *textmongers. 1884 — Anc. Relig. & Mod. Th. 285 St. Augustine..is speaking of *textmongering. 1880 WARREN Book-plates xi. 122 The *text-motto occurring on Pickheimer's book-plate. 1905 Daily Chron. 7 July 2/3 It has nearly twenty full-page plates, and a great many *text pictures. a 1837 D. M[C]NICOLL Wks. 94 This *text-quoting vagabond. 1881 H. BRADSHAW in Bibliographer Dec. 6/2 The *text-title of Tindale's New Testament of 1534–5, as reproduced by Mr. Fry. 1908 Q. Rev. July 74 The common accidents of *text-transmission.

Text, sb.[2] rare[−1]. [ad. L. textus tissue: see prec.] Texture, tissue.

1854 S. DOBELL Balder xxvIII, And, if she were..caught of morning mist, or the unseen Material of an odour, her pure text Could seem no more remote from the corrupt And seething compound of our common flesh.

Text, v. Now rare. [f. TEXT sb.[1]]

†1. trans. To inscribe, write, or print in a text-hand or in capital or large letters. Also fig. Obs.

1599 NASHE Lenten Stuffe (1871) 15 A chronographical Latin table..in a fair text hand, texting unto us, how, in the sceptredom of Edward the Confessor, the sands first began to growe into sight at low water. 1599 SHAKS. Much Ado V. i. 285 Yea and text vnder-neath, heere dwells Benedicke the married man. 1607 DEKKER Wh. of Babylon Wks. 1873 II. 265 Vowes haue I writ so deepe,..So texted them in characters capitall, I cannot race them. c 1616 FLETCHER & MASSINGER Thierry & Theod. II. i, Condemn me for A most malicious slanderer, nay, texte it Upon my forehead. 1624 HEYWOOD Gunaik. VII. 325 That such as ..past..might read them as perfectly and distinct, as if they had beene texted in Capitall Letters. 1631 T. POWELL Tom All Trades I The Scriveners at Temple-barre had no imployment, but..texting of Bills for letting of Chambers in Chancery-lane. 1639 SHIRLEY Maid's Rev. III. i, Would ..every character [had] Been texd with blood!

b. trans. To write in a text-hand upon. c. intr. To write in text-hand.

1660 G. TOMLYN Patent Specif. No. 128 A new..way to text and flourish valentines and parchments in blacke and white. 1869 Lonsdale Glossa., Text, to write an engrossing hand or German text. 1884 (implied in TEXTER).

†2. a. intr. To cite texts. b. trans. To cite a text at or against (a person). Obs.

1564-78 Bullevn Dial. agst. Pest. (1888) 13 M...And how like you this texte? A. Texte how they will texte, I will trust none of them all. 1615 Sir E. Hoby Cherry-combe i. 11 When his wench told him that he kissed like a Clowter, he could text her with Labia Sacerdotis custodiunt sapientiam.

Textarian (tekstēˈriăn), a. nonce-wd. [f. Text sb.], after tractarian, etc.] Dealing with or based upon an isolated text, or texts.

1867 Seebohm Oxford Reformers i. § 2. 11 The scholastic divines..had fallen into a method of exposition almost exclusively textarian. Ibid. 15 They [Colet's lectures at Oxford 1496-7] were not textarian.

Text-book (teˈkstˌbuk). [f. Text sb.]

†1. (See quot.) Obs.

1730 Bailey (folio), Text-Book (in Universities) is a Classick Author written very wide by the Students, to give Room for an Interpretation dictated by the Master, &c. to be inserted in the Interlines.

2. A book used as a standard work for the study of a particular subject; now usually one written specially for this purpose; a manual of instruction in any science or branch of study, esp. a work recognized as an authority (cf. Text-writer 2).

1779 Mirror No. 38 The letters of the immortal Earl of Chesterfield, which I intend to use as my text-book on this occasion. 1798 Sewan Anecd. i. 203 Lord Bacon's Essays ..have been the text-book of myriads of Essay-Writers. 1837 Sir F. Palgrave Merch. & Friar Ded. (1844) 9 Andrew Horne, the author of our ancient legal text-book, the Mirror of Justices. a 1855 Manseiu Sacr. Priv. Pref. (1856) 19 The current vocabulary of the chemical text-books. 1894 H. Drummond Ascent of Man 10 In almost every department [of science] the text-books of ten years ago are obsolete to-day.

3. A book containing a selection of Scripture texts, arranged for daily use or easy reference.

1861 (title) The Scripture Text Book and Treasury. 1877 Baxter's Cataal. 50 The Autograph Text Book; Containing a Text of Scripture, and a Verse of Poetry..under every Day in the year.

4. A book containing the libretto of a musical play or opera. 1891 in Cent. Dict.

†Te·xted, a. Obs. [f. Text sb.] and v. + -ED.]

1. Skilled or learned in 'texts' or authors. rare.

(In this sense texted wel (var. text wel) appears in one group of Chaucer MSS., where another has texuel. The latter was prob. the original reading, but the change in some MSS. perh. implies that texted was known.)

14.. Chaucer's Manciple's T. 131 (Harl. MS.) But for I am a man not textuel I wol noght telle of textes neuer a deel. (Ellesm. text; 3 MSS. textuel) I wil not telle of textes neuer a del. Ibid. 212 But as I sayd, I am nought tixted wel [Corp., Petw., Lansd. text; 3 MSS. textuel, -eel, tixt-].

2. Written in text-hand or text-letters; engrossed.

1620 Dekker Dreame 1 They beg nothing, the texted pastbord talkes all; and if nothing be giuen, nothing is spoken. 1650-66 Wharton Poems Wks. (1683) 340 To write Custodes in a Texted-hand. 1695 Lond. Gaz. No. 3125/4 Texted Indentures for Journeys.

Texter (teˈkstəı). [-ER 1.] One skilled in writing in a text-hand (sense a); an engrosser.

1884 Law Times 29 Mar. 2/2 Wanted, a re-engagement as Engrossing and General Clerk..excellent writer and texter.

Te·xt-hand. A fine large hand in writing. a. orig. One of the larger and more formal hands in which the text of a book was often written, as distinct from the smaller or more cursive hand appropriate to the gloss, etc. See also quot. 1688. b. Now usually applied to a school-hand written in lines about half an inch wide.

1542 Udall Erasm. Apoph. 224 He had taken vp..an instrumente written in greate letters of texte-hande. 1599 [see Text v. 1]. 1688 R. Holme Armoury iii. 414/2 These are the form of the Letters..used by the Germans; and are termed the Text Haind Letters. 1796 Pegge Anonym. (1809) 475 It is called text-hand and text-letter because the text was ever wrote in a large hand and the comment in a small. As text-hand is both square and round, it means little more than a large hand of each sort. 1821 Scott Kenilw. xxxi, You seem wondrous slow in reading text hand.

†Te·xtible, a. Obs. rare. [f. L. text-, ppl. stem of texère to weave + -IBLE.] That may be woven; textile. 1727 in Bailey vol. II.

Textile (teˈkstil, -əil), a. and sb. [ad. L. textil-is woven, textile (sc. opus) woven fabric, f. text-, ppl. stem of tex-ère to weave. So F. textile.]

A. adj. 1. That has been or may be woven.

1696 Blount Glossogr., Textile, ..that is weaved or wounden, embroidered. 1755 Johnson, Textile, ..woven; capable of being woven. 1852 Conybeare & Howson St. Paul (1862) II. xx. 240 The wine and the textile fabrics of Cos. 1868 Rogers Pol. Econ. viii. (1876) 74 Cotton and wool and other textile materials..from all quarters.

b. Nat. Hist. Having markings resembling a woven surface; e. g. textile cone, a species of conesshell, Conus textilis, so marked; textile snake.

1802 Shaw Gen. Zool. III. 462 Textile Snake. Coluber Textilis...Yellowish-grey Snake, freckled with black, and marked by numerous, undulated, transverse, bright-ferruginous stripes. 1891 Cent. Dict., Textile cone.

B. sb. 1. A woven fabric; any kind of cloth. (Usually in pl.)

1626 Bacon Sylva § 846 In the warp and woof of textiles. 1870 Rock Text. Fabr. Introd. 1. 10 The word 'textile' means every kind of stuff, no matter its material, wrought in the loom. 1885 Manch. Examr. 5 June 5/6 Machines for the preparation of textiles. 1886 Pall Mall G. 3 May 4/2 The prices of textiles have fallen considerably.

b. attrib. (or as adj.) Of or pertaining to weaving or to woven fabrics.

1844 G. Dodd Textile Manuf. Introd. 6 By 'Textile manufactures' are meant those in which filaments of cotton, of flax, of silk, or of wool, are wrought into a form fitted to be used in the making of garments. 1866 Rogers Agric. & Prices I. xxii. 569 The great..centre of textile industry in England was the two north-eastern counties of Norfolk and Suffolk. 1872 Tylor Prim. Cult. I. 1 Of the textile arts are to be ranged matting, netting, and several grades of making and weaving threads.

2. Fibrous material, as flax, cotton, silk, etc., suitable for being spun and woven into yarn, cloth, etc.

1642 Wilkins Math. Magick II. xii. (1707) 141 The Materials..were not from any Herb, or Vegetable, as other Textiles, but from a Stone called Amiantus. 1883 Nature 8 Mar. 430/2 As to textiles, the origin of flax is somewhat complicated. 1889 Science 1 Feb. 81/2 The discovery of a new textile on the shores of the Caspian.

Hence Textilist, one engaged in the textile industry; a weaver or seller of cloth.

1855 Ecclesiologist XVI. 275 The handicraft of the goldsmith, stone carver, and textilist.

Te·xtlet. rare. [See -LET.] A short text.

1832 Carlyle Sart. Res. ii. xii. [Title] Dingy Priest..preaches forth (exactically enough) one little textlet from the Gospel of Freedom.

†Te·xt-le·tter. Obs. [cf. Text-hand.] A large or capital letter in handwriting.

1511 in Rel. Ant. I. 328 Lett yt stond lij. dayes..and then thou haue good place for texte letter. 1600 E. Blount Hosp. Incur. Fools A iij, Where the renowmed folly of these men may be seene..written (as it were) in Text letters. 1605 Bacon Adv. Learn. II. iii. § 3 To write it in such Text and Capital letters. 1657 W. Monck Cnema quasi Kowh xx. 177 Hypocrisie would..in some Politians be written in Court-hand, but in others in text-letters. 1706 Phillips (ed. Kersey), Text-Letters, the Capital Letters in all sorts of Hands that are usually written.

Text-man (teˈkstˌmæn).

†1. One learned in scriptural texts, and apt at quoting them; also, An advocate of literal interpretation of the Bible. Obs.

1619 R. Harris Drunkard's Cup 26 A very iudicious Diuine, and grounded Text-man. 1624 Godwyn Moses & Aaron (1641) 28 The Scribes clave to the written Word, whence they were tearmed Text-men, or Masters of the Text. 1647 Trapp Comm. 1 Cor. i. 20 The Text-men, those that proceed according to the literall interpretation. 1702 C. Mather Magn. Chr. iv. iii. (1852) 61 He was a notable text-man, and one who had more than forty or fifty scriptures distinctly quoted in one discourse.

2. The author of a text-book. rare.

1900 H. G. Graham Soc. Life Scot. in 18th C. xii. iii. (1901) 464 Bacon, Locke and Evans, Puffendorf and De Vries were welcome text-men.

Textorial (tekstōˈriăl), a. [f. L. textor, -ōrem weaver, textōri-us pertaining to weaving + -AL.] Of or pertaining to weavers or weaving.

1774 Warton Hist. Eng. Poetry Diss. iii. (1840) I. p. cxciv, The cultivation of the textorial arts among the orientals. 1875 Nat. Hist. & Antiq. Arran 333 They will resume their textorial occupation.

So Textorian a. rare—°.

1656 Blount Glossogr., Textorian, ..of, or belonging to a weaver, or to weaving.

†Te·xtour. Obs. rare. [a. AF. textour, ad. L. textōr-em weaver.] A weaver.

[1429 Act 8 Hen. VI, c. 23 Les textours..quint ils sont overez un drap.] 1558 Peebles Burgh Rec. (1872) 247 The baillies..hes nominat four werkmen textouris..to examine Gilbert Wilsone his sone..and se gif he be qualifiit to wirk on the lynning lome or nocht.

Te·xt-pe·n. A pen specially suitable for writing text-hand, or for engrossing.

1589 Nashe Pasquils Retrome Wks. (Grosart) I. 134 The Painter to bewray both his abuse of the Scriptures, and his malice against the Church, hath drawne him his worde with a Text-pen. 1593 — Christ's T. Ep. Ded., Your illustrate ladiship ere this (I am perswaded) hath beheld a badde florish with a Text-pene. 1594 Plat Jewellho. III. 42 Lines drawne with a text-pennes. 1858 Simmonds Dict. Trade, Text-pen, a metallic pen for engrossing.

†Te·xtrine, a. Obs. rare. [ad. L. textrīn-us, f. textor weaver.] Of or pertaining to weaving.

1713 Derham Phys.-Theol. iv. xiii. 234 How so small a Creature that emits no Web, nor hath any textrine Art, can be able to convolve the stubborn leaf, and then bind it..with the Thread or Web it weaves from its own Body. Ibid. viii. vi. (1729) 388 The curious structure of all parts ministring to this textrine power.

Textual (teˈkstiăl), a. (sb.) Also 4-5 -uel. [In form textuel, app. a. AF. (F. textuel only 15th c. in Godef.), ad. L. type textuāl-is*, f. textu-s: see Text sb.[1] and -AL. So Sp., Pg. textual, It. -ale. The later Eng. spelling is conformed to the L. type (as in other adjs. orig. in -el.)]

†1. Of a person: Well acquainted with 'texts' or authors; well-read; literally exact in giving the text. [So F. textuel 'qui connait les textes', 1571 in Godef. Compl., also in Cotgr.] Obs.

c 1386 Chaucer Manciple's T. 131 (Ellesm.) But for I am a man not textuel I wol noght telle of textes neuer a deel. Ibid. 212 But as I seyde I am noght textuel. — Parc. Prol. 57 This medicacion I putte it ay vnder correccion Of Clerkes for I am nat textuel [so Harl. & Hengwrt; 4 MSS. text wel. Textuel was prob. Chaucer's word, which being app. unknown to some scribes was altered to text wel and texted wel: cf. Texted 1]. 1613 R. Cawdrey Table Alph. (ed. 3), Textuall, cunning in the text.

2. Of, pertaining to, or contained in the (or a) text, esp. of the Scriptures.

c 1470 Henryson Mor. Fab. III. Cock & Fox xxviii. (Charteris) 51 marg. 2e find ane testement richt agreabill, Vnder thai fengeit termis textuall. 1570 Levins Manuip. 15/26 Textuall, textualis. a 1638 Mede Wks. (1672) 347 So the Cethib or Textual reading hath it. 1731 Waterland Script. Vind. II. 122 So stands the case, upon the foot of the Textual Reading. 1889 I. Taylor Logic in Theol. vii. 209 The admitted principles of textual criticism. 1892 Minto Eng. Prose Lit. II. vi. 468 His sagacity in textual emendations.

b. Of or belonging to the text-books.

1869 Eyasson Mitis. Papers, Thoreau Wks. (Bohn) III. 324 Though very studious of natural facts, he was incurious of technical and textual science.

†3. Recognizing only the text of Scripture as authoritative. Also as sb. one that does this. Obs.

1613 Purchas Pilgrimage II. viii. 123 They are called Karaim, because they would seeme Textual, and Scripture-men, disallowing Traditions [ed. 1614, p. 143 Karaim, that is, Bible-men, or Textuals, and in the Roman tongue they call them Saduces].

4. Based on, following, or conforming to the text, esp. of the Scriptures.

1614 Br. Hall Recoll. Treat. Ded. A ij b, Speculation interchanged with experience, positive theologie with polemicall, textuall with discursorie. 1670 Walton Life Donne 34 Incessant study of textual diuinity. 1863 Robinson in Macm. Mag. Mar. 417 The textual system..has tended to establish a persuasion that Christian doctrines can be..proved by detached quotations. 1908 Snt. Rev. 11 July 39/2 Possibly we have not got the quotation exactly textual.

Textualism (teˈkstiăˌlizˈm). [f. prec. + -ISM.]

1. Strict adherence to the text, esp. of the Scriptures; the principles or method of a textualist.

1865 M. Pattison Ess. (1889) II. 286 The arbitrary textualism of the Puritan divines. 1895 Stubbs VIII. 405 He feels unable..to burden his audience with minutiæ, subtleties, pedantries, textualisms.

2. That department of scholarship which deals with the text of the Bible; textual criticism.

1888 Church Times 318 Reputations..acquired merely in the field of grammar and textualism, not in theology proper. 1908 Times, Lit. Supp. 5 Mar. 74/2 Textualism is not a popular study.

Textualist (teˈkstiăˌlist). [f. as prec. + -IST.]

a. One learned in the text of the Bible. b. One who adheres strictly to, and bases his doctrine upon, the text of the Scriptures.

1629 Lightfoot Miscc. vi. 20 How nimble textualists and Grammarians for the tongue the Rabbins are, their Comments can witnes. But..these that are so great textualists, are not best at the text. 1834 Southey Doctor iii. (1848) 12 When I mention Arba, who but the practised textualist can call to mind that he was..the father of Anak, and that from him Kirjath-Arba took its name? 1885 Contemp. Miscc. (1886) 181 A moderate Puritan and a textualist of the old Protestant school. 1903 J. Moffat in Expositor Dec. 470 One appealing to the textualist is Dr. R. Jansen's attempt to reconstruct the Greek text.

Textuality (tekstiăˌeˈlĭti). [f. as prec. + -ITY.] = Textualism I.

1836 J. Martin's Discourses Memoir 34 Textuality, he often said, appeared to him to be one of the chief excellences of a sermon. 1888 M. W. Sawyer in Interior (Chicago) 5 Apr. Deliverance, for those who have all their lifetimes been subject to pithiness and apothegm would come by the broadest textuality.

Textually (teˈkstiăˌlĭli), adv. [f. as prec. + -LY 2. Cf. F. textuellement.]

1. In or as regards the text.

1617 Collins Def. Ep. Ely II. ix. 351 As no lesse textually, then marginally, both waies, you blame it. 1847 De Quincey Orthographic Mutineers Wks. 1860 XIV. 104 In our authorized version..italics are..used..exclusively to indicate such words or auxiliary forms as, though implied and virtually present in the original, are not textually expressed.

2. In the actual words of the text; verbatim.

1837 Sir F. Palgrave Merch. & Friar Ded. (1844) 10 As they only exist in manuscript, I shall place them textually before you. 1870 Lowell Among my Bks. Ser. I. (1873) 205 The theory that his plays should be represented textually. 1884 Truth 4 Sept. 364/2 To report textually a debate from 4.30 p.m. to 2 a.m. would fill thirty columns of the Times.

†Te·xtuarist. Obs. rare—°. [f. next + -IST.] = Textuary sb. 1. 1755 in Johnson.

Textuary (teˈkstiăˌri), a. and sb. [ad. mod.L. type textuāri-us*, f. textu-s Text sb.[1] + -ārius -ARY 1. So F. textuaire sb. (1680 in Hatz.-Darm.).]

A. adj. 1. Of or belonging to the text; textual.

1646 Sir T. Browne Pseud. Ep. III. xvi. 145 Pliny..hath differently translated it,..whereby he extends the exclusion unto twenty dayes, which in the textuary sense is fully accomplished in one. 1817 Coleridge Lay Serm. 411 Plucking away..from the divine organism of the Bible, textuary morsels, and fragments for the support of doctrines which they had learned beforehand. 1854 W. Waterworth Eng. & Rome 62 note, The textuary proofs of St. Peter's supremacy. 1882 Nat. Rev. LIV. 699/1 It is as genuine a result of textuary accommodation as any against which this writer protests.

†2. That ranks as a text-book; regarded as authoritative or as an authority. Obs.

1632 Lithgow Trav. IX. 395 Euclide the textuary Geometrician. 1646 Sir T. Browne Pseud. Ep. 374 He..hath left sixteen books of Opticks, of great esteem with ages past, and textuary unto our dales. 1682 — Chr. Mor. III. § 21 Let Pythagoras be thy Remembrancer, not thy textuary and final Instructer.

†3. That adheres strictly to the text of Scripture: cf. B. 2. Obs rare—1.

1633 PURCHAS Pilgrimage III. x. 247 They hate the Persians,..like as the Traditionary Jew doth the Textuarie, and the Papist the Protestant.

B. sb. 1. One learned in the text of the Bible, = TEXTUALIST a; a textual critic, scholar, or expounder; also, one well acquainted with and ready at quoting texts.

1628 Bp. J. KING Serm. 24 Mar. 28 Is there almost a worthier and prompter textuary in the world..in that books of the Law? a 1661 FULLER Worthies, Lincoln. (1662) II. 167 He [Doctor Tighe] was an excellent Textuary and profound Linguist, the reason why he was imployed by King James in translating of the Bible. 1697 Spottiswood's Hist. Ch. Scot. App. 20 He was learned in the Hebrew, and was a great Textuary. a 1720 Bp. BULL Visit. Serm. (1714) 21 If by a Textuary, we mean him who hath not only a Concordance of Scriptures in his Memory, but also a Commentary on them in his Understanding; who thinks it not enough to be ready in alledging the bare Words of Scripture, with the mention of Chapter and Verse where it is written, unless he know the Sense and Meaning of what he recites. 1720 SWIFT Lad. Vrge. Poet 1 Dec., I have made it my observation, that the greatest wits have been the best textuaries; our modern poets are all..almost as well read in the Scriptures as some of our divines. 1851 C. G. FARRER Sleep Meditions 223 Mr. Scott, ..than whom there probably never was a more accomplished textuary, takes pretty much the same view of the question. 1879 Q. Rev. CXLVIII. 422 Having the Bible at their fingers' ends..They were not merely accomplished textuaries.

†2. One who adheres strictly to the letter of Scripture; = TEXTUALIST b; cf. TEXTUAL 3.

1727–41 CHAMBERS Cycl., Textuaries, Textuarii, a name given the sect of the Caraites, among the Jews. Hillel shone among the traditionaries, and Schammai among the textuaries. 1828 WEBSTER, Textualist, Textuary...2. One who adheres to the text.

†3. (See quot.) Obs.

1706 PHILLIPS (ed. Kersey), Textuary, a Law-Book, or other Treatise, that contains only the bare Text, without any Comment or Gloss upon it. 1730–6 BAILEY (folio).

†Textuist. Obs. [f. L. text-us TEXT *sb.*1 + -IST.] A textual scholar; = TEXTUARY sb. 1.

1631 R. H. Arraignm. Whole Creature xii. § 3. 125 Popery affording more allegorizing Origenists, than sound Textuists. 1643 MILTON Divorce To Parl., When I remember the little that our Textuist could present about this doctrine of Charity against the crabbed textuists of his time, I make no wonder. 1700 STRYPE Lightfoot's Rem. Pref. 3 The author designed it for some, that desired to be good textuists.

Textularian (tekstiulē·riăn), a. and sb. Zool. [f. mod.L. Textulāria, generic name (f. L. text-us woven) + -AN.] a. adj. Belonging to Textularia, the typical genus of Textularidæ, a family of perforate Foraminifera. b. sb. A member of this genus or family.

1862 CARPENTER Microsc. & Rev. (ed. 3) § 317 A less aberrant modification of the Globigerine type..is presented in the two great series which may be designated..as the Textularian and the Rotalian.

Textural (te·kstiŭrăl), a. [f. L. textūra TEXTURE + -AL.] Of or belonging to texture.

1835–6 Todd's Cycl. Anat. I. 67/1 The textural properties of the two sets of vessels. 1854 JONES & SIEVEKING Pathol. Anat. (1874) 23 The differences in textural quality, which fibrine often presents. 1886 T. HARDY Mayor of Casterbridge II. Her skin had undergone a textural change.

b. Painting see TEXTURE sb. 6.

1859 GULLICK & TIMBS Paint. 229 The gem-like impasto and textural richness of the old masters. 1887 Pall Mall G. 8 Feb. 2/2 Never has the French master shown greater textural facility, power of expression, or frankness of colour.

Hence Te·xturally adv., in or as regards texture.

1866 Reader 19 May 500 The mare herself, with her beautiful foal, are all, to our eye, texturally perfect. 1872 COUES N. Amer. Birds 22 The second class of crests—those consisting of texturally modified feathers.

Texture (te·kstiŭr), sb. [ad. L. textūra a weaving: see TEXT *sb.*1 and -URE. So F. texture (16th c. in Godef. Compl.).]

†1. The process or art of weaving. Obs.

1447 BOKENHAM Seyntys (Roxb.) 145 Mynerve hyr self wych hath the soverynte Of gay texture, as declaryyth Ovyde. 1646 Sir T. BROWNE Pst. Err. v. 256 Coats of skinnes..a natural habit..before the invention of Texture. 1656 BLOUNT Glossogr., Texture,..a weaving. 1726 POPE Odyss. xx. 87 Pallas taught the texture of the loom.

†b. fig. The fabricating, machinating, or composing of schemes, conspiracies, writings, etc. Obs.

a 1641 Bp. MOUNTAGU Acts & Mon. iv. (1642) 275 First they began their malicious texture with secret whisperings, and giving out in corners. 1656 Earl MONM. tr. Boccalini's Advts. fr. Parnass. II. xciv. (1674) 247 The exquisite diligence used in the texture of those his Eternal Labours.

2. The produce of the weaver's art; a woven fabric; a web; cloth. arch.

a 1656 Bp. HALL Rem. Wks. (1660) 260 The invaluable sumptuousness of the Temple..the curious celatures, and artificial textures. 1728–46 THOMSON Spring 642 Others..far in the grassy dale, their humble texture weave. 1873 Browning Red Cott. Nt.-cap 407 When the dyer dyes A texture, can the red dye prime the white?

b. transf. Any natural structure having an appearance or consistence as if woven; a tissue; a web, e. g. of a spider. Also fig.

1878 BANISTER Hist. Man iv. 56 The notable texture of Mesenteriam. 1612 CROOKE Body of Man 490 That phlegme..which distilleth out of that texture or web into the ventricles. Ibid. 525 That the spirits are attenuated in the textures of the small arteries, & in the straythes of those passages. a 1774 TUCKER Lt. Nat. (1834) II. 43 Nor the spider entangle the heedless fly in his texture. 1877 TYNDALL in Daily News 2 Oct. 2/4 His physical and intellectual textures have been woven for him during his passage through phases of history and forms of existence which lead the mind back to an abysmal past.

†c. A 'woven' or composed narrative or story.

1611 SPEED Hist. Gt. Brit. VII. xxxviii. § 9. 341 A peece of ancient Saxon coine of Silver, inscribed with his name, Anlaf Cynyng, which for the antiquity of the thing, and honor of the man we haue here imprinted, and placed, though in the texture of our English Saxon Kings.

3. The character of a textile fabric, as to its being fine, coarse, close, loose, plain, twilled, ribbed, diapered, etc., resulting from the way in which it is woven.

1685 BOYLE Salubr. Air 79 The texture that belongs to Linen. 1791 COWPER Odyss. I. 156 Putting off his vest Of softest texture. 1842 in Bischoff Woollen Manuf. II. 176 One piece of cloth of German wool, and another piece of South Down wool, made of the same colour and texture. 1866 ROGERS Agric. & Prices I. xxii. 573 The linen worn by the wealthier classes differed materially in its texture.

4. In extended use: The constitution, structure, or substance of anything with regard to its constituents or formative elements. a. Of organic bodies and their parts.

1665 BOYLE Occas. Medit. iv. iv, The Leaves..of a Tree..are of a more solid Texture, and a more durable Nature than the Blossoms. 1738 WESLEY Ps. cxxxix. ix, Thou know'st the Texture of my Heart, My Reins, and every vital Part. 1797 M. BAILLIE Morb. Anat. (1807) 212 The cartilage is smooth and thin, and very soft in its texture. 1844 STEPHENS Bk. Farm III. 905 Butter assumes a texture according as it has been treated. 1882 Garden 18 Mar. 182/3 Flavour and texture should be our watchword in raising Apples.

b. Of inorganic substances, as stones, soil, etc.: Physical (not chemical) constitution; the structure or minute moulding (of a surface).

1660 BOYLE New Exp. Phys. Mech. xxii. 165 Air is..endow'd with an Elastical power that probably proceeds from its Texture. 1663 — Usef. Exp. Nat. Philos. II. v. xiii. 242 Glass seems a more or more brittle Texture, according as..it is baked. 1793 SMEATON Eddystone L. § 106 The stone..in point of hardness and texture much like the Bath stone. 1811 PINKERTON Petrology p. xxii, Mr. Kirwan has justly rejected the theory of Werner and his disciples, who have confounded the texture with the fracture. 1813 Sir H. DAVY Agric. Chem. (1814) 5 Some lands of good apparent texture are yet sterile in a high degree. 1865 GEIKIE Scen. & Cont. Scot. viii. 200 Gneiss is too various in its texture and the rate of its decomposition. 1878 HUXLEY Physiogr. 63 The loose texture of snow.

5. fig. Of immaterial things: Constitution; nature or quality, as resulting from composition. Of the mind: Disposition, as 'woven' of various qualities; temperament, character.

1611 SPEED Hist. Gt. Brit. VI. xix. § 9. 104 Albeit the very texture of this Epistle carrieth with it the true Character of Antiquity. a 1677 HALE Prim. Orig. Man. 157 Hence it is that..the texture of Zeuxes or Apelles inclines him to the invention or improving of Painting. 1692 BENTLEY Boyle Lect. iii. So an argument..of so frail and brittle a texture. 1751 SMOLLETT Per. Pic. (1779) III. lxxxi. 272 Had her thoughts been of a more tender texture. 1771 Misc. in Ann. Reg. 161/2 The whole texture of the fable. 1847 POLLOK Course T. II. 238 Creeds of wonderous texture.

6. In the fine arts: The representation of the structure and minute moulding of a surface (esp. of the skin), as distinct from its colour: cf. 4 b.

1859 GULLICK & TIMBS Paint. 228 Impasting gives 'texture' and 'surface'. 1877 MORLEY Crit. Misc., Robespierre Ser. II. 64 It is transparent and smooth, but there is none of that quality which the critics of painting call Texture.

7. attrib. and Comb., as texture-counter, a thread-counter or waling-glass: see quot.

1909 Cent. Dict. Suppl., Texture-counter, a small magnifying-glass of low power, used in counting the number of threads, within a given space, in the texture of a fabric.

†Te·xture, v. Obs. [f. prec.] trans. To construct by or as by weaving; to give a texture to (anything). Usually in pa. pple.

1654 R. BURTOGOOD Reason & Nat. Spirits 104 Now it is certain..that Matter is alter'd, figured, textur'd, and infinite ways wrought upon and moulded by means of motion. 1775 JEPHSON Braganza III. i. 32 This fine frame, Nerves exquisitely textur'd. 1778 [W. MARSHALL] Minutes Agric. 23 Sept. an. 1774, The off-horse treads that which is textured, and destroys the effect. 1835 CARLYLE Corr. (1883) I. vii. 65 A bright faultless vision textured out of mere sunbeams.

Textured (te·kstiŭrd), a. [f. as prec. + -ED 2.] Of a (specified) texture.

1888 Daily News 1 May 5/7 One of the infinitely lighttextured homespuns. 1901 Westm. Gaz. 3 Oct. 3/2 The addition of some very fine textured lace. 1905 Ibid. 20 Sept. 8/1 A close-textured, nutty-flavoured, easily-digested loaf.

Te·xtureless, a. [f. as prec. + -LESS.] Devoid of texture; exhibiting no texture.

1851 RUSKIN Mod. Paint. II. iii. ii. v. § 14 Simple patterns upon textureless draperies. 1864 Daily Tel. 4 May, The whole picture [is]..disagreeably smooth and textureless. 1884 SHELDON in West. Daily Press 24 May 3/6 A salvy and textureless mass.

Texturing (te·kstiŭrĭŋ). [f. TEXTURE sb. + -ING 1.] The representation of the texture of a surface in painting or engraving.

1882 HERKOMER in Artist 1 Feb. 38 To enable the engraver to render a disturbed surface by an ingenuity of lining or texturing of his own devising.

†Te·xtury. Obs. rare—1. [f. TEXTURE sb. + -Y.] Weaving.

1658 Sir T. BROWNE Gard. Cyrus ii, Which is beyond the common art of textury, and may stilt neathe Minerva, the goddess of that mystery.

‖Textus (te·kstŭs). [L. textus TEXT.]

1. A manuscript or book of the Gospels; a Bible; = TEXT *sb.*1 3 b. Textus-case, a case or cover for this (Cent. Dict. 1891).

1874 MICKLETHWAITE Mod. Par. Churches 52 The gospeller having received the textus or gospel-book from the altar. 1877 J. D. CHAMBERS Div. Worship 275 At Salisbury, 1222, was one great Textus. 1906 Athenæum 21 Apr. 478 A boss of this value was originally affixed to the centre of a Textus of the Gospels,..often the chief ornament of early altars.

2. Textus Receptus, literally, received text; spec. the received text of the Greek New Testament.

Strictly applied to the text of the second Elzevir edition of 1633, to which the publisher prefixed the assertion, 'Textum ergo habes nunc ab omnibus receptum' (Thou hast therefore the text now received by all); but commonly extended to any reprint of this (or of that of Stephanus 1550, on which it was founded) with or without slight revision, but without the aid of the early MSS. since discovered or published.

1856 T. H. HORNE Introd. Text. Crit. N. T. 114 From this sort of boast sprang the expression 'Textus Receptus'. 1885 Athenæum 5 Sept. 296/1 Pascal's..'Letters'..suffered..from..the..partiality of uncultivated admirers for an inaccurate textus receptus. 1901 F. G. KENYON Handb. Textual Crit. N. T. 229 Some words of this re-translation..still linger in our Textus Receptus to the present day.

Text-writer (te·kstr,ŭităr).

†1. A professional writer of text-hand, before the introduction of printing; later, an engrosser of legal documents. Obs.

1463 Canterb. Corporation Acc. (MS.), Thomas Howlet, textwriter, alias scrivener. a 1490 BOTONER Itin. (Nasmith 1778) 141 Sub custodia scriptoris text-writer communitis apud Seynt Mary Strond. 1491 in York Mynst. Introd. 39 Text-wryters, luminers, noters, turners, and florischers.

2. Law. An author of a legal text-book.

1845 POLSON Law Nat. in Encycl. Metrop. II. 720/1 Text-writers of authority, an authority which they obtain whenever they record the usages and practice of nations..in a spirit of impartiality. 1863 H. COX Instit. I. ix. 188 The language of text-writers upon the right of the Lords to reject money bills is uniform. 1880 Sir E. B. KEKEWICH in Law Times Rep. LXXXVI. 346/2 In dealing with a question of this kind, one is thrown back on maxims and principles, and the exposition of them by text-writers is important. 1902 Joyce Hist. 252/1 A dictum which..is copied in the text-books, and is considered by the text-writers to be law.

†Tey, variant of TAY Obs., outer membrane of the brain, etc.

c 1350 Nominale Gall.-Angl. 6 Toup canal et ceruel, Toppe tey and the brayne.

Tey, obs. f. TEA. Tey(e, obs. ff. TIE sb. and v. Teyghte, obs. pa. pple. of TIE v.

Teyl, Teyle, Teylle, var. TILE Obs., blame, obs. ff. TEAL, TEIL, lime-tree, TILE.

Teym, Sc. f. TEEM *v.*2 Teyme, obs. f. TEAM.

Teyn, Teynd, e, obs. ff. TEEN, TEIND, tithe.

†Teyne. Obs. rare. [a. ON. tein-n twig, rod: cf. gull-, jarrn-teinn rod of gold, of iron, MSw. tên 'smal stång (af metall)', Söderwall; Sw. ten. Cognate with OE. tán, MDu. teen twig.] A slender rod of metal.

c 1386 CHAUCER Con. Yeom. Prol. & T. 672 He took out of his owene sleeue A leyne of sliuer Which pat was nat but an Ounce of weighte. Ibid. 676 He shoope his Ingot in lengthe and eek in breede Of this teyne. Ibid. 777 This preest took vp this siluer teyne anon And thanne seyde the Chanon let vs gon With this teyne wolde pat we han wroght To som Goldsmyth and wite if they been oulit.

Teyne: see TEEN *sb.*1, TIND v. Obs., to kindle.

Teynt(e, Teyntner, -o(u)r, -ur, Teynt-wort, obs. ff. TAINT, TENT, TENTER, TENTWORT.

Teyre, Teyrse, obs. ff. TEAR a. and *sb.*3, TIERCE.

Teys(e, var. TEISE Obs. Teyser, obs. f. TEASER.

Teysoure, var. TEISER Obs.

Teytheyng, var. tithing, obs. f. TIDING.

Tezel, tezill, Tezir, obs. ff. TEASEL, TEASER.

‖Tezkere, teskere (te·zkérē). Also 7 teskeria, -caria, 9 -caré, tischera, tezkera, tezkari. [Arab. ‡ تذكرة tadhkirah, in Turkish teskere, lit. memorandum, record, note, f. ‡ ذكر dakara, in deriv. conj. to record, relate, remember = Heb. זכר zākar to remember.] A Turkish official memorandum or certificate of any kind; a receipt, order, permit, licence; esp. an internal passport.

1612 CORYAT in Purchas Pilgrims (1625) II. x. xii. 1895 A Teskeria (this is a Turkish word that signifieth a Certificate written vnder his hand). 1615 G. SANDYS Trav. 115 We could not passe without a Tescaria from the Cadee. 1817 By-Laws Levant Company 26 That the Company's privilege of having tescarés or certificates, be not forfeited. 1818 BLAQUIERE tr. Pananti xiii. 247 No [grain] can be exported without a tischera, or written permit, bearing the Dey's seal. 1888 SIMMONDS Dict. Trade, Tescare, Teskere, a Turkish Custom-house certificate. 1890 Daily News 30 June 7/7 The Porte yesterday despatched a teskere to..the Armenian Patriarch, enjoining him to dissolve the Provincial Council of Van. 1904 Daily Chron. 13 Jan. 5/2 A tezkera or local passport costing 4*s.* 1905 Dundee Advertiser 29 Nov. 11/1 The teskari or passport is an essential inexorably demanded by the Turkish official.

TH, in words of Old English or Old Norse origin, and in words from Greek, is a consonantal digraph representing a simple sound, or rather (in Teutonic words), a pair of simple sounds, breath and voice, indicated in this dictionary by the OE. letters (þ) and (ð); the former, as in thin, bath (þin, baþ), being the breath dental spirant akin to t, and the latter, as in then, bathe (ðen, baðð), the voiced dental spirant akin to d. The group t, d, þ, ð, corresponds to the group p, b, f, v. The breath spirant is identical with modern Greek theta (Θ, θ), and approximately with Spanish z (or c before e, i). The Greek letter, which corresponds etymologically to Sanskrit ঘ dh (and so, by Grimm's Law, to Teutonic and English D), was in early inscriptions represented by TH, and was a true aspirate; it was subsequently often written TΘ, τθ, and had prob. the sound (tþ); but by the second century B.C. it had sunk into a simple sound, = our (þ). The Romans, having neither the sound nor the symbol, represented the letter by TH, as in Θάψος, Thapsus, but app. this was pronounced, at least in late Latin (whence in all the Romanic languages), as simple t; cf. Greek θεωρία, L. theōria, It. and Sp. teoria; in Pg. theoria, F. théorie, spelt with th, pronounced with t; also Gr. Θωμᾶς, L. Thōmās, It. Toma, Sp. Tomás; Pg., F., Eng. Thomas all pronounced with T.

(2) In Teutonic the breath spirant (þ) was very frequent, being the regular etymological representative of Indo-Eur. t initially or after the stressed vowel, as in OTeut. þrijiz*, Goth. þreis, OE. þreo, Eng. three, = Indo-Eur. treies*, Skr. trayas, Gr. τρεῖς, L. trēs; OTeut. brōþer*, Goth. brōþar, OE. brōþor, brōðor, Eng. brother, = Indo-Eur. bhrātēr, Gr. φράτηρ clansman, L. frātēr. The voiced spirant in brōðor. etc., was a later development (c 700 in English) from the breath sound between vowels or voiced consonants, as in the parallel v and z from f and s. Initially, the same change of (þ) to (ð) took place during the Middle English period in the demonstrative group of words, the, that, and their kindred, this, these, †tho, those, there, then, than, thence, thither, thus, etc., and in the pronouns of the second person singular, thou, thee, thine, thy: these constitute the only words in English with initial (ð). In the same group of words in the cognate Teutonic languages (þ) has passed through (ð) into (d); thus Ger. das, Du. dat, Da., Sw. det 'that'; in High Ger., Low Ger., and Du. the same has taken place even in other original th words which retain (þ) in English; e. g. Ger. dach, denken, ding, dick, donner, drei = Eng. thatch, think, thing, thick, thunder, three.

(3) In the demonstrative and pronominal groups of words, change of initial þ to t, by assimilation to a preceding dental (t, d, s), appears in earlier English. OE. þæt þe became þæt-te, þætte; þe læs þe appears in the 11th c. as þe læste, whence modern lest. In the last section of the OE. Chronicle, from 1132, þe after t or d regularly becomes te (e. g. þæt te king, and te eorles). In the Ormulum and the Cotton MS. of Cursor Mundi, this assimilation is seen in all the words of the the-thou group (Orm. þatt tatt te godd-spell menesþ, wrohht tiss boc, and tatt te folc all þess te bett; Cursor, ne was ter, here and tere, scho serued taim, als sais te sau). So in Ancren Riwle (and tet is, et tesse uerse, þeo þet tus doð, and tes oðer, etc.). In the course of the 14th c., this assimilation was given up, and the spirant reappeared (as ð).

(4) In the Runic alphabet (futhorc) the breath spirant had to itself a symbol þ or þ (called thorn); but in the earliest known OE. writings in the Roman alphabet this was represented by th, the voiced spirant being often represented by d (ð) (sometimes by th). Before 700 probably, the character ð, formed by a bar across the stem of ð, was introduced; it appears in a charter of Whitræd, king of Kent, 700–715 (Sweet Oldest English Texts 428). Apparently it was first used to denote the voiced spirant: see the proper names in the Moore MS. of Bæda, c 737, and the Liber Vitæ, Cott. MS., c 800, and charters before 800 generally. But in the ninth century it was used for both spirants, as in the Vespasian Psalter, c 825 (e.g. iv. 5 ða ðe cweoðað), and in a West Saxon charter of 847 (O. E. T. 433). In the 8th century apparently, the thorn, þ, was adopted from the Runic futhorc, the earliest charter showing it being one of Coenwulf, king of Mercia, of 811 (O. E. T. 456); but it was not much used till late in the 9th c. A Surrey charter a 889 (ibid. 451) has 34 examples of ð initial, and 25 medial or final, with 49 of þ initial, and 1 medial. From the later years of the 9th c. ð and þ were used promiscuously in West Saxon works, with some preponderance of þ initially and ð finally. This continued in ME. till the 13th c. On the other hand, the Durham Rituale and the Lindisfarne Gospel Gloss, c 950, have uniformly ð in all positions (except in the compendium þ for þæt), as has also the East Anglian Genesis & Exodus, c 1250; while the Mercian portion of the Rushworth Gospel Gloss, c 975, and Ormin, c 1200, have only þ. After 1250 the ð speedily became obsolete: þ remained in use, but was gradually restricted more or less to the pronominal and demonstrative words. In later times its MS. form approached, and at times became identical with, that of y (the latter being sometimes distinguished by having a dot placed over it). As the continental type used by Caxton had no þ, its place in print was usually supplied by th for both sounds and in all positions. But in Scotland, the early printers, especially in the demonstrative and pronominal words, continued the þ as y, as in ye, yis, yat, you (= thou), a practice also common in England in MS., and hardly yet extinct. Confusion with the modern y consonant, ME. ȝ, was avoided in Scotland, sometimes by writing the latter yh, but usually by continuing ME. ȝ in the form ȝ or z, so that ye zeir stood for þe ȝeir, i. e. the year. It is remarkable that, when OE. þ and ð were both in use, no attempt was made to differentiate them as breath and voice spirants, and app. no serious attempt even to distinguish them as initial and medio-final, as was done in Norwegian when the Roman alphabet was adopted, c 1200, and in Icelandic before 1300. At an earlier date (prob. c 800) the character ð was partially adopted from OE. in Old Saxon, and was used generally in the middle and end of words, while th was usual as the breath spirant initially.

(5) In a few compounds, as anthill, outhouse, lighthouse, Chatham, Wytham, Yetholm, etc., t and h come together but do not form a digraph; and in a few foreign words, chiefly East Indian, as Thakoor, Thug, th represents Skr. ঠ th or ঢ dh, the sound being a t or t followed by a slight aspiration (tʰ, tʰ), in Eng. commonly reduced to t.

In a few proper names and words derived from or influenced by French, as Thomas, Thompson, thyme, th is pronounced as t; several other words were formerly so treated, and even spelt with t, e. g. theatre, theme, theology, throne, authentic, orthography: t has become fixed in trench, tresses. The late Latin and Romanic treatment of th as t often led to the spelling th where t was etymological, as in Thames, Sathan; in amaranth, anthanthus, author, etc., the corruption has also affected the pronunciation. See the individual words. In some ME. MSS. th frequently appears for t or for d: e.g. tho to, thylt till, nyghth might, nygth night, whythe white; thede deed, theer deer, thegree degree, thepartyth departed, tho do, thogh doth, abothe abode, grounthth grounded, iclouth y-clothed, louthe loud, rothe rood, uther under. Early ME. scribes (prob. Norman) often confounded the English letters þ (or ð) and ȝ, writing e.g. þelinge for þeȝinge, thieving, wiþ, worþ, wrȝ for wiþ, worþ, wrþ (in Auchinleck MS. of Florice and Bl.).

(6) Etymologically, modern Eng. th (ð) often represents an OE. d, esp. before r or er, as in father, mother, gather, hither, together, etc.; dialectally, this sometimes extends to other words, as blather, ladder, solder; on the other hand some dialects retain original d, and extend it to other words, as brother, further, rather, southern-wood, wether. In burden and murder, d represents the earlier ð of burthen, murther.

Dialectally th is sometimes substituted for f, and vice versa: e. g. thane, thetch, thistolow, thrail, thrae, throm, thurrow, for fane, fetch (vetch), fistula, frail (flail), frae, from, furrow; also fill, Fairsday, for THILL, THURSDAY. The Welsh name Llewellyn appears in Eng. as Thlewellyn (Rolls of Parl. I. 463/1, Edw. I or II), and Fluellen (Shaks. Hen. V). Th also occurs dialectally for wh, as in third, thortleberry, thorl, for whirl, whortleberry, whorl. Conversely, Sc. has whaing, whang, white, whittle, for thwaing, thwang, thwite, thwittle.

1. The digraph th and its sound.

[c 1400 MAUNDEV. (Roxb.) xv. 71 We hafe in oure speche in Ingland twa oþer letters þan þai [Saracens] hafe in þaire abce, þai es to say, þ and ȝ, whilk er called þorn and ȝoh.] a 1697 B. JOSSON Eng. Gram. Wks. (Rtldg.) 775/2 Th' Hath a double and doubtful sound. Ibid. 776/2 Some syllabes, as the, then, there, that..are often compendiously and shortly written, as ye, yen, yere, yat. 1668 O. PHICE Eng. Orthogr. 24 Q. What is the sound of th? A. Th makes a hard sound in thunder, through, thick, thin [etc.]. But, th, makes a softer sound in that, thine, worthy, father [etc.]. 1730–6 BAILEY folio, Th, in English is..but one Letter, or a Litera aspirata. 1862 MEIVILLE BEE, Prince. Speech 180 We confound the two sounds [þ and ð] by using for both the same digraph [th].

2. Th. is an abbreviation of THORIUM, THURSDAY.

Th-, th' (ME. þ-), a clipped form of some unstressed monosyllables, esp. when the following word begins with a vowel or h.

1. = THE.

Still dial. in Lancs., etc.: cf. T' 2. See also I'TH'.

1154 O. E. Chron., Þe monnkes..on cyninges hyrsidan þabbot hehlice. c 1200 ORMIN 5937 Tatt himm ummbeshorenn wass Hiss shapp o þalde wise. c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. Wace 5734 Þapostles holy lyf. 13.. E. E. Allit. P. C. 325 Þæcoss of anguyeh watz hid in my swaw. 1414–15 Plimpton Corr. (Camden) p. cxx, Sir Marmaduke Constable thelder, knight, ..on thone partie, & Sir Robert Plompton..on thother partie. 1485 Naval Acc. Hen. VII (1896) 8 To be levied by thands of Thomas Combes. 1533 MORE Apol. 283 More old than thage of eyght hundred yere. 1623 Shakes.'s Lear iv. vii. 238 Least that th'infection..take..hold on thee. — Temp. II. i. 120 To th'shore. Ibid. 131 Which end o' th'beame should bow. 1883 Atmondbury & Hudderfield Gloss. s.v. T, Th' man i'th' moöin.

†2. = THOU. Obs.

c 1315 SHOREHAM I. 94 Þorwe þat blod þi soule his [= is] bouȝt .. And þorwe þat water i-wesche þart. c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. Wace (Rolls) 8015 Þer wot no man of wham þart come. c 1500 Debate Carp. Tools 6 in Hazl. E. P. P. I. 79 Th' all neuer be thryfty man. a 1586 SIDNEY Arcadia III. Countrie Song 99, I rather would my sheepe Thad'st killed with a stroke. 1594 GREENE & LODGE Looking-Glasse (Hunter. Cl.) 25 Well sirrha well, thart as that, and so ile take thee.

†3. = THEY. Obs.

c 1540 in Weever Anc. Fun. Mon. (1631) 282 God grant hem euirlastyng lyff, To whom we hop thar gon. 1707 E. WARD Hud. Rediv. II. vn. 18 Th'ad put the holy Puppet on A Surplice.

-th, suffix[1], a formative of sbs. a. from verbs; in some words, as bath, birth, death, math, oath, OTeut., repr. various Indo-Eur. suffixes, as -tos, -tā, -tis, -tus, in which the t following the stressed syllable regularly became þ in Teutonic; in others, as growth, tilth, going back to ON. or OE.; in others, as blowth, spilth, stealth, of later analogical formation. In many words Indo-Eur. t remained in consequence of its position, or þ was subsequently changed to t: see -T suffix 3 a.

b. from adjs. (rarely sbs.). representing Indo-Eur. -itā, OTeut. -iþō, Goth. -iþa, OE. -þu, -þo, -þ, with prec. i- umlaut, forming abstract nouns of state: as filth (OE. fýlþ, OS. fūlitha from fūl foul), health, length, mirth, strength, truth; in ME. and also in cognate langs., dearth, depth; of later analogical formation, breadth, sloth (cf. OE. slǽwþ), wealth. In some words of this group, þ has, by phonetic causes, become t, e. g. OE. hiehþu, ME. heiþe, now height, ON. sleggð, ME. sleiþe, now sleight: see -T suffix 3 b.

-th, suffix[2], forming ordinal numbers; in modern literary Eng. used with all simple numbers from fourth onward; representing OE. -þa, -þe, or -oða, -oðe. used with all ordinals except fifta, sixta, ellefta, twelfta, which had the ending -la, -te; in Sc., north. Eng., and many midland dialects the latter, in form -t, is used with all simple numerals after third (fourt, fift, sixt, sevent, tent, hundert, etc.). In Kentish and O.Northumbrian those from seventh to tenth had formerly the ending -da, -de. All these variations, -th, -t, -d, represent an original Indo-Eur. -tos (cf. Gr. πέμπ-τος, L. quin-tus), understood to be identical with one of the suffixes of the superlative degree. In OE. fifta, sixta, the original t was retained, being protected by the preceding consonant; the -þa and -da were due to the position of the stress accent, according to Verner's Law.

The ordinals from twentieth to ninetieth have -ath, OE. -oða, -oðe. In compound numerals -th is added only to the last, as ১১৪৫, the one thousand three hundred and forty-fifth part; in his one-and-twentieth year.

Tha, þa, thaa, þaa, OE. and northern forms of THO Obs. Tha, dial. form of THOU, THEE.

Thaarm, obs. form of THARM, intestine.

Thaborite, obs. f. TABORITE (Blount Gl. 1674).

Thach, Thacher, obs. ff. THATCH v., -ER.

Thack (þæk), sb. Now dial. Forms: 1 þæc, 4 þak, þakke, 4–6 (g dial.) thak, 5 thakk(e, 5–6 (g dial.) thake, 5–7 thacke, 6 thecke, thaec, 6–thack (9 Sc. theck). [Com. Teut.: OE. þæc = WFris. thek, OLG. þak* (MDu. dac (dāke), Du., MLG., LG. dak), OHG. dach, dah, thah (MHG., Ger. dach) roof, ON. þak roof, thatch (Sw. tak, Da. tag): —OTeut. þakō*[n], f. root þek- to cover, Indo-Eur. teg-, in L. teg-ēre to cover, tog-a covering, gown, tug-urium hut, cottage, Gr. τέγ-ος, στεγ-ή roof, στέγ-ειν to cover; Lith. stogas roof; OIr. teg, Irish and Gael. tigh house. See THATCH v.] a 900 CYNEWULF Christ 1503 þæt hi under eowrum þæcce mosten in-geþuȝan. c 975 Rushw. Gosp. Matt. viii. 8 Drihtnes nam ic wyrðe þ ðu ga under þacu minne. Ibid. xxiv. 17 Seþe on þæcce sian ne stiȝað he nider. c 1000 Ags. Ps. (Th.) cxxviii. 4 þam þe on hu-es þæce heah aweaxeð. c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. Wace (Rolls) 14689 In eueses þey [spairowes] crepte, & in þe þakkes. 1489 CAXTON Fayles of A. II. xxxvii. 156 They ought to mounte up to the wyndowes of the houses and upon the thakkes. 1513 DOUGLAS Æneis iv. xii. 53 Spreding fra thak to thak, haith tut and ben. 1524 LD. BACRE Let. to Wolsey in Ellis Orig. Lett. Ser. I. I. 249 Ald Howses wherof the thak and covereings ar taken awey. 1526 in T. West Antiq. Furness (1805) 133 The said tenant to keep his hous tenuantable, upon his own charges, with thake and walle.

†1. The roof of a house or building. Obs.

2. That with which the roof of a house or the like is covered to protect it from the weather; spec. the covering of straw, reeds, or the like disposed so as to carry off the rain: = THATCH sb. 1.

a 900 tr. Bæda's Hist. III. viii. [x.] (1890) 180 Þæs huses hrof..was mid gyrdum awunden & mid þæce þeþeald. Ibid. xiv. [xvi.] (1890) 200 On beannum & on mefrum & on wazum & on wateleum & on ðeacon. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Hom. II. 136 Ða tear þæt hors þæt ðæce of Sære cytan hrofe. 14.. Nom. in WR.-Wülcker 732/23 Hec tectura, thak. 1486 Nottingham

Rec. III. 244 Thak þat the grete wynde blewe of þe house. a 1500 Chaucer's Dreme 1773 That they would ever in houses of thacke, Their lives lead. 1530 PALSGR. 280/1 Thacke of a house, chaume. 1578 BANISTER Hist. Man I 2 To be well adui-sed..before he lay on thack, Tile,..or Plaster. 1641 BEST Farm. Bks. (Surtees) 138 One to drawe thacke, and the other to serve the thacher. 1721 RAMSAY Ode to Mr. F—— 30 Wa's of divots, roof'd wi' thack. 1815 SCOTT Guy Mt. viii. Ye have riven the thack off seven cottar houses. 1869 GEO. ELIOT A. Bede ii. It puts me i' mind o' the swallows as was under the thack last 'ear. Mod. north. dial. Wet as thack.

(In Eng. Dial. Dict. from Scotl. to Oxfordsh., Berksh., and from Worcester to E. Anglia.)

b. The covering of properly disposed straw with which the sloping top of a stack of corn or hay-rick is thatched. Thack and rape (Sc.), this thatching and the straw rope with which it is secured: often used allusively.

1786 BURNS Brigs of Ayr 26 An thack and rape secure the tod-wom crap. 1816 SCOTT Antiq. xxvi, He kens .. wha feeds him, and cleeds him, and keeps a' tight, thack and rape. Ibid. Gloss., Under a thack and rape means snug and comfortable. 1896 Speaker 3 Oct. 353/1 All is secured in the cornyard under 'thack and rap'.

3. transf. Covering (in quot. = skin).

c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints xxxviii (Vincentius) 276 Þane of þe frame he had pim tak, Þat hale had nothir lith na pak.

4. attrib. and Comb., as thack-roof; thack-board, a wooden roofing tile, a shingle; thack-broach = thack-pin, thack-prick, BROACH sb. 5; thack divot (dowat) = thack turf; thack-gate (Sc.): see quot.; thack house, a thatched house; thack-lead, lead with which a roof is covered; thack-nail, -peg, -pin, a sharpened pin or peg used in fastening the thatch on a roof; thack-prick, -prod, a sharpened wand or stick for the securing of thatch; thack-rape (Sc. and north. dial.), a rope (usually of twisted straw) used in fixing the thatch on a rick or cottage roof; thack-stone, a thin flat stone (e.g. Stonesfield slate) used for roofing; thack-tile [OE. þæctigle; cf. G. dachziegel], a roofing tile; thack turf, a roofing turf or sod.

1354 Mem. Ripon (Surtees) III. 91 In ecc de thakbord' emp. pro statuco ecclesiæ. 1375 BARBOUR Bruce iv. 126 (MS. E.) For fyr pat cleir Sotyr throu the thak [v. r. thik] burd can apeir. 1418 in Rogers Agric. & Pr. (1882) III. 402/1 Norwich, Thackboard. 1447-8 Durham Acc. Rolls (Surtees) 186 In repar. mendini..de Thakborde. 1573 In Feuillerat Revels Q. Eliz. (1908) 208 Hookes & eies with thackbroches. 1504 Acc. Ld. H. Treas. Scot. II. 424 For theking of divers houses with thak dowat. 1825 JAMIESON, v. Thack-gate, the sloping edge of the gable-tops of a house, when the thatch covers them; in contradistinction from the wind-skews that are raised higher than the thatch. 1588-8 Hist. Jas. VI (1804) 209 He exposit.. sum of his souldiors to sum 'thak housses besyd the West Port, in a windie nyght, and pat the same in fyre. 1795 RAMSAY Gentle Sheph. ii. i, A snug thack house, before the door a green. 1894 Northumbld. Gloss., 'Thack house'—a thatched house. 1819 W. TENNANT Papistry Stormit (1827) 214 Capper and thack-leaf aff were tane. 1846 BROCKETT N. C. Words (ed. 3), Thack-nail, Thack-peg, Thack-pin, a wooden pin or stob used in fastening thatch to the roof of a building. 1828 Craven Gloss., Thac-&-pricks, sharpened twigs for the securing of thatch. 1876 Holderness Gloss., Thack-prickes, the cords for securing the thatch. 1889 Suppl. to Jamieson, Thack-rape. 1442 Calverley Charters (1904) 253; j acre of soile..where he may get and tak thakstone. 1622 Sc. Acts Jas. VI, c. 26 (1816) II. 727/1 Gif thair be sum saggis wt Sklait, or skailjee, leade, tyild, or Thackstone. 1880 A. L. RITCHIE Ch. St. Baldred 37 The roof of the east end of Whitekirk Church is covered with thackstones. c 1725 Corpus Gloss. (OE.L.) 1043 Imbrices, þæctiglum. 1477 Act 17 Edw. IV, c. 4 Plemitie, autrement nosmer thaktile, roftile, ou crestile. 1610 W. FOLKINGHAM Art of Survey 4 Gallic and Thacke Tiles. c 1800 S. PEGGE Anecd. Eng. Lang. (1863) 279 In Yorkshire they call bricks wall tile, and tiles thack tile. 1576 in Reg. Mag. Sig. Scot. 1580. 20/1 Pro xo8 oneribus focalium..et thak turfis.

Thack (þæk), v.[1] Now dial. Forms: 5–6 (9 dial.) thak, 6 thacke, 7 thake, Sc. thaick, 6–thack. [app. partly (in form thake) from OE. þacian, f. þæc THACK sb. (so MHG., Ger. dachen to roof, from dach): cf. Sc. mak, tak, for make, take; but thak, thack, may also have been a later formation from the sb. See also THATCH v., THEEK v.]

1. intr. To put thatch on houses; = THATCH v. 5. a 1100 Gerefa in Anglia (1888) IX. 261 Ic mecg in Agusto and Septembri and Octobri ðacian, ðeccan and fald weoxian. 1486 Nottingham Rec. III. 247 Paid to a thakker thakkyng on þe same barne. 1523 FITZHERB. Husb. § 27 To mowe theyr stubble, eyther to thacke or to hen. 1523 — Surv. xxx. (1539) 42 He shall bothe thacke and daube at his owne coste. 1641 BEST Farm. Bks. (Surtees) 139 Thatchers allwayes beginne att the eize [eaves], and soe thake upwards till they come to the ridge.

2. trans. To cover (a roof) or roof (a house) with thatch, formerly also with lead, tiles, etc.; = THEEK v. 1; spec. to cover the top of a rick with straw or other material so laid as to carry off the rain.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 490/1 Thakkyn howsys, sartatego, .. sarcitego. 1474 Coventry Leet-bk. 389 Pat no maner man frohensforth thak ne couer his house with strawe nor brome within this Cite. 1530 PALSGR. 754/2 Sythe I can nat tyle my house, I must be fayne to thacke it. 1552 Inv. Ch. Goods (Surtees No. 97) 9 The churche thacked with leade. 1611 SPEED Hist. Gt. Brit. v. iv. § 5. 22 Houses and cottages ..Which, as Diodorus Siculus saith were vsually thacked with reed. 1621 [see thackstone, prec. 1]. 1671 J. FRASER Poltchron. (S.H.S.) 496 Tirr the Kirk to thack the quire. a 1825 FORBY Voc. E. Anglia, Thack, v. to thatch. 1863 MRS. TOGGOOD Yorks. Dial., It will take two threave of strea to thack the hay-stack.

Hence Thacked (þækt) ppl. a., thatched; Tha·cking vbl. sb., the action of thatching; also concr. the material used for the purpose, thatch.

1530 PALSGR. Sorty This is a mete man to sytte on a ·thacked house to scarre away crowes. 1597 1st Pt. Return fr. Parnass. I. i. 134 Some thacked cottage or some cuntrie hall. 1602 and Pt. Return fr. Parnass. v. ii. 2091 True mirth we may enioy in thacked stall. 1828 Craven Gloss., Thack'd, thatched. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 490/1 Thakkynge, sartatectum. 1546 Yorks. Chantry Surv. (Surtees) 168 The reparacion of the belles, thakkyng and other necessaries pertenyng to the sayd churche. 1613 MARKHAM Eng. Husbandman I. x. xxii. (1635) 103 Whole Strawe Wheate.. Husbandmen esteeme it so much for their thacking. c 1680 H. LEIGH in Macfarlane Geog. Collect. (S.H.S.) III. 252 The common and ordinary thacking is of a kind of Divet [= sod].

† 1. trans. To clap (something) on or on a place.

c 1386 CHAUCER Miller's T. 118 Whan Nicholas had doon thus eueridel And thacked [MS. Petw. twakked] hire aboute the lendes weel. — Friar's T. 261 (Hari. MS.) This carter thakketh his hors vpon the croupe.

† b. intr. To beat, to shower blows. Obs.

1480 CAXTON Chron. Eng. ccxliv. 299 Our men of armes and archyers that thakked on hem so thikke with arewes.

† 2. trans. To clap (something) on or on a place.

1514 St. Stephen Hen. VIII, IX. 42 But here he thakked on as many wordes, as he did bifore lawes in the other parte. 1589 R. ROBINSON Gold. Mirr. 31 The thorny thumps that Thought did thacke Within my wofull breast.

3. mod. dial. To THWACK, beat, flog.

1861 QUINN Heather Lintie (1869) 22 (E.D.D.) Ye weel deserve a thackin' For tellin [etc.]. 1904 in Eng. Dial. Dict. (Norf.), He rarely thacked th' old dicky (donkey).

Tha·cker. Now dial. [prob. representing an OE. þæcere, f. þacian to thatch.] One who covers roofs with thatch; a thatcher.

1440 Coventry Leet-bk. 241 The thakker, labourer, dawber, and pelyer. 1486 [see THACK sb.[1] 1]. 1573 TUSSER Husb. (1878) 86 Wheat sold the rie. Such strawe some saue for thacker to haue. 1590 Shuttleworths' Acc. (Chetham Soc.) 62 A thacker at Tyngreve thackinge three dayes, and one to serve him iijs vjd. 1820 Blackw. Mag. Oct. 14/2 Hire two-three thackers to mend the thack on the roofs.

Thackerayan (þæ·kəraiən), a. and sb. [f. proper name Thackeray + -AN.] a. adj. Of or pertaining to, or characteristic of, William Makepeace Thackeray (1811–63) or his works. b. sb. An admirer of Thackeray or his works. So Tha·ckerayesque a., Thackeray·ian a., Tha·ckerayite. (All more or less nonce-wds.)

1861 W. F. COLLIER Hist. Eng. Lit. 491 Those queer, delightful, rambling, thoroughly Thackerayesque Roundabout Papers. 1885 Athenæum 17 Oct. 497/1 All interesting enough, to the professional Thackerayite. 1887 Atlantic Lond. News 22 Jan. 88/2 This is..almost Thackerayian, indeed. 1888 Scott. Leader 3 May 7 A certain cynical humour which is almost 'Thackerayan' in quality.

Thackless, a. Now dial. = THATCHLESS.

1200 Wilkins Conc. Ecclesiæ Ann. Nithsdale Song (1810) 284 Some priest maun preach in a thackless kirk. 1897 LD. E. HAMILTON Outlaws xviii. 209 The auld Redheuch tower stands thakless and woefu' this day.

Thackster (þæ·kstər). Obs. exc. dial. Also 5 thac-, thakstare, 6 thaxster. See also THATCHESTER. [f. THACK v.[1] + -STER.] = THACKER.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 29/2 Brocke for a thacstare, firmaculum. Ibid. 490/1 Thakstare, sartiector. 1533 in Blomefield Hist. Norfolk (1806) III. 206 The Reders, Thaxsters, Rede-sellers, ..with their banner. 1787 W. MARSHALL E. Norf. Gloss. (E.D.S.), Thackster, a thatcher. a 1825 FORBY Voc. E. Anglia, Thacker, Thackster, a thatcher.

Thad, obs. form of THAT rel. pron.

Thae (ðē, ðō), dem. pron. and adj. Sc. and north. dial. Forms: (1–6 þa), 6 thai, 6–7 thay, 6–Sc. thae, thea, 9 thease, n. dial. theea, thee. [Mod. Sc. and north. dial. repr. of OE. and northern ME. þá, þa, midl. and south. ME. Tho. For the phonology cf. mae, nae, sae, twae, whae, = OE. má, ná, swá, twá, hwá, Eng. mo, no, so, two, who.]

The Sc. and north. dial. plural of THAT, = ME. þa, THO; mod. THOSE. a. pron.

1583 Leg. Bp. St. Androis 613 Gude Robert Melvene of Carnebie I sould not racken with thea, Ibid. 2.. Auld Maitland v. in Scott Minstrelsy Sc. Bord., Thou sall hae thae, thou sall hae mae. 1780 J. MAYNE Siller Gun I, Her exultation was expressed In words like thae. 1790 BURNS Tam o'Shanter 151 Now Tam, O Tam! had thae been queans. 1873 MURRAY Dial. S. Scot. 182 Dynna teake theae (Don't take those).

b. adj.

a 1584 MONTGOMERIE Cherrie & Slae 85 To heir thae starling strennis cleir, Me thocht it musique to the eir. 1596 DALRYMPLE tr. Leslie's Hist. Scot. (S.T.S.) I. 22 Pentland it was called, ..evin as this day thae mountains declairis sa named. 1603 Philotus lxxviii, And send to 30w thay claithis wisene. 1786 BURNS Dream iv, Thae bonny hairns time, Heav'n has lent. 1826 J. WILSON Nocl. Ambr. Wks. 1855 I. 286 Thae broad vine-leaves hingin in the veranda. 1837 R. NICOLL Poems (1843) 76 But thae hames are gane. 1904 Eng. Dial. Dict. (N. Yorksh.), Wheea's thease tweea bairns? (Northumb.) Thee kye; thee folk.

Thæh, pæh, early ME. form of THOUGH.

Thæm, þæm, OE. inf. of THE, THAT; f. THEM.

Thær, þær, obs. form of THERE, THEIR.

Thæs, obs. infl. of THE, THAT; obs. f. THERE.

Thæse, obs. var. of THIS, THOSE.

Thafe, variant of THAVE v. Obs.

Thaff, obs. f. THOUGH; erron. f. TEFF.

Thaft, Sc. f. thought, THOFT (rower's seat).

Thag, Thagi, var. THUG, THUGGEE.

Thagh, thaa, þagh, þaih, obs. ff. THOUGH.

Thai, obs. form of THEY; obs. Sc. f. THAE.

† Thaie, thaye, dem. pron. and adj. Obs. Forms: 1 þæge, ðæge, 3 þaie, þaye. [Late OE. þæge, of obscure origin and history.

Generally held to be ad. ON. þeir, with r dropped (as in Ormin's þegg, They), and with -e added, after plurals like eníe, sunne, swyke. But the local distribution of the word does not favour a Norse origin.]

1. dem. (or pers.) pron. = THOSE (THEY, THEM).

c 1000 Ags. Gosp. John x. 16 Hit þæhyraþ þæt ic læde þæge (Hatton G. þa hyder) & hig þæhyraþ mine stefne. Ibid. xiv. 12 He wyrcð maran þonne þæge syrgn (MS. A. þa synd). a 1100 MS. C.C.C.C. (Corpus) No. 178 Þæge werun on frumum & Godes ordne..rescenpene. a 1100 Salomon & Sat. (Kemble) 180 Saga me, hwæt hatton ðæge? c 1275 LAY. 18474 Þaie [c 1205 heo] were amorwe alle idon to deaþe. Ibid. 28516 Þaie he habbe nolde. a 1300 Cursor M. 10000 (Edin.) Ful mani a torfer suffrid þaie [Cott. G., pai, Trin. þei].

b. as antecedent.

c 1275 LAY. 4240 Alle þaie [c 1205 þa] þat astode hii fulde to grunde. Ibid. 20775 Þaye þat her bi-geteþ eft hii leoseþ.

2. dem. adj. = THOSE (sometimes = THE).

1514 St. Stephen Gog. Luke xi. 5 (Verg. note) Dis scest to gangdon þæge twegen daȝas. c 1205 LAY. 12644 He sende his sonde..æfter..alle þaie ihade gomes. Ibid. 19541 Alle þaie halȝen þa an hæfenene hæhȝe sitteð [so 15015]. Ibid. 20965 Þaie ilærde men heo laiden on gleden. c 1275 Ibid. 4532 Þæ..ferde..to-seines þaie sipes. Ibid. 16008 Wat bi-toneþ þaie drakes [c 1205 þa draken]?

† Thail, thayl, thell, obs. forms of TAEL.

1662 J. DAVIES tr. Mandelslo's Trav. i. (1669) 68 A Theil of Silver. Ibid. 11. 106 Black Lacque, at ten Thails the Pieol. Ibid. 247 Forty seven thousand Thayls, for crowns.

Thaim, -e, obs. and dial. forms of THEM.

Thain, -e, obs. forms of THANE, THEGN.

Thair, Sc. f. THAR v. impers., to need; var. THIR Obs., this, these; obs. Sc. f. THERE, q. v., also in Comb.: see THEREABOUT, etc.

Thair, -e, -es, obs. or Sc. ff. THEIR, -S. Thairf, var. THARF. Thairm, Sc. f. THARM, intestine.

Thais(e, Thaive: see THOSE, THEAVE.

Thak, thakk(e, obs. and dial. var. THACK.

† Tha·kin, a., those kind (of): see THO and KIN 1 6, 13.. Cursor M. 27282 In þakin thinges. (Cf. Those II. 2 c.)

‖ Thakur, thakoor (tʰā·kur). East Ind. [a. Hindī thākur, Skr. thā·kkura a deity.] A word meaning Lord, used as a title and term of respect (cf. dominus, don, seigneur, etc.); also applied to a chief or noble, esp. of the Rajpoot race.

1800 Misc. Tracts in Asiat. Ann. Reg. 312/1 Burwarrah, which belongs to a Thakur named Bickermajeet. 1844 H. H. WILSON Brit. India II. x. II. 429 Under an active and prudent Raja the Thakurs might be subjected to control. 1862 BEVERIDGE Hist. India VII. 11. The leading thakoors or chiefs. 1895 MRS. CROKER Village T. 125 She was married to the heir of a rich thakur. 1904 Q. Rev. July 234 He commended the Thakors for their consistent support.

Hence Tha·kurate, the district or territory pertaining to a thakur.

1901 Mission Record United Free Ch. Scot. Aug. 363/2 Adjoining thakurates will share the boon.

Thalam, -ame (þæ·lām), rare. [ad. L. thalamus: see THALAMUS.] A nuptial chamber.

1791 W. BARTRAM Carolina 446 A booth or pavilion.. formed of green boughs..was the secret nuptial chamber.. no one presuming to approach the sacred, mysterious thalame.

‖ Thalamencephalon (þæ·lāmenseˈfālən). Anat. [f. THALAM(O- + ENCEPHALON.] That part of the brain which develops from the posterior part of the anterior cerebral vesicle, and includes the optic thalami, optic nerves, and parts about the third ventricle. Also called diencephalon, middle brain, etc. Also anglicized Thalamencephal, 1875 HUXLEY in Encycl. Brit. I. 767/1 The optic nerves are attached, as usual, to the floor of the thalamencephalon. 1875 HUXLEY & MARTIN Elem. Biol. (1883) 185 The fore-brain, which..comprises three divisions; the thalamencephalon the cerebral hemispheres, and the olfactory lobes. 1891 Cent. Dict., Thalamencephal.

Hence Tha·lamencepha·lic (-sfæˈlik), a. Anat., of or pertaining to the thalamencephalon.

Thalamic (þālæˈmik, þæ·lāmik), a. [ad. mod. L. thalamic-us: see THALAMUS and -IC.] Of or pertaining to a thalamus; in Anat., pertaining to the optic thalamus.

1860 MAYNE Expos. Lex., Thalamicus, Bot., applied by Lestibondois to the insertion which takes place upon the receptacle: thalamic. 1890 BILLINGS Nat. Med. Dict., Thalamic nuclei, special collections of gray matter within the optic thalamus. 1893 W. R. GOWERS Dis. Nerv. Syst. (ed. 2) II. 394 Internal thalamic hæmorrhage. 1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VII. 615 Hæmorrhage in the thalamic region.

Thalamifloral (pæ·lămĭflō·răl), a. Bot. [f. mod.L. Thalamifloræ, De Candolle 18..(f. THALAMUS + L. flōs, flōr- flower) + -AL. Cf. F. thalamiflore.] Belonging to the sub-class Thalamifloræ of dicotyledons, in which the stamens are inserted on the thalamus or receptacle; hypogynous. So Thalamiflo·rous a.

1827 HENFREY Bot. § 454 Some Thalamiflorous Orders. Ibid. § 478 Parietal Thalamifloral Orders. 1872 OLIVER Elem. Bot. I. v. 58 Thalamifloral..as Buttercup and Wallflower. 1880 GRAY Struct. Bot. ix. § 2. 340 Thalamiflorous, petals (distinct) and stamens on the torus, i.e. free.

Thalamite (pæ·lămōit). Gr. Antiq. [ad. Gr. θαλαμίτης, f. θάλαμος inner chamber, one of the compartments of a ship.] In the ancient trireme, a rower in one of the tiers of rowers, generally supposed to be that which occupied the lowest bench; but the actual arrangement is disputed: see quots. Cf. THRANITE, ZYGITE.

1886 Encycl. Brit. XXI. 806/2 Behind the zygite sat the thalamite, or oarsman of the lowest bank. 1906 Athenæum 7 Apr. 429/2 The three orders of rowers..there seems little reason to doubt..refer to the parts into which the ship was longitudinally divided..the thalamites [being] in the bows.

‖ Thalamium (pălē·mĭăm). Bot. [mod.L. dim. of THALAMUS.] (See quot. 1866.)

1861 BENTLEY Man. Bot. (1870) 375 The body of the apothecium constitutes the thalamium. 1866 Treas. Bot., Thalamium, a hollow case containing spores in algals; also the disk or lamina proliferа of lichens, and a form of the hymenium in fungals.

Thalamo- (pæ·lămō), before a vowel thalam-, combining form of Gr. θάλαμος THALAMUS, used as a formative in some anatomical words. Thalamocœle (pæ·lămōsēl) [Gr. κοιλία cavity, ventricle], the cavity of the thalamencephalon; the third ventricle of the brain. Tha·lamocru·ral a., of or pertaining to the optic thalamus and to the crus cerebri (CRUS 2 b). See also THALAMENCEPHALON.

1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Thalamocœle, cavity of thalamencephalon. The thalamic cœlia, or third ventricle. Ibid., Thalamocrural.

‖ Thalamus (pæ·lămŭs). Pl. -mi (-mai). Also (in sense 3) in Gr. form thalamos. [L. thalamus, a. Gr. θάλαμος an inner chamber.]

1. Anat. A part of the brain at which a nerve originates or appears to originate; spec. the OPTIC thalamus.

[1704 J. HARRIS Lex. Techn. I, Thalami Nervorum Opticorum, are two Prominences of the lateral Ventricles of the Cerebrum; so call'd, because the Optick Nerves rise out of them.] 1756 Gentl. Mag. XXVI. 517/1 The thalami here appeared very thin, and the pia mater..was overspread with blood-vessels of an unusual size. 1856 TODD & BOWMAN Phys. Anat. II. 58 Each tract adheres to the outer side of its corresponding thalamus for some distance. 1879 St. George's Hosp. Rep. IX. 513 An abscess..in the right optic thalamus, opening just behind the tænia.

2. Bot. a. The receptacle of a flower, on which the carpels are placed; the torus. b. See quot. 1842. 1751 CHAMBERS Cycl. Suppl., Thalamus, in botany, a term used to express that part of the flower..where the embryo fruits..are lodged, and where afterwards the seeds are contained. 1766 LEE Introd. Bot. Gloss., Thalamus, ..the Receptacle. 1842 Penny Cycl. XXIV. 274/1 Thalamus is also used in Cryptogamic botany, in common with Thallus, to express the bed of fibres from which many fungi spring up. 1861 BENTLEY Man. Bot. (1870) 208 The extremity of the peduncle or pedicel..is called the Thalamus, or some times, but improperly, the Receptacle.

3. Archæol. An inner or secret chamber.

1850 LEITCH tr. C. O. Müller's Anc. Art § 48 The thalami, secret chambers for the women. 1884 Times 15 Aug. 4 The same pattern as that found on the roof of the thalamos.

Thalassal (pălæ·săl), a. rare. [f. Gr. θάλασσα sea + -AL.] = THALASSIC (in quot. in sense 2).

1887 Proc. Boston Nat. Hist. Soc. 417 The time required for the accumulation of such a stratum in the thalassal seas is probably great.

Thalassarctine: see THALASSO-.

Thalassian (pălæ·siăn), a. and sb. [f. Gr. θαλάσσι-ος marine, f. θάλασσα sea + -AN.]

A. adj. Of or pertaining to the sea, marine; spec. applied to the marine tortoises and turtles.

1850 BROWNING Notebk. Nat. x. (1852) 264 Nature has modified the Chelonian type into the Thalassian shape.

Comb. 1859 BROWNING Ring & Bk. IX. 893 Pompilia ..Springs to her feet, and stands Thalassian-pure.

B. sb. A marine tortoise or turtle.

1850 BROWNING Notebk. Nat. x. (1852) 276 And now a few words on the natural history and capture of some of these Thalassians. 1900 F. T. BULLEN Idylls of Sea 164 The Thalassians or oceanic tortoises, from which alone our supplies are drawn.

† Thala·ssiarch Obs. rare—°. [f. Gr. θαλάσσι-ος marine, maritime + -αρχος ruling, ruler.] Hence † Thala·ssiarchy Obs. rare—°. (See quots.)

1656 BLOUNT Glossogr., Thalassiarch, an Admiral or chief Officer at sea. 1727 BAILEY vol. II, Thalassiarchy, the Admiralship, or the office of the Admiral.

Thalassic (pălæ·sĭk), a. [ad. F. thalassique (Brongniart 1829), f. Gr. θάλασσα sea: see -IC.]

1. Of or pertaining to the sea; growing or living in, or formed in or by the sea; marine. † In Geol. applied after Brongniart to strata supposed to be of marine formation (obs.).

1880 MAYNE Expos. Lex., Thalassicus, Geol., applied by Brongniart to the strata of superior sediment, as those found from the surface of the earth to the limestone exclusively: thalassic. 1890 Cent. Dict. s. v. Littoral, Deposits ..formed in deep water, or thalassic rocks. 1897 MARY KINGSLEY W. Africa 423 Agnes rouses me from my thalassic couch and suggests Mass at 5.30 a.m.

2. Pertaining to the (smaller or inland) seas as distinct from the pelagic waters or oceans.

1883 J. R. SEELEY Expans. Eng. 87 [see POTAMIC]. Ibid., European civilization passed from the thalassic to the oceanic state. 1884 Q. Rev. July 140 He [Lord Dufferin] seems to have grasped the oceanic rather than the thalassic nature of our Empire. 1899 Times 9 Jan. 6 The thalassic civilization of the Mediterranean.

So + Thala·ssical a. Obs. rare—°. (see quot.).

1656 BLOUNT Glossogr., Thalassical, of a blew colour like the sea-waves, sea-green or blew.

Thalassin (pălæ·sĭn). Chem. [See -IN 1.] A poison found in the tentacles of sea-anemones.

1909 in Cent. Dict. Suppl.

Thalassi·nian, a. and sb. [f. mod.L. Thalassina + -IAN.] a. adj. Of or pertaining to the Thalassinidæ, a family of long-tailed decapod crustaceans, the scorpion-lobsters. b. sb. A crustacean of this family. So Thala·ssinoid a.

1842 Penny Cycl. XXIV. 274/2 Mr. Milne Edwards arranges the family of Thalassinians, or Burrowing Macrura, between the Scyllarians and the Astacians. Ibid., Cryptobranchids,..all the Thalassinians which are without respiratory appendages suspended under the abdomen.

Thala·ssi(o- (pălæ·s(ō), Thala·ssi(o-, from Gr. θάλασσα sea, and θαλάσσι-ος marine, formative elements of learned words. Thalassa·rctine a. Zool. [Gr. ἄρκτ-ος a bear], of or pertaining to the Polar Bear, Thalassarctos. Thalassico·llidan [Gr. κόλλα glue], a. belonging to the Thalassicollidæ, a family of single-celled radiolarians; sb. a radiolarian of this family. Thala·ssio-, Thala·ssophyte [-PHYTE], a plant of the Thalassiophyta (see quot.); a seaweed, a marine alga; hence Thalassio·phytous a., belonging to the Thalassiophyta. Thalasso·meter [-METER], a tide-gauge. Thalassometri·cian nonce-wd., one who measures the sea. Thalasso·philous a. [-PHIL], fond of the sea, living in the sea. Thalassopho·bia, a morbid dread of the sea. Thalassothe·rapy: see quot. See also THALASSOCRACY, etc.

1842 Penny Cycl. XXIV. 277/1 *Thalassiophytes..is the name given by Lamouroux to designate the vegetable productions of the ocean..It is equivalent to the term Hydrophytes of Lingbye, and the..Marine Algæ. 1900 B. D. JACKSON Gloss. Bot. Terms, Thalassophyte. 1898 SIMMONDS Dict. Trade, Thalassometer, a tide-gauge. 1652 NEEDHAM tr. Selden's Mare Cl. 5, I have heard of a Geometrician, or one that could measure Land; but never of a *Thalassometrician, one that could measure or lay out Bounds in the Sea. 1891 Cent. Dict., *Thalassophilous. 1897 tr. Ribot's Psychol. Emotions ii. ii. 213 Every morbid manifestation of fear is immediately fitted with a Greek designation,..and we have aicmophobia, thalassophobia, thassophobia, potmophobia, etc. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Thalassotherapy, treatment of disease by sea bathing, sea voyages, etc.

Thalassocracy (pælĕsō·grăsi). Rarely -cratry. [ad. Gr. θαλασσοκρατία, f. θάλασσα sea + -κρατία, -CRACY.] Mastery at sea; the sovereignty of the sea.

1846 GROTE Greece I. xx. II. 151 The legendary thalassocracy of Minos. 1880 E. HEAD Guide Coins x Hedade Brit. Mus. 6 The Phocæan Thalassocracy lasted from about 602–558 B.C. 1903 Cornh. Mag. Feb. 258 The existence of the Phœnician thalassocracy can be proved in detail.

Thalassocrat (pălæ·sŏkræt). [f. after prec.: see -CRAT.] One who has the mastery of the sea.

1846 GROTE Greece I. xii. I. 321 An attempt on the part of the green thalassocrat to conquer Sicily. 1847 Ibid. ii. xxxiii. IV. 327 The earliest of all Grecian thalassokrats or sea kings. 1905 G. G. A. MURRAY in Q. Rev. Apr. 352 At present England is the thalassocrat.

Thalassography (pælĕsŏ·grăfi). [f. THALASSO- + -GRAPHY. Cf. med.Gr. θαλασσογράφος describing the sea.] The branch of physical geography which treats of the sea, its configuration and phenomena; oceanography.

1888 A. AGASSIZ [title] Contribution to American Thalassography. 1888 Times 7 Apr. 5/2 The necessity for some such term as oceanography or thalassography is significant of the vast progress which has been made during the past 20 years in our knowledge of the ocean depths.

Hence Thalasso·grapher, a student or investigator of thalassography; Thala·ssogra·phic, -ical adjs., of or pertaining to thalassography.

1881 GIGLIOLI in Nature 18 Aug. 358/1 The war-steamer of the Italian Royal Navy Washington..left Maddalena on the 2nd inst. on her thalassographic mission. 1900 Ibid. 4 Jan. 225/1 Thalassographic researches in the Mediterranean. 1893 Smithsonian Inst. Rep. (1894) 370 note, Biological and thalassographical investigations.

Thalatto- (pălæ·tŏ), combining form from Gr. θάλατται, Attic for θάλασσα sea, = THALASSO-, as in Thalattocracy (-ŏ·krăsi), Thalattocratic (-ŏ·krăti) = THALASSOCRACY; Thalattology, that branch of science which treats of the sea.

1839 T. MITCHELL Frogs of Aristoph. Introd. 80 The first thalattocracy which the history of the world supplies. 1874 Proc. Physical Soc. Lond. 7 Nov. I. 53 A sufficient theory of thalattology. 1886 Eng. Hist. Rev. I. 626 To reduce the Kyklades and establish a thalattokraty.

Thale-cress (pā·l,kres). [f. thale, ad. mod.L. thaliana adj. (f. Thal the name of a German physician, 1542–83) + CRESS.] A book-name of Stysymbrium thalianum (Arabis thaliana, Linn.), N.O. Cruciferæ, a small herb, bearing small white flowers. Also called Thale Rock-cress.

1778 LIGHTFOOT Flora Scot. I. 358 Thale's Cress, or coded Mouse-ear. 1835 HOOKER Brit. Flora (ed. 3) I. 307 [Stysymbrium] thalianum, (common Thale-cress).

‖ Thaler (tä·lər). [G. thaler DOLLAR.] A German silver coin; a dollar: see DOLLAR 1.

1787 MATY tr. Riesbeck's Trav. Germ. I. xviii. 204 Making a Baile's Dictionary..the true price of which is five guineas, sell at Vienna for 100 thaler. 1838 SIMMONDS Dict. Trade, Thaler, a German coin of 30 silver grosschen, worth about 3*s.* sterling. 1864 CARLYLE Frederk. Gt. XVII. v. IV. 371 'Let my ducat be a Joachimsthal one, then!'..'a Joachimsthal-er'; or for brevity, a 'Thaler'; whence Thaler, and at last Dollar.

Thalerophagous (pælĕrŏ·făgəs), a. Entom. [f. Gr. θαλερός blooming, fresh + -φάγος eating + -OUS] Feeding on fresh vegetable substances.

1819 MACLEAY Horæ Entomol. I. 27 Thalerophagous insects, or such as live on green or fresh vegetable food. 1826 KIRBY & SP. Entomol. III. xxxvi. 604 The saprophagous tribes of Mr. W. S. MacLeay are commonly of a more dark and dismal aspect and colour than those which feed upon such as are living and fresh, denominated thalerophagous by the same learned author. 1840 SWAINSON & SHUCKARD Hist. Insects II. vi. 221 The thalerophagous groups.

‖ Thalia (pălōi·ă). [a. Gr. θάλεια ('luxuriant, blooming', f. θάλλειν to bloom).]

1. The eighth of the Muses, presiding over comedy and idyllic poetry; also, one of the three Graces, patroness of festive meetings.

1696 in BLOUNT Glossogr. 1711 SHAFTESB. Charac. (1737) I. 317 The Thalia's, the Polyhymnia's, the Terpsychore's, the Euterpe's willingly join their parts. 1799 CAMPBELL Pleas. Hope ii. 168 Turn to the gentler melodies that suit Thalia's harp, or Pan's Arcadian lute.

2. Bot. A genus of aquatic herbaceous plants, N.O. Marantaceæ, natives of tropical America.

1756 P. BROWNE Jamaica (1789) 112. 1898 DARWIN in Life & Lett. (1887) II. 287 In Thalia cross-fertilization is ensured by the wonderful movements, if bees visit several flowers.

† 3. Zool. An old synonym of the genus SALPA 2.

1756 P. BROWNE Jamaica (1789) 384 The Thalia, with a square erect crest..The Thalia, with a rounded depressed crest. 1842 BRANDE Dict. Sci., etc., Thalidians, Thalidiæ..the name of a tribe of Tunicates, of which the genus Salpa or Thalia is the type.

b. A genus of coleopterous insects.

1838 F. W. HOPE Coleopterist's Man. II. 70.

4. Astron. The twenty-third of the Asteroids.

Thaliacean (pălĭ,ē·shăn), a. and sb. Zool. [f. mod.L. Thaliacea (f. Thalia: see prec. 3) + -AN.] a. adj. Of or pertaining to the Thaliacea, an order of tunicates, including the Salpidæ, etc. b. sb. A member of this order.

[1888 ROLLESTON & JACKSON Anim. Life 441 The Thaliacea are free-swimming, and more or less barrel-shaped..The test is very thin and delicate..The muscle fibres..[are] arranged in circular hoops round the barrel-shaped body.]

Thalian (pălōi·ăn, pălĭ·lĭăn), a. [f. THALIA + -AN.] Of or pertaining to Thalia as the muse of pastoral and comic poetry; hence, of the nature of comedy, comic.

1854 in WEBSTER. 1882 J. WALKER Scotch Poems 100 My wit can whipple Thro' Thalian songs like Kate Dalrymple.

Thalictrine (pălĭ·ktrəin). Chem. [f. next + -INE 5.] A crystalline alkaloid contained in Thalictrum macrocarpum, in poisonous action resembling aconitin but less violent.

1881 DOASSANS in Jrnl. Chem. Soc. XL. 52.

‖ Thali·ctrum. Bot. [L. thalictrum (Pliny), a. Gr. θάλικτρον.] A genus of perennial herbs (N.O. Ranunculaceæ), bearing panicles, corymbs, or racemes of green, white, or yellow flowers, without petals or involucre. There are several species, of which three are British, T. flavum being the Common Meadow Rue; T. aquilegifolium is an Alpine species, known as the Feather Columbine.

1664 EVELYN Kal. Hort., May (1729) 205 Flowers in Prime,..Prunella, purple Thalictrum. 1741 Compl. Fam.-Piece ii. iii. (ed. 3) 373 Feverfew, Thalictrum of several kinds. 1883 Century Mag. Oct. 819/1 I saw the dainty thalictrum, with its clover-like leaves, standing in thickets there, fresh and green.

Thallidan: see THALIA 3, quot. 1842.

Thallene (pæ·lēn). Chem. [f. Gr. θάλλειν to bloom + -ENE.] (See quot. 1881.)

1872 H. MORROW in Chem. News 6 Dec. 272/2 The above described body, which I call thallene hereafter. 1881 WATTS Dict. Chem. VIII. 1918 Thallene, a solid hydrocarbon, isomeric with anthracene, obtained from the last products which pass over in the distillation of American petroleum. It is distinguished by a splendid green fluorescence.

Thallic (pæ·lĭk), a. Chem. [f. THALLI-UM + -IC.] Of, pertaining to, or derived from thallium; spec. applied to compounds containing thallium in smaller proportion, relatively to oxygen, than thallious compounds. Thallic oxide = Thallium trioxide, $Tl_2O_3$.

1868 WATTS Dict. Chem. V. 750 In solutions of thallic salts, the thallium may be estimated by reducing the thallic to thallious salts with an alkaline sulphite. 1873 — Fownes' Chem. (ed. 11) 412 The Trichloride or Thallic Chloride.

Thalliferous (pælĭ·fĕrəs), a. [f. as prec. + -FEROUS.] Bearing or containing thallium.

1869 Ure's Dict. Arts, etc. III. 889 A very considerable amount of the thalliferous deposit. 1868 WATTS Dict. Chem. V. 742 In burning thalliferous pyrites for the purpose of manufacturing sulphuric acid.

Thalliform (pæ·lĭfɔm), a. Bot. [f. THALL-US + -FORM.] Having the form of a thallus.

1891 in Cent. Dict.

Thaline (pæ·lən), sb. Pharm. Also -in. [f. Gr. θάλλ-ειν to bloom + -INE [5].] A trade name for a colourless compound used as an antipyretic, obtained by the reduction of the corresponding chinoline derivative.

Chemically it is tetra-hydroparamethoxyquinoline, $CH_3OC_9H_7 \begin{cases} CH_2 . CH_3 \\ NH . CH_3 \end{cases}$.

1885-8 FAGGE & PYE-SMITH Princ. Med. (ed. 2) I. 205 Thallin (the sulphate or tartrate of tetra-hydro-parachinanisol) is, I am disposed to think, as efficient or more so [than Antipyrin], and safer. 1898 Allbutt's Syst. Med. V. 234.

b. attrib. Thaline periodide, thaline sulphate: see quotes; thaline urine, urine affected by the use of thaline.

1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Thaline periodide, T. periodosulphate. (Not official.) A combination of iodine and thaline sulphate. Black and crystalline... Thaline sulphate... The sulphate of a synthetically prepared base derived from chinoline... A yellowish white crystalline powder, with an odour [like] coumarin, and an aromatic bitter taste.

Thalline (pæ·lən), a. Bot. [f. THALLUS + -INE [1].] Of or pertaining to a thallus.

Thalline exciplulum or exciple, an excipulum composed of a portion of the thallus, which surrounds it and forms a bowl-like rim. (Bennett & Dyer tr. Sachs' Bot. (1875) 265.)

1856 W. L. LINDSAY Pop. Hist. Brit. Lichens 45 This thalline fringe is very conspicuous. 1871 W. A. LEIGHTON Lichen-Flora 179 Thalline margin entire.

Thallous (pæ·lləs), a. Chem. [f. THALL-IUM + -OUS.] Abounding in thallium; spec. containing thallium in greater proportion, relatively to oxygen, than thallic compounds. Thallious oxide = Thallium monoxide, $Tl_2O$.

1868 WATTS Dict. Chem. V. 749 Thallic salts are easily distinguished from thallious salts by their behaviour with alkalis. Ibid. 750 [see THALLIC]. 1873 — Fownes' Chem. (ed. 11) 412 Thallious Iodide, $Tl_2I_2$, is formed by direct combination of its elements, or by double decomposition.

†Tha·llite. Min. Obs. [a. F. thallite (J. C. Delaméthérie, 1792), f. Gr. θάλλ-ειν to flourish, bloom, or θαλλός young shoot (in allusion to its colour) + -ITE [1].] A rejected name for EPIDOTE occurring in yellowish-green crystals.

1802 BOURNON in Phil. Trans. XCII. 291 The substance called thallite (the epidote of the Abbé Hauy). 1868 DANA Min. (ed. 5) 284 Thallite... was rejected because it was based on a varying character, color.

Thallium (pæ·lĭəm). [f. Gr. θαλλ-ός a green shoot (θάλλ-ειν to bloom), from the brilliant green line distinguishing its spectrum + -IUM.] A rare metal, bluish white in colour with leaden lustre, extremely soft and almost devoid of tenacity or elasticity; occurring in small quantities in iron and copper pyrites. Atomic weight 204; symbol Tl.

1861 CROOKES in Chem. News 16 March, 111, 193 On the Existence of a New Element. Ibid. 18 May 303 I have thought..to propose for it the provisional name of Thallium, from the Greek θαλλός, or Latin thallus, a budding twig.. which I have chosen as the green line which it communicates to the spectrum recals with peculiar vividness the fresh colour of vegetation at the present time. 1871 ROSCOE Elem. Chem. 262 Thallium was discovered in 1861 by Crookes, by means of spectrum analysis, in the deposit in the flue of a pyrites burner. 1874 tr. Lommel's Light 114 The splendid green light of Thallium is more strongly refracted than the yellow light of Sodium.

b. attrib. and Comb., as thallium alloy, spectrum; thallium glass, a variety of glass of great density and refracting power, in the manufacture of which thallium is used instead of lead or potassium; thallium green, the colour of the thallium line, the vivid green line of the thallium spectrum.

1868 WATTS Dict. Chem. V. 745 The length of the wave of the green thallium-line is 0·0005348 millimetre. Ibid., Thallium-salts are highly poisonous. Ibid. 758 Thallium-glass.

Thallodic (pælə·dĭk), a. Bot. [f. THALLUS + -ODE + -IC.] Formed like, of the nature of, or pertaining to a thallus. So Thallodal (-ə·dəl) a.

1860 MAYNE Expos. Lex., Thallodic. 1871 W. A. LEIGHTON Lichen-Flora 275 Thallodal margin persistent.

Thallogen (pæ·lədʒen). Bot. [f. THALL-US + -GEN, after exogen, endogen, etc.] = THALLOPHYTE.

1846 LINDLEY Veg. Kingd. 2 Those simpler plants which exist without the distinction of leaf and stem, are also destitute of flowers... Among the many names that Botanists have given such plants, that of Thallogens is here preferred. 1891 BENNETT Cryptog. Bot. § 56 The Thallogens (plants in which there is a fusion of root, stems, and leaves into one general mass). 1898 CARPENTER Veg. Phys. § 123.

Hence Thalloge·nic, Thallo·genous adjs., of or pertaining to the thallogens; of the nature of a thallogen.

1854 BALFOUR in Encycl. Brit. (ed. 8) V. 146/1 Lichens.. belong to the Thallogenous division of Cryptogamics. 1857 H. MILLER Test. Rocks i. 9 The first class.. in the ascending order is this humble thallogenic class.

Thalloid (pæ·loid), a. Bot. [f. THALL-US + -OID.] Of the form of a thallus. Sō Thallo·idal a.

1857 HENFREY Bot. § 318 A lobed, green, thalloid stem. Ibid. § 321 The Thalloid Hepaticæ have a broad, more or less succulent lobed leaf-like expansion in place of stem and leaf. 1875 BENNETT & DYER tr. Sachs' Bot. 160 In Thallophytes and thalloid Hepaticæ, dichotomy is very widely prevalent. 1900 B. D. JACKSON Gloss. Bot. T., Thalloidal.

Thallome (pæ·lōum). Bot. [ad. mod.L. thallōma, f. thall-us + -oma: cf. rhizome.] = THALLUS.

1875 BENNETT & DYER tr. Sachs' Bot. 121 The thallome of Stypocaulon..shows how the apical cell of the lateral shoot grows immediately from the apical cell of the principal process as a lateral protuberance. Ibid. 130 It is now agreed to apply to those vegetable structures in which the morphological distinction of stem and leaves cannot be carried out..(and from which true roots are always absent), the morphological term Thallus or Thallome.

Thallophyte (pæ·lōfōit). Bot. [f. mod.L. Thallophyta, pl. f. Gr. θαλλό-ς green twig + φυτόν plant.] A plant belonging to the lowest of the great groups in the vegetable kingdom, comprising those of which the vegetative body is a thallus, including Algæ, Fungi, and Lichens; a cellular cryptogam; = Lindley's THALLOGEN.

1854 BALFOUR in Encycl. Brit. (ed. 8) V. 146/2 These tribes, from having no foliaceous axis but simply a cellular expansion, have been called Thallogens or Thallophytes. 1875 BENNETT & DYER tr. Sachs' Bot. 207 Thallophytes. Under this term are comprised Algæ and Fungi (Lichens being also included in the latter section). 1885 GOODALE Physiol. Bot. (1892) 164.

Hence Thallophytic (-fi·tĭk) a. Bot., of or pertaining to the thallophytes. 1891 in Cent. Dict.

Tha·llose, a. Bot. = THALLOID.

1900 in B. D. JACKSON Gloss. Bot. T.

Thallous (pæ·ləs), a. Chem. [f. THALL-IUM + -OUS: cf. encycl. Brit. XXIII. 220/1 Thallic salts are related to thallous pretty much as manganic are to manganous... Thallous chloride.

‖ Thallus (pæ·lĭs). Bot. [L. thallus, a. Gr. θαλλός a green shoot, f. θάλλ-ειν to bloom.] A vegetable structure without vascular tissue, in which there is no differentiation into stem and leaves, and from which true roots are absent.

1829 LOUDON Encycl. Pl. (1836) 874 (Lichenes)..the thallus ..is either pulverulent, crustaceous, membranous, foliaceous, or branched and shrub-like. 1846 LINDLEY Veg. Kingd. 2 A thallus is a fusion of root, stem and leaves, into one general mass. 1854 THOREAU Walden xvii. (1857) 326 The lobed and imbricated thalluses of some lichens. 1875 J. H. BALFOUR in Encycl. Brit. I. 208/1 Algæ..consist of a brown, red, or green, flattened, cellular, leaf-like expansion, called a thallus.

b. attrib. and Comb.

1851 BENTLEY Man. Bot. 67 Such are .. termed Cormophytes or stem-producing plants, to distinguish them from the thallus-forming plants or Thallophytes. 1875 BENNETT & DYER tr. Sachs' Bot. 160 The flat extension of the thallus or thallus-like stem. Ibid. 130 In contradistinction to Thallus-plants (Thallophytes), all plants in which leaves can be..distinguished might be termed Phyllophytes.

Thalmud, -ist, obs. forms of TALMUD, -IST.

‖ Thalweg (tā·lveg, -vēg·). Geog. [Ger. thalweg bottom path of a valley, f. thal valley (see DALE) + weg WAY. Also in Fr. (1815 Traité de Paris, Littré).] The line in the bottom of a valley in which the slopes of the two sides meet, and which forms a natural watercourse; also the line following the deepest part of the bed or channel of a river or lake.

1862 WALLACE Hugo's Misérables v. xxii, The grand sewer running along the thalweg of the valley. 1881 Harper's Mag. LXIV. 275 Thalweg..is a German geographical term, employed in the records of the congress of Berlin, which designates the line of lowest level formed by the two opposite slopes of a valley. 1894 (May 12) Agreement, betw. Gt. Brit. & Congo State in Parl. Papers Eng. XCVI. 26 Thence it [the boundary] shall follow the 'thalweg' of the Nile southwards to Lake Albert. 1897 Educat. Rev. XIII. 89 This thalweg which forms a nearly continuous waterway from the Volga to the Amur.

Tham, obs. f. THEM; obs. dat. sing. and pl. of THAT, THE.

Thamarike, Thamarind, obs. ff. TAMARISK, TAMARIND. Thame, obs. f. TEAM; Sc. f. THEM.

Thames (temz). Forms: 1 Temes, 1-5 Temese, (4-5 Th-), 5 Temze, Temeze (Tamise), 6 Temys, Temmes(se, Themes, -ys, Themise, Thamyse, 6-7 Thamise, 6- Thames. [OE. Temese :—Tamīsa, ad. L. Tamēsa, Tamēsis, ad. Brit. Tamēsa: cf. Welsh Tafwys, F. Tamise.] The name of the river on which London is situated: also attrib. and Comb., as in Thames boat, Thamesside; Thames-built, -derived adjs.

c893 K. ÆLFRED Oros. v. xii, § 2 Neah þære ie þe mon hiet Themese. 1175 LAMB. Ps. Pl. B. xn. 16 Take two stronge men and in themese caste hem. c 1450 Sloane MS. 73. lf. 214 (Halliw.) Put therto tweyne galones of clene Temese water that is taken at an ebbe. 1503 Rolls of Parl. VI. 527/2 A Ryvere called the Thamyse, otherwyse called the Temmese. 1649 LOVELACE To Althea ii, When flowing cups run swiftly round With no allaying Thames [i. e. water]. 1688 R. HOLME Armoury III. xv. (Roxb.) 26/1 He beareth Azure, a Skuller, or a Thamise boate, Or. 1712 ADDISON Spect. No. 383 ¶ 5 With a good deal of the like Thames-Ribaldry. 1895 Daily News 28 Dec. 5/4 The Thames-derived waters show a marked improvement. 1902 CORNISH Naturalist Thames 169 The crowning glory of the Thames-side flats.

b. Phrase. To set the Thames on fire († set fire to the Thames, † burn the Thames), to do something marvellous, to work wonders. Usually with negative = to work no wonders, never to distinguish oneself.

A writer in N. & Q. of 25 Mar. 1865, p. 249, surmised that Thames here was orig. temise a sieve, which he supposed that an active fellow might set on fire by force of friction. This conjecture has no basis of fact. The phrase has also been used of the Rhine (a 1638) and other rivers. See N. & Q. 8th s. VI. 502, and Skeat Stud. Past. § 205-6.

1778 FOOTE Trip Calais III. iii, Matt Minnikin..an honest burgess... won't set fire to the Thames, though he lives near the Bridge. 1787 [see BURN v.] c. 1796 Grose's Dict. Vulg. Tongue s. v. Thames, He will not find out a way to set the Thames on fire; he will not make any wonderful discoveries, he is no conjurer. 18.. W. E. NORRIS (Dixon), I hardly expect him to set the Thames on fire; but I hope his mother will never have reason to be ashamed of him.

Hence Thameser (te·mzər), one who is connected with the Thames in some way; Thamesian (temzĭ·ən) a., of or pertaining to the Thames.

1612 T. GENTLEMAN Way to Wealth 43 By..the yong men of the GENT. Temses, eure..amongst the Theamsers. 1859 SALA Gaslight & D. ix. 105 Floating on the muddy bosom of the Thamesian stream.

‖ Thamin (pămi·n). Also -ine, -yn, -eng. [Burmese thămin.] A deer (Cervus eldi) of Burmah and Siam, resembling the swamp deer.

1888 Cassell's Encycl. Dict., Thamyn.. Rucervus eldi, Eld's Deer, so called from Captain Eld, who discovered it in 1838. 1900 POLLOK & THOM Sports Burma iv. 136 In the tree-jungle beyond, I shot a thamine and hung it up. 1903 Edin. Rev. July 197 A peculiar looking deer is the thameng.

‖ Thammuz, Tammuz (tæ·mŭz). Also 6 Thamus, 7 Thamuz, 7-9 Tamuz. [Heb. תַּמּוּז tammūz.] The tenth month of the Jewish civil year, and the fourth of the sacred, containing twenty-nine days, and corresponding to parts of June and July.

Also the name of a Syrian deity, identified with the Phœnician Adōn or Adonis, whose annual festival began with the new moon of this month.

1535 COVERDALE Ezek. viii. 14 There sat women mournynge for Thamuz. 1614 PURCHAS Pilgrimage i. xvii. 89 This is called the mourning for Thamuz, which Iunio interpreth Osiris, whence the fourth month (commonly their Harvest) is called Tamuz. 1667 MILTON P. L. i. 446. 1827 KEBLE Chr. Year 17th S. after Trin. 1853 KINGSLEY Hypatia v. 1909 Whitaker's Almanack 72 Jewish Calendar: June 20 New Moon, Tamuz 1. July 6 Fast of Tamuz.

‖ Thamnium (pæ·mniəm). Bot. [mod.L. a. Gr. θαμνίον, dim. of θάμνος shrub.] [See quot.]

1866 Treas. Bot., Thamnium, the branched bush-like thallus of lichens.

Than (ðăn, ðən; as a separate word called ðæn), conj. Forms: α. 1-3 ðǣ, þonne, (1 ðonne, ðon); β. 1 ðanne, þænne, 1-4 þanne, 3 þæne, 3-4 þane, 4-5 thanne; γ. 2-5 þenne, 2-3 þene, (3 þeone), 3-5 þen, (5 thenne, 7 yen), 4-8 then; δ. 1 than, 2-6 þan, 3 (Orm.) þann, (4 þain), 4-than (abbrev. 7-8 ᵗᵃⁿ, yn); ε. 5 an, 9 dial. 'n. [OE. þanne, þonne, þænne, also þan, þon; originally the same word as THEN (OE. þanne, þonne, þænne), the adv. of time. Its employment as the connective particle after a comparative (= L. quam, F. que) is a pre-English development, existing already in WGer.: cf. OHG. thanne, danne, MHG. danne, denne, Ger. denn (now largely supplanted by als), OS. than, MDu. dinne, dan, Du. dan, all used after the comparative. (Not so in Gothic or Scandinavian.)

How the conjunctive use arose out of the adv. of time is obscure. Some would explain it directly from the demonstrative sense 'then', taking 'John is more skilful than his brother' as = 'John is more skilful; then (= after that) his brother'. Others derive it from the relative or conjunctive use of OE. þonne (THEN 6), = 'When, when as', thus 'When as (whereas) his brother is skilful, John is more (so)'. The analogy of L. quam favours a relative sense.

When interrogative or demonstrative words became conjunctive or relative they lost their stress and were liable to weakening. Already in the 8th c. OE. þonne appears as þan, þan, than, a form exemplified in nearly every century since, though down to c 1550 the fuller contemporary forms of the demonstrative adv., þanne, þænne, þonne, þeiss, etc., were also in use. When the adv. was reduced to þen, from the 13th c. spelt then, there was a strong tendency to spell the conjunction in the same way, and during the 16th c. nearly triumphed; but in the 17th c. the tide turned, and by 1700 or a little later the conjunction was differentiated from the adv. as than. As the latter was, and is, pronounced (ðæn), it is manifest that it might be written either then (ðĕn) or than (ðăn) with equal approximation to the actual sound.]

1. The conjunctive particle used after a comparative adjective or adverb (and sometimes after other words: see 2-4) to introduce the second member of the comparison; the conjunction expressing the comparative of inequality (cf. As 3). In use it is always stressless, usually joined accentually to the prec. word, e.g. more than, less than, other than (mōˑ·rðən, leˑ·sðən, ᵛ·ðərðən).

The two members of the comparison are most commonly of the same grammatical form, e. g. two clauses (the latter of which may be contracted in various ways, two substantives, two pronouns, two infinitives, two adjectives, two adverbs, etc., but not invariably so: see the quots. Two infinitives connected by than are not uncommon in Eng. either both have to or are both without it; formerly (until c 1800), esp. after had rather had better, the second infinitive often had to when the first was without it.)

Instead of than after a comparative, as (like Ger. als) is common in Scotland, the north of England, and in parts of Ireland and the United States; nor (iner, ner) appears to be dialectal everywhere from Shetland to Hampshire and Cornwall, as well as in Ireland and America (see E.D.D.), but seems never to have been literary except in Sc., where also na was formerly used. In Sc. the relation is sometimes expressed by be (= by) as 'this field is bigger be that' (Jamieson s. v. Be).

a. 825 Vesp. Psalter li. 5 [lii. 3] Du lufedes..unrehtwisnisse mae ðon sprecoan rehtwisnisse. Ibid. lxxxiii[i]. 11 [10] Ic geceas..bion in huse Godes mine done eardian in ȝeteldum synfulra. c 893 K. ALFRED Oros. i. § 19 Seo [sæ] is bradre þonne ænig man oðer seon mæge. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. John i. 15 He was ær þonne ic. a 1175 Cott. Hom. 219 Þaðe hi wolde..beon betere þonne þe ȝescenpen were. c 1205 LAY. 6515 þe mon..þe nimeð to him seoluen Mare þonne [c 1275 þan] he mugen wuldre.

β. 831 Charter of Kadswald in O. E. Texts 145 Nis eðelmode enig mechond neor ðes cynnes ðanne eadwald. a 1000 ÆLFRIC Colloquy (Disc. 3) in Wr.-Wülcker 90 Leofre ys us beon bryneniende for ure þamme ðe ure eardian ne mæge. Hom. 219 Wursan þanne ænig oðer. c 1205 LAY. 5030 þe king heo louede more þanne [c 1275 þan] ba tueie þe oðre. Ibid. 8916–17 Leouere him weore þane [c 1275 þan] al his loud, þene al his seoluer, þene al his gold. c 1220 Bestiary 267 More ðanne man weneð. a 1450 Knt. de la Tour (1906) 24 With fairnesse rather thanne with rudenesse.

γ. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 17 Betere hit is þet heo beon ispilled..þenne mid alle forðon. Ibid. 139 Þis dei is.. seouenesibe bricuere þenne is seinte. c 1205 LAY. 10154 Ma þeone [c 1275 þane] heo rohten. c 1275 XI Pains of Hell 121 in O. E. Misc. 150 Þe stude is þustrore þene þe nyht. c 1320 Cast. Love 196 And rapure he dude hit wynes bole þen he heold he heste of ȝole. c 1400 Laud Troy Bk. 2010 That ladi..That is gentelour, then ȝe or he. c 1420 Chron. Vilod. 3195 A nother grettre miracle yet þenne þis. a 1425 Cursor M. 9452 (Laud) She levyd more the feind Then god. c 1440 MARGARET PASTON Let. 395 I am more heavy that I can not mete with hym, thenne for al the hurtes. 1535 COVERDALE Ps. xcv[ii]. 4 He is more to be feared then all godes. 1590 SHAKS. Mids. N. iii. 1. 90 A stranger Pyramus than ever plaid here. c. 1600 Sir W. MURE Sonn. to Margarett i. 13 With vertue grac'd far more yen forme of face. 1611 BIBLE Ps. lxxxiv. 10, I had rather be a doore keeper in the house of my God, then to dwell in the tents of wickedness. 1667 MILTON P. L. ix. 745, I know thee not, nor ever saw till now Sight more detestable then him and thee. 1684 EARL ROSCOM. Ess. Transl. Verse 48 The fault is more the Languages then theirs.

δ. 725 BEDA Death-song 2 Naenis, uuiurthit thonc snotturra than him tharf sie. c 1200 ORMIN 1985 þatt wollde bettre Drihhtin Godd..þann þatt te lassdiȝ wære shennd. Ibid. 15689 patt wass till Crist ȝet nw bitalht þan hise possttless wœrenn. 1303 R. BRUNNE Handl. Synne 6043 Syth hyt ys wers ban.ys þe lore. 13.. Cursor M. 23240 (Cott.) Herder þan [Edin. pain] es here irinn mell. 1393 LANGL. P. Pl. C. ii. 144 And deye rapere þan to do eny dedlich synne. c 1440 Jacob's Well 302 ȝe are more worthyr þan we. 1474 CAXTON Chesse ii. iii. b iv b, The chyld that so wysely continued the lye rather than he wold discouvere theyr conneyl. 1565 PAINTER Pal. Plea. (1813) II. 538, I had rather dye than once to myne friends. 1682 Sir T. Browne Chr. Mor. iii. § 25 Some had rather never have lived than to tread over their days once more. 1710 ADDISON Tatler No. 220 ¶ 3 Water, colder than Ice, and clearer than Christal. 1738 BERKELEY Alciph. iii. § 13 The generality of mankind obey rather force than reason. 1766 GOLDSM. Vic. W. xii, You have more circumspection than is wanted. 1774 — Nat. Hist. (1776) III. 30 They.. rather treasd their enemies to death than gore them. 1788 Cowper Mut. Forbearance 20 Some people are more nice than wise. 1803 JEFFERSON Writ. (1830) IV. 3, I had rather ask an enlargement of power from the nation..than to assume it. 1832 TENNYSON To J. S. ix, Great Nature is more wise than I. 1850 — In Mem. xxvii. 16 'Tis better to have loved and lost, Than never to have loved at all. 1848 DICKENS Dombey xxxii, Being a whit more venturesome than before. 1854 MRS. JAMESON Hb. of Th. (1877) 27 We all need more mercy than we deserve. 1895 JOWETT Plato (ed. 2) I. 36 Than which nothing..can be more irrational. 1908 R. BAGOT A. Cuthbert v. 41 She would have..accepted the results even of a mésalliance..rather than that Cuthbertsough should not pass to a son of mine. Ibid. He likes dogs better than cats. He likes dogs better than I. That is easier said than done. He said he would sooner die than yield.

ellipt. 1689 Col. Rec. Pennsylv. I. 377 This may be sooner and safer done yn returning me yt sum. 1705 HEARNE Collect. 8 July (O.H.S.) I. 2 His Latin is..better yn Salmasius's.

e. 1363 Somerset Medieval Wills (1901) 107 If their title be better an myne. c 1900 New Engld. dial., Kicked him higher 'n a kite.

b. With a personal or relative pronoun in the objective case instead of the nominative (as if than were a preposition).

This is app. the invariable construction in the case of than whom, which is universally accepted instead of than who. With the personal pronoun it is now considered incorrect.

1560 BIBLE (Genev.) Prov. xxvii. 3 A fooles wrath is heauier then them bothe. 1569 J. SANFORD tr. Agrippa's Van. Artes 165 We cannot resiste them that be stronger then vs. 1718 PRIOR Better Answer 27 ¶ For thou art a girl as much brighter than her, As he was a poet sublimer than me. 1762 GOLDSM. Cit. W. xxxviii, I am, not less than him, a despiser of the multitude. a 1774 — Surv. Exp. Philos. (1776) I. 163 Others, later than him, who appeal to experience as well as he, affirm the contrary. 1792 WAKEFIELD Mem. (1804) I. 108 He was much older than me. 1815 SCOTT Guy M. xvii, I..could not be expected..to be wiser than her. c 1825 BEDDOES Second Brother i. 1, You are old, And many years nearer than him to death. 1861 O'CURRY Lect. MS. Materials 253 He is better than me, then, said the monarch. 1548 UDALL, etc. Erasm. Par. Mark 67 Or els forsake them, then whome, there is nothyng more dearre vnto the. 1656 HEVLIN Extraneus Vapulans 323 An eminent Antiquary, than whom none can be fitter to give Testimony. 1667 MILTON P. L. ii. 299 Beëlzebub..then whom, Satan excepted, none higher sat. 1749 FIELDING Tom Jones xi. vi, Sophia, with whom I was acquainted (e tc.). 1896 GLADSTONE Homeric Synchr. 60 Mr. Newton, than whom no one is of greater authority, refers them (etc.).

c. Followed by that, or by infin. expressing a hypothetical result or consequence.

The modern idiom would often substitute too with the positive followed by the infinitive, for the comparative with than: e. g. in quot. 1612 'the bed is too short for a man to stretch himself'; in quot. 1693 'he is too modest to deny it'. Examples occur of a confusion of the two constructions, as 'too wise than to' or 'than to be'.

1528 TINDALE Wicked Mammon 45 b, This texte is playner than that it neadeth to be expounded. 1611 BIBLE Isa. xxviii. 20 The bed is shorter, then that a man can stretch himselfe on it. 1709-8 Jonathan L. P., Prior Wks. III. 131 Dryden had been more accustomed to hostilities, than that such enemies should break his quiet.

1612 BEAUM. & FL. Philaster i. 1, Your nature is more courteous than to inquire after state-news. 1670 MILTON Hist. Eng. vi. Wks. (1847) 553/2 Of a higher spirit than to accept her. 1693 CONGREVE Old Bachel. iv. xxii, He is more modest..than to deny it. a 1704–8*a* [see KNOW n. 9 b]. 1799 Mirror No. 2 ¶ 6 Mr. Creech..knew his business better than to satisfy their curiosity. 1802 JAMES Billit. Diet. s. v. Rifled gun, The bullet ought to be no larger than to be just pressed by the rifles. Mod. He knows better than to do that. I'm more highly of an Irishman to suppose he would do that (or, I think too highly of him to suppose...).

a 1677 BARROW Serm. Ephes. v. 4 Wks. 1687 I. 202 It is a good far too pretious, than to be prostituted for idle sport. 1833 I. TAYLOR Fanat. i. 4 These..who..are far too wise than to be rebels. Ibid. i. 4 The inquiry..is too momentous ..than that it should be diverted.

2. Than is regularly used after other, else, and their compounds (another, otherwise, elsewhere, etc.). See also OTHER, ELSE, etc.

(c 1200 ORMIN 9305 Nohht elless ne nohht mare Þann þatt tatt þrinne sis sett to Godd N e do ȝe.) a 1300 Cursor M. 7319 Þai ask noȝ oþer [v.r. another] king þan me. c 1320 Cast. Love 1237 Oher God nis non þen he. 1426 LYDG. De Guil. Pilgr. 9251 Vs nat my body & I al on?..Ys he a-nother than an I? 1551 RECORDE Pathway Knowl. Pref., There meaneth hereby no other proofe then Aristotle his testimony. 1573 G. HARVEY Letter-bk. (Camden) 1 If I do otherwise then I should do. 1587 GOLDING De Mornay xxiv. 408 God was not knowne and worshipped elswhere than among the people of Israell. 1666 BOYLE Orig. Formes & Qual. (1667) 2 The diversity..in Bodies must..arise from somewhat else then the Matter they consist of. 1799 HT. LEE Canterb. T., Frenchm. T. (ed. 2) I. 255 (He was) no other than the rightful lord. 1896 Law Times C. 410/1 The acts or defaults of any person other than himself.

b. Hence sometimes after adjs. or advbs. of similar meaning to 'other', as different, diverse, opposite, and after Latin comparatives, as inferior, junior: usually with clause following. (Now mostly avoided. See also DIFFERENT a. 1 b.)

c 1400 MAUNDEV. (1839) viii. 100 Þei han also dyueree clothinge and schapp..þan oþer folk han. 1566 PAINTER Pal. Plea. (1813) I. 317 If the lorde of Mendozes were superiour in qualitie, nobility, and goods, than hee is. 1642 BAKER Malvezzi's Disc. Tacitus liii. 498 He was now made overseer of the building..a much inferiour place than the other. 1794 J. BRIDGE Misc. Wks. ii. 37 They imploy their Wealth..to quite opposite Purposes than were intended. 1822 J. YATES Let. to Parr 19 May, in P.'s Wks. (1828) VIII. 250 Such a design..has a right to a far different head than mine. 1908 Westm. Gaz. 19 Aug. 2/3 How about the following sentence? 'Unless the London members behave differently about the Bill for London than the country members about the Bill for the country, reasons for postponement and consideration will begin to look verbiaty.' If 'than' is excluded, how is it to be said? [Put 'otherwise' for 'differently', and retain 'than'.]

3. Exceptional or peculiar uses. † a. With ellipsis of preceding comparative: = rather than, more than. Obs.

[c 1000 Ags. Ps. cxviii[i]. 8 God ys on Dryhten georne to þeneanne, þonne on mannan wese mod to treowianne. Lat. Bonum est confidere in Domino, quam confidere in homine.] 13.. Minor Poems fr. Vernon MS. xxix. 46 He was Counseyled [to] hewe of his leg: þen longe to suffre so. c 1449 PECOCK Repr. iii. v. 307 It spedith to thee that oon of thi mentis preiste than that al thi bodi go into helle. 1647 TRAPP Comm. Epistles 330 He did verily believe that Job was torne and tortured by his interpritations, then ever he had been by his botches and ulcers. a 1648 LD. HERBERT Hen. VIII 68 The apprentices being encouraged herewith,..than do nothing, brake open some prisons.

† b. = Nor. (? ellipsis for any more than.) Obs.

13.. Cursor M. 17586 (Cott.) Yeitt es he þar-wit ouer all, ..And mist noȝper in heuen þen [v. rr. ne, ny] here. Ibid. 20114 Yee wate neuer dai þen night, Yur luuerd wil cum. 1470 Generydes (1878) 25 That no man..bers unlawefull wepyn to the kirk then in the market. 1473 Rolls of Parlt. VI. 95/2 That this Acte of Resumption, then noon other Acte made or to be made..extend not neither be prejudiciall unto [etc.].

c. = Except, besides, but. (? ellipsis for other than, else than, otherwise than.) Obs. or arch.

1375 BARBOUR Bruce i. 501 Thar is nothir man na page,.. Bot shall be Fayn to mak thaim-selwyn fre. 1585 T. WASHINGTON tr. Nicholay's Voy. iii. iii. 74 b, There is almost nothing left then a shadow therof. 1649 W. BROWNE Polex. i. v. 123 The service you had done..was such as kings could not worthily acknowledge, at least, then in giving up their crownes. 1857 RUSKIN Pol. Econ. Art 28 There is nothing left for him then the blood that comes.. up the horseboridles.

¶ d. After hardly, scarcely: = When (by confusion with no sooner than).

1864 FROUDE Short Stud. (1867) I. 3 He had scarcely won for himself the place which he deserved, than his health was found shattered. 1902 F. W. MAITLAND in Camb. Mod. Hist. II. xvi. 584 Hardly had the Council been reopened at Trent..than Elizabeth was allying herself with the Huguenots.

† 4. After ERE, LESS, NIGH: see these words.

¶ 5. Erroneously used (instead of as) in comparisons of equality: † like than = such as (obs.); so.. than = so.. as.

1592 WARNER Alb. Engl. viii. xl. (1612) 195 A Warrior brave: But than his Sier, himselfe, one Sonne of his, like Polititians seldome lude. 1595 Trag. Sir R. Grenville (Arb.) 64 Then which the like was neuer heard before. 1602 G. BLACKWELL in Archæologia (Camden) II. 226, I can blame none so much for defect of Almes then Mr. Collington and his adherents. 1677 R. BOYLE Treat. Art of War 12 Their substantial Diet, than which, none..have so good. 1793 MANDEVILLE Fab. Bees (1733) II. 201 There is nothing in which our Species so far surpasses all others, than in the Capacity [etc.].

† Than, dem. pron. Obs. [ME. repr. OE. þam dat. sing. of se, seo, þæt, THAT.] After a prep.: That; as in for þan, for that (reason), therefore; for al þan, for all that (FOR 23 b); not (na) for than, notwithstanding that. See also FOR-THAN.

1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 1428 Þut for al þan..Hii broȝte oure louerd þesu crist to deþe on þe rode. a 1325 Prose Psalter, Athanasian Creed 16 And na-for-þan þer ne ben noȝt þre godes. c 1450 LOVELICH Grail xiv. 365 Nevertheless not for than the water In his Eyen stille was than.

Than, pan, obs. and dial. form of THEN.

Than, thana, thane, OE. and ME. inflexions of THAT, THE.

Thana(h), Thanadar, more correct spellings of TANA, TANADAR.

Thanage (θē'nĕdʒ). Obs. exc. Hist. Also thenage. [= AF. thaynage, thanage, in med.L. then-, thenagium, f. THANE (and its variants) + OF. -age, med.L. -āgium: see -AGE.] The tenure by which lands were held by a thane; the land held by a thane, a thane-land; also the rank, office, or jurisdiction of a thane.

[1200 Rotuli Chart. (1837) 51/1 Sciatis nos concessisse et.. confirmasse Willelmo Bardulf et Elysabeth uxori sue et heredibus eorum totum thenagium quod..Willelmus..pater predicte Elysabeth tenuit in Hepedale et in Kokedale, 1228 in Feodar. Prioral. Dunelm. (Surtees) 224 Requisitus an tenementum Henrici sit drengagium, dicit quod non, sed thenagium, sed pater Henrici liberavit illud a thenagio. 1230 Stat. Alex. II, c. 5 in Scot. Statutes (1844) I. 399 Si vero in dominicis vel thanagiis domini Regis malefactor ille fuerit [14.. transl. ibid. 400 And gif for such pat trespassour be in þe kingis maynis or thanagis]. ? 1305 Rolls of Parlt. I. 471/2 La terre appropriee torcenusement a vostre Thaynage de Balheiul.]

14.. [see quot. 1230 above]. 1623 in Thanes of Cawdor (Spalding Cl.) 260 All and haill the lands of the thanage and barony of Calder, united into one entire and free thanage, to be called the Thanage and Barony of Calder. 1641 Terms de la Ley 255 The kings thanage signifieth a certain part of the kings lands, or property, whereof the rule & government appertaineth unto him, who therfore is called Thanus. 1807 G. CHALMERS Caledonia I. iii. v. 38 Having such lands (in demesne), they equally appear to have had no thanages. 1872 E. W. ROBERTSON Hist. Ess. 126 The Scottish Gerefa was known as the Thane or Mair, his district often as a Thanage. 1883 Oxf. Surv. Gazetteer Scot. III. 18 It gave name to an ancient thanage.

Thanatic (pănæ·tik), a. rare—°. [ad. Gr. θανατικός, f. θάνατος death: see -IC.] (See quot.)

1860 MAYNE Expos. Lex., Thanaticus, of or belonging to death;..deadly: tha'natic. 1890 in BILLINGS Med. Dict.

Thanatism (pæ·nătiz'm). [f. Gr. θάνατος death + -ISM.] The belief or doctrine that at death the human soul ceases to exist. So Tha·natist, a believer in thanatism.

1906 Academy 1 Dec. 519/1 For ourselves we prefer to say that even atheism and thanatism are speculations. 1902 J. MCCABE tr. Haeckel's Riddle Universe xi. 67/2 We give the name of 'thanatism'..to the opinion which holds that at a man's death..his 'soul' also disappears,—that is, that sum of cerebral functions which psychic dualism regards as a peculiar entity, independent of the other vital processes in the living body. Ibid. 69/2. 1902 W. S. LILLY in 19th Cent. Mar. 466, I suppose that thanatists, as it is the fashion to call them, are really not very numerous.

Thanato- (pæ·nătō), before a vowel thanat-, combining form of Gr. θάνατος death, chiefly in scientific words. Tha·nato-biolo·gic a. (see quot.). Thanatognomo·nic a., indicative or characteristic of death. Thanato·graphy, nonce-wd. [after biography], an account of a person's death. Thanatoma·ntic a. [see -MANTIC], of or pertaining to divination concerning death. Thanato·meter (see quots.). ‖ Thanatopho·bia (also thanato·phoby), morbid fear of death. ‖ Thanato·psis [Gr. ὄψις sight, view], a contemplation of death. Thanatoty·phus, malignant typhus.

1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Thanato-biologic*, pertaining to life and death. 1862 G. W. BALFOUR tr. Casper's Forensic Med. § 55 II. vi. 239 The lungs in the more or less recent bodies of those drowned..present an appearance so peculiar as to be truly *thanatognomonic. 1839 THACKERAY Catherine vi

The excellent 'Newgate Calendar'...contains the biographies and "thanatographies of Hayes and his wife. 1841 Fraser's Mag. XXV. 270 The deuteroscopic or thanatomantic faculty of the Germans. 1860 Mayne Expos. Lex., Thanatometrum, ..term by Nasse [of Berlin] for a means of indicating the actual presence of death; a death-measurer: a "thanatometer. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Thanatometer, a thermometer capable of being introduced into the stomach to determine whether the depression of temperature is sufficient to be looked on as a sign of death. 1860 Mayne Expos. Lex., "Thanatophobia, term for a dread or fear of death: "thanatophobly. 1903 Athen. 4 August, 140 Nervousness is frequently associated with morbid fear of death (thanatophobia). 1816 W. C. Bryant (title) "Thanatopsis. 1860 Mayne Expos. Lex., "Thanatopsyllna. 1890 in Billings Med. Dict.

Thanatoid [θæ·nətɔ·id], a. Path. [f. Gr. θάνατος death + -OID. Cf. Gr. θανατώδης.] (See quot.) 1857 Dunglison Med. Lex., Thanatoid, resembling death; apparently dead. 1890 in Billings Nat. Med. Dict.

Thanatology [θæna̧tɒ·lɒdʒi). rare. [f. Gr. θάνατος death + -LOGY. Cf. F. thanatologie.] The scientific study of death, its causes and phenomena. So Thanatolo·gical a., of or pertaining to thanatology; Thanato·logist, a student of or a person versed in thanatology; in quot. 1901 (nonce-use), one who studies dead animals.

1842 Dunglison Med. Lex., Thanatology, a description, or the doctrine, of death. 1869 G. W. Balfour in Cassell's Forensic Med. II. Title-p., Thanatological division. 1881 G. R. Jesse in Athenæum 9 Apr. 504/1 This sums up the thanatological results of an enormous amount of cruelty in previous experiments. 1901 E. Selous Bird Watching viii. 224 We have dealt mainly with those who kill them, or killed them in order to study them. Our 'zoologists' have been thanatologists. 1903 Mitchell tr. Metchnikoff's Nat. Man xii. (1904) 298 The scientific study of old age and of death, two branches of science that may be called geronto-logy and thanatology.

‖Thanatophidia [θæna̧tɒfi·diă), sb. pl. Zool. [f. thanat-, Thanato- + Ophidia.] A division of Ophidia, comprising the venomous snakes. Hence Thanatophi·dian a., of or pertaining to the Thanatophidia; sb. a serpent of this division; Thanatophidio·logist, a student of the zoology of the Thanatophidia.

1872 Fayrer (title) The Thanatophidia of India, being a Description of the Venomous Snakes of the Indian Peninsula. 1884 J. Donnet in Dublin Univ. Mag. Mar. 504/1 I believe it to be a generally accepted opinion among thanatophidiologists that, from what is known of the virulent properties of snake-poison, though fatal to man and other living beings, it is innocuous in its effects to serpents of like nature. 1891 Cent. Dict., Thanatophidian a. and sb.

‖Thanato·sis. Path. [a. Gr. θανάτωσις a putting to death, f. θανατοῦν to put to death.] 1860 Mayne Expos. Lex., Thanatosis, ..term for Mortification. 1890 in Billings Nat. Med. Dict.

Thane [θe·n]. Hist. Forms: 1 þegn, þeġn, -in, (þeng), 1–2 þén, þeiġn (6–7 theigne), 2 þening, 2–3 þein (6 thein), 3–4 þ-theyn(e (6 theyn), 4 thain (8 -e), 4–6 thayn(e, 5- thane. See also Thegn. [OE. þeġn, þeġen, þén, = OS. thegan, OHG. degan boy, servant, warrior, hero (MHG., G. degen), ON. þegn freeman, liegeman:—OTeut. þeġno*, orig. child, boy, lad:—pre-Teut. tek-nó-* (cf. Gr. τέκνον child), f. root tek* : tok to beget.

The regular modern repr. of OE. þeġn, if the word had lived on in spoken use, would have been thain (cf. faiu, main, rain), as it actually appears in some writers, chiefly northern, from 1500 to near 1800. But thane was in 15–16th c. Sc. written thane (in L. thanus), and this form, being used by Boece, Holinshed, and Shakspere (in Macbeth), was adopted by Selden, Spelman, and the legal antiquaries and historians of the 17th c. to represent the Anglo-Saxon þegn, and became the usual form in Eng. history. Recent historians, as Stubbs, Freeman, and Green, in order to distinguish the Anglo-Saxon use from the Sc. in sense 4, have revived the OE. þegn as Thegn, q. v.]

†1. A servant, minister, attendant; in OE. often applied to (Christ's) disciples. Obs.

a700 Epinal Gloss (O.E.T.) 101 Adsaeculum [= assecula], thegn. c725 Corpus Gloss 77 Adsaeculum, þegn. c888 K. Ælfred Boeth. vii. § 2, ġif þu þonne heora þegen beon wilt. a900 tr. Bede's Hist., iv. xxiv. [xxiv.] (1890) 346 þa bæd he [a monk] his þegn..þæt he in þæm hunne þisse stowe gegræwdon..þa wundrode se þegn. c950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. xxiv. 45 Hwa weenes þu is geleafful þærn & hogæ? 971 Blickl. Hom. 67 Iohannes, se clæna þegn. Ibid., Lazarus þær was ana sittende mid Hælende & mid his þegnum. c1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. xx. 26 Sy he ower þen. Ibid. John ii. 9 þa þenas soðlice wiston þæt water hlodon. a1175 Cott. Hom. 229 Alle þeine þeines þegnes se þe was fudas geþaten. c1275 Death 177 in O. E. Misc. 179 Hwer beoþ þine þeynes þat þe leoue were? 13.. Cursor M. 5373 (Cott.) First he was here als our thain [Göttf. thrall, Trin. þrall]. 1591 Lambarde Archaion (1635) E iij, By certaine Messengers, which they termed Theignes; that is to say, Ministers, or Servants.

†2. A military attendant, follower, or retainer; a soldier. Obs.

Beowulf 400 Ǽras þa se rica ymb hine rinc manig þryðlic þegna þeaw. c800 Beowulf 1.549 (Gr.) Þa cwom þegnas þeap to þam heremeðle. c893 K. Ælfred Oros. v. ii. § 3 Ueriatuses þæm ġeþum ġebrun to longe æfterfylġende, oþ þæm his hors under him ofsceat. c950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. viii. 9 Iu..hæfe under me þeġnas [Vulg. milites]. c1000 Ags. Gosp. ibid., Ic hæbbe þegnas & iuðas Hatton þeġnas] under me. c1000 Ælfric Voc. in Wr.-Wülcker 119/34 Agasso, hors þen.

†b. poet. A warrior, a brave man. Cf. Earl 1 b.

Beowulf 2709 Swylc sceolde secg wesan, þeġn æt ǽarfe. c893 K. Ælfred Oros. iii. vii. § 2 ġif ge swelce þeġnas sint, swelce ġe wenaþ þæt ġe sien, þonne sceoldon ġe swa lustlice eowre ġeþu þreon ġeþeahan. a1250 Lay Lore 13 O. E. Misc. 93 þeos þeines þat weren bolde beoþ aġlyden.

3. One who in Anglo-Saxon times held lands of the king or other superior by military service; originally in the fuller designation cyninges þeġn, 'king's thane, military servant or attendant'; in later times simply thegn, as a term of rank, including several grades below that of an ealdorman or eorl (Earl sb. 2) and above that of the ceorl or ordinary freeman.

In this sense the name was superseded by baron and knight in the 12th c, and continued only in historical use, in which it was written thane in the 16th c. Recent historians have revived the OE. form as Thegn.

805 Charter in O. B. Texts 442 Beforan wulfrede ercebiscop..& eġne cyninges þeġne. a900 O. E. Chron. an. 897, Manige þæne selestena cynges þeġna...Ealdorl cynges þeġn..& Ecgulf cynges hors þeġn. 971 Blickl. Hom. 211 Wæs his fader ǽrest cyninges þeġn, & ða..he wæs cyninges þeġna aldorman. c1000 Ælfric Gram. ix. (Z.) 50 Optimas, þeġn. c1000—Voc. in Wr.-Wülcker 133/30 Primus, heafodman, uel þeġn. Ibid. 155/23 Satrapa, þeġn. c1020–50 Laws Ranks c. 1 in Liebermann Gesetze (1903) 456 Ælc be his mæġe, ġe eorl ġe ceorl, ġe þeġen ġe þeoden. c1050 Apprfordh's Homilies in Anglia (1889) VIII. 326 Þeġnas & eorlas habbaþ landmæreke. 1066 Writ of Eadward in Earle Land-Charters 342 Eadward cyninġ ġret Hereman bisceop, and Harold eorl, and Godric, and ealle his þeġenas [L. vicecomes]. a1100 O. E. Chron. an. 1066 (Laud MS.) Ealle þa rice men ofer eall Engla land, arce biscoppas, & leodliscoppas, abbodas & eorlas, þeġnas & cnihtas. a1175 Cott. Hom. 231 Mid ærlen and aldren, mid cnihten, mid þeinen. a1200 Havelok 2260 Sipen dreinġes, and siben thayneS, And siben knithes, and siben sweynes. c1325 Chron. Eng. (Ritson) 583 Alle the theynes of Walschelonde He made bowe to ys honde. 1570–6 Lambarde Peramb. Kent (1826) 153 As for knyghtes, it was given to the Seyn or Gentleman, bicause his lifewas valued at Twelve hundreth shillings. 1598 Hakluyt Voy. I. 126 If a Thein so thriued, that he serued the king, and on his message rid in his houshold, if he then had a Thein that followed him..he became an Earle.

1577–87 Holinshed Chron. I. 190/1 Harold..slue thirtie gentlemen of honor, or thanes (as they called them). 1614 Selden Titles Hon. 267 The neerest name for Baron was that of Thane, mentioned in Antient Charters. c1650 Risdon Surv. Devon § 284 (1810) 296 The thane was descended of ancient lineage, and such a one as we call gentleman. 1754 Hume Hist. Eng. (1761) I. App. i. 96 The nobles were called thanes: there were two kinds, the king's thanes and lesser thanes. 1809 Bawdwen Domesday Bk. 18 In Loctrov (Lofthouse) two Thanes had four carucates to be taxed. 1853 Jos. Stevenson tr. O. E. Chron. an. 1036, Leofric the earl, and almost all the thanes north of the Thames..chose Harold for chief of all England. 1883 — tr. Florence of Worcester an. 897, Ecgulf the kings horse-thane. 1875 Maine Hist. Inst. v. 135 There are in the early English laws some traces of a process by which a Ceorl might become Thane. 1888 Earle Land-Charters Introd. 71 These words ..eorl, gesith, thane, knight, squire, gentleman. The last two run abreast.

4. In Scottish Hist. A person, ranking with the son of an earl, holding lands of the king; the chief of a clan, who became one of the king's barons.

[1220 Scot. Alex. II, c. 9, in Scot. Statutes (1844) I. 398 De terris episcoporum, abbatum baronum militum et thanorum qui de Rege tenent.] 14.. transl. of prec., Of þe landis of bischops abbotis barounis knychtis and thaynis þe quhilkis haldis of þe Kyng. 1422 in Thanes of Cawdor (Spalding Club) xx. Thanes and tit hat fo your wife, the douchter of the saide Donald thayne of Caldor. c1425 Wyntoun Cron. vi. xxviii. 1904 Lo, sonder be thayne of Crumbaghtyl Ibid. xix. 2318 Makduf of Fif be thayne. c1470 Henry Wallace xi. 804 That Erll wes cumyn off rew hall nobill blud, Fra the ald thane, quhilk in his tym was gud. 1535 Stewart Cron. Scot. (Roll-) II. 637 'The Thane of Glames, gude morne to him', sald schio. [1596 Dalrymple tr. Leslie's Hist. v. 1. (S.) vicecomes, The first nobils in Scotland war called Thani; thay war of the clan cheif...In ald tymes Dukes war called Thani.] 1605 Shaks. Mach. i. iii. 71 By Sinells death, I know I am Thane of Glamis, But how, of Cawdor the Thane of Cawdor lives, Ibid. v. iii. 50 Doctor, the Thanes flys from me. 1609 Skene Reg. Maj. 73 b, Item, the Cro of ane Earles sonne, or of ane Thane, is ane hundreth kye. Item, the Cro of the sonne of ane Thani, is threescore sax kye. 1700 Rosebery Jrnl. Scot. I. (1802) I. 229 The ancient Thanes were the equals and the rivals of their prince. 1810 A. Boswell Edinburgh 260 Hill after hill come canting clerk shall gain, Then, in a mendicant, behold a Thane!

b. transf. to modern persons, in various senses; e. g. a Scottish lord. Often in allusion to Shaks. Macbeth v. iii. 50. (See above.)

1750 Shenstone Odes, Rural Elegance 7 Ye rural thanes that o'er the mossy down Some panting, timorous hare pursue. a1764 Lloyd Poetry Prof. Poet. Wks. 1774 I. 39 Hail to the Thane, whose patriot skill Can break all nations to his will. 1839 Ln. Brougham Statesm. Geo. III. Dundas I. 232 He [Pitt] held the proxies of many Scottish Peers in open opposition! Well might his colleague exclaim to the hapless Addington in such unheard-of troubles, 'Doctor, the Thanes fly from us.' 1858 Bryce Amer. Commw. lxiii. I. 455 Sometimes however he is rebuffed by the powers at Washington and then his State thanes fly from him.

5. Comb. Thane-right, the legal rights and privileges of a thane; Thane-wer [OE. þeġnwer], the wer-gild of a thane (sense 3).

1008 [see Thegnwer]. 1844 Lingard Anglo-Sax. Ch. (1858) II. xiii. 234 note, His thane-wer, and thane-right in life and in the grave means the same as his worldly goods, and Christian sepulture.

Hence Tha·ness, a female thane; a thane's wife.

1827 Scott Surg. Dam. iii, All the rural thanes and thanesses attended on these occasions. 1849 J. Wilson Christopher under Canvass No. 5 The Thaness [Lady Macbeth] is self-stayed.

Thane 2, Sc. form of Fane 1.

1496 Acc. Ld. High Treas. Scot. I. 286 Item for xiij dowbill plaits to be thanis to the pailtounis. 1570 Satir. Poems Reform. xxii. 84 Lyke wauering thane, thy proces wane Will brew the bitter gall, 1571 in Thanes of Cawdor (Spalding Cl.) 417 Thanes for the horse heads (at a funeral), £80. 1782 Orem Chanonry Aberdeen 21 With cross thanes of iron on the top of each of them.

Thane, obs. f. Then adv.; inflexion of The.

Thanedom [θe·ndəm). [f. Thane + -dom.] The domain or jurisdiction of a Scottish thane.

c1425 Wyntoun Cron. vi. xviii. 1910 In his south held Off þai thayndomes þe thayne wes maid. 1579 Reg. Privy C. Scot. III. 140 The lordship and thanedome of Fettarcarne. 1776 Pennant Tour Scot. II. Addit. 13 This thanedom was transferred into the house of the Campbels. 1890 G. Chalmers Caledonia I. iii. vii. 416 The titles of Glamis, and Cawdor, were borrowed by Boece from thanedoms of more recent origin. 1897 Skene Highlanders Scot. (1902) II. v. 262 Thanedoms were certainly hereditary in Scotland.

†Tha·nehede. Obs. [f. Thane 1, in sense 1 'servant' + -hede, -head. Essentially an earlier form of next, but unconnected with it in use, being founded on an earlier sense of OE. þeġn.] Service, servitude; bondage, thraldom.

a1300 Cursor M. 5404 (Cott.) Land and lijth wit bodi we bede, þat þou vs sun in þin thainhede [v.rr. bonde-, bundhede]: In thainhed [Fairf. bondehede; Göttf. & Trin. þraldom-dome] tak our prides all, 17.. Ibid. 5792 I sal þam wit-all. Ibid. 5792, I sal þam [Israel] bring vte of thainhede [v.rr. þraldome, thralhede], In-till a land, a wonsun thede. Ibid. 6990 In thain-lede ar þai worth to be, þat wil noght thule, and mai be fre.

Tha·nehood. [f. Thane (senses 3, 4) + -hood. Cf. Thenghood.] The condition or rank of a thane.

1827 E. Cowper Hist. Cambr. 89 Raised to the Thanehood by their own or their forefathers' merits.

Tha·ne-land. Now Hist. (See also Thegnland.) Land held by a thane, or by military tenure.

a1641 Spelman Feuds & Tenures viii, For better manifestation that Thanelands were subject to no feudal Service, consider, I pray you, the Words of this Saxon passage before mentioned, where it is said that a Thane must have three Hides at least of his..own Land. 1701 Cowell's Interpr., Thane-Lands, Lands, granted by Charters of the Saxon Kings to their Thanes. 1809 Bawdwen Domesday Bk. 370 Ulnod holds one oxgang of the same land in thaneland.

Thanen, panen, -ene, adv.: see Thenne.

Thaneship [θe·nʃip). [f. Thane 1 + -ship: cf. OE. þeġnscipe.] The office or position of a thane; esp. in the Sc. sense. (See also Thegnship.)

1766 Stevens Note Shaks., Mach. i. iii. 48 The thaneship of Glamis was the ancient inheritance of Macbeth's family. 1844 Lingard Anglo-Sax. Ch. (1858) I. App. 371 These lands ceasing to support an earthly thaneship or service. 1865 Kingsley Herew. xv, He shall have..a thaneship in East Anglia. 1896 Manly Notes on Macbeth 20 Since Macbeth's accession to the thaneship of Cawdor..

Thanist, -stry, obs. forms of Tanist, -stry.

Thank [þæŋk, θæ·ŋk. Forms: a. 1–4 þanc, (3 þhanc), 1–5 þank, (3 Orm. þannk), 4 thanc (thang), 4–5 þanke, 4–6 thanck(e, 4–7 thanke, (6 thangke), 4- thank. β. 1 þonc, 1–4 þonc, 2 þoonk, 2–5 þonk, (3 þong), 3–5 þonke, 4 poncke. [OE. þanc, þonc = OFris. thonk, OS. thank* (MDu. danc, D. dank), OHG., MHG. danc (G. dank), ON. þökk (:—þanku fem.), Sw. tack, Da. tak, Goth. þagks:—OTeut. þankō, f. ablaut stem þenk : þank : þunk: see Think. The primary sense was therefore thought.]

I. †1. = Thought. Obs. (See also I-Think.)

735 Beda Death-song 2 Naenig uniurthit thonc snotturra [or thoncsnotturra] than him thaurf sie. a900 Andreas 557 (Gr.) Saga þances gleaw þeġn, ġif þu cunne, þu hæst ġewurde be werum weonum. c1000 Ags. Gosp. Luke (1) lxxxviii(i). 11 Ne on ðeostrum ne meġ, þances ġehyġdum, æniġ wislicu wundur oncnawan. c1160 Hatton Gosp. Matt. xv. 19 Of þare hoorte cumeð þa yfele þankes [c1000 þehancas]. c1175 Lamb. Hom. 3 Heo urren on-gein him, mid ufele þeonkes. a1200 Moral Ode 90 He þurþsicheþ uiches monnes þonc. c1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 9 We..folġeð on þonke, and on speche, and on dede, þat him is iquene. a1225 Ancr. R. 222 He..put..a swuch þonc in a swuch ilcnesse. c1300 Prov. Hending i. in Sal. & Sat., etc. (1848) 270 Gude þonkes and monie þewes for to teche fele schrewes.

†2. Favourable thought or feeling, good will; graciousness, grace, favour. Obs.

a1000 Cædmon's Gen. 796 (Gr.) Þis is landes betst, þæt wit þurh uncres hearran þanc haliġan moston. c1000 Ags. Ps. (Th.) ci. 15 [cii. 17] Of þe þearfendra þene þance ġehyrde. 1340 Ayenbite of Inwyt 17 Hayl Marie of thonke vol [Vulg. Luke 1. 28 Ave! gratia plena]. 1609 Bible (Douay) Ecclus. xii. 1 If thou wilt doe good, know to whom thou doest it, and there shal be much thanke [Vulg. gratia multa] in thy good deedes.

†b. The genitive case thankes, ME. thankes, lit. 'of thought', 'of good will', was used adverbially in sense 'willingly, voluntarily', esp. with preceding possessive pronoun, e. g. his thankes = with his consent, good will, or approval: so Godes thankes = Deo volente. Cf. Unthankes, unwillingly. Obs.

c888 K. Ælfred Boeth. xiii, Sæġe me nu hwæðer se þin weia [þines] þances swa diore seo, þe for his ġeneriġe þeġynde. 1008 Charter of Bp. Theodred in Birch Cart. Sax. III. 209 Mines erfes þat ic beġiten habbe & ġet bigete Godes þankes and hise halegen. 1066 O. E. Chron. (MS. C.), Tostig ..nam of þam heuse karlon sume mid him, sume þæces sume unþances. 1154 Ibid. an. 1140 (MS. Laud), Hi of Normandi wenden alle fra þe king..., sume here þankes & sume here un þankes. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 17 Al swa þu waldest þet me dude þe þines þonkes. a 1250 Owl & Night. 70 Ich for þe þe sulue mose Hire þonkes wolde þe totose. c 1386 Chaucer Shipman's T. 188 Pardee, I wol nat faille you, my thankes. c 1400 Maundev. (Roxb.) xxxi. 140 þis lie dare na pilgrim come in ne here it, þaire thankes. a 1450 Myre Pars Pro. 891 Koghe þow not þenne by þonkes.

† 3. Kindly thought or feeling entertained towards any one for favour or services received; grateful thought, gratitude. Rarely in pl. Obs.

The sense of 'gratitude, kindly or loving feeling for favour or benefit' must have been developed between that of 'good will, good feeling' generally, and that of 'the expression of gratitude'. But the feeling passes so naturally into its expression that it is not easy to separate them in the quotations, except by the accompanying verbs: to express one's thanks, and the archaic to con thanke, ought to mean to express one's feelings of gratitude; but to give, offer, return or receive thanks, ought to mean to give or receive the expression of gratitude; so to have thanks, but this is less clear. In many instances it is impossible to say which is meant; some of the examples given here may belong to 4.

1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 9379 Muche þonne here wet it vs of god mid him vorto fiste. 13.. Gaw. & Gr. Knt. 1380 Haue I bryuandely þonk þurh my craft serued? c 1374 Chaucer Troylus iii. 1728 (1977) Eis encree of hardynesse and myght Com hym of loue, his ladyes thank to wynne. c 1400 Destr. Troy 12724 The lady..ponkit hym proly with ponks in hir hert. c 1420 Brut 343 Panne þei.. went hom ayen yn-to her owne contre, with grete loue & mochle thankes. 1500-20 Dunbar Poems xvi. 19 Or the gift deliuerit be, The thank is frustrat and expyrd. a 1677 Barrow Wks. (1687) I. viii. 94 It was a satyrical answer (that of Aristotle)..who being asked..What doth the soonest grow old? replied..Thanks.

4. The expression of gratitude; the grateful acknowledgement of a benefit or favour. † a. in sing. Obs.

† God a Pank, God-thank [= L. Deo gratias, F. grâce à Dieu], thanks (be) to God, thank God.

Beowulf 1779 Þæs siʒ metode þanc, eorean dryhtne, þæs ðe ic on aldre ʒe-þah. c 888 K. Ælfred Boeth. xxxv. § 4 Þa ʒeascaftu næron þanes weorðscipes weorðe, ac wyrðe. c 897 Gregory's Past. C. 2 Gode ælmihtʒum si ðonc ðætte we nu ænʒne on stal habbað ʒareowa. a 1000 Cædmon's Gen. 1116 (Gr.) Him þæs þanc sie. c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints xxvi. (Nicholas) 1 Thurgh to al-mychty god he ʒaulde. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 490/1 Thanke, grates, gracearum accio, gratulanen. 1483 Caxton Gold. Leg. 195/2 Thanke and glorye to god & honoure to the vyrgyne. 1534 More Treat. Passion Introd. a 1553 Udall Royster D. iv. ii, Doughtie. He will thank you woman. Madge. I will none of his thanke. 1642 Rogers Naaman 385 Is this the thanke which you returne to God?

c 897 K. Ælfred Gregory's Past. C. 9 Gode ðonc. Ibid. i. 27. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 11 Unbileue..is aiware aleid and rilite leue srered godeðonc. 1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 2578 Þe King was gode þonk aboue in four batailes. c 1300 Havelok 2005 þus wolde he theues me haue reft, But godþank, he hauenet sure keft.

b. in plural. † Formerly sometimes const. as ring.

1340 Ayenb. 18 Me..him ne yeldeþ þonkes of his guodes, þet he ous heþ yde. 1481 Caxton Reynard iv. (Arb.) 8 All hath he but lytyl thankes. 1591 Lawes Athen. Pleas. iv. (Parv Socr.) 21 At whose increace there is great thankes rendred. 1538 Elyot, Grates, thankes. 1588 Shaks. Tit. A. i. 1. 215 Thankes to men Of Noble mindes, is Honourable Meede. 1599 — Hen. V. Pol. ii. 23 Else is this thankes too much. 1651 Hobbes Leviath. ii. xxxi. 191 Prayers precede, and Thanks succeed the benefit. 1753 Hanway Trav. (1762) I. ii. xvi. 72 Our soldiers were fed luxuriously at the fisheries, for nothing more than thanks. 1893 R. Fulton in Student's Corr. (1931) II. 6a I return it to you with my sincere thanks. 1871 R. Ellis Catullus xlix. 4 Thanks superlative unto these Catullus Renders. 1881 'Rita' My Lady Coquette iii, Yolande gives her a smile of thanks.

c. A thank (formerly also a thanks): an expression of gratitude; a thanking, a thank-you. Now rare.

† To pick (get, win) a thank: see Pick v.[1] 8 b. Obs.

13.. Gaw. & Gr. Knt. 1984 Vche mon hat þe mette, he made hem a þonke, For his seruyse. 1474 Caxton Chesse iii. vii. (1883) 239 In thende that they myght haue a thanke & be preysed. 1560 Daus tr. Sleidane's Comm. Pref. 5b, Veryye manye of those wryters seke to pike a thanke. a 1577 Gascoigne Herbs, etc. Wks. (1587) 199 While Pierce the plowman hopes to pick a thank. 1579–1627 [see Pick v.[1] 8 b]. 1602 B. Jonson Poetaster iv. vii, Without a thankes, to be sent hence! 1678 R. L'Estrange Seneca's Mor. i. xv. (1696) 81 He..contents himself with a bare Thank for a Reward. a 1810 Tannahill Poet. Wks. (1846) 67 With his lordship's thank. 1839 Longf. Black Kn. 47 The children drank, Gave many a courteous thank.

II. Phrases and phraseological uses.

5. Thanks: a much abbreviated expression of gratitude for a favour received or recognition of a service; = I give you my thanks, my thanks to you, or the like. Also many thanks, best thanks.

1588 Shaks. L. L. L. v. ii. 259 If your highnesse say thankes Pompey, I had done. La. Great thankes, great Pompey. 1605 — Mach. ii. i. 30 Mach. Good repose the white! Banq. Thankes, Sir: the like to you! 1647 Peacham Worth of a Penny 14 He answers you with Monosyllables, 'Yes, No, That, Thankes, True, &c. 1803 Forest of Hohenelbe I. 167 Thanks, Baron, for your good wishes. 1803 Pitt in G. Rose's Diaries (1860) II. 16 Many thanks for your letter. 1866 E. FitzGerald More Lett. (1901) 82 Don't you dislike the way some People have of saying perpetually 'Thanks!' instead of 'Thank you'?..It is like cutting Acknowledgment as short as possible...Thanks [is] about one of the most hideous monosyllables, even in the English Language. 1890 Miss Bridgman Rob. Lynne II. xiv. 299 'Would you like to read the letter, Robert?' 'No, thanks'.

6. Thanks to: Thanks be given to, or are due to; hence, Owing to, as a result of, in consequence of. (Often ironical.) So no thanks († thank) to, no credit to, not by virtue or merit of; not because or by reason of.

1633 Earl Manch. At Mondo (1636) 115 It is no thankes to a man to be that wel-liking, which he must not disoblige. 1633 Br. Hall Medit. & Vows (1851) 150 It is scarce any thank to me that he prevails. 1647 Trapp Comm. Rev. iii. 4 No thank to the Pastour, who was a mercenary eye-servant. a 1687 Petty Pol. Arith. vi. (1691) 99 No thanks to any Laws which have been made to that purpose. 1737 Pope Hor. Epist. ii. ii. 68 But thanks to Homer) since I live and thrive, Indebted to no Prince or Peer alive. 1813 Scott Rokeby v. vi. It is a sight but rarely spied, Thanks to man's wrath and woman's pride. 1894 Westm. Gaz. 21 Aug. 3/3 The passengers—thanks, I expect, to the bitter cold—behaved more quietly at night than in the morning.

† 7. In (on) thank, to thank, with pleased mind, with pleasure or satisfaction; pleasantly, graciously; with thanks, gratefully. Obs.

a 1000 Andreas 1114 (Gr.) Hie þa þe hraðe þeʒon to þance. a 1000 Cædmon's Gen. 2412 Hie on þanc euron æðelinges est. a 1300 Cursor M. 15047 (Cott.) þou tak to thanc þat we þe mak Sil mensking als we mai. c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints vi. (Thomas) 12 Pat he in greate thank vil take, And als reward hym (þankefully). c 1400 Rom. Rose 4377 He seyde, 'In Than I shal it take, And high maister eeke thee make'. c 1430 Syr Gener. (Roxb.) 9803 If I wist to thank ye wold it take, A maridge fayne wold I make. 1513 Douglas Æneis viii. v. 133, I grant thine asking, Troiane messinger, And your rewards ressauis in thank.

8. To can, con, con (great, little) thank(s, to acknowledge or express gratitude, to make known gratitude, to give thanks, to thank. Obs. exc. dial.

See Can v.[1] 10, Con v.[1] 4.

† 9. To have (or get) thank: to be thanked; also, to be thought worthy of thanks, to get the credit for, to have the merit or honour of (something); hence, contextually, thank = thanks due or merited, recompense, reward, credit, merit, and ironically discredit, blame. Obs.

c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Luke xvii. 9 Ahne ðonc hafeð esne ðæm forðon ðoðe ðe þe him ʒeþæhten hæfde? c 1000 Ags. Gosp. (Ibid.) Hæfð se þeowa ænne þanc forþæm þe he ðoðe þæt [etc.]? c 1020 Rule St. Benet v. (Logeman) 25 He for swyloere ðæade ænʒrne ne begiht þanc. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 137 þa ðe ðoð god for to habben ðer of nʒen in hisse ilue, nabeð heo ane þonc ore eche weorlde. 1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 9915 þe wrecche luþer giwes..a riche present..sende þis noble kinge, ac her þonc was lute. a 1300 Cursor M. 13841 par-for haf he neuer thank! c 1350 Sir Tristr. 2082 Maister, þank þeue ye. For þou me his bode þrout Mi robe ȝiue y þe. c 1385 Chaucer L. G. W. 452 For who so yeveth a yifte or dooth a grace, Do it by thyne, his thank ys wel the more. c 1460 Fortescue Abs. & Lim. Mon. vii. (1885) 125 Off somme man [his highnes shall haue more thanke for money then for lande. 1483 Cath. Angel. 381/2 A Thanke, meritum, emericio, emericium. 1533 Bellenden Livy ii. iv. (S.T.S.) I. 142 Thir twin lawis..war pronuncit allanerie ..be succoure of þe said wolerius [but he mycht hareinrow haue þe thank þereof]. 1537 Bible (Great) Luke vi. 32 Yf ye lone them which lone you, what thanke haue ye? (so 1611, 1881) Tindale, what thanke ye yee worthy of? Rhem. what thanke is to you?). 1545 Elyot Pict. s. v. Iuno, Gratiam habere [is] to rendes with some pleasure done vnto them. 1584 Mirr. Mag. 9 It is a work of more thank to preserue health, then to cure Sickenesse. 1600 Nashe Summers Last Will Introd., He..must be making himselfe a pitiful laughing stock, & haue no thanke for his labor. 1633 Br. Hall Hard Texts, N. T. 4 The thanke of this is Gods, not yours. 1669 R. Montagu in Buccleuch MSS. (Hist. MSS. Comm.) I. 424 Lord Clarendon would have the thanke and credit of it.

10. To give thanks († thank, † to do thank(s), to express gratitude; spec. = 'to give thanks to God'; now esp. of saying grace at a meal. arch.

971 Blickl. Hom. 39 Don we..Þrihme þancas þe us þa wæstmas sealde. Ibid. 191 Þanc ic do, Crist þu goda hyrde. Ibid. 217 He..Ælmihtiʒum Gode þære ʒife þanc sæʒde. 1477 Earl Rivers (Caxton) Dictes 1 To ʒyue therfore synguler louynges & thankes. 1526 Tyndale Matt. xxvi. 26 Jesus toke breed, and gave thankes, brake it, and gave it to his disciples. 1596 Shaks. Tam. Shr. iv. i. 162 Will you giue thankes, sweete Kate, or else shall I? 1769 T. Hutchinson Hist. Mass. I. 262 The general court..gave them thanks for their good services. 1808-18 Jamieson s. v. Grace-drink, After the giving of thanks at the end of a meal. 1831 Scott Ct. Robt. Jn. All, all save me fair thanks for the knightly manner of quitting myself towards them, except one.

11. To return thanks, to render thanks in return for a benefit or favour. Now chiefly used of the formal or public expression of thanks, or of grace at a meal.

1591–1780 [see Return v. 20]. 1737 Lady M. W. Montagu Let. to C'tess Mar 18 Apr., I returned her thanks, and..took my leave. 1827 Edin. Weekly Jrnl. 28 Feb., He begged leave to return thanks for the honour which had been conferred on the Patrons of this excellent Institution. 1849 C. Bronte Shirley vii, 'Let us return thanks', said he; which he did forthwith, and all quitted the table.

III. 12. attrib. and Comb., as thank-receiver, thanks-prayer; † thank-picking, thanks-freighted adjs.; † thank-render, a rendering of thanks, a thanksgiving; thanks-day, Thanksgiving Day (U. S.); thanksdoing, thanks-living (nonce-wds., after thanksgiving), action or conduct indicative of a thankful spirit. See also Thank-offering, Thanksgiving, etc.

1633 Ford Love's Sacr. iv. i, Edged on by some ·thank-picking parasite. 1766 Cowper Let. to Lady Hesketh 31 Jan., I will constitute you my ·Thank-receiver-general for whatsoever gift I shall receive hereafter. 1548 Gest Pr. Masse in Dugdale Life (1840) App. i. 98 It is a forged worship and ·thankerendre. 1696 W. Bates Serm. Forgiveness 123 Let our thanksgiving be joined with ·thanksdoing. 1882 Spurgeon Treas. Dav. Ps. cxix. 65 We lose ourselves in adoring thanksgiving, and find ourselves again in careful ·thanks-living. 1900 Month Feb. 123 Passages..which seem to have reference to this ·Thanksgiver.

Thank (þæŋk), v. Forms: a. 1–2 þancan, 2–3 þankien, 3–5 þanken, 4–6 thanken, 4–7 thanke, thank, (4 þ-, thanc, 4–5 panky, thange), 5–thank. β. 1 ðoncian, 2 þonkien, 3–5 þonke (3 þonki, 4 ponkks), 4–6 thonk, (5–6 thong). [OE. þancian, þoncian = OS. thankôn (MDu., Du. danken), OHG. dankôn (MHG., G. danken), ON. þakka (Sw. tacka, Da. takke) :—OTeut. þank-ôjan*, f. þanko Thank sb.]

† 1. intr. To give thanks. Obs. exc. as absol. of 3.

c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. xxvi 27, ʒenimmende calic ðoncunco dyde vel ðoncade & sealde him. c 975 Rushw. Gosp. (Lat.) ʒenom calic þongade & salde þeom. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. (Ibid.) He ʒenam þone calic þanciende. c 1000 Ælfric Hom. II. 400 Drihten ðancode ærðan ðe he ða hlafas tobræce. c 1290 St. Brandan 595 in S. Eng. Leg. 256 Ilkan þonkede reuelliche. c 1300 Medusine xxxvi. 247 'Fayre lordes', seide Geffray, 'I thank yoo & be thanked for [indirect passive of' one ought to thank for that ].

† 2. intr. in particular constructions. a. To give thanks to a person (orig. with simple dative, at length treated as accusative: see 3). Obs.

c 888 K. Ælfred Boeth. v. § 3 Ðonca nu Gode þæt he ðe ʒefultemde. a 1000 Cædmon's Saten 336 [III] þancedon þeodnes þæt hit þus ʒeðingæ. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Luke xvii. 16 He..feoll to his foten & him þancode. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 135 þonked wurðe him [Let it be thanked to him]. a 1250 Le Morte Arth. 1248 On knes Felle thay..And thankyd All to god. 1508 Dunbar Gold. Targe 101 Syne to dance Flora..Thay salute, and thay thank a thousand syse. 1542 Udall Erasm. Apoph. 145 That persone, to whom onely..thou art bound to thanke.

† b. of (= on account of, for) a thing (orig. genitive): see c. Obs.

971 Blickl. Hom. 43 Ne sceal he..to lyt þancian heora ælmessan. Ibid. 203 Hie..þancudan þæs siʒes ðe hie ʒefered hæfdon.

† c. (combining a and b) to a person (dative), of a thing (orig. genitive), the dative (mostly a pronoun) passing into an accusative: the usual constr. in OE. and early ME.; passing into 3 b. Obs.

Beowulf 2397 Se ʒomela þone þancode ... þæs se man ʒespræc. a 1000 Cædmon's Gen. 1327 (Gr.) He..sceolde his drihtne þancian þæs leanes. c 1000 Ælfric Saints' Lives (1885) I. 104 Iulianus þa sona þæs þancode Gode. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 39 Þet þu luuie þine drihten and him þonkien alles hinges. c 1200 Vices & Virtues 29 þanke ðær-of ðine lauerde gode. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 197 Iob..þonkede him of þan wowe, alse dude ar of þe wele.

3. trans. To give thanks to; to express gratitude or obligation to. (Orig. intr. with dat.: see 2 a. By 1200 the dat. was treated as acc., and might be subject of the passive voice.) Sometimes const. that.

c 1000 Trin. Coll. Hom. 9 Iesuhelende he lauede þeos folc. Ibid. 9281 Ich þonke ʒou..þat ʒe me so muche louе ssewep. a 1300 Cursor M. 3321 (Cott.) Thancand god. til erth he fell. c 1350 Will. Palerne 2792 Pat we so scaþli ar scachaped god mowe [we] þonki. 1362 Langl. P. Pl. A. xii. 48, I..þankede hure a þousand syþes. c 1420 Chron. Vilod. 401 Pey thongedone god and mournedone no more. 1537 Whitehesley Chron. (Camden) I. 67 The maior and aldermen riding above the cittie thanking the people. 1598 Shaks. Merry W. i. i. 293, I had rather walke here (I thanke you). 1648 Hamilton Papers (Camden) 250 Powley is returned from London. He brings a most skevles letter.. which signifyes nothing.. Judge if I thanked him. a 1796 Burns Selkirk Grace, We has meat and we can eat, Sae let the Lord be thankit. 1818 Scott Hrt. Midl. xxxvii, That he has subjects in Scotland, I think he may thank God and his sword. 1841 Lane Arab. Nts. I. 112 The young prince kissed his hand and thanked him. 1906 Outlook 18 Sept. 346 He who solicits a favour by letter not infrequently concludes with the phrase, 'thanking you in anticipation', which came into vogue some ten years ago.

† b. Const. of a thing. Obs.

The continuation of 2 c; usual in ME.

c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 7 Þet ʒe þonkiet uie drihten alles hinges þe he us sent. c 1230 Halt Meid. 19 To þoukiʒodd of his grace & of his goddede. a 1300 Cursor M. 5304 Knele i sal befor þe king, And thank him of his grett menskinge. c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints v. (Johannes) 644 He..bad I suld..thange ʒou of ʒore gud vyl. c 1412 Hoccleve De Reg. Prince. 1062 God thanke alwey of thyne ese and of thyne smert. a 1533 Ld. Berners Huon lxi. 219, I thanke you of your courtesye. a 1548 Hall Chron., Edw. IV 236 b, The Frenche kyng..thanked the kyng of Englande of his kynde offre.

c. Const. for a thing: now usual.

a 1591 H. Smith Serm. (1637) 133 He is not thankfull before God, which thanks him only for his benefits. 1653 Holcroft Procopius i. 11 He thanckt the man much for his good will. 1715 De Foe Fam. Instruct. i. i. (1841) I. 7 How must I thank him for it? 1761 Colman Trav. 72 And thanks his gods for all the good gave. 1920 W. H. Hudson Introd. Study Lit. Pref. 6, I have to thank my friend..for the invaluable assistance which..he has again rendered me.

d. fig. To make a return to a person in evidence of obligation or gratitude. (In quot. ironical.)

1821 SCOTT Kenilw. xxvi, I were like to be thanked with a horse-whip.

e. In the future tense, used to express a request: I will thank you to do so-and-so.

1843 THACKERAY Ravenswing vi, The page .. instantly thanked her to pay his wages. 1852— Esmond III. v, I want to speak with your employer, Mr. Leach. I'll thank ye go fetch him. Mod. I will thank you to hand me my field-glass. I will thank you for a glass of water.

f. Phr. To thank one for nothing: esp. in (f) Thank you for nothing, an ironical expression indicating that the speaker thinks he has got or been offered nothing worth thanks.

1703 MOXON Mech. Exerc. 60 But perhaps these Pretenders mean the Iron or Steel shall be as soft as Lead, when the Iron or Steel is red-hot; if so, we may thank them for nothing. 1712 ADDISON Spect. No. 391 ¶ 3 Jupiter thanked him for nothing. 1754 FOOTE Knights I. Wks. 1799 I. 67 Part with Favourite! no, I thank you for nothing. 1848 [see THANK YOU].

g. Ejaculatory phrases, as thank God († I thank God (Obs.), God be thanked, etc.), thank goodness, thank heaven. To thank one's (or the) stars, to congratulate oneself on one's good fortune: see STAR.

c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. (1810) 134 þanked be God of heuen. 1340 Ayenb. 196 God be yhered and y-ponked. 1426 Test. Ebor. (Surtees) I. 76, I .. in gud mynd, thanket be God. c 1489 CAXTON Sonnes of Aymon xxiv. 330 Hole & sounde, thanked be god. 1530 PALSGR. 754/2, I am one of them, God be thanked! 1599 SHAKS. Much Ado III, v. 15 Yes I thank God, I am as honest as any man liuing, that is an old man, and no honester then I. 1796 MRS. D'ARBLAY Camilla III. 99 Now, I have not the gift of writing, which, thank God, I have left off repining. 1811 L. M. HAWKINS C'tess & Gertr. III. 283, I was all that, thank goodness, as I always say, last grass. 1840 THACKERAY Shabby-genteel Story ii, I am here, thank Heaven, quite alone. 1872 [see GOODNESS g].

1614 B. JONSON Barth. Fair Induct., Yet I kept the Stage in Master Tarleton's time, I thanke my starres. 1730 FIELDING Tumble Down D. iii, Harry, you may thank your stars that conducted you to me. 1834 T. HAWKINS Mem. Ichthyos. & Plesiosauri 42 But I should..thank the stars and the Cholera that it was no worse.

† 4. With dative of person (indirect obj.) and accusative of thing (direct obj.): = 3 b or c. Obs. (Cf. TELL v. 3 (a).)

c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 3 We ahte to..þonkien hit ure drihten þe hit us lende. a 1300 Cursor M. 16219 Herod thankes þe þi sand. 1362 LANGL. P. Pl. A. VII. 17 We haue no lymes to labore with; ye lord we hit þonken. c 1475 Rauf Coilzear 322 Mair the King spak nocht, Bot thankit thame thair deid.

b. With the thing as sole obj.: To return thanks for, express one's gratitude for; to repay. rare.

c 1470 ASHBY Dicta Philos. 925 A goode man thanketh euery benefete, After the yeuers possibilite. 1818 BYRON Beppo xx, Charles forgot To thank his tale. 1819 — Juan I. cxii, His young lip thank'd it with a grateful kiss. 1867 MORRIS Jason xv. 226 And I am well aweary of it now, And of my toil, thanked with hard word and blow.

5. To give the thanks or credit for something to; to consider or hold responsible: esp. in ironical use, = to blame 1560 DAUS tr. Sleidane's Comm. 189 Him that brought hym vp, and whome both he and his father may thanke for all theyr good fortune. 1667 MILTON P. L. x. 736 Who.. but.. will curse My Head,..For this we may thank Adam; but his Wife bore us the perdition. 1794 MRS. RADCLIFFE Myst. Udolpho xxxi, She might thank herself for what happened. 1885 SIR N. LINDLEY in Law Rep. 14 Q.B.Div. 817 If..any mistake was made by the sheriff, the defendant had only himself to thank for it.

Thankee (þæ·ŋkɛ*i*), vulgar colloq. for thank ye, THANK YOU. See 'EE.

1824 in Spirit Pub. Jrnls. (1829) 302 My friends, the Yankees, For ten such plays, I guess, wouldn't give ten thankees. 1848 DICKENS Dombey xi, Thankee my Lady. Lord bless you, my Lady.

Thanker (þæ·ŋkər). [f. THANK v. + -ER 1.] One who thanks.

a 1591 H. SMITH Serm. (1637) 132 Moe haue gone away speeders, then haue gone away thankers. 1800 COLERIDGE Wallenstein iv. ii. 1 The devil take such thankers! 1844 BROWNING Colombe's Birthday ii, Stay, Sabyne; let me have no make sure Of one true thanker.

Thankful (þæ·ŋkfŭl), a. [f. THANK sb. + -FUL.]

1. Feeling or expressing thanks or gratitude; prompted by feelings of gratitude; grateful.

971 Blickl. Hom. 169 Wesaðð þancfulle þon Hælende eoweres andleofan. 1500–20 DUNBAR Poems lxxvii. 72 Be thankfull to this burgh of Aberdein. 1535 COVERDALE 1 Sam. ii. Contents, The thankful songe of Anna. 1592 SHAKS. Rom. & Jul. III. v. 149 Not proud you haue, But thankfull that you haue. 1685 DRYDEN Theen. August. 383 Live then, thou great encourager of arts: Live ever in our thankful hearts! 1748 BUTLER Serm. Wks. 1874 II. 317 The generality of mankind have cause to be thankful that their station exempts them from so great temptations. 1856 FROUDE Hist. Eng. I. v. 430 We have reason to be thankful that the thing, well or ill, was over.

† b. Satisfied, contented. Obs.

a 900 tr. Bæda's Hist. v. xxiii[1]. (1890) 478 Scottas..wæron þoncfulle heora gemæsrum. c 1050 Gloss. in Wr.-Wülcker 367/18 Contentus, þancful.

c. fig. Cf. GRATEFUL a. 2 b.

1610 HOLLAND Camden's Brit. (1637) 273 The ground..is thankefull to the husbandman, in so much as it doth afford come to be carried forth.

† 2. Worthy or deserving of thanks, gratitude, or credit; pleasing, acceptable, grateful, agreeable.

c 1000 in Anglia (1899) XIII. 382 We halsiaþ..god þæt þeow þin cyng ure ..to þe ..þancfull he mæge becuman. c 1050 Gloss. in Wr.-Wülcker 437/1 Grat[illegible]tiosus, þoncful. 1375 BARBOUR Bruce v. 278 He had done mony a thankfull deid. 1456 SIR G. HAYE Law Arms (S.T.S.) 68 Unrychtwis offerandis ar nocht acceptable na thankfull to his godhede. 1511 REN. VIII Let. in Burton & Raine Hemingbrough 380 Wherby ye shall ministre unto us right singler and thankfull pleasore. 1552 HULOET, Thankefull, acceptus. 1596 DALRYMPLE tr. Leslie's Hist. Scot. I. (S.T.S.) I. 130 The name of king was maist grate and thankful to thame Id. 1611 TOURNEUR Atk. Tragedy I. ii, His good successe shall be most thankeful to your trust.

† b. Sc. Of a payment: Giving satisfaction, satisfactory. Obs.

1497 Acc. Ld. High Treas. Scot. I. 315, I resault..for the Erle Marschaul his thankfull and reddy payment. 1527 Cadzholl Pap. (Maitland) I. 62 Alslang and howlang ye said Johne and his airs mak to me and my airs gud and thankful service. 1612 Sc. Acts Jas. VI (1816) IV. 472/1 To mak thame thankfull trynding. 1672 in Proc. Soc. Ant. Scot. (1890) XXVI. 194 To make tynoussis and thankfull payment.

† 3. ? Done without reward or payment; gratuitous: cf. next, 3. Obs. rare.

c 1380 WYCLIF Serm. Sel. Wks. I. 282 þe fifte manere þat prestis shulden have shulde be þankful traveilinge; for þif þei wolen have þank of God, þei shulden here fe symonie, and neiber sille her preechinge or oþer workes þat þei done.

Thankfully (þæ·ŋkfŭli), adv. [f. prec. + -LY 2.] In a thankful manner.

1. With thankfulness; with thanks; gratefully.

c 1000 ÆLFRIC Saints' Lives (1890) II. 198 þa ongeat eustachius þæt seo fore-sæde costnung him ðá mæ wæs and þancfullics hi under-feng. c 1380 WYCLIF Serm. Sel. Wks. I. 130 Sib Crist suffride þis for synne of his breþeren, þei seiden þei suffre þankifull for þer own synne. 1567 Triall Treas. (1850) 18, I cannot but thankfully render Such commendations as is requisite to be. 1612 SHAKS. Cymb. I. vi. 79 Yet Heauen's bounty towards him might Be ye'd more thankfully. 1745 DE FOE Vox. round World (1840) 248 He accepted thankfully all my presents. 1875 JOWETT Plato (ed. 2) V. 365 We will desire the one to give their instructions freely, and the others to receive them thankfully.

† b. With satisfaction; gratuitously. Obs.

1513 DOUGLAS Æneis I. ix. heading, How Eneas with all his rowt bedene War thankfullie ressavit of the quene. a 1578 LINDESAY (Pitscottie) Chron. Scot. (S.T.S.) I. 90 The king grantit the same verray thankfullie. 1597 A. M. tr. Guillemeau's Fr. Chirurg. v, Receaue thankfully this my laboure.

† 2. So as to gratify, please, or satisfy; acceptably, pleasingly; satisfactorily. Obs.

c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints iii. (Andreas) 877 He lifiit sa thankfully to god and mane. 1482 Exch. Rolls Scotl. IX. 284 note, That ye redily and thankfully content and pay to the said Johne..the said yerely pensioun. 1500 Ibid. XI. 266 note, That ye cause hir to be thankfullie pait of hir said pension. 1538 ELYOT, Placebilliter, thankefully, contentfully. 1596 in Reliq. Ct. Misc. (1840) I. 16 The prices tharof salbe thankfullie allowit to 30w in 30ur comptis.

† 3. Gratuitously; for thanks alone. Obs.

1552 HULOET, Thankefully, or for nothynge, or without reward or deserte, but onelye for gramercye, gratim.

Thankfulness (þæ·ŋkfŭlnés). [f. as prec. + -NESS.] The quality or condition of being thankful.

1. Gratefulness, gratitude.

1556 in Archæol. Ælianæ (1888) App. xvi, 291 Whiche thyng, with al due thanckefulnesse, thei receiued at his maiesties handes. 1612 BIBLE Acts xxiv. 3 Wee accept it always.. with all thankfulnesse. 1741 RICHARDSON Pamela II. 158 O how shall I find Words to express my Thankfulness! 1856 FROUDE Hist. Eng. I. v. 361 Such a resolution would probably have been welcomed with passionate thankfulness.

† b. Contextually: Thanks. Obs. rare.

1647 MAY Hist. Parl. I. ix. 104 The Scottish Commissioners ..returned thankfulnesse to the Parliament..for that great sum of 300000*l.*

† 2. Gratification, satisfaction. Obs. rare.

1500 Reg. Privy Seal Scotl. I. 70 The hartlie lufe..he has and beais to the said Jonet, and..the thankfulnes done be hir oft times to his gud grace.

Thanking (þæ·ŋkiŋ), vbl. sb. arch. [f. THANK v. + -ING 1.] The action or act of giving thanks; the expression of gratitude; thanks.

c 893 K. ÆLFRED Oros. I. iv. [viii.] § 2 To wundrianne þæt þa Egipti swa lytle þoncunge wiston losepe. c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. John vi. 23 Þoncunge dedon Drihtne. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Hom. II. 170 He undefeng ða lac mid ðancunge. 1340 WYCLIF Heb. xxvii. 27 Ha þankynge the cuppe, dede thankyngis. c 1420–30 Prymer (1895) 51 Whanne þei ben hool, þei moun gelde þankyngis to þee in þi chirche. 1508 BP. FISHER 7 Penit. Ps. cii. Wks. (1876) 190 Gyuynge thankynges vnto hym. 1612 SHAKS. Cymb. v. v. 407 He would haue well becom'd this place, and grac'd The thankings of a King. 1851 MRS. BROWNING Casa Guidi W. I. 239 We thank you that ye first unlatched the door, But will not make it inaccessible By thankings on the threshold.

Thankless, a. [f. THANK sb. + -LESS.]

1. Not moved by or expressing gratitude; unthankful, ungrateful. Also fig. of things: Making no return, unresponsive.

1536 LYNDESAY Answ. Kingis Flyting 33 Full sair I rew That euer I did Mouth thankles so persew. c 1560 A. SCOTT Poems (S.T.S.) v. 65. 1598 MARSTON Sco. Villanie iii, ix, All as thankless as ungratefull Thames Heslinks away, leaving but reeking mud Of dungy slime behinde. 1637 MILTON Lycidas 66 And strictly meditate the thankless Muse. 1792 COWPER Stanzas Bill Mortality 1 Thankless for favours from on high. 1865 DICKENS Mut. Fr. I. i, How can you be so thankless to your best friend?

2. Of a task, or the like: Which brings no thanks; receiving or deserving no thanks.

a 1547 SURREY Æneid II. 125 But whereunto these thankless tales in vaine Do I reherse? 1591 SAVILE Tacitus' Hist. II. lix. 88 A thancklesse office and displeasing. 1690 NOBNIS Beatitudes (1694) I. 178 Not only a thankless, but an odious, difficult and hazardous Undertaking. 1868 MISS BRADDON Dead-Sea Fr. i, It is but a thankless task to catalogue such a face.

3. Without thanks; unthanked. rare.

1658 SIR T. HERBERT Trans. (ed. 2) 168 The Ambassador had no patience to digest it, saye he equall contempt to.. send him thanklesse back againe. 1897 Westm. Gaz. 22 Feb. 2/1 Prince Max comes to the Court of Ferdinand to return, thankless, a picture painted by Ferdinand.

Tha·nklessly, adv. [f. prec. + -LY 2.] In a thankless manner; without thanks; unthankfully.

1626 BP. HALL Contempl., O. T. xx. ii, The will of God may be done thanklessly. 1881 in Spurgeon Treas. Dav. Ps. cxix. 75 Thanklessly receiving the gifts with no thought of the Giver.

Tha·nklessness. [f. as prec. + -NESS.] The quality or condition of being thankless; ungratefulness, unthankfulness.

1583 GOLDING Calvin on Deut. vii. 41 Were it not too shamefull a thankelessnese in vs if wee shoulde not bee [etc.]. 1628 WITHER Brit. Rememb. iv. 404 Thy thanklessnesse, And such like Sinnes. 1840 L. HUNT Legend of Florence I. ii, Friendship ends, In treachery and in thanklessness begun. 1860 PUSEY Min. Proph. 273 Thanklessness shuts the door to God's personal mercies to us.

† Tha·nklewe, a. Obs. rare. [f. THANK sb. + -LEWE.] ? Deserving of thanks, thankworthy; or ? grateful, agreeable.

1430 in Sharpe Lond. & Kingd. (1895) III. 374 In performinge of his yrse prayer ye may do vnto us soo notable and þanklewe service þat we wol vel considre hit in tyme comyng.

† Tha·nkly, adv. Obs. rare—[1]. [irreg. f. THANK sb. + -LY 2.] Thankfully.

1591 SYLVESTER Du Bartas I. iii. 809 He gleeth frankly what we thankly spend.

Tha·nk-offering. [f. THANK sb. + OFFERING vbl. sb.] In the Levitical law, An offering presented as an expression of gratitude to God; hence in ordinary use, An offering or gift made by way of thanks or acknowledgement.

1530 TINDALE Lev. vii. 12 Yf he offer to geue thanckes, he shall bryngе vnto his thanckofferyng [1560 (Genev.) for his thankes offring] swete cakes mynigled with oyle. 1539 BIBLE (Great) 2 Chron. xxxiii. 16 He..sacrificed theron peace offervnges, & thanke offervnges. 1839 THIRLWALL Greece VI. xlix. 171 He dedicated the waggon in the citadel, as a thank-offering to the king of the gods. 1888 BURGON Lives 12 Gld. Men I. ii. 45 He sent at once a thank-offering for distribution among the poor.

† Tha·nksgive, v. Obs. rare—[1]. [Back-formation from THANKSGIVING.] trans. To give thanks for.

a 1638 MEDE Diatribe (1642) 55 Irenæus also affirmeth, That our Saviour, by the institution of the Eucharist had confirmed oblations in the New Testament, Namely, to thanksgive or bless a thing in way to a sacred use, he took to be an offering of it unto God.

Tha·nksgiver. [f. as next + GIVER.] One who gives thanks.

1621 AINSWORTH Annot. Song Sol. i. 3 Thanksgivings, in Nehem. 12. 31 [are] for companies of thanksgivers. 1690 C. MERSE O. & N. Test. I. 72 The life of thanksgiving is the good life of the thanks-giver. 1818 BENTHAM Ch. Eng. 123 Exhausted by that same grand effort, the stock of thanksgivers is gone. 1883 J. PARKER Tyne Chylde 270 Thankfulness elevates and ennobles the thanksgiver.

Thanksgiving (þæ·ŋksgiviŋ). [f. thanks, pl. of THANK sb. + GIVING vbl. sb.]

1. The giving of thanks; the expression of thankfulness or gratitude; esp. the act of giving thanks to God.

1533 TINDALE Supper of Lord E iv b, One or other Psalme or prayer of thankes giuyng in the mother tongue. 1539 BIBLE (Great) 1 Tim. iv. 4 For all the creatures of God are good, & nothing to be refused, yf it be receaued with thanksgeuynge. 1562 WINSET Cert. Tract. iii. Wks. (S.T.S.) I. 29 Gyf sic zeirlie memorial in blythnes and thanksgeifing wes haldin. 1588 SHAKS. L. L. L. II. i. 193, I cannot stay thanks-giving. 1658 Whole Duty Man v. § 8 The fifth part of prayer is thanksgiving; that is, the praising and blessing God for all his mercies. 1842 MISS MITFORD in L'Estrange Life (1870) III. ix. 159 Think how full of thanksgiving were my prayers last night.

b. A public celebration, with religious services, held as a solemn acknowledgement of Divine favours; also, a day set apart for this purpose; spec. in U. S., Thanksgiving Day (see 3 b).

1641 Nicholas Papers (Camden) 10 It was resolved that there shalbe on y^e 7^th of September next a publique thanksgiving for this good accord betweene y^e 2 nacions. 1665 MANTON Christ. Love 1. Warrant 1 Publick Thanksgivings were Ordered to be given to God for this Victory. 1760 J. ADAMS Diary 26 Nov., Night before Thanksgiving. 1869 MRS. STOWE Oldtown Folks xxvii, Great as the preparations were for the dinner, everything was so contrived that not a soul in the house should be kept from the morning service of Thanksgiving.

2. An act or expression of thanks; esp. a form of words, a prayer or religious service used to render thanks for Divine benefits.

General Thanksgiving, the first of the forms of thanksgiving in the Book of Common Prayer, that for the blessings of life in general. Great Thanksgiving, in early and oriental liturgies: see quot. 1708–22.

1535 COVERDALE Ps. xxxix. [xl.] 3 He hath put a new songe in my mouth, euen a thanks-geuynge vnto oure God. 1552 Bk. Com. Prayer (heading), The Thankes geuing of Women after Childe birth. 1662 Ibid., Prayers & Thanksgivings upon several occasions..A General Thanksgiving. 1708–22

J. Bingham Chr. Antiq. xv. iii. (1843) 770 After this the priest went on with the εὐχαριστία properly so called, that is the giving thanksgiving to God for all his mercies, both of creation, providence and redemption. 1849 Macaulay Hist. Eng. ii. I. 185 The ministers selected from that liturgy such prayers and thanksgivings as were likely to be least offensive to the people.

3. attrib. and Comb.

1641 Evelyn Diary Aug., The next Sunday was the thanksgiving sermons perform'd in Col. Goreing's Regiment. 1814 Southey Carmen Triumph. xvi, With one consent, The high thanksgiving strain to heaven is sent,..Glory to God! Deliverance for Mankind! 2 1859 Macaulay Hist. Eng. xxiii. (1861) V. 17 They had still in their ears the thanksgiving sermons and thanksgiving anthems.

b. Thanksgiving day, a day set apart for public thanksgiving for Divine goodness; spec. in the United States, an annual festival religious and social, now appointed by proclamation and held on the last Thursday of November.

The first celebration was held by the Plymouth colony in 1621, in thankfulness for their first harvest in America after a year of struggle and privation, and the usage became general in New England. After the Revolution, it extended to the Middle States, and later to the West; after the Civil War gradually to the South. Its national observance has been annually recommended by the President since 1863.

1674 Josselyn Voy. New Eng. 214 Towards night I returned to Boston again, the next day being Thanksgiving day, on Fryday the Tenth day we weighed Anchor. 1704 Luttrell Brief Rel. (1857) V. 460 Sir Christopher Wrenn is erecting a throne in St. Pauls cathedral for her majestie to sitt in on the thanksgiving day. 1714 S. Sewall Diary 25 Nov., Thanks-giving day; very cold. 1844 Whittier Pumpkin iii, Ah! on Thanksgiving day..When the gray-haired New Englander sees round his board The old broken links of affection restored. 1903 Daily Chron. 6 Nov. 5/1 Thanksgiving Day long remained an institution peculiar to New England, but it has been observed annually in New York State since 1817.

† Thankworth, a. Obs. [f. Thank sb. + Worth a.] = next.

† 1426 Lett. Marg. Anjou & Bp. Beckington (Camden) 33, I cuyte me soo to yow in that matere, as were thinke worth. 1550 Coverdale Spir. Perle Pref. 1 b, The more daungerous be his sones and sicknes, and the more thancke worth the cure therof. 1647–47 Feltham Resolves 30 To trusts him for an estate when we have the evidences in our iron chest, is easie; and not thankeworth.

Thankworthy, a. Also 6–7 thanks-. Worthy of thanks; deserving gratitude or credit.

1387–8 T. Usk Test. Love Prol. (Skeat) I. 39 Although this booke be lytel thank worthy for the leudnesse in trauall. 1421 Sir H. Luttrell in Ellis Orig. Lett. Ser. II. I. 86 Wherfore..he ys thankeworthy. 1533 J. Heywood Play Weather (1903) 1125 Thy labour is rycht mycke thankeworthy. 1534 Tindale 1 Pet. ii. 19 For it is thankeworthye yf a man for conscience towarde god endure grefe, sufferinge wrongfully. 1594 Carew Huarte's Exam. Wits xiii. (1596) 202 No fesse thanks-worthie a part of Seruice. 1672 Wilkins Nat. Relig. 31 It would not be thank-worthy for a man to believe that which of necessity he must believe. 1691 T. K. Cheyne Orig. Feather Introd. 17 A faulty but at that time thankworthy book.

Hence Thankworthily adv., in a thankworthy manner; Thankworthiness, the quality or condition of being thankworthy.

1553 Bale Gardiner's De vera Obed. C vij, To exercise our selues godly and thankworthyly. 1874 Swinburne Bothwell i. 1. 7 And yet that do I, we do it for all men's good, For the main people's love, thankworthily. 1847 Webster, Thank-worthiness.*

Thank you. [Aphetic for I thank you.] A phrase used in courteous acknowledgement of a favour or service. Thank you for nothing: see Thank v. 3 f. So, rarely, Thank thee. Cf. Thankee.

1 4... Why I can't be a Nun 159 in E. E. P. (1862) 142 'Thanke yow, lady', quod I than. 1616 B. Jonson Devil an Ass iv. ii, Eith. Thanke you good Madame...Thanke thee, good Eyther-side. 1705 Vanbrugh Confed. i. 1, Thank you kindly, Mrs. Amlet, thank you kindly. 1738 Swift Pol. Conversat. ii. 140 No, thank ye, Colonel. 1848 Thackeray Van. Fair xxiv, It's you who want to introduce beggars into my family? Thank you for nothing, Captain. 1862 Miss Yonge C'ters Kate ii. 24 She..said something meant for 'No, thank you' instead of which nothing was to be heard but 'q' [i.e. ——k you]. 1875 Jowett Plato (ed. 2) III. 206 [He] goes about learning of others, to whom he never even says Thank you.

b. as sb. (written with hyphen or as one word): An utterance of this phrase.

1887 Chr. World 4 Aug. 589 He utters a hearty 'Thank-you!' 1894 Westm. Gaz. 21 Aug. 3/3 The majority of passengers retreated from the tables regardless of their running fire of 'thankyous', which were thankyous for nothing. 1900 Ibid. 6 Sept. 2/1 We had not said nearly enough 'thank-yous'.

Thank-you-ma'am. U.S. colloq. Also thank'ee-marm. A hollow or ridge in a road, which causes persons passing over it in a vehicle to nod the head involuntarily, as if in acknowledgement of a favour; spec. a ridge or hollow on a hill road serving to throw off descending rain-water.

1849 Longf. Kavanagh xi, We went like the wind over the hollows in the snow;—the driver called them 'thank-you-ma'ams', because they made everybody bow. 1869 O. W. Holmes Guard. Angel xiv, Life's a road that's got a good many thank-you-ma'ams to go bumpin' over, says he. 1897 Howells Landl. Lion's Head 192 At one of the thank-you-marms in the road, the sick man stopped, like a weary horse, to breathe.

Thanna(h, var. Tana 1, Indian police station.

Thanne, panne, obs. ff. Than, Then.

† Thannic, a. Chem. Obs. [f. Thann (name of a town in the Vosges where Kestner the discoverer lived) + -ic.] In thannic acid: see quot.

1853 Pharmac. Jrnl. XIII. 170 Racemic acid was..discovered by Kestner,..in the year 1820. It was called thannic acid by its discoverer.

Thape, dial. var. japc: see Feaberry, gooseberry.

‖ Thapsia (þæ'psiâ). Bot. Also 4–6 tapsia. [L. thapsia (tapsia), a. Gr. θαψία, said to mean a plant brought from Thapsus.] A genus of umbelliferous perennials, of the tribe Laserpitieæ, containing four species, natives of the Mediterranean region. That formerly in medical repute is T. garganica, also called Deadly Carrot.

c 1400 Lanfranc's Cirurgie 195 þe place shal be frotid in þe sunne wiþ an oynement of tapsia. c 1440 Pallad. on Husb. 1. 1044 This tapsia, this wermot, and eleure, Cucumber wilde, and euery herbe kynde Of herbe is nought for hem. 1578 Lyte Dodoens III. xxiv. 365 The barke of the roote of Thapsia. 1586 Rates of Custome E viij, Tapsia the pound xij.d. 1897 Dunglison Med. Lex., Thapsia..The root operates violently, both upwards and downwards.

b. attrib. and Comb., as thapsia-plaster (Cent. Dict. 1890), -resin (see quot.), -root.

1890 Billings Nat. Med. Dict., Thapsia resin, a soft extract prepared by digesting thapsia-root in hot alcohol.

‖ Thapsus (þæ'psŏs). Bot. Also 4–5 (8) tapsus, 8 thapsos. [med.L., a. Gr. θάψος a plant used for dyeing yellow (Dioscor.).] An old name of the genus Verbascum, esp. of V. Thapsus, the great mullein.

a 1387 Simon. Barthol. 41/1 Tapsus barbastus, flosmus idem. 1578 Lyte Dodoens I. lxxxi. 119 Mulleyn is called..in Shoppes Tapsus Barbatus. 1718 Rowe tr. Lucan IX. 1366 The Gummy Larch-Tree and the Thapsos there, Wound-wort and Golden-weed promise the Air.

‖ Thar (þâr), sb. Zool. [Native name.]

1. The native name in Nepâl of a goat-antelope, Nemorhædus bubalina, belonging to the same genus as the Goral (N. goral).

1833 B. H. Hodgson in Proc. Zool. Soc. 10 Sept. 105 As compared with the Ghörâl, Antilope Goral, Hardw.. the Thâr is a massive beast, twice the size, and has suborbital sinuses, and a mane along the back of the neck and shoulders. Ibid. 24 Sept. 111 A cavity also exists in the osseous core of the horns of the Thâr Antelope. 1834 Ibid. 12 Aug. 86. 1834 Penny Cycl. II. 89/2 The Thar (A. thar, Hodgson) was described for the first time in a paper by B. H. Hodgson, Esq., British resident in Nepaul..The thar inhabits the central region of Nepaul. 1885 Cycl. India III. 88/1 Thar, the forest goat, is the Nepal name of Nemorhædus bubalina, called Rimu and Ramu on the Sutlej and Kashmir, and Serow in the hills generally.

2. Also applied to the Tehr, or Himalayan wild goat (Hemitragus jemlaicus).

1896 List Anim. Zool. Soc. 166 Hemitragus jemlaicus (Hodgs.) Thar. 1902 Webber Forests Upper India vi. 52 Hemitragus jemlaicus is a true wild goat, here called 'thar' by the natives. 1917 The thar is gregarious. 1902 Lydekker in Encycl. Brit. XXXIII. 939/1 The discovery of a species of thar (Hemitragus) in southern Arabia. 1903 Selfridge's Apt. 52/3 Open and high ground..more suitable for wild sheep, such as the thar.

† Thar, v. Obs.: see Tharf.

Thar (âar, par), ME., chiefly northern, form of There. Also in compounds, as ðar abutan, etc.: see Thereabout and other words to Therewith.

Thar, thare, obs. ff. Their; var. Thir Obs., these; obs. gen. and dat. sing. fem. and gen. pl. of The; 3 sing. and pl. pres. indic. of Tharf v. Obs.

Tharandite (tæ'rândəit). Min. [a. Ger. tharandit (Freiesleben, 1817), f. Tharandt in Saxony (where it occurs) + -ite 1.] A variety of dolomite occurring in greenish yellow crystals, containing a small percentage of ferrous oxide.

1850 Ansted Elem. Geol., Min. etc. § 385. 1868 Dana Min. 682 Tharandite, from Tharand, near Dresden, is crystalline, and contains 4 p.c. of Fe.

Tharatour, Sc.: see Thereatour.

Tharborough, corrupt form of Thirdborough.

Thar-, tharck-cake: see Tharf-cake.

Thare, obs. f. Tare sb 1; also of There.

† Tharf, sb. Obs. Also 1 þearf, ðearf, 2 þerf, 3 (Orm.) þarrfe. [f. Tharf v. Cf. OS. tharf, OHG. darba, ON. þorf.] Need, necessity.

Beowulf 1798 Sele-þegn..se for andrysnum ealle beweotede þeznes þearfe. 735 Bæda Death-song 2 Þonc snoturne þæm him þæt sêle. c 1000 Sax. Leechd. II. 84 Sif þearf sie, sele hwilum wyrtdreinc. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 9 Nis hit nan þerf þet me her on þisse liue for his saule bidde pater noster. c 1200 Ormin 12247 Onn alle þa þatt hafdenn ned & þarrfe to þin hellpe. c 1330 Arth. & Merl. 16 And wely seen, if þat willen, þat þem þarf neuer spillen.

Tharf, a. Obs. or dial. Forms: 1 þeorf, þearf, (ðorof, ðearf), 3 (Orm.) þeorrf, 4 þerf, -e, 4–5 therf, 5 tharf, -e. See also Tharf-cake. [OE. þeorf (=-þerf), unleavened, unsoured; of milk, sweet; Com. Teut. = OFris. therf, derf, MDu. derf (Kilian has 'derf-brood, panis azymus'), OHG., MHG. derp unleavened, Ger. derb solid, compact, rough, coarse, ON. þjarfr unleavened, insipid. With sense 2, cf. the mod. Ger. sense of derb; app. referring to the solid, heavy, or stiff quality of unleavened bread. Pre-Teut. etymology unknown.]

† 1. Of bread, etc.: Not prepared with leaven, unleavened. Obs. exc. in Tharf-cake.

c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. xxvi. 17 Þa forma ȝutedlice doeȝe ðara ðorofra [Rushw. ðefra for ðerfa] mæta. c 1000 Ælfric Hom. II. 210 Þeorfe hlafas we bringaþ Gode to lace. c 1000 — Exod. xii. 39 Hi..worhton þeorfe heorþbacenne hlafas. c 1000 Ælfric Voc. in Wr.-Wülcker 153/32 Asinus, þeorf. c 1200 Orm 997 Brædd All þeorrf wiþ þutenn berme. a 1300 Cursor M. 6099 Wit therf bred and fenn wild. 1382 Wycliif Gen. xix. 3 He made a feest, sethede therf breed, and thei eten. — Mark xiv. 1 Pask and the feeste of therf loones was aftir the secunde day. c 1400 Maundev. (Roxb.) lii. 70 Þai say we ere þat makes þe sacrament of tharf breed. c 1440 Voc. in Wr.-Wülcker 657/30 Panis silignineus, tharf-bred. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 490/2 Therf, wythe owte sowre dowe. 1483 Cath. Angl. 381/2 Tharfe, azimus.

2. transf. Lumpish, stiff, heavy, slow; hence fig. reluctant, unwilling, diffident, tardy. dial. Hence Tha'rfish a. in same sense; Tha'rfly adv., in a tharf or tharfish manner.

1742 Hodson Minor's Prog. (Davies), Tharf [is] when a Vein or Pipe alters from its own intrinsical Nature to another, that is more Hask, Barren, and Dry, and more bound up, and stiff. 1828 Craven Gloss., Tharf, stark, stiff, metaphorically, backward, unwilling. 1876 Mid-Yorks. Gloss. Tharf, Thauf, diffident; unwilling; reluctant; tardy. ..Also tharfish adj., and tharfly adv. 1876 Whitby Gloss., Tharf, Tharfish, shy, diffident. Tharfly, slowly. 'The rain comes nobbut tharfly'. 1894 Nordhumbrld. Gloss., Tharf, Tharfish, lumpish, heavy-countenanced, forbidding. Applied to substances it means 'sad', heavy, like liver in texture. Tharfly, slowly, reluctantly.

† Tharf, thar, v. Obs. exc. Sc. dial. Forms: see below. [A Com. Teutonic verb, belonging to the class of preterite-presents, in which the present tense is an original preterite (cf. Can, Dow, Dare, etc.): OE. þurfan*, pres. þearf—þærfon, pa. þorfte, = OFris. therva, *therf, therf—therven, OS. thurban, thurf—thurben, OHG. durfan, MDu. dorven, dorfte (Du. durven), ON. þurfa, þarf—þurfom, þurfta (Sw. tarfva), OHG. durfan, darf—durfun, dorfta (MHG. durfen, G. dürfen), Goth. þaurban, þarf—þaurbum, þaurfta*:—OTeut. þarf-, þurb-; corresp. to a pre-Teut. ablaut series terp-, *torp-, trp-, which has not been certainly identified. The ME. ð-forms had lost the f or v, app. first in the 2nd sing. present þearfe, þeart-tu, þer-tu, leaving a stem þar-, þer-, þor-, þur-, which was afterwards often confused with the dar-, dor-, dur- of Dare v.[1], so that the latter had forms in th, while there are here forms in d, esp. in the 2nd and 3rd person singular of the present: see γ. The confusion of tharf and dare is also found in the cognate languages: see Dare v.[1]

A. Inflexions.

1. Pres. Indic. a. 1st sing. I þearf.

Beowulf 2007 Ic þæt eall ge-wræc swa..[ne] gylþan þearf grendeles maga. a 1000 Cædmon's Gen. 2276 (Gr.) Ne þearf ic yrfestol eaforan byllan.

b. 2nd sing. α. I þearft, 2 þerft, 3 þerf.

Beowulf 1672 Þæt þu him on-drædan ne þearft. c 1000 Sax. Leechd. II. 180 Ne þearft þu þone wermod to don. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 37 Soðliche ne þerft þu bidden namare. a 1225 Leg. Kath. 2160 Þu wenest þet þæt tu wenen ne þerf. β. 3 þert, 3–4 þer(tu), 3–5 þers(tou), 4 þertes-(tow), 4–5 therst, 5 ther, 5 thers.

c 1205 Lay. 14482 Ne þæret [MS. þræt] þu nauere habben kare of uncuðe leoden. a 1225 Ancr. R. 136 Ne þer tu nout dreden þe attrie neddre of helle. c 1300 St. Brandan 626 Ne therstou nothing drede. c 1330 R. Brunne Chron. Wace (Rolls) 4870 Of Kent ne þertestow fe bat cost. 1390 Gower Conf. II. 61 Me semeth that thou therst noght care. a 1450 Le Morte Arth. 3985 Othure warke thou thare not wene. c 1460 Towneley Myst. ii. 293 Thar thou nowther flyte ne chyde.

γ. 3 dert, 4 dars(tou, -tow).

c 1205 Lay. 29923 Ne dert þu nauere adrede. c 1320 Cast. Love 975 Ne darstou on erþe þenchen elles nouht. 1377 Langl. P. Pl. B. xiv. 55 Bi so þat þow be solure..Darstow (v.r. Thurst þow, Thardestow] neuere care for corne, ne lynnen cloth ne wollen.

c. 3rd sing. α. 1 ðearf, peard (ðorfeð, -eð), 2 þerf, 3 (Orm.) þarrf, 3–4 þarf, 4 tharf.

c 888 K. Ælfred Boeth. xxiv. § 4 Ne ðearf he nanes þinges. c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. John xiii. 10 Seðe þeðueen is ne ðorfeð [c 975 Rushw. ne ðorfeð] þæette eflos hine. c 975 Rushw. Gosp. Matt. xxi. 3 Sæcgaþ þæt dryhten heora ðearf. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 9 Nu ne þerf na mon his sunne mid wite abuggen. a 1250 Prov. Ælfred 162 in O. E. Misc. 113 Monymon wenes þat he wene ne þarf longes lyues. c 1330 Amis & Amil. 935 Tharf the neuer haue of him drede.

β. 3 þerh, 4 (tar), thars, 4–5 þar, thar, þare, thare, there, 5 tharre, tharth, 9 Sc. dial. ther.

a 1300 Cursor M. 13554 Fra nu thar him namar be ledd. Ibid. 19870 (Edin.) þat to do þare þe nochte lete. 1340 Hampole Pr. Conac. 2167 He þat hates þis lyfes lykyng Thar noght drede þe deles commyng. c 1370 Robt. Cicyle 325 More then thars be an c. folde. a 1400–50 Alexander 5377 Þe thare bot graunt me to geue quat guds as I craue. 1414 Brampton Penit. Ps. (Percy Soc.) 45 Me thar no more but aske and have. c 1425 Cursor M. 10965 (Laud) For to aske there no man Yf they were glad & ioyfull þan. c 1475 Tharth [see B. 2].

γ. 3 derf, 3–4 darf, 4 darh, 4–5 dar, dare.

a 1240 Ureisun in Cott. Hom. 187 Þiwa derf beon unsauuet þe hauep se mihti salue. 1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 6471 Me ne dar nost esse weþer he were kene þo & prout. a 1300 Floris & Bl. 315 Ich wene ne darf me axi nost. c 1320 Cast. Love 733 Ne dar he seche non oþer leche. a 1327 Pol. Songs (Camden) 250 Of gode knyhtes darh him nout fall. *c*1425 Cursor M. 10461 (Laud) To neyther wyll ye mure [perfr MSS. þar] þe not wend. *c*1440 Sir Gawther 615 Þe dare not drede of thi werkys wyld.

d. plural. a. 1 þurfon, ðurfan, 1–3 þurfe, 3 þurven (-uen), þorhfe, þurve, þorve.

*c*888 K. Ælfred Boeth. xiv. § 2 þa ðurfon swiþe lytles, ðe maran ne willnaþ þonne genoges. Ibid. xxiv. § 4 Hwæt þurfon [MS. þurfe] we nu ma..ræcean? *c*975 Rushw. Gosp. Matt. xxvi. 65 Hwæt þurfe we leng gewitnisse? *c*1205 Lay. 24909 We ne þuruen [*c*1275 þorhfe] na mare aswunden liggen here. *a*1225 Ancr. R. 6. *c*1250 S. Eng. Leg. I. 106/160 Se þorne [Harl. MS. þore] habbe of heon no kare.

β. 3 þore, 4 thore, 4–5 thar, 5 Sc. thair.

*c*1290 St. Brandan 121 in S. Eng. Leg. I. 223 Se ne þore noþing drede. *c*1386 Chaucer Melib. P 102 Yet thar ye nat accomplice thilke ordinance but yow like. *c*1430 Syr Gener. (Roxb.) 6868 Ye thar not drede of hem y-wis. 1438 Rk. Alex. Gr. (Bann.) 5 Se thair nocht dreid na chaissing. *c*1485 Digby Myst. III. 1437 Of þis cors we thar nat a-laffe. 1825 Thair [see B. 1].

γ. 4 ðorre, ðurre, 5 dar.

1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 4 Of fon hii dorre [v. r. heo durre] þe lasse doute bote hit be þorg style. *c*1477 Caxton Jason 42 Ye dar not be afeerd of dethe.

2. Pres. Subj. sing. 1 ðyrfe, 1–2 þurfe, 3 (Orm.) þurrfe, þurve. β. 1 ðyrfen, þurfen.

*c*888 K. Ælfred Boeth. xxvi. § 2 Sam hi þyrfen, sam hi na þurfon, hi willaþ þeah. *c*897 — Gregory's Past. C. xxiii. 312 Oþ ðonne me sum fæst ðonne he ðyrfe. *c*1000 Ags. Gosp. John iv. 15 Syle me þæt water þæt . . ic ne ðurfe [*c*1160 Hatt. G. þurfe] her feccan. *c*1200 Ormin 7766 Þatt tunne nan þurrfe Utt off þe rihhte wezze gan. *c*1275 Woman Saturie 26 in O. E. Misc. 58 Wene þar-of to drynke þat ich ne þurve more to þisse welle swynke.

3. Past Indic. and Subj. a. sing. a. 1 ðorfte, 2–5 þurfte, 3 (Orm.) þurrfte, 4–5 thurfte.

a. *c*888 K. Ælfred Boeth. xxiv. § 3 Sam hi þyrfen, sam hi na þurfon, hi willaþ þeah. *c*897 — Gregory's Past. C. xxiii. 312 Oþ ðonne me sum fæst Sonne he ðorfte. *c*1000 Ags. Gosp. John iv. 15 Syle me þæt water þæt . . ic ne ðurfe [*c*1160 Hatt. G. þurfe] her feccan. *c*1200 Ormin 7766 Þatt tunne nan þurrfe Utt off þe rihhte wezze gan. *c*1275 Woman Saturie 26 in O. E. Misc. 58 Wene þar-of to drynke þat ich ne þurve more to þisse welle swynke.

β. Past Indic. and Subj. a. sing. a. 1 ðorfte, 2–5 þurfte, 3 (Orm.) þurrfte, 4–5 thurfte.

a. *c*888 K. Ælfred Boeth. xiv. § 3 Ne þorfte he him nænne ondrædan. Ibid., Ne ðorftes þu ðe nanwuht ondrædan. Ibid. xxiv. § 2 Ne ðorfte he no maran fultomes. *c*1200 Ormin 16164 Swa þatt nan mann ne þurrfte off himm. *a*1325 Poem Times Edw. II 321 in Pol. Songs (Camden) 338 Thurfte him noht seke tresor so fer. 14.. Sir Beues 4212 (MS. M.) Thurfte he never after to aske leche, Þat sir Mylis myght ouer-reche.

β. 3 þurhte, porte, 3–5 þurte, 4 þurt, þort, þart, thourt, 4–5 thurt(e); 4 þurste, 4–5, 9 Sc. thurst.

*c*1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 33 He ne þurte naure þolen hunger ne þurst. *a*1272 Luue Ron 95 in O. E. Misc. 56 Ne þurhte he neuer rest. *a*1300 Cursor M. 2934 Wa forsoth þurt [v.r. thort] naman mare. *c*1330 Florice & Bl. 259 Now thourt him neuere ful iwis Willen after more blisse. 1393 Langl. P. Pl. C. x. 257 Ho so þurste hit segge. *a*1425 Chron. R. Glouc. (Rolls) 6589 (MS. B.) Ne þurst neuer eft care of drynke ne clope. *c*1460 Towneley Myst. xxx. 256 For no catelle thurt the cruae. 1825 Thurst [see B. 1].

b. plural. a. 1 þorfton, -an. β. 3 þeorte(n), 3–4 þurte(n, 4–5 thurte.

*c*897 K. Ælfred Gregory's Past. C. 9 Hi his sume ðorfton. *a*1000 Guthlac 123 (452) No we þus swiðe swencan þorftan. *c*1275 Lay. 18650 For ne þeorte þe cnihtes buten biwiten þat castel þat. *c*1460 Towneley Myst. xxx. 473 Thai thurte bot aske and haue thare boyn.

B. Signification.

1. intr. To be under a necessity or obligation (to do something): = Need v.[2] 6, 8.

*c*890–901 K. Ælfred Laws Introd. 28 Gif . he . . ȝewitnesse hæbbe, ne þearf he þæt geldan. *a*1000 Cædmon's Gen. 611 (Gr.) Ic hit þe secgan ne þearf. *a*1200 Moral Ode 44 Per ne þeorf he habben kare of sefe ne of selde. *a*1225 Juliana 66 Ardude me þat þeos unseli ne þurue nawt seggen. *c*1230 Halt Meid. 5 Ha nawriht ne þarf of oðer þing þenchen. 1825 Jamieson s.v., 'Ye thurn n' fash', you need not put yourself to the trouble. Ibid., 'Ye thurstn', ye needed not.

2. impersonally. It needs, there is need, it is needful [= L. opus est, Gr. δεῖ]. Const. dat. of person and inf. a. without subject it.

*c*1200 Ormin 12886 Ne þarrf ȝuw nohht nu follههem me. *c*1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 69 Þanne ne þarf us noðer gramien ne shamien. *a*1250 Owl & Night. 190 Ne þarf þerof beo no tale. *c*1275 Passion 17 in O. E. Misc. 39 Ne þerfþ þer non adrede. *c*1275 Duty of Christians 37 Ibid. 12 Ne þarf vs neuer a-gryse. *c*1320 Sir Tristr. 3053 Who wil lesinges layt, þarf him no ferþer go. *c*1330 R. Brunne Chron. Wace (Rolls) 4145 Ne neuere þurf ken haue drad no tyde. *c*1430 Syr Gener. (Roxb.) 3 Ne thar him nat be idel sinne. *c*1440 Alphabet of Tales 361 Sho said hym þurte not be seke her-for. *c*1475 Rauf Coilȝear 538 Me tharth haue nane noy of myne erand.

b. with subject it. rare.

*c*1250 Pilgr. Lyf Manhode 1. lxxxvii. (1869) 39 It thurt not recche to wite of this anoon. *c*1460 Towneley Myst. iv. 117 Myn ase shalle withe vs, if it thar.

Tharf-cake (þā:rfkēk). Now dial. Forms: 4 perf, perue cake, 6 therfe, tharffe, Sc. thraf, threfe cake, 7 tharck-cake, 7–9 tharcake. [f. Tharf a. + Cake sb.] A cake of unleavened bread; now spec. a flat circular cake of oat-, rye-, or barley-meal, unleavened, and sometimes flavoured with butter and treacle; in the latter case = Parkin.

13.. E. E. Allit. P. B. 635 Abraham . Þrue hylyede her-on þo þer perfe-cakes. 1440 Promp. Pr. 3 m. 260 A perf Cake, And a lof of Benes and Bren I-Bake for my Children. *c*1470 Henryson Mor. Fab. II. (Town & C. Mouse) xviii, Thraf calkis als, I trow, schio spairit nocht. 1562 Pilkington Expos. Agguee (1562) 02 Elias, fleeing from Jezebel, founde a therfe cake baked in the asshes. 1634–5 Bereeton Trav. (Chetham Soc.) 122 The entertainment we accepted..was Tharck-cakes, two eggs, and some dried fish buttered. 1691 Ray N. C. Words 5, v. Bannock, Tharcakes, ..cakes made of oat-meal, ..and fair water, without yeast, or leaven, and so baked. *c*1746 Collier (Tim Bobbin) View Lanc. Dial. Wks. (1862) 57 'Twur os thodd'n os o Tharcake. 1825 Brockett N. C. Wds., Tharfcake. 1828 Craven Gl., Tharcake, a heavy, unleavened cake. 1888 Sheffield Gloss. s. v., A year or two ago I noticed that a shop-keeper..advertised tharf-cake for sale..They call it parkin instead of using the old word. 1893–4 Northumberland Gloss., Tharf-lyeyd, Tharf-keaniyk, Tharf-kyek, Tharth-kyek, Thaugh-cyek, Thurfing.

† Tharfling, therfling. Obs. rare. [OE. þeorfling, f. þeorf Tharf a. + -ling.] Unleavened bread or loaf; also attrib. Unleavened.

*c*1050 Gloss. in Wr.-Wülcker 348/28 Azimos, Þeorflingas. *c*1200 Ormin 1588 Forr þerrfliing brædes ȝiue bread, Forr þatt itt is unberremedd.

Thar(l)e, -dom, obs. ff. Thrall sb.[1], Thraldom.

Tharm (þām). Now dial. Forms: 1 Angl. tharm, þearm, WSax. þearm, thearm; 3 þerm, þorm, 3–4 Angl. tharm, 5 thaarme, 5– tharm; (6–7 dial. therm, 8–9 Sc. therm, thearm). [OE. þarm, þearm = OFris. therm (WFris. term), OLG. þarm* (MDu. darm, darem, Du. darm), OHG. darm, daram (MHG., MLG., Ger. darm), ON. þarmr (Sw., Da. tarm):—OTeut. þarm-o*[n], f. Indo-Eur. ablaut series ter : tor : tr to go through. Cf. Gr. τρῆμα perforation, τράμις perineum.]

1. An intestine; chiefly in pl., bowels, viscera, entrails; in quot. *c*1460 transf.

*a*700 Epinal Gloss. (O. E. T.) 503 Intestinum, thearm. *c*725 Corpus Gloss. 2140 Viscera, tharme, thumle. 1180 Vitrea, þearm. *c*1000 Ælfric Gram. xiii. (Z.) 85 Exta, þearmas. *c*1225 Lay. 818 Mon þuesed þer flowen, þarmes heo drogen [*c*1275 barmes idrowen]. 1303 R. Brunne Handl. Synne 702 Of þe chylde þat she hare.. Al to-drawe were þe þarmys. *c*1380 Sir Ferumb. 949 Þay stykede þorȝ gattes & þearmes, so foule with hem þei ferde. *c*1440 Promp. Parv. 490/1 Thaarme (or gutte), anterum, viscus. *c*1460 Towneley Myst. xiii. 391, I haue..A house full of yong tharmes,..wo is hym has many barnes. 1535 Coverdale 2 Maccabees 6 Se þere came vpon him an horrible payne of his bowels, & a sore grefe of the thearmes. 1721 Kelly Scot. Prov. 137 He that has a wide Therm, had never a long Arm. 1877 N. W. Linc. Gloss., Tharm, the colon.

2. An intestine as cleansed and prepared for some purpose: see quots. Also, in sing., as a substance or material; catgut for fiddle-strings, etc.

[1545 Ascham Toxoph. II. (Arb.) 110 Eustathius..doeth thinke, that the ancyent sythe made theyr bowe stryngyes of bullox thermes. 1631 R. H. Arraignm. Whole Creature xvi. 291 The strings made of Wolves will never tune right with those made of the Thermes of Sheepe.] 1671 Skinner Etymol. Ang., Tharm, s. agro Linc. usitatissima pro Intestinis mundatis ad Botulos seu Farcinina parandis inflatis. 1674 Ray N. C. Wds., Tharm, guts prepared, cleansed, and blown up for to receive puddings; Lincolnsh. 1755 Johnson, Tharm, intestines wi-ted for several uses. 1788 Burns Ordination vii, Corns, screw the pegs wi' tuneful cheep, And o'er the thairms be tryin. 1787 — To Haggis 1, Aboon them a' ye tak your place, Painch, tripe, or tharm. 1816 J. Cleland Rise & Progr. Glasgow (1820) 275 A work in which Therm was manufactured from the intestines of animals. 1824 Scott Redgauntlet Lett. x, The best fiddler that ever kittled tharm with horse-hair. 1881 W. Anderson in Mod. Sc. Poets II. 238 Tharm, to mount a spinnin wheel.

3. attrib. and Comb., as tharm-band, -string.

1786 Burns Brigs of Ayr 200 O had M'Lauchlan, thairm-inspiring Sage, Been there to hear this heavenly band engage. 1788 G. Turnbull Poet. Ess. 185 Therm-strings for spinning Wheels and fiddles. 1825 Jamieson, Thairm-band, a string or cord of catgut for a spinning-wheel.

† Tharm, v. Obs. Forms: 3 (Orm.) þarrnenn, 4 þarn, 4–5 tharn(e, (thorne). [ad. ON. þarna, refl. þarnask to be without, lack, want, f. þarna (earlier þarf-na*) sb. need, f. þarf- : see Tharf v.] trans. To be without; to want, lack, need; to be deprived of, to lose. Hence † Tharning vbl. sb., being without, lacking, want; losing, loss.

*c*1200 Ormin 10142 Þatt illke þing þatt tu full wel Ne mihht te seller nohht þarrnenn. *c*1300 Havelok 2835 Hise children salde þarne Euere more þat eritage, Þat his was. 13.. Cursor M. 4386 (Cott.) O quat pine es herder threst, Þen tharn [Fairf. wante] þe thing men luues best. 1340 Hampole Pr. Consc. 7308 Right swa þe tharnyng for ever of þat syght, Es þe mast payne in helle dyght. *c*1375 Sc. Leg. Saints xvi. (Magdalene) 443, & scho þe lyf allane [allace ?] can thorne For a þat like barne wes borne. *c*1440 York Myst. xliii. 12 The missing of my maistir trewe.. Makis me to morne.. For tharnyng of his company. *c*1460 Towneley Myst. xiv. 292 Thy warysoun shalle thou nat tharne.

Tharre, Tharst, Tharth: see Thare v. Obs.

Tharst(e, var. ff. thrast, obs. pa. t. of Thrust.

Thas, obs. form of Those; obs. abbrev. of it has; obs. infl. of That, The: see These.

That (ðæt), dem. pron., adj., and adv. Forms: see below. [In OE. þæt, nom. and acc. singular neuter of the simple demonstrative pronoun and adjective se, seo, þæt, the adjectival use of which has also produced the 'definite article' The, under which the history and obs. inflexional forms are given. The is the resultant form, used for all genders, numbers, and cases of the article; that the unweakened neuter singular, used as demonstrative pronoun and adj. for all cases of the singular. The original plural in both uses was þá, in ME. þā and Tho, q. v., surviving in Sc. and north. dial. as That, but superseded in literary English by Those.

The demonstrative was also used in OE. as a relative pronoun, for which see below.]

A. Illustration of Forms.

1. In OE. inflected for gender, number, and case: see the inflexional forms under The. Some of the inflexions remained in early ME., and in some dialects even to 1400. A few examples of these, in which the sense is demonstrative, follow here. For the plural forms see Tho and Those.

(The masc. and fem. pronouns se, seo, and 14th c. Kentish ze, zy, were often equivalent to 'he', 'she', and 'it.')

Beowulf (Z.) 470 Se wæs beterna ðonne ic. Ibid. 506 Eart ðu se Beowulf se ðe wið Brecan wunne? *c*825 Vesp. Ps. vii. 16 Seaðð þe] ontynde & dalf ðone [= eum]. Ibid. cxlv. 4 In ðæm [= illa] dæȝe. *a*855 O. E. Chron. an. 597, Her ongon Ceolwulf riesian..Se wæs Cuþaing, Cuþe þa þyrdicing [etc.]. *c*893 K. Ælfred Oros. I. i. § 9 Seo Ægyptus þe us nærest is. Ibid. II. iv. § 8 Seo lice burg Babyloniu, seo þe mæst wæs & sarest eaðe burȝa. Ibid. v. ix, Ic..secgan scyle, ..hwa þæs [= of that] ordfruman wæron. *a*900 tr. Bæda's Hist. II. vii. (1890) 118 Þæm [Mellitus] sona æfterfylgde Iustus in biscophade. *c*1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. x. 23 Ðonne hi eow ehtaþ on þysse byrȝe, fleoþ on oþre, and ðonne hi on þære [Hatton G. þare] eow ehtaþ, fleoþ on þa þryddinge — John iii. 29 Se ðe brydre hæfð, se is brydguma. *a*1175 Cott. Hom. 235 Si [the Law of Moses] ȝeleste sume wile. *c*1175 Lamb. Hom. 37 Do þine elmesse of þon þet þu maht iforðien. *c*1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 221 Se þe her doð unl god. *c*1200 Ormin 17621 To þann comm icc off heffne dun. *c*1250 Owl & Night 882 Þat beoþ her wo is hom þes. *c*1300 Harrow. Hell (MS. O.) 65 þou miȝt wel witen þe bi þon (MS. E. 75 for þan) þat [sun] more þen alle mon. 1340 Ayenb. 102 Zy þet ne seruep bote to onlepy manne. Ibid. 117 Ze þet ne heþ þise uondinges.

2. Forms of the singular neuter, and, at length, general uninflected form that.

1–3 ðæt, þæt, ðet, 1–4 þet, (3 ðat, þut), 3–6 þat, (3–5 þatt, 4 þate, 5 þatte, 5–6 thate, 6–7 thatt), 4– that. (Also written 4–6 yat, 4–8 yt, yt.)

Beowulf (Z.) 1372 Nis þæt heorutstow. 825 Charter of Abba (Kentish) in O. E. Texts 448 ȝif hiȝam ðonne cððe hlafordþæt nylle..ȝeunnan. *c*836 O. E. Chron. an. 787, Þæt wæron þa ærestan scipu Deniscra monna þe Angel cynnes lond ȝesohton. *c*1134 Ibid. (Laud MS.) an. 1127, Þet wes eall þurh þone kyng Henrii of Engle land. *c*1175 Lamb. Hom. 33 On cristes þrisune..þet is in helle. *c*1200 Þatt [see B. II. 1]. *c*1205 Lay. 4542 Þet is þere quene scip. *c*1250 Gen. & Ex. 59 Þat was þe firme morȝen tud.. Wid ðat liȝt worn angles hoten. 1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 6773 He was gilid of þut cas. *c*1330 R. Brunne Chron. Wace (Rolls) 1926 Englysche holden þate heritage. *c*1400 [see B. II. 5]. *c*1420 Chron. Vilod. 840 He sayde he mervayleide muche of þatte. *c*1460 Towneley Myst. 1. 40 That at is dry that ith shalle be. 1533 Bellenden Livy II. i. (S.T.S.) I. 132 Tak away þat colione name tarquyne fra þe peplil. 1583 T. Watson Poems (Arb.) 45 But I (alas) might curse yat dismall day. 1638 Hamilton Papers (Camden) 45, I had lyttil hoope of woorking of thatt by treatie.

B. Signification and uses.

The pronominal use goes back to the earliest OE. The adjectival demonstrative use in OE. corresponded to that of L. is, ea, id, or the unqualified French ce, cette, and is often indistinguishable from that of the modern definite article. But by 1200 the adjectival use of that began also to be more definitely demonstrative (= L. iste, ille, F. ce . . . là), and to be implicitly or explicitly opposed to This (= L. hic, F. ce . . . ci). As this appears first in Ormin, it may have been due to the influence of Norse, in which the adjectival use of þat as a demonstrative, opposed to þetta 'this', is of earlier appearance.

I. Demonstrative Pronoun. Pl. Tho (obs.), Those, q. v.

* As simple demonstrative pronoun.

1. Denoting a thing or person pointed out or present, or that has just been mentioned: cf. II. 1.

a. a thing (concrete or abstract).

Often serving instead of repetition of the name of the thing, and directing the attention back to it (thus more emphatic than it). Also, for emphasis, used pleonastically in apposition to the subj. (also, in mod. use, as in quot. 1882), placed (as subj.) after the predicate sb., with ellipsis of the copula. In quot. 1905, applied to a person contemptuously spoken of as a thing or creature.

Beowulf (Z.) 2220 Eft þæt ȝe-lode ufaran dogrum, hildehlemm-mum. *c*888 K. Ælfred Boeth. xxxiii. § 3 Þæt earn ðu. *c*897 — Gregory's Past. C. i. 28 Soðlice þa eagan þæt blioð ða lareowas, & se hryeg þæt sint ða hiremenn. *c*1000 Sax. Leechd. I. 346 Hanne cydlyb geseald on wines drince, þæt wel ȝeþeahtiȝ. 1303 R. Brunne Handl. Synne 5560 Pryue synne and sacryluge, That loue y mote. 13.. in Hampole's Wks. (1896) I. 108 Luk nogth efter ylke a mans wile to do it, bot luk whilke es myne & do þat. 1451 Capgrave St. Augustine 56 But þe principal cause whech Augustin supposed to spede, hath failed. 1456 Sir G. Haye Law Armis (S. T. S.) 14 And with that I sall put sik thing langand warldly understanding. 1579 W. Fulke Heskins' Parl. 74 The errour of Vibicus. And that was this. 1665 Boyle Occas. Medit. iv. v, To serve him that can give That, and much greater. 1709 Lond. Gaz. No. 4599/4 It had a black Ribbon tied to it, and the Key of the Watch fastened to that. 1808 Edinburgh Sleaty Bridal Hymn 1, 69 Rank, high life, fashionable amusement—that's the go. 1842 Browning Pied Piper iv, 'Bless us', cried the Mayor, 'what's that?' 1898 T. Hardy Rest. Native vi. iv, 'What noise was that?' said Clym. 1882 Tennyson Sisters 14 A sweet voice that—you scarce could better that. 1909 E. Glyn Vicius. Evangeline 127 'Would you like to marry Malcolm?' I asked. 'Fancy being owned by that! Fancy seeing it every day!'

b. a person. Now noting a person actually pointed out (not one just mentioned, exc. in emphatic pleonastic use as in a). Chiefly as subject of the verb to be in stating or asking who or what that (person) is. (See also 6 c.)

Colloquially used in expressions of commendation, or in mod. use of anticipatory commendation by way of persuasion or encouragement (esp. to a child).

Beowul(Z.) 11 þæt wæs god cyning. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 3014 Þif þer is Eng mon so wis þat beste red conne rede, merin þat is. a 1300 Cursor M. 18131 þat king o blis, quat es he, þat? 13.. Gaw. & Gr. Knt. 2463 Ho wayned me vpon þis wyse..þat is hy þat is at home, þe auncian lady. 1470-85 MALORY Arthur I. xxv. 73 What damoysel is that? ..That is the lady of the lake. 1513 DOUGLAS Æneis Prol. 6 Pal. II. iii. 47 That's my good Son. 1601 — All's Well III. v. 81 Hel. Which is the Frenchman? Dia. Hee, That with the plume. 1606 — Tr. & Cr. IV. ii. 36 Who's that at doore? 1610 — Temp. I. ii. 299 After two days I will discharge thee. Ar. That's my noble Master. 1652 J. WRIGHT tr. Camus' Nat. Paradox IX. 215 By my Soul if that bee a Lady, my Husband may bee a Lady too. 1766 GOLDSM. Vic. of W. vii, 'Very well', cried I, 'that's a good girl'. 1841 BROWNING Pippa Passes III. 276 Why, there! Is not that Pippa..under the window? 1854 THACKERAY Rose & Ring viii, 'Who's that laughing?' It was Giglio laughing. Mod. Come along, that's a good boy! That's the man for me!

c. a fact, act, or occurrence, or a statement or question, implied or contained in the previous sentence: often used instead of repeating a clause or phrase (cf. a).

In OE. and in Sc. often referring to a following statement, where mod. Eng. commonly uses this. Cf. II. 1, and THIS B. I. 4 d.

a 888 O. E. Chron. an. 755, Þa on morzenne zehierdun þæt þæs cyninges þegnas..þæt se cyning ofslæzen wæs. a 900 CYNEWULF Elene 1168 (Gr.) Þæt is gedafenlic, þæt þu dryhtnes word On hyzre healde. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. John i. 39 Þæt is Iohannes zewitnes. c 1135 O. E. Chron. an. 1122, On þone leaten tyde þær toforen for bearn se burch on Gleawe ceastre..þet wes þes dæies viii id' Mr.' 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 10348 Wan þou seist, quab þe king, þat þat was mi þought. c 1420 (?) LYDG. Assembly of Gods 1362 Goo we hens, for that hold I best. 1526 Pilgr. Perf. (W. de W. 1531) 3 The lewes also se almyghty god, but that was in a more excellent manner. 1602 SHAKS. Ham. III. i. 56 To be, or not to be, that is the Question. 1623 J. EDWARDS Author. O. & N. Test. 154 The Pagans would jeer the Jews for that. 1738 SWIFT Pol. Conversat. ii 140, I can just carve Pudden, and that's all. 1824 SCOTT Redgauntlet ch. xx, I will say that for the English, that they are a excellenesed people to gentlemen that are under a cloud. 1838 RUSKIN Ex. Music & Paint. Wks. 1903 I. 285 If others do not follow their example,—the more fools they,—that's all.

d. After various prepositions, referring to a precise time just mentioned, or an act or event in relation to the precise time of its occurrence: e. g. after that = after that time, or after that happened; by that = by that time, or by the time that happened; upon that, with that = as or immediately after that was said, done, etc. See also the prepositions.

In OE. prepositions governed other cases besides the accusative, as the dative, e. g. æfter, ær, mitt, onmæng, to þiem, the instrumental, e. g. for þý, mid þý, etc. These partly survived in early ME.; e.g. fro þan þat (see FRO prep. 3).

13. Cursor M. 2827 (Cott.) Bi þat [v. r. þan] began þe light o dai. c 1420 Anturs of Arth. 565 The sone was passed, by þat, mydday and mare. c 1425 Cursor M. 14360 (Laud) Pro that forth..Þiere folowid Iheus full fait fole. 1555 Cocke Lorell's B. 12 With that they cryed, and made a shouse. 1526 TINDALE Acts xxvii. 33 In the meane tyme, bitwixt that and daye. a 1715 BURNET Own Time (1724) I. ii. 278 A proclamation was upon that issued out. 1719 DE FOE Crusoe (1840) II. i. 17 Some time after that, ..they were ..agreeably surprised. 1802 JEFFERSON Writ. (1830) III. 496 Probably on the 24th, or within two or three days of that. 1833 T. HOOK Parson's Daw. III. i, My young mistress went to bed about eleven, and the Count went to bed before that. 1862 MISS BRADDON Lady Audley xl, With that the surgeon goes to fetch the envelopes.

†e. In apposition with a following clause introduced by thát conj.; chiefly in phr. with prep., as for thát thát = for that cause that, because; in thát thát = in that circumstance that, inasmuch as; to thát thát = to the end that, in order that. Obs.

Taking the place of OE. þám, þínt, þon, or þý, in for þám þe, on þínt þe, to þónt þe, for þon þe, to þý þe or þæt.

1302 ORD. Crysten Men I. iii. (1906) 31 To that that he be worthely dysposed to receyue the grace. 1513 MORE Rich. III (1883) 2 In that that many of them were dead. 1532 — Confut. Tindale Wks. 404/2 Yet the vnseen catholike church is proued to be the verye churche of Chryste, in that from the beginning it hath..been..kepte and continued one. 1535 CROMWELL in Merriman Life & Lett. (1902) I. 417 In that that the most fresh kyng hathe..answered at all tymes on the kinges parte. a 1548 HALL Chron., Edw. IV 222 Kynge Edward in these hys last battayles was..fortunate for that, that he at sondry..tymes ..was persecuted..of his enemyes.

†. Take that! († have that!): a phrase used in delivering a blow, etc.

a 1425 Cursor M. 16292 (Trin.) Wip his hond a buffet He jaf iheus..He seide..Take þat to teche þe lore. c 1425 Cast. Persevv. 3119 in Macro Plays, For þi conueytyse, haue þou bat, I schal þee bunche with my bat. 1590 SHAKS. Com. Err. II. ii. 23 Thinke vt I feast? hold, take those that, and that. 1833 MARRYAT P. Simple xii, I must do my duty, Sir,..so take that—and that—and that—(thrashing the man with his rattan). Ibid. xiii, Then I'll turn Protestant and damn the Pope—take that now, Father M'Grath.

2. Used emphatically, instead of repeating a previous word or phrase. a. Preceded by and (rarely but), and referring to something in the previous clause. [Cf. L. et id, idque, F. et cela.]

c 1000 Sax. Leechd. I. 278 On þæm [berries] ys sæed and þæt sweart. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 121 Crist godes sune wes ibuhsum..to þa deðes and þet to swulche deðe swa [etc.]. c 1386 CHAUCER Friar's T. 204, I haue been syk, and that ful many a day. c 1485 Digby Myst. IV. 1067 We shall here tidinges.., And þat I trust shortyse. 1535 COVERDALE 2 Kings iv. 3 Borowe without of all thy neighboures emptye vessels, & that not a fewe. — Ps. xlvi. 5 God helpeth her, & yt right early. 1581 SIDNEY Apol. Poetrie (Arb.) 62 Exercise indeede wee doe, but that very fore-backwardly. 1774 WESLEY Jrnl. 2 June, A man began to scream, and that so loud that my voice was quite drowned. 1833 L. RITCHIE Wand. by Loire 168 It was necessary..to act, and that promptly.

b. Representing a word or phrase in the previous clause or sentence: usually standing first in its own clause, with inverted construction (that I will = I will do that). colloq.

c 1350 Will. Palerne 4161 Hete hem þider wende..þat i wol, seide William. a 1450 Cov. Myst. xxiii. (1841) 222 Hath any man condempnyd the? Mulier. Nay forsothe that hathe ther nought. 1598 SHAKS. Merry W. IV. v. 60 Was there a wise woman with thee? Fal. I, that there was. 1642 Suddaine Answ. to Sud. Moderatour 3 The Moderator is full of Rhetorick and Oratory too, that he is. 1825 T. HOOK Sayings Ser. II. Man of Many Fr. I. 196, 'I can say 'em all!' 'That you can't', said Tom. 1865 RUSKIN Sesame i. § 29 To feel with them, we must be like them; and none of us can become that without pains. 1872 L. CARROLL Through Looking-Glass vi, 'They must be very curious creatures.' 'They are that', said Humpty Dumpty. 1900 F. P. DUNNE in Westm. Gaz. 13 June 1/3 'They'll be out here nex' week'...'They will that', Mr. Dooley replied.

3. In opposition to this (cf. II. 2): esp. in phr. this and (or) that = one thing and (or) another: see THIS B. I. 3. Also occas. that . . that = one thing . . another thing.

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xxxiii. § 2 Þonne lufað sum ðæt, sum elles hwæt. 1390- [see THIS B. I. 3]. c 1450 tr. De Imitatione III. xvi. 84 Wieber a good spirit or an euel stire þe to desire þat or þat. Ibid. IV. 130 Lete non seke þat, a noper þat. 1818 SCOTT Hrt. Midl. xvi, Lay that and this thegither! 1842 MARRYAT Pere. Keene xiv, Young as I was, I also could put that and that together.

b. spec. (after Latin idiom). The former: correl. to this = the latter: see THIS B. I. 3 b. Now arch. and literary.

c 1440-1868 [see THIS B. I. 3 b]. 1654 Z. COKE Logicke (1657) A 18 b, Corruption of manners, and idle Writers..These delude and distract, that doth deboish a people.

1656-1895 [see THIS B. I. 3 c, d]. 1910 Contemp. Rev. Mar. 307 The immediacy of faith..will furnish us with the That, whilst we may have to look to other sources for the What.

5. Phrases, belonging to senses 1 and 2.

a. That is (more fully that is to say, † to wit, etc.): introducing (or more rarely following) an explanation of the preceding word, phrase, or statement (or a modifying correction of it).

c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 105 Þe oðer mihte is Castitas, þet is clenesse on englisc. a 1225 Ancr. R. 348 Eiter schriftes, hit falleð to speciaes of delitesce, þet is, delitesce. 1340 Ayenb. 210 Huanne þou woldest bidde god..wisliche and diligentliche, þet is ententifliche and perseuerantliche. a 1440 Relig. Pieces fr. Thornton MS. 8 The thirde sacrement is called penance, þat is soothefaste forsyknynge þat we hafe of oure synne. 1523 [COVERDALE] Old God & New (1534) B 3, In all poynttes, yē is to wyte bothe in his doctryne and also in his lyuynge. 1625 B. JONSON Staple of N. I. iii, Look to mee, and that bee soon or wee will shine eyes. 1802 PALEY Nat. Theol. xxiii. (ed. 2) 440 Every animated being has its sensorium, that is, a certain portion of space, within which perception and volition are exerted. 1869 RUSKIN Crown of W. § 22 Those who 'intrude' (thrust, that is) themselves into the fold.

b. All that: all that sort of thing; that and everything of the kind. And all that, and so forth, et cetera (see ALL A. 8 c); so, in same sense, and that. Not so . . as all that: not so . . as that amounts to; not quite so . . as that. For all that: see FOR 23 a. Like that, of that kind, or in that manner: see LIKE a. 1 † adv. I.

c 1440 Jacob's Well 76 Þitt for all þat, manye of þe lewys hadden gret indignacyoun of hem. 1638 JUNIUS Painting. Ancients 36 It is for all that a greater honor to exercise in Achilles his picture the very same Art. 1702 Mouse grown a Rat 3 My mighty Bulk does elevate and surprize, and all that. 1739 DE FOE Crusoe (1840) II. vi. 150 To talk of my repenting, alas! 'tis past all that with me.. It is too late. 1742 RICHARDSON Pamela III. 127 If People will set up for Virtue, and all that, let 'em be uniformly virtuous. 1821 CLARE Vill. Minstr. II. 89 Full of chat, In passing harmless jokes bout beans and that. 1848 THACKERAY Van. Fair lx, Dob reads Latin like English, and French and that. 1884 RUSKIN Let. to F. Randal Wks. 1907 XXX. Introd. 65 What do you think I would give to be your age, and able to draw like that!

c. At that (orig. U. S., colloq. or slang): estimated at that rate, at that standard, even in that capacity, in respect of that; too; 'into the bargain': 'a cant phrase . . used to define more nearly or intensify something already said' (Bartlett).

Prob. extended from dear at that, cheap at that (price).

1855 Blackw. Mag. Sept. 324/2 'Now then, mister', turning to the man at the bar, 'drinks round, and cobblers at that'. 1883 STEVENSON Silverado Sq. 167 Yet water it was, and sea-water at that. 1884 F. M. CRAWFORD Rom. Singer I. 226 A shoemaker, and a poor one at that. 1897 Trans. Amer. Pediatric Soc. IX. 73 The infant was underfed, and did not receive the correct food at that.

* * As antecedent pronoun.

(= F. celui, Ger. der, derjenige.)

6. As antecedent to a relative (pron. or adv.) expressed or understood.

Here, and in 7 and 8 usually (as in II. 9) definitive rather than demonstrative, the relative clause (or dependent phrase) serving to complete the definition.

a. Of a thing, in general sense: that that, that which = the thing which, what; so that whereby, wherein, wherewith, whence, etc.

Sometimes following the relative clause, which then begins with what: that being in this case now pleonastic and emphatic.

[a 900 tr. Bæda's Hist. III. vii. [ix.] (1890) 178 Hwelc þæs cyninges zeleafa & modes wilsumnis in God wære, þæt ðeter his deaðe..wæs zecyðed.] 13.. E. E. Allit. P. A. 535 Wyrkez and dotz þat at þe moun. c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints XVI. (Magdalena) 605 For-þi be sikker in þat..þat scho þe taught. 1399 Rolls of Parlt. III. 452/1 Havyng consideracion to that that was prayed by the comon, that that that was evell..shuld be..amended in this Parlement. c 1400 tr. Secreta Secret., Gov. Lordsh. 48 Þat þat semys to þow yn þys matere. 1526 TINDALE 1 Cor. xi. 23 That which I gave vnto you I receyved off the lorde. 1545 RAYNOLD Byrth Mankynde 127 Though the chylde receive and vomyte vp agayne that the whiche it receaueth. 1597 SHAKS. 2 Hen. IV, III. ii. 206 Hah..that thou hadst seene that, that this Knight and I haue seene. 1650 GENTILIS Considerations 233 Cordolanus, who could not attaine to that as he wanted, should have forsaken that which he had received. 1674 GREW Anat. Trunks II. ii. § 3 What the Mouth is, to an Animal; that the Root is to a Plant. 1875 F. HALL in Lippincott's Mag. XIV. 341, There was that about the place which filled me with a sense of utter dreariness.

b. Referring to a preceding sb., and equivalent to the with the sb.: e. g. in first quot., that which = 'the bread which'.

1634 HOLLAND Pliny II. 141 The Sitanian bread, i. that which is made of three months corn. 1693 tr. Blancvan's Phys. Dict. (ed. 4) Rhinoceros 1, That which is covered by the Cartilage of the Epiglottis. 1825 SCOTT Betrothed xv, Breaking into your apartment, [he] transported you to that where I myself received you from his arms. 1845 J. NICHOLSON Operat. Machinist 68 The proportion..between the load at the maximum and that by which the wheel is stopped. 1859 RUSKIN Two Paths II. § 54 Fine Art is that in which the hand, the head, and the heart..go together.

c. Of a person. Now only as in 1 b. In quot. 1542 that which = 'he who' or 'one that'.

1542 UDALL Erasm. Apoph. 35 He..taunted Plato, as ye which in rebukyng hym did committe the verayes selfe same faulte. 1591 SHAKS. Two Gent. IV. ii. 87 Who is that that spake? Mod. That was our member who spoke first at the meeting.

7. With ellipsis of a following relative (subj. or obj. of the relative clause): = that person or thing (sc. 'that' or 'which'). Now only where that is definitely demonstrative or emphatic, as in 1.

In earlier use the antecedent pronoun was omitted: see THAT rel. pron. 5. From the 16th c. onwards there are examples in which it is difficult to say whether the single that is the antecedent or the relative. Wherever it is emphatic it may be considered the demonstrative. Cf. also THAT rel. pron. 3 and 10.

[1523 tr. BERNERS Froiss. I. 205 For to that is myne is yours.] 1598 SHAKS. Merry W. III. iii. 212 May be the knaue bragg'd of that he could not compasse. 1601 — Twel. N. V. i. 153 Be that thou know'st thou art, and then thou art As great as that thou fear'st. 1601 — Jul. C. I. ii. 314 Thy Honourable Mettle may be wrought From that it is dispos'd. 1850 NEALE Med. Hymns 20 Here vouchsafe to all Thy servants That they supplicate to gain. 1852 M. ARNOLD Tristram & Iseult I. 7 Who is that stands by the dying fire? 1883 WHITTIER Our Country 12 The best is that we have to-day. 1894 H. GARDENER Unoff. Patriot 49 She was not of his fold! It was that she thought of.

8. Followed by defining words (of or other prep. with a sb., or a pple. or other vbl. adj.) which serve to qualify or particularize that in the manner of a relative clause.

a. Referring to something just mentioned, and equivalent to the with the sb., or the one. (Cf. 6 b.)

c 1400 MAUNDEV. II. (1839) 13 Þif ale is be so, that men seyn, that this croune is of thornes..I haue seen..many times that of Paris and that of Costantynoble:..thei were bothe..made of russches of the see. 1602 CAREW Cornwall 54 b, So doth their Peach exceed that of other Countries. 1707 E. CHAMBERLAYNE Pres. St. Eng. III. xi. (ed. 22) 387 That at Radcliff was founded by Nicholas Gibson. 1753 CHAMBERS Cycl. Supp. s. v. Rubrica, The best in England is that from several parts of Derbyshire. 1802 MRS. EDGEWORTH Moral T. xiii, Turning from the history of meanness to that of enthusiasm. 1825 T. HOOK Sayings Ser. II. Sutherl. I. 92 The post arrived, and brought letters..That from his sister was full of tender solicitude. Mod. Which house? That with a verandah. That formerly occupied by Mr. A.

b. In general sense = the thing that is . , what is . . . (Cf. 6 a.)

1607 C. NEWPORTE in 3rd Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm. 54/1 Not having any man to put in trust of the ship and that in her. 1844 BROWNING Laboratory iv, That in the mortar—you call it a gum? 1867 MORRIS Jason vi. 325 Careful of that stored up within our hold.

†c. Referring to a statement or saying cited immediately after: usually in that of (the author).

1662 STILLINGFL. Orig. Sacr. I. v. § 2 The Ægyptians are supposed to have been best skilled as to the form of the year, according to that of Macrobius, Annii certus modus apud solos semper Ægyptios fuit. 1672 H. M. tr. Erasm. Colloq. 309 Perhaps the largest may be the greater, according to that, 'The booty which is sought for by many hands is quickly acquired'. 1679 T. PULLER Moder. Ch. Eng. (1843)

147 Alleging that of St. Bernard; 'Such a number of festivities is fitter for citizens, than for exiles and pilgrims'.

II. Demonstrative Adjective. Pl. as in 1.

1. The simple demonstrative used (as adjective in concord with a sb.), to indicate a thing or person either as being actually pointed out or present, or as having just been mentioned and being thus mentally pointed out. (Now distinguished from the definite article THE as being demonstrative, i. e. pointing out, and not merely definitive, i. e. distinguishing or singling out.)

The use before a possessive, as in quot. 1557, is obs. or arch., the periphrasis with of (see OF 44) being now substituted for the possessive.

In Sc. also referring to something mentioned immediately after, where mod. Eng. uses this. Cf. I. 1 c, and THIS B. II. 2 b.

c 1200 ORMIN 2490 þe Laferrd hafdle litell rum Inn all þatt miccle riche. c 1250 [see A. 3]. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 205 Ich wille telle yu cas. c 1350 Will. Palerne 671 He wend to haue laupt þat ladi louedi in armes. 1794 Mrs. RADCLIFFE Myst. Udolpho xxxiii, She hardly dared to suffer her thoughts to glance that way. 1821 BYRON Juan iii. lxxxvi. xii, The tyrant of the Chersonese Was freedom's best and bravest friend; That tyrant was Catiline! 1885 T. HOOK Sayings Ser. II. Man of Many Fr. I. 189 Sophy, put down that knife—Maria, that child will cut her fingers off. 1861 M. PATTISON Ess. (1889) I. 47 The gates were closed at nine o'clock, and on no pretext could they be opened. 1897 Pall Mall Mag. Feb. 188 The wife of the that time Governor.

b. Indicating a person or thing assumed to be known, or to be known to be such as is stated. Often (esp. before a person's name: cf. L. iste) implying censure, dislike, or scorn; but sometimes commendation or admiration. Freq. standing before a noun or noun-phrase in apposition with another.

a 1300 Cursor M. 11815 þis herods.. þat calif vn-meth and vn-mete. a 1400 Stac. Rome 405 Pope pelagius, þat holy mon. c 1410 Love Bonaventure Mirr. (1900) 50 The angeles songen that loyful songe Gloria in excelsis. 1526 TINDALE 2 Tim. i. 12 He is able to kepe that which I have committed to his kepynge agaynst that daye. 1563 Homilies II. Gluttony (1859) 302 Holofernes..had his stricken from his shoulders by that seely woman Judith. 1591 SPENSER Tears of Muses 401 Thy gay Sonne, that winged God of Loue. 1611 SHAKS. Cymb. III. iv. 15 That Drugdamn'd Italy. 1646 R. BAILLIE Lett. (1841) II. 349 Will that fool Johnstone never take any course for your books? 1713 STEELE Guard. No. 1 P 1 Mr. Airs, that excellent penman. 1800 WORDSW. Andrew Jones 1, I hate that Andrew Jones; he'll breed His children up to waste and pillage. 1865 G. MACDONALD A. Forbes 51 He's a dour crater, that Murdoch Malison. 1866 G. MEREDITH Vittoria xxviii, 'Ah! in that England of yours, women marry for wealth'.

c. Used with a plural sb. or numeral, instead of those: now only with plurals treated as singulars (e. g. means, pains) or taken in a collective sense.

In some Sc. dialects used before plural sbs. generally.

c 1230 Ancis & Amil. 2492 And in grauie stræte were leyde, Þat hende knyghtes both two. c 1420 Chron. Vilod. 3605 He come bere fat ladyes to, And tolde hem alle. 1545 RAYNOLD Byrth Mankynde (1613) From that vaynes that be not yet affixed vnto the childe. 1611 BIBLE Acts xv. 5 Saying that parts in water. 1575 Reg. Privy Council Scot. II, 473 The present troubles quhairwith that cuntreis ar inquietit. 1654–66 EARL ORRERY Parthen. (1676) 204, I will spare thee that pains. 1720 SWIFT Examiner No. 16 P 7 That ill manners..I have been often guilty of. 1798 GOLDSM. Good-n. Man 1, There's that ten guineas you were sending to the poor gentleman. 1861 TROLLOPE Framley P. I. xiii. 252 As to that Moussieur Mouton. 1865 Miss BRADDON Only a Clod xxiv, During that rainy six weeks. 1868 G. MACDONALD R. Falconer I. xx, Maybe ye wad like to luik at that anes.

d. That once, that one time: see ONCE 9 c.

e. = 'The same' (obs. rare). That same, † that self: see SAME A. 5, B. 2, 4, SELF B. 1, 2.

1579 LYLY Euphues (Arb.) 190 The Rose that is eaten with the Canker is not gathered biccause it groweth on that stalke yat the sweet doth, neither was Helen made a Starre biccause shee came of that Egge with Castor.

2. in opposition to this: properly denoting the more distant of two things, but often vaguely indicating one thing as distinguished from another. Cf. I. 3 above.

13.. [see THIS B. I. 3]. 1551– [see THIS B. II. 2].

b. Strengthened by there (also abbrev. 'ere, 'air) immediately following: see THERE B. 3 c. Cf. this here (HERE adv. 1 d). dial. and vulgar.

3. In concord with a sb. which is the antecedent to a relative (expressed or understood). Cf. I. 6, 7.

Usually definitive rather than demonstrative, serving for introduction or anticipation of the relative clause, which corroborates the description; often interchangeable with the (cf. THE a. 14), but usually more emphatic. (Similarly with a noun further defined by a phr., as in quot. 1813 †.)

c 1470 ASHBY Dicta Philos. 701 I hat kyng that maketh his Region To be obedient to his iuste lawe. c 1500 Melusine 24 Erle Emerye and Raymondin..stode..on that syde as them semyd that the stryf was. 1532 MORE Confut. Tindale Wks. 450/2 A manne may saye 'the man that we spake of was here', or 'that man that we spake of was here'. 1637 HEYLIN Brief Answ. 75 It was ordained, that that mans tongue should be cut out which dill speake any slanderous words. 1647–8 COTTERELL Davila's Hist. Fr. (1678) 21 Brought..to that issue as was intended. 1658 DRYDEN Cromwell xiii, Like that bold Greek who did the East subdue. 1690 LOCKE Gent. I. iv. § 22 By withholding that relief God requires him to afford. 1779 Mirror No. 50 P 2 That listlessness and languor which attend a state of total inaction. 1813 EUSTACE Italy (1815) III. xi. 394 On that peninsulated rock called La Spilla, hanging over yonder deep cavern. 1813 SIR H. DAVY Agric. Chem. iii. (1814) 56 The root is that part of the vegetable which least impresses the eye.

b. In advb. phrases of time or place, with following relative clause (with relative usually omitted); e.g. † by that time (that) . . = by the time that . . (obs.). (In quot. 1573 with advb. clause.) Now rare (replaced by the), unless emphatic.

c 1420 Chron. Vilod. 3160 Fulle seke he was By þat tyme þat he pedlist po come. 1543 LD. BERNERS Froiss. I. 240 By that tyme it was day, they came to the mountayne. 1573 L. LLOYD Marrow of Hist. (1653) 93 That night before they should sail in the morning, appeared unto Simonides the self-same man. 1598 GREENWOY Tacitus' Ann. I. (1622) 21 [They] beset the wood, that way the army should returne. 1656 S. HOLLAND Zara (1719) 65 By that time they were half over Styx, they enjoyed an aged Person. 1760 Impostors Detected IV. III. II. 179 He..got me a wife by that time I had attained my fifteenth year. 1805 EMILY CLARK Banks of Doure I. 48 Enraptured at that time the event took place.

4. Indicating quality or amount: Of that kind or degree; such, so great. Const. that (conj.), as (with finite vb. or inf.), inf. (without as), or rel. pron. (also with ellipsis of the conj. or rel.); rarely without correlative. Now chiefly arch. (or dial.).

(Cf. That dem. adv.)

c 1250 Owt. de la Tour (1906) 131 She..wepte for her synnes, þat was the loue of God and the drede that she had for her mislenage. 1530 TINDALE Prol. Deut., When I am brought in to that extremite that I must either suffre or forsake god. 1547 BOONDE Introd. Knowl. iii. (1870) 133 Sayynt Partryckes purgatory..is not of that effycacyte as is spoken of. 1602 SHAKS. Ham. I. v. 48 From me, whose loue was of that dignity, That it went hand in hand, euen with the Vow I made to her in marriage. 1658 MILTON Tenures of Kings (1650) 37 With that cunning and dexterity as is almost imperceavable. 1678 WALTON Life Sanderson 53 An Error of that Magnitude, that I cannot but wonder. 1734 DUCHESS QUEENSBERRY in Lett. C'tess Suffolk (1824) II. 94 This enlivened us to that degree that we were mighty good company. 1821 SHELLEY in Lady S. Mem. (1859) 155, I hope that I have treated the question with that temper and spirit as to silence cavil. 1848 DICKENS Dombey xlvii, He..struck her..with that heaviness, that she cotered on the marble floor. 1865 L. OLIPHANT Piccadilly (1870) 241 He blushed to that degree that I felt quite shy.

†5. As neuter sing. of the definite article: see THE A. 1 c. Obs. (exc. in that ilk: see ILK a.[1]). That one, that other = the one, the other: see ONE 18, OTHER B. 2; also TONE, TOTHER. Obs.

c 893 K. ÆLFRED Orosius 1. § 1 Twegen deelas: Asia, and þæt oþer Europe. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 207 Þat þe on broþer..in nede helpeþ here þat oþer. c 1400 Gamelyn 305 [He] tokke him by þat on arme & threw him in a welle. 1470–85 MALORY Arthur X. ix, 427 Two bretheren, that one hyghte Alepes, and the other hyghte Tryan. 1509 SIR C. Crl. Star Chamber (Selden) 194 Half of that brigge appertaigneth to the said abbot and that other half to the said Town. 1576 GASCOIGNE Steel Gl. (Arb.) 68 That one eye winks..That other pries and peekes.

III. Demonstrative Adverb. [Closely related to the adjective use in II. 4.]

To that extent or degree; so much, so. (Qualifying an adj., adv., or pple., † rarely a vb.) Now only dial. and Sc. (exc. as in b).

c 1450 St. Cuthbert (Surtees) 6279 His sekenes þat encrest, He gert beere him..Aboute þe contre on a bere. 1616 in J. Russell Haige vii. (1881) 160 If I had been that unhappy as to have such a foolish thing. a 1670 HACKET Abp. Williams II. (1693) 67 This was carried with that little noise that..the..Bishop was not awaked. 1803 BOSWELL Change Edin. 5 Gowd's no that scanty. 1852 DICKENS Bleak Hse. xxiv, I was on my knees for a blow, he was that passionate. 1870 — E. Drood ii. 1884 MRS. RIDDELL Berna Boyle vii, The rooms are that small you might reach a book off the opposite wall. 1888 'R. BOLDREWOOD' Robbery under Arms xxi, He was that weak as he could hardly walk. 1902 O. WISTER Virginian xxxv, You were that cool! Mod. Sc. He's grown that big ye wad hardly ken him. He was that cunning!

b. With an adv. or adj. of quantity, e. g. that far (= as far as that), that much, that high: more definite than so, as indicating the precise amount.

1654 RUTHERFORD Lett. (1862) I. 126, I repose that much in His rich grace that He will be loath to change upon me. 1805 JEFFERSON Writ. (1830) IV. 39 His family, which he had sent that far in the course of the day. 1896 MRS. STOWE Dred I. 3, I never liked anything that long [= six weeks]. 1870 MISS BRIDGMAN Rob. Lynne II. xi. 224, 'I ..recollect you that high'—holding her hand about six inches off the table.

That (ðăt, ðăt), relative pron. Forms: see below. [An unstressed and phonetically weakened form of THAT dem. pron., used to subordinate one predication to another.

The Common Indo-Eur. had no relative pronoun, which has been developed separately in the different linguistic families. In Latin it was evolved out of the interrogative, in Teutonic chiefly out of the demonstrative. But even within the Teutonic languages the relative is differently formed (see Wright Gothic Grammar § 270, Old Eng. Grammar § 468). In mod. English it is expressed by that, from the demonstrative pron., and by who (whom), which, what (after L. qui, quæ, quod, F. qui, que, quel) from the interrogative pronouns. In northern dialect, M. and mod., it is commonly expressed by AT, 'AT, rel. pron. In OE. it was expressed (1) by the simple demonstrative se, seo, þæt; (2) by the particle þe; (3) by þe preceded by a personal pronoun or the demonstrative. For þe, see THE conjunctive particle. The use of the relative with antecedent that appears to have come about simply by the subordination of the second of two originally consecutive sentences to the first; thus, 'he came to a river; that (or this) was broad and deep', whence 'he came to a river that was broad and deep'. In OE. it is sometimes impossible to determine whether the pronoun of the second clause is still demonstrative or has become relative. Thus the words in the OE. version of Bede's History, I. xii. (1890) 52 'Hi wæron Wiltgyles suna, þæs feder wæs Wilta haten, þæs feder wæs Wilta haten, and þæs Wilta feder wæs Woden nemned', might be read either as short consecutive sentences, 'They were sons of Wiltgyls; his father [lit. that's father] was called Wilta; his father was called Wilta; and this Wilta's father was named Woden'; or 'They were sons of Wiltgyls whose father was called Wilta, whose father was called Wilta, and whose (Wilta's) father was named Woden'. Bæda's Latin has cuius in all three places, so that the translator apparently used þæs as a relative. See also Wulfing Syntax Alfreds des Grossen I. § 275. Now, and for a long time past, the relative that has been stressless, and consequently with obscure vowel; but this unstressing and obscuration came gradually, and was never represented in writing, so that in the written forms there is nothing to distinguish the relative from the demonstrative.]

A. Examples of early inflexional forms.

(The inflexional forms were, to begin with, those of the dem. pron. and definite article (see prec. and THE); but, as relative, that is now invariable for gender, case, and number.)

c 825 Vesp. Psalter ix. 12 Singað drihtne se [L. qui] eardað in Sion. Ibid. 28 Des [eufus] mn ðæs weregednisse & bitternisse ful is. Ibid. cxxxii. 3 Swe swe deaw..se asticeð in munt Sion. c 825 Vesp. Hymns xiii. 4 gehiowadas mon þæm [cui] ðinre onlicnisse ondwliotan saldes geliene. c 893 K. ÆLFRED Oros. i. § 1 Eorðe..þone man gæraweð, hateþ. Ibid. § 11 Rin þa ea, seo wilið of þæm beorge þe mon Alpis hæt. Ibid., Donua þa ea, þære æwielme is neah Rines ofre. Ibid. ii. vii. § 2 An burg in Affrica sio [quæ] was neh þæm sæ. a 900 tr. Bæda's Hist. I. xii. [xv.] (1890) 52 Wilta..þæs..feðer wæs Woden nemned. c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. xxiv. 15 Unfæzernis sliðnese ðiu [Rushw. þe] gecueden wæs from ðæm witgo. c 1100 O. E. Chron. an. 1083 Anselme..se wæs ær abbod on Bec.

B. Singular.

The general relative pronoun, referring to any antecedent, and used without inflexion irrespective of gender, number, and case.

I. 1. Introducing a clause defining or restricting the antecedent, and thus completing its sense. (The ordinary use: referring to persons or things.)

Sometimes replaceable by who (of persons) or which (of things), but properly only in cases where no ambiguity results: cf. 2, and see WHO, WHICH, rel. (For ellipsis of that, see 10.)

c 825 Vesp. Psalter vii. 7 In bebode ðæt ðu bibude. 888 Charter in O. E. Texts 438 Ðes landes boec..ðet eðelbearht cyning wullde sealde. c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. v. § 1 Ne sece io no her þa bec ac þæt ðæt ic ma bee forstent. c 1000 Ags. Ps. (Thn) lxxxviii. 41 [lxxxix. 48] Hwylc manna is þæt his æzene.. sawle zeneriże? c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 3 God [?zod] in þane castel þet is onzein eou. Ibid. 79 Þes Mon þhet alihte from Ierusalem in to Iericо. a 1225 Ancr. R. 162 Þeo þet ðuðen mid God al þet heo euer wolden. a 1300 Cursor M. 22118 All þat he cristen finds þare. 1340 Ayenb. 39 Þe ualse yulemde þet vlyeþ. c 1374 CHAUCER Boeth. iv. pr. vii. 113 (Camb. MS.) Þou þat art put in the encres or in the lowthe of wordes. 1377 LANGL. P. Pl. B. x. 38 Þo þat feynen hem folis. 1382 WYCLIF Matt. iv. 16 The people that dwelte in derknessis say grete lijt. 1456 SIR G. HAYE Law Arms (S. T. S.) 244 It that was wont to be calit law. c 1460 PETERSON Ad. & Lim. Mon. (1883) 130 The kyng off Scottis þat last dyed. 1500–20 DUNBAR Poems xx. 8 He wrekis wild, that will him self can gyd. 1526 TINDALE John iv. 26, I thatt spake vnto the, am he. 1532 Test. Inhor. (Surtees) VI. 24 A dishes that I toke of hyr. 1596 DANETT tr. Comines (1614) 173 But this was not it that grieued them. 1611 BIBLE Ps. lxv. 2 O thou that hearest prayer. 1712 ADDISON Spect. No. 512 P 6 A Tree that grew near an old Wall. 1798 COLERIDGE Anc. Mar. II. v, We were the first that ever burst Into that silent sea. 1865 SWINBURNE Atalanta 76 How shall I say, son, That am no sister? 1875 JOWETT Plato (ed. 2) I. 342 This is about all that he has to say. 1886 C. E. PASCOE Lond. of To-day xxx. (ed. 3) 269 The Westminster Hall that we now see.. is the building of Richard II's time.

b. As obj. of a preposition, which in this case stands at the end of the relative clause (in OE. and ME. sometimes immediately before the verb): e. g. the cup that I shall drink of = the cup of which I shall drink; ME. these that I have of told = these of which I have told.

(When whom or which is substituted for that, the prep. precedes the relative.)

c 1200 ORMIN 462 Þiss godde prest, þatt we nu mælenn offe, Wass .. þehatenn Zacarryas. a 1300 Seven Sins 44 in E. E. P. (1862) 19 þe deuil is his executur of is gold and is treasure þat he so moch trist to. c 1300 Poldinder (1839) ii. 10 The nayles that crist was naylled with on the cros. c 1430 Hymns Virg. 37/69 Theise ilij. þat y haue of tould. 1473 Coventry Leet Bk. 383 The which letter.. is in kepyng in the Tour of Sent Marie hall in the same box þat the kynges generall pardon graunted to this Cittee is Ine. 1526 TINDALE Matt. xx. 22 Are ye able to drynke off the cuppe that y shall drinke of, and to be baptised with the baptism that y shalbe baptised with? 1611 BIBLE Judges xx. 48 All the cities that they came to. 1678 BUNYAN Pilgr. I. 49 The dangers that Mistrust and Timorous were driven back by. 1818 SCOTT Hrt. Midl. xxix (xxx), The ship that somebody was sailing in. 1841 S. WARREN Ten thousand a-Year xiv, There's nothing..that we need be afraid of. Mod. The play that you were talking about. The hole that the mouse ran into. The town that he came from.

2. Introducing a clause stating something additional about the antecedent (the sense of the principal clause being complete without the relative clause). Now only poet. or rhet., the ordinary equivalents being who (obj. whom) of persons, and which of things.

But the relative clause is often merely descriptive, stating an attribute of the antecedent; or it may give the reason or a reason of the main statement, and thus be closely connected with it; the use in these cases approaches that in 1. There are thus many cases in which modern use allows either that or who, which, and in which poets prefer that. (That as in quot. c 1450 is now impossible.)

c 893 K. ÆLFRED Oros. i. 1. § 7 On Indee londe is xliiii þeodu þuton þæm Iglande Þæmæne, þæt londe is xliiii x byrx. a 900 tr. Bæda's Hist. i. i. (1890) 24 Breoton ist garseccas ealand, þæt stæwnæ wut in ȝeara Albion haten. c 1200 Ags. Gosp. Matt. vi. 30 Æcyres weod, þut ðe [Rushw. þæt] to dæȝ is & hiõ to morȝen on ofen asænd. a 1240 Urtesun in Lamb. Hom. 185 Ha hauep oþer wilnep ahter cunfort on eorþe, þet is fikel and fals. a 1300 Cursor M. 9406 He wroght a felaw of his ban Till Adam, þat was first alian [tr. his an]. c 1320 Cast. Love 8 ȝog God fladiet ȝow and Holigost, þat alle þing on eorþe sixt and wost, þat O God art and þrilli-hod. c 1386 CHAUCER Prol. 10 Smale foweles maken melodye, That sleepen al the nyght with open eye. c 1450 God-fore Kog. 301 Yf hit happen the said prioure and Covent..to faile in the payment of pe said yerely rente (that god for-bede). c 1489 CAXTON Sonnes of Aymon xxiv. 515 Reynaude, that sawe this barde batayl, shoved himselfe among the thickest. 1548–9 (Mar.) Bk. Com. Prayer, Litany, O God mercyfull father, that despyseth not the sighinge of a contryte hearte. 1621 BP. MOUNTAGU Diatribæ 36 You are a merry man..that tell me, your selfe, you are not within. 1678 Cudworth Treatise in Select. Hard. Misc. (1793) 252 Calvinists, Independents, Anabaptists, Quakers, that promised to advance fifteen hundred pounds towards it; and Mr. Francis Tresham, that gave him assurance of two thousand pounds. 1824 LAMB Let. to W. Morton 19 July (in Selbe's Catal. 5 June (1900) 66), Pity me that have been a Gentleman these four weeks and am reduced in one day to the state of a ready writer. 1843 MACAULAY Lays Ane. Rome, Horatius, Fale Sextus That wrought the deed of shame. 1888–9 R. BRIDGES Eros & Psyche May 4 Lazy mists, that still Climb'd on the shadowy roots of every hill.

3. As subj. or obj. of the rel. clause, with ellipsis of the antecedent.

a. Of things: thát = (the thing) that, that which, what. Very common down to 16th c.; now arch. and poetic, what being the prose form.

In later use the single that may become emphatic, and is then demonstrative with ellipsis of the relative: see THAT dem. pron. 7.

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xxvi. § 1 Þonne ðu..oððæ hefdest þæt ðu noldes oððæ mæðest þæt ðu woldest. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 5 Nu scule þe understoden þet hit bi-tacnet. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 3066 Dat [hjall ða bileaf sal al ben numen. a 1300 Cursor M. 3711 He ete and drank þat was his will. c 1315 SHOREHAM vi. 11 Þou hast y-tyȝt þat was amys, Yvonne þat was y-lore. c 1400 Laud Troy Bk. 7877 Anteior did that in him was. 1477–8 Rec. St. Mary at Hill 91 Paid to hewe Clerk that he lackyd in his wagis. 1535 COVERDALE Matt. xx. 14 Take that thine is [WYCLIF that that is thine] and go thy waye. a 1568 ASCHAM Scholem. 1. (Arb.) 49 Where they should rather see that was vncumlie, nor heare that was vnhonest. 1600 SHAKS. A. Y. L. iii. ii. 77, I earne that I eate: get that I weare. 1611 BIBLE Job xiii. 3 Therefore haue I vttered that I vnderstood not. 1887 MORRIS Odyss. xii. 201 In peace that ye have.

b. Of persons: thát = (the person) that, he (or him) that, one that; pl. (persons) that, they (them), or those who. Now only after there are and the like: see THERE adv. 5 f.

c 1320 Cast. Love 1 Þat good þenkep good may do. a 1400 Arthur 1 Herkene, þat good þenkep good may do. c 1400 Pol. Poems i. 122 That taken with wrong, are goddis theves. 14.. Why I am a Lollard in Wyc. & Rel. E. E. (1862) 144 Dame chastyte..sum her loved in hert fulle dere, And there weren that dyd not so. 1560 BIBLE (Genev.) Prov. xii. 24 There is that sauteeth, and is more increased. c 1585 R. BROWNE Answ. Cartwright 7 There were of the princes that tooke his parte. 1605 SHAKS. Lear i. iv. 279 Woe [sc. to him] that too late repents. 1611 BIBLE Exod. iii. 14, I am that I am. a 1665 DIGBY Priv. Mem. (1827) 272 Of her ancestors there have been that have exalted and pulled down kings.

II. In various special or elliptical constructions, in some of which that passes into a relative or conjunctive adverb. (Cf. next word.)

4. After same; sometimes strictly the rel. pron. (1); sometimes with looser construction or ellipsis: = as: see SAME A. 1 a, and cf. As B. 23.

c 1200, etc. [see SAME A. 1 a]. a 1575 tr. Pol. Verg. Eng. Hist. (Camden No. 29) 181 William made the same awnswer that befor. 1600 SURFLET Countrie Farme i. xxx. 200 The mare-mule is subject vnto the same diseases that the horse. 1664 H. MORE Exp. 7 Epist. viii. 124, I understand by φιλαδελφία the same that ἀγάπη, universal Love. 1690 W. WALKER Idiomat. Anglo-Lat. 387 They say Diana is the same that the Moon. 1711 INGOLMORNS Hist. Print. 404 He grasps his left hand about the Foot end of the Page in the same posture that his right hand grasps the Head end. 1783 COLMAN Prose on Sev. Occas., Notes Art Poetry (1787) III. 97 Other critics have taken it, in the same sense that I have here considered it. 1819 HAZLITT Pol. Ess. 421 If Mr. Malthus chooses to say, that men will always be governed by the same good mechanical motives that they are at present.

5. Preceded by a descriptive noun or adj., in a parenthetic exclamatory clause (e.g. fool that he is): = As B. 25.

c 1374 CHAUCER Troylus III. 1516 (1565) Nece, how kan ye fare? Criseyde answeede, Neuere pe bet for yow, Fox þat ye ben. c 1440 Yorkshyre. xxx. 26 Lo! sirs, my worthely wife, þat sche is! 1526 TINDALE Rom. vii. 24 O wretched man that I am. 1591 SHAKS. Two Gent. v. iv. 28 O miserable, vnhappy that I am. 1605 R. R. in Sylvester's Wks. (1880) I. 15/1 Foole that I was, I thought in younger times [etc.]. 1855 BROWNING Popularity 1 Stand still, true poet that you are! I know you. 1877 E. W. GOSSE Northern Stud., 4 Danish Poets (1890) 227 A few months after Andersen—poor little forlorn adventurer that he was—left that city.

6. † a. = As B. 13. Obs. rare—1.

c 1175 Credo in Lamb. Hom. 75 Alle þe kunnen leste, þet ich wene, ower credo.

b. In not that I know, and similar expressions: = According to what, as far as. Cf. KNOW v. 18 c.

c 1460 Towneley Myst. xxi. 239 No word yit he spake That I wyst. 1530 PALSGR. 762/1, I never trespassed aȝaynst hym, that I wotte of. 1602 SHAKS. Ham. ii. ii. 155 Pol. Hath there been such a time..That I have positively said, 'tis so, When it prou'd otherwise? King. Not that I know. 1776 Trial of Nundocomar 30/1, I was not at Mongheer; nor was he there, that I know of. 1819 SHELLEY Cenci i. iii, Can you bring? Lucr. Nothing that I see. 1840 CARLYLE Heroes iv. (1872) 126 But Protestantism has not died yet, that I hear of! 1864 DASENT Jest & Earnest (1873) II. 343 He had never seen Hall that he knewe before that day. 1886 Sir N. LINDLEY in Law Rep. 31 Chanc. Div. 567 An injunction to restrain such proceedings has never that I know of been granted since 1851. Mod. He is not here, that I can learn. No one knows anything about it, that I can find.

7. After the word time, or any sb. meaning a point or space of time: At, in, or on which; when.

Usually introducing a defining clause, as in 1: sometimes an additional statement, as in 2. For ellipsis of that, see 10.

Beowulf 2646 Nu is se dæȝ cumen þæt ure man-drýhten mæȝenes be-hofaþ. a 1000 Cædmon's Gen. 585 (Gr.) Wæs seo hwil þæs lang, þæt ic reonlice gode þeȝnode. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Nicod. xiii. 21 Hit wæs ða se time þæt winberian ripodon. 1303 R. BRUNNE Handl. Synne 862 Fro þe fryday þat he deyde, To tyme þat he ros. c 1386 CHAUCER Reeve's T. 189 Allas quod John the day that I was born. 1490–85 MALORY Arthur iv. xvi. 209 Tyme hour is come that thou muste dye. 1525 LD. BERNERS Froiss. II. 53 In the meane tyme that our supper was a dressyng, this knight said to me [etc.]. 1600 SHAKS. A. Y. L. iii. ii. 187, I was neuer so bitten by a blindworm since that I was an Irish Rat. 1611 BIBLE Gen. ii. 17 In the day that thou eatest thereof, thou shalt surely die. 1760–72 H. BROOKE Fool of Qual. (1809) IV. 31 You speak..like a sage..at an age that our young nobility scarcely begin to think. 1802 MAR. EDGEWORTH Moral T. xii. The night that he went to the play. 1879 GEO. ELIOT Theo. Such i. 10 One day that I had incautiously mentioned this interesting fact.

† b. = To the time that; till, until. Obs.

97 Bitchl. Hom. 237 Nu þry dæȝas to lafe syndon þæt hie þe willaþ ȝe-cnawan. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 33 þah þu liuedest of adames fruman þet come þes dei. c 1205 LAY. 229 Þis lond he hire lende þat come hir lifes ende. c 1320 Cast. Love 1412 From þe tyme þat he Adam wrouȝte, þat he yours and vs for-bouȝte.

† c. = From the time that; since. Obs. rare—1.

c 1205 LAY. 26294 Hit is feole ȝere þat heore þrættes comen here.

8. Connecting two clauses loosely or anacoluthically, the relative or dependent clause being imperfect (the part omitted being suggested by the principal clause); giving the effect of the ordinary rel. pron. with ellipsis of a preposition, an infinitive, etc.: cf. 7. (Now considered slipshod.)

c 1425 WYNTOUN Cron. iv. xxv. 5380 Off pe wyche nest gane before Pat Julyus was slayn, pe morn. c 1550 LD. BERNERS Arth. Lyt. Bryt. 494 Oftentimes people speketh of a thing that they knowe but lytle what the conclusyon shall be. 1596 SHAKS. Merch. i. ii. 11. 9 Who riseth from a feast With that keene appetite that he sits downe? 1673 Essex Papers (Camden) I. 51 Who put this Citty into that disorder that I found it. 1779 Mirror No. 29 P. 4 His fortune and his ancestry entitled him..to appear in any shape that he pleased. 1879 STEVENSON Virginibus 4/2 If you will only see things..in the light that we see them.

9. That followed by a poss. pron. corresponding to the antecedent (e.g. you that your, the man that his, OE. þe his, THE particle 3 d) is an ancient mode of expressing the genitive of the relative = whose.

(The same idiom is used in many langs., e.g. Celtic, Semitic, etc.). Still common dialectally.

1456 Act. Pecr. II (1834) II. 45/2 Item, it is ordanyt..at ilk man þ's his gudis extendis to xxl. merckis be bodyn at he lest wt..a suerde and a buclare, a bow and a schaif of arrowis. 1470–85 MALORY Arthur VIII. xxxv. 327 There came a man that sire Tristram sore hated, had slayne his brother. 1532 FITZHERB. Husb. § 148 That man that his horse hath eten his corne or grasse wyll be greued at the. 1602 Ld. Cromwell i. ii, Theres legions now of beggars.. That their original did spring from Kings. [1893 MURRAY Dial. S. Scotl. 196 When the Relative is used in the Possessive Case (whose) it is necessary to express it by..at (that) and the possessive pronoun belonging to the antecedent; thus 'the man at hys weyte's deid'..' the wumman at ye ken hyre gun'.]

¶ 10. The relative is very frequently omitted by ellipsis, esp. in senses 1, 1 b (chiefly as obj. or pred., less freq. and now only in certain connexions as subj.); also in sense 7.

This (one of the commonest idioms in colloquial English, and largely found in the literary language) prob. began with the relative þe, THE. Cf. also THAT conj. 10.

c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 207 Adam ben king and eue quuen Of alle þe ȝinge in werlde ben. — 752 Ilc bing deies ðor-inne is driuen. 13.. Cursor M. 4892 Von er theues..And theif es he þam hider send. a 1450 Le Morte Arth. 72, I drede wishall discouerid be, Off the loue is vs by-twene. 1578 TIMME Calvine on Gen. 164 When those things should follow are set before. 1592 SHAKS. Rom. & Jul. i. i. 212, I do loue a woman..and shee's faire I loue. 1611 BIBLE Gen. iii. 5 In the day ye eate thereof, then your eyes shalbee opened. 1676 GLANVILL Ess. Pref. a 3 b, It shews a particular service Philosophy doth. 1690 LOCKE Hum. Und. ii. xxi. § 32 Life it self..is a burden cannot be bore under the lasting.. pressure of such an uneasiness. 1781 COWPER Verses Alex. Selkirk i, I am monarch of all I survey. 1850 TENNYSON In Mem. iv, What is it makes me beat so low? Ibid. v, To put in words the grief I feel. 1891 LONGF. Golden Leg. ii. 273 Who was it said Amen? 1885 BROWNING Misconceptions i, This is a spray the Bird clung to.

That (ðăt, ðŏt), conj. Also 1 þæt, 2–3 þat, 2–6 þat. [Uses of THAT dem. or rel. pron. in which it becomes a mere relative or conjunctive particle: cf. THE particle. So in the other WGer. langs. Cf. Gr. ὅτι from neuter of rel. pron. ὅστις, L. quod from neuter of rel. qui, It. che, Sp., Pg., Fr. que.]

I. 1. Introducing a dependent substantive-clause, as subject, object, or other element of the principal clause, or as complement of a sb. or adj., or in apposition with a sb. therein.

The dependent clause as subject is most commonly placed after the verb and introduced by a preceding it, e.g. 'it is certain that he was there' = 'that he was there, is certain': see It 4 b. As object, it usually follows, e.g. 'I have heard that he was there'. (For ellipsis of that, see 10.)

[This use of that is generally held to have arisen out of the dem. pron. pointing to the clause which it introduces. Cf. (1) He once lived here: we all know that; (2) That (now this) we all know; he once lived here; (3) We all know that (or this): he once lived here; (4) We all know that he once lived here; (5) We all know he once lived here. In 1, 2, 3 that is a demonstrative pronoun in apposition to the statement' he once lived here'; in 4 it has sunk into a conjunctive particle, and (like the relative pronoun) has become stressless; in 5 it has disappeared, and 'he once lived here' appears as the direct object of 'we know'. After aware, certain, conscious, suspicious, assured, informed, persuaded, etc., of or some other prep. seems omitted before that: 'I am certain of that: he once lived here'. But 'I am certain that' may have arisen as another way of saying 'I know that'; and so in the other expressions.]

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. v. § 3 Ic wat þæt selc wuht from Gode com. a 900 CYNEWULF Elene 815 Nu ic wat þæt þu eart gecyðed and acenned ælra cyninga þrym. Ibid. 1168 þæt is ȝeðafenlic, þæt þu dryhtnes word on hyge healde. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Gen. i. 4 God þæt wæs, þæt hit god wæs. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 111 þe sixte unþeau is.. þet he for modleste ne mei his monnan don stere. c 1205 LAY. 13 Hit com him on mode..þet he wolde of Engle þa scælcuis tellen. c 1250 O. Kent. Sermons in O. E. Misc. 26 And herodes i-herde þet o king was i-bore. a 1300 K. Horn (Camb. MS.) 272 And þe sonde seide Þat sik lai þat maide. 1375 BARBOUR Bruce iii. 481 Pen haphnyt at þat tyme..þat he Erle of Jo Lennox was Amang pe hillis. c 1380 WYCLIF Sel. Wks. III. 362 We ben certein þat Crist may not axe oþir obedience. c 1386 CHAUCER Prol. 500 And this figure he added eek ther to, That if gold ruste, what shal iren doo? c 1440 Generydes 9902 What think ye best thanne..yt we shall doo? 1535 COVERDALE Exod. iii. 12 This shall be the tokem, yᵉ I haue sent the. 1567 PAINTER Pal. Pleas. (1813) II. 160 That I remaine in fielde it is to me greate fame. 1611 BIBLE Prov. xix. 2 That the soule be without knowledge, it is not good. 1726 G. ROBERTS Four Years' Voy. 135 Their Opinion, that it was not real, but imaginary Land we had seen. 1784 COWPER Task I. 136 We have borne The jingling sound, scarce conscious that I blew. 1809 COLERIDGE Lett. (1895) 55 The story is so certain as that Dr. Dodd was hung. 1873 MORLEY Rousseau I. vii. 284 Rousseau was persuaded that Madame d'Epinay was his betrayer.

† b. Introducing a clause in apposition to or exemplifying the statement in the principal clause: = in that, in the fact that. Obs. or arch. (now usually expressed by in with gerund).

This appears to be transitional between 1 and 2.

901–24 in Birch Cart. Sax. II. 236 Helmstan ða undæde ȝecidde, ðæt he Æðerede beht forstæl. c 1489 CAXTON Sonnes of Aymon iv. 112 We have done ye evyll that we have not taken sureste. 1526 TINDALE Phil. iv. 14 Ye have wele done, that ye bare parte with me in my tribulacion. 1611 BIBLE 1 Kings viii. 18 Thou diddest well that it was in thine heart. — Acts x. 33 Thou hast well done, that thou art come [so CRANMER: WYCL. & Rhem. in coming: TINDALE & Geneva, for to come].

† c. Introducing a sb.-clause as obj. of a preceding preposition: = the fact that. Obs. and rare, exc. after certain prepositions with which that forms conjunctional phrases (after that, before that, by that, etc.), sometimes with special meanings, and chiefly obs. or arch.: see AFTER C. 1 b, BEFORE C. 1 a, BY prep. 21 c, FOR THAT 1, IN prep. 39, UNTO, WITH, WITHOUT. Obs.

c 1175–[see AFTER C. 1 b]. c 1200—[see BEFORE C. 1 a]. a 1300—[see BY prep. 21 c]. c 1440—[see IN prep. 39]. 1444 Rolls of Parlt. V. 121/1 To stonde and abyde for terme of her lyves, with that they dwell continuelli within the seid Toun or Fraunchise. 1484 CAXTON Fables of Alfonce ix, I shalle not leue the goo, withoute that thow hold to me that [etc.]. 1485 Rolls of Parlt. VI. 325/2 Contynued their possessions in the same; unto that Humfrey Stafford.. entred into the said mannors. 1525 LD. BERNERS Froiss. II. 554 The bysshoppe and the lorde de la Ryver were tyeyne of that the heryttuynce shulde abyde with the Vycount. c 1530 — Arth. Lyt. Brit. 493, I am angry wyth nothynge but with that Florence shold thus escape us. 1557 NORTH Guevara's Diall Pr. xx. 36 This shalbe sene by that they succour the poore.

d. In periphrastic construction, following a clause of the form it is (was, etc.) + an adv. or advb. phr., to which emphasis is given by the periphrasis: see It 4 d. (The sense may be less emphatically expressed by omitting it is (was, etc.) and that, e.g. [It was] here [that] he fell.) Cf. Onions Advanced Eng. Syntax § 15 a, 6.

Beowulf 1362 Nis þæt feor mil-ge-mearces þæt se mere standeð. a 1250, etc. [see Ir 4 d]. 1470–85 MALORY Arthur vii. 191 Thou arte . . lyke onyght that I hate, . so be hit that thou be not wyl lyghtly accorde with the. 1672 MARVELL Reh. Transp. i. 29 'Therefore it is that they are agrieved. 1736 MRS. MANLEY Secret Mem. II. 116 It is not always that we ought to judge by Appearances. 1780 Mirror No. 77 ¶ 6 It is owing to this circumstance, that a general love seldom forms an attachment to any particular object. 1814 WORDSW. Yarrow Visited 25 Where was it that the famous Flower Of Yarrow Vale lay bleeding? 1875 CROLL Climate & T. 467 It is seldom that the geologist has an opportunity of seeing a complete section. 1877 MISS YONGE Cameos Ser. III. xv. 140 It was for his own supremacy that he fought. 1890 SIR C. S. C. BOWEN in Law Times Rep. LXIII. 735/1 It was because he failed to prove this that his case broke down.

e. Introducing an exclamatory clause (with or without a preceding interjection or interj. phr.) expressing some emotion, usually (now always) sorrow, indignation, or the like. (Now usually with should.)

Some of those with interj. or interj. phr. may be regarded as belonging to 2: cf. 'I am sorry that . .', also quot. 1535 in a. 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. ix. Ealá þæt nanwuht nis fæste stondendes weorces. c 1275 SHOREHAM v. 223 O þat hy were blyþe, þo hye here seȝen So glorious alyue. a 1350 in Hampole's Wks. (1895) I. 343 Whan adam saus hym comen, lord, þat þe was loȝe! Ibid. II. 360 Lord, þat þe was wo bigon in þyt like tyde! c 1440 Jacob's Well 125 Allas, þat euer gadryd I monye on hepe, to trustyn þere-vpon. c 1460 Towneley Myst. iv. 195 A, Lord, that I shuld abide this day! 1470–85 MALORY Arthur XIII. viii. 623 Allas sayd she that euer I sawe you. 1604 SHAKS. Oth. iii. 3. 290 Oh, that men should put an Enemie in their mouthes, to steale away their Braines? 1610 — Temp. I. ii. 67 That a brother should Be so perfidious. 1819 SHELLEY Cenci I. ii. 54 Great God! that such a father should be mine! Mod. 'That it should ever come to this! That he should turn against us, after all his professions of friendship!

II. 2. Introducing a clause expressing the cause, ground, or reason of what is stated in the principal clause. (See also † b, c.)

In OE. often þæs (þe), gen. of þæt. For ellipsis of that, see 10.

c 1205 LAY. 9375 He wes glæd þat his ifon weoren dead. 13.. Sir Beues (A.) 4059 Beues was glad, þat he was come. c 1412 HOCCLEVE De Reg. Princ. 1477 Pat þou art as thou art, god banke and herie. 1445 in Anglia XXVIII. 273 Men . . Merueyl yth þat thou so lowly art. 1533 BELLENDEN Livy II. xi. (S.T.S.) I. 169 For þe commoun pepill reiosit þat þe wolchis war cummyn. 1535 COVERDALE Ps. cxix. [cxx.] 5 Wo is me, yᵗ my banishment endureth so longe. 1612 BIBLE Isa. lxiii. 5. I wondered that there was no man to vphold. 1810 CRABBE Borough xviii. 208 Men . . bless their God that time has fenced their heart. 1827 HALLAM Const. Hist. I. 697 His sincerity in this was the less suspected, that his wife . was entirely presbyterian. 1842 MACAULAY in Life & Lett. (1876) II. 114, I should be very sorry that it were known. 1859 GEO. ELIOT A. Bede XXXV, Mrs. Poyser was quite agreeably surprised that Hetty wished to go and see Dinah. 1866 ROLLE Gaudet (ed. 2) II. 4 She . . thought of them all the more that she was discouraged from enlarging on them.

(b) Also in constructions now obs. or arch.

a 1000 Andreas 276 (Gr.) Þiñ þe meorñ wiñ god, þæt þu us on lade libe worde. c 1000 Ælfc. Gram. xvi. 8 Hwæt þence ge betwux eow, þæt [Ruskw. forþon þæt] se hlafas nabbaþ? 13.. Coer de L. 831 Sche . Wrong her handes that sche was born. c 1555 HARPSFIELD Divorce Hen. VIII (Camden) 270 Then there is a quarrel picked against the Popes that they made such restraints. 1597 ALLEN Def. Priesthood 352 And S. Augustin excommunicated County Boniface that he tooke from the Churche an offender. a 1652 R. LOVELACE Lett. (1660) 83 Honest J. is ready to beat his wife that she forces his promise to so slothful a performance. 1790 COWPER Let. 27 Feb., I am crazed that I cannot ask you all together. 1829 CARLYLE in For. Rev. & Cont. Miscl. V. 109 Neither should we censure Novalis that he dries his tears.

b. Not that . . (ellipt.): = 'I do not say this because . .'; or 'It is not the fact that . .' 'One must not suppose that . .' (sense 1): see NOT adv. 6 a.

1601 [see NOT adv. 6 a]. 1681 DRYDEN Abs. & Achit. 381 Such virtue's only given to guide a throne. Not that your father's mildness I condemn, but fear. 1879 Rel. Nature I. ix, Where is she staying now? Not that I care. 1898 HUXLEY Physiogr. 185 Not that a particle of this substance is annihilated.

3. Introducing a clause expressing purpose, end, aim, or desire: with simple subjunctive (arch.), or with may (pa. t. might), should, rarely shall.

Formerly also preceded by as (AS B. 21 b). See also MAY *v.*¹ B. 8a. The meaning is now more fully expressed by in order that: see ORDER sb. 20. After will, wish, pray, beseech, and the like, the function of that seems to combine senses 1 and 3.

a 900 tr. Bæda's Hist. iv. xi. [xiv.] § 1 Þær se biscop oft . . wæs, þæt he fulwade þæt folc in Swalwan streame. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Mark xiv. 38 Zebiddaþ þæt ge on costnunge ne gan. a 1018 Cn. Chron. an. 1009, We ȝyt næfdon þa geseldu . þæt seo scipfyrd nyt wære þisses earde. a 1200 Moral Ode 313 Ac drihte crist he þise us strenche, stonde þat we mote. 1393 R. BRUNNE Handl. Synne 3742 ȝyf þou þaue euer cunsel or rede For yre, þat a man were dede. c 1410 LOVE Bonaunent. Mirr. (1908) 106 Resyy that all thing were wele and couenably done. c 1440 Jacob's Well 121 Turne þi face fro no pore man, þat god turne noȝt his face fro þe. 1683 MOXON Mech. Exerc., Printing x. ¶ 8 This cutting down . . is made . . that the Cramp-Irons . . toggle not on either side off the Ribs. 1683 Trial Ld. Russell in Lady R.'s Lett. (1807) p. xlvi, We pray for the King that the challenge may be over-ruled. 1708 Lond. Gaz. No. 4454/3 This is to Advertise all Persons, that they do not lend her any Money. a 1774 GOLDSM. Surv. Exp. Philos. (1776) I. 75 The bones of animals . . calcined in such a manner as that all their oil should be exhausted. 1816 J. WILSON City of Plague I. ii. 67 Give me one look, That I may see his face so beautiful. 1874 A. J. CHRISTIE in Ess. Rel. & Lit. Ser. III. 50 Christ . . had prayed that Peter's faith should not fail.

† b. Introducing a parenthetic clause of purpose. Obs. (Now expressed by the inf., e.g. 'that we speak of no more' = to speak of no more.)

13.. Pol. Rel. & L. Poems (1866) 221 Hit beoþ þreo tymes on þo day, þat soþe to witen me mai. 1621 BIBLE Transl. Pref. 1 Synods & Church-maintenance (that we speake of no more things of this kinde) should be as safe as a Sanctuary.

c. In exclamations of desire or longing: with verb in subjunctive.

Now always with vb. in past subj. (indicating improbability of fulfilment), usually with preceding interj. (see also O (int. 2), also (arch.) with would or would God (sense 1: see would s. v. WILL v.). Formerly also with vb. in pres. subj. (indicating possibility of fulfilment), where that is now omitted. In quot. 13.. expressing a command (that he wear = let him be).

1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 6789 A duc þer was . . þat was traytour . . þat god ȝiue him ssame. 13.. Seuyn Sag. 651 Goth, he seigh, to the prisone, And fetcheth forht mine sone, And quik that he war sakloȝe. c 1350 Will. Palerne 2795 God mowe we þonk, & oure worþi werwolf þat wel hin by-tyde. 1535 [see O int. 2]. 1618 CORBET Poems (1807) 99 O that I ere might have the hap To get the bird which in the map is called the Greater Rack! 1790 COWPER Rec. Mother's Picture 1 Oh that those lips had language! 1850 TENNYSON In Mem. xii, Deep folly! yet that this could be—That I could wing my will with might (etc.). 1855 — Maud ii. iv. 1 O that 'twere possible. . To find the arms of my true love Round me once again!

d. Introducing a clause expressing a hypothetical desired result: with verb in subjunctive or its equivalent.

[1601: see 10.] 1610 SHAKS. Temp. v. I. 150 Oh heauens, that they were liuing both in Naples The King and Queene there, that they were, I wish My selfe were mudded in that oozie bed. 1760–72 H. BROOKE Fool of Qual. (1809) III. 114, I would give a thousand pounds that he may prove the man. 1821 BYRON Wks. (1833) V. 216, I would gladly have given a greater sum, that he had never been hurt. 1861 DASENT Burnt Njal II. 118, I would give all my goods that it had never happened.

4. Introducing a clause expressing the result or consequence of what is stated in the principal clause: with verb usually in indicative.

a. With antecedent so or such, either in the principal clause, or immediately before that in the dependent clause (see So, SUCH).

Also (arch.) preceded by as: see As B. 19 c. For ellipsis of that, see 10.

c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. xiii. 54 He lærde hiȝ . . swa þæt hiȝ wundredon. a 1300 Cursor M. 9730 Sa wel i am ya luued wit þe þat þi wisdom man clepes me. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) I. 419 Men þynoþ so longe in þat hurste, þat þe eldest doiliȝ. 1489 CAXTON Sonnes of Aymon iv. 119 So longe they rode . . that they came there as they were borne. 1564 P. MARTYR Comm. Judges 272 To aske, not in deede so apertely that his voice should be heardc. 1667 MILTON P. L. ix. 782, This matter . . Of Rime so little is taken for a defect, . that it is rather to be esteem'd an example. 1705 FARQUHAR Twin-Rivals i. ii, The poor Creature is so big with her Misfortunes, that they are not to be born. 1731 Gentl. Mag. 1/1 This Plaister is so much in such a Passion, that he quitted the Surgery in a pet. 1849 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. vi. II. 85 He was a man of morals so bad that his own relations shrank from him.

b. Simply with antecedent: = so that. arch.

c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 27 Þe deofel . . rixat in-nan him þet he nulle nefre forleten his sunne. c 1205 LAY. 1867 Forð com Corineus . . þat alle hit bi-heolden. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 2690 Þun king hii bounde saste ynou þat reulich he gan crie. 1377 LANGLL. P. Pl. B. xiv. 64 Heuene was yclosed, þat no reyne ne rone. 1470–85 MALORY Arthur XVI. xvii. 687 Thenne were they sore affrayed that they felle bothe to the erthe. 1542 UDALL Erasm. Apoph. 136 b, Suche as bee naught I byte, that thei smart again. 1612 SHAKS. Wint. T. v. I. 65 Then I'ld shrieke, that even your eares Should rift to heare me. 1719 DE FOE Crusoe (1840) I. v. 96 The fear . made me that I never slept. 1858 G. MACDONALD Phantastes xix, I struck one more sturdy blow, that the forest rang. 1868 TENNYSON Lucretius 66 A fire . . scorch'd me that I woke.

c. Introducing a clause expressing a fact (with vb. in indic.), or a supposition (with vb. in subj.), as a consequence attributed to the cause indicated by the principal clause (which is most commonly interrogative): sometimes nearly = in consequence of which; or (with indic.) = since, seeing that.

c 1000 ÆLFRIC Exod. v. 2 Hwæt ys se drihten, þæt ic hym hiran scileand Israela folc forlietan? c 1205 LAY. 30280 Whæt is þe . . þat þu swa wepest to-day? c 1240 Chron. Vilod. 2769 What deseysse is come þe to þat þou art now so sorwefulle? 1535 COVERDALE Ps. viii. 4 Oh what is man, yᵗ thou art so myndfull of him? Ibid. cxiii. [cxiv.] 5 What ayled the to flee seest? Ibid. cxxxiii? 1595 SHAKS. Two Gent. iv. ii. 40 Who is Silvia? what is she? That all our Swaines commend her? 1598 — Merry W. i. iv. 43, I doubt he be not well, that hee comes not home. 1611 BIBLE Jos. iii. 2 There is no beastie tinie we shall desire him. 1787 COWPER Stanzas Bill Mortality 8 Did famine or did plague prevail, That so much death appears? 1842 TENNYSON Lady Clare vi, Are ye out of your mind, that ye speak so wild? 1889 Sat. Rev. 21 Feb. 242/2 We are not pigeons that we should eat dry peas.

5. With a negative in the dependent clause (the principal clause having also a negative expressed or implied): = But that, but (= L. quin): see BUT conj. 12. (Now expressed by without with gerund: e.g. in quot. 1809, 'without her hearing'.)

Quots. c 1320, 1375 may belong to That rel. pron. 8.

c 1000 ÆLFRIC Saints' Lives (1885) I. 378 Man ȝecwæman ne magȝ twam hlafordum æt-somne þæt he ne forseo þone oðerne. c 1250 Beket 2128 in S. Eng. Leg. I. 167 For swane men peynytes an halewe, se ne seoth it noȝt hi-leued þat þere nis depeint a Roundel al-a-boute þe heued. c 1320 Cast. Lowe 6 Ne neuer was wrouȝt non vuel þing þat vuel þouȝt nes þe biginnyng. 1375 BARBOUR Bruce XVI. 286 Thar is no man That he ne sew vp-on woman. c 1440 Alphabet of Tales 293 A long tyme sho mot nowder luke on þe crucifyx nor speke . . of þe Passion . . þatte nevur sho fell in swone as sho had bene dead. 1773 GOLDSM. Stoops to Conq. v. I never attempted to be impudent yet, that I was not taken down. 1809 SOUTHEY Let. to Lieut. Southey 19 Sept., He never turned in his bed during that whole time that she did not hear. 1837 S. R. MAITLAND Six Lett., etc. 69, I have hardly ever . . turned it over for five minutes, that some gross error has not presented itself.

6. Added to relatives or dependent interrogatives (who, which, what, when, where, how, why, etc.).

† Also after the demonstrative advbs. then, there, etc., when used as relatives. Obs. or arch.

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xvi. § 2, ȝif ge na ȝesæwan hwelce mus þæt wiere hlaford oðer oðre mys. 13.. Cursor M. 1247 (Cott.) Yai, sir, wisi i wyderward [v.r. quebirward] þat [v.r. þere] tat vncuth contre were. c 1374 CHAUCER Troylus II. Prol. 36 Euery wyght wheche þat to rome wente. c 1386 — Prol. 41 To telle yow . . in what array that we ben metyme. — Cant. Yeom. Prol. & T. 17 And in myn herte to wondren I bigan What þat he was. 14.. in Hist. Coll. Citizen London (Camden) 112 Faste be-syde ther that the batelle was done. 1450 Rolls of Parlt. V. 209/1 In which tendes that euery were bounden. c 1460 Engl. Chron. (Camden) 98 A wommanne the whiche that knewe hym. 1470–85 MALORY Arthur XVII. xxii. 723 Wotest thou where that he hath sente me? 1600 SHAKS. Jul. C. III. iii. 96 When that the poore haue cryde, Cesar hath wept. 1613 — Hen. VIII, iii. ii. 32 Wherein was read How that the Cardinall did intreat his Holinesse [etc.]. a 1814 Spaniards iv. i. in New Brit. Theatre III. 234 When that the crown . . shall bind the brows Of my unnatural brother.

† b. That alone had formerly the force of 'when that', 'when', after hardly, scarcely, or some equivalent. So † just that (quot. 1648) = just when, just as. Now that: see NOW 12 b.

13.. Cursor M. 8160 Vnnethes had he moned his mode, þat [v.r. quen] a lem fra þe wandes stode. c 1380 St. Ambrosius 488 in Horstm. Altengl. Leg. (1878) 16/1 Vnneþe Ambrose and his meyne, Weoren passed out from þat citee þat sodeynliche sorþe. 1480 CAXTON Chron. Eng. ccvii. 189 The kyng had not yet fullych eten that ther come in to the halle another messagyer. 1590– [see NOW 12 b]. 1648 CROMWELL in Carlyle Lett. & Sp. (1871) II. 56 Until just that we came. 1780 Mirror No. 95 ¶ 1 We spent our time as happily as possible, till about half a year ago, that my ill stars directed me to [etc.].

7. Formerly added with a conjunctive force to various words that are now commonly used conjunctionally without it; e.g. because, if, lest, only, the adv., though, till, while (see these words). arch. or Obs.

(Cf. the OE. similar use of þæ; also prec. sense.)

c 1200 [see Ir 5]. a 1300 Cursor M. 14458 Bot al þat he wit luue þam soght, Enentis þe Iuus al was for noght. Ibid. 22167 þai sal be studiand in þair thoght, Quelper þat he be crist or nai. 1505 in Mem. Hen. VII (Rolls) 267 The kynge . . remembrithe that mistakes are effectuall, as hit were his aune proper cause. 1590 SPENSER F. Q. i. i. 30 The knight . . Who faire him quited, as that courteous was. 1602 DOLMAN La Primaud. Fr. Acad. (1618) III. 736 The property thereof is to morrow vpward, vntill it bee hath attained to the place destinated vnto it. 1656 A. WRIGHT Five Serm. 201 The reason is, cause that Ordinances are nothing without the Lord. 1800 COLERIDGE Lett. (1895) 395 As to my schemes of residence, I am as unfixed as yourselfe only that we are under the absolute necessity of fixing somewhere. 1805 tr. Lafontaine's Hermann & Emilia III. 97 Hermann likewise trembled, because that their early friendship was awakened in his breast.

8. Used (like Fr. que) as a substitute instead of repeating a previous conjunction, or conjunctive adverb or phrase. Now rare or arch.

c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 27 Þenne were þu wel his freond . . Gif þu hine iseȝe þet he wulle asottie to þes deofles hond . . þet þu hine lettest, and wiðstewest. c 1489 CAXTON Blanchardyn xix. 58 When they . . had seen the manere & the rewle of their enemyes, and that all wyth leyser they had seen their puyssance. Ibid. 59 So began he to be . . all annoyed of hym self by cause he was not armed tyl his plesure, and that he myght not vsse out. c 1520 BARCLAY Sallust 55 When he had assayed many wayes, and that nothyng came to purpose. 1535 COVERDALE Esther ii. 14 She must come vnto the kynge homore, excepte it pleased the kynge, and that he caused her to be called by name. 1569 J. SANFORD tr. Agrippa's Van. Arte 174 b, When sleepe falleth vpon men, & that they be in bed. 1596 SHAKS. Merch. V. iv. 1. 9 Since he stands obdurate, And that no lawful meanes can carrie me Out of his enuies reach. [Also 27 other examples.] 1611 BIBLE 1 Chron. xiii. 2 If it seeme good vnto you, and that it be of the Lord our God, let vs send abroad vnto our brethren. [COVERD. Yf . . yf . . ] — Job xxxi. 38 If my land cry against me, or that the furrowes likewise thereof complaine. [COVERD. Yf case be that . . or yᵗ . . ] 1655 M. CASAUBON Enthus. (1656) 126 Because I desire not to be over-long, and that I would not glut the Reader. 1700 TYRRELL Hist. Eng. II. 823 So soon as the Death of King John was . . known, and that the Earls . . could agree where to meet. 1797 BURKE Regic. Peace iii. Wks. VIII. 330 When one of the parties to a treaty intrenches himself . . in . . ceremonies, . . and that all the concessions are upon one side. 1829 SIR W. NAPIER Penins. War ix. iii. (Rtldg.) II. 26 Although the rear was attacked, . . and that so men . . were captured.

† 9. After a comparative: = THAN. (Cf. Fr. que.) Obs. rare. (See also THE part. 1 b.)

c 1305 St. Kenelm 108 in E. Eng. P. (1862) 50 For noman nemai þan o'er bet trecherie do þat [Laud MS. þane] þulke bat is him meri, & he trist mest to. c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. Wace (Rolls) 10602 More worschip or hym [Arthur] spoke ber was þat of any of þo þat spekes Gildas. 1422 tr. Secreta Secret., Priv. Prov. 175 He had Slayne by trayson two prynces bettyr that he wass. c 1450 LOVELICH Grail xlviii. 35 And but þe holyere man he be þat I konne wit, Elles schal there non Man here syt.

¶ 10. The conjunction that is very frequently omitted by ellipsis, esp. in sense 1.

(The omission prob. began with the rel. conj. þe, THE.)

a 1250–1650 [see 1r 4 b]. a 1300 Cursor M. 3665 (Cott.) I dred me sare, for benison He sal me gine his malison. 1390 GOWER Conf. I. 263 Joab..sloh Abner, for drede he scholde he [etc.]. c 1460 Towneley Myst. ix. 137 Go grete hym well,..say hym I come. 1526 TINDALE Jas. ii. 14 Though a man saye he hath fayth. 1591 SHAKS. 1 Hen. VI. ii. v. 37 Direct mine Armes, I may embrace his Neck. 1599 — Hen. V, v. i. 54 Thou dost see I eate. 1601 — All's Well iii. 66 I die gitte lay curtall, and his furniture My mouth no more were broken then these boyes. 1612 BIBLE Luke xx. 13 It may bee they will reuerence him. 1678 BUNYAN Pilgr. i. 3, I think I do. 1737 POPE Hor. Ep. ii. ii. 266 There are who have not—and thank heav'n there are. 1805 SCOTT Last Minstr. vi. xxv, So bright, so red the glare, The castle seemed on flame. 1847 TENNYSON Princess vii. 281, I fear They will not. Mod. We were sorry you couldn't come.

Thatch (þætʃ), sb. Forms: 4–5 pacche, 5–6 thacche, thecche, thetche, 7– thatch. [A late collateral form of THACK sb., conformed to THATCH v., which has superseded thack in literary use.]

1. Material used in thatching; straw or similar material with which roofs are covered; particularly (b.) that actually forming a roof, the thatching.

Pseudo-thatch: see PALMETTO.

1398 TREVISA Barth. De P. R. xvii. clxvii[i]. (Bodl. MS.), þe rafters beþ stronge and square..& beþ charged wioute wt sclatte and tile opre wt strawe and pacche [ed. 1495 thetche]. 1555 EDEN Decades 139 Houses..are.. couered with reede & thetche. 1600 J. PORY tr. Leo's Africa Introd. 20 Their houses are built round, al of earth, flat-roofed, and couered with a kind of thatch. 17.. POPE Imit. Spenser iv, Hard by a Sty, beneath a roof of thatch, Belt Oblique. 1847 TENNYSON Princess vii. 111. 261 The roofs of their dwellings, instead of tiles, were only of thatch. 1878 BATES Centr. Amer. iv. 41 Everywhere the palms yield an abundance of poles and thatch available for building purposes.

b. 1693 EVELYN De la Quint. Compt. Gard. 5 The Cieling and Floor above ought to be..clad in Winter with a Thatch of Hay or Straw. 1816 in Life W. Honeycal (1882) 13 The pretty thatch and white walls so common hereabouts. 1869 D. G. MITCHELL Rural Stud. 77 The roof a neat thatch of wheat straw. 1889 DOYLE Micah Clarke 228 They shelter the walls from the rain..by great overhanging thatches.

c. transf. A thatched dwelling.

1693 S. HARVEY in Dryden's Juvenal ix. (1697) 233 The Poor Inhabitants of yonder Thatch Call'd me their Lord. a 1790 T. WARTON Ode viii. Morning, Up mounts the mower from his lowly thatch. 1793 W. HODGES Trav. India 67 For constant residence, these would be improved into the various thatches and huts which I have seen.

2. fig. Covering; often humorously the hair of the head.

a 1633 AUSTIN Medit. (1635) 284 The very Top and Cover, my Thatch above..growes gray. 1634 S. R. Noble Soldier i. 1 in Bullen O. Pl. (1887) I. 236 I had my Barbour Perfum'd my lusty thatch here and pook'd out My Tuskes more stiffe. 1821 CLARE Vill. Minstr. I. 129 'Neath the hazel's leafy thatch. 1888 LOWELL Heartease & Rue 193 We.. Who've paid a perruquier for mending our Thatch. 1894 MRS. DYAN All in a Week N. (1899) 97 The damage he had done to his 'thatch', as he graphically styled his hair.

3. Name in the West Indies for several species of palms, the leaves of which are used for thatching: see quot. and thatch-palm in 4.

1866 Treas. Bot., Thatch, Calyptronoma Swartzii, and Copernicia tectorum. Palmetto Thatch, Thrinax parviflora. Silver Thatch, Thrinax argentea.

4. attrib. and Comb., as thatch-cave, -roof, -straw, -work (also attrib.); thatch-browed, -roofed adjs.; thatch-cloak, a cloak of any thatching material; thatch-grass, a grass or similar plant used for thatching, as Cape T., Restio chondropetalus; thatch-hook: see quot.; † thatch-house, a thatched house; thatch-palm, name for various palms of which the leaves are used for thatching: in W. Indies, the genus Thrinax; in southern U. S., the genus Sabal, esp. S. umbraculifera; in Brazil, Euterpe montana (Funk's Stand. Dict. 1895); in Lord Howe's Island, Howea forsteriana (Cent. Dict. 1891); thatch-peg, -pin, -prick, a stick sharpened at one end to fasten down thatch; thatch-rake, an implement with curved teeth for straightening the thatching material as it is laid on the roof; thatch-rod = thatching-rod; thatch-tree (see quot. 1866); thatch-wood, brushwood arranged as thatch: see quot.

1863 W. BARNES Poems in Dorset Dial. 61 An' by a house, where swoses hung avore The *thatch-brow'd window, an' the open door. 1844 B. MAYER Mexico xxiii. 166 An Indian shepherd-boy in his long *thatch-cloak of waterflags. 1819 KEATS Ode to Autumn 4 The vines that round the *thatch-eaves run. 1884 MILLER Plant-n., Grass, Cape Thatch. [1898 HOGG Veg. Kingd. 802 The houses at the Cape of Good Hope are commonly thatched with Restio tectorum,..sometimes whole huts are built with it.] 1886 Cheshire Gloss., *Thatch-hooks, iron hooks, driven into the spars, to hold down the first layers of straw in thatching a house. 1521 in 10th Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm. App. v. 399 No man shall bulk, make or repayre anny straue or *thatche house, for fear of fyre and burninge.., unlesse they be covered with slattes. 1609 Ev. Wonc. in Hum. iv 1. in Bullen O. Pl. IV. He that has not a tilde house must bee glad of a thatch house. 1866 Treas. Bot 1147/1 Thrinax.. In Jamaica these palms are commonly known by the name of *Thatch-palms. Mod. The Silver Thatch-palm is usually said to yield..Palmetto Thatch, extensively employed for making palm-chip hats, baskets, and other fancy articles. 1897 GILCHRIST Peakland 62 Busily whittling *thatch pegs. 1688 R. HOLME Armoury III. 266/1 *Thatching, is to cover..with Straw, Ferne, Rushes or Gorst, which is bound and held together by Laths, Windings, and *Thatch Pricks. 1847–94 PARKER Gloss. Hist. Arch. s. v. Rake, The *thatch-rake or thatcher's rake. 1903 O. Rev. July 22 These *thatch-roofs. 1901 Westm. Gaz. 15 Aug./13 The *thatch roof of a West-country cottage. 1847 LONGF. Ev. i. Prel. 9 Where is the *thatch-roofed village, the home of Acadian farmers? 1814 SPENCER Db. Parm III. 1095 To give the *thatch-straw a smoothness, they stroke down with a long supple rod of willow. 1756 P. BROWNE Jamaica 344 The *Thatch Tree. The leaves..used for thatch. 1866 Treas. Bot., Thatch-tree, a name applied to palms generally in the West Indies. 1897 KNIGHT Dict. Mech. *Thatch-wood Wrush,..a mode of facing sea-walls with brushwood. Underbrush..is cut down, fagoted at its full length, and spread over the face of the banks. It is kept down by strong stakes, which have cross pins at their upper ends to rest upon the brush. 1895 WORKMAN Algerian Mem. xi. 113 Villages with *thatch-work houses.

Thatch (þætʃ), v. Forms: a. 1 þecc(e)an, 4 thecche, 4–6 thecche, 5 thetche, 6–7 thetch (7 dial. thesh). β. 4 þacchen, 5–6 thacche, 5–7 thach(e, 6 thatche, 6– thatch. [OE. þecc(e)an (pa. t. þeahte, þehte, Vesp. Ps. þæhte, pa. pple. geþeahtʒ), Common Teutonic vb.; in OFris. bi)-thekk(e)a, OS. bi)þeccian (MDu., MLG. decken, Du., LG. dekken), OHG. deccham (MHG., Ger. decken), ON. þekja (Sw. täcka, Da. tække) :—O'Teut. þakjan*, f. þako*[n] covering, roof, THACK sb. The regular etymological form is thetch: the literary thatch has app. taken its vowel from THACK sb. Cf. also the cognate THACK v.[1], THEEK v.]

† 1. trans. To cover. (Only O.E.)

Beowulf 514 þa git on stuðl reoh þær xit eagor-stream earmum þeahte. a 1000 Genesis's Gen. 877 (Gr.) For hwon wast þu wean & wihtet scoene, gesyhst sorʒe & þin sylf þecest lic mid leafum. c 1000 Ags. Ps. (Th.) cxlvi. 8 Se þe heofen þecest hadrum wolcnum.

2. spec. To cover or roof (a house) with straw, reeds, palm-leaves, heather, or the like, laid so as to protect from the weather; also, to cover the top of (a rick or wall) in a similar way. † Formerly also, to roof (a house) with slates, tiles, or similar roofing material.

1398 TREVISA Barth. De P. R. xvii. xxxi. (Tollem. MS.), In þe norþe londe men þacchen [ed. 1495 thetche] here houses with reed. c 1500 How Plowman lerned his Paternoster 19 in Hazl. E. P. P. I. 210 He coude theche a hous, and clappe a gate. 1555 EDEN Decades 101 Their houses are ..thetched with the stalkes of certayne towghe herbes. 1610 HOLLAND Camden's Brit. (1637) 491 Reed for to thatch their Houses. 1623–4 Althorp MS. in Simpkinson Washingtons (1856) 130 To Philipp one date thatching the dove house. 1698 FRYER Acc. E. India & P. 66 The Houses are low, and Thatched with Oleas of the Cocoe-Trees. 1774 PENNANT Tour Scot. in 1772 135 Many of the houses are thatched with heath. 1862 PAUSAM Fragements iv, The buildings of the fort were all thatched..with leaves of the palmetto.

3. fig. To cover as with thatch.

1589 Pappe w. Hatchet C iv, If that Martin could thatch vp his Church, this mans scabbship should bee an Elder. 1604 HIEROMES Father Hubbards T. Wks (Bullen) VIII. 89 My chin was well thatched with a beard. 1614 GORGES Lucan v. 166 Mount Æmus now was thatch't with snow. 1662 HIBBERT Body of Div. ii. 135 Their faces thatcht over with impostures. 1683 OWEN SCOTT Chamb. Imagery Wks. 18-VIII. 584 One lie must be thatched with another, or it will quickly rain through. 1826 SCOTT Bl. Dwarf i. note, His head..was thatched with no other covering than long matted red hair. 1857 EMERSON Poems 26 What if Trade ..thatch with towns the prairie broad. 1858 CARLYLE Fredk. Gt. i. v. (1872) I. 45 As if there was cloth enough..to thatch the Arctic Zone.

4. Of a thing: To serve as a covering or roof to; to cover, to roof.

c 1000 Sax. Leechd. II. 242 Sio filmen [of the milk] biþ þeccende & wreonde þa wambe & þa innofaran. 1663 GERBIER Counsel 2 vj b, Leaves of Trees do thatch their Domicilium. 1852 MRS. STOWE Uncle Tom's C. ix, The shock of hair that thatched his head.

5. intr. To do thatching; to thatch houses.

1397 LANGL. P. Pl. B. xix. 322 Somme he taught to tilie to dyche & to thecche. 1591 SPENSER M. Hubberd 264 To hedge, to ditch, to thrash, to thetch, to mowe. 1795 AIKIN & BARBAULD Evenings at Home vi. 105 Gulba, Can you thatch? There is a piece blown off the cow-house. Alfred. Alas! I cannot thatch.

Thatch, variant of THETCH dial., vetch.

Thatched, thatcht (þætʃt), ppl. a. [f. THATCH v. (q.v. for Forms) + -ED 1.] Covered or roofed with thatch.

1467 in Eng. Gilds (1870) 372 That no chimneys of tre ner thached houses be suffred w'yn the cyte. a 1548 HALL Chron., Hen. VI 94 The newe Constable..destroyed two or thre..litle poore thetched houses. c 1640 [SHIRLEY] Capt. Underwit i. in Bullen O. Pl. (1883) II. 327 Does this thatcht cottage head hold still in fashion? 1653 WALTON Angler i. 2 Sir, I know the thatcht house very well: I often make it my resting place. 1867 MISS BRADDON Aur. Floyd Road-side inns with brown thatched roofs.

b. fig. Covered as with thatch (in quot. 1606, with reference to its inflammability). Thatched-head, one who has matted hair.

1606 Sir G. Goosecappe iii. i. in Bullen O. Pl. (1884) III. 44 Such sparkes were good enough yet to set thatcht dispositions a fire. 1613 BEAUMONT & FL. Coxcomb ii. iii, Bire you go, Sirrah Thatch'd Head! wouldst not thou be whipt, and think it justice? 1889 DOYLE Micah Clarke 128 A pair of great thatched eyebrows.

Thatcher (þæ·tʃər). [f. THATCH v. (q.v. for Forms) + -ER 1.] One who thatches; esp. one whose business it is to thatch houses, corn or hay ricks, etc.

c 1440 Jacob's Well 40 Alle men of crafte, as wrytes, smythes,..baxterys, thacchers, cordewanerys..owyn to payin þe tythe. 1562–3 Act 5 Eliz. c. 4 § 30 Thatte or Occupation of a..Thatcher or Shingler. 1641 BEST Farm. Bks. (Surtees) 145 A thatcher hath usually a long supple rod of willow. 1756 P. BROWNE Jamaica 344 The *Thatch Tree. The leaves..used for thatch. 1866 Treas. Bot., Thatch-tree, a name applied to palms generally in the West Indies. 1897 KNIGHT Dict. Mech. *Thatch-wood Wrush,..a mode of facing sea-walls with brushwood. Underbrush..is cut down, fagoted at its full length, and spread over the face of the banks. It is kept down by strong stakes, which have cross pins at their upper ends to rest upon the brush. 1895 WORKMAN Algerian Mem. xi. 113 Villages with *thatch-work houses.

Thatch (þæ·tʃi), v. Forms: a. 1 þecc(e)an, 4 thecche, 4–6 thecche, 5 thetche, 6–7 thetch (7 dial. thesh). β. 4 þacchen, 5–6 thacche, 5–7 thach(e, 6 thatche, 6– thatch. [OE. þecc(e)an (pa. t. þeahte, þehte, Vesp. Ps. þæhte, pa. pple. geþeahtʒ), Common Teutonic vb.; in OFris. bi)-thekk(e)a, OS. bi)þeccian (MDu., MLG. decken, Du., LG. dekken), OHG. deccham (MHG., Ger. decken), ON. þekja (Sw. täcka, Da. tække) :—O'Teut. þakjan*, f. þako*[n] covering, roof, THACK sb. The regular etymological form is thetch: the literary thatch has app. taken its vowel from THACK sb. Cf. also the cognate THACK v.[1], THEEK v.]

† 1. trans. To cover. (Only O.E.)

Beowulf 514 þa git on stuðl reoh þær xit eagor-stream earmum þeahte. a 1000 Genesis's Gen. 877 (Gr.) For hwon wast þu wean & wihtet scoene, gesyhst sorʒe & þin sylf þecest lic mid leafum. c 1000 Ags. Ps. (Th.) cxlvi. 8 Se þe heofen þecest hadrum wolcnum.

2. spec. To cover or roof (a house) with straw, reeds, palm-leaves, heather, or the like, laid so as to protect from the weather; also, to cover the top of (a rick or wall) in a similar way. † Formerly also, to roof (a house) with slates, tiles, or similar roofing material.

1398 TREVISA Barth. De P. R. xvii. xxxi. (Tollem. MS.), In þe norþe londe men þacchen [ed. 1495 thetche] here houses with reed. c 1500 How Plowman lerned his Paternoster 19 in Hazl. E. P. P. I. 210 He coude theche a hous, and clappe a gate. 1555 EDEN Decades 101 Their houses are ..thetched with the stalkes of certayne towghe herbes. 1610 HOLLAND Camden's Brit. (1637) 491 Reed for to thatch their Houses. 1623–4 Althorp MS. in Simpkinson Washingtons (1856) 130 To Philipp one date thatching the dove house. 1698 FRYER Acc. E. India & P. 66 The Houses are low, and Thatched with Oleas of the Cocoe-Trees. 1774 PENNANT Tour Scot. in 1772 135 Many of the houses are thatched with heath. 1862 PAUSAM Fragements iv, The buildings of the fort were all thatched..with leaves of the palmetto.

3. fig. To cover as with thatch.

1589 Pappe w. Hatchet C iv, If that Martin could thatch vp his Church, this mans scabbship should bee an Elder. 1604 HIEROMES Father Hubbards T. Wks (Bullen) VIII. 89 My chin was well thatched with a beard. 1614 GORGES Lucan v. 166 Mount Æmus now was thatch't with snow. 1662 HIBBERT Body of Div. ii. 135 Their faces thatcht over with impostures. 1683 OWEN SCOTT Chamb. Imagery Wks. 18-VIII. 584 One lie must be thatched with another, or it will quickly rain through. 1826 SCOTT Bl. Dwarf i. note, His head..was thatched with no other covering than long matted red hair. 1857 EMERSON Poems 26 What if Trade ..thatch with towns the prairie broad. 1858 CARLYLE Fredk. Gt. i. v. (1872) I. 45 As if there was cloth enough..to thatch the Arctic Zone.

4. Of a thing: To serve as a covering or roof to; to cover, to roof.

c 1000 Sax. Leechd. II. 242 Sio filmen [of the milk] biþ þeccende & wreonde þa wambe & þa innofaran. 1663 GERBIER Counsel 2 vj b, Leaves of Trees do thatch their Domicilium. 1852 MRS. STOWE Uncle Tom's C. ix, The shock of hair that thatched his head.

5. intr. To do thatching; to thatch houses.

1397 LANGL. P. Pl. B. xix. 322 Somme he taught to tilie to dyche & to thecche. 1591 SPENSER M. Hubberd 264 To hedge, to ditch, to thrash, to thetch, to mowe. 1795 AIKIN & BARBAULD Evenings at Home vi. 105 Gulba, Can you thatch? There is a piece blown off the cow-house. Alfred. Alas! I cannot thatch.

Thatch, variant of THETCH dial., vetch.

Thatched, thatcht (þæt∫t

denskiöld, 1878), f. Gr. θαυμάσι-ος wonderful, marvellous + -ITE[1]: so named 'on account of its unusual composition'.] 'A white, amorphous mineral composed of silicate, carbonate and sulphate of calcium, and water' (Chester).

1882 in WATTS Dict. Chem. VIII. 1921.

Thaumato- (þō̄mātō), combining form of Gr. θαῦμα, θαυματ-, wonder, marvel. Thaumato-geist, a believer in or advocate of thaumatogeny. Thaumato-geny, [-GENY], the origination of life as a miraculous process: opposed to homogeny. Thaumato-graphy [-GRAPHY: mod.L. thaumatographia], a writing concerning the wonders of nature. Thaumato-latry [-LATRY], excessive reverence for the miraculous or marvellous. Thaumato-logy [-LOGY], an account of miracles; the description or discussion of the miraculous.

1891 Cent. Dict., Thaumatogenist (citing Owen). 1868 OWEN Vertebr. Anim. III. 814 Nomogeny or *Thaumatogeny? 1869 MOZLEY Ess. (1878) II. 394 Independent of all theories of elementary formation—Evolution, Epigenesis, Nomogeny, Thaumatogeny. 1632 J. JOHNSTON (title) Thaumatographia Naturalis. 1891 Cent. Dict., Thaumatography. 1827 HARE Guesses (1859) 98 The 'thaumatolatry by which our theology has been debased. 1852 J. H. NEWMAN Cath. Eng. 296 In the Protestant's view .. who asserts that miracles never are, our 'thaumatology is one great falsehood. 1904 Edin. Rev. Jan. 163 In which [volume] the work of thaumatology is carried to its furthest extreme.

Thaumatrope (þō̄mātrōup). [irreg. f. Gr. θαῦμα (see THAUMATO-) + -τροπος turning.] A scientific toy illustrating the persistence of visual impressions, consisting of a card or disk with two different figures drawn upon the two sides, which are apparently combined into one when the disk is rotated rapidly; also applied to a disk or cylinder bearing a series of figures which, on being rapidly rotated and viewed through a slit, produce the impression of a moving object (= PHENAKISTOSCOPE, ZOETROPE).

1827 J. A. PARIS Philos. in Sport III. i. 5 This toy is termed the Thaumatrope. 1839 BREWSTER Optics xviii, (ed. 4) 338 Thaumatrope [is] the name given by Dr. Paris to an optical toy, the principle of which depends on the persistence of vision. 1872 TAYLOR Phys. x. 245 [The thaumatrope,..by the help of which, on looking through a hole, one sees images of jugglers throwing up and catching balls.

Hence Thaumatro-pical a., pertaining to or having the nature or effect of a thaumatrope.

1829 Blackw. Mag. XXV. 82 Having read Emerson on this thaumatropical proceeding.

Thaumaturge (þō̄mātērdiʒ). Also 8–9 -turg (-tēiʒ). [ad. med.L. thaumatūrg-us, ad. Gr. θαυματουργός wonder-working, a conjurer, f. θαυματ- wonder + -εργος working; in form -urge, conformed to F. thaumaturge (1663 in Hatz.-Darm.).] A worker of marvels or miracles; a wonder-worker.

1715 M. DAVIES Athen. Brit. I. 125 Petavius..attainted.. Origen's wonder-working Scholar Gregory the Thaumaturge, with Prœtarianisme. 1760 WESLEY Jrnl. 20 Dec., You throw out a hard word.. Thaumaturg. 1826 SOUTHEY Vind. Eccl. Angl. 479 The Thaumaturge..knelt before the Image to intercede for them. 1860 Sat. Rev. X. 269/2 The half-maudlin, half-cheating thaumaturg. 1881 Athenæum 19 Mar. 365/2 Pious mythologists have made out that she [St. Frideswide] was a thaumaturge of the first order.

Thaumaturgic (þō̄mātērdʒik), a. and sb. [f. as prec. + -IC.]

A. adj. 1. That works, or has the power of working, miracles or marvels; wonder-working.

1680 Dial. between Pope & Phanatick 11 The Thaumatergick word of Protestant Religion have done our Cause such eminent service. 1828 G. S. FABER Horæ Mosaicæ 356 The thaumaturgic and inspired prophet Moses. 1832 CARLYLE Sart. Res. II. iv, The grand thaumaturgic art of Thought. 1889 PATER G. de Latour 65 The witchery, the thaumaturgic powers, of Virgil, or..of Shakespeare.

2. Of, pertaining to, or involving thaumaturgy.

1825 CARLYLE Schiller II. (1873) 73 Various thaumaturgic feats. 1894 STEVENSON Let. to Miss A. Boodle 14 July, Never expect..thaumaturgic conversions.

B. sb. †a. The art of constructing marvellous or apparently magical devices. Obs.

1570 DEE Math. Pref. A j, Thaumaturgike, is that Art Mathematicall, which giueth certaine order to make strange workes, ..of men greatly to be wondred at.

b. pl. Thaumaturgics [see -IC 2]: feats of magic, conjuring tricks.

1730 [see THAUMATURGY, quot. 1727]. 1844 MISS MITFORD Village Ser. I. 290 Mr. Moon, the very pearl of all conjurors. ..with his 'wonderful..exhibition of Thaumaturgics, Tachygraphy, mathematical operations, and magical deceptions'.

Thaumaturgical (þō̄mātērdʒikăl), a. [f. as prec. : see -ICAL.] = prec. adj.

1621 BURTON Anat. Mel. II. iii. (1676) 170/1 Mills to move themselves, Archita's Dove, Albertus Brazen head, and such Thaumaturgical works. 1841 D'ISRAELI Amen. Lit. (1867) 642 Artful impostures..practised..by the dealers in thaumaturgical arts. 1904 R. J. CAMPBELL Serm. Individuals v. 74 The modern mind would..repudiate the thaumaturgical element here.

Thaumaturgist (þō̄mātērdʒist). [f. THAUMATURGY + -IST.] = THAUMATURGE.

1829 CARLYLE Misc., Germ. Playw. (1872) II. 97 No conjuror..can any longer pass for a true thaumaturgist. 1837 Child. Diamond Necklace xxi. 87, 190 Cagliostro, Thaumaturgist, Prophet and Arch-Quack. 1879 FARRAR St. Paul I. 530 note, The city was visited by the thaumaturgist Apollonius. 1882 — Early Chr. I. 116 Rome abounded in Oriental thaumaturgists and impostors.

So Thaumaturgism, thaumaturgy (Cent. Dict. 1891); Thaumaturgize v. intr., to act the thaumaturge, perform wonders.

1892 19th Cent. Nov. 825 We find Father Anquieta thaumaturgising (if I may use the expression) on the slightest occasions.

‖ Thaumaturgus (þō̄mātērgŏs). Pl. -i. [med. L.: see THAUMATURGE.] = THAUMATURGE.

1730 BAILEY (folio), Thaumaturgus, .. a Worker of Miracles, a Title which the Roman-Catholicks give to several of their Saints. 1849 CDL. WISEMAN Ess., Mirac. N. Test. (1853) I. 188 Nor is there reason to suppose, that every simple faithful was a Thaumaturgus. 1866 Hin. Rev. July 283 Nature, the great Thaumaturgus, has in the Vocal Memnon propounded an enigma.

Thaumaturgy (þō̄mātērdʒi). [ad. Gr. θαυματουργία wonder-working, conjuring, f. THAUMATO- + -εργος working: see -Y. So F. thaumaturgie (1878 in Dict. Acad.).] The working of wonders; miracle-working; magic.

1727 BAILEY vol. II, Thaumaturgy [1730 (folio) also Thaumaturgick], ..any Art that does, or seems to do Wonders, or, as it is defin'd by Dr. Dee (cf. THAUMATURGIC sb.), a mathematical Science, which gives a certain Rule for the making of strange Works to be perceiv'd by the Sense, yet to be greatly wonder'd at. 1798 WARTON Hist. Eng. Poetry xv. (1840) II. 178 This art, with others of the experimental kind, the philosophers of those times were fond of adapting to the purposes of thaumaturgy. 1832 CARLYLE Sart. Res. III. viii, A World of Miracles, wherein all Fabled or authentic Thaumaturgy, and feats of Magic, were outdone. 1872 MINTO Eng. Prose Lit. I. i. 38 Magic,—both black and white,—thaumaturgy, and necromancy.

†Thave, v. Obs. Forms: 1 þafian, þeafian, 2 þeafien, 3 þeauien, þauien, þauen, þafe, 3–4 þaue. [OE. þafian: etymology unascertained; not known in the cognate langs.] trans. To consent to; to allow, permit; to submit to, suffer, endure; to tolerate. Cf. I-THAVE.

c 825 Kentish Charter of Æbba in O. E. Texts 448 Ic colnoð mid godes zefe arceebiscop ðis write and ðeafin. c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xxxviii. § 6 Þonne þe ðincð se earmra se þæt yfel ðeð ðonne se þe hit þafað. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. vii. 4 Þrohpur þafa [c 1150 þafe] þæt ic þe ut aðo þæt mot of þinum eaðe. c 1023 WULFSTAN Hom. lii. (Napier) 23 Eal þæt he for us and for ure lufan þafode and ðolode. [c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 121 God þeafede þet ic alesednesse alles lleffulles moncunnes.] c 1200 ORMIN 5457 Godd ne þole nohhte Þe þafe þa gastess To wimmen oferhanndl off uss Þurrh heore lahe wiless. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 3139 Euerilc hus-folc ðe mai it ðauen On ȝer sep oðer on kide hauen. c 1300 Havelok 2656 Was neuere non þat mouhte þaue Hise dintes, noþ þer knihte nenaue.

Hence †Tha-ving (in 4 þafung, etc.) vbl. sb., permission, consent.

13.. Ancr. R. 344 (MS. Cott. Cl.) þurch min þafunge [MSS. Corpus, Tit. þeafunge, Ca. þauunge].

Thave, variant of THEAVE.

Thavel, -il, thavvle, dial. forms of THIVEL.

Thaw (þō̄), sb. Also β. 5 thowe, 5– thow (now north. dial. and Sc.). [f. THAW v.: cf. ON. þá thawed ground; also ON. þeyr, ONorw. þøyr, Sw. tö, Da. tø thaw; also Du. dooi thaw.]

1. The melting of ice and snow after a frost; the condition of the weather caused by the rise of temperature above the freezing point.

14.. Voc. in W.-Wülcker 588/36 Gelicdhium, thawe. a 1552 LELAND Itin. V. 68 The Lake of Brecnok ons frosen over, and than in a Thaue breking maketh marvelus Noise. 1568 GRAFTON Chron. II. 441 Vpon a sodaine thawe, the floodes agayne increased. 1634–5 LAUD Diary Wks. 1853 III. 221 The Thames was frozen over, ..A mighty flood at the thaw. 1686 tr. Chardin's Trav. Persia 349 It becomes so furious when swell'd by the Thaws of the Snow. 1726–46 THOMSON Winter 992 The frost resolves into a trickling thaw. 1898 HUXLEY Physiogr. 142 By heavy rainfall, or by rapid thaw of snow.

β. 1412–20 LYDG. Chron. Troy II. 5079 Newe flodis of þe sodeyn powre þe grene mede gan to ouerflowe. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 495/1 Thowe, of snowe, or ydys or yce, dagelacio. 1725 RAMSAY Gentle Sheph. I. ii, Thick-blawn wreaths of snaw, or blashy thows. 1786 BURNS Brigs of Ayr 119 Arous'd by blust'ring winds an spouting thowes; In mony a torrent down his sna-broo rowes. 1876 Whitby Glossary, Thow, thaw.

2. transf. and fig.

1598 SHAKS. Merry W. III. v. 119 A man of my Kidney.. that am as subject to heate as butter; a man of continuall dissolution, and thaw. 1684 BUNYAN Pilgr. II. 123 If the Sun of Righteousness will arise upon him, his frozen Heart shall feel a Thaw. 1794 BURNS The Auld Man ii, But my white pow, nae kindly thowe Shall melt the snaws of age. 1817 BYRON Manfred ii. ii. 202 Now I tremble And feel a strange cold thaw upon my heart.

b. spec. A becoming less cold, formal, or reserved.

1848 DICKENS Dombey v, Such temporary indications of a partial thaw that had appeared with her, vanished with her. 1873 BROWNING Red Cott. Nt.-cap 326 That thaw Of rigid disapproval into dew Of sympathy.

3. attrib. and Comb., as thaw-rain, -time, -wind (cf. G. tauwind); thaw-cloven, -swamped adjs.

a 1715 BURNET Own Time II. an. 1672 (1823) I. 582 In the minute in which they began to march [on the ice], a thaw wind blew very fresh. 1824 BYRON in L. Hunt Autobiog. (1850) II. 218, I have been snow-bound and thaw-swamped..for nearly a month. 1819 SHELLEY Prometh. Unb. II. iii. 34 A howl Of cataracts from their thaw-cloven ravines. 1820 — Vision of Sea 36 It splits like the ice when the thaw-breezes blow. 1852 DICKENS Bleak Ho. iii, She gave me one cold parting kiss upon my forehead, like a thaw-drop from the stone porch. 1890 STEVENSON Let. to H. James 29 Dec., My theories melt, and..the thaw-waters wash down my writing.

Thaw (þō̄), v. Forms: 1 þawian, (4 þøwe), 5–6 thawe, 6 thau, 6- thaw. β. 4 þowe, thoue, 4–5 thowe, 5- thow (now north. dial. and Sc.). Pa. t. and pa. pple. thawed (dial. thowed, pa. t. also thew); pa. pple. also 8–9 thawn. [OE. þawian, ME. þawen; also ME. þōwe; cognate with OFris. þâia* (:—þawian*), whence WFris. teije, NFris. tuai; OLG. þawian*, whence MLG. doien, LG. dāuen (Dähnert), Du. dooien, EFris. deien, deuen, doien; OHG. douwen, dewen (cf. mod.Ger. verdauen to digest), ON. þeyja (:—þauja*), ONorw. þøya, Sw. töa, Da. tøe. The late ME. and Sc. thōwe does not answer to OE. þawian, but seems to require þōwan* or þāwan*, unrecorded. Ulterior history obscure.]

1. trans. To reduce (a frozen substance, as ice or snow) to a liquid state by raising its temperature above the freezing point; to melt (a frozen liquid). Also thaw out (U.S.).

c 1000 Sax. Leechd. III. 274 Se wind [Zephirus] towyrpð and þawað ælene winter. 1530 PALSGR. 755/1 Sette the pote to the fyre to thawe the water. 1596 SHAKS. Merch. V. II. i. 5 Where Phœbus fire scarce thawes the ysicles. 1625 N. CARPENTER Geog. Del. II. v. (1635) 79 Riuers..by a remission of the cold are thawed. a 1704 T. BROWN L.mol. & Lucadem. Oracles Wks. 1709 III. iii. 138 After the Snow is thawn. 1790 BURKE Fr. Rev. 349 Mr. Bailly will sooner thaw the eternal ice of his atlantic regions, than restore the central heat to Paris. 1898 HUXLEY Physiogr. 64 Until the warmth of summer returns to thaw it [the snow].

β. c 1384 CHAUCER H. Fame iii. 53 They [letters] were almost of thowed so That of the letfres non or two Was molte away of euery name. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 492/1 Thowyn or meltyn, as snowes and other lyke, resolvo. 1596 DALRYMPLE tr. Leslie's Hist. Scot. (S.T.S.) I. 46 To thow the pypes and schokles of yce. 1894 A. REID Sangs Heatherl. 107 Storms that time had thowed.

b. fig.

1592 SHAKS. Two Gent. II. iv. 200 Iulia that I loue, (That I did loue, for now my loue is thaw'd, Which like a waxen image 'gainst a fire..). 1615 SIR W. MURE Misc. Poems viii. 43 Last beauties beames then thau away.. The yciuesse of loues delay. 1725 RAMSAY Gentle Sheph. III. iii. Prol., To whisper out his melting flame, And thow the lassie's breast. 1785 M. CUTLER in Life, etc. (1888) II. 228 This cold snowy winter has considerably cooled my zeal, but when I get thawed out, in the spring, perhaps it may return. 1821 SHELLEY Adonais i, O, weep for Adonais! though our tears Thaw not the frost which binds so dear a head!

2. intr. Of ice, snow, or other substance: To pass from a frozen to a liquid or semi-liquid state; to melt under the influence of warmth: esp. by rise of temperature after frost. Also thaw out (U.S.).

c 1325 Gloss. W. de Bibbesw. in Wright Voc. 147 Après geld sent remoyl [gloss] thowyng. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) VII. 453 Many brugges..were i-broke of þe bowynge (tr. bewinge[1] of þe yce. 1530 PALSGR. 755/1, I thawe, as snowe or yce dothe for heate. 1552 HULOET, Thawe as yce dothe, egeldor. 1610 HOLLAND Camden's Brit. (1637) 628 As often as the Yce thereon doth thaw. 1656 M. BEN ISRAEL Vind. Jud. 9 The pond thawd. 1703 MAUNDRELL Journ. Jerus. (1732) 140 Abundance of Snow; which thawing in the heat of Summer [etc.]. 1880 HAUGHTON Phys. Geog. iv. 195 The water freezes in November and thaws in May. 1889 I. R. Leady's Ranche Life Montana 33 Before I can begin to write this letter the ink must be put down by the fire to thaw out, as it is frozen solid.

b. transf. and fig.

1602 SHAKS. Ham. I. ii. 130 Oh that this too too solid Flesh, would melt, Thaw, and resolue itself into a Dew. 1849 MISS MULOCK Ogilvies xxix, He..thawed into positive enthusiasm beneath the sunshine of her influence. 1865 SWINBURNE Atalanta 2104, I would that as water My life's blood had thawn. 1901 A. C. BENSON Upton Lett. (1906) 293 The dreariness of my heart thawed and melted into peace and calm.

3. impers. It thaws: said of the cessation of a frost, when the ice, snow, etc. begin to melt.

c 1325 Gloss. W. de Bibbesw. in Wright Voc. 160 Ore gele, freset; Ore remet, thowet. c 1425 Voc. in Wr.-Wülcker 665/2 Degelat, thowes. 1530 PALSGR. 755/1 It thaweth a pace. 1709 Lond. Gaz. No. 4507/3 This Morning it began to thaw. Mod. The frost seems to be giving way; I expect it will thaw before night.

4. trans. To free from the physical effect of frost; to unfreeze; said usually in reference to a non-liquid substance rigid with frost, also to a person or animal affected by extreme cold.

1596 SHAKS. Tam. Shr. IV. i. 9 My very lippes might freeze to my teeth, ..ere I should come by a fire to thaw me. 1665 Phil. Trans. I. 48 The frozen Bodies will be harmlessly thawed. 1798 RAMSAY Anacreontic on Love xi. I. . his handies thow'd. 1829 LYTTON Devereux v. ii, After I was lodged, thawed, and fed, I fell fast asleep. 1883 W. AITKEN Leys 98 (E.D.D.) The whisky thowed their Hielan' blud. 1887 I. R. Leady's Ranche Life Montana 144 You have to thaw a bit before you can put it in a horse's mouth.

b. nonce-use. To make limp (anything stiff).

1821 SCOTT Kenilw. xi, Speak..at farther distance, so please you; your breath thaws our ruff.

5. intr. To become unfrozen; to become flexible or limp by rise of temperature.

1596 DALRYMPLE tr. Leslie's Hist. Scot. (S.T.S.) I. 46 Gif ony frosth thing be put athir in the loch or in the riuer, it thowis fra hand. 1687 A LOVELL tr. Thevenot's Trav. II. 122 We found it worse when the Sun was up, and the ground began to Thaw. 1850–6 O. W. HOLMES Spring 95 The hog's green harper, thawing from his sleep, Twangs a hoarse note.

6. fig. a. trans. To soften to sympathy or geniality; to break down coldness and reserve.

1582 Stanyhurst Æneis II. (Arb.) 48 Wee thawde with weeping doo pardon frauckye the villayne. 1677 Gilpin Demonol. (1867) 92 An extraordinary occasion melts and thaws down the natural affections of men. 1741 Richardson Pamela (1824) I. 102 She is a charming girl, and may be thawed by kindness. 1883 Gilmour Mongols (1884) 201 Tea even fails to thaw completely their reserve. 1889 J. Jefferson Autobiog. xii. (1891) 329 A hopeless endeavor to thaw him out.

b. intr. Of a person, his feelings, manner, etc.: To become softened or 'melted' in feeling; to throw off coldness and reserve; to unbend.

1598 Ben Hall Sat. iv. iv. D3 b, He thaw's like Chaucers frosty laninere; And sets a Months minde vpon snyling May. a 1631 Donne Valediction my Name ix, And thou begin'st to thaw towards him for this, May my name step in. 1827 Pollok Course of T. ix. 722 Pride of rank And office, thawed into paternal love. 1900 El. Glyn Visits Elis. (1906) 18 He...went on talking in the friendliest way, but I would not thaw.

7. The verb-stem in combination forming sbs., as thaw-house, thaw point.

1892 Pall Mall G. 30 Aug. 7/2 Dynamite...is received at the work in a frozen state and stored in a big magazine. From this receptacle it is taken to the thaw-house as needed. 1902 Daily Chron. 28 May 8/5 When 'thaw' points were needed, through which steam was forced into the hard ground, they were improvised out of rifle barrels.

Hence Thawed (þɔ̄d) ppl. a., warmed so as to melt (as ice), softened; thawed out, also, put out of work or action by a thaw; Thaw·ing ppl. a., that thaws, melting.

1652 Crashaw Mary Magd. Wks. (1904) 259 Thawing crystall! snowy hills, Still spending, never spent! 2774 Goldsm. Nat. Hist. (1776) I. 247 Clefts, from whence the thawed water trickles out. 1820 Henry Epit. Chem. (1826) 37 The temperature of melting snow, or of thawing ice. 1885 Harper's Mag. Dec. 86/2 The now thawed-out and almost genial Miss Lisle. 1894 Westm. Gaz. 19 Jan. 7/2 The thawed-out skaters equalised matters by holding a carnival on wheel skates at the Wandsworth Rink last night.

Thaw, paw, pawe, obs. forms of Though.

Thawer (þɔ̄·ər). [f. prec. vb. + -er 1.] One who or that which thaws; spec. in Mining, a device or apparatus for thawing frozen ground.

1630 R. Johnson's Kingd. & Commw. 7 Even in that continuall neighbourhood of that great Thawer [i. e. the sun] have yon hills perpetually covered with frost and snow. 1900 Pop. Sci. Monthly Feb. 461 The introduction of mining machinery, such as...thawers...has given fresh impetus.

Thawing (þɔ̄·iŋ), vbl. sb. [f. as prec. + -ing 1.] The action of the verb Thaw (lit. or fig.). Also in pl. (in quot. 1886 concr.).

c 1325, 1387 [see Thaw v. 2]. 1586 Holinshed Chron. III. 20/2 At their disseuering or thawing, manie bridges both of wood and stone were bonne downe. 1681 Flavel Meth. Grace vii. 152 Thawings of the heart under the apprehensions of grace. 1861 Thornbury Turner (1862) II. 135 The occasional thawings of natures, however frozen by habit. 1886 M. K. Macmillan Dogcart 154 The first thawings of the hard-bound road clung impedingly to our shoes.

Thawless (þɔ̄·lès), a. [f. Thaw sb. or v. + -less.] That does not thaw, or that never thaws.

1813 W. Taylor Eng. Synonyms 30 Thawless unmelting obstinacy. 1838 Mary Howitt Birds & Bees, Sunshine v, Where rests the thawless snow. 1886 Buskin Praeterita I. ix. 291 The winter gives them [flowers] rest under thawless serenity of snow.

Thawrtouer, error. form of Thwartover.

Thawt, variant of Thought 2, rower's bench.

Thawy (þɔ̄·i), a. [f. Thaw sb. + -y.] Characterized by thaw; of or pertaining to a thaw.

1728 T. Smith Vrnl. (1849) 266 Then has been no thawy weather. 1809–10 Coleridge Friend (1866) 314 Thoughts brisk as beer and pathos soft and thawy. 1892 Longm. Mag. Dec. 206 If the day is a fine frosty one and the previous one happens to have been warm and 'thawy'.

Thay, Thay, obs. forms of Than, They, Though.

Thayffe, obs. form of Thrave.

Thayl: see Thail, obs. f. Tael.

Thaym, thayme, obs. forms of Them.

Thayn, obs. form of Thane.

Thayn, -e, -es, obs. forms of Their, -s.

The (bef. cons. ðē, ðə; bef. vowel ðē; emph. ðī), dem. adj. ('def. article') and pron. Forms: see below. [The reduced and flexionless stem of the OE. demonstrative se, sēo (later þe, þēo), þæt, the neuter sing. of which has come down as the dem. pron. and adj. That. Com. Teut. and Indo-Eur.: = OFris. thi, thiu, thet, OS. (se), th(i)e, thiu (the), that (the), (MLG., MDu. de (die), dat, LG., Du. de, dat), OHG. der (de), diu, das (mod. Ger. der, die, das), ON. sá, sú, þat, Goth. sa, sō, þata, also Gr. ὁ, ἡ, τό, Zend ho, hā, tat, Skr. sa, sā, tat; all the inflexional parts exc. the nom. sing. m. and f. having the stem þa-, Lith., Slav. to-, Gr. το-, Zend, Skr. ta-, Indo-Eur. to-, found also in L. in tam, tum, tunc, is-te, is-tud, etc. The nom. sing. m. and f. in OTeut., as in Skr., Zend, Gr., belong to another demonst. stem sa-, I.-Eur. so-, found also in Ir., Gael., Gaulish so this, L. -se in ip-se. But in OHG., OS. (in most dialects), and in late OE. (10th c. in Northumbrian, and at length everywhere) the s- forms were superseded by forms in þ- (OHG. d-), from the same stem as the neuter þæt and the oblique cases, as well as the pl. þá, later þō, Tho. After the middle of the 13th c. the s- forms are no longer found, exc. as a belated survival (se m., sy f.) in the Kentish dial. of the Ayenbite (1340). The only surviving reprs. of the OE. forms are the and that, Du. and LG. de, dat; but while LG. dat (besides its other uses) is still the neuter article, the Eng. that has ceased to be any part of the article. In the following illustration of Forms all the inflexions are illustrated, but the special history of þæt and þá pl. will be found under That, Tho.

(The nom. fem. sēo, sēo corresponds in form not to Goth. sō, ON. sá, I.-Eur. sā*, but to OS., OHG. sī, sē*. Some identify it with Skt. syā fem. of the 'extended' demonstrative sya, syā, tyat; others regard it as a special WGer. formation related to Goth. sī 'she'.)

A. Illustration of Forms.

The OE. demonstrative and definite article was thus inflected:

| | Sing. Masc. | Fem. | Neut. | Plural. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Nom. se, later þe | sēo, sēo, later þēo, þīu | | þæt | þá |
| Acc. | þone, þænne | | þæt | þá |
| Dat. | þǣm, þǣm | þǣre | þǣm, þǣm | þǣm, þǣm |
| Gen. | þǣs | þǣre | þǣs | þǣra(þǣra) |
| Instr. | þȳ, þon | | þȳ, þon | |

The variants and later forms were:

I. Sing. 1. a. Nom. masc. a. 1–3 se (1 sæ, 2 seo) [4 ze antec. pron.].

805 Charter of Cuðred in O. E. Texts 442 Æðelnoð se gerefa to Eastoreze. c 825 Vesp. Psalter ix. 25 Bismerud ðryhten se syntulla. c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Mark x. 24 Sæ [Rushw. ðe] hælend...cuoeð. c 1000 Sax. Leechd. III. 84 Sa ruwa gealle byð wexenda on þan innpræ. Ibid., Se blace gealle. a 1154 O. E. Chron. (Laud MS.) an. 1135, On his gaere for se king Henri ouer sæ. a 1175 Cotton Hom. 231 þis is se wæg. c 1250 O. Kent. Serm. in O. E. Misc. 26 Se king of gyus. [1340 Ayenb. 117 Ze þet ne heþ þise uondinges.]

¶ Abnormal uses of se in oblique cases, and of sa pl., ses gen. sing. (In some ol these, s may be a scribal error for þ.)

c 1121 O. E. Chron. (Laud MS.) an. 1114, Þæt duge[d] þes wæs, and þes cynges. Ibid. an. 1123, Þis wæs eall ear zeðon ðurh se biscop of Seresbyrig, & þurh se biscop of Lincolne. Ibid., Hi...brohten him toforen se kyng. Ibid., geðeltost to biscop fram se biscop of Lundene. a 1175 Cott. Hom. 235 Ures hlafordes te-o-gyne ses heleðes þrem cristes. 1200–35 Peri Didaxeon in Sax. Leechd. III. 94 To þan sare þe abutan sa earan wycst. Ibid. 112 Wurm þanna sa handa & smyra þar mid.

β. 1–2 ðe (ðȳ), 1–4 þe (2–4 te), 2–3 þa, 3–5 þo.

The O. E. Chron. 1122–31 has for the nom. masc. se, the section 1132–54 has (exc. once, anno 1135) þe (and te).

c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. ii. 3 Herodes te cynig. Ibid. iv. 15 Cueð to him ðe hælend. a 1154 O. E. Chron. (Laud MS.) an. 1132, Was it noht suiðe lang þer efter þat te king sende efter him. Ibid. an. 1135, þat ilc zær warth þe king ded. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 3 Hu þe helend nehlechede to word ierusalem. c 1205 Lay. 1327 Ne beo þa dai na swa long. a 1240 Sawles Warde in Cott. Hom. 267 þe feder ne te sunne an te hali gast. a 1300 Floriz & Bl. 739 þe Admiral..chaungede his chere. 13.. Cursor M. 6282 (Cott.) þe lauerd o might. Ibid. 20185 þan said te angel. a 1325 MS. Rawl. B. 520 lf. 31 ȝif þat te on [Iustise] be Clerke.

b. Nom. fem. a. 1 sēo, sīo, sīu, (sa), 1–3 se, 2 sie, syo, 2–3 si, [4 zi, zy antec. pron.].

c 888 K. Ælfred Boeth. xxxix. § 5 Sio godcunde gesceadwisnes. c 893 — Oros. II. iv. § 8 Seo kiuse burg Babylonia, seo ðe mæst wæs..seo is nu læst. c 975 Rushw. Gosp. Matt. xiii. 13 Swa sīu oþeru [bond]. c 1000 Ælfr. Gosp. Mark xv. 40 Seo [c 1160 Hatton G., sie] magdalenisce maria. a 1131 O. E. Chron. (Laud MS.) an. 1122, On þone lenten tyde..forbearn se burch. c 1160 Hatton Gosp. John xii. 17 Syo mennes þe wæron mid him. a 1175 Cott. Hom. 233 Hwæt ðeð si moder hire bearn? c 1250 O. Kent. Serm. in O. E. Misc. 28 Si Mirre signefiet uastinge. [1340 Ayenb. 102 Zy þet ne seruep bote to onlepy manne.]

β. 1 þēo, þēu, 1–3 þēo, þéo, (3 þæ, 2–3 þa, 2–4 þo).

c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. John ii. 1 Uses þēu [Rushw. þēo] moder and þe hælend ðer. Ibid. v. 25 Cymmes þēo tid & nu is. 971 Blickl. Hom. 65 þeo deaþ-bereinde uncyst us is eallum to onscuninne. c 975 Rushw. Gosp. John xix. 20 Neh ðær ceesire wæs þēo stow. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Luke, þeo stowe wæs gehendre þere ceastre. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 15 Hit wes þa laþe. Ibid. 87 Þo tid to esterticie. c 1205 Lay. 4010 Þeo uniseli moder. Ibid. 9815 Þæ quene spac wiþ him þus. a 1225 Ancr. R. 182 Þeo beorte ne eðhalt nonn wete of godes grace. a 1250 Owl & Night. 26 Þo vle song hire tide.

c. Nom. and accus. neuter. 1 ðæt, 1–3 þæt, 2–4 þet, 2–5 þat, that, (3 þuþ): see also That.

c 893 K. Ælfred Oros. I. i. § 8 Þæt land Cilia. Ibid., Irmende on þæt sond, & þonne besince eft on þæt land. c 1000 Ælfric Hom. I. 264 Þæt ðridde gebed is. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 7 Þat ebreisce folc sungen beore leof-song. c 1205 Lay. 297 Þat child was ihaten Brutus. Ibid. 9843 Þæt weder heom strongliche drof. a 1225 Ancr. R. 186 Nis þet child fultoweþ þet schrepeð agean? a 1250 Owl & Night. 1259 þah he hi warny al þet yer. 1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 12014 þo was þut lond in pes. c 1320 Cast. Love 139 To delen þat vuel from þe good. 1340 Ayenb. 2 Pet oper heaued of þe beste of helle.

2. Accus. a. masc. 1–2 þone, (1 þænne), 2 þana, 2–3 þenne, 2–4 þane, þan, þen, (3 þun), 3–4 þon, 4 þanne.

c 825 Vesp. Psalter iv. 4 gemiclað ðryhten þone halzan his. c 1121 O. E. Chron. (Laud MS.) an. 1016, Eadric ealdormann gewende þa ðæne cyng ongean. a 1131 Ibid. an. 1122, þa com se fir on ufen weard þone stepel. a 1175 Cott. Hom. 223 He worhte þa þane man mid his handen. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 7 Þurh þene halie gast. Ibid. 99 Crist ableow þana halga gast oþer þa apostlas. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 53 Ure helende..makede þen heuenliche fader sehte mid mankin. 1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 2184 To vere þon stronge wal. Ibid. 7954 He..þen castel bisette. 1340 Ayenb. 187 He ne may naȝt polye þane guode smel..namore þanne þe boterel þanne smel of þe vine. c 1380 Sir Ferumb. 2419 Ate laste þan gurdel he fond. c 1400 Sowdone Bab. 108 To Egremoun þon come Clee.

b. fem. 1–3 þá, 2–3 þeo, 3 þie, þo.

a 900 tr. Bæda's Hist. III. xii. [xiv.] (1890) 196 Seo þeseah þa eaðmodnesse þæs cyninges. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. John xix. 17  On þa stowe. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 9 On þa saelde laze. Ibid. 49 [Ures þistewedl] þeo deopnesse of sunne. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 107 Þie giue god giueð ech man. Ibid., Þeo giue he giueð mid þe holi huscl. c 1205 Lay. 51 He nom þa Englisca boc þa makede seint Beda. c 1250 O. Kent. Serm. in O. E. Misc. 29 We mowe habbe þo blisce of heueriche.

3. Dative. a. masc. and neut. 1 þǣm, 1–2 þǣm, (2 þa), 2–4 þen, þon, þonne, þan, than, (3 þæn), 3–4 þo (ten).

Beowulf 143 Se þæm feonde net-wamm. c 975 Rushw. Gosp. Matt. viii. 24 On þæm sæ. c 1000 Ælfric Gen. vi. 16 Binnan þam arce. c 1121 O. E. Chron. (Laud MS.) an. 1087, Binnan þam castele. 1131 Ibid., On þa tun þa wæs tenn ploges. a 1175 Cott. Hom. 227 Mid þan hefonlice feder. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 41 On þon deie. Ibid. 102 Ihuhsum þan heuenliche fadere to þa deðe. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 25 For þo þe he us shop. c 1205 Lay. 8157 Þu me smiten bi þon rugge. Ibid. 127 On þan londe. Ibid. 9266 He redde al þæn kaisere. a 1225 Ancr. R. 66 Al þat leccun..of þen eorðe. c 1250 O. Kent. Serm. in O. E. Misc. 26 To-þanes þo sunne risindde. Ibid., Bi þo sterre. c 1315 Shoreham v. 184 Fram þan tyme he was yþore. 1340 Ayenb. 12 At þo daye. c 1386 Chaucer Friar's T. 51 To..make hym grete feestes at male [= at ten ale].

b. fem. 1–3 þǣre (2 þara), 2–3 þere, þer, 2–4 pare, þar.

c 888 K. Ælfred Boeth. xli. § 3 Mid þǣre ilcan spræce. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. John xvii. 11 On ðære tide. c 1000 Sax. Leechd. III. 86 Hyd hy to þare wunda. a 1175 Cott. Hom. 225 Binnan þara birie. Ibid. 235 To þar siwele. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 3 He com to þere dune. Ibid. 31 Cume þenne to þer ilke chirche. c 1205 Lay. 1233 Mid þǣre sæ. Ibid. 4528 To þere sæ. a 1225 Ancr. R. 36 Uulleð to ðer eorðe. a 1250 Owl & Night. 31 Þe Nightegale..þuhte wel ful of þare vle. c 1315 Shoreham ii. 118 Þe sonne þym By-come in þare tyde.

4. Genitive. a. masc. and neut. 1–3 ðǣes, þæs, 3 þeos, Orm. þess, 2–4 þes, þas. See also These adv.

c 893 K. Ælfred Oros. I. iv. § 2 On þǣs cyninges dægum. c 1000 Ælfric Hom. I. 140 For ðǣs cyninges bredinge. a 1131 O. E. Chron. an. 1122, Þet wes þes dæies viii dius Mr. c 1160 Hatton Gosp. Luke i. 10 Eall wered þas folkes. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 23 He sit on rihthalf þes almihtie fadres. c 1205 Lay. 1, 173 To þas [c 1275 þis] kinges feede. Ibid. 806 To telde þes [c 1275 þis] kinges. Ibid. 7560 Þurh þeos [c 1275 þes] sweordes wunde. a 1250 Owl & Night. 398 Þu adunest þas monnes eren þar þu wunest.

b. fem. 1–2 þǣre, 2–3 þere, 2–4 þer.

c 893 K. Ælfred Oros. I. i. § 14 On ofre healfe þǣre easte. c 1205 Lay. 351 Þere quene cum Helene. a 1250 Owl & Night. 28 Hit wes þare vle erdingstowe. c 1315 Shoreham i. 79 Mannys blod Hys [=ys] ryȝt þer saule ȝiste.

5. Instrumental: see The adv., Then, Thy adv.

II. Plural. 6. Nom. and acc. 1–4 þá, (2–3 þa), (3 þea), 3–5 þo (to); 3 þeo, 4 theo. (See also Tho adj.).

a 700 Epinal Gl. (O.E.T.) 439 Funditissima, tha deat[h]licostan. c 725 Corpus Gl. 942 ðá deadlicostan. c 825 Vesp. Psalter v. 6 Þa unrehtwisan. a 1200 Moral Ode 103 þa swicen and ta forsworene. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 35 On þa wurhliche weden. c 1205 Lay. 2020 He..sceawede þa [c 1275 þe] leoden. Ibid. 2396 Þa biheste of þan hirde. Ibid. 5654 Þeo [c 1275 þe] cnihtes weoren vnwepned. 12.. Moral Ode (Egert. M.S.) 192 He scal deme þo quike & to dede. a 1300 Cursor M. 861 Amang þa trees. a 1400 K. Alis. 4108 Þheo maydenes lokyn in the glas.

7. Dative. 1 þǣm, þǣm, 2–3 þam, þon, pan, 3 pen.

c 893 K. Ælfred Oros. I. i. § 28 Be þǣm ȝesetenum iglandum. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Mark v. 2 Of þam byrgenum. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 27 For þan deoflan. Ibid. 139 To alle ðon monnen. c 1205 Lay. 714 To þon cnihten. Ibid. 7, 17 Cuð he wes þen cnihten. a 1225 Ancr. R. 50 þe blake clod...deð lesse elle to þen eien.

8. Genitive. 1–2 þǣra, þǣra, 2 þera, 2–3 þere, 3 pare, þer.

971 Blickl. Hom. 35 Ne bīð þara fæstendaga na ma þonne syx & þritig. c 1000 Ælfric Hom. I. 12 Ealra þǣra þinga. c 1175 Cott. Hom. 221 þara þinga. c 1175 Cott. Hom. 229 Ah þera twelf Christes þeignes. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 133 Þurh ðere clerkene muðe. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 121 Þer apostlene lore. Ibid. 129 Nan þere prophete þe þe wenen.

III. 9. General uninflected form, as definite article in all cases, genders, and numbers.

This had come to be þe, the by c 1150 in the East Midland dialect, and may have been so even earlier in the Northern dial., where þe was the nom. masc. for se a 950. The nom. masc. and fem. had become þe almost everywhere by 1300, but the neuter þat, het remained longer before a vowel (see 10); and inflected forms of some oblique cases survived in some southern dialects till 1400 (cf. 2 a and 3 above).

2–5 þe, 2, 4– the (also written 5–8 ye, y*e*). (Also 2–3 þa, 2–4 te (see T 8), 3–5 þo, 4 þi, 4 thee, 4–5 þeo, theo, 5 þey, 6 they, 8–9 dial. ta, te, da, de, 'ee; abbrev. 2 þ-, 5–6 th-, 7–9 (now dial. and poet.) th'; 5–6 (8–9 dial.) t' (see T' 2), 8–9 dial. d'.

a 1131 O.E. Chron. (Laud MS.) an. 1122, þa com se fir..and forbearnde ealle þe minstre. Ibid., Se fir weax..up to þe heouene. Ibid. an. 1123, He com eafter þe Rome scot. Ibid., In þe lenten ferde se ærcebi-cop to Rome. Ibid. an. 1132, To þe king..þe muneces..þurh þe biscop of Seresberi & te b' of Lincoln and te obre ricemen. Ibid. an. 1137, þe land was al fordon..In þe hus..on þe circe..alle be landes. Ibid. an. 1140, Þe kynges sister Henries..Wyd þempirice. Ibid., And te cuen of France to dælde fra þe king, and scæ com to þe iunge eorl Henri. c 1200 ORMIN 1485, & gaddresst swa þe clene corn All fra þe chaff togeddre. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 2949 But if it were in be lond gersen, þo cunne woren ðe eurise men. Ibid. 2962 For to bi-cumen be kinges ðogt. 13.. Cursor M. 6859 (Cott.) Suilk was þi lessun and þi lare [o.r. be..þe]. c 1400 Rule St. Benet 12 Sua sais te prophete. c 1420 Chron. Vilod. 1910 In þe whyche water hurre to wasshe. c 1425 Cursor M. 6908 (Laud) The man that thedir-ward is fled. Ibid. 10005 Thee iiij turret ber e-sette. 1436 Coventry Leet Bk. 285 þat þey prior be not suffered to make no more off þe Stan wall vndur þey priory. 1470-85 MALORY Arthur iv. xiii. 91 No kyng but thold custome. 1496 Plumpton Corr. p. ci, The said lands..& t'ofice of the Steward. 1529 CROMWELL in Merriman Life & Lett. (1902) I. 58 Kept to thuse of my saide Soonne. 1599 in Vicary's Anat. (1888) App. ii. 100 Mr Whittington, scolmaster to thenxmen. a 1533 LD. BERNERS Huon vi. 13 Out of temperous fauore. Ibid. lxxxviii. 278 His vncle themperour of Almayne. a 1548 HALL Chron., Rich. III 27 b, Lo ye honourable courage & lydy Isabelle Glass. 13 Tˢ beeas has got into t' corn. 1890 BECKLES Swaffham's Hills xxix, Let 'ee words as did vor vather do vor son. 1892 M. C. MORRIS Yorks. Folk-talk ii. 19 Gan into d' hoos.

B. Signification.

I. Referring to an individual object (or objects).

* Marking an object as before mentioned or already known, or contextually particularized (e.g. 'We keep a dog. We are all fond of the dog').

1. The ordinary use.

Beg-a 1154 [see A. 1.]. c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. ii. 9 Steatra..sceond ofer ðær (vel hwer) wæs ðe cnæht [Rushw. se cneht]. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. ii. 11 And gangende into þam huse hi gemetton þæt cild. — John ii. 7 Þæt hig þa fatu mid wætere gefyldon. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 133 Sum of þe seofen wæron ðe ilcan ðe hi þe ilcan. c 1200 ORMIN 1082 He toc þe reclesc & te blod & þede upp to þatt aliterr. 13.. Gawa. & Gr. Knt. 405 Quod þe gome in þe grene to Gawan þe hende. 1340 Ayenb. 186 Wel scolle we imbke wyn in ore of ure ofrie. c 1386 CHAUCER Prol. 845 (Corp.) Pe sop is þis, þe Cut fel to þe knight. c 1425 Seven Sag. (P.) 70 The emperour and is wif Loveden the child as hare lyf. 1530 PALSGR. 45 Where they saye in frenche le maistre, la dame, we say in our tonge the maystere, the lady; so that this word the, with vs, counter vayleth bothe le and la. 1695 CONGREVE Love for Love iv. iv, What's the matter now? 1818 CRUISE Digest V. 494 That the recovery ensured to the issue of the settlement, and therefore that the purchaser had no title. 1902 GARDINER Hist. Eng. Ch. 16th Cent. viii. (1903) 149 He re-considered the matter.

b. Placed before the relative pron. which (whilk) (arch.): see WHICH. The one, the other: see ONE, OTHER, TONE, TOTHER.

2. Used before a word denoting time, as the time, day, hour, moment: the time (etc.) in question, or under consideration; the time (now or then) present. The while: see WHILE.

[c 897 K. ÆLFRED Gregory's Past. C. xlvi. 348 Hie nanwuhte gæs ne magon þa, þwilæ God þeingan ys ðances.] a 1145 Cursor M. 3889 (Trin.) Þe while holde lya in bedde Þenne shal þou rachel wedde. 1533 BELLENDEN Livy v. xxiii. (S. T. S.) II. 227 Pe said voce was contemptuit and neclectit in pe tyme. c 1570 Lancelot, Tyr's T. viii. 213 And, iust at thinstant, all the canons plaien From towne to Campe, from Camp to towne againe. 1780 Mirror No. 76 ¶ 3 He comes there only as he does to the coffee-house, to enquire after the news of the day. 1848 DICKENS Dombey liv, At the moment, the bell rang loudly in the hall. 1864 TENNYSON Aylmer's F. 194 A tongue that ruled the hour. 1866 NEWMAN Germanus ad fin., And I will come and wake thee on the morrow.

b. Used before numerals denoting years.

Now only with abbreviation, either in reference to certain historical events (see FIFTEEN A. 2, FORTY-FIVE), or in expressions denoting a particular decade of a century or of a personal life (see EIGHTY a b, FIFTY a b, FIVE a).

1724 R. WODROW Life J. Wodrow (1828) 60 Elizabeth died..about the 1584 of a consumption. a 1776 LD. AUCHINLECK in Scotch Acts (1844) I. Pref. 188, I take this Manuscript to have been wrote before the 1500, and it is clear it was not wrote before the 1455. a 1797, 1814 [see FIFTEEN A. 2]. 1824 SCOTT Redgauntlet ch. xi, Ye have heard of a year they call the Forty-five. 1862 BURTON Bk. Hunter III. 261 Dispersed over the Highlands to keep them in order after the 45. 1880, 1889 [see FIFTY B. 2]. Mod. I think it was in the early eighties.

c. The day, the morn, the night, in Sc. and north. dial. = to-day, to-morrow, to-night.

a 1300 [see MORN 3 c, d]. 13.. Cursor M. (Cott.) 702 Þe sun was þat time.. Seuen sith brighter þen he dat to Faief; (Gött. to-day). c 1475 Rauf Coilzear 302 Cum the morne to the Court. a 1692 in 'J. Curate' Sc. Presb. Elog. iii. 106, I have brought him to you the day. a 1800 in Burns' Wks. (1800) I. 363 For he's far aboon Dunkel the night. 1814 [see DAY 2b, 23 b (d)].

3. Before the name of a unique object or one so considered, or of which there is only one at a time; e.g. the sun, the earth, the sea, the sky, the air, the world, the universe, the Almighty, the Lord, the Messiah, the Saviour, the Gospel, the Bible, the abyss, the pit, the Devil, the Emperor, the Pope, the Kaiser, the Sultan, the Shah, etc.

c 975 Rushw. Gosp. John iv. 6 Þe hælend forðon woerig wæs of gonge. a 1000 Beoth. Metr. xxvi. 6 Aulixes under hæfde þæm casere cynericu twa. c 1000 Sax. Leechd. III. 254 Seo eorðe stent on ælemiddan. Ibid. 268 Seo sæ and se mona gebræmlecað him betweonan. Ibid. 274 Seo lyft, þonne heo astyred is, byð wind. a 1225 Ancr. R. 82 þe deouel..is leas, and lesunges fedder. a 1240 Urthsun in Cott. Hom. 185 Iwend me from the wicke. c 1300 Brut xxxvi. 33 þe Emperoure..he..ordeynede a stronge power. c 1400 Apol. Lolld. 28 Bi lawe..of þe kirk,..ilk prest haþ þe same power to vse þe key in to and man in þo poynt of deþ, as þe pope. 1580 in Cath. Rec. Soc. (1908) I. 169 To the Tuisdion of Thallmuthie. 1590 SPENSER F. Q. i. 1. 32 The Sunne, that measures heaven all day long. 1611 BIBLE Ps. xxiv. 1 The earth is the Lords, and the fulnesse thereof. 1748 CHESTERFIELD Lett. 31 May, Sixtus the 5th..raised himself to the Popedom by his abilities. 1842 TENNYSON Beggar Maid ii, As shines the moon in clouded skies.

b. With names of rivers, as the Amazon, the Thames; of mountains, groups of islands, or regions, in the plural, as the Alps, the Azores, the Indies; of places or mountains, in the sing., now only when felt to be descriptive, as the Land's End, the Lizard, the High Street, the Oxford Road, the Jungfrau, the Matterhorn, or when the has come down traditionally, as the Lennox, the Merse; exceptionally in the Tyrol. Formerly often used more widely.

c 893 K. ÆLFRED Orosius i. i § 21 Seo Wisle is swyðe mycel ea.. Seo Wisle liðð ut of Weonodlande, þæt lið in Estmere. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 164 þat oper wonder is Vpe þe hul of be pese Ibid. 4740 Wippe was king of þe march, & adelfred of humberlond. 1632 MASSINGER & FIELD Fatal Dowry iv. i, I would they were at the Bermudas! 1653 HOLCROFT Procopius, Goth. Wars ii. 43 When the Vesuvius casts out cynders. 1761 Char. in Ann. Reg. 52/1 The Devizes. 1784 COWPER Task iii. 583 Th' Azores send Their lessons. 1824 SCOTT Wav. xxxiii, The travellers now.. reached the Torwood 1822 —Nigel x, I should like to see the broad Tay once more before I die; not even the Thames can match it, in my mind. 1842 PRICHARD Nat. Hist. Man (1843) 467 The Tupi, or native inhabitants of the Brazils. 1855 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. xviii. IV. 129 From the Land's End to the Straits of Dover.

c. With names of natural phenomena, seasons, etc., as the spring, the summer, the autumn, the winter, the day, the night; the wind, the cold, the clouds, etc.; of the points of the compass, as the north, the east (in OE. usually without article).

c 1000 Sax. Leechd. III. 274 Se wind hæfð misliice naman on bocum. a 1300 [see E. 2 b]. 1340 E. E. Allit. P. B. 953 Þe rayn rueled adown, ridlande þikke. 1382 WYCLIF Matt. ii. 2 We han seyn his sterre in the este. c 1440 Alphabet of Tales 106 Vppon a fayr day, whar þe wynde blew. 1697 DRYDEN Virg. Georg. iii. 398 They That wing the liquid Air, or swim the Sea, Or haunt the Desart. 1784 COWPER Task i. 749 God made the country, and man made the town. 1791 —Odyss. IX. 194 The rosy-finger'd daughter of the dawn.

†d. Formerly sometimes used before abstract sbs. See also DEATH 2, 12, LIFE 7, 7 b. Obs.

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. iii. § 3 þa se Wisdom þa and seo Gesceadwisnes þis leoð ausungen hæfdon. c 897 —Gregory's Past. C. iii. 35 On ðære ȝesundfulnesse mon forgiett his selfes. Ibid. xxxiii. 214 Þa ȝeðylde þe is modur..ealra mæȝena..þæt folcelt. c 1450 tr. De Imitatione III. lxiii. 146 Þe þes stondiþ more in very mekenes þan in propre exaltacion. 14.. Pol. Rel. & L. Poems (1903) 257 Ase..roust on þe knife, and ase deþ to be life. c 1489 CAXTON Blanchardyn xxi. Pe Tiste wyndes..can sone toward the pouure mayden in amours, and made to her the reuerence. Ibid. xxiii. 74 So cam he toward blanchardyn..And gaff hym the goode nyght. 1525 LD. BERNERS Froiss. II. cccxiii. [cccix.] 605 K. Lamorabaqui..wyll sent hym bone papan wiþ bone cyng accordad. a 1154 Ibid. an. 1140, Sume helden mid te king and sume mid pempericc. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 3 Seggeð þet þe laueed haued þar-of neode. Ibid. 5 ȝe iherden er on þe godspel hu ure driften sende his ii. apostles. a 1300 Cursor M. 20502 Pan spac þat leuedi..to papostlis euerilkan. a 1568 ASCHAM Scholem. 1. (Arb.) 68 Ye great ones in ye Court. 1621 ELSING Debates Ho. Lords (Camden) 26 To make his answere here at the barre. 1666 EVELYN Diary 13 Sept., The Queene was..in her cavalier riding habite. 1689 LUTTRELL Brief Rel. (1857) I. 557 The house of commons..ordered..that the then judges should attend the house. 1837 SIR F. PALGRAVE Merch. & Friar Ded. (1844) 1 Any bibliopolist, in or out of the Row. 1845 [see HOUSE 26.1 4 d]. 1875 TENNYSON Q. Mary i. i, He swears by the Rood.

5. Formerly with names of branches of learning, arts, crafts, games, and pursuits. Now chiefly dial. Also generally with gerundial vbl. sbs. (arch.).

c 1325 [see CHESS 2b]. 1470-85 MALORY Arthur v. xvii, 363 On a day kynge Mark played at the chesse. 1596 SHAKS. Tam. Shr. I. i. 37 The Mathematicks, and the Metaphysicks Fall to them. c 1643 LD. HERBERT Autobiog. (1824) 85 Any man thought worth the looking on. 1739 CHESTERF. Lett. (1774) I. 122 As you are now reading the Roman History. 1768 H. ST. JOHN in Jesse Selwyn & Contemp. (1843) II. 309, I regret the badness of our climate, and the being obliged to pass the remainder of my life in fill. 1824 MSS. CAMERON Pink Tipped iv. 22 What was the use of my getting you taught the dress-making? 1887 Wellington Weekly News 3 Feb. (E. D. D.), Apprentices and improvers wanted to the millinery, to the dressmaking, to the currying. 1901 Union Mag. Apr. 150/1, I wad rather hae seen ye at the joineirin' like masel'.

6. With names of literary or musical compositions, as plays, poems, anthems, etc.; also of newspapers and periodicals.

a 1225 Ancr. R. 18 Þus doð..et te biginnunge of þe Venite. 1780 Mirror No. 99 ¶ 7 The Orestes of the Greek poet. 1810 SCOTT Let. in Smiles Mem. J. Murray 180/1. 190 'Kehama' ..will get it roundly in the Edinburgh Review. 1845 GOSSE Ocean iv. (1849) 159 Plato, in the Timæus, gives the fullest account. Mod. The Times has a leading article on the subject.

7. Formerly with names of languages; now only in consciously elliptical phrases, as from the German (sc. language or original).

1593 NASHE Four Lett. Confut. Wks. (Grosart) II. 230 To borrowe some lesser quarry of elocution from the Latine. 1596 SHAKS. Merch. V. I. ii. 77 You will..sweare that I haue a poore pennie-worth in the English. 1760 Pretia, Pellite Lady xii. 28 Let not your studying the French make you neglect the English. 1795 SOUTHEY Lett. fr. Spain xxii. (1799) 204 Every advantage that..a complete knowledge of the Italian could afford. Mod. A new translation directly from the Hebrew.

8. With names of diseases, ailments, etc. Now more often omitted.

c 1000 Sax. Leechd. II. 314 Wið þære ȝeolwan adle..ȝenim þæs scearpan þistles moran and betonican. a 1300 Cursor M. 6819 In his heued he has þe scall þe scab ouer-gas his bodi all. Ibid. 21285 Þe gutte he pusaine. 1397 LANGL. P. Pl. B. XIII. 325, I cacche þe crompe, þe cardiacle. c 1400 Lanfranc's Cirurg. 281 It is myn entencioun to speke of þe dropesie. Ibid. 293 Of þe cancre and þe mormole. 1480, 1500-20 [see POCKLE s. 2 a]. 1660 GAUDEN Deuteronomy 225 Sharp fits of the stone. 1671 C'TESS WARWICK Autobiog. (Percy Soc.) 9, I..fell..ill of the measles. 1743-1831 [see INFLUENZA]. 1787 [J. BEATTIE] Scotticisms 91 He has got the cold, the fever. 1809 SOUTHEY Let. to Landor 23 Apr., in Life (1850) III. 228, I instantly recognised the sound of the croup. 1839 — Let. to Mrs. Hodson 18 Feb. Ibid. VI. 381 A serious attack of the influenza. Mod. (familiar) I have the toothache.

9. Elliptically with the names of ships, as the (ship) Nicholas, and of taverns, as the Mermaid (tavern), theatres, and other well-known buildings.

1450 Paston Lett. I. 125 He was yn the Nicolas yd Saturday next folwyng. 1480 WARKWORTH Chron. (Camden) 13 Casten in presone in the Marchalse at London. 1521 in Essex Rec. XIII. 221 Out of the Barbara and the Mayflower, if God send them well home. a 1626 BEN JONSON To Ben Jonson, What things have we seen Done at the Mermaid! 1710 SWIFT Jrnl. to Stella 15 Oct., Prior and I.. sat at the Smyrna till eleven. 1779 Mirror No. 32 ¶ 5 Stopping at the George on his way home. 1790 Daily Chron. 24 Oct. 3/4 heading, Playlet at the Coliseum. Mod. The Mauretania has made a record passage.

10. Before higher titles of rank, as the Emperor, King, Prince, Grand Duke, Marquess, Earl, Count (but not now when followed by the name, as King George, Prince Edward, Duke Humphrey, Earl Grey, Earl Simon), and with the corresponding female titles Queen, Duchess, etc.; also with some courtesy titles, as the Right Honourable, the Honourable, the Reverend, etc. See further LORD, LADY, and the other titles.

c 1121 O.E. Chron. (Laud MS.) an. 1090, Se eorl of Normandige..Ibid. an. 1091, Se cyng of France and se eorl of Flandras. 1340 Ayenb. 76 þe letedy fortune wem here huesel eche daye. 1472 SIR J. PASTON in P. Lett. III. 39 Robert of Raccleyff weddyd the lady Pemmok. 1553 in Rutland Papers (Camden) 19 These be the Oxford clayneth thoffice of great chamberlayne of England. 1603 SIR R. WILBRAHAM Diary (Camden) 60 The lord Thomas Howard made erle of Suffolk. 1613 SHAKS. Hen. VIII, II. iii. 94 The Marchionesse of Pembroke. 1707 E. CHAMBERLAYNE Pres. St. Eng. II. xv. (ed. 22) 288 The Lord Chief Justice. 1794 MRS. RADCLIFFE Myst. Udolpho I, 'The Chevalier Valancourt!' said Emily, trembling extremely. 1827 Edin. Weekly Jrnl. 28 Feb., The absence of the Right Hon. the Lord Provost.

b. With the surnames of some Irish and Scottish chiefs of clans, as the O'Gorman Mahon, the Chisholm, the MacNab.

1561 Inverness Sheriff Crt. Records II. 15 Apr. (MS.), [Sederunt] the Dollace of Cantray. 1562 Ibid. 7 Apr., The jugis hes consignit hir to produce the samyn and to wairne the Dollace upon ane xv dayis warning. 1847 THACKERAY Mrs. Perkins's Ball i. 4, I became acquainted with the Mulligan through a distinguished countryman.. who..did not know the chieftain himself. 1880 A. M. SHAW Mackintoshes p. xxvii, Moy Hall, the residence of The Mackintosh. 1902 Daily Chron. 1 Feb. 4/6 Three 'Thes' have sat in the House of Commons in our time—The O'Conor Don, The O'Donoghue of the Glens, and The O'Gorman Mahon. The MacDermott, K.C., ..was an Irish law officer in Liberal Governments.

c. Before names and titles of men, often in ME., a corruption of F. de, as in Robert the Bruce, Sir Simon the Montfort, the Mortimer, etc. arch.

1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 11134 Sir Roger þe Mortimer. 1375 BARBOUR Bruce i. 67 That .. Robert the brwys, Erle of carryk Auchit to succeid to the kynryk. Ibid. 435 The Clyffurd sall thain haff. c 1450 Brut 427 The Erle of Somersette and his brothir, and the Erle Fytz-Watir. 1591 SHAKS. 1 Hen. VI, III. iii. 37 Charles. A Parley with the Duke of Burgoine. Burg. Who craues a Parley with the Burgoine? 1814 SCOTT Ld. of Isles iii. xxvii, As heroes think, so thought the Bruce.

d. Before the names of well-known singers, actresses, etc., in imitation of French and Italian usage. 1786 Mrs. A. M. Bennett Juvenile Indiscretions V. 52 The Siddons. 1796 Phil. Advert. 18 Nov. in T. Campbell Life Mrs. Siddons II. viii. 201 Last night the Siddons and the Kemble, at Drury Lane, acted to vacancy. 1820 in Byron's Wks. (1846) 585/1 The Guiccioli was present. 1845 Disraeli Sybil v. vii, Well, what do you think of the Dashville, Fitz?

11. spec. Used emphatically, in the sense of 'the pre-eminent', 'the typical', or 'the only .. worth mentioning'; as 'Cæsar was the general of Rome', i.e. the general par excellence; the being often stressed in speech (ðē), and printed in italics.

1824 L. Murray Eng. Gram. (ed. 5) I. 257 In the history of Henry the fourth, by Father Daniel, we are surprised at not finding him the great man. 1829 Carlyle Misc., Germ. Playwr. (1872) II. 97 Dr. Klingemann..so superlative is his vigour..we might even designate him the Playwright. 1863 R. B. Kimball Was he Successful? vi. (Cent.), Joel Burns was a rich man, as well as the man of the place. 1865 Lubbock Preh. Times 131 The age was pre-eminently the implement of antiquity. 1904 S. G. Tallentyre Life Voltaire II. xxxv. 144 His Commentary remains unrivalled, and is still the text-book on Corneille.

12. With any part of the body of a person previously named indicated, instead of the corresponding possessive pronoun; as 'he took him by the hand', i.e. his hand. So with heart, soul, used fig.; also with parts of personal attire.

1154 O. E. Chron. an. 1137, Me henged [heom] up bi the fet..bi the bumbes, other bi the hefed. 13.. K. Alis. (Bodl. MS.) 2276 Fulbor he smoot vpon þe rygge. 1390 Gower Conf. II. 213 That love..Ne schal noght take hem by the sleve. c 1460 Townelay Myst. xxiv. 115, I shall knap hym on the crowne That standys in my gate. 1583–93 Greene Mamillia II. Wks. (Grosart) II. 220 Ruffes of a Syse, stiffe starcht to the necke. 1590 Shaks. Com. Err. II. 206 To put the finger in the eie and weep. 1789 Mrs. Piozzi Journ. France I. 306 Heavy lace robbins ending at the elbow. 1838 Dickens O. Twist lii, To be hanged by the neck, till he was dead. 1847 Tennyson Princess vii. 209-12 Pale was the perfect face..And the voice trembled and the hand.

b. Used colloquially with names of relatives, as the wife, the mother = my (your) wife, mother.

1898 J. M. Wilson Tales Borders No. 210 (1899) V. 9/2 What shall I say to the wife? 1853 C. Bede Verdant Green I. vii, 'It's a long while since the governor was here', remarked Mr. Charles Larkyns, very mildly, to the Mater [see Mater 3]. 1891 Duncan Amer. Girl in Lond. 82 The mother and sisters would like to call upon you. 1900 The pater..the mater [see Pater 3]. 1901 W. Churchill R. Carvell xliv, [I] sent off an express to Patty and the Mother last night.

c. Before Own (a. 2 b) and Self (C. 1 c), q. v.

13. Used before names of weights and measures, in stating a rate: as (so much) the pound, gallon, yard, day, etc. Cf. A adj.[2] 4, Per III. 2.

1426–7 Rec. St. Mary at Hill 65, iiijᵉ hert latthe, pris þe hondrid, vij d.. iijⁿᵗ trausum, þe mⁿ x d. 1488–9 Act 4 Hen. VII, c. 8 Any person meetinge the pack. 1551–2 Act 5 & 6 Edw. VI, c. 6 § 1 That all colored Clothes..shall waye fourscore pounde the pece at the lest. 1556–7 S. Fincke in Hist. Croydon App. (1783) 153 Bricklayers..have xvd. apeece the day. 1632 Weever Anc. Fun. Mon. 418 Appointing them xii d. the week to each person. 1796 Southey Lett. fr. Spain (1799) 118 They are very dear, ten reales the couple. 1851 Mayhew Lond. Labour II. 284/2 The sherds run about 250 pieces to the bushel.

b. So with prepositions by, in, + on . , chiefly with reference to time, as (so much) by the day = (so much) each day.

1477–8 Rec. St. Mary at Hill 79 Paid to Sir John Colyns.. at viij s. iiij d. by the quarter. 1530 Tindale Answ. More iii. i. Wks. (1572) 304/9, I finde in all ages that men..haue suffred death by the hundred thousande in resisting their doctrine. 1533 Acc. Ld. High Trens. Scot. VI. 151 To Thomas Scott passing in England with writtingis and credence to the King ..to him on the day iij li. 1613 Shaks. Hen. VIII, v. iv. 33 What should you do, but knock 'em downe by th' dozens? 1632 Lithgow Trav. vi. 298 The Dromidory ..will ride aboue 80 miles in the day. 1727 Pope, etc. Art Sinking xiii. 116 It may be..let out by the day. 1848 Dickens Dombey xxxix, He would sit and avail himself of its accommodations..by the half-hour together. 1883 Sir J. C. Day in Law Rep. 12 Q. B. Div. 206 Etymologically considered, a journeyman is one who is employed by the day.

 Marking an object not before mentioned, but now identified by a clause, phrase, or word.

14. Where the object is defined by a relative clause, the stands before the object. (The relative pronoun may be suppressed: cf. That rel. pron. 10.)

In mod. Eng. more emphatically expressed by that: see That dem. adj. 3. The OE. form did not distinguish these: þæt spell may be rendered 'that story' or 'the story'.

a 900 tr. Bæda's Hist. Pref. (1890) 2 Ic ðe sende þæt spell, þæt ic niwan awræt þe Angel Þeode & Seaxum. 971 Blickl. Hom. 71 Seo cennige þe þær beforan ferde. c 975 Rushw. Gosp. Mark ii. 4 Þa þerne in ðære þe eorð-cryfet wæs. c 1000 Sax. Leechd. III. 104 Þæt sindon þe teþ þe þane mete brecaþ. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 3 Þe holie ilæ þat me clepeð adueni. c 1200 O. Kent. Serm. in O. E. Misc. 26 Te dai ase ure louerd..i-bore was. a 1300 Cursor M. 14705 Pe werckes þat i werc in his nam. 1382 Wyclif Matt. ii. 9 Loo! the sterre, the whiche thei sayen in este, wente bifore hem. 1492 J. Paston in P. Lett. III. 75, I am not the man I was. 1596 Shaks. Merch. V. v. i. 83 The man that hath no musicke in himselfe..Is fit for treasons [etc.]. 1697 T. Brown Digesn. I. Wks. 1709 III. iii. 67, I have known the Time, when I could go out and pick up 10 or 12 l. in a Morning. 1715–20 Pope Iliad xxiv. 256 Let us give To grief the wretched days we have to live. 1784 Cowper Task iii. 141 The man, of whom His own coevals took but little note. 1805 Wordsw. On Peele Castle, The light that never was, on sea or land. 1850 J. H. Newman Diffic. Anglic. i. ii. (1891) I. 48 But the passage I have quoted suggests a second observation.

15. Where the object is defined by a following phrase with prep. (esp. of, repr. an OE. genitive).

971 Blickl. Hom. 55 Þeh he..gehyre þa word þæs halgan godspelles. c 1121 O. E. Chron. (Laud MS.) an. 1116, On þisum ylcan geare beræd eall þæt mynstre ðe þærto. 1122 Ibid., Se burh on Gleawecestre. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 53 Heo habbeð þe nome of cristene. c 1290 Edmund Conf. 387 in S. Eng. Leg. I. 442 In þe toun of wyricestre bi-ilide þat selue cas. 1387 Trevisa Higden (Rolls) II. 41 Tweie perilous places in þe see of myddel erþe. 1426–7 Rec. St. Mary at Hill 65 Also þe thorisday in þe Whitson weke. 1513 Douglas Æneis IX. Prol. 7 Honeste is the way to worthyness. 1605 Shaks. Mach. I. vii. 45 Like the poore Cat i' th' Addage. a 1734 North Exam. I. i. § 23 (1740) 26 In the telling of this Story. 1764 Gray Candidate 22 Just like the picture in Rochester's book. 1842 Bentham Bk. Fallacies Introd. vii, The Sir Charles Sedley of political morality. 1870 Morris Earthly Par., Jan. 42 Midmost the time 'twixt noon and dusk. 1908 R. Bridges Sel. Poems R. W. Dixon (1909) p. xii, The Oxford of 1850 was singularly unsympathetic.

b. With an object defined by an infinitive phrase with to (where the may sometimes be rendered 'that .. needed or proper ..').

c 1384 Chaucer L. Prologue 111. 966 Alle the folke that ys a lyve Ne han the kunnynge to discryve The thinges that I herde there. 1642 Milton Sonn. viii. 13 The power To save th' Athenian Walls from ruine bare. 1687 A. Lovell tr. Thevenot's Trav. I. 225 We had the Efforts to be pitied. 1890 J. H. Newman Diffic. Anglic. I. iii. (1891) I. 80, I am not the person to be jealous of such facts.

c. With an object particularized by a pple.

1698 Phillips, Salit, the 12 Priests of Mars instituted by Numa Pompilius. 1708 Rogers Pol. Econ. (ed. 3) ix. 85 The privileges accorded..to the merchants of the Hanse Towns. Mod. The book lying on your table.

16. The stands before a sb. defined by another sb. (usually a proper name) in apposition, as the poet Virgil.

c 893 K. Ælfred Oros. I. i. § 8 Se hehsta beorg Olimpus. Ibid. § 9 On westende Affrica, neh þam beorge Athlans. 1029 O. E. Chron. Toforan þæm mynstre Alexandre. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 73 Of clene lifnade spec þe prophete isaias. c 1200 Ormin Ded. 257 Patt..boc..Apokalypsis..Uss wrat te postell Sanntt Johann. 1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 7956 þe king ..þanne þe bissop ode..voisuerie engelond. 1579 Cromwell in Merriman Life & Lett. (1902) I. 325 The Jentylwoman your wyff. 1634 Milton Comus 442 The huntress Dian.

b. More usually the proper name precedes. (Regularly so when the whole phrase becomes a recognized appellation, as William the Conqueror.)

c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. xiii. 39 Secon iomes witzo [Rushw. tacen Ionas se witzna] c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. iii. 1 On þam dagum com iohannes se fullubtere. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 73 And dauid þe prophete spekeð in an salm. 13.. Sarac. Rome (Vernon MS.) 398 Seint Iun þe Ewangelist. c 1400 Brut 299 About seint Lukes day þe euangliist. 1599 Nashe Lenten Stuffe (1871) 23 Their barony by William the Conqueror, conveyed over to them. 1900 Edin. Rev. Oct. 334 Bourdalone the physician was another favourite.

17. The is used with a sb. particularized or described by an adjective. The adj. usually precedes, but sometimes follows the sb.: in either case the stands first as the good man, the church militant.

(An adj. or pple. with a modifying addition regularly follows the sb., as 'the grass wet with dew', 'the tools needed for the work': cf. 15 c.)

A particularizing adj. often becomes a permanent epithet, as in the Black Prince, the Lesser Bear, the Red Campion, the Great Exhibition, the Green Park, the Yellow Sea, the Lord Chancellor, the Prince Imperial; the adj. and sb. may then be treated as name of a unique object, as in 3.

c 850 O. E. Chron. an. 853, Þy ilcan geare sende Æþelwulf cyning Ælfred his sunu to Rome. 885 Ibid., Se fore sprecna here. c 888 K. Ælfred Boeth. xl. § 4 Her-cumaðʒ sio fiorðe boc..and onginð sio fifte. 971 Blickl. Hom. 5 Se heofonlica cyning. 1008–11 Laws of Æthelred vi. c. 22 § 1 On þam halgan dæʒe. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 5 þa cœre men.. stigen upponn þe godes cunnes treowe. c 1386 Chaucer Knt's T. 1491 Among the goddes hye it is affermed..Thou shalt [etc.]. c 1400 Brut 26 She was þe ryʒt heire of þis lande. 1423 Pilgr. Soule (Caxton) v. vi. (1859) 76 The chirche militant, that laboureth here in erthe. a 1536 Calisto & Melib. (Lond.: Dodsley I. 64 The mighty and perdurable God be his guide. 1575 Gascoigne Making of Verse in Steele Gl., etc. (Arb.) 37 Vse your verse after thenglishe phrase. 1662 Pepys Diary 20 Oct., Saw the so much desired by me picture of my Lady Castlemaine. 1712 Steele Tatler No. 208 ¶ 1 They had the quite contrary Effect. 1750 Gray Elegy xiv, The dark unfathom'd caves of ocean. 1829 Shelley Prometh. Unb. III. iii, The progeny Immortal Of Painting, Sculpture, and rapt Poesy. 1863 H. Cox Instit. I. xi. 262 The Long or Pensionary Parliament of Charles II. 1866 S. J. Stone Hymn, 'The Church's one Foundation' iv, And the great Church victorious Shall be the Church at rest.

b. So with proper names of persons or places: e.g. the judicious Hooker. c. But when the adj. becomes a permanent epithet, the and the adj. usually follow: e.g. Alfred the Great; so with ordinal numerals following names of sovereigns or popes, as Edward the Seventh.

b. c 893 K. Ælfred Oros. I. i. § 8 Þæt land þe mon hætt seo læsse Asia. c 1420 ? Lydg. Assembly of Gods 269 Sate the good Iupyter. 1513 Douglas Æneis x. i. 39 The fresch goldyn Venus. 1632 Milton L'Allegro 86 Their savory dinner..Which the neat-handed Phillis dresses. 1743 Emerson Fluxions Pref. 13 Du divine Newton (whose Works will last as long as the Sun and Moon). 1906 F. Thompson To Eng. Martyrs 163 That utterance..Of the doomed Leviathan.

c. c 897 K. Ælfred Gregory's Past. C. iv. 36 Se ðæm cwæð Salomon se snottra. 971 Blickl. Hom. 15 Hit is Haelend se Nazarenisca. a 1000 Byrhtnoth 273 (Gr.) Þa sat on orde stod Eadward se langa. 1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 2862 Seint eleyne þe gode. c 1400 Gower In Praise of Peace I O worthi noble kyng, Henry the ferthe. 1484 Caxton Curial 5 For to them whom fortune the variable hath most hyely lyfte up. 1558 Cal. Ann. Rec. Dublin (1889) 47 Patrick Fitz Symon, thelefor, and William Byrsall, the yonger. 1686 [Allix] Dissert. i. in W. Hopkins Ratraimus' Body & Bl. (1688) 8 Charles the bald chose to consult him. Mod. George the Fourth's Bridge in Edinburgh.

18. spec. When a sb. is particularized by a superlative, or by an ordinal number (see also 17 c), the latter is regularly preceded by the.

c 893 K. Ælfred Oros. I. i. § 22 Se man se þæt swiftoste hors hafað. 971 Blickl. Hom. 5 Deofol..beswæc þone strestan wifmon. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. John i. 39 Hit was þa seo teoðe tid [Lindisf. ðiu teþ]. c 1000 Ælfric [see Fifth]. a 1225 Ancr. R. 60 Eien beoð..te ereste armes of lecheries pricches. c 1300 Havelok 9 He was þe wic[k]steste man at neðe. 1601 Shaks. Jul. C. iii. 2, 87 This was the most unkindest cut of all. 1646 C. Porter tr. Sarpi's Hist. Quarrels 110 The most Potent Princes of Italy. 1748 Smollett Rod. Rand. I, In terms the most hyperbolical. 1759 Sarah Fielding C'tess of Dellwyn I. 149 Ready to take fire at every the least Provocation. 1848 Miss Skinkell M. Barton ix, Th'longest lane will have a turning. 1890 Lo. Esher in Law Times Rep. LXIII. 692/2 The case ..is of the greatest possible weight. Mod. The first Consul; the hundredth time.

b. The also stands before the same adjs. when used absolutely.

c 1000 Ælfric Gram. xlix. (Z.) 282 Sextus, se sixta. c 1175 Pater Noster in Lamb. Hom. 69 Þet þrídde is þes monnes wil. 1340 Ayenb. 33–4 Þer byeþ six poyns [of sloth]..þe tersteis in uoloysmesse..þe þridde is grochynge. 1470–83 Malory Arthur xx. viii. 81 Amongue the thyckest of the trees. c 1526 Tindale Matt. xviii. 1 Who is the greatest in the kyngdom of heven? 1622 in Seton Life Earl of Dunfermline vi. (1882) 141 note, [He] took sickness the first of June 1622. 1779 Miller No. 27 ¶ 1 With the best and most affectionate of husbands. 1779 Warner in Jesse Selwyn & Contemp. (1844) IV. 14 Your letter of Tuesday the 19th, was brought to me on Monday. 1799 Southey Let. to Th. Southey 5 Jan. in Life (1850) II. 3 These letters will take twenty pounds from me, at the least. 1852 M. Arnold Youth of Nat. 71 Too deep for the most to discern. Mod. The third appears to be the best.

19. Referring to a term used generically or universally. * With a singular sb.

19. Before the name of an animal, plant, or precious stone, used generically.

Not now used with man or woman, exc. as opposed to child, boy, girl, or the like: cf. the dog is the friend of man, man has tamed the dog; the child is father of the man; you can see the woman in the little girl. Formerly se man, seo fimne: cf. Gen. the woman, Eve, Thomson.

c 888 K. Ælfred Boeth. xli. § 6 Ac se mann ana geþ uprihte. c 893 — Oros. iii. xi. § 3 Þonne seo leo bringð his hungregum hwelpum hwæt to etanne. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 93 þe iadde..ne eten hire fulle. a 1225 Juliana 20 Here leofliche leor..rudi as þe rose. 13.. K. Alis. (Bodl. MS.) 1819 Men dreden hym..So chalf þe bere, & shep þe wolf. c 1440 Lydg. Horse, Shepe, & G. 344 The Goos may gaqe, the lion may rore & prauncé..A-geyn the lamb. 1553 Eden Treat. Newe Ind. (Arb.) 14 The Diamande is engendred in the mynes of India, Ethiopia..and Cyprus. a 1584 Montgomerie Cherrie & Slee 21 The hart, the hynd, the dae, the ram, The fawne, and the foie. 1622 Drayton Poly-olb. xx. 45 The Colewort, Coliflowre, and Cabidge in their season. 1727–46 Thomson Summer 147 At thee the ruby lights its deepening glow. 1797 Holcroft Stolberg's Trans. (ed. 2) I. xiv, 93 They sell the heifer to the butcher. 1824 Macaulay Ess., Burghley (1887) 236 Burleigh..was of the willow, and not of the oak. 1854 Bushnan in Circ. Sc. I. 290/2 It purrs like the Cat.

b. Generally, with the name of anything used as the type of its class; e.g. with the names of musical instruments, tools, etc.

c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. iii. 10 Ys seo [Hatton syo] æx to ðæra treowa wortrumum asetted. c 1300 Havelok 2929 Per moukne men here..þe gleymen on þe tabour dinge c 1450 Holland Howlat 759 The rote, and the recordour,..The trumpe, and the talburn. 1589 Puttenham Eng. Poesie I. xix. (Arb.) 57 To be sung to the harpe. 1592 Shaks. Ven. & Ad. 454 A red morne that..betokend, Wracke to the sea-man, tempest to the field. 1614 B. Jonson Barth. Fair iii. ii, A notable hot Baker 'twas when hes ply'd the peele. 1721 Steele Spect. No. 228 ¶ The renowned British Hippocrates of the pestle and mortar. 1746 Francis Horace, Epist. I. x. 7 You keep the Nest, I love the rural Mead, The Brook, the mossy Rock and woody Glade. 1784 Cowper Task ii. 629 The rose is folly's emblem. 1814 Scott Ld. of Isles iii. xxiii, The lad can deftly touch the lute, And on the rote and viol play. 1839 Lytton Richelieu ii. ii. 308 The pen is mightier than the sword. 1906 Edin. Rev. Oct. 448 Zola has demonstrated the novel in another fashion.

c. Before body, mind, soul, or parts, functions, and attributes of these. (See also Body sb. 1, Mind sb. 17.)

c 888 K. Ælfred Boeth. xxiv. § 3 Seo fæʒernes..þæs lichoman. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. vi. 25 Hu nys seo sawl selre þonne mete. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 153 Ine þe eren. a 1225 Ancr. R. 4 Þe oðer riwle is al wimmen, & riwle3 þe licome. 13.. K. Alis. (Bodl. MS.) 6245 A folk..roupas here to þe honde. c 1380 Wyclif Serm. Sel. Wks. I. 103 Rychesse..ryven þe soule. c 1400 tr. Secreta Secret., Gov. Lordsh. 85 His effect is properly to comforte þe brayn, þe herte, and þe stomak. 1500–20 Dunbar Poems xlvii. 6 Trew luve rysis fro the splene. 1594 R. Ashley tr. Leys le Roy 24 Nothing offending, or displeasing the eare.

1692 SOUTH Serm. (1697) I. 361 How accidentally oftentimes does the thing..offer it self to the mind. 1736 BUTLER Anal. I. i. 30 To think the eye itself a percipient. 1842 THACKERAY Men & Pict. 109 [They] pall on the palate.

d. With names of days of the week, as on the Monday, i.e. on Monday of any or every week, on Mondays generally.

1340 Ayenb. 213 þe zonday is more holy þanne þe zeterday. c 1450 CAPGRAVE Life St. Augustine 16 þat schse used to fast þe Satirday. c 1500–1567 [see SATURDAY 1]. 1854 MACAULAY Speeches 409 On the Sunday he goes perhaps to Church. Ibid. 553 He returns to his labours on the Monday.

20. Before a word of individual meaning used as the type of a class of persons.

c 897 K. ÆLFRED Gregory's Past. C. xii. 74 Ðæs biscepes weorc..ðæs hierdes life. Ibid. xiii. (heading), Hu se larеow scеal beon clene on his mode. a 900 tr. Bede's Hist. Pref. ii. (1890) 6 Ðone leornere ic nu..bidde and halsige. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 27 Ah þenne þe preost hit deð in his nuðe. a 1225 Ancr. R. 84 Þe vikelare ablent bene mon. 1388 WYCLIF Ps. xxxii[i] 10 Many betyngis ben of the synnere. 1535 COVERDALE Isa. xliv. 13 The carpenter (or ymage caruer) taketh me the tymbre, and spredeth forth his lyne. 1600 W. WATSON Decacordon (1602) 334, I...craue patience of the catholicke Reader. 1660 HEXHAM Eng. Dutch Dict. (title-p.), A compendious Grammar for the Instruction of the Learner. 1681 DRYDEN Abs. & Achit. 655 But where the witness failed, the prophet spoke. 1720 WATTS Mor. Songs i. i, 'Tis the voice of the Sluggard, 1789 I. G. GAMBADO Acad. Horsemen (1809) 33 To ride with a lash well, is the sign of the sportsman. 1843 MACAULAY Ess., Addison (1887) 791 Steele ..was much of the rake and a little of the swindler. 1859 TENNYSON Enid 1280 As careful robins eye the delver's toil.

b. esp. in phr. To act, be, play the man, the soldier, etc. = to sustain the character of a man, a soldier, etc.; to do that which is manly, soldier-like, etc.: see PLAY v. 34.

1426 AUDELAY Poems (Percy Soc.) 29 Thai play not the fole. c 1530 H. RHODES Bk. Nurture in Babees Bk. 84 Save thy selfe, play the man, being compelde. 1642 W. PAICE Serm. 40 Playing the drugsiers or hucksters with it for gains. 1779 DE FOE Crusoe (1840) I. iii. 47 To act the rebel. 1748 RICHARDSON Clarissa Wks. 1883 VII. 486, I will contrive to be the man. 1809–10 COLERIDGE Friend iv. (1865) 93 To act the knave is but a round-about way of playing the fool.

21. With an adjective used absolutely, usually denoting an abstract notion: e.g. the beautiful, that which is beautiful.

c 1420 ? LYDG. Assembly of Gods 882 In stede of the bettyr the worse ther they ches. 1596 SHAKS. Tam. Shr. iv. iii. 80, I will be free, Even to the vttermost. 1748 SMOLLETT Rod. Rand. xxii. A nose inclining to the squiline. 1756 BURKE (title) Enquiry into the Origin of our Ideas of the Sublime and Beautiful. 1850 TENNYSON In Mem. cvi. 8 Ring out the false, ring in the true. 1878 T. HARDY Ret. Native vi. iii, There is too much reason why we should do the little we can to respect it now.

* * With a pl. sb. used universally.

22. With a sb. in the plural, chiefly the name of a nation, class, or group of people, where the = 'those who are'; 'the . . . taken as a whole'. Also with family surnames, as 'the Joneses are of Welsh origin'.

c 1200 ORMIN 188 He shall turrenn þurrh hiss spell þe trowwþeliese leode. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 87 þe saxons ..Seve kynges made in engelond. 1548 W. PATTEN Exped. Scot. Pref. c ij b, Neyther the Greekes [not] the Ruthens. 1613 PURCHAS Pilgrimage (1614) 246 The bodie..was afflicted on the East by the Persians, on the West by the Gothes. 1783 JUSTAMOND tr. Gessner's Pastor. Instr. III. 380 The Kima...is not yet well know to the botanists. 1816 CRABB Eng. Synonymes 139/2 The Tarquins were banished from Rome. 1906 Edin. Rev. Oct. 429 These laws of sight the Greeks made it their business to analyse.

23. Before an adjective or participle having a plural application (usually of persons), as the poor, those who or such as are poor.

c 897 K. ÆLFRED Gregory's Past. C. xxii. 175 Ða worold-wisan..ða dysegan. a 1300 Prayer 26 in O. E. Misc. 193 Jlesue þe hungrie mete and te nakede iwede. 1362 LANGL. P. Pl. A. Prol. 78 Alle maner of men þe mene and þe riche. 1426 AUDELAY Poems 7 Vysyte the seke. 1526 TYNDALE John xii. 8 The povre all wayes shall ye have with you. 1671 MILTON P. R. iv. 257 Nothing will please the difficult and nice. 1742 GRAY Ode Spring ii, How low, how little are the Proud, How indigent the Great! 1814 BYRON Ch. Har. i. xxxiv, Here ceased the swift their race, here sunk the strong. 1817–18 SHELLEY Rosalind & Helen 254–5 He was a coward to the strong; He was a tyrant to the weak.

b. A pa. ple. so used may retain its verbal construction or complement. (In this case those is now more used than the.)

c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. xxii. 3 He..clypode þa gelaðoðan to þam gyftum. 1600 W. WATSON Decacordon (1602) 49 Dignities which intitle the inuested with them, with a preheminence above all other persons. 1728 CHAMBERS Cycl. s. v. Jesuit, The professed of this order renounce..all preferment, and especially prelacy. 1817–18 SHELLEY Rosalind & Helen 474 Thou knowest what a thing is Poverty Among the fallen on evil days.

C. as Demonstrative (or quasi-personal) pronoun. In late OE. and early ME., when þe was substituted for the earlier masc. se, and subsequently became the general form of the definite article (see A. I a β and 9), it was also used for some time as demonstrative pronoun, = the (man), that, he, esp. as antecedent to a relative; thus early ME. þe þe or þe þet for OE. se þe, = that (man) that, he that. The fem. was þeo þe (for OE. seo þe) she that; the pl. þá þe those that, they that. (The neuter was commonly þet þe or þette.)

c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. iii. 3 Þes is forðon ðe ðe Ðrohtw. seþe] gecueoden wæs ðerh esaias. Ibid. xv. 24 Ne þe wel he [L. ipse] soðlice ondueardc. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 95 þe ðet bið mid þen halia gast iteod. Ibid. 109 þe ðe deleð elmessan for his drihtnes luuan, þe bihat his gold hord on heouene riche. a 1200 Moral Ode 217 (MS. Eg.) þe [MS. Y. þe þat] godes milce sceðð, iwis he mai is [v. rr. ha, hi] finde. Ibid. 219 Þe ðe [v. rr. Se þet, þe þat] deð his wille meat, he haueð wurst mede. a 1225 Ancr. R. 52 Mesire, þeo deð also þeo is betere þen ich am. Ibid. 86 Ase þe þe seið to þe kuiðte þet robbeð [etc.].

† The, particle (conj., adv.), relative pron. Obs. Forms: 1–4 ðe, þe, (2 þee, 2–3 þa). [OE. þe, app. an unstressed or worn-down case or derivative formation from the stem þa- of THAT demonst. and rel. pron. Thought by some to be a worn-down locative case. Cf. Goth. þê-ei, þei, conj., similarly used.]

1. Used as a conjunction introducing clauses of various kinds: = THAT conj.

Beowulf 1334 Heo þa fæhðe wræc þe þu gystran niht grendel cwealdest. Ibid. 1436 He on holme wæs sunder þæ sæmra þe hyne swylt for-mann. c 1000 Ags. Ps. (Th) cxliii. 4 Hwæt is se manna, mihtig Drihten, þe þu him cuðlice cyþan woldest? a 1250 Owl & Night. 941 þe Nihtegale..wiste wel..þe wrabþe binymeþ monnes red.

b. spec. After comparatives: Than.

c 897 K. ÆLFRED Gregory's Past. C. xliv. 318 Ne hie selfe ðy betran ne talien þe ða oðre. 971 Blickl. Hom. 215 Ða þe þa hæfde twæm læs þe twentig wintra. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Hom. I. 154 Þeos woruld..nis..ðe geliccre Þære ecan worulde, þe is sum cweorn beohtum deagre. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 151 If þe beoð strengre þe heo. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 119 þe holi gost com..and alihte hem of brihtere and of festere bileue þe hie hedden er. a 1250 Owl & Night. 564 Na more þe deþ a wreccche wunne.

2. Correlative conjunction: 'hwæþer . . þe . .', 'þe . . þe . .', 'whether . . or . .'.

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xxxiv. § 6 Hwæþer þincð þe þonne þæt þa þincg sien, ðe ðara soðena gesælða limu, þe sio gesælð self? 971 Blickl. Hom. 97 Hwyder he geleaded sy, þe to wite, þe to wuððre. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Hom. II. 100 Ða Gregorius þefran, hwæþer þæs landes folc cristen wære ðe hæðen. c 1205 LAY. 16812 Do þine iwille Whaðer swa þu wult don, þa us slan þa us an-bon. a 1250 Owl & Night. 1064 Hweþer þu wilt wif þe habben. Ibid. 1408 Sei me soþ If þu hit wost hweþer doþ wurse fleys þe gost. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 4507 In woch half turne he nuste, þo weþer est þe west.

2. Relative particle. a. Appended to adverbs and adverbial expressions of time, place, etc., to make them relative or conjunctive. Cf. THAT conj. 6. Also in for þan þe because that, ær þan þe before that, and the like.

835 Charter of Æþba in O. E. Texts 447 Ða hwile ðe hia hit mid clennisse gehaldan wile. c 1160 Hatton Gosp. Mark viii. 24 þa þæ he hine be-seag. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 87 þa þe heo comen on midden þere se. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 35 þe siffeald mihten þe god him gef þo þe he him shop. a 1240 Orestus 36 in Cott. Hom. 193 þer þe neure deð ne com.

b. Hence as a temporal adverb (= þá, þá þe): When.

c 1205 LAY. 263 Þeos þunge wiman iweard hire mid childe, þe þet leouede Aascanius. Ibid. 4150 þe c 1275 þo] Dunewale lauede lasnd, in þis folc þe þanne ræd. a 1300 Harrow. Hell (MS. L.) 42 þe [MS. E. þan] he com þere þo [MS. E. þan] seyd he asse y shal noupe telle þe.

3. As relative pronoun: That, who, which.

In OE. repr. any case or number. Also with ellipsis of antecedent, as 'that which, what,' = THAT rel. pron. 3.

805–31 Charter of Oswulf in O. E. Texts 444 Ic ðe ðas gesettnesse sette. 847 Charter of Æðelwulf in O. E. Texts 434 Ðonon to ðæm þeorge þe mon hateð æt ðæm holme. 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xxxiv. § 3 His sio hea þrednes þe he full is. Ibid. xxxvi. § 4 (3) Þæt ðu mæge ðy þet geleafan ðe ic ðe..recce. c 893 — Oros. II. i. § 4 þy ilcan geare þe Romana rice weaxan ongann. a 1000 Boeth. Metr. v. 12 Seo þe ser gladu onsiene wæs. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. vi. 9 Fæder ure þu þe eart on heofonum. — John i. 26 Tomiddes eow stod þe [Lindisf. ðone] ge ne cunnon. 1154 O. E. Chron. an. 1140, Alle þe men þe mid him heoldon. c 1175 Cott. Hom. 221 Æðra þara þinge þe on paradis beoð. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 45 þe þet kingeð þe comen of estriche. c 1205 LAY. 41 Wace wes ihoten þe wel coupe writen. a 1250 Owl & Night. 1386 (Cott. MS.) For heo beoþ wode, þe [v. r. þat] bute nest goþ to brode. a 1300 Harrow. Hell (MS. L.) 94 Moyses, þe holy wyht [MS. whyt], þe heuede þe lawe to þeme ryht. 13.. Cursor M. 24317 (Edin.) Wit hard thrauis þe [other MSS. þat] he prow þai sau þat he to ded him drew. c 1350 Will. Palerne 4122 Sche..went into a secrey chamber þe cierli was peinted. c 1460 Oseney Regr. 166 He Bryngeth also Anoper charter ..the witnyssith [orig. Cartam..que testatur] that the Same Nicoll yafe [etc.]. Ibid. 170 For þe Sowle of my fadur Robert Doylly þe bat same church foundid.

b. When the relative was governed by a preposition, the latter followed before the verb.

a 900 O. E. Chron. an. 885, He sende him..þære rode deð þe Crist on þrowude. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Mark ii. 4 þæt bed þe se lama on læg.

c. In Old English the relative was also expressed by adding þe to the demonstrative pronoun se, seo, þæt; thus, se-þe, seo-þe, þæt-þe or þætte, þæs-þe, þæm-þe, etc.; but this combination scarcely survived after 1100.

835 Charter of Æþba in O. E. Texts 448 Swæle monn se ðe to minum earfe foe. 893 K. ÆLFRED Oros. II. iv. § 8 Seo ilce burg..seo ðe mæst wæs. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Gen. vi. 2 Hig ..namon him wif of eallum þam, þa þe hig gecuron. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. iii. 3 Dys ys se þe þam ðe gecweden ys. a 1175 Cott. Hom. 227 Se soðe sceppende se þe ane is god. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 5 He is ilesced þe þe her cumet on drihtenes nome.

d. To express the genitive case whose, of which, þe or se ðe was followed by a possessive pronoun: cf. THAT rel. pron. 9.

a 800 CYNEWULF Elene 162 Se God..þe his his beacen wæs. c 850 O. E. Martyrol. 118 Þære fæmnan þid þe hire noma wæs sancta Anatolia. a 900 Psalm xxxii. 11 (Thorpe) Eadis byþ þæt kyne, þe swyle God byð heora God. a 1122 O. E. Chron. (Laud MS.) an. 1021, Ælfmær..þe se arcb. Ælfeah ær generedе his life.

The (ðē, ðə), adv. Also 3 þæ. [OE. þē, originally locative or instrumental case of the demonstrative and relative pron. se, sēo, þæt. In OE. interchanging with þȳ: see THY adv.]

1. Preceding an adjective or adverb in the comparative degree, the two words forming an adverbial phrase modifying the predicate.

The radical meaning is 'in or by that', 'in or by so much', e.g. 'if you sow them now, they will come up the sooner'; 'he has had a holiday, and looks the better', to which the pleonastic 'for it' has been added, and the sentence at length turned into 'he looks the better for his holiday'.

c 897 K. ÆLFRED Gregory's Past. C. xvii. 122 Oft sio wund bið ðæs þe wierse & ðy mare. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 87 þa cleopede god þe ner Moyses him to. c 1205 LAY. 20257 Of þere brede he æt sone þer after him wes þe bet. c 1290 Beket 1292 in S. Eng. Leg. I. 142 He chaungede is name, þe sikerloker forto go. a 1300 Cursor M. 3651 (Cott.) Þat he þe mai be less destru, þou sal sai þou ert sinn. 1398 TREVISA Barth. De P. R. v. xxxviii. (Bodl. MS.), He [the stomach] is rouse..to holde þe better þe mete þat he fongiþ. c 1430 How Gd. Wife taught Dau. 191 in Babees Bk. 41 þe wort is þe sonner do þat haþ many handis. 1526 TINDALE John xix. 8 When Pilate herde that sayinge, he was the moare afrayde [1388 WYCLIF, he dredde the more]. 1596 SPENSER F. Q. vi. ii. 33 That..I may beare armes,...The rather, since that thou hast this day liues to me the spoile of this dead knight. 1621 FLETCHER Wild Goose Chase iv. i, 'Tis not to be help'd now. Lil. The more's my Miserie. 1782 COWPER Mut. Forbearance 24 Your fav'rite horse Will never look hair the worse. 1838 RUSKIN Ess. Painting & Music § 24 Wks. 1903 I. 285 And if others do not follow their example,—the more fools they. 1883 Law Times 27 Oct. 421 What student is the better for mastering these futile distinctions?

† b. In phrase the less (the), (= L. quominus), OE. þe-lēs þe, Early ME. (þe) lesse, now LEST conj. q. v.

[c 825 Vesp. Psalter ii. 12 Dyles hwonne eorsie dryhten.] 971 Blickl. Hom. 65 Þe læs hi us besencean on helle grund. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. John v. 14 Ne synga þa, þe-læs þe þe on sumon þingon wyrs þetide. a 1100 in Napier O. E. Glosses 1. 3675 þe lasse gelimpe. [1175 see LAST conj.]

2. The . . the . .: by how much . . by so much; in what degree . . in that degree . . [= L. quo . . eo . ., Gr. ὅσῳ . . τοσούτῳ . .]: denoting proportional dependence between the notions expressed by two clauses, each having the + a comparative; one the being demonstrative, and the other relative. The relative clause usually comes first, e.g. 'The more one has, the more one wants'; but the order may be reversed, as 'One wants the more, the more one has'; and in either order the comparative in the relative clause is sometimes followed by that, e.g. 'the more that one has'. In OE. commonly þȳ; ME. þi, þe: see THY adv.

c 897 K. ÆLFRED Gregory's Past. C. Pref. 5 Þæt her ðy mara wisdom on londe wære, ðy we ma geðeoda cuðon. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 7547 Þe more þat a mon can, þe more wo wutþe he is. 13.. Minor Poems Vernon MS. lxv. xii. 95 Þe more we trace þe Trinite, Þe more we falle in fantasye. c 1400 MAUNDEV. (Roxb.) v. 14 Ay be elder it es, þe whittere it waxes. c 1440 Alphabet of Tales i Yitt þai er ay þe langer þe wers. 1596 SHAKS. Hen. IV, iv. iv. 445 Though the Camomile, the more it is troden, the faster it growes; yet Youth, the more it is wasted, the sooner it weares. 1690 T. SAUNDERS in 11th Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm. App. VII. 111 As to our sea affairs..the lesse I say the better. 1771 in J. Watson Jedburgh Abbey (1894) 98 The bells must be removed, and the sooner the better. c 1790 IMISON Sch. Art I. 208 The smaller a lens is, and the more its convexity, the nearer is its focus, and the more its magnifying power. 1855 KINGSLEY Westw. Ho! iv, The less said the sooner mended. 1874 MICKLETHWAITE Mod. Par. Churches 26 The higher the windows are from the ground the better. Proverbial expression. The more, the merrier.

The, obs. form of THEE pers. pron., THEE v.[1], to prosper, THEY, THIGH, THOUGH.

The, thé, thea, obs. forms of TEA.

Thead (þēd). Now dial. Also 4 þede, 5–6 thede. [Etymology unascertained.] A brewer's strainer; = TAP-HOSE: see quot. a 1825.

13.. E. E. Allit. P. B. 1717 Bifore þy borde hatz þou broȝt beuerage in þede. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 490/2 Thede, bruarys instrument, qualus. 1530 PALSGR. 280/1 Thede a brewars instrument. a 1825 FORBY Voc. E. Anglia, Thead, the tall wicker strainer placed in the mash-tub over the hole in the bottom, that the wort may run off clear. c 1890 Catalogue in Leicester Gloss. (1891), Spiggot and thead. 1891 Ibid., Thead, a tap-whisk.

Theaf(e, Theaft, obs. ff. THEAVE, THEFT.

Theak, variant of THEEK v., to thatch.

† Theal, thele. Obs. Forms: (1 þelu, þel, þell), 6 thele, thel, theall, 7 (9 dial.) theal. [In 16th c. thele, corresp. to OE. -þelu fem. occurring in comb. bencþelu (also neuter pl.) 'bench-floor', and burulhþelu 'castle-floor', agreeing in sense with þel, þell, neut., board, plank, floor, in one place

'(iron) plate'. These point to OTeut. forms helā* fem., helō*n neuter, whence also helion*, hilion*, WGer. hilio*, OE. hille, ON, hilja fem. deal, plank, OHG. dilla board, MLG. dele, Du. deel deal, plank: cf. also the Finnish borrowed word telio. The long gap between the latest OE. example of -helu and the Eng. thele, after 1500, is noteworthy; perh. the word came down within a limited district. Cf. the place-name helwel (O.E. Chron. an. 923), Thelwall in Cheshire.]

1. (OE.) A floor.

a 900 Benwulf 487 Eal benc-þelu blode bestymed. [Cf. Ibid. 1239 Benc-þelu beredon; hit xeond-bræded wearð beddum ond bolstrum.] a 1000 Fight at Finnesburg 30 Buruhðelu dynede.

2. A board, plank, deal. Cf. DEAL sb.[3]

1517 in Morsbet Harborough Rec. (1890) 220, I wyll yt Richard Page..shall have a lede, a mawnger, a rake and thelys, beynge at ye sygne of Swanne in Harborow. 1521 Nottingham Rec. III. 355 Item anoyer pres borde and a thele yat ley at the kychyn dore. 1562 Ludlow Churchm. Acc. (Camden) 110 For thele to mende the churche dore. 1586 Churchw. Acc. St. Martin, Leicester in N. & Q. 6th Ser. VII. 240/2 Too plancke and too thels [for the library]. 1618 in Archæologia XLIV. 402 Item 4 greate theales of 30 foot a piece 3 foote 3 inches broad and three inches thicke. 1622 Athorp MS. in Simpkinson Washingtons App. p. lvii, Aug. 7. To Butlin 3 daies sawing theales, & 2 daies making a dore for Mrs Sagrave's house 00 05 00. 1847–78 HALLIWELL, Thele, a board; a plank; a joist. Leic.

Theam, theame, obs. ff. TEAM, THEME.

[†Theaming, ppl. a. ? Some error.

1599: see ARSENINE.]

Theandric (þiːæ·ndrik), a. [ad. eccl. Gr. θεανδρικός, f. θεάνδρος god-man (f. θεός god + ἀνήρ man): see -IC.] Of or pertaining to both God and man; partaking of both the human and the divine.

1612 T. TAYLOR Comm. Titus ii. 14 It was..neither merely diuine, nor merely humane, but (as Diuines speake) theandrike. 1828 B. LEVING Sermons I. 140 p. lxiii, A class of heretics..asserting, that there was only one operation, Theandric or Godmanly. 1843 J. B. ROBERTSON tr. Möhler's Symbolik iii. § 11 (ed. 3) 83 So that this regeneration constitutes one theandric work.

So † Thea·ndrical a. Obs. [see -ICAL].

1656 JEANES Fuln. Christ 36 To performe them as God man, is appropriate to Christ...As ascribed unto him, they are, say Diuines; Theandrical, that is, diuinely humane. 1693 OWEN Holy Spirit as Comforter i. Wks. 1855 IV. 358 He who worketh them [his mediatory operations] is God, and He worketh them all as God-man; whence they are theandrical.

Theangeline (þiːæ·ndʒĕlin), rare—[1]. [f. Gr. θεάγγελις (-ιδ-) an intoxicating herb (Pliny) + -INE.] Name of a plant said by Pliny to grow on Libanus.

1854 BAILEY Mystic 33 The bruised theangeline, which gives Prophetic sense.

Theanthropic (þiːæ̆nþrɒ·pik), a. [f. eccl. Gr. θεάνθρωπος, THEANTHROPOS + -IC.] Pertaining, relating to, or having the nature of both God and man; at once divine and human.

1652 BENLOWES Theoph. I. lxxviii, The Theanthropick Word, That Mystick Glasse of Revelations. 1864 in WEBSTER. 1868 GLADSTONE Gleanings (1879) III. 65 The theanthropic idea, the idea of God made man without ceasing to be God, was..familiar..to the old mythology. 1879 — in 19th Cent. Oct. 765 An anthropomorphic or theanthropic system of marvellous imaginative splendour. 1882 CAVE & BANKS tr. Dorner's Chr. Doctr. 197 An image of Christ..which is actually and truly human and Divine at once, that is theanthropic.

So Theanthropical a. rare [see -ICAL].

1846 WORCESTER cites Bib. Rep.

Theanthropism (þiːæ·nþrɒpiz'm). [f. as prec. + -ISM.]

1. Theol. The doctrine of the union of the divine and human natures, or of the manifestation of God as man, in Christ.

1817 COLERIDGE Biog. Lit. xxiv. (1882) 301 Speaking theologically and impersonally, i.e. of Psilanthropism and Theanthropism as schemes of belief. 1867 WESTCOTT in Contemp. Rev. VI. 417 If we might venture to use a word not wholly without ancient precedent, it [Christianity] might be described as Theanthropism. It proclaims not a conception of God, but a manifestation of God. 1875 LIGHTFOOT Comm. Col. (ed. 2) 119 The monotheism of the Old Testament is supplemented by the theanthropism of the New.

2. Mythol. The attribution of human nature or character to the gods.

Cf. ANTHROPOPHUISM, which word Mr. Gladstone, writing to the Editor in July 1882, said he had given up and had taken refuge in theanthropism'.

1878 GLADSTONE Prim. Homer iii. 50 Greatly out of keeping with the anthropomorphism, or, as I would rather call it, theanthropism, of the Olympian system.

So Theanthropist, a believer in theanthropism (also attrib. or as adj.); Theanthropo·logy = theanthropism.

1826 COLERIDGE in Lit. Rem. (1836) I. 394 This is evident, that if the "theanthropist is a Christian, the psilanthropist cannot be so. 1887 Dublin Rev. Apr. 248 The theanthropist or Christian doctrine. 1845 F. BARHAM A 9 *Theanthropology, or the doctrine of God in man and the form of man.

‖ Theanthropos. Obs. [a. eccl. Gr. θεάνθρωπος god-man, f. θεός God + ἄνθρωπος man.] A title given to Jesus Christ as being both God and man.

1635 QUARLES Emblems i. Invoc. 23 Thou great Theanthropos, that giv'st and crown'st Thy gifts in dust. a 1704 T. BROWN Dial. Dead, Friendship Wks. 1711 IV. 54 When this great Deliverer came, they [the Jews] very fairly Murder'd him; and from this Theanthropos it is that the Christians derive ..their Religion. 1730 BAILEY (folio), Theanthropos.

Hence Theanthropophagy (-ɒ·fădʒi) [-PHAGY]: see quot.; Theanthroposophy (-ɒ·sŏfi) [-SOPHY], a system of belief concerning the God-man; Theanthropy (-æ·nþrŏpi) [ad. eccl. Gr. θεανθρωπία], the fact of being God-man, the union of divine and human natures (in Christ).

1654 JER. TAYLOR Real Pres. xii. § 14. 281 Cardinal Perron ..says, that they deny anthropophagy, but did not deny *Theanthropophagy, saying, that they did not eat the flesh, or drink the blood of a meer man, but of Christ who was God and man. 1817 COLERIDGE Lett., to J. H. Green (1895) 683 Of Schelling's Theology and *Theanthroposophy, the telescopic stars and nebulæ are too many for my' grasp of eye'. 1658 J. ROBINSON Endeavs i. 19 Christ..by his *Theanthropy..knew Judas to be one [a hypocrite]. 1689 NORRIS Rel., etc. (1692) 298 Here also we meet with a new Theanthropy, a strange Composition of God and Man.

Thearchic (þiːă·rkik), a. [ad. eccl. Gr. θεαρχικός, f. θεάρχεια: see next and -IC. In late L. thearchicus (Scotus Erigena, c 860).] Of or pertaining to thearchy.

1855 MILMAN Lat. Chr. xiv. ii. (1864) IX. 63 Jesus..is the Thearchic Intelligence, the super-substantial Being. 1890 HATCH Hibbert Lect. x. 304 Initiated in the thearchic mysteries.

Thearchy (þĕ·ăki). [ad. eccl. Gr. θεαρχία, f. θεός God + -αρχία a ruling.]

1. The rule or government of God or of a god; a theocracy.

1643 Subject of Supremacie, etc. 42 There ends Monarchy as a Thearchie, or divine dynastie. c 1643 Maximes Unfolded 8 Thearchie, or Gods Government in Families, a Nation, and all Nations. 1863 WHYTE MELVILLE Gladiators I. 234 His [the Jew's] belief in that direct thearchy, to which he was bound by the ties of gratitude.

2. An order or system of deities. (Cf. HIERARCHY 1, 3.)

1839 BAILEY Festivs i. (1850) 11 From rank to rank in Thearchy divine, We angel rayiets gladden in thy sight. 1876 GLADSTONE Homeric Synchr. 245 Pan was one of the younger gods in the Hellenic thearchy. 1899 Literary Guide 1 Dec. 178/1 When Jesus entered upon his ministry, the Olympian thearchy..was already tottering to its fall.

Thear(e, Thearme, obs. ff. THERE, THARM.

Theat (þĕt). Sc. Also 5–9 thete, 6 theatt, (tyghte), 8–9 theet. [Etymology obscure: derivation from ON. þétr tight, has been suggested; cf. tyght in quot. 1573.] pl. 'The ropes or traces, by means of which horses draw in a carriage, plough, or harrow' (Jam.); now chiefly of the plough.

1296 Acc. Ld. High Treas. Scot. I. 293 Item, for xiij stane and a pund of towis to be thetis. 1513 DOUGLAS Æneis XII. ix. 77 The renis and the thetis, Quharwyth hys stedis sokkit war in thretis. [1573 Lanc. ll file (Chetham Soc.) III. 62 Two payre of tyghtes or trasses for horses w*t wythes of iren.] 1599 Aberdeen Regr. (1848) II. 183 Cutting with his knyff the theattis of the said pleucht. 1792 Statist. Acc. Scot. IV. 395 The rashen theets [are supplanted] by the iron traces. 1844 STEPHENS Bk. Farm II. 694 The sort of harness with which he is first invested is that of the plough, consisting of a bridle, collar,..and back-band and chains, or theats, as these are called in some parts of the country.

b. In fig. and allusive expressions: cf. traces. Out of theats (also out of thee), out of bounds: see quot. 1710, and cf. 'to kick over the traces' (KICK v.[1] 1 c).

1682 PEDEN in Life & Proph. (1868) 13 Good Lord, cut their theets, that their swingle-trees may fall to the ground. 1710 RUDDIMAN Gloss. Douglas s.v. Thetis, Ye are out of theet, i.e. ye are extravagant or in the wrong. 1731 T. BOSTON Mem. v. 53 They were going to call a new upstart, one that broke the thetes. 1877 W. ALEXANDER Johnny Gibb ii, Keep baith laird an' tenan' straucht i' the theats.

Theater, variant spelling of THEATRE.

Hence † Theate·rian, one connected with the stage; an actor (obs.).

1602 DEKKER Satiromastix. Wks. 1873 I. 244 One of these partakers..(Players I meane) Theaterians, Stage-walkers.

Theatine (þĕ·ătăin), sb. (a.) R. C. Ch. Also 7 Tiatine, 7–9 Theatin. [ad. mod.L. theatinus, f. Teate, ancient name of Chieti in Italy: see -INE[1].] So F. théatin, obs. It. theatini pl. (Florio).] A member of a congregation or order of † regular clerks' founded in 1524 by St. Cajetan in conjunction with John Peter Carafía (till then Archbishop of Chieti, whence the name, and later Pope Paul IV). A corresponding order of nuns was founded c 1600.

1597–8 BP. HALL Sat. iv. vii. 92 Like to a false dissembling Theatine. 1632 LITHGOW Trav. x. 472 The Tiatines would twice a day visite mee. 1658 PHILLIPS, Theatins. 1686 tr. Bouhours' St. Ignatius II. 136 The great correspondence which Ignatius held with Caraffa, Founder of the Theatines, the People in those times called Ignatius and his Companions, Theatins. 1736 CHANDLER Hist. Persec. 291 Those who are to die have two monks of Theatins, as they call them, walking by them. 1889 BAPIDITT & KNOX Q. Bible & Cath. Hierarchy ix. 275 The aim of the Theatines was the reformation of the secular clergy and the sanctification of the faithful.

b. adj. Of or pertaining to the Theatines.

1693 tr. Emilianne's Hist. Monast. Ord. xviii. 186 They had in some countries the name of Theatin Jesuits. 1882 Cath. Dict. 793/1 The Theatine nuns were founded by the B. Ursula Benincasa. 1903 Eng. Hist. Rev. Apr. 277 The terrible personality of the Theatine bishop.

Theatral (þĭ·ătrăl), a. Now rare. [ad. L. theātrāl-is, f. theātrum THEATRE: see -AL. So F. théâtral (16th c.).] Of, pertaining to, or connected with the theatre; theatrical; dramatic.

1594 R. ASHLEY tr. Loys le Roy 76 They pardoned Roscius, the Authour of the law Theatral. 1665 BRATHWAIT Comment Two Tales 23 He [Absolom]..in Theatral notions personates Herod in his Majesty. 1755 in JOHNSON. 1904 Times 16 Aug. 5/2 Impressiveness..depends..on the vast extent and theatral disposition of the whole.

Hence Theatralize v., trans. to adapt for performance on the stage.

1825 CARLYLE Schiller App. 270 Schiller had engaged to theatralize his original edition of the Robbers.

Theatre, theater (þĭ·ătăr), sb. Forms: 4–5 teatre, 4– theatre, 5– theater. [ad. (directly, or through OF.) L. theātrum, a. Gr. θέᾱτρον, a place for viewing, esp. a theatre, f. θεᾶσθαι to behold (cf. θέα sight, view, θεατής a spectator). The word was completely naturalized in L., whence It., Sp. teatro, Pg. theatro, OF. teatre, theatre (12–13th c.), whence perh. the ME. forms, mod.F. théâtre; also Ger., Du., Da. theater, Sw. teater.

The earliest recorded Eng. forms, c 1380, are theatre and teatre; from c 1550 to 1700, the prevalent spelling was theater (so in Dictionaries from Cawdrey to Kersey), but theatre in Holland, Milton, Fuller, Dryden, Addison, Pope; Bailey 1721 has both, 'Theatre, Theater'; and between 1760 and 1750, theater was dropped in Britain, but has been retained or (?) revived in U.S. The pronunciation (þĭ·ătər), or its accentuation, appears in Lydgate, and is still in vulgar use; thē·ater is found as early as 1591.]

1. Gr. and Rom. Antiq. A place constructed in the open air, for viewing dramatic plays or other spectacles.

It had the form of a segment of a circle; the auditorium was usually excavated from a hill-side, the seats rising in tiers above and behind one another; the orchestra, occupied by the chorus, separated the stage from the auditorium. c 1374 CHAUCER Boeth. i. pr. 1 a (Camb. MS.) Comune stromptes of swich a place be men cleped the theatre. 1382 WYCLIF Acts xix. 29 Thei maden a swat with oon ynwit, or wille, in to the teatre [gloss or comune biholdyng place]. 1412–20 LYDGATE Chron. Troy III. 5442 Incomplesynyge, pitously in rage, In pe theatre, with a ded visage. 1546–7 ELYOT Image Gov. 69 Many wouldie resorte to the common houses called Theatres, and purposing some matter of philosophy, wold there disputte openly. 1592 SPENSER Ruins of Time 92 High towers, faire temples, goodly theaters. 1697 POTTER Antiq. Greece I. viii. 37 Θέατρον was a Musick-Theater, Built by Pericles. 1840 ARNOLD Hist. Rome XXXVII. II. 477 The whole Tarentine people were assembled in the theatre.

† b. An amphitheatre. Obs.

c 1386 CHAUCER Kntl.'s T. 1027 Swich a noble Theatre as it was, I dar wel seyn in this world ther nas. a 1548 HALL Chron., Hen. IV 2 b, Then he graunted them the battaill & assigned the place to be at the citee of Coventree..where he caused a sumptueous theatre and listes royal..to be prepared.

c. A natural formation or place suggesting such a structure.

1652 Donne's Epigr. Poems 102 O wilt thou be Diana, haunt these fields, This Theater both woods and fountains yields? 1667 MILTON P. L. iv. 141 Shade above shade, a woodie Theatre Of stateliest view. 1697 DRYDEN Æneid v. 377 A native theatre, which rising slow, By just degrees o'erlook'd the ground below. 1727–46 THOMSON Summer 1210 Hid the central depth of blackening woods, High-arch'd in solemn theatre around. 1828 BYRON Ch. Har. IV. xlviii, Girt by her theatre of hills. 1886 RUSKIN Præteritia I. ix. 288 In Jura is a fair retiring theatre of rising terraces.

† d. A circular basin of water. Obs.

1645 EVELYN Diary 5 May, A streame precipitating into a large theater of water. Ibid., In one of these theaters of water is an Atlas spouting up the streame to a very great height.

2. In modern use, An edifice specially adapted to dramatic representations; a playhouse.

Its essential parts, as in sense 1, are the stage for the actors, and the auditorium (the latter consisting of ranges of seats, one above another); the stage is furnished with movable scenes and more or less elaborate stage machinery for their production and removal. In 16–17th c. the building was only partially roofed; it is now entirely under cover.

At first apparently the proper name of a particular playhouse in Shoreditch, outside the City of London, built 1576: see Arber, Gosson's Schoole of Abuse, Introd. 8, and early quots.

'Patent theatre, a theatre established or licensed by royal letters patent (the first two of which were granted in 1603). Their exclusive privileges were abolished in 1843. Saloon theatre, Variety theatre: see quots. 1892, 1902. Picture theatre, a hall in which kinematographic pictures are exhibited, a 'picture palace'.

1577 NORTHBROOKE Dicing (1579) 99b, Those places..which are made vp and builded for suche Plaies and Enterludes, as the Theatre and Curtaine is. 1578 J. STOCKWOOD Serm. Paul's Cross 24 If you resorte to the Theatre, the Curtayne, and other places of Plaies in the Citie. Ibid. 134 The gorgeous Playing place erected in the fieldes..as they please to haue it called, a Theatre. 1593 SHAKS. Rich. II, v. ii. 23 As in a Theater, the eyes of men After a well grac'd Actor leaues the Stage, Are idlely bent on him that enters next. 1603 DRAYTON Odes vii. 56 Till with shrill Clarys the Theater doe shake. a 1658 CLEVELAND Christchurch Windows 215 Those that before our Glass Scaffolds prefer Would turn our Temple to a Theater. 1702 Lond. Gaz. No. 3750/4 The Patentees of the Theater-Royal in Covent-Garden. 1788 Act 28 Geo. III, c. 30 Such Trajedies, Comedies,..Plays, or Farces, as now are, or hereafter shall be acted, performed, or represented at either of the Patent or Licensed Theatres in the City of Westminster. 1864 DORAN Ann. of Stage II. xi. Suppl. 186 List of the principal Dramatic Pieces produced at the Patent Theatres, from the Retirement of Garrick to the End of the Eighteenth Century. 1888 WILLIAMS in Encycl. Brit. XXIII. 227/1 In the provinces patent theatres were established at Bath by 8 Geo. III. c. 10. Ibid. 227/2 The exclusive rights of the patent theatres were also recognized in the Music Hall Act of 1752. 1892 Daily News 26 Sept. 2/4 To erect a roomy theatre of varieties—which seems to be modern English for music hall. 1902 Encycl. Brit. XXXI. 45/2 (s.v. Music Halls) The 'saloon theatres' of the 'thirties were the music halls of to-day, and they owed their form and existence to the restrictive action of the patent theatres. Ibid. 46/2 The saloon theatres rarely offended the patent houses, and when they did the law was soon put in motion. 1911 London Opinion 23 Aug. 248/1 A picture theatre [where] such films as Foxhunting..the Boat Race..or the Derby are being shown.

† 3. transf. a. The stage or platform on which a play is acted. Obs.

1589 Rider Bibl. Schol. 1484 A theater, or scaffold whereon musitions, singers, or such like shew their cunning, orchestum. 1647 Trapp Comm. Rom. 1. 20 Clearly seen; as in a mirror, or as on a theatre. 1659 Stanley Hist. Philos. III. iii. 23 Some plead in the Forum, others act on the theater. a 1774 Goldsm. Nat. Hist. (1776) IV. 93 Like the ghost on a theatre.

b. A theatrefull of spectators; the audience, or 'house', at a theatre. (Cf. House sb. 4 g.)

1602 Shaks. Ham. III. ii. 31 The censure of the which One [the judicious], must in your allowance o'erweya whole theatre of others. 1634 Heywood Maidenhead lost i. Wks. 1874 IV. 122 'Twas a glorious sight, Fit for a Theater of Gods to see. 1894 Gladstone Gleanings of Past Years xvii. [xx.] 39 The theatre thrice clapped you then.

c. Dramatic performances as a branch of art, or as an institution; the drama.

1668 Dryden Ess. Dram. Poesy Ess. (ed. Ker) I. 56 By his encouragement, Corneille, and some other Frenchmen, reformed their theatre, which before was much below ours, as it now surpasses it. a 1859 L. Hunt Shewe Faire Seeninge v. Poems (1860) 178 For much the stage he lov'd, and wise theatre. 1880 Scribner's Mag. June 286 Their chief delight is the theatre or opera.

d. Dramatic works collectively.

1640 C. G. in Brome Antipodes To Censuring Criticks, He [Jonson] was often pleas'd, to feed your eare With the choice dainties of his Theatre. 1703 Addison Prol. to Steele's Tender Husb. 9 But now Our British Theatre can boast Drolles of all kinds, a Vast Unthinking Hoast! 1880 Cornh. Mag. Aug. 156 Any two plays in the whole Shakespearian theatre. 1881 Saintsbury Dryden iii. 58 Except in Congreve's two editions and in the bulky edition of Scott, Dryden's theatre is unattainable.

4. A temporary platform, dais, or other raised stage, for any public ceremony.

1587 Fleming Contin. Holinshed III. 1334/1 It was found better for them by the advise of the prince of Orange..to tarie for his highnesse upon a theater which was prepared for him. [1621 Execution at Prague in Harl. Misc. (Malh.) III. 420 The theatrum, or scaffold of timber, which was to be erected, and whereupon the..execution of the prisoners ..was to be performed.] 1680 Lond. Gaz. No. 1475/5 Then his Lordship conducted their Royal Highnesses to the Hall, at the South end whereof, was erected a Theater of 42 Foot in length, and 40 in breadth, covered with Carpets and rising five steps from the ground. 1692 Fullard (ed. 5) Theater,..said in general, of any Scaffold erected for the performance or sight of any publick Ceremony. 1820 A. Taylor Glory of Regality 178 A large platform called the Theatre; in the midst of this are placed the royal thrones. 1838 Order Coron. Q. Vict., The Queen..passes up through the Body of the Church,..and so up the Stairs to the Theatre. 1902 Westm. Gaz. 11 Aug. 4/2 According to the original order of such functions the Kings and Queens have ascended the steps to the 'Theatre'—a square platform which had been erected in the central space under the 'Lantern'.

5. A room or hall fitted with tiers of rising seats facing the platform, lecturer's table, or president's seat, for lectures, scientific demonstrations, etc.

The (Sheldonian) Theatre (at Oxford), the building in which the great assemblies of the University are held, and honorary degrees are given at the annual Commemoration.

1613 Purchas Pilgrimage vi. xi. 521 That is now rather become a Sepulcher of Sciences, then a Theater, there being not above five Students. 1641 Evelyn Diary 28 Aug., I was much pleased with a sight of their Anatomy schole, theater, and repository adjoyning. 1669 Wood Life 9 July (O. H. S.) II. 165 Theater consecrated. The Archbishop's [Sheldon's] letter in English (read in Convocation) wherby he tells the vice-chancellor and Convocation that he had layd by 2000 li. for a purchase to keep the Theater in repayr. 1721 Sheldonian theatre [see Theme Fil. ius 2]. 1766 Entick London IV. 264 The surgeons erected a theatre in the Old-bailey. 1910 Kelly's Directory of Oxford 52 Of the many ceremonials and receptions which have taken place in the theatre, the most imposing..were the visit of the allied sovereigns in 1814, and the installations of the last five chancellors. Ibid. 37/2 The Radcliffe Infirmary and County Hospital...A new operating theatre was erected in 1898.

6. fig. Something represented as a theatre (in sense 1 or 2) in relation to a course of action performed or a spectacle displayed; esp. a place or region where some thing or action is presented to public view (literally or metaphorically).

1582 in Cooper. II. (1584) Kiv, They..are set before all mens eyes, and in the middest of the Theatre of the whole world. 1600 Shaks. A. Y. L. II. vii. 136 This wide and vniuersall Theater Presents more wofull Pageants then the Sceane Wherein we play in. 1639 Fuller Holy War v. x. 246 Asia, the theatre where they were acted, is at a great distance. 1684 T. Burnet Th. Earth i. 173 Earth was the first theater upon which mortals appear'd and acted. 1713 Young Last Day i. 51 Wide theatre! where tempests play at large. 1769 Robertson Chas. V, xi. III. 267 A theatre on which he might display his great qualities. 1798 Washington Lett. Writ. (1893) XIV. 21 The propriety..of my again appearing on a Public theatre, after declaring the sentiments I did in my Valedictory Address. 1855 Bakewell Newton II. xvi. 104 An event..which..placed him in a noble position on the theatre of public life. 1877 Bryant Ruins of Italica ii, A tragic theatre, where Time Acts his great fable.

b. A place where some action proceeds; the scene of action. Cf. Scene, Stage.

1615 G. Sandys Trav. Ded. A vj, The most renowned countries and kingdomes;..the theaters of valour and heroicall actions. 1654 tr. Martini's Cong. China 198 Which Country was the Theater of all his Brutalities. 1720 Ozell Verrot's Rom. Rep. II. xi. 194 The Theatre of a Civil War. 1771 J. Adam in Trans. Lett. (1876) 26 To-morrow we reach the theatre of action. 1830 Lyell Princ. Geol. I. 199 The theatre of violent earthquakes. 1879 Mendell Art of War iii. 75 The theater of operations of an army embraces all the territory it may desire to invade and all that it may be necessary to defend.

† 7. A book giving a 'view' or 'conspectus' of some subject; a text-book, manual, treatise. (Chiefly in titles of such books.) Obs.

† 1566 J. Alday tr. Boaystuau (title) Theatrum Mundi, the Theatre or rule of the world, wherein may be sene the running race and course of euery mans life, as touching miserie and felicity. 1599 R. Allot (title) Wits Theater of the little World. 1611 Speed (title) The Theatre of the Empire of Great Britaine: Presenting an exact Geography of the Kingdomes of England, Scotland, Ireland, and the Iles adioyning. 1640 Parkinson (title) Theatrum Botanicum, The Theater of Plantes, or An Universall and Compleate Herball. 1657 S. Purchas (title) A Theatre of Politicll Flagrancie. 1675 Hornecks (title) A Theatre of Mortality; Or, the Illustrious Inscriptions..upon the several Monuments..within the Grey-friars Church-Yard [etc.] of Edinburgh.

† 8. transf. A thing displayed to view; a sight, scene, spectacle; a gazing-stock.

1606 Sylvester tr. Du Bartas iv. 1. Trophées 343 All cast their eyes on this sad Theater. 1640 Petit. A. Leighton in Chandler Hist. Persec. (1736) 370 He was made a Theatre of Misery to Men and Angels. 1646 Evance Noble Ord. 38 If there be any that are made a Theature unto the world,.. it is such as Paul [cf. 1 Cor. iv. 9].

9. attrib. and Comb., as theatre-bill, coat, hat, -house, -haunter, -light, -pit, -poster, -ticket, -train, -tram, -wrap, etc.; theatre-like adj. and adv.

1577 T. W[ilcocks] Serm. Pauules Crosse 46 Behalde the sumptuous Theatre houses. 1611 Cotgr., Coeste,..vsed by the ancient Gregians in their Theater combats. 1628 Bacon Sylva § 223 Some hills that stand encompassed theatre-like. 1845 Thackeray L. Blanchard Wks. 1900 XIII. 477 The young fellow,..theatre-stricken, poetry-stricken. 1878 Kinkley Misc., Plays & Parit. (1899) II. 137 Theatre-haunters were turning Romanists. 1873 Routledge's Yng. Gentl. Mag. Apr. 282/2 Theatre lights are lime-light jets fitted into square boxes 1897 Globe 18 Feb. 5/3 Very handsome theatre coats and jackets are worn at the play in London. Ibid., The fashionable theatre bodice. 1905 Longm. Mag. Apr. 501 The people you meet in buses and trams and theatre-trains.

b. Special combs.: theatre-floor: see quot.; theatre-goer, one who frequents theatres; so theatre-going sb. and adj.; theatre-land, the district of a town (spec. of London) in which most of the theatres are situated; theatre-party (U.S.), a party in which the guests, besides being entertained at dinner or supper, are taken to a theatre; theatre-seat, a seat of which the bottom is made to fold back when not occupied, so as to leave a wider passage; a tip-up seat used in theatres, also on tram-cars, etc.

1895 Punk's Stand. Dict., Theater-floor, an inclined floor in a public building, as a lecture-hall, affording a better view of the platform from rear seats. 1874 Macm. Mag. Aug. 281 Theatre-goers..who have long winced over the pale and pathetic theme jokes of patchy vaudevilles. 1882 Household Words VI. 63 The Parisians..are evidently a more theatre-going people than the Londoners. 1883 Harper's Mag. June 126/2 Theatre-going and..card-playing are..permitted. 1905 Daily Chron. 28 Dec. 4/1 [St. Martin's parish] Bishop Burnet described as 'the greatest cure in England'. '*Theatreland' we name it now. 1907 H. Wyndham Flare of Footlights xxxvi, The comfortable little house [the Sheridan theatre], situated in the very heart of theatre-land. 1885 A. Forbes Souvenirs of Continents 239 A New York 'theatre party'. 1903 Smart Set IX. 145/x I've given theatre-parties to them, and watched them rustle in and fill box after box.

Hence The·atre v., intr. to go to the theatre; The·atredom, the domain or sphere of things theatrical and persons connected therewith; also, the district in which theatres are situated; The·atreful, as many as a theatre will hold; The·atreless a., without a theatre or theatrical entertainments; The·atrewards adv., towards a theatre; The·atrewise adv., in the manner of a theatre.

1895 Pall Mall Mag. 495 If a woman dances, and drives, and 'theatres,..she keeps herself too chronically tired to think. 1906 Daily Chron. 26 June 4/7 Our round of entertainments, lest we cease till we have lunched, motored, tea'd, dined, theatred, and supped. 1890 Daily News 29 Dec. 3/1 London 'theatredom,...if we may be allowed the expression—is, roughly speaking, about ten miles wide by six miles deep. 1891 Westm. Gaz. 5 May 1/3 Those versed in the inner life of London theatredom. 1902 19th Cent. Aug. 284 Get together a 'theatreful of people to hear it. 1853 Chamb. Jrnl. XX. 409/2 The dreary prospect of a superless, 'theatreless Lent. 1897 Daily News 3 May 8/6 Walking slowly 'theatrewards. 1629 Maxwell tr. Herodian (1635) 164 A goodly spacious Plaine..lying under a row of Hills, 'Theatre wise. 1737 [S. Berington] G. de Lucca's Mem. (1738) 227 Two Rows of young Men and Women, placed Theatre-wise one above another.

Theatric (pɪˈæ·trɪk), a. (sb.) [ad. late L. theātric-us, ad. Gr. θεᾱτρικός, f. θέᾱτρον Theatre: see -ic. So F. † theatrique (15–16th c. in Godef.).]

1. Of, belonging to, or of the nature of the theatre; = Theatrical a. 1.

1706 Steele Prol. Vanbrugh's Mistake 29 By him theatric angels mount more high, And mimic thunders shake a broader sky. 1829 W. Irving Knickerb. vi. ii. (1849) 318 Two buskined theatric heroes. 1832 Examiner 21 Sept. 603/2 Theatric amusements might be made objects of taxation. 1855 Milman Lat. Chr. xiv. iv. (1864) IX. 183 Councils denounced these theatric performances [the Mysteries].

b. Resembling a theatre or amphitheatre in shape or formation.

1764 Goldsm. Tvsw. 108 Its uplands sloping deck the mountain's side, Woods over woods in gay theatric pride. 1781 Mason Eng. Gard. iv. 225 Two broad Piazzas in theatric curve. 1819 W. S. Rose Lett. I. 27 Imagine.. a city with something of a theatric form. 1819 Wordsw. Malham Cove, Oh, had this vast theatric structure wound With finish'd sweep into a perfect round.

2. = Theatrical a. 2.

1816 J. Gilchrist Philos. Etym. 208 A poor, dull, servile, imitative, theatric set of artificial creatures, strutting about the stage of life in pompous insignificance.

3. Suggestive of the theatre; = Theatrical a. 3.

1696 Artif. Handsom. 168 What is there in any civill order ..which doth not put on something Theatrick and pompous? 1760 Walpole in Four C. Eng. Lett. (1880) 267 It was very theatric to look down into the vault, where the coffin was, attended by mourners with lights. 1788 Mme. D'Arblay Diary (1876) IV. iv. 343 So theatric an attitude. 1879 McCarthy Own Times II. xxii. 129 He was picturesque and perhaps even theatric in his dress and his bearing.

B. sb. In pl. = theatricals (Theatrical sb. 2).

1807 W. Irving Salmag. (1824) 9 Our theatrics shall take up but a small part of our paper.

Hence Theatricable a. (nonce-wd.), capable of being made theatric, i. e. dramatized.

1901 Howells in N. Amer. Rev. CLXXII. 798 It is the subordinate affair of the actor to adapt himself to the poet's conception, and find it theatricable.

Theatrical (pɪˈæ·trɪkăl), a. [f. as Theatric + -al: see -ical.]

A. adj. 1. Pertaining to or connected with the theatre or 'stage', or with scenic representations.

1598 Barkes in Burnet Hist. Ref. (1681) II. Collect. Records n. iii. viii. 355 To dispense God's Word..in poor destitute Parishes..more meet for my decayed Voice..than in Theatrical and great Audience. 1603 Holland Plutarch's Mor. 19 The strange fables and 'Theatrical fictions. 1637–50 Row Hist. Kirk (1842) 6 There were also some theatricall playes. 1730 A. Gordon Maffei's Amphith. 335 The Power and Extent of the Theatrical Law. 1905 A. C. Benson Upton Lett. (1906) 72 He drifts up to London and joins a theatrical company.

† b. = Theatric a. 1 b. Obs.

1766 Amory Buncle (1770) IV. 22 In a theatrical space of about two hundred acres, which the hand of nature cut, or hollowed out, on the side of a mountain.

2. That 'plays a part'; † representing or exhibiting in the manner of an actor (obs.); that simulates, or is simulated; artificial, affected, assumed.

1649 J. H. Motion to Parl. Adv. Learn. 37 Man in business is but a Theatrical person, and in a manner but personates himselfe. 1691 Boyle Greatn. Mind 1. 6 Philosophers..can easily distinguish betwixt that real Greatness.. and that Theatrical one, that Fortune may have annexed to his Condition. 1711 Shaftesb. Charac. vi. iii. (1737) III. 368 The good Painter must..take care that his Action be not theatrical, or at second hand; but original and drawn from Nature her-self. 1890 Macaulay Ess., Moore's Byron (1887) 169 How far the character in which he [Byron] exhibited himself was genuine, and how far theatrical, it would probably have puzzled himself to say.

3. Having the style of dramatic performance; extravagantly or irrelevantly histrionic; 'stagy'; calculated for display, showy, spectacular.

1709–10 Steele & Addison Tatler No. 136 ¶ 3 His Theatrical Manner of making Love. 1751 Affect. Narr. of Wager 60 [He] read it to the Captain in a theatrical Tone. 1856 Froude Hist. Eng. II. viii. 277 The signal..was given with a theatrical bravado. 1883 Mrs. Oliphant Sheridan ii. 57 Sheridan's art, from its very beginning, was theatrical, if we may use the word, rather than dramatic.

B. sb. 1. pl. The performance of stage plays; now, dramatic performance by amateurs, usually in a private house (private theatricals). Also fig. doings of a theatrical character; 'acting', pretence.

1697–83 Evelyn Hist. Relig. (1850) II. 291 Turning their ..services and ceremonies into theatricals. 1804 Minstrelsy No. 21 (1806) I. 280 Private theatricals, when many of the first personages in the land choose to make themselves fools for the good of a large company. 1808 Han. More Cœlebs (1809) II. xxxiii. 116 What the news-papers pertly call Private Theatricals. a 1849 H. Coleridge Ess. (1851) II. 172 If Charles had not carried his love of theatricals to church. 1897 Mrs. E. L. Voynich Gadfly (1904) 30/2 It's only the usual theatricals, because he's ashamed to face us.

2. pl. Matters pertaining to the stage and acting; in quot. 1855 concr. = stage properties.

1815 W. H. Ireland Scribblomania 106 note, He.. dedicated his mind to the study of theatricals. 1829 Censor 224 The depressed state of theatricals. 1855 Dickens Lett. (1880) I. 397, I have some theatricals at home.

3. A professional actor.

1859 Sala Gaslight & D. ii. 18 How hard-working..and persevering theatricals..generally are. 1863 Dickens Let. 1 May in Holman-Hunt Pre-Raphaelitism (1905) II. 238 That half-gipsy life of our theatricals. 1888 Harper's Mag. Nov. 945/2 All the theatricals went there.

Theatricalism. [f. prec. + -ism.] The practice of what is theatrical; theatrical style or character; 'staginess'.

1854 Ld. Coleridge in Life I. 220 The dangers of sentimentalism and theatricalism in religion. 1884 J. W. Hales Notes & Ess. Shakes. 73 There is nothing normal or calm, but incessant eccentricity and theatricalism. 1901 Westm. Gaz. 18 Apr. 2/3 The phrase has just enough of the declamatory quality in it to give it that touch of theatricalism which was dear to the heart of the man who spoke it.

So † Thea·tricalist nonce-wd., one who takes part in private theatricals.

1802 in Spirit Pub. Jrnls. VI. 181 Pic-nic Theatricalists.

Theatricality (pʃˌæːtrikæˈlĭti). [See -ITY.]

1. The quality or character of being theatrical; theatricalness. With a and pl. an instance of this.

1837 Carlyle Fr. Rev. II. i. ix, By act and word he strives to do it; with sincerity, if possible; failing that, with theatricality. 1880 R. L. Nettleship Hellenica 112 A tendency to theatricality and effusiveness. 1889 Times 27 Feb. 9/2 The absurd theatricalities with which the.. campaign is now mainly carried on.

b. transf. A theatrical personage.

1840 Carlyle Heroes ii, This Mahomet..we will in no wise consider as an insanity and Theatricality. 1892 Review of Rev. Jan. 657 Two such theatricalities as Lord Beaconsfield and Lord Lytton.

2. A theatrical matter; a dramatic performance.

1866 Carlyle Reminis. (1881) II. 164, I remember once taking her to Drury Lane Theatre. Of the theatricality itself that night, I can remember absolutely nothing, though a little too 'theatricalised', is really very moving. 1909 Daily Chron. 9 Sept. 5/3 As Lamb has said, any attempt to theatricalise the grandeur of Shakespeare's conception must fail.

2. intr. a. To act on the stage. b. To attend or frequent theatrical performances.

1794 Coleridge Lett., to Southey (1895) 86 It is an Ipswich Fair time, and the Norwich company are theatricalizing. 1833 E. FitzGerald Lett. (1889) I. 20 He and I have been theatricalizing lately. We saw an awful Hamlet the other night.

Hence Thea·tricaliza·tion, the process of making theatrical; dramatization; also fig.

1875 Howells Foregone Concl. iii, Ferris was an uncompromising enemy of the theatricalisation of Italy. 1890 Judy 1 Oct. 160/1 Ravenswood, as Herman Merivale calls his dramatization, or theatricalization, of the story of 'The Bride of Lammermoor'.

Theatrically (pʃˌæːtrikĭli), adv. [f. as prec. + -LY 2.]

1. In a theatrical manner or style; in relation to the theatre; dramatically; as a public spectacle.

1647 Trapp Comm. Epistles 637 The Pharisees..did all theatrically, histrionically, hypocritically, 'to be seen of men'. 1669 Br. Hopkins Serm. 1 Pet. (1688) 71 Here royal and sacred blood is theatrically spilt. c 1702 Pope Imit. Earl Dorset, Artemisia iii, Her voice theatrically loud. 1813 Examiner 29 Mar. 205/1 Whether good taste considers such a deformity as theatrically picturesque. 1878 Bosw. Smith Carthage 407 Some forty years after Calus Marius had so theatrically taken his seat amidst its ruins.

† 2. In rising terraces, like an amphitheatre. Obs.

1768 Misc. in Ann. Reg. 174/2 It has a strong appearance of benches; which never rise theatrically in these buildings abroad. 1778 Eng. Gazetteer (ed. 2) s. v. Woburn, On one side of this water..there are high hills, that are planted theatrically with evergreens.

Theatricalness (pʃˌæːtrikĭlnĕs). [f. as prec. + -NESS.] The quality or condition of being theatrical.

1797 Bailey vol. II, Theatricalness, the being according to the Custom or Manner of the Theatre. 1865 Bagehot in Fortn. Rev. Nov. 1. 15 A change of government..is one of those marked events which by its suddenness,..its theatricalness, impresses men more even than it should. 1890 Spectator 8 Feb., The thorough reality and absence of affectation in her character make an admirable foil for the innate theatricalness of that of her fiancé.

Theatricism (pʃˌæːtrisiˈm). [f. Theatric a. + -ism.] A mannerism or mode of action suited to the stage; artificial manner; = Theatricalism.

1872 Daily News 12 Apr. 4/6 The superb theatricisms (if we may employ such a word) of the elder Pitt, and the sonorous solemnities of the younger. 1880 McCarthy Own Times IV. lxi. 357 The monstrous excesses, the preposterous theatricism of the Paris Commune.

So Theatricize v., trans. to make or render theatric or 'stagy'; to make like stage scenery.

1892 Fraser's Mag. XLV. 664 Theatricized Stolzenfels is a glaring example of the monstrosity which may be bred from restoration, with its pasteboard battlements and tawdry gothic ornaments.

Theatrize (pʃˈætrəiz), v. [ad. Gr. θεατρίζ-ειν to make a spectacle of, f. θέατρον in the sense 'show, spectacle'; also intr. as in 2: see -IZE.]

† 1. trans. To make a spectacle or show of. Obs.

1678 J. Brown Life of Faith (1824) I. i. 13 They were exposed to..public shame..when made open spectacles and theatrized. 1679 Ibid. II. xiv. 207 We read of some..who were theatrized, brought to open scaffolds. 1721 Hickes Two Treat. Chr. Priesth. (1847) I. 279 He endeavours to expose and theatrize us.

2. intr. To act theatrically, play a part.

1839 Watchman 28 Sept., The Pope's militia..can splendidly theatrize in Protestant England.

3. trans. To make theatrical or dramatic. rare.

1888 Scribner's Mag. Oct. 439/1 It became necessary to 'theatreize' or idealize history.

Theatro- (pʃˈæːtrō, pʃˌæːtro), combining form of Gr. θέατρον Theatre. Theatro·cracy [Gr. θεατροκρατία], absolute power exercised by the ancient Athenian democracy, as exhibited at their assemblies in the theatre; ochlocracy. The·atrograph [-graph]: see 2nd quot. The·atroma·nia [-mania: cf. Gr. θεατρομανής mad after plays], excessive fondness for theatre-going; so The·atroma·niac, one who is 'mad' on theatre-going. The·atrophil [-phil], a lover of the theatre; a theatre-goer. The·atropho·bia [-phobia], horror of theatres and theatre-going. The·atrophone [-phone]: see quot. 1891. Theatro·polis [Gr. πόλις city], a town or district famous for its theatres. The·atroscope [-scope] = Kinematograph.

1820 T. Mitchell Aristoph. I. p. cxi, They form the best comment on what Pinto somewhere calls the 'theatrocracy' of Athens. 1877 Ruskin Fors Clav. lxxiii. 18 Instead of aristocracy..rose up a certain polluted theatrocracy. 1896 Daily Chron. 23 Mar. 3/4 At Olympia..the large audiences have been greatly pleased with Mr. Paul's 'Theatrograph', comprising realistic scenes from popular plays. 1896 Daily News 2 Dec. 10/5 The theatrograph, now so popular at the music-halls..The effect of the theatrograph is produced by means of an ingenious apparatus, which causes an intermittent light to fall upon the living performers, who thus assume the hazy, tremulous appearance of the animated pictures. 1891 Cent. Dict., †Theatromania. 1903 Times, Lit. Supp. 17 July 256/2 Your theatromania will lead to the production of the very worst type of bad play. Ibid., Lamb was a *theatromaniac..without the dramatic faculty. 1901 Referee 26 May 7 (Cass. Supp.) A point for *theatrophiles. 1893 Denny in Beaum. & Fletcher's Wks. I. Introd. 29, I must acknowledge this sect justified..in its most reasonable *theatro-phobia. 1891 Pall Mall G. 29 May 6/2 The *theatrophone (writes a Paris correspondent) is intended to transmit, by means of a clever adaptation..of the ordinary telephone, such performances as will which goes on upon the stage of the various..theatres. Ibid. 10 Dec. 6/3 The theatrophone has found its way from Paris to London, and a preliminary trial has been made at the Savoy Hotel with complete success. 1897 Outda' Massarenes xviii, A modern woman of the world. As costly as an ironclad and as complicated as a theatrophone. 1899 E. Callow Old Lond. Tav. II. 302 The Gaiety commences what may be termed the *Theatropolis of London. 1904 Extra. Rev. Oct. 298 Paris has not been theatropolis all these years for nothing. 1896 Daily News 31 Mar. 7/6 A *theatroscope, the animated photography of which gives the audience specimens of burlesque, contortionist, and other scenes.

† Theatry. Obs. [app. an erroneous formation for theatre.] = Theatre.

1513 Douglas Æneis iv. viii. 128 Or lyk Orestes, son of Agamemnone On theatreis, in farcis mony one. Ibid. v. vi. 7 A playing place wes markit on the ground, Sic as that cleptit bene a theatry. 1567 Pedyne Trygs. Disc. i. (1598) I. 47 The monument of your vertues being..advanced to the height of the highest theatrey in the worlde. 1571 Satir. Poems Reform. xxvii. 121 The throne of tryall and theatrie [MS. tretis, theatre] trew is fior to reigne.

Theats, trees: see Theat.

Theave, thaive (pʃv, pʃev). local. Forms: a. 6 thayffe, 7 theafe, 8 theaf, thief. β. 7–9 theave, 8–9 thaive, 9 thave. Pl. 5–6 theyves, 6–7 theves, 7 theives, 6– theaves. [Known from 15th c.: etymology unascertained.] The name given in the midland and some southern counties of England to a female sheep of a particular age: most generally applied to a ewe of the first or second year, that has not yet borne a lamb; in some parts to a ewe between the first and second shearing: see quotations.

In Eng. Dial. Dict. cited in use from S.W. Yorkshire to the Thames, and from Hereford to Essex; also in Berks, Wilts, Dorset. In some districts app. identified with teg or hog, in others with the corresponding tithe.

1465 Paston Lett. III. 437 Item,..iiij[xx] hoggys and xl theyves. 1517 in Eng. Hist. Rev. (1897) XII. 234, 60 young ewes or theaves. 1523 Fitzherb. Husb. § 53 The ewes by themselfe, the shire-hogges and theyves by them selfe. 1544 (Dec. 13) Will of T. Borow of S. Stoke (MS.), A thayffe youe. 1596 Unton Invent. (1841) 9 Two hundred tegges and theves. 1607 Topsell Fourf. Beasts (1658) 495 The first year we call it in English a Lamb..the second year, a Hog, Lam-hog, or Teg if it be a female, the third year, Hoggrils and Theives. 1614 Markham Cheap Husb. III. i. (1668) 87 The second year the male is a Weather, and the female a Theafe, and then she may be put to the Ram; but if you let her go over that year also, then she is a double Theafe. 1669 Worlidge Syst. Agric. (1681) 323 A Theave, an Ewe of the first year. [So 1692 Ray S. & E. C. Words, Essex.] 1736 W. Ellis New Keeper. Husb. 52 (E.D.S.) The first year we call the ewe a lamb; the second year a ewe pug or teg; the third year a thaive; and the fourth year a sheep. 1799 A. Young Agric. Lincoln. 324 Theaves; ewe hogs. 1841 Prize Ess. XXI. 356/2 After being shorn, she is a shearing ewe or gimmer, or theave or double-toothed ewe; and after that, a two or three or four shear ewe or theave. 1844 Stephens Bk. Farm II. 39 Gimmers are called theaves until they bear the first lamb. 1869 Morton Cycl. Agric. (E.D.S.), Theaves (West Engl.), ewes that have been shorn once. 1879 Miss Jackson Shropsh. Word-bk. 437 Thave, a ewe sheep of the first year. 1886 C. Scott Sheep-Farming 18 From first to second shearing.. Gimmer, Theave, Shearling ewe. 1904 Eng. Dial. Dict., Theave. Wiltsh. A ewe of the third year. Dorset. A sheep three years old and therefore having six incisors.

Theba·ia. Chem. [f. Gr. Θῆβαι Thebes + -IA 1 (after ammonia): see Thebaic 2.] = Thebaïne.

1857 Miller Elem. Chem. III. 282 *Thebaid, or Paramorphia ($C_{38}H_{39}NO_8$). This alkali crystallizes from its solution in alcohol or in ether, in square plates of silvery lustre, which have a styptic, acrid taste. 1869 N. Syd. Soc. Bienn. Retrospect 443 Thebaia is the first of the opium alkloids in toxic activity.

Thebaic (pʃbĭˌæːik), a.[1] [Lat. Thēbaic-us, ad. Gr. Θηβαϊκός, f. Θῆβαι, Θήβη Thebes.] Of or pertaining to the ancient city of Thebes on the Nile, formerly a centre of Egyptian civilization; spec. noting the Sahidic version of the Bible.

Thebaic marble, stone, the syenite of Thebes and Upper Egypt, famed in ancient times as material for columns, pillars, vases, etc.

1687 A. Lovell tr. Thevenot's Trav. I. 123 The Vault [in old wall towers of Alexandria] is supported by great Pillars of Thebaick Stone. 1773 Gentl. Mag. Aug. 399/1 Thebaic stone, from waste ev'n yet secure, With hieroglyphic learn'd inwrought. 1829 Tattam Egypt. Gram. Pref. 7 The terms Coptic and Sahidic have been adopted in this work, instead of Memphitic and Thebaic. 1839 Civil Eng. & Arch. Jrnl. II. 453/1 It seems to be the Syenite of the ancients, or perhaps..their Thebaic marble. 1884 H. M. Scott in Chicago Advance 31 Jan., Two, perhaps three, translations of the Scriptures, the Memphitic, for the Lower Egyptian Churches, and the Thebaic, for those of Upper Egypt.

Theba·ic, a.[2] Pharm. Chem. [f. as prec., in reference to the fact that Egypt is a chief source of the opium of commerce.] Of or derived from opium; thebaic extract, tincture, laudanum.

1746 H. Pemberton Dispensatory 153 Opium strained, otherwise called the Thebaic Extract. 1783 W. Kirk in Med. Commun. I. 129 An eighth part of thebaic tincture. 1797 Encycl. Brit. (ed. 3) XIV. Pharmacy § 558 Thebaic powder. Ibid. § 604 Thebaic electuary.

So Theba·icine, Chem., a yellow amorphous alkaloid, described by Hesse 1870, formed by boiling thebaïne with concentrated hydrochloric acid; Thebaïne (pʃbĭˈæːpin) [-ine 2], a highly poisonous alkaloid, $C_{19}H_{21}NO_3$, obtained in colourless leaflets or prisms from opium; formerly also called paramorphine and Thebaia; also attrib. Thebaïsm (pʃbəˌiziˈm), Path., the toxic action of the baïne; The·benine, Chem., an amorphous crystalline alkaloid, isomeric with thebaïne, from which it is formed by boiling with hydrochloric acid.

1875 Watts Dict. Chem. VII. 1152 *Thebaïcine. 1894 Muir & Morley Watts' Dict. Chem. IV. 681 Boiling [in] dilute $H_2SO$ converts it [Thebaïne] into thebenine and thebaïcine. 1892 D. & T. Thomson's Rec. Gen. Sc. II. 381 Ammonia is next poured into the purified liquid, by which means, Morphine and *Thebaïne are precipitated. 1868 Watts Dict. Chem. V. 759 Thebaine-salts do not crystallise from aqueous solution. 1891 Roscoe Elem. Chem. 429 It appears that thebaine is the most powerful of the alkaloids. 1875 Watts Dict. Chem. VIII. 1153 *Thebenine.

Thebaïd (pʃbəˌid), a. and sb. [ad. Gr. Θηβαΐς, -ιδ-, L. Thēbais, -id-.] a. adj. Pertaining to Thebes; usually b. sb. the territory belonging to (a) Egyptian, or (b) Bœotian Thebes; the name of certain poems, esp. that of Statius relating to Bœotian Thebes.

[1687 Lovell tr. Thevenot's Trav. I. 175 Captos, a Town of the Thebais (the Ruines whereof are still to be seen beswixt Cossir and Chana.) 1797–9 Chambers Cycl. Thebaid, Thebais, a famous heroic poem of Statius. 1776 Mickle tr. Camoens' Lusiad Introd. 146 The Iliad, the Eneid, and all those poems which may be classed with the Thebaid. 1829 Civil Eng. & Arch. Jrnl. I. 453/2 Thebaid [porphyry] red ground, with yellow spots. 1854 Whittier Hermit of Thebaid 115 Its holiest saint the Thebaid lost, And found a man! 1876 Gladstone Homeric Synchr. 241 Ammon was the god especially of the Thebaid.

Theban (pʃbăn), a. and sb. (Also 7 -ean, 8 -sean.) [ad. L. Thēbān-us, f. Thēbæ, Gr. Θῆβαι, Thebes.]

A. adj. 1. Of or belonging to Thebes, capital of ancient Bœotia in Greece.

c 1374 Chaucer Anel. & Arc. 85 This theban knyght..Was yonge. c 1374 – Troylus v. 601 So cruwel..vn-to pe blood Thebane. 1746 Francis tr. Horace, Art Poetry 533 Thus rose the Theban Wall; Amphion's Lyre, And soothing Voice the listening Stones inspire. 1762 Falconer Shipwreck III. 227 To curb thy spirit with a Theban chain. 1861 Paley Æschylus (ed. 2) VII. Agst. Thebes 240 note, The association of Theban gods..Pallas, Hera, Artemis,..Poseidon, Aphrodite, &c.

2. Of or belonging to Thebes, ancient capital of Upper Egypt; = Thebaic a.[1]

Theban drug, opium or laudanum; Theban marble, porphyry = Thebaic stone; Theban year, the Egyptian year of 365¼ days.

1645 Evelyn Diary 21 Feb., The architrave of the portico [of the Roman Pantheon] sustain'd by 32 pillars of Theban marble. [1753 Chambers Cycl. Supp., Thebanus ophites.. that species of the..serpentine marble is more commonly called ophites niger, the black serpentine.] 1768 C. Shaw Monody xvi, Come, Theban drug, the wretch's only aid, To my torn heart its former peace restore. 1831–3 E. Burton Eccl. Hist. xxviii. (1845) 596 The martyrdom of the Theban legion ..may be said to have taken place about the year 286, when Herculeus was on his march into Gaul. 1839 Civil Eng. & Arch. Jrnl. II. 435/2 Theban Porphyry was black with yellow spots.

B. sb. (also † Thebien). A native or inhabitant of Bœotian Thebes, a Bœotian.

c 1374 Chaucer Anel. & Arc. 60. c 1386 – Kn.'s T. 1712 Thise two Thebans wp on either side. c 1420 Wars Alex. (Prose) 34 þe Thebienes also þat were so wyse, and so grete exercyse hadde in armes. 1605 Shaks. Lear III. iv. 162 He talke a word with this same lerned Theban. 1770 Langhorne Plutarch (1851) I. 320/2 They proclaimed liberty to the Thebans. 1822 T. MITCHELL Aristoph. I. 103 Flute-music .. was stigmatised as Theban-like, and consequently unfit for a gentleman. 1880 SWINBURNE Study Shakes. 183 To the simpler eyes of less learned Thebans than these—Thebes, by the way, was Dryden's irreverent name for Cambridge.

Thebe, dial.: see FEABERRY, gooseberry.

Thebenine: see THEBAIC 2.

†Thebes, sb. pl. Obs. Also 5 Tebes, (Thebies). [? a. OF. Thebes*, f. L. Thēbæ, -ās, the city Thebes.] = Thebans; see THEBAN sb.

13.. K. Alis. 2819 Mawgre the Thebes everichon. Ibid. 5924 Thee Thebes stoden aboute his barne. a 1400–50 Wars Alex. 2333 (MS. A.) Þe Thebies [MS. D. tebes] þam tiȝt þe toun to defende.

Thebesian (pɪbɛ·sɪăn), a. Anat. [f. Thebesius, name of a German anatomist (1686–1732) + -AN.] Applied to structures in the heart discovered or investigated by Thebesius:

Thebesian foramina, small openings into the right auricle, believed to be the orifices of the Thebesian veins; Thebesian valve, the coronary valve; Thebesian veins, small veins bringing blood from the substance of the heart into the right auricle.

1871 HUXLEY Anat. Vertebr. Anim. 407 In the heart [of the porpoise] the fossa ovalis is distinct, but there is neither Eustachian nor Thebesian valve.

Thebolactic (pɪbɒlæ·ktĭk), a. Chem. [f. THEB-AIC a. 2 + LACTIC.] In thebolactic acid: see quots. Hence Thebola·ctate, a salt of this acid.

1867 N. Syd. Soc. Bienn. Retrospect 177 Messrs. T. and H. Smith give directions for the preparation of thebolactic acid, a new body discovered by them in opium...The process depends on the ready solubility of the thebolactate of lime. 1874 GARROD & BAXTER Mat. Med. (1880) 191 Thebolactic acid ($C_7H_6O_3$), isomeric, or perhaps identical with lactic acid. Turkey opium contains 2 per cent. of it.

‖ Theca (pĭ·kă). Pl. thecæ (pĭ·sī). [L., ad. Gr. θήκη case, cover.]

1. A receptacle, a cell; spec. (Eccl.) = BURSE 1 b.

1664 J. BACKWAY Pope Alex. VII (1867) 121 Some of these underground streets were for their burials,..the corps were ..immuraild in thecas, or, as it were, in hollow shelves dug into the wall. 1682 LISTER tr. Gardart's Insects 95 In this Nest they [Bees] make a Theca, or small Cell....Every Bee lays 9. little Worms in this Theca, or Cell.

2. Bot. A part of a plant serving as a receptacle; a sac, cell, or capsule; spec. (a) an anther cell, containing pollen; (b) a vessel containing spores in various cryptogamous plants, as the capsule of a moss, the sporangium of a fern, or the fructification in certain lichens.

1676 GREW Anat. Flowers II. iii. § 9 These Parts [anthers] are all hollow; each being the Theca or Case of a great many extream small Particles. 1829 LOUDON Encycl. Pl. (1836) 874 Muscl...Thecæ many-seeded, solitary, furnished with an operculum and columella. Ibid. Gloss., Theca, the cases that contain the sporules of Cryptogamic plants. 1830 LINDLEY Nat. Syst. Bot. 7 Perichætium, which are enclosed in particular cases called thecæ. 1880 GRAY Struct. Bot. vi. § 6 (ed. 6) 251 The best technical name for anther-sac is that of Theca. 1897 WILLIS Flower, Pl. & F. I. 77 The anther has typically two main lobes or thecæ.

3. Zool. and Anat. A case or sheath enclosing some organ or part: as (a) the horny case of an insect pupa; (b) the loose sheath investing the spinal cord; (c) one of the fibrous sheaths in which the digital tendons glide; (d) the sheath of the prolonged diaphragm in insects; (e) a cup-like or tubular structure in corals, containing a polyp.

1665–6 Phil. Trans. I. 89 It becomes a Papilio or Butterfly, in the Theca or Case. 1670 Ibid. V. 2099 Some of these Maggots I took out of their Thecæ or bags. 1807 Med. Jrnl. XVII. 308 The theca or sheath which encloses the femoral artery, nerve and vein. 1826 KIRBY & SP. Entomol. III. xxxiv. 467 In all [mouths of Dipterous insects], the theca or sheath is present. 1840 R. WILSON Anat. Pade-M. (1851) 239 In the thecæ of the fingers several small tendinous fasciculi are generally found. 1875 HUXLEY in Encycl. Brit. I. 130/2 In the simple aporose corals the calcification of the base and side walls of the body gives rise to the cup or theca. 1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VII. 536 The water-cushion which surrounds the cord within the spinal theca.

Hence The·cal a., of, pertaining to, or of the nature of a theca; The·cate a., having a theca, sheathed.

1847 DRUITT Surg. Vade M. (ed. 4) 544 The tendinous whitlow, or thecal abscess. 1867 J. R. GREENE Man. Anim. Kingd., Cœlent. 160 A thecal corallum, or Actinaean, at length comes to be formed. 1876 TOMES Dental Anat. 107 The tissue whence the dentine papillæ arise blends insensibly with that making up the substance of the thecal fold. 1897 HUXLEY Anat. Inv. Anim. III. 259 The thecal canals of the Millepores. 1891 Cent. Dict., Thecate.

Thecaphore, etc., erron. forms: see THECO-.

Thecche, thecche, obs. forms of THATCH.

Theci- (pĭsi), combining form of L. THECA, esp. in botanical words. Theci·ferous [-FEROUS], †Theci·gerous [-GEROUS] a., bearing thecæ or asci. The·ciform a., having the form of a theca.

1860 MAYNE Expos. Lex., Thecigerous. 1877 HUXLEY Anat. Inv. Anim. III. 152 The theciform projections of the Graptolite stem. 1891 Cent. Dict., Thecifer(ous.

‖ Thecitis (pɪsi·tĭs). Path. [f. THECA + -ITIS.] Inflammation of a tendon and its sheath; = TENO-synovitis. 1857 in DUNGLISON Med. Lex.

‖ Thecium (pĭ·sĭŭm). Bot. [mod.L., a. Gr. θήκιον, dim. of θήκη THECA.] The HYMENIUM of a lichen.

1882 J. M. CROMBIE in Encycl. Brit. XIV. 554/1 The two principal parts of which an apothecium consists are the hypothecium and the thecium. Ibid. 554/2 The thecium, or as it is more frequently termed the hymenium, is that part of the apothecium which contains the organs of the fruit.

Theck, Sc. variant of THEEK, to thatch.

Theclan (pe·klăn), a. Entom. [f. mod.L. Thecla, generic name + -AN.] Belonging to the genus Thecla of butterflies, comprising the Hair-streaks.

1884 Stand. Nat. Hist. (1888) II. 478 Among the grandest of the group are T.[Thecla] coronata, T. imperialis, and T. regalis, which are Brazilian species, and, as their names imply, are the regnal beauties of the Theclan court.

Theco- (pĭkō), erroneously theca-, combining form of Gr. θήκη case, receptacle (see THECA), used in Botany and Zoology. Thecoda·ctyl (e [Gr. δάκτυλος digit], a. having thick toes whose transverse scales furnish a sheath for the claw, as in some lizards; sb. a gecko of this type (Ogilvie 1882); so Thecoda·ctylous a. Thecoglo·ssate a. [Gr. γλῶσσα tongue], having a smooth tongue furnished with a sheath, as the Thecoglossæ, a group of lizards. The·cophore [-PHORE], (a) a surface or receptacle bearing a theca or thecæ (Webster 1864); (b) the stalk which in some flowers supports the ovary; = GYNOPHORE 1. Thecoso·mate, Thecoso·matous adjs. [Gr. σῶμα body], belonging to the Thecosomata, a group of pteropods having the body sheathed in a mantle-skirt; so The·cosome, a thecosomatous pteropod. The·cospore, a spore produced in a theca, an ascospore; hence Theco·sporal a., pertaining to a thecospore; The·cospored, Theco·sporous adjs., having thecospores. The·costome [Gr. στόμα mouth], the orifice of the hydrotheca in calyptoblastic hydroids. Theco·stomous a., having the sucking parts of the mouth enclosed in a sheath.

1891 Cent. Dict., *Thecodactylous .. *Thecoglossate. 1832 LINDLEY Introd. Bot. I. ii. § 10. 139 Sometimes the ovarium..is seated upon a long stalk. .. This stalk is often called the *thecaphore or gynophore. 1878 BELL Gegenbaur's Comp. Anat. 321 The velum is largest in the Gastropoda and the *thecosomatous Pteropoda. 1888 PERSHEIMER in Challenger Rep. XXIII. 2 The Habits of the Thecosomatous Pteropods. 1890 Athenæum 12 July 66/2 The *thecosomes being tornatellids modified for a swimming life. 1891 Cent. Dict., *Thecasporal. 1898 CARPENTER Veg. Phys. § 495 The Lichens produce conceptacles.. called apothecia,..which develope in their interior little bodies, called *thecaspores. 1882 J. M. CROMBIE in Encycl. Brit. XIV. 555/2 In various *thecasported fungi. 1879 WEBSTER Synph., *Thecasporous. 1883 Challenger Rep. VIII. x. 7 On either side of the hydrotheca, nearly on a level with its orifice or *thecostome. 1891 Cent. Dict., *Thecostomous.

Thecodont (pĭ·kōdɒnt), a. and sb. Zool. [f. THECO- + Gr. ὀδούς, ὀδοντ- tooth.] a. adj. Of or belonging to the Thecodontes, an extinct family of saurians having the teeth fixed in sockets in the jaw-bone. b. sb. A saurian having this character.

1840 OWEN Odontogr. II. iv. § 110. 266 (heading) Thecodonts. Ibid., A third mode of fixation is presented by some extinct Saurians,..the teeth being implanted in sockets..; these may be termed the 'thecodont' Lacertians: the most ancient of all Saurians belong to this group. 1876 PAGE Adv. Text-bk. Geol. xv. 282 The thecodont saurians seem peculiar to the Permian. 1897 LE CONTE Elem. Geol. iii. (1879) 404 In the coal, are also found now some Thecodont (socket-toothed) reptiles, allied to Crocodilians.

So The·codontosaurian, adj. belonging to or characteristic of the thecodont saurians; sb. a member of this genus.

[1840 OWEN Odontogr. II. iv. § 112. 267 In the same formation as contained the jaw and teeth of the Thecodontosaurus.] 1869 HUXLEY in Q. Jrnl. Geol. Soc. XXVI. 44 The Thecodontosaurian ilium. Ibid., I shall speak of the bones as those of Thecodontosaurians.

‖ Thecomedusæ (pĭkōmĭ·dĭsē, -zē). [f. THECO- + MEDUSA.] 1878 BELL Gegenbaur's Comp. Anat. 98 The Thecomedusæ are polypoid Cœlenterata provided with a test, and allied to the Hydriformes.

Theddre, obs. form of THITHER.

†Thede. Obs. Forms: 1 þiod, 1–3 þeod, 2 þiode, 2–4 þeode, þede, 4–5 thede, (4 þedd, 5 Sc. thed). [OE. þiod, þeod = OS. thioda, thiod, OFris. thiade, OHG. diota, MHG. diet, ON. þióð, Goth. þiuda:—OTeut. þeudō*, by Verner's Law:—Indo-Eur. teutā-* fem.; cf. Lith. tautà, OIr. túath, Osc. touta, Sabine touta people.]

1. A people, race, nation.

855 O. E. Chron. an. 855 Her Edwine kyning wæs ȝefulwad mid his þeode on Eastron. a 1000 Hymns viii. 9 (Gr.) Wę þe..þanciåð, þioda waldend. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Luke xxii. 20 Þeod arist ȝegen þeode. a 1175 Cott. Hom. 237 Þurh false goden þe mic þioð þam selfe macede. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 115 Wa þere þeode þer þe king bið childi. c 1200 ORMIN 3438 Tatt þeod wass hæþene þeod. Ibid. 16057 To spekenn wel Wiþ alle þede spæchess. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 2302 Quene he comen in vnkinde ȝeden. a 1300 Cursor M. 4177 (Cott.) Marchandise an vncuth thede. c 1400 Melayne 1008 The chefe of hethyn thede.

b. pl. (biblical.) The nations, the Gentiles.

c 975 Rushw. Gosp. Matt. x. 18 To kyningum & ȝeroefum ȝe bioþ ȝelædde...in cyþnisse þieora & þeodum. c 1200 ÆLFRIC Hom. I. 96 Se þeoda larcew Paulus. a 1175 Cott. Hom. 241 Ur haford sanctes paulus þe is þeoden larcew.

2. The district occupied by a people; a country.

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xxxv. § 7 An hearpere wæs on ðære þiode ðæt Þracia hatte. a 1300 Cursor M. 5792 (Cott.). I sal þam bring..In-till a land, a wonsun thede. 13.. K. Alis. (Bodl. MS.) 7947 Þou shalt haue Perce, & Mede, And Babiloyne, þis riche þede. a 1400–50 Alexander 1803 In thorps & in many thede þar ȝe þurȝe ride. c 1470 Golagros & Gaw. 174 All the wyis and weith he weildis in theid.

3. Comb., as thede-folk (OE. þeod-folc*), people of a country, natives. (The OE. combinations and derivatives were very numerous.)

c 725 Charter of Nunna in Birch Cart. Sax. I. 211 On ðeodræs norð ofer þone weȝ. a 1000 Boeth. Metr. xxix. 92 þæt hi þiowien swilcum þiodfruman. c 1205 LAY. 26494 þusende of þan þeod-folke.

Thede, obs. form of THEAD.

Thedam, thedom, varr. THEEDOM Obs.

Theder, -ere, -ir(re, -ur, -yr, obs. ff. THITHER.

†Thee, sb. Obs. rare[-1]. [f. THEE *v.*1] Evil thee: Evil speed; bad luck. (Cf. THEEDUM b.)

1509 BARCLAY Ship of Folys (1570) 25 Downe he commeth with an euill thee.

Thee (ðē, ðĭ, ðĭ), pers. pron. Forms: 1 (acc.) þec (Northumb. ðeh, ðech); 1–6 (dat. and acc.) þe, 3 (te), þeo, 3–4 þi, 4–5 þee, 4–7 the, 4–thee (7 dial. they). For mod. dialect forms see Eng. Dial. Dict. [(1) Acc. OE. ðec, ðeh, later ðē, þē = OFris. thi, OS. thic, thi (MDu. dī, M.LG. (dik, dek) dī, LG. dī), OHG. dih (MHG., Ger. dich), ON. þik (Norw. deg, de, MSw. þik, tik, tig, thig, MDa. thek, theg, deg, Sw., Da. dig), Goth. þuk:—OTeut. þekē*, pre-Teut. tege*: cf. L. tē, Gr. σέ, Doric τέ. (2) Dat. (later also acc.) OE. ðē, þē = OFris. thi (NFris. dī, WFris. dy), OS. thī (MDu., MLG., LG. dī); (dative only) OHG. (MHG., Ger.) dir, ON. þér (Norw. deg (der), MSw. þer, þir, Sw., Da. dig), Goth. þus:—OTeut. þea*, pre-Teut. tes*. The original OE. acc. ðec still remained in Mercian in the 9th c. and in North Anglian (þec, þeh, þech) late in the 10th; in WSax. it ran together early with the dative ðe, þe, and thenceforth (as in LG. and Scand.) the two cases have had the same form, so that the direct and indirect object are only distinguishable by position or by context. On the original endings of the acc. and dat., cf. ME. The e was orig. short, but was lengthened under stress.]

1. The objective case of the pronoun THOU, representing the OE. accusative and dative.

As to restriction of use see note to THOU pers. pron. 1.

a. Accusative, as direct object of a verb.

c 825 Lorica Prayer in O. E. Texts 174 Þoinne ȝeheredh þe þec ðorh þiora þing ȝrege. c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xxvii. § 2 Ic ascīȝe ðe..hwi þu swa manȝfeald ȝyfel hæfde? c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Mark v. 31 Þu ȝesliist þæt þreat þ ringende þec. c 1160 Hatton Gosp. Ibid., Þas menn eu..þringen þe. c 1200 Ormin 6972 To beldenn & to frofrenn þe ȝiff he þeseþ forȝloppnedd. a 1225 Ancr. R. 98 Hwu hauedh ihurt te, mi deore? c 1375 Cursor M. 5064 (Fairf.), I saghe þe [Cott. yow] neuer be-for þis day. 1382 WYCLIF Matt. v. 41 Whoeuere constrynyeth thee a thousand pacis, go thou with hym other twyne. c 1440 Jacob's Well 238 Ȝe schal punysche þe, & sle þe in soule. 1535 COVERDALE 1 Sam. viii. 7 They haue not refused the, but me. 1548–9 (Mar.) Bk. Comm. Prayer, Communion, We praise thee, we blesse thee, we worship thee, we glorifie thee. a 1660 Contemph. Hist. Irel. (Ir. Archæol. Soc.) II. 157 They [=they] credulitie bringe they [=thee] within distance of his teache. 1784 COWPER Task v. 460 Thee I account still happy. 1842 TENNYSON Locksley Hall 30 Dost thou love me, cousin?..I have loved thee long.

b. Dative, as indirect object = to thee; also in dependence on certain impersonal verbs.

c 825 Vesp. Psalter cxix. 3 Hwet biþ sald ðe oððe hwet biþ toseted ðe? c 1000 Ags. Gosp. John viii. 53 Hwæt þinceð þe þæt þu sy? c 1200 ORMIN 210 Hiderr amm ic sennd to þe þiss blisse þe to kiþenn. a 1225 Ancr. R 12 Ich chulle schawe þe soðlice hwat is God. a 1300 Cursor M. 4424 Ful luel es yolden þe [Gött. ye] bi mede. Ibid. 20185, I sal it te [v.r. þe]. 1423 JAS. I Kingis Q. cxxix, Gif the ne list on lufe thy vertew set. c 1430 Two Cookery-bks. 6 As þe semyth best. 1584 R. W. Three Ladies Lond. in Hazl. Dodsley VI. 323 What avantageth it thee to win the world, and lose thy soul withal? 1610 SHAKS. Temp. I. ii. 248 I haue..Told thee no lyes, made thee no mistakings. 1743 FRANCIS tr. Hor., Odes I. xxxviii. 1, I tell thee, boy, that I detest The grandeur of a Persian feast. 1808 SCOTT Marmion iv. xiv, And, Douglas, more I tell thee here..I tell thee, thou 'rt defied! 1864 (dial.) TENNYSON N. Farmer, O. Style 68 Git ma my alle I tell tha.

c. As object of a preposition.

In OE. accus. or dative.

c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Luke i. 35 Gaast halix ofer-cymeð on ðeh [Rushw. ðec]. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. John iii. 26 Se ðe mid þe [Lind. ðec] wæs. a 1200 Vices & Virtues 35 Þif godd wuneð on ðe. c 1275 Passion our Lord 138 in O. E. Misc. 41 Þeyh alle of-schomed beo Ne schal neuer schonye louerd for þeo. 13.. Cursor M. 27483 If þou man gas þin offrand to mak, And þi broþer haf gain þi [v.r. þe] sak. 1470–85 MALORY Arthur x. xxiii. 70 Ther maye no knyght ryde this way but yf he luste wyth the. 1535 COVERDALE Jer. ix. 2 His glory shal he sene in the. 1592 SHAKS. Rom. & Jul. iv. v. 57 By cruel, cruell thee, quite ouerthrowne. 1656 in Trnl. Friends' Hist. Soc. (1911) VIII. 20 To..lay before yᵉ Henry Cromwell: who art Commander in Cheife ..the ground of my Sufferings. 1667 MILTON P. L. iv. 35 To thee I call, But with no friendly voice, and add thy name. 1733 POPE Ess. Man III. 31 Is it for thee the lark ascends and sings? 1820 SHELLEY To Skylark 1 Hail to thee, blithe Spirit! Bird thou never wert.

2. Reflexive: = thyself. a. Accus., as direct object.

c950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. iv. 6 gif sunu godes ar*ð* *ð*u sendi *þ*ek [Rushw. þec] ufa hidone. c1000 Ags. Gosp. Iudas, Asend þe þonne nyðer. a 1225 Ancr. R. 104 Holt te i þine chaumbre. a 1300 Cursor M. 529 If þow wil þe vm-think. 13.. Ibid. 26575 Sun þou mate noght wasch þi [v. r. þee] wite. a 1518 SKELTON Magnyf. 903 Go shake the dodge. 1560 BIBLE (Genev.) Matt. xvi. 23 Get thee behinde me, Satan. 1594 SHAKS. Rich. III, i. iii. 143 High thee to Hell..Thou Cacodemon. 1678 OTWAY Friendship in F. 26 Get thee gone for an Arch-wagg. 1887 S. Cheshire Gloss. 69 Get thee dressed whiel I wesh me.

b. Dative, as indirect object; or as object of a preposition.

a 1000 Caedmon's Gen. 518 (Gr.) Nim þe þis ofæt on hand. a 1100 Leg. Rood 15 þu þetuge to þe ealle þa sawla. c 1300 Harrow. Hell (MS. L.) 103 Heouene ant erþe tac to þe. c 1470 HENRY Wallace 1. 305 Thow sall haiff gift to fysche, thee dressed whiel I wesh me.

b. Dative, as indirect object; or as object of a preposition.

a 1000 Caedmon's Gen. 518 (Gr.) Nim þe þis ofæt on hand. a 1100 Leg. Rood 15 þu þetuge to þe ealle þa sawla. c 1300 Harrow. Hell (MS. L.) 103 Heouene ant erþe tac to þe. c 1470 HENRY Wallace 1. 305 Thow sall haiff gift to fysche, thee dressed whiel I wesh me. 1599 SHAKS Much Ado iii. i. 20 Thou wilt neuer get thee a husband, if thou be so shrewd of thy tongue. 1612 BIBLE 1 Kings xx. 25 Number thee an armie like the armie that thou hast lost.

c. After some intr. verbs of motion and posture; esp. sit; see SIT v. 3o.

1593 SHAKS. 3 Hen. VI, iii. iii. 16 Be thou still like thy selfe And sit thee by our side. 1599 — Much Ado iii. i. 1 Good Margaret runne thee to the parlour, There shalt thou finde my Cosin [etc.]. 1606 — Ant. & Cl. iv. vii. 16 Come thee on. 1867 E. WAUGH Tyd 225 Sit thi deawn. 1892 WRIGHT Grain. Windhill 120 Kum forrad iad an sit ðe dan.

3. Used as nominative, instead of thou.

Often so used dialectally, and, in recent times, usually by Quakers, esp. with vb. in 3rd pers. sing.; but thē or thā unemphatic often represents both thou and thee.

c 1325 Sc. Leg. Saints xv. (Thomas) 62 Pe wenys þat my god wrath will be with me. c 1470 HENRY Wallace ii. 93 Go hens, the Scot, the mekill dewill the speid. a 1590 Marr. Wit & Wird. (1846) 12 Didest thie nere se man before? 1596 SHAKS. 1 Hen. IV, i. ii. 197 How agrees the Diuell and thee about thy Soule? 1605 — Lear i. iv. 204 And yet I would not be thee, Nunckle. 1684 BUNYAN Pilgr. ii. 83 What canst thee earn a day, quoth he? 1687 W. HITCHCOCK in Jrnl. Friends' Hist. Soc. IV. v. 1 If thee cannot sell 250 acres of it & y^e house. 1852 MRS. STOWE Uncle Tom's C. xiii, 'What does thee want, father?' said Rachel. Ibid. xvii, Friend, thee isn't wanted here'. 1861 E. WAUGH Birtle Cav. 7 Is An' mind te tells us like anewer th' lad I'th tale.

4. As sb. The person or 'self' of the individual addressed. Cf. THOU pron. 2 a.

c 1600 SHAKS. Sonn. vii. That's for thy selfe to breed an other thee. 1831 CARLYLE Sart. Res. i. ix, A warm movable House, a Body round the Body, wherein that strange Thee of thine sat snug. 1859 E. FITZGERALD Rubáiyát xxxiv, Then of the Thee in Me who works behind The Veil, I lifted up my hands to find A Lamp amid the Darkness.

b. The word itself as used in addressing a person; esp. in phr. thee and thou. Also attrib. in thee and thou Quaker.

1694 [see THOU 2 b]. 1774 J. ADAMS Diary 7 Sept., This plain Friend and his plough pretty wife, with her Thees and Thous, had provided us the most costly entertainment. 1847 LONGF. Evang. ii. v. 13 Her ear was pleased with the Thee and Thou of the Quakers. 1894 HALL CAINE Manxman 405 When he spoke it was always with the thees and thous and in the high pitch of the preacher. 1896 Peterson Mag. VI. 265/2 Whose head-master was Benjamin Hallowell, a 'thee' and 'thou' Quaker of the strictest sect.

†Thee (þī), v.[1] Obs. Forms: 1 þion, 1–3 þeon, 3–4 þen, þe, 4–5 then, 4–6 the, 5 thene, theen, 5–6 þee, (6 they), 4– thee. Pa. t. 1 þah, þaz, þæh, 1–2 þeah, 1–3 þeh, 2–3 þeaþ, 3 þeyn, (5 thee); pl. 1 þungon; þiȝon; þuȝon. Pa. pple. 2–3 þungen; þiȝen; þoȝen, þowen, þowuen, 4 thowen. [OE. þion, þēon, contr. from þihan* (:–þohan*, þōhan*) = OS. thīhan, thēh—thīgun, githigan (Du. gedigen), OHG. (gi)dīhan, dēh—digun, digan (MHG. (ge)dīhen, G. gedeihen), Goth. *þeihan—þaih—þaihun—þaihans*to thrive:—OTeut. þiχ-, earlier þeχ- (þaχ-, þuηg-) of the 3rd ablaut series :—Indo-Eur. root tenk. With the elimination of the nasal before χ the verb came in prim. Germ. to be assimilated to the 1st ablaut series (ī—ai—i—i); but traces of the primitive conjugation survive in the OS. pa. pple. githungan, and the OE. forms þungon, -en. The OE. contracted form þēon began to follow the inflexional type of þēon :—teuhan* (THE v.[1]), whence þeah, þuȝon, þoȝen.]

1. intr. To grow; to thrive, prosper (arch. in 16th c. use).

Beowulf 8 He..weox under wolcnum, weorð-myndum þah. c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xiv, Þeah hwa þrexe..and þeo on eallum welum. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Hom. II. 104 His wæstmas genihtsumlice þuȝon. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Luke ii. 52 Se hælend þeah on wisdome and on ylde. a 1050 Liber Scintill. lxxxi, 221 Sunne soplice on seȝeþan þeah. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 161 Ant hit wacxs and wel þeaþ. Ibid. 177 Here tuder swiðe wexeð and wel þieð. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 2012 Vnder ioseph his weiðe þeȝ. c 1275 LAY. 24272 þe borh saþhe þe þeh. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 240 Þe child wax & wel þeȝ [v.r. þes, yþeȝ]. Ibid. 7086 Þis chyld wax so wel & þeu. c 1300 Beket 149 He fond his sone..Þeoinge [pr. Theoinge] fair and manliche. a 1310 in Wright Lyric P. 23 Zef he beth thryven ant thowen in theode. 13.. Pal. Rel. & L. Poems 238 Ho þat me loult ssal þe no more. c 1400 Gamelyn 234 Come þou ones in my hond þou shalt neuer the. 1426 AUDELAY Poems 4 Thai schal have grace to thryve and thene. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 490/1 Theen, or thryven, vigeo. 1599 BARCLAY Ship of Folys (1874) II. 94 [He] is seldome sen to thye. a 1518 SKELTON Magnyf. 862 Abusyon Forsothe I hyght;..That vseth me,—He can not thee. 1573 TUSSER Husb. (1878) 29 Giue ouer to sudgerne, that thinkest to thee.

b. In imprecations and asseverations.

a 1300 Cursor M. 5150 'Sais þou soth?' 'yan, sa mot i the'. 13.. Sir Beues 2753 A swor, alse he moste þen, He nolde him neiþer hire ne sen. ?a 1366 CHAUCER Rom. Rose 1067 Wel yvel mote they thryve and thee, And yvel achyved mote they be. 1377 LANGL. P. Pl. B. v. 228 Ac I swere now, so the hit, þat synne wil I lete. c 1386 CHAUCER Can. Yeom. Prol. & T. 376 By cause our fime was nat maad of Beech, That is the cause, and oother noon, so theeh. c 1445 Seven Sages (1794) II. 132 He that spares, ne'er mote he thee. a 1800 in Ecclesb. Mag. (June 1829) 527/1 But wearie fa' the fairy wicht..May he never thee.

2. trans. To cause to prosper; to prosper. Obs.

c 1250 Prayer in Rel. Ant. I. 22 Þe lavird þieh þe in heivrile place.

Hence †Thowen, þoȝen, þowun ppl. a., thriven; grown up, adult.

c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 39 Mid-niht ðe hilimpeð to frumberdligges, hanecrau þe hilimpeð þowuene men. Ibid. 41 Ðese herdes..wakieð biforen euen, þanne þe childre wuel þowuen..he þo fal þoȝene turneð to godes lihoȝhe. Ibid. 207 Alse wat se he was þoȝen on winter and on summe.

Thee (ðē), v.[2] [f. THEE pron.] To use the pronoun 'thee' to a person: see THOU v. Also to thee and thou (cf. F. tutoyer). a. trans. b. intr. (or absol.). Hence Thee'ing vbl. sb.

a. 1662 TATHAM Aqua Tri. 6 Though I Thee Thee, and Thou Thee, I am no Quaker. a 1690 G. FOX Jrnl. (1827) I. 103, I was required to Thee and Thou all men and women, without any respect to rich or poor, great or small. a 1739 JARVIS Quix. i. iv. ii, With the utmost arrogance he would thee and thou his equals and acquaintance. 1836 T. HOOK G. Gurney v, There I saw..two quaker children playing about the place, thee'ing and thou'ing each other, with perfect French familiarity. 1884 A. DOHERTY N. Barlow 28 Familiarly he 'thee'd' and 'thou'd' the men, And cheekily they 'thee'd' and 'thou'd' again.

b. 1679 [see THOU v. b]. 1696 C. LESLIE Snake in Grass p. xv, This was the Bottom upon which the Quakers first set up, to run down all worldly Honour..; to Thee and Thou; to call no Man Master, or Lord, and not to take off their Hats, or Bow to any. 1766 J. RUTTY Spir. Diary (ed. 2) 148 At meeting..was seen my insincerity in Theeing, inconsistent with my writing. 1894 DU MAURIER Trilby I. (1900) 19/2 There were ladies too en cheveux..some of whom thee'd and thou'd with familiar and friendly affection.

Thee, obs. and dial. form of THIGH.

†Thee'dom, thedom. Obs. Also 4 þeodam, 5 thedam, -dume, þeodom. [f. stem of THEE v.[1] + -DOM.] Thriving; prosperity.

1362 LANGL. P. Pl. A. x. 105 Þruft or þeodam with hem selden is I-seye. 1393 Ibid. C. VIII. 53 And þede a-bowte in my zouthe and ȝif me to no þedom. c 1430 How the Good Wife, etc. 209 (Babees Bk. 47) Now þrift and þeedom mote boo haue. 1514 World & Child in Hazl. Dodsley I. 261 My thedom is near past.

b. Evil theedom, ill success, bad luck: used as a maledictory phrase.

c 1386 CHAUCER Shipman's T. 405 What! yuel thedam [v. r. thedom] on his Monkes swowke. c 1450 Cov. Myst. (Shaks. Soc.) 139 Evyl Thedom com to thi snowte!

Theef(e, obs. forms of THIEF.

Theek, thiek (þīk), v. Sc. and north. dial. Forms: 4–7 theke, 5 thicke, 6 Sc. thik, thyk, 6–9 Sc. theik, thick, 7–9 theak(e, thake, 8–9 Sc. theek, theek. [A collateral form of THATCH v. in use before 1400, of somewhat uncertain history. Perhaps from OE. þeccan, the forms of the imperative þece and the 2nd and 3rd pers. sing. present þecest, þeceð being extended to the verb as a whole: cf. streek, Sc. and north. form of STRETCH, OE. streccan.]

†1. trans. To roof (a building) with stone, slate, tiles, shingles, lead, or the like. Obs.

1389 Charters &c. of Edinb. (1871) 35 (St. Giles) The forsayde v chapellys sal be thekyt abovyn with stane. c 1400 MAUNDEV. (Roxb.) x. 38 A full faire kirk..thekid wele with lead. 1535 STEWART Cron. Scot. (Rolls) II. 568 Rycit clene thickit was than all this tour, Weill gilt with gold. Ibid. III. 190 Sanct Androis kirk..That thekit wes with coper in tha dais. 1559 Burgh Rec. Edinb. (1875) III. 57 To thik the south syde of the towlbuth with new sklait. 1572 Satir. Poems Reform. xxxiii. 192, I se your tempills cassin downe and reuin: The maist part are bot theikit with the heuin. 1628 Extracts Burgh Rec. Glasgow (1876) I. 365 [To] thik the samyn [truff] with leid. 1710 SIBBALD Hist. Fife ii. v. § 2. 78 They (as the Proverb has it) tirr'd the Kirk, to theek the Quire. 1777 J. ROBERTSON in McKay Kilmarnock (1880) 177 Water is gude for many a purpose, although ye're a' aware we canna theek Kirks wi't.

2. trans. To cover the roof of (a house) with thatch of straw or the like; also, to protect the top of (a corn or hay rick) with straw laid so as to carry off the rain.

1399 Mem. Ripon (Surtees) III. 130 In v^ss travis de stramine ordii emp. 5s.. in salario j hominis tegentis,..thekand praedictam domum per v dies. c 1440 Pallad. on Husb. i. 471 Thy berne also, to thicke hit, thou ne lette. c 1450 Life St. Cuthbert (Surtees) 7649 And thekyd it with hay and thak. 1513 DOUGLAS Æneis VIII. xi. 30 Quhais rufis laitly full rouch thykyt war Wyth stra or gloy by Romulus the wyche. 1637–50 ROW Hist. Kirk (Wodrow Soc.) 417 The thirlick of the kirk was in so evill a condition, being theiked with heather. 1672 T. WHITTINGHAM Diary 30 Aug. in Best Farm. Bks. (Surtees) 138 note, Wheatley of Saiston ye theaker is to theake Leonords' Barn. 1721 RAMSAY Bessy Bell & Mary Gray i, They bigg'd a bower..And theck'd it o'er with rashes. 1863 MRS. TOGGOOD Yorks. Dial., I want you to theak my rick. 1895 CROCKETT Men of Moss-Hags 283 The roof was daintily theeked with green rushes and withes.

2. transf. To cover in general (but often with allusion to thatching a roof).

1667 in Campbell Balmerino (1899) 414 To men that thickit a boll in the kirk with divits. 1719 RAMSAY To Arbuckle 117, I theck the out, and line the inside Of many a doace and witty pash. a 1800 Twa Corbies iv. in Scott Minstr. Scot. Bord., Wi' ae lock o' his gowden hair, We'll theck our nest when it grows bare. a 1810 TANNAHILL Rob Roystون's Bonnet Poems (1846) 116 This bonnet that theekit his wonderful head. 1896 CROCKETT Cleg Kelly xiii. 283 A pump theekit frae the frost wi' straw rapes.

3. absol. or intr. (from 1 or 2).

a 1518 SKELTON Magnyf. 1027 For it is I that other whyle Plucke down leds and theke with tyle. 1876 Whitby Gloss. s. v., 'You mun theeak weel, this caud weather', put on extra clothing.

Hence Thee'ked, -it ppl. a., thatched; Thee'king vbl. sb., the action (concr. the material or product) of thatching; ppl. a., that thatches or covers.

1792 BURNS Bessie & her Spinnin Wheel ii, On ilka hand the burnies trot, And meet below my theekit cot. a 1801 R. GALL Poems (1819) 28 She reached the theeked byre. 1393 Regist. de Aberbrothoc (Bann.) II. 43 For the quhilkis thekyn* and guteryn the abbot..sal pay till hym xxxv marcis. 1579 Burgh Rec. Edinb. (1882) IV. 104 Ynd tycht, watter tycht, in thy king, slating,..and vther necessaris 1617 Mem. St. Giles', Dunfrim (Surtees) 47 To Nycholas Sparke for thekin 4 days, viij a day. a 1835 HOGG Tales, Sketch. Cal. xvii, Bread for the belly and thekking for the back. 1846 BROCKETT N. C. Words (ed. 3) s. v. Theaker, A 'theaking snow' quietly but continuously falling, so as to cover thickly, as a thatch does, a house.

Theeker (þīkəɹ). Sc. and n. dial. [f. THEEK v. + -ER[1].] A thatcher; in early use, a roofer of houses.

14.. Voc. in WR.-Wülcker 650/27 Hic architector, thekare. 1483 Cath. Angl. 382/2 A Theker, architector, tector (A.). 1554–5 Burgh Rec. Edinb. (1871) II. 360 Item, to the maker to theik the thre choippis, xij^s. 1658 N. Riding Rec. VI. 1 To a Theaker by the day..With meate 6d. Without meate 12^d. 1887 J. SERVICE Dr. Duguid i. xx. 132 Robin Rigging the theeker. 1904 in Eng. Dial. Dict. (from Caithness to N. Lincolnsh.).

Theeself (þe self, etc.): see THYSELF.

Theetsee, var. THITSI, black-varnish tree.

†Thef. Obs. rare. In 3 ðef. [a. ON. þefr smell, mod.Icel. þefur, Fær. tev, Norw. dial. tev, Sw. dial. täv, Da. tøv. Cf. THEVE v.] A smell.

c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 3340 To dust he is [the manna] grunden and maden bread, Sat hunu and alles þef he bead.

Theft (þeft). Forms: a. 1 þeoft, þiefð, þyft; 2–4 þeofþe, þefþe, 3–5 þufþe(ii), 4 (Ayenb.) þiefþe, þyefþe, 5 thifthe. β. 1 þýft, þéoft, 4–5 þift, þeft, 4–7 thift, 5 thyft, 6 theaft, thieft, 4– theft; 3–5 þefte, 4–6 thefte, (4 pifte, þyfte, 5 theefte, 6 thifte). [OE. WSax. þiefð, þýft, later þift, non-WSax. þeofð, later þéoft, = OFris. thiuftie, thiuftie (obs. Du. diefte), ON. þýfð, later þjófr, Goth. þiubīja* :—OTeut. þeubīð, ī, þeubo. THIEF + suffix- þa* = L. -itāt-em: see -TH[1] b, -T[3] b. OE. showed two main dial. types: WSax. þiefþ, later þýfþ with umlaut; non-WS. þéofþ. In both, final þ after f became t by dissimilation; þeoft became þeft, theft. In ME. the various forms often had final -e from the oblique cases; north. dial. and Sc. had þift, þyft, thift from ON. þýfð, þýft.]

1. The action of a thief; the felonious taking away of the personal goods of another; larceny; also, with a and pl., an instance of this.

a. 688–95 Laws of Ine c. 28 Be þeofes onfenge ðæt ðierðe [MS.S. B., H. þyfðe]. Ibid. c. 73 ȝif hit bið mihi eald þiefð, þeheten þa bonne gyft þe hine ȝefengon. 855–6 Laws of Withræd c. 25 ȝif man leod ofslea an þeofre, licge buton wyr-gelde. c 1000 Sax. Leechd. III. 186 Þyfð þestrangað. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 13 Ne do þu þeofðe. a 1225 Ancr. R. 100 þe Vox of lisunge þeofðe þeos hweolpes: 'richerie & Gile, Þeofðe, Reflac. c 1250 Beket 445 in S. Eng. Leg. I. 119 ȝif a clerk hath ane Man a-slawe, þpur strong þefþe i-do. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 10361 Þe king..let prisouns vorb bringe, Þat wor þufþe were ȝeue for oþer þinge. 1340 Ayenb. 37 Þe oþer yere of auarice ys þyefþe. 1393 LANGL. P. Pl. C. III. 92 In bargeyns and in brocages with þe borghe of þufþe [w.r. þefþe, þefte]. a 1450 Knt. de la Tour (1906) 60 The theef dothe..delite hem in thifthe tille thei be taken and putte to deiht.

β. c 1250 O. Kentish Serm. in O. E. Misc. 31 Þo grete sennen þet bieth diadliche Ase so is..þefte. a 1300 Cursor M. 15973 Iudas..Of his thift and his felunni, His moder al he tald. 1382 WYCLIF Matt. xv. 19 Of the herte gon out yuel thoughis, manslayngis, auoutries, fornicacioun, theftis. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) V. 383 Mauricius..fondede to forbede his knyztes þifte [v.r. þeffe, þeofbe]. c 1450 Brut 443 For treason & for þift þat thei had done to þe Kynge & to his liege peple. 1489 CAXTON Faytes of A. iv. ix. 251 To haue committed a smal theefte. 1552 HULOET, Theaft in stealynge cattell, abigeatus. 1570 LEVINS Manip. 59/44 Theft, furtum. Ibid. 118/5 Thift, furtum. 1577 HOLINSHED Chron., Hist. Scot. I. 440/1 Accused of theft, and of receiuing and maintening of theeues. 1605 SHAKS. Mach. ii. iii. 151. 1629 SIR W. MURE True Crucifixe 1133 To hide the thift.

1771 Junius Lett. lxv. (1820) 398 The thief was taken in the theft. 1909 Q. Rev. July 176 His borrowings were not thefts but prolific suggestions.

†b. By theft, stealthily, furtively, by secret craft. Obs. rare—1.

c 1470 HENRY Wallace XI. 592 That be thyft hecht to put Wallace down.

2. concr. That which is or has been stolen; the proceeds of thieving. Now rare.

962–3 Laws of Edgar IV. c. 2 § 2 To ðy þæt.. þeof nyte, hwær he þyfþe [MS. C. þeofte] befaste. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 57 Ne þu naæst for to stele, Ne nan þefþe for to heale. a 1300 Cursor M. 6754 Pat be mai yeld again his thift, He sal be sauld. 1340 Ayenb. 38 Þe þyeues be uelaȝreds þyef þo þet parteþ of þe þyefþe. 1413 Pilgr. Sowle (Caxton 1483) III. v. 53 The theft which they haue stolen ye haue you self receyned. 1539 TINDALE Exod. xxii. 4 Yf the theffe [WYCLIF, that the hath stole] be founde in his handes alyue.. he shall restore double. 1665 G. HAVERS P. della Valle's Trav. E. I. 145 We found the theft in his breeches ty'd to his naked flesh. 1864 KINGSLEY Rom. & Teut. x. 284 If a free man be caught thieving,.. he replaces the theft, and pays 80 solidi, or dies.

3. attrib. and Comb., as theft-guilty adj.

1613–16 W. BROWNE Brit. Past. II. i. What store of houres theft-guilty night had spent. 1907 Westm. Gaz. 19 Oct. 9/2 The Police Commissioner..gave it as his opinion that the theft theory was the most probable.

Theft-boot, -bote. Obs. exc. Hist. Also 3. ϑefte-, ϑ theofe-, ϑ theif(e-. [orig. thef-bote, f. thef, THIEF + bote, BOOT sb.] Afterwards altered (app. first by Scottish writers) to theftbote: cf. THEFTDOM, THEFTLY.

The early form suggests an OE. þefbót*, but this has not been found; the nearest equivalent in the Ags. Laws being þeofgyld in Laws of Æthelred I. c. 1 § 2, III. c. 4, and of Cnut II. c. 30 § 1.]

The taking of some payment from a thief to secure him from legal prosecution; either the receiving back by the owner of the stolen goods or of some compensation, or the taking of a bribe by a person who ought to have brought the thief to justice.

Nichols (1265) in Britton, in note to quot. 1290, suggests that the word 'originally signified the legal bote or composition for theft', and was then 'applied to the illegal compounding of theft, or taking money to maintain or connive at such offenders'. But all our quotations refer to illegal payment, a form of compounding a felony.

a. 1284 Stat. Wall. an. 12 Edw. I, c. 4 De Theftote, hoc est de emenda furti capta inter maineione Curie Domini Regis. 1292 BRITTON I. xxi. § 21 Et puis soit enquis de ceux qi ount pris thefbote. 1359 Liber Assiarum § 5 (1666) 238 b, Et les Justices disoient q' vn home q' reprist son chattel emble dun laron ne fit pas thefbote, sins thefbote fuit proprement ou vn home prist ses chattels dun laron de luy faucurer & maintenier, et nemy auterment. 1509 Expos. Termes Law 177 b/2 Thefbote, is when a man taketh any goodes of a theefe to fauour and maintene him. And not when a man taketh, his owne goodes that were stolen from him &c.

b. a 1450 Sc. Acts Robt. I, c. 9 (1844) I. 109/2 (heading) Of he takyn of thyfbote forgi. reclaiming de latrone]. 1515 Sc. Acts Jas. V (1814) II. 282/2 Gif this complenar..wald concord with the said theif and tak thifbote and put him fra the Law, in that caice he sall vnderly the Law. 1597 [see next]. 1689 DALTON Country Just. cviii. (1630) 288 Some other seeme to take this for theeftboot and so to be punishable..onely by ransome and imprisonment. 1678 SIR G. MACKENZIE Crim. Laws Scot. I. xxx. § 1. (1699) 106 Theft-boot is committed by securing a Thief against the punishment due by Law. 1745 Unio. Spect. 10 Eng., Yorkshire Tom was committed to Clerkenwell-Bridewell..for Theft-boot, accepting of 27 Guineas and a half, not to prosecute [John Ditcher, a notorious Pick-pocket. 1769 BLACKSTONE Comm. IV. x. 133 The offence of theftbote, which is where the party robbed not only knows the felon, but also takes his goods again, or other amends, upon agreement not to prosecute. 1814 SCOTT Waver. xv, The Bailie opined that this transaction would amount to theftboot, or composition of felony. 1885 Law Times LXXX. 115/2 The offence of compounding a felony was really the old crime of theft-bote.

Theftdom. Sc. [Altered from thefdom*, THEFDOM.] The action or practice of stealing; theft; thievery.

1566 Sc. Acts Jas. I, c. 154 That nouther Lord of Regalitie, Schiref, Barrone, na vthers sell ony theif, or fyne with him of thiftdome done [Record ed. (1814) of thift-done]. 1597 SKENE De Verb. Sign. 3. v. Bote, Thieft-bote..quhen ony sellis onie theife, or fine with him for thiftdome done, or to be done. 1854 MRS. OLIPHANT Magd. Hepburn I. 221 Gentle or simple maunna tell me that God's will is for villany and theftdom.

†Theftfully, adv. Obs. rare. In 5 thift-. [f. THEFT + -FUL + -LY 2.] By stealth: = THEFTLY.

c 1400 Sc. Trojan War II. 1391 Vlixes..frome Troy is passit thiftfully With all þaim of his company.

Thefthorn, variant of THEVE-THORN Obs.

Theftless, a. rare. [f. THEFT + -LESS.] a. That is not a theft. b. Not liable to be stolen.

1656 S. H. Gold. Law 68 How punisht he poor Achan for a theftless theft to see to? 1803 LEVDEN Scenes Infancy iv. 362 Tevlot's sons..devoid of fear Bind to the rush by night the theftless steer.

†Theftly, adv. Sc. and north. dial. Obs. [Altered from ME. pefly, THEFFLY.] By stealth, furtively.

c 1400 Sc. Trojan War II. 271 He gyffande thiftely ws till The palladinar at our will. Ibid. 693 Bycause þe palladinar was Put of þe temple tone thiftly. a 1485 Prompt. Parv. (MS. S), Stelyngly (theftely), furtive, latrocinaliter. 1498 Reg. Privy Seal Scot. I. 25/1, ix catell thiftly tane fra Thomas Sowtar. 1515 Nottingham Rec. III. 343 Keyseyvng off oder menys goodes theyftely.

Theftuous (þe·ftiuəs), a. Originally Sc. Forms: a. 5 thiftwis, 5–6 thiftuis, 6 thiftewus. β. 6–7 thifteous, (7 thifteous, 6 thiftius). γ. 6 thiftuus, 6–7 -ouus, 7 theftous, 6– theftuous. [ME. thiftwis, f. THEFT + WISE sb.: cf. RIGHTEOUS from rihtwis.]

1. Of the nature of theft, thievish.

c 1490 [prol. in THEFTOUSNESS] 1494 Reg. Privy Seal Scot. I. 2 For the thiftwis outputtin and awaytakin of the gudis. 1502 Ibid. 117/1 The thiftewus distruction of Johne Mans gudis. 1569 Reg. Privy Council Scot. II. 22 In thiftuous manne. 1593 Sc. Acts Jas. VI (1814) IV. 43/2 Pairtakaris in thair thiftouus and wicked deidis. 1678 SIR G. MACKENZIE Crim. Laws Scot. I. xx. § 3 (1699) 108 Whosoever..assists them in their theftous Stealings. 1837 B. H. HODGSON in Proc. Asiat. Soc. Bengal VI. 367 It is remarkable..for its theftuous propensities. 1880 MUIRHEAD Gaius Digest 506 Theftuous removal of property.

b. transf. Furtive, secret, sneaking.

1881 MASSON De Quincey xi. 138 A theftuous hope to amuse an hour for you after dinner.

2. Of the nature of a thief; given to theft.

1632 LITHGOW Trav. (1906) 363 The Hungarians have ever beene thiftuous, treacherous and false. 1859 M. NAPIER Visct. Dundee I. p. x, That theftuous animal a cheap bookseller's back. 1883 Century Mag. XXVII. 183 Pettily theftuous, like the English gypsies. 1885 St. James' Gaz. 28 Mar. 6/1 No man ever saw the most theftuous sparrow ashamed of himself.

b. fig. Said of an animal or vegetable parasite.

1883 H. DRUMMOND Nat. Law in Spir. W. (ed. 2) 342 By means of its twining and theftuous roots it [Saccharina] imbibes naturally its nourishment readily prepared from the body of the crab. 1883 R. TURNER in Gd. Words July 470/2 Some [plants]..living by theftuous practices alone.

Theftuously (þe·ftiuəsli), adv. Chiefly Sc. [f. prec. + -LY 2.] In a theftuous manner; by or as by theft; stealthily, secretly.

c 1400 Sc. Trojan War II. 1637 Vlixes stall thiftuisly Away, as graunand him gilty. 1567–8 Reg. Privy Council Scot. I. 609 The leid upon the Cathedrall Kirkis .. is thiftuouslie stowin and takin away. 1653 URQUHART Rabelais II. xiv, One little villainous Turkie..rogue came thieftuously to snatch away some of my lardons. 1880 MUIRHEAD Gaius III. § 2 If a husband have theftuously abstracted anything of his wife's in prospect of divorce. 1882 Chamb. Jrnl. XIX. 73 On a late occasion, the tomb of a noble family was theftuously rifled of its contents.

Theftysch, obs. f. THIEVISH. Thegh, obs. f. THOUGH, THIGH. Thegether, Sc. f. TOGETHER.

Thegn (þēn). Hist. A form used by some recent historians to represent the OE. þegn (þegen, þēn), THANE[1], in its sense of tenant by military service, and as a term of rank below the ealdormann or earl and above the ceorl, corresponding in its various grades to the post-conquest baron and knight.

The purpose of this spelling is to distinguish the Anglo-Saxon from the Scottish use of THANE[1] (sense 4), made familiar by Shakspere.

1848 LYTTON Harold I. i, A Thegn forfeited his rank if he lost his horse. 1867 FREEMAN Norm. Conq. I. 428 note, The signatures are no doubt those of local Thegns. 1874 STUBBS Const. Hist. I. vi. 155 Closely connected with the gesith is the thegn..The thegn seems to be primarily the warrior gesith in this idea Alfred uses the word as translating the miles of Bede. But he also appears as a landowner. Ibid. 156 The name of thegn covers the whole class which after the Conquest appears under the name of knights, with the military tenure of land and nearly the same obligations. 1890 GROSS Gild Merch. I. 285 The merchant who made three voyages across the ocean at his own cost became a thegn.

Hence The·gn-born a., of noble or gentle birth. The·gndom, the position or rank of thegn. The·gnhood, the condition or position of a thegn; the order of thegns, thegns collectively. The·gn-land, land held by a thegn. The·gnly, a. and adv. [OE. þegnlic, -lice]. a. adj. of or pertaining to, or becoming a thegn; b. adv. in a manner becoming a thegn. The·gnright, the legal rights and privileges of a thegn. The·gn-ship [OE. þegnscipe], the office, function, or position of a thegn (in various senses). The·gn-wer [OE. þegnweorþ], the wer-gild of a thegn. The·gn-worthy a.: see quot.

?c 935 Dunsæte c. 5 in Liebermann Gesetze (1903) 376 Sy'he þegenboren, sy he ceorlboren. 1874 STUBBS Const. Hist. I. vi. 156 The thegn-born are contrasted with the ceorl-born. 1897 RAMPIN Hist. Money & Nat'ns I. 46 The principle of comradeship..underlay English thegndom. 1867 FREEMAN Norm. Conq. I. iii. 95 The growth of the Thegnhood was, on the whole, depressing to the Ceorls. 1881 S. R. GARDINER Introd. Stud. Eng. Hist. ii. 34 The thegnhood pushed its roots downwards, as it were, amongst the free classes. a 1200 Charter of Will. II in Tabularia Rameseiensi cxxviii (Du Cange), Si terra de Isham..si vero Teinlanda tunc fuisse inventum. 1628 COKE On Litt. 86 In the book of Domesday land by knight's service was called Tainland. 1876 DIGBY Real Prop. I. § 2 (ed. 2) 13 Tain- or thegn-land. This seems to mean not a particular species of tenure, but land which was as a fact held or owned by a king's thegn. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Hom. I. 586 Andreas .. is geriht þegenlic. a 1038 Charter of Eanwene in Kemble Cod. Dipl. IV. 55 Heo..to ðam þegnon cwæð: Doð þegnlice and wel! Abeodað mine ærende to ðam gemote. 1876 FREEMAN Norm. Conq. V. xxiv. 490 The words of Eanwene, when she bade the Scirgemot of Herefordshire to 'do thegnly and well'. 1897 MAITLAND Domesday & Beyond 53 The men..are usually men of thegnly rank. Ibid. 165 Each..will be entitled to a thegnly wergild and swear a thegnly oath. c 1000 Oaths in Liebermann (1903) 464 Se mæssepreost..biþ *þegenriht*es wyrþe. 1872 E. W. ROBERTSON Hist. Ess. 118 None could pretend to the privileges of full thegn-right without the possession of at least a township. 959–c 1042 Laws of Edgar III. c. 2 Se ðæne, se ðe cðrum on woh ðædemð ..þolige a his þegnscipes. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Saints' Lives (1890) II. 82 Beoð nu ðæ ȝehyrte..and healdað mid ðæȝen-scipe þa halȝan Godes æ. 1897 MAITLAND Domesday & Beyond 163 We begin by thinking of thegnship as a relation between two men..Then the thegnship becomes more than a relationship, it becomes a status. 1008 Laws of Ethelred V. c. 9 Þæt he sy þegenweres & *þegenriht*es wyrðe. 1874 STUBBS Const. Hist. I. vi. 155 The ceorl who has acquired five hides of land,..with other judicial rights, becomes 'thegnworthy; his oath and protection and wergild are those of a thegn.

Thei, pei, obs. f. THEY, THOUGH.

Theic (þī·ik). [f. mod.L. the-a TEA + -IC 3: cf. THEISM 2.] One addicted to immoderate tea-drinking, or who suffers from such excess; a tea-drunkard.

1886 Medical News (U.S.) XLIX. 303 It is possible to be a 'theic' by profession or a 'theic' by passion. 1899 in Syd. Soc. Lex.

Theid, Sc. var. THEDE Obs. Theie, theiȝe, obs. f. THIGH. Theif, obs. f. THIEF.

Theiform (þī·ifiɔm), a. [ad. mod.L. theiform-is, f. thea TEA: see -FORM.] Resembling the tea-plant.

1846 WORCESTER, Theiform, being in the form of tea. Everest. 1860 in MAYNE Expos. Lex.

Theiȝh, peiȝ, peiȝh, obs. ff. THOUGH. Theight, obs. f. THIGH. Theign(e, obs. ff. THANE, THEINE v. Theik, var. THEEK, to thatch. Theil, var. THAIL, tael. Theim, obs. ff. THEM. Thein, pein, obs. f. THANE; var. THYNE Obs., thence.

Theine (þī·oin), sb. Chem. Also †thei·na. [f. mod.L. thea TEA + -INE 5.] A vegetable alkaloid, originally thought to be a principle peculiar to tea, but found to be identical with CAFFEINE.

1838 T. THOMSON Chem. Org. Bodies 205 Oudry has..announced that he has discovered in tea a salifiable basis, to which he has given the name of theina. 1842 Penny Cycl. XXIV. 304/2 Thein, or Theina, the peculiar principle of tea. 1853 URE Dict. Arts II. 834 The substance called theine coffee by the same process slightly altered. 1863–72 WATTS Dict. Chem. I. 707 Oudry..in 1827, found in tea a crystalline substance, which he called theine. 1887 A. GRIFFITH in Science Gossip No. 209. 248 Tea contains from a half to five per cent. of theine.

†Theine, theign, v. Obs. Forms: 1–2 þeȝnian (1 ðæȝn-), þénian, 2 þeiȝnen, 3 þeinen, þeine(n. [OE. þegnian, f. þeȝn, THANE = ON. þegna, OHG. degaðn :—OTeut. þegnōjan*, f. þegnō*- THANE.] intr. To be a servant or minister, to perform the duties of an office. With dative: To minister to, wait or attend upon, serve. (a person); hence, quasi-trans.

Beowulf 561 Ic hiene þeodan deoran sweorde swa hit ȝedefe wæs. a 900 tr. Bæda's Hist. III. xvii. [xxiii.] (1890) 232 þa he ða monig ȝer..biscopad þegnade. 971 Blickl. Hom. 33 He wæs soþ God, þe him englas þegnedon. c 975 Rushw. Gosp. Matt. viii. 15 Hiu aras & ðæȝnade heom. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. ibid., Þa aras heo & þenode him. c 1160 Hatton Gosp. ibid., þo aras heo & þeiȝnede him. c 1175 Cott. Hom. 239 Mid al þan þes þe..laȝelice her him þeniõ. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 109 Vnwurðe biiõ þe on elde þet him oðer men þenien. c 1205 LAY. 24595 Þer weoren a þusen cnihtes hold..þat þeinenden hine þa kinges. Ibid. 24601 A þusend hire eode biuore..to þeinen þere quene. a 1225 St. Marher. 23 Þeos þreo in an ipeinet of engles. a 1250 Prov. Ælfred 499 in O. E. Misc. 132 Loke þat þu him þeine mid alle þeinues þines.

Hence †Theining (þeiznung, þening), ministration, service, office.

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xxxvii, § 7 ȝif him mon þonne awint of þa claþas, & him oftiðð þara þeninga & þæs anwealdes. a 900 tr. Bæda's Hist. II. xiv. [xvi.] (1890) 144 Nænig..hinan dorste ne wolde buton his neðþearfliore þegnunge. 971 Blickl. Hom. 209 Englas beoð to þegnunge gæstum fram Gode hider on world sended. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. xxvi. 19 Hiȝ ȝe-ȝearwodon him easter-þenunga. a 1175 Cott. Hom. 233 His water [us werþð] drench and fiscynn his fer manfeald þeninge.

Their (ðēər), poss. pron. Forms: see below. [In existing form their, in Ormin þeȝȝre, a. ON. þeir(r)a, genitive pl. of simple demonst. sá, sú, þat (= OE. se, sēo, þæt), used in ON. also as pl. of 3 pers. pron. The β-forms þer, þar, þere, etc., were prob. due mainly to the unstressed pronunciation of their, thair, confused sometimes with that of the adv. þær, thare, THERE; but they may sometimes represent OE. þǽra, late form of þára, gen. pl. of þá those, substituted for the same case of the personal pronoun. Cf. THEM.]

A. Illustration of Forms.

α. 3 (Orm.) þeȝȝre, (þeȝȝre), 4 þeir(e, þeyr, þayre, þayire, þaier, 4–5 þair, þaire, 5 þeire; 4–5 thaire, 5 thayre, 5–7 theire, theyr, 6 thayr, (thier, 6–7 yair), 4– Sc. thair, 5– their.

c 1200 ORMIN Ded. 84 All þurrh þeȝre sinne. Ibid. 3933 Þatt teȝre ȝenge shollde ben þurrh hallȝhe sawless ekedd. 1303 R. BRUNNE Handl. Synne 874 Parefore þat day al holy cherche Peyr seruyse of here þey werche. 13.. Cursor M. 794 (Cott.) Al þaier kin. Ibid. 21800 (Edin.) Mani man.. Þate thair [v. r. þair] hele hauis gein bare. a 1340 HAMPOLE Psalter lxxvii. 51 He gaf..þaire trauails til þe locust c1400 Destr. Troy 6738 Menelaus, and Thelamon,..with theire tite batels. c1440 Pallad. on Husb. i. 116 Oute of thisse [v. r. their] kynde elce seedes wol renewe. 1470–85 Malory Arthur vii. xxviii. 240 All they fell vpon their knees. 1522 Rutland Papers (Camden) 84 To putt all thier stuf of household in euery office. 1538 Starkey England i. iv. 120 To tempur and refrayne thayr malyce. 1549 Baxter-bks. St. Andrews (1903) 5 Thomas mortowne To ie yair Decane. a1568 Wyfe of Auchtermuchty xii, That straik dang baith thair harnis owt. 1620 Sir R. Naunton in Fortescue Papers (Camden) 139 Theyr general aunswer to his Majesties commandement. 1641 Best Farm. Bks. (Surtees) 126 Holes, of that bignesse that one may thrust in theire neafe.

β. (1 þeera, þeora) 4 þer, þar, (þur), 4–5 þere, 4–6 þare, thar, 5 thare, 5–6 ther, 6–8 there, 7 thir (used by Milton as unstressed form of their).

[?a 1100 O. E. Chron. (Laud MS.) an. 449, On þeora dægum gelæddon Wytgeorn Ælfwine and Hengest of Hæðe-ceðes. c1200 Þæt þa godan men niman sæfter þeora godnesse.] c1330 R. Brunne Chron. (1810) 127 Þe popille him bisoukt þer kyng forto be. 13.. Cursor M. 476 (Cott.) Þat sithen þar [v. r. þair], her] sted was neuer sene. Ibid. 666 Baith he sette in þare [v. r. þaire, her] fre will. Ibid. 139.0 Moyse þur lagh þaim troght. c1400 Destr. Troy 12467 Trees, thurgh tempestes, tynde bade pere leues. c1450 Godstow Reg. 491 Thee hauen lawfully chaleng thee to thee bodies. c1460 Towneley Myst. ix. 119, I shalle fownd to crak thare crowne. 1513 Douglas Æneis iv. ix. 33–4 The rynyng fludis thar wattir stop can soko mak, And eik the sterniis turne ther cours aback. 1526 Tyndale [see B. 1]. 1533 Bellenden Livy ii. xix. (S.T.S.) I. 205 þai obeyit weill eftir to pare capitanis. 1663 Chas. II in Julia Cartwright Henrietta of Orleans (1894) 139 They will shew there affections to me. 1671 Milton P. R. ii. 235 He cease, and heard thir grant in loud acclaim. 1757 Mrs. Griffith Lett. Henry & Frances (1767) I. 56 Rogueries..which, they thought, brought a disgrace on there bruteships.

B. Signification.

1. Poss. adj. (orig. gen. pl. of pers. pron.) Of, belonging, or pertaining to them; also refl. of or belonging to themselves.

c1200 Ormin 127 Nafddenn þegg burrh þegȝre streon Ne sune, child, ne dohhtere. c1230 R. Brunne Chron. Wace (Rolls) 1115 Brutus wip his folk..wente þer weye. 1340 Hampole Pr. Consc. 3884 Prelats..Sal account yhelde..Of þair suggets undir þair power. 1526 Tyndale Matth. vi. 5 Yereley I saye vnto you they haue their rewarde. 1589 Puttenham Eng. Poesie i. vi. (Arb.) 27 Vnder the conduict of Totila and Atila and other their generalles. 1617 Morvson Itin. II. 219 Consider the inward motives of their craving mercy. 1640 Prayer Book, Ecclus. of Engl. I. xviii. 78 With that they tooke their leaves of her. 1774 Goldsm. Nat. Hist. (1776) VI. 222 The great agility of these animals prevents their often being taken. 1797 Gonwin Enquirer i. vi. 41 We must dwell upon their every word. 1847 De Quincey Orthogr. Mutineers Wks. 1860 XIV. 105 When..he [Milton] wishes to direct a bright jet of emphasis upon the possessive pronoun their, he writes it as we now write it. But when he wishes to take off the accent, he writes it thir. [Cf. A. β. 1671.] 1853 M. Arnold Empedocles ii. 19 With men thou canst not live; Their thoughts, their ways, their wishes, are not thine. 1858 O. W. Holmes Aut. Breakf.-t. iv, Long after the frost and snow have done their worst with the orchards. 1864 Tennyson Aylmer's F. 383 These old pheasant-lords..Who had mildew'd in their thousands, doing nothing Since Egbert.

b. Obj. gen. Of (for, to) them. (Cf. His B. 2.)

2553 T. Wilson Rhet. (1580) 77 For a tyme your grace muche bewailed their losse. 1590 Spenser F. Q. iii. iii. 43 Shall..quite from off the earth their memory be raste? 1607 Topsell Four-f. Beasts (1658) 66 Yet can there not be in any nation a neglect of oxen; and their reverence was so great that, in ancient time [etc.]. 1780 Beresford Disp. Hope. 108 Humanity pleads strongly for the abridgment of their relation. Med. We mourn their loss.

c. Const. with gen. pl. of all, both: their aller, their bother, beyre (obs.); also all their, their both, both their, each of their (arch.): meaning 'of all, both, or each of them'. See All D. 4, Both 4 b, Bo a. c.

a1250 Owl & Night. 1584 Þe lonerd..Vareh vt on þare beyre neode. a1300 Cursor M. 1976 He stirt up in þair aller sight. c1380 Wyclif Serm. Sel. Wks. I. 289 þe fend ..is þer alpere kyng. c1465 Eng. Chron. (Camden) 48 Be thair bothe assent. 1559 Mirr. Magg. (1563) D v, Lo thus fond hope dyd beyr both lyues abrydge. 1568 [see A. 1]. 1589 Puttenham Eng. Poesie i. viii. (Arb.) 35 Saying thus in all their hearings. 1654–66 Earl Orrery Parthen. (1676) 550 With both their helps I was carried to a Chamber. 1672 Temple Misc. I. 64 According to each of their hunger or need. 1874 Swinburne Bothwell ii. I, Mine and all their free and sovereign king.

2. Used of a thing with which a number of persons have to do, or which is assumed to be the common possession of a class; e. g. 'These boys know their Greek syntax'. Cf. His poss. pron. 1 b.

1785 Burns Halloween ii, To burn their nits, an' pou their stocks, An' hauld their Halloween. 1905 Daily Chron. 2 Sept. 3/1 All those who love their Devon and especially their Dartmoor.

3. Often used in relation to a singular sb. or pronoun denoting a person, after each, every, either, neither, no one, every one, etc. Also so used instead of 'his or her', when the gender is inclusive or uncertain. Cf. They pron. 2, Them pron. 2; Nobody 1 b, Somebody. (Not favoured by grammarians.)

13.. Cursor M. 389 (Cott.) Bath ware made sun and mon, Alper wit þer ouen light. c1440 Sir Amadace (Camden) 1 Iche man in thayre degree. 14.. Arch. & Hist. 2440 (Kölbing) Many a Sarazen lost their life. 1533 [see Themselves 5]. 1545 Abp. Parker Let. to Bp. Gardiner 8 May, Thus was it agreed among us that every president should assemble their companies. 1563 Winget Four Scoir Thre Quest. liv, A man or woman being long absent fra thair party. 1641 [see A. a]. 1643 Trapp Comm. Gen. xxiv. 22 Each Countrey hath their fashions, and garnishes. 1749 Fielding Tom Jones vii. xiv, Every one in the House were in their Beds. 1771 Goldsm. Hist. Eng. III. 241 Every person ..now recovered their liberty. a1845 Syd. Smith Wks. (1850) 175 Every human being must do something with their existence. 1848 Thackeray Van. Fair xli, A person can't help their birth. 1858 Bagehot Lit. Studies (1879) II. 206 Nobody in their senses would describe Gray's 'Elegy' as (etc.]. 1898 G. B. Shaw Plays II. Candida 86 It's enough to drive anyone out of their senses.

†4. After a sb. (usually a proper name), instead of the genitive inflexion. Cf. His poss. pron. 4, Her poss. pron. 3rd pl. 3. Obs. or rare arch.

1551 Robinson tr. More's Utop. II. (1895) 172 Vntyll the vtopians their creditours demaunde it. 1600 Shakspere's Tities A. (title-p.), As it hath sundry times beene playde by the Right Honourable the Earle of Pembrooke,..and the Lorde Chamberlaine their Seruants. 1642 Featley Clippes Dippe (1646) 11 These travellers their report, and the testimony of those witnesses. 1642 Drumm. of Hawth. Shiamachia Wks. (1711) 193 An answer to the parliament of England their declaration. 1667 Pepys Diary 3 Jan., The House of Lords their proceedings in petitioning the King. 1681 R. Burthogge A rgt. for Inf. Bapt. (1684) 6 From the Children of Believers their being Abraham's Spiritual Seed.

5. Serving as antecedent to a following relative; equivalent to 'of those'. (Now usually avoided.)

1579 Tomson Calvin's Serm. Tim. 134/2 Vnder their obedience whome God hath set ouer us. 1593 in J. Morris Troubles Cath. Forefathers Ser. III. (1877) 124 The chiefest fauour must be procured by their means that have spoiled vs before. 1655 Fuller Ch. Hist. IX. viii. § 24 This prediction ..yet miss'd of their meaning, who both first reported, and most believed it.

†6. absol. = Theirs. Cf. Her poss. pron. 3rd pers. pl. 4. Obs.

13.. Cursor M. 7465 (Cott.) A man o þair gains an of vr. 1594 G. Harvey Four Lett. Wks. (Grosart) I. 216, I offer them my labour and request their. 1628 Wither Mistr. (1871), My clothing keeps me full as warm as their [prime are]. Ibid. Civ, And my esteeme I will not change for their.

Their(e, obs. fl. There, Thir dem. pron., etc. = these.

†Theirkin, a. Obs. Their kind of, of their kind. (Cf. Thakin, Thiskin.)

13.. Cursor M. 12346 (Cott.) Þe leons..Honur him on þairkin wolf Þat þairkin ( = opon þair wise).

Theirn, a midl. and south. dial. form for Theirs, on the analogy of ourn, yourn, hisn, hern. See Eng. Dial. Dict.

Theirs (ðɛ̃ə·rz), poss. pron. Forms: 4–5 þayres, thayres, þair(e)s, thaires, 4–6 þairis, thairis, þeires, theires, 5 þers, therys, 5–6 theyr(e)s, theyr's, 6 therse, 8–9 their's, 5– theirs (Sc. thairs). [In form a double possessive, f. Their + -es (cf. hers, ours, yours). Of northern origin.] The form of the possessive pron. Their, used when no sb. follows, i. e. either absolutely or predicatively: That or those belonging to them. ( = F. le, la leur, les leurs; G. der, die, das thrige, die ihrigen.) a1300 Cursor M. 22578 (Edinb.) Vntil hir channel sal sco [the sea] tune And als til bayres [Cott. pairs, Gött. pairis, Trin. hores, Laud heris] lik a burne. Ibid. 14132 A castel was bath his and þairs [Cotton & Gött. þairis, Trin. heires.]. 13.. R. Brunne's Chron. Wace (Rolls) 11632 (Lamb. MS.) Per nis no power to þeires liche [Petyt MS. non is þer pere ne to þam]. 13.. E. E. Allit. P. B. 1527 Heyred hem as hyly as heuen wer þayres. 1375 Barbour Bruce ii. 745 That thai and thairis..Suld be in all thing at his will. 1425 Rolls of Parlt. IV. 296/2 Yatany of the said parties, by yayme or yaires, procede. c1430 Life St. Kath. (1884) 27 Folowe the kingdom of þayr blessedfy folowede thayres. c1440 Generydes 2989 This day is therys, A nother shalbe oure. 1484 Caxton Fables of Æsop v. iii, Telle to them that it is thyn and not theyrs. 1526 Tyndale Matt. v. 10 Theirs ys the kingdom of heuen. 1674 Boyle Excell. Mech. Hypothesis 7 [They] have no recourse to any peculiar agency of theirs to account for Eclipses. 1719 De Foe Crusoe (1840) II. iii. 50 The island was theirs. 1853 Wheawell Grotius III. 277 Theirs is the sounder opinion, who hold that such a grant continues. 1855 Tennyson Charge Light Brigade ii, Their's not to make reply, Their's not to reason why, Their's but to do and die.

b. Of theirs: see Of 44.

c1400 Laud Troy Bk. 3521 That he scholde euere be on of thaires. 1600 Love Nonpareil, Miscr. (1606) 19 A friende of theires. 1555 Eden Decades 134 A childe of therse. 1564 Brief Exam. , This gaye booke of theyrs. 1692 Bentley Boyle Lect. ii 63 These Atoms of theirs. 1831 Society I. ii. 16 An old acquaintance of theirs.

†c. Used instead of Their (rare); in 17–18th c. when followed by another possessive, e. g. 'theirs or our country', now 'their country or ours'. Obs.

c1200 Ormin 2506 And all onn ane wise fell Till eȝȝherr þeȝȝress herrte. 1560 Inchaffray Charters (S.H.S.) 167 Als fre as..ouris or thairis granitaris or chalmirlanis..Josit brukit or intromettit with. 1562 Turner Baths Ded., For theyres and that are myne. 1598 Wotton tr. Meteren 1652 Gaulr Magastrom. 274 The event fell out contrary to theirs, and according to the Apostles prediction. 1667 Marvell Corr. lxxviii. Wks. (Grosart) II. 223 Upon the importation.. into theirs or our country. a1774 Goldsm. tr. Scarron's Com. Romance (1775) II. 54 He thought it both their and his duty to mount immediately.

†d. Maugre theirs: in spite of them, against their will: see Maugre prep. 1 c. Obs.

c1330 R. Brunne Chron. Wace (Rolls) 12811 Maugre þeires he dide þem go In to þe wode. Ibid. 13356. 1375 Barbour Bruce x. 218 Magre thairis he it wan. 1480 Coventry Leet Bk. 427 Wheder we shall make the people to abide styll here.., magre theirs, or eis let hem departe.

Theirself, -selves: see Themselves B III.

Theis, adv. [Cf. This adv. and Dyce.] Thus.

a1818 M. G. Lewis Tyrol. W. Ind. (1834) 5 Sea terms.—. theis (thus) you are near enough.

Theism [(þ)ī·zm.]. [mod. f. Gr. θε-ός god + -ism. Cf. F. théisme (Voltaire).] a. gen. Belief in a deity, or deities, as opposed to atheism. b. Belief in one god, as opposed to polytheism or pantheism; = Monotheism. c. Belief in the existence of God, with denial of revelation: = Deism. d. esp. Belief in one God as creator and supreme ruler of the universe, without denial of revelation: in this use distinguished from deism.

1678 Cudworth Intell. Syst. Pref., Nor indeed out of a meer Partiall Regard to that Cause of Theism neither, which we were engaged in. 1711 Shaftesb. Charac. (1737) II. 209, I consider..that to be a settled Christian, it is necessary to be first of all a good theist. For theism can only be oppos'd to polytheism, or atheism. a1774 Tucker Lit. Nat. (1834) II. 323 We find the introduction of theism, that is, the doctrine of an intelligent Agent, the Author of nature,.. claimed for Pythagoras. 1841 Elphinstone Hist. India I. 165 The theism inculcated by the Vêdas..has been supplanted by a system of gross polytheism and idolatry. 1877 R. Flint Theism i. 1 Theism is the doctrine that the universe owes its existence, and continuance..to the reason and will of a self-existent Being..It is the doctrine that nature has a Creator and Preserver. 1888 F. L. Patton Systaches Lect. Theism i (Theism) 1 Theism may be considered religiously [as embracing] polytheism, pantheism, monotheism (theism par excellence).

Theism 2 (þī·zm). Path. [f. mod.L. the-a Tea + -ism.] A morbid condition characterized by headache, sleeplessness, and palpitation of the heart, caused by excessive tea-drinking.

1886 Science VIII. 132 It is customary to speak of acute, subacute and chronic 'theism', a form that has no connection with theological matters. 1906 Daily News 14 Sept. 6 It is well to keep an eye on 'acute caffeism' and 'chronic theism'.

Theist 1 (þī·ist). [mod. f. Gr. θε-ός god + -ist. Cf. F. théiste (Voltaire).] One who holds the doctrine of theism: in earlier use = Deist; in later use, esp. as distinguished from this: see note s. v. Deist.

1662 E. Martin Fine Lett. 45 To have said my office.. twice a day..among Rebels, Theists, Atheists, Philologers, Wits, Masters of Reason, Puritanes (etc.]. a1679 W. Cheyham Serm. (1682) A v, What theist was ever known to live according to the principles of natural religion? a1734 North Exam. III. viii. § 11 (1740) 500 He [Oates] did but use the Privilege of a Theist or Freethinker, of which Crew, or worse, he plainly declared himself. 1820 Polwhkle in Lavington's Enthus. Meth. & Papists Introd. 135 The highly-polished preacher, whose audience are theophilanthropists or theists. 1870 J. H. Newman Grom. Assent v. § 2. 220 No one is to be called a Theist, who does not believe in a Personal God.

b attrib. and Comb.

1711 Hickes Two Treat. Chr. Priesth. (1847) I. 267 His atheist-ridden, or theist-ridden..mind. 1755 Amory Mem. (1756) II. 109 The writings of the Theist philosophers.

Theist 2, nonce-wd. [f. mod.L. thea Tea: cf. Theism 2.] A person addicted to tea-drinking.

c1818 Shelley in Medwin Life (1847) II. 47 [Shelley..was a lover of tea, calling himself..humourously a] Theist.

Theistic (þī,ī·stik), a. [f. Theist 1 + -ic.]

1. Of or pertaining to theists or theism.

1780 Warton Sir T. Pope vi. (ed. 2) 208 From an abhorrence of superstition, he appears to have adopted the most distant extremes of the theistic system. 1873 Coverdale Revised Prayer Bk. (ed. 2) Pref., This modest attempt to adapt the Liturgy of the venerable Church of England to a purely Theistic worship. 1876 Gladstone in Contemp. Rev. June 5 Those who professedly rejecting all known expressions of dogma, are nevertheless believers in a moral Governor of the Universe..I denominate the Theistic school.

2. Used in the sense: Of or pertaining to a god or gods; divine. rare.

1854 Brimley Ess., Comte's Pos. Philos. 324 A region of phenomena where Will..is quite apart from all consideration of theistic interference, introduces a disturbing element that baffles the previsions of science. 1878 Gladstone Prim. Homer vi. § 2. 66 Zeus..combines, more than any other deity, the human and the theistic quality.

Theistical (þī,ī·stikăl), a. [f. as prec. + -al: see -ical.] = prec. 1. Hence Thei·stically adv. in a theistical manner.

1697 C. Leslie Short Meth. w. Deists 1. § 12 (1699) 45 note, The Theistical Clubb have set this up as a Principle. 1738 Warburton Div. Legat. III. ii. 304 That future State, which, I suppose, the Theistical Philosophers did not believe. 1841 Elphinstone Hist. India I. 223 The work of Patanjali..is the text-book of the theistical sect.

Theive, obs. form of Theave, Thieve.

Theivil, Sc. var. Thivel, pot-stick.

Theke (þfk). Bot. [ad. Gr. θήκη.] = Theca 2.

1872 Tuckerman N. Amer. Lichens 30 [Spores] occurring in eights in the thekes. 1880 Ibid. 1. Introd. 8 The hymenium, consisting of thekes (thecæ, the spore-bearing organs). 1900 in B. D. Jackson Gloss. Bot. Terms.

Theke, obs. form of Thekk, Thilk.

Thel, thele, variants of Theal Obs., a board.

†Thelema·tic, a. Obs. rare. [f. Gr. θεληματ-, stem of θέλημα will + -ic.] Of or pertaining to will or volition; voluntary.

1813–21 Bentham Ontology Wks. 1843 VIII. 207/2 Thelematic [motions], those in the production of which volition..is seen to be concerned.

Thelemite (þe·lĭmæit). rare. [a. F. thélemite (Cotgr.), f. Gr. θέλημα will + -ITE 1, with reference to the abbey of Thélème in Rabelais, the only law of which was Fay ce que voudras, Do what thou wilt.] (See quots.)

1656 BLOUNT Glossogr., Thelemite, a libertine, one that does what he list. 1908 Nation 24 Oct. 144/1 We will.. take our oath to observe the Thelemite rule of 'Do what thou wilt', because, as its founder said, 'men that are free, well-born, well-bred, well-educated in honest companies have naturally an instinct and spur that prompts them unto virtuous actions'.

Thelephoroid (þĭle·fŏroid), a. Bot. [f. mod.L. Thelephora (f. Gr. θηλή a teat + -φορος bearing) + -OID.] Resembling or having the form of the genus Thelephora of hymenomycetous fungi. So Thelepho·roous a., of or pertaining to this genus.

1860 MAYNE Expos. Lex., Thelephoreus,..applied by Persoon to a Family.. of the Receptacle Sarcomycet...: thelephoreous. 1891 Cent. Dict., Thelephoroid.

Thelke, obs. form of THILK.

†Thellich, a. and pron. Obs. Forms: a. 1 þyslic, þyllic, þillic, þilic, þelic, þullich(ii), þulli (ii), 4 þellich. β. 1 þylo, þilo. [OE. þyllic, by assimilation from þyslic (beside þuslic, þullic), f. þus, þys, THUS + -lic, -LY 1. See also THILK.]

A. adj. Of this or such a kind; suchlike, such.

Beowulf 2637 gif him þyslicu þearf gelumpe. *a*890 tr. Bæda's Hist. II. ix. [xii.] (1890) 130 Se be þyslice gife & swa micle..forecwi. *c*897 K. ÆLFRED Gregory's Past. C. xliii. 314 Þyllic fæsten ic þeceas. *c*1000 ÆLFRIC Saints' Lives xxxiii. 142 Ac þyllic lif nis na gewuniele on ure ceastre. *c*1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. xviii. 5 Swa þwylce swa anne þyllicne (v. r. þilicne, Hatt. G. þellicne, Lindis.[illegible] þullic) þylleg on minum naman onfeahþ, se onfeahþ me. — Mark vii. 8 Manega oþre þyllice (v. r. þylce, Hatt. G. þellice) þing ge do^n. *c*1050 Liber Scintill. 33 Ac swylþe feawa synd þa þylce þeneðin habban. Ibid. 80 Þes þylc fela spyccð. *a*1225 Ancr. R. 8 þeos & swuche oþre (MS. C. þullich oðere) beoð alle ine freo wille to donne. *c*1230 Hali Meidh. 9 Þe þohtes þat..leareð þe and eggeð toward þull þeowdom. *a*1240 Sawles Warde in Cell. Homis. 255 Of þulliche þeosche wepenen ich mahte carien summes weis. Ibid. 265 Sikere ha beoð of al þis of þulli lif, of þulli wit, of þulli luue..ant of þulli blisse. 1340 Ayenb. 27 Of þelliche þinges him gledeþ ine his hette.

B. pron. [absol. or elliptic use of the adj.] A thing or things of this, that, or such a kind; such. *a*890 tr. Bæda's Hist. III. xvi. [xxii.] (1890) 228 Þyslic wæs seo syn, þe se syning fore ofslegen wæs. *c*893 K. ÆLFRED Oros. IV. iv. § 2 Nu Romane him self þyllic writon. *a*1000 Ecgbert's Confess. c. 25 gif..he awiht þylces do. *c*1000 ÆLFRIC Colloquy in Wr.-Wülcker 98/2 Þylces fela, his similia. *c*1000 Ags. Gosp. Luke ix. 9 Hwæt is þes be þam ic þile [Hatt. þellic, Lind. þuslico] þehyre? *a*1225 Leg. Kath. 849 Louf! þullich is al þæt se þenceheð to dei for to weorin me wiþ. 1340 Ayenb. 7 Þe þridde heate is þellich.

Thelphusian (þelfiū·siăn), a. (sb.) Zool. [f. mod.L. Thelphūsa + -IAN.] Of or pertaining to the genus Thelphusa of fresh-water crabs, as T. fluviatilis, which burrrows in river banks. b. sb. A crab of this family.

1842 Penny Cycl. XXIV. 305/2 Thelphusa, Thelphusians, M. Milne Edwards's name for a tribe of brachyurous crustaceans belonging to his family of Catometopes. Ibid., Many of the Thelphusians.

Thelyblast (þe·li-, þĭlĭblæst). Biol. [f. Gr. θῆλυς female + -BLAST.] The female element of a sexual cell. Hence Thelybla·stic a.

1877 C. S. MINOT in Proc. Boston Soc. Nat. Hist. XIX. 170 The sexual generation may be called genoblasts, the male arrenoblasts, the female thelyblasts (direction cells, nucleoli of infusoria and spermatozoa). 1890 BILLINGS Med. Dict., Thelyblasts, term proposed by Minot to include mature ova and sperm-blastophores or seminal mother-cells.

‖ Thelycum (þĭ·li-, þe·lĭkŭm). Pl. thelyca. [mod.L., ad. Gr. θηλυκών, neuter of θηλυκός feminine, f. θῆλυ-s female.] Name for a structure on the ventral surface of the thorax in the female of certain macrurous crustaceans.

1888 C. S. BATE in Challenger Rep. XXIV. 244 The ventral plate or thelycum in the female [Penæus canaliculatus]. Ibid. 245 The peculiar function of the complementary external female apparatus which I propose to call thelycum.

Thely·genous, a. Bot. [f. Gr. θῆλυ-s female + -GEN + -OUS.] Producing the female element.

1900 B. D. JACKSON Gloss. Bot. Terms 270/1 Thelygenous, inducing the female element, as thelygenous castration, the production of pistils in the male-flowers of a hosta by Tettigo.

Thelykaryotic (þe·li-, þĭlĭkæriō·tĭk), a. Biol. [irreg. f. Gr. θῆλυ-s female + κάρυον nut, kernel + -OTIC, after mitotic.] Having a female nucleus.

1909 J. W. JENKINSON Experim. Embryol. 267 In the two-celled stage one blastomere has a male and a female nucleus, ..while the other has only a female (thelykaryotic).

†Thelythathorre, a. Obs. nonce-wd. [f. mod. L. thelyphthora (M. Madan 1780), f. Gr. θῆλυ-s female + φθορά corruption: cf. Gr. φθορμός corrupting.] That corrupts or ruins women.

[1780 M. MADAN (title) Thelyphthora or, A Treatise on Female Ruin, in its Causes, Effects, Consequences, Prevention, and Remedy.] 1794 MATHIAS Purs. Lit. 1. 160 Must I with Madan, bent on gospel truth, In Thelythoric love instruct my youth.

Thelytokous (þĭli·tŭkəs), a. Zool. Also errom. thelyotokous (-ō·tŭkəs). [f. Gr. θηλυτόκος bearing females (f. θῆλυ-s female + -τόκος bearing) + -OUS.] Producing only female offspring, as the parthenogenetic females of some species: opposed to arrenotokous. So Thely·toky (also thelyo·toky), the production of females only in parthenogenesis.

1877 HUXLEY Anat. Inv. Anim. vii. 446 The terms arrenotokous and thelytokous have been proposed by Leuckart and Von Siebold to denote those parthenogenetic females which produce male and female young respectively. 1895 D. SHARP Camb. Nat. Hist. V. iv. 141 The result of parthenogenesis in some species is the production of only one sex, which in some insects is female, in others male; the phenomenon in the former case is called by Taschenberg Thelytoky, in the latter case Arrhenotoky. Ibid. xxii. 498 Thelytokous parthenogenesis is common in sawflies.

Them (ðem, ðĕm), pers. pron. Forms: see below. [Three types are found in ME. a. þæȝȝm, þeym, a. ON. þeim ' to those ', ' to them ', dat. pl. of the demonst. sá, sú, þat, the plural of which also supplies that of the 3rd pers. pron. (see THEY). This came down to the 16th c. in Eng. in the form theim, and still exists in north. dial. and in Sc. as thaim. β. Northern Eng. þam, app. bef. 1300; this appears to represent þæm, þǽm, dat. pl. of OE. se, seo, þæt, pl. þá (see THAT, THO), found already as accus. in the Rushworth Gospels, where Lindisf. has hia, Ags. Gosp. hig, Hatton hyo, all in the sense ' them '. This came down in Sc. as thame to 16th c. γ. The existing form them, found in R. Brunne c 1330. This may have originated as an unstressed form (ðĕm, ðăm) of þeim or (?) þam, or it may actually have represented the OE. Anglian þæm of the Rushworth Gospels.

Although the form from Norse is not known before Ormin, it must have been current in the Danelaw much earlier, since it was only dative in Norse, and must have been taken into OE. as dative, and have shared in the peculiar English change by which the accusative and dative of the pronouns were levelled under the dative case. In the singular him, hine, instances of this change are seen in the Rushworth Gospel Gloss c 975 (see HIM 1 d); and it is noteworthy that the same Gloss shows the use of þæm as acc., = hia, hig, hyo, as mentioned above. This use of þæm as pron. may itself have been due to Norse influence, the OE. word being used in the same sense as the Norse þeim

The commoner pron. of 3rd pers. pl. obj. (dat. and acc.) in OE. and ME. was HEM, surviving colloq. and dial. as 'em.]

A. Illustration of Forms.

a. 2–3 (Orm.) þæȝȝm, 4–6 þeym, þeim, theym(e, theim, 6 theime; 4 þaime, þaym, 4–6 þaim, (4 þaem, 4–5 taim), 4–6 (4– Sc.) thaim, 4–6 thaym(e, 6 thaime.

c 1200 ORMIN 1751 Þatt he þeȝȝm sliffe blisse. Ibid. 1768 And hellpe þeȝȝm..To winnenn eche blisse. a 1300 Cursor M. 47 (Cott.) A saumpul ber be þaem (Gött. þaim, F. ham, T. hem) I say. Ibid. 10378 (Edin.) þai lerid at taim to suffer harde. c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. Wace 3972 Wawayn.. smot aboute, & made þeym rounn. c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints xxvii. (Machor) 724 He betwene þaym pes can ma. c 1400 tr. Secreta Secret., Gov. Lordsh. 58 Worschippe..þayme þat þou sees þat doon to be worschipped. 1523 LD. BERNERS Froiss. I. clxxxvi. 220 A stryfe fell bytwene theym and they of Parys. 1533 GAU Richt Way (S.T.S.) 3 Thay quhilk red thayme or buyr thaime. 1534 CROMWELL in Merriman Life & Lett. (1902) I. 374 They..make not so muche for your purpose as yee allege thaime for. 1536 WRIOTHESLEY Chron. (Camden) I. 43 Great lamentation that the poore people made for theim. 1537 Adm. Crt. Exemplify. I. No. 174 Seeing a ship coming somewhat rome with theym. 1565 AULENS Dep. P'wrp. xv. 272 Sumwhiles by thabasing of theime. 1873 Thaim [see B. 5].

β. 1 þæm, 3–4 þam, 4–6 þame (6 yame), 4–7 thame, tham.

c 975 Rushw. Gosp. Matt. xx. 25 Hælend þa celȝde þæm [Lind. hia, Ags. hiȝ, Hatt. hyo] to him. 13.. Cursor M. 4900 (Cott.) þe saugunz..Kan and ouertok þam (Gött. þaim) pare. Ibid. 7120 A redel þam vnko he badd. c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. (1810) 2 Iuor & Ini were disconfite pat day, Þe Iris & þe Wals with þam fled away. 1357 Lay Folks Catech. (MS. T.) Þe Iewes..sold teche thame. Ibid. 65 To lere tham. a 1400 Iaumbres 122 For thame es alle my kare. 1513 DOUGLAS Æneis XIII. x. 88 Gyf thame happynis careit for to be Tyll ony wher sted. 1597 HOLINSHED Chron., Hist. Scot. I. 371/2 To yame that receyuit thy noble father ye Duke of Longcastell. 1641 in Row Hist. Kirk (Wodrow Soc.) p. xliii, Being found qualifeit be thame.

γ. 4 þem, 4– them, (5–6 theme).

c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. Wace (Rolls) 15336 Oure kynde ..Schal do þem bowe, maugre þayres. 13.. Cursor M. 13725 (Cott.) Him for to tak hitnix þem tua. c 1450– Them [see B. 4]. 1482 in Eng. Hist. Rev. XXV. 123 If ye wylle not, we bene purveyde of theme yat wylle. 1573 Satir. Poems Reform. xl. 21 To theme that was his fais.

B. Signification. I. Personal pronoun.

1. As pronoun of the third person plural, objective, direct and indirect (accusative and dative) of THEY. Also as antecedent pron. followed by relative, or prepositional phrase, and having then a demonstrative function, equivalent to those but less emphatic.

a. Direct object or accusative. (= L. eos, illos, G. sie.)

c 975 [see A. 8]. c 1200 [see A. a]. a 1300 Cursor M. 1228 He pam for-soke in all þer nedis. Ibid. 8218 He heild pam to paim for to kys. c 1330 [see A. γ]. 1470–85 MALORY Arthur x. lxix. 533 The grene knyghte hath..beten all them of Orkeney. 1474 Coventry Leet Bk. 389 To bye theym in þe Croschepyng. 1552 LYNDESAY Monarche 4822 Unoccupyit thay hald thame in thare neif. 1560 BIBLE (Genev.) Sam. II. 30 Them that honour me, I will honour. 1586 T. B. La Primaud. Fr. Acad. I. (1589) 383 Have them in great estimation and admiration. 1667 MILTON P. L. IX. 420 By Fountain or by shadie Rivulet He sought them both. 1864 J. H. NEWMAN Apol. iv. (1904) 125/1 Charges..which..I fully believed at the time when I made them.

b. Indirect object or dative. (= L. eis, illis, G. ihnen.)

c 1200 ORMIN 1142 Þatt he þeȝȝm..Forrȝæfe þeȝȝre gilltess. a 1300 Cursor M. 667 Witte and wisdam he þam gaue. 1375 BARBOUR Bruce I. 79 þis ordynance þaim thocht þe best. c 1400 Rule St. Benet 20 And by-kenne it taim þat best can serue god & te chuuen. c 1500 Hieroh. & Sion 269 in E. E. P. P. I. 151 The maryage of them ij. ys made. 1523 LD. BERNERS Froiss. I. cxxli. 353 He sent..and maue alyances with them thre. 1535 COVERDALE Jer. XXXV. 2 Gieue them wyne to drynke. 1656 EARL MORM. tr. Bocaddino's Advis. fr. Parnass. I. i. (1674) 2 If their Lord..do but cast an artificial smile them, they take it as..a reward. 1779 Mirror No. 23 ¶ 2 To show them what they are to understand. 1812 CRABBE Tales xviii, Men..whose pains, to understand, and prudence, brought them constant gains. Mod. I give them credit for good intentions.

c. As the object of a preposition.

c 1300 Harrow. Hell 29 (MS. E) Crist loked þaim vnto. c 1340 HAMPOLE Prose Tr. 28 þou will noghte tente to tham. 1474 CAXTON Chesse 7 Take not from them that is theyres. 1535 COVERDALE Ps. xvii[i]. 48 Thou shalt lift me vp from them that ryse agaynst me. 1663 GERBIER Counsel f vij, Letters, which the Ægiptians did attribute unto them. 1780 Mirror No. 96 ¶ 2 They are neither of them niggardly. 1847 TENNYSON Princess Concl. 68 Too solemn for the comic touches in them. Mod. What will he do with them?

d. Sometimes indefinitely, as objective case of THEY 3. colloq. or dialectal.

2. Often used for ' him or her ', referring to a singular person whose sex is not stated, or to anybody, nobody, somebody, whoever, etc. Cf. THEY 2.

1748 RICHARDSON Pamela III. 127 Little did I think..to make a..Complaint against a Person very dear to you, ..but dont let them be so proud..as to make them not care how they affront everybody else. 1853 MISS YONGE Heir of Redclyffe xliv, Nobody else..has so little to plague them. 1874 DASENT Half a Life II. 198 Whenever any one was ill, she brewed them a drink.

3. Used for the nominative they. a. As antecedent or demonstrative pronoun: = THOSE. Now only dial. or illiterate.

c 1489 CAXTON Sonnes of Aymon iii. 78 All the foure brethern, and all theym of theyr companye arayed them selfe. c 1530 LD. BERNERS Arth. L'pt. Bryt. 393 Blessyd be them that hath brought that about. 1581 MARBECK Bk. of Notes 150 Such are them to whom ye^n Lord doth giue his holy spirit. 1632 LITHGOW Trvv. VII. 333 In a moment, them of the Villages came downe on horse and foote. 1873 MURRAY Dial. S. Scotl. 184 Thaim at dyed in. 1891 BARRIE Little Minister iii, Them as says there's no has me to fecht.

a 1825 FORBY Voc. E. Anglia Introd. 141 Them are the women I meant. 1877 L. J. JENNINGS Field Paths iii. 47 Them be my two children. 1901 N. LLOYD Chronic Loafer i. 11 Them wasn't our only troubles.

b. As personal pronoun after than, as, and in the predicate after the verb to be. Common colloq., but considered incorrect grammatically.

1654–66 EARL ORRERY Parthen. (1676) 708 It was an impossibility that these could be them. 1777 MICKLE Cumnor Hall xix, How far less blest am I than them! 1845 E. WARBURTON Crescent & Cross I. 331 It was not them we wanted. 1888 ' J. S. WINTER ' Bootle's Children. xiv, It was them told me about her. 1888 ' R. BOLDERWOOD ' Robbery under Arms xxxiv, It was them or us..now. 1901 THEO. W. WILSON Bacca Queen xi. 89 Such as them enjoy themselfs.

II. 4. As reflexive pron. = themselves. (= L. se, sibi, G. sich.)

As direct or indirect obj. of vb. (arch.), or obj. of prep.

13.. Cursor M. 1713 þe mekne be þam ai tua and tua, þe wild do be þam-self al-sua. Ibid. 15757 (Cott.) þai fell þaim don vnto þe grund. 1375 BARBOUR Bruce I. 304 Gyff þat ony man þaim by Had ony thing þat wes worthy. c 1430 Syr Tryam. 770 The knyghtes gysed them fulle gay, And proved them fulle preste. 1535 COVERDALE Exod. xxxii. 8 They haue made them a molten calfe. a 1550 Christis Kirke Gr. xi, To dans thir damyselis thame dicht. 1565 COOPER Thesaurus, Rubricata,..roset colour that women vse to paynte them. 1794 MRS. RADCLIFFE Myst. Udolpho lvii, Superior attainments of every sort bring with them duties of superior exertion. 1848 J. H. NEWMAN Loss & Gain II. xx. (1904) 254 What a way those fellows have with them! 1855 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. xxii. IV. 697 They then bethought them of a new expedient.

III. 5. As demonstr. adj. = THOSE. Now only dial. or illiterate.

a. Qualifying an objective (direct or indirect). Also strengthened by adding there (ere, air).

1596 H. CLAPHAM Bible Hist. 92 To Samaria and them parties. 1598 BARRET Theor. Warres I. i. 4 The warres and weapons are now altered from them dayes. 1621 AINSWORTH Annot. Pentat. Gen. xviii. 6 Foure of them Logs make a Kab. 1726 CAVALIER Mem. III. 231 If I had but one of them Hangmen. 1809–12 MAR. EDGEWORTH Absentee xii, I hope, then, the agent will give you encouragement about them mines. 1840 THACKERAY Catherine vii, It was a rare rise we got out of them chaps. 1898 MRS. STOWE Pogeymac P. i, He don't believe in keeping none of them air prayer-book days.

b. Qualifying a nominative.

1607 TOPSELL Four-f. Beasts (1658) 126 Them few [dogs] which be kept must be tyed up in the day time. 1610 HEALEY Pivet' Commend St. Aug. Citie of God XII. xvi, Augustine..saith that them times were called eternall. 1778 J. CRANE in F. Chase Hist. Dartmouth (Mass.) Coll. (1891) I. 389 The major part tories, or them sort of creatures called neuters. 1842 S. LOVER Handy Andy xxviii, Them ribbons of yours cost a trifle, Kitty. 1889 TENNYSON Cawd Rob viii, ' Faithful an' True ' Them words be i' Scriptur. 1901 M. E. FRANCIS Flander's Widow II. v. 255 ' Them there legs o' yourn should be pretty well stretched by now.'

‖ Thema (þe·mă, þĕ·mă). Pl. themata (þe·mătă). [mod.L. thema, a. Gr. θέμα THEME.]

†1. The theme of a subject of a declamation or discourse; a position to be maintained or demonstrated; a thesis. Obs.

1531 ELYOT Gov. I. xiv, A case is appointed to be moted by certayne yonge men, contayuyng some doubteful controversie, which is the ende of the declamacion called thema. a 1734 NORTH Exam. I. i. § 8. (1740) 18 His grand Thema or Historical Position is, That King Charles II. was a concealed Papist. Ibid. II. § 47. 53 Another of the Author's Themata or Positions.

2. The stem-form of a word; = THEME 5.

1615 BEDWELL Arab. Trudg., Alkoran, the thema is not Karana, ...as they would make vs beleeue: but Kara, which signifieth, to read. 1883 Athenæum 6 Jan. 15/2 Scholars are still divided as to what thema or base to refer certain forms [of Icelandic nouns].

3. Mus. = THEME 4.

1801 BUSBY Dict. Mus. 187 GRAEME Beethoven ii. (1876) 27 Beethoven ..requested a theme for an improvisation.

4. A dissertation or thesis submitted for a degree; cf. THEME 3.

1888 Athenæum 28 July 129/3 'The Conflict of East and West in Egypt'..appears to be an enlargement of a thema for the doctorate of Columbia College.

Thematic (þĭmæ·tĭk), a (sb.) [ad. Gr. θεματικός, f. θέμα THEME: see -IC.] Of or pertaining to a theme or themes.

1. Of or pertaining to a subject or topic of discourse or writing. rare.

1871 tr. Lange's Comm. Jer. 104 These introductory verses thus require a thematic character.

†b. Logic. Relating to or connected with the matter or subject of thought. Obs.

1697 tr. Burgersdicius his Logic i. i. 2 A System of Logical Precepts consists of two Parts, Thematick and Organic. ..The first is that which is imploy'd about Theams, and their various Affections, and second Notions, as about the Matter of the Instruments of Logick.

2. Mus. Of, pertaining to, or constituting themes or subjects (see THEME 4); relating to themes and their contrapuntal development. In thematic catalogue, index, summary, = containing the opening themes or passages of musical pieces.

1864 Reader 21 May 660 A handy thematic summary of the work is given in the 'Orchestra' for last week. 1898 C. F. Pohl in Grove Dict. Mus. I. 66/2 The thematic catalogue which Mozart himself had kept of his works. 1906 Athenæum 1 Sept. 250/2 The thematic material has been carefully chosen, and its treatment shows thought and skill.

3. Gram. Of or pertaining to the theme or stem-form of a word: see THEME 5.

Thematic vowel, a vowel which comes between the root and the inflexion in a verb or sb., as the e and o in φέρ-ο-μεν, φέρ-ε-τε, the i, e, and a in OE. ber-i-þ, ber-e-þ, luf-a-ð.

1865 GOLDSTÜCKER Pāṇini 257 There must be reasons for this variety of thematic forms which constitute the declension of the same base. 1877 PAULLON Man. Comp. Philol. viii. (ed. 2) 167 Curtius..explains the vowel in question as a 'thematic vowel', i.e. a suffix to or increase of the stem or 'theme' previous to the reception of the inflections. 1889 COOK Sievers' O. E. Gram. 143 The thematic w being sometimes retained and sometimes lost. 1888 KENNEDY Revised Lat. Primer § 148 (1900) 94 Verbs..In which the Verb-Stem was formed by a so-called Thematic vowel added to the root.

B. as sb. That part of logic which deals with themes or subjects of thought. 1892 in Cent. Dict.

So thematical a. = thematic; thematically adv., in a thematic manner; with respect to a theme or themes; †The'matism Obs. nonce-wd. [ad. Gr. θεματισμός a laying down], a placing, arrangement; The'matist, one who composes or writes themes (Ogilvie, 1882).

1890 Athenæum 3 May 579/1 The 'thematical material in the four movements of the work is..interesting, and..the music is pleasantly unconventional. Ibid. 25 Jan. 125/2 Structurally as well as 'thematically we note a welcome advance towards clearness. 1799 SIMYCOMBE Artillery v. 334 The first then shall be the 'Thematism (from the Greek Word θεματισμός) which signifies the Decorum and Graceful-ness of any Pile.

Theme (þīm), sb. Forms: α. 4–6 teme, (4–5 teeme, 5 teem, 5–6 tyme). β. 4– theme, (6–7 theame, 6–8 theam). [a. OF. teme* (not in Godef.: but cf. tesme, with graphic s indicating vowel-length (13th c. in Godef. Compl.); also teume, thieume); in β conformed to L. thema, a. Gr. θέμα proposition, f. θε- root of τιθέναι to put, set, place, lay down. In 16–17th c. commonly spelt theam (þēm). Cf. ANTETHEME.]

1. The subject of discourse, discussion, conversation, meditation, or composition; a topic.

α. a 1300 Cursor M. 18495 (Gött.) Bot lenthius yald up his teme Bath to ioseph and to nichodeme. 13.. E. E. Allit. P. C. 358 þe twe tenor of his teme he tolde on his wyse. c 1380 WYCLIF Serm. Sel. Wks. I. 306 Crist..toke þe same word for his teme bat Baptist tolde whanne he preschide.

β. 13.. E. E. Allit. P. A. 943 þe nwe [Iherusalem] þat lyst of godes sonde, þe apostel in apocalyppce in theme con take, c 1386 CHAUCER Pard. Prol. 5 My theme [teeme, teme, teem, tyme] is alway oon and euere was Radix malorum est Cupiditas. 1489 CAXTON Paris & V. Prol., I vndertake this theme..because I haue all my life taken pleasure in the reading of Romances. 1570 GOODE Pop. Kingd. iv. 44 b, Now to my theame again. c 1600 [see THEME sb.]. 1640 MILTON Eikon. Ix, The overwom theme, and stuffing of all his discourses. 1708 Brit. Apollo No. 18. 3/2 And Love and Pleasure be my Endless Theam [prime name]. 1804 WELLINGTON in Gurw. Desp. (1837) III. 82 His Highness's notorious treachery..the theme of all the public dispatches. 1870 BRYANT Iliad VI. I. 200 A theme of song for men in time to come.

†b. transf. A subject treated by action (instead of by discourse, etc.); hence, that which is the cause of or for specified action, circumstance, or feeling; matter, subject. Obs.

1588 SHAKS. Tit. A. v. ii. 80 See heere he comes, and I must play my theame. 1602 — Ham. v. i. 289 Ham. Why I will fight with him vppon this Theme...Qu. Oh my sonne, what Theame? Ham. I loo'd Ophelia [etc.]. 1634 SIR T. HERBERT Trav. 120 An infallible Theame of endlesse troubles. 1713 SWIFT Cadenus & Vanessa 298 In vain, You form'd this project in your brain..Nor shall Vanessa be the theme To manage thy abortive scheme. 1806 H. SIDDONS Maid, Wife, & Widow I. 179 His son grew up to man's estate, and gave him further theme for uneasiness.

†c. Logic. That which is the subject of thought.

1620 T. GRANGER Dict. Logike 1 The externall is euery Theme, or matter propounded, whereof a man discourseth, or may discourse by his reason. 1697 tr. Burgersdicius his Logic i. ii. 2 A Theme is whatsoever may be propos'd to the Understanding to be known. Themes are either Simple or Composed. 1725 WATTS Logic I. ii. § 1 Every object of our idea is called a theme, whether it be a being or not-being; for not-being may be proposed to our..thoughts, as well as that which has a real being.

†2. spec. The text of a sermon; also, a proposition to be discussed. Obs. (or merged in 1).

α. 1362 LANGL. P. Pl. A. iii. 86 A Sermoun he made,..And tolde hem þis teeme [v. r. teme]. Ibid. viii. 122 Thou mihtest preche whom þe liste, Quoniam literaturam non cognoui shalt be þi Teeme! c 1440 Promp. Parv. 488/1 Teme, of a sermone, thema. 1513 MORE Rich. III, Wks. 60/2 He toke for his tyme spiritu vitulamina non agent rudices altas. That is to say bastard slippes shal neuer take deep roote. 1530 PALSGR. 281/2 Tyme of a sermonde, theme.

β. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) VIII. 151 (MS. a) He took a theme [L. sumpto themate] of holy writ, and gan to precie. 1432–50 tr. Higden ibid., This theme of scripture. c 1530 L. Cox Rhet. (1899) 44 The theme of Tullyes oracyon or plee for Milo was thys, that he had slayne Clodius lawfully. 1560 DAUS Sleidane's Comm. 367 The deuines had Themes geuen them to discusse and reason vpon. c 1566 Merie Tales of Skelton S.'s Wks. 1843 I. p. lxi, He dyd take that for hys antethem, the which of late dayes is named a theme, and sayde, Qui se exaltat [etc.]. 1594 T. B. La Primaudaye Fr. Acad. I. 590 In the pulpit not only to be but vanitie, according to Salomons theame, which hee handleth in his booke of the Preacher. 1618 HALES Rem., Lett. fr. Synod of Dort II. 50 He took for his Theme the 122. Psalm.

3. An exercise written on a given subject, esp. a school essay; an exercise in translation. Now rare.

1545–7 in Archæologia XXXIV. 41 After none they [form III] have a theme to be made in Latin. 1548 PETER Guavno's Civ. Conv. II. (1586) 59 Like a schoolemaister, which doth dictate or rehearse to his schollers some Theame or Epistle. 1644 MILTON Areop. (Arb.) 56 The theam of a Grammar lad. 1730 CIBBER Apol. (1756) I. 72 I remember I was once whipp'd for my theme. 1824 in Grant Burgh Sch. Scott. (1876) II. iv. 154 The Rector dictated an English theme to be translated into Latin. 1878 BOSW. SMITH Carthage 263 In Juvenal's time Roman schoolboys declaimed upon it in their weekly themes.

4. Mus. The principal melody, plainsong, or canto fermo in a contrapuntal piece; hence, any one of the principal melodies or motives in a sonata, symphony, etc.; a subject; also, a simple tune on which variations are constructed.

[1597 MORLEY Introd. Mus. 86 Your plainsong is as it were your theme, and your descant as it were your declamation.] 1609 PLAYFORD Skill Mus. iii 2 It was usual with them to have a Tenor as a Theam, to which they were compelled to adapt their other Parts. 1854 Cherubini's Counterpoint 63 The subject, or theme of the fugue, should neither be too long nor too short. 1866 ROSEN Nat. Mus. iii. 103 A manifold and clever treatment of the motives of which the theme consists, contributes especially to the oneness and clearness of a musical composition.

5. Philol. The inflexional base or stem of a word, consisting of the 'root' with modification or addition; thus in Gr. λύπεον and τέμενον, the roots are λυπ, τεμ, the present themes or stems λυπ-, τεμ-; in τέκνον, the root is τεκ, the theme τεκνο-.

Formerly applied to the 1 pers. sing. pres. indic. of a verb; later identified with root (as in Greek); the modern application began with Curtius.

1530 PALSGR. Introd. 31 The fyrst [conjugation]..hath his thre chefe rotes, his theme, his preterit participle, and his present infynityve ever of many syllables. Ibid., The thyrde [conjugation] hath his theme most commenly in S.. as je voys, je prens, je dis. 1580 HOLLYBAND Treas. Fr. Tong. I call the Theame, speaking to the vnskilfull in the Latine tong, whereby we begin to decline a Verbe. 1615 BEDWELL Indæx Assurat. O iij, The theame or roote, as they call it, from whence it [Koran] is deriued, is..Kara'. 1748 WATTS Improv. Mind i. vii. § 6 In reducing the words to their original or theme. 1870 F. A. MARCH Compar. Gram. Agx. § 60 The variable final letters of a noun are its case-endings, the rest is its theme. 1875 WHITNEY Life Lang. x. 207 In the derivative theme or base.

6. Astrol. The disposition of the heavenly bodies at a particular time, as at the moment of a person's birth. Cf. HOROSCOPE sb.

1652 GAULE Magastrom. 293 Augustus had..such a confidence in this fatidical praesagition, that he diuulged his natalitial theme. 1727–41 CHAMBERS Cycl., Theme, among astrologers, denotes the figure they construct when they draw the horoscope; repre-senting the state of the heavens for a certain point, or moment required; i.e. the places of the stars, and planets, for that moment. 1775 ASH Dict., Theme, ..a horoscope in astrology. [1819 WILSON Dict. Astrol., Thema cœli, a figure of the heavens.]

7. Ancc. Hist. Each of the twenty-nine provinces into which the Byzantine empire was divided.

1788 GIBBON Decl. & F. xlviii. V. 13 The Anatolian theme or province. Ibid. iiii. 464 An accurate survey of the provinces, the themes, as they were then denominated, both of Europe and Asia. 1854 BRYCE Holy Rom. Emp. ix. (1889) 135 Nicephorus demanded the 'theme' or province of Rome as the price of compliance.

8. attrib. and Comb., as theme-maker.

a 1661 HOLYDAY Juvenal To Rdr., Surely thou wilt acknowledge Juvenal to be a poet, but Horace to be some poor theme-maker.

Hence Theme v. trans., to furnish with a theme or subject; The'meless a., without a theme, having no theme; The'mer, one who sets or proposes a theme; Themester (þĭ·mstəɹ), one who labours at a theme (contemptuous).

1594 R. SOUTHWELL St. Peters Compl., etc. To Rdr., This †theames my heavie penne to plaine in prose. 1641 J. JACKSON True Evang. T. 110 [Points] capable to be spread out so as to theame the Preachers speech. 1840 CALT Demon of Destiny vi. 41 The †themeless babble of his idiot child. 1611 TARLTON Jests (1844) 28 Such commendations Tarlton got, that hee supt with the bailiffs that night, where my †theamer durst not come, although he were sent for. 1843 Blackw. Mag. LIV. 105 Where now, base †themester?

Theme, obs. f. TEAM (sense 8); also of THEM.

Themel, -elle, obs. forms of THIMBLE.

‖ Themis (þe·mis), þĭ·mis). [a. Gr. Θέμις, goddess of law and order, Justice personified.]

1. Name of the ancient Greek goddess of law and justice; hence, Law or Justice personified.

1656 BLOUNT Glossogr., Themis, the Godesse of Justice, that gave out Oracles at Bœotia. 1784 COWPER Task III. 257 Such thing, in whom God and British Themis gloried with just cause, Immortal Hale. 1880 J. PAYN Confid. Agent iv, She found a rival, not in Themis, but in Isabel Thurlow.

2. Astron. Name of the twenty-fourth of the Asteroids, discovered 5 April 1853 by De Gasparis.

Themistian (þĭmi·stĭăn). Ch. Hist. [f. Themisti-us, name of the founder of the sect (see quot. 1882–3) + -AN.] In plural: A sect of the MONOPHYSITES who attributed to Christ imperfect knowledge. Cf. AGNOITES.

1874 in BLUNT Dict. Sects, Heresies, &c. 1882–3 Schaff's Encyc. Relig. Knowl. I. 36 The second sect (founded, in the sixth century by Themistius, deacon of Alexandria), sometimes called the Themistians. 1883 Cath. Dict. (1885) 598/1 The Themistians, or Agnoetæ, held that the human element in Christ before his resurrection was subject to ignorance.

Themselves (ðĕmse·lvz), pron. pl. Forms: see THEM and SELF. [The original construction was nom., acc. hi, heo selfe, dat. heom selfum, whence ME. hemselve(n, etc. In 14th c. this was superseded in north. dial. by þaim self(e, þaim selven, and in Standard Eng. themself was the normal form to c 1540, but disappeared c 1570. Themselfs, themselves appears c 1500, and became the standard form c 1540. For theirself, theirselves, see III.]

I. Emphatic. = Those very persons or things.

1. Standing in apposition with the pronoun they (rarely them), or with a sb., or adj. used subst.

α. 13.. Cursor M. 3708 (Cott.) Bot þat bliisses þe Sal þam-self blessed be. Ibid. 8131 (Gött.) þaim-selue again þai tok hair sty [Cott. þamself a-gain tok þai stil], And went þaim pan to ethiopy. c 1460 Towneley Myst. xxx. 566 Thare neghburs thai demyd Thaym self as it semyd. 1533 MORE Apol. 7 b, They se full well them self, that they saye not trew.

γ. 1502 in Lett. Rich. III & Hen. VII (Rolls) II. 107 Thei them selves couilde not acertayne us of the tyme. 1555 EDEN Decades To Rdr. (Arb.) 53 More monstrous then the monsters theim selues. 1561 T. HOBY tr. Castiglione's Courtyer II. (1577) I vij b, Oftentimes to them themselues, they thrust out filthy and most dishonest wordes. 1651 HOWELL Venice 143 Approv'd of by the Popes Breve's themselfs. 1779 Mirror No. 54 P. 7 You tell us the effects of your feelings, child; but you don't distinguish the feelings themselves. 1820 CRABBE Borough ii. 110 Monuments themselves memorials need. 1872 HARDY Under Greenw. Tree Pref., Music-paper (whi-h they mostly ruled themselves). 1876 GLADSTONE Gleanr. (1897) II. 293 Themselves knowing nothing of difficulty, or of obscurity...they are liable to be intolerant of other men who stumble.

2. Used alone for emphasis as a simple nominative. arch.

α. 1512 Helyas in Thoms Prose Rom. (1828) III. 30 Thinnuiries that them self had made. 1549 COVERDALE, etc. Erasm. Par. Rom. 38 Vnlearned people..., whiche thinke nothing rightful, but that them selfe do.

β. 13.. Cursor M. 23517 (Edin.) God..louis þaim als his auen sonis, Mar þan þaim-selwin lof þair drihe [Cott. Mare þan þam-selven luue þai dright].

γ. 1542 UDALL Erasm. Apoph. 105 Theimselfes by great pielage...doce growe dayly & encrease in welthe. 1624 BEDWELL Lett. x. 135 Themselues don vtterly denie it. 1726 SWIFT Contests Nobles & Com. Wks. 1755 II. i. 51 To remember how themselves sate in fear of their persons. 1853 LYNCH Self-Improv. ii. 44 People's timorousness .. shows how insecurely grounded themselves are.

b. To be themselves: to be in their normal condition of mind, body, or behaviour: see SELF D. I.

1698 LISTER in Phil. Trans. XX. 247 They came so out of their Fits, that they were also well and as much themselves as ever. 1698 FRYER Acc. E. India & P. 379 Yet those..are always as lean as Skeletons, and seldom themselves.

3. As emphatic objective. Now chiefly as object of a preposition.

1375 Barbour Bruce xiii. 234 Ane of them-selwyne that wes thar Capitane of thame all thai maid. *c*1400 Destr. Troy 1589 To wilde and to se as þaim selfe lyked. *c*1450 Lydg. Min. Poems (Percy Soc.) 108 But ye move of themselfe, for sothe they thynke yt ryghte nowghte. 1711 Addison Spect. No. 26 ¶ 5 The Monuments of their [Dutch] Admirals .. represent them like themselves. 1764 Reid Inquiry i. § 1 We would know the works of God, we must consult themselves with attention and humility. 1825 Scott Betrothed xxvi, They have .. sacked the houses of the Flemings, spoiled their goods, misused their families, and murdered themselves. 1897 — Surg. Dan. v. But you are one of themselves, you know—Middlemas of that Ilk.

II. Reflexive: — L. sibi, se; F. se, soi; G. sich.

4. As direct obj. (accusative), indirect obj. (dative), or object of a preposition.

a. 13.. Cursor M. 386 (Cott.) Alkin things ground..in þam self þaire seding bere. Ibid. 16455 þat ches þaim-self damphadion. *c*1489 Caxton Sonnes of Aymon xxiv. 518 They putte themself so to flighte. 1493 Beverley MSS. in Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm. XLVI. 620 That the Drapers shall have a confraternitie emong thame self..as other crafts habe. *a*1548 Hall Chron., Edw. IV 239 Hys heyres and successors..by them self, or their deputie should offer a hart of lyke weight and value. *c*1550 R. Bieston Bayte Fortune B iv b, All men..Enforce them selfe to please him.

b. 13.. Cursor M. 801 (Gött.) Þan þai sau þaim seluen bare. Ibid. 3455 (Cott.) Þi bayn and o þam seluen might [Gött. þaim seluen; Fairf. þam-seluen; Trin. hem self]. 1375 Barbour Bruce i. 502 Fayn to mak thaim-selwyn fre. 1419 in Ellis Orig. Lett. Ser. ii. I. 73 They kepe this good emonge thaim selven.

γ. 1502 in Lett. Rich. III & Hen. VII (Rolls) II. 107 Thei wold confesse them selves to be there as commissioners. *a*1548 Hall Chron., Hen. VIII 235 b, The rennnaut..kept ouer the castle wall, and so smoted themselves. 1565 Spalding tr. Bede's Hist. 163 [They] did cast lots equally amongst them selfs. 1611 Bible Gen. iii. 7 They..made themselues aprons. 1617 Moryson Itin. iii. 70 The dores..by waights are made to shut themselves. 1640 Parker Ecclesiast. Polity iii. 11 Whose whole life is to eat..and laugh themselves fat. 1779 Mirror No. 17 ¶ 15 Not to make fools of themselves. 1818 Scott Rob Roy xxvi, These Highlands of ours..are but a wild kind of world by themselfs. 1889 Manch. Examr. 16 Sept., 5/2 The points on which they differ among themselves.

5. In concord with a singular pronoun or sb. denoting a person, in cases where the meaning implies more than one, as when the sb. is qualified by a distributive, or refers to either sex: = himself or herself. Cf. They 2, Them 2.

a. 1464 Rolls of Parlt. V. 513/2 Inheritements, of which any of the seid persones..was seised by them self, or joyntly with other. *c*1489 Caxton Sonnes of Aymon i. 39 Eche of theym sholde..make theymselfe yedy. 1533 More Apol. 55 b, Neyther Tyndale there nor thys prycher..hath by theyr maner of expounynge..wonne them self mych wurshyp.

b. 1600 Shaks. Lucr. 125 Every one to rest themselves [ed. 1594 himselfe] betakes. 1694-96 Earl Orrery Parthen. (1676) 147 All that happened, which every one assured themselves, would render him a large sharer in the general joy. 1874 Dasent Half a Life 3 Every one likes to keep it to themselves as long as they can.

†6. From the 14th c. there has been a tendency to treat self as a sb. (= person, personality), and substitute their for them (cf. his self, Himself IV.).

This is prevalent dialectally, but in literary Eng. has place only where an adj. intervenes, as their own, sweet, very selves. See Self C. 12, and cf. Ourself, Ourselves.

a. 13.. Cursor M. 3378 (Cott.) Ho ches þam ware þair-self will mense. Ibid. 6968 (Fairf.) Hes ledde of þe twelue Had an ouer-man be paine [v. rr. ham, þaim, hem] selue. *c*1440 Alphabet of Tales 110 þai wil commend þer selfe vnto þe deuill. *c*1490 Caxton Rule St. Benet xxxiii. 129 Nor it is lefull yet to haue a kyng or to theyrself prope. 1545 Ascham Toxoph. (Arb.) 101 They may hit a nother I trow and neuer take blow theyr selfe. Mod. Sc. Thai offert to dui't thersel.

b. 13.. Cursor M. 3708 (Fairf.) Alle þa atte blessis þe Sal þaire-selven [Gött. þaim selue] blessed be.

γ. 1500-20 Dunbar Poems xxiii. 27 Quhen thair baggis ar full thair selfis ar bair. 1525 Lb. Berners Froiss. II. 473 They had great despyte to poyle their selfes. *a*1560 A. Scott Poems (S.T.S.) xxx. 20 Till thay mischeif pair selfis. *a*1568 Ascham Scholem. (Arb.) 97 Liking it well their selves, 1659 Gauden Slight Healers (1660) 47 To commend their skill to the publique, by giving some good experiments on their selves. 1798 Mood. Algiers I. Pref. 22 They swear that they themselves have been no less scandalized than I myself. *a*1836 Boothroyd Bible Ps. xxxvii. 2 They themselves stumbled and fell. Mod. Sc. Thai beikit thersel's in the sun.*

Themyl, -ylle, obs. (ME.) ff. Thimble.

Then (ðen), adv. (conj., adj., sb.) Forms: see below. [OE. þanne, þynne, þænne, þennne, ME. þenne, þan, þen, = OFris. thenne, thanne, than, OS. thanna, than (MDu. danne, dan, Du. dan), OHG. danne, denne (MHG. danne, denne, G. dann); cf. also Goth. þan; adverbial formations from the demonstr. root þa-: cf. That, The.

See also Than conj., orig. the same word, which in both senses varied in ME. and 16th c. between then and than. So Mod. Ger. now has dann adv. 'then', denn conj. 'than'; Du. has dan in both senses. The history in O'Teut. presents many points of difficulty: see Fer Persson in Indog. Forsch. II. 206, Van Helten in Paul & Br. Beitr. XXVIII. 564-5.]

A. Illustration of Forms.

a. 1–3 (5) þonne.

898 Þonne [see B. 1]. 971 Blickl. Hom. 11 Ond þæt geweorþeþ on domes dæge..þonne forhtiaþ ealle geceafta.

*c*1205 Lay. 711 Þonne [c 1275 wanne] men gað to bedde. [*a*1425 Cursor M. 7961 (Trin.) Dauid gat þitt a son þonne [rime salomonne].]

β. 1–5 þanne, (3–4 þanne, 3–4 þane, 4 thane, 4–5 thanne.

892-89 Charter of Ælfred in O. E. Texts 451 þanne þeselle ic ce penings selwyne þere. Ibid. 452 Þanne sam ic ðem.. calles mines erfes to brucenne. *c*1200 Ormin 221, & tanne comm he siþþenn ut. Ibid., Þanne [see B. 1]. *c*1205 Lay. 1546 Þane [c 1275 wanne] he wule..scaðe werchen. *c*1300 Cursor M. 353 (Cott.) Hit sal be redeymp þanne [Gr. þanne, F. þan]. Arch. 218 (Edin.) Ihe praskis..Þis croce was tanne man wont to se. *c*1330 Assump. Virg. 767 But þei sawe in þat stede þanne Liand as it were amana [= manna]. *c*1375 Sc. Leg. Saints xii. (Mathias) 353 Þanne kyste [= cast] þai cuttis til assay. *c*1440 Jacob's Well (E.E.T.S.) 191 Þanne þis heued preyere doth þe no profyt.

γ. 1–3 þænne.

*c*1000 Ags. Ps. (Th.) xcv[i]. 5 Heofonas þænne worhte halig Drihten. *c*1050 Byrhtferth's Handboc in Anglia VIII. 306 Swa þela iuda beoð þænne on þam dæge & on þure mihte. *c*1205 Lay. 9521 Þænne beoð hit þe wurse.

δ. 2–5 þenne, (3 þeonne), 4 þenne, 4–6 thenne, 5 þeynne, þynne, thynne, theynne.

*c*1175 Lamb. Hom. 135 Þenne þeos folkes larþeow his sed wule sawen. *c*1205 Lay. 12037 [They] iseȝen seliþen an & an..þeonne [c 1275 þenn] hoseȝen þine. *c*1275 Sc. Leg. Saints xxxi. (Eugenia) 106 þe oure-men þat þe cite gouernyt þene. *c*1420 Avow. Arth. xxx, Thenne wakmut the king. *c*1450 Chron. Vilod. 2078 Alle þey þenne for hurre grete wo þey made. Ibid. 2093 And sore weptione and snobbedone þeynne. Ibid. 3253 He was kyng of Englonde set þynne. 1600 St. Papers Eliz., Domestic CLXXVIII. No. 78 (P.R.O.) Thenne he was at the same play.

ε. 2–4 þann, 3–4 þan (tan), 4–7 (dial. –9) than (5 þon); 4–5 þen, 5– then.

*c*1200 Ormin 4197 Domess dazz, þann all mannkinn shall risenn. *c*1275 Lay. 6396 Morbidus þe bolde warþ þan a-bolwe. 13.. Cursor M. 367 (Gött.) Þe world..þat sçit was þan [Cott. tan] of forme vnschapin. Ibid. 3620 (Cott.) Fra þan [c 1375 F. þen] wit lahan duelled he. *c*1400 Ywaine & Gaw. 805 Hastily þan went þai all And soght him. *a*1425 Cursor M. 6152 (Trin.) Þei were wherinne þei to go bigon Sik knowledge þoundone fote men þon [all other MSS. bigan ..þan]. *c*1440 Then [see B. 4]. *c*1450 St. Cuthbert (Surtees) 1503 It falles oft þen and þen. *a*1568 Ascham Scholem. Pref. (Arb.) 17, I was glad than and do rejoice yet. 1643 Denham Cooper's Hill 235 Than did Religion in a lazy Cell In empty, aery Contemplations dwell.

B. Signification.

* Demonstrative adverb of time.

1. At that time. (Referring to a specified time, past or future: opposed to Now 1.)

† Then as, at the time that, when (= sense 6): see As B. 27.

Beowulf 1456 Næs þæt þonne mæstest mægen-fultuma þæt him on ðearfe lah ðyle hroð-gares. 898 O. E. Chron. an. 894 Swa hit þonne fierdlesa wæs. *c*1200 Ormin 4200 Whase þanne [at doomsday] wurþiþ beoþ To takenn eche blisse. *a*1300 Cursor M. 14506 (Cott.) Biscops war þai þan [Trin. þo] a-bute. *c*1330 R. Brunne Trans. x. 492 Sir Walter Aston, then Leiger Ambassadour there. 1793 J. Brown Poetry & Mus. v. 67 Melody had then its greatest Power, when the Melody was most confined in its Compass. 1796 Lamb Let. to Coleridge 13 June, I hope to be able to pay you a visit (if you are then at Bristol) some time in August. 1857 Buckle Civilis. I. xiii. 717 History, as it was then written.

† b. Strengthened by as preceding: see As B. 34 a.

1456 Sir G. Hayr Law Armis (S.T.S.) 226 The autoritee of the grete officer sloklis as than..the autoritee of the smallare officer. *c*1490 Henry Wallace i. 375 Off that labour as than he was nocht sle. 1523-1633 [see As B. 34 a].

C. At the time defined by a relative or other clause (with verb in pres. tense). (Cf. Now 4.)

1340 Hampole Pr. Conse. 468 Þan has a man les wyght þan a beste When he es born. 1456 Sir G. Hayr Law Armis (S.T.S.) 120 It foloweis noch ane verin of Rome Is alswele in his curage than as before. 1567 Maplet Gr. Forest A viij, As it is with yse which dissoluieth, then when it vanisheth away. *a*1644 Quarles Sol. Recant. Sol. xii. 49 Give him the firstlings of thy strength, even than When fading Childehood seeks to cheer man Upon thy downy cheeks. 1772 Toplady Hymn, 'Your harps, ye trembling saints' vii, When we in darkness walk,..Then is the time to trust our God. 1908 [Miss E. Fowler] Betw. Trent & Anchoret 43 Then is the time to turn our backs upon the sun.

d. Then and there († then there), at that precise time and place; immediately and on the spot. (Also there and then: see There adv. 13.)

1436 Rolls of Parlt. IV. 498 Ye said William..putte hir in a stronge chaumbre till nyght; and yen yere..felonously..rayvysshed ye said Isabell. 1442 Ibid. V. 42/1 Which entre ..was blamed and there gainsted. 1587 in Picton Pool Munic. Rec. (1883) I. 63 It was then and there concluded by a general consent. 1600 Abp. Abbot Exp. Jonah 220 To be brought to the pits brinke, and then and there to be stayed. 1662 Stillingfleet Betrothed 20, Constable De Lacy ..was then and there to deliver to the Flemings a royal charter of their immunities. 1889 Jerome Three Men in Boat 212 We had insisted..that the things should be sent with us then and there.

2. Now and then, † then and then (obs.), at one time and at another, at various times, at intervals, occasionally (cf. here and there). Now..then.., at one time..at another time. (See also Now 6 b, 7 b.)

*c*1205 Lay. 711 Þonne [c 1275 wanne] men gað to bedde. [*a*1425 Cursor M. 7961 (Trin.) Dauid gat þitt a son þonne [rime salomonne].]

β. 1–5 þanne, (3–4 þane, 4 thane, 4–5 thanne.

892-89 Charter of Ælfred in O. E. Texts 451 þanne þeselle ic ce penings selwyne þere. Ibid. 452 Þanne sam ic ðem.. calles mines erfes to brucenne. *c*1200 Ormin 221, & tanne comm he siþþenn ut. Ibid., Þanne [see B. 1]. *c*1205 Lay. 1546 Þane [c 1275 wanne] he wule..scaðe werchen. *c*1300 Cursor M. 353 (Cott.) Hit sal be redeymp þanne [Gr. þanne, F. þan]. Arch. 218 (Edin.) Ihe praskis..Þis croce was tanne man wont to se. *c*1330 Assump. Virg. 767 But þei sawe in þat stede þanne Liand as it were amana [= manna]. *c*1375 Sc. Leg. Saints xii. (Mathias) 353 Þanne kyste [= cast] þai cuttis til assay. *c*1440 Jacob's Well (E.E.T.S.) 191 Þanne þis heued preyere doth þe no profyt.

γ. 1–3 þænne.

*c*1000 Ags. Ps. (Th.) xcv[i]. 5 Heofonas þænne worhte halig Drihten. *c*1050 Byrhtferth's Handboc in Anglia VIII. 306 Swa þela iuda beoð þænne on þam dæge & on þure mihte. *c*1205 Lay. 9521 Þænne beoð hit þe wurse.

δ. 2–5 þenne, (3 þeonne), 4 þenne, 4–6 thenne, 5 þeynne, þynne, thynne, theynne.

*c*1175 Lamb. Hom. 135 Þenne þeos folkes larþeow his sed wule sawen. *c*1205 Lay. 12037 [They] iseȝen seliþen an & an..þeonne [c 1275 þenn] hoseȝen þine. *c*1275 Sc. Leg. Saints xxxi. (Eugenia) 106 þe oure-men þat þe cite gouernyt þene. *c*1420 Avow. Arth. xxx, Thenne wakmut the king. *c*1450 Chron. Vilod. 2078 Alle þey þenne for hurre grete wo þey made. Ibid. 2093 And sore weptione and snobbedone þeynne. Ibid. 3253 He was kyng of Englonde set þynne. 1600 St. Papers Eliz., Domestic CLXXVIII. No. 78 (P.R.O.) Thenne he was at the same play.

ε. 2–4 þann, 3–4 þan (tan), 4–7 (dial. –9) than (5 þon); 4–5 þen, 5– then.

*c*1200 Ormin 4197 Domess dazz, þann all mannkinn shall risenn. *c*1275 Lay. 6396 Morbidus þe bolde warþ þan a-bolwe. 13.. Cursor M. 367 (Gött.) Þe world..þat sçit was þan [Cott. tan] of forme vnschapin. Ibid. 3620 (Cott.) Fra þan [c 1375 F. þen] wit lahan duelled he. *c*1400 Ywaine & Gaw. 805 Hastily þan went þai all And soght him. *a*1425 Cursor M. 6152 (Trin.) Þei were wherinne þei to go bigon Sik knowledge þoundone fote men þon [all other MSS. bigan ..þan]. *c*1440 Then [see B. 4]. *c*1450 St. Cuthbert (Surtees) 1503 It falles oft þen and þen. *a*1568 Ascham Scholem. Pref. (Arb.) 17, I was glad than and do rejoice yet. 1643 Denham Cooper's Hill 235 Than did Religion in a lazy Cell In empty, aery Contemplations dwell.

B. Signification.

* Demonstrative adverb of time.

1. At that time. (Referring to a specified time, past or future: opposed to Now 1.)

† Then as, at the time that, when (= sense 6): see As B. 27.

Beowulf 1456 Næs þæt þonne mæstest mægen-fultuma þæt him on ðearfe lah ðyle hroð-gares. 898 O. E. Chron. an. 894 Swa hit þonne fierdlesa wæs. *c*1200 Ormin 4200 Whase þanne [at doomsday] wurþiþ beoþ To takenn eche blisse. *a*1300 Cursor M. 14506 (Cott.) Biscops war þai þan [Trin. þo] a-bute. *c*1330 R. Brunne Trans. x. 492 Sir Walter Aston, then Leiger Ambassadour there. 1793 J. Brown Poetry & Mus. v. 67 Melody had then its greatest Power, when the Melody was most confined in its Compass. 1796 Lamb Let. to Coleridge 13 June, I hope to be able to pay you a visit (if you are then at Bristol) some time in August. 1857 Buckle Civilis. I. xiii. 717 History, as it was then written.

† b. Strengthened by as preceding: see As B. 34 a.

1456 Sir G. Hayr Law Armis (S.T.S.) 226 The autoritee of the grete officer sloklis as than..the autoritee of the smallare officer. *c*1490 Henry Wallace i. 375 Off that labour as than he was nocht sle. 1523-1633 [see As B. 34 a].

c. At the time defined by a relative or other clause (with verb in pres. tense). (Cf. Now 4.)

1340 Hampole Pr. Conse. 468 Þan has a man les wyght þan a beste When he es born. 1456 Sir G. Hayr Law Armis (S.T.S.) 120 It foloweis noch ane verin of Rome Is alswele in his curage than as before. 1567 Maplet Gr. Forest A viij, As it is with yse which dissoluieth, then when it vanisheth away. *a*1644 Quarles Sol. Recant. Sol. xii. 49 Give him the firstlings of thy strength, even than When fading Childehood seeks to cheer man Upon thy downy cheeks. 1772 Toplady Hymn, 'Your harps, ye trembling saints' vii, When we in darkness walk,..Then is the time to trust our God. 1908 [Miss E. Fowler] Betw. Trent & Anchoret 43 Then is the time to turn our backs upon the sun.

d. Then and there († then there), at that precise time and place; immediately and on the spot. (Also there and then: see There adv. 13.)

1436 Rolls of Parlt. IV. 498 Ye said William..putte hir in a stronge chaumbre till nyght; and yen yere..felonously..rayvysshed ye said Isabell. 1442 Ibid. V. 42/1 Which entre ..was blamed and there gainsted. 1587 in Picton Pool Munic. Rec. (1883) I. 63 It was then and there concluded by a general consent. 1600 Abp. Abbot Exp. Jonah 220 To be brought to the pits brinke, and then and there to be stayed. 1662 Stillingfleet Betrothed 20, Constable De Lacy ..was then and there to deliver to the Flemings a royal charter of their immunities. 1889 Jerome Three Men in Boat 212 We had insisted..that the things should be sent with us then and there.

2. Now and then, † then and then (obs.), at one time and at another, at various times, at intervals, occasionally (cf. here and there). Now..then.., at one time..at another time. (See also Now 6 b, 7 b.)

enchesome or than name, Thai hangyt he the nekhane. 1513 Douglas Æneis v. vi. 43 Quhiddir thou be Dyane,..Or than sum goddes of the nymphis kynd. 1596 Dalrymple tr. Leslie's Hist. Scot. (S. T. S.) I. 7 Verie conuenient to feid horse or nout, or flockis of scheip or gait, or than grett harte and hyme. 1654 Gurnhurnhurn Lett. (1881) 500 Pray Him to tarry, or then to take us with Him. 1656 Ibid. 320 They are..valuing Him at their unworthy halfpenny or else exchanging and bartering Christ with the miserable old fallen house of this vain world, or then they lend Him out upon interest. 1825 Jamieson s.v., Come hame sune, or than I'll be angry.

5. (As a particle of inference, often unemphatic or enclitic.) That being the case; since that is so; on that account; therefore, consequently, as may be inferred; so. Now then: see Now 9 b.

971 Blickl. Hom. 39 Us is þonne mycel neþeard þæt we geleugon to him. c 1250 Hali Meid. 15 Ne his þa þenne sarliche..akast & in to þewdom idrahen. 1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 2491 Sire graunte me þanne..As moche place as mid a þuong ich may aboute tille. 13.. Cursor M. 5987 (Gött.) Wend on þanne, siþen ye will ga. c 1400 Apol. Loll. 1 It is certayn þan, þowe he be his seruant. Ya 1500 Wycket (1828) p. v, Why shoulde it then be taken awaye frome us. 1539 Bible (Great) 2 Sam. iii. 18 Now then do it. 1598 Shaks. Merry W. ii. ii. 35 Fal. Good-morrow, good-wife. Qui. Not so, and't please your worship. Fal. Good-morrow, good maid then. 1600 — A. Y. L. iv. iii. 176 Well then, take a good heart, and counterfeit to be a man. 1668 Milton P. L. The Verse, This neglect then of Rime so little is to be taken for a defect..that [etc.]. 1779 Goldsm. Sleep to Cowper v. ii, Hast. This is a riddle. Tony. Riddle me this then. 1822 Scott Kenilw. xx, 'Ha!' said the Countess, hastily; 'that rumour then is true, Janet'. 1884 W. C. Smith Kildrostan 86 Vil give up our cruise, then, after all?

 As relative or conjunctive adv. of time.

† 6. At the time that; when. Obs.

971 Blickl. Hom. 17 þonne se mona wanaþ, þonne tacnaþ he ure deaþlicnesse. c 1000 Ælfric Colloq. in Wr.-Wülcker 102/13 Swyþe waxxeorn eart þu, þonne [L. cum] þu ealle þingc etst. 1056-66 Inscr. Kirkhalle Ch., Yorks., Orin..þohte sunes þegnriws minster þonne hi ælces ar tolcnan. 1166 c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 35 Ne beo he nefre swa riche, forð he scal þenne is dei cumeð. c 1200 Ormin 8401 He wass, þanne he þiderr for, Neþ off an þeresse elde. a 1250 Owl & Night. 420 (Cott.) Þu forbeotest wiþ me onne þane ure blisse cumeþ to londe. c 1300 Harrow. Hell (MS. E.) 37 þan iesu hadde spilt his blod For our sinnes on þe rode, He nam him þe rist way Vuto helle. c 1425 Eng. Conf. 4 Than hir lord hit herde, he was therof sore sorowe. c 1440 Sir Eglam. 286 Then hys hownslys began to baye, That harde [= heard] the jaun, ta:ere he laye.

* As sb. or adj.

7. Preceded by a preposition, as by, since, till, etc. (= by, etc. that time). (Cf. Now 13.)

a 1300 Cursor M. 10953 (Cott.) Als he forwit [Gött. biforе] þan was wott. 1340 Hampole Pr. Conse. 4647 Fra þan Till þe day of dome. c 1400 R. Glouc. Chron. (Rolls) App. G. 258 King belin after þan to þis lond gan wende. c 1430 Chev. Assigne 143 By penne was þe hermyte go in-to þe wode. 1509 Br. Fisher Funeral Serm. C'less of Richmond Wks. (E. E. T. S.) I. 294 The matynes of our lady, which kepte her to then. 1667 Milton P. L. i. 93 Till then who knew The force of those dire Arms? 1794 Mrs. Radcliffe Myst. Udolpho xlii, All the time between then and now seems as nothing. 1884 Pall Mall G. 26 Apr. 1030/2 Just about Soap Two Years ago; since then I have used no other. 1905 Daily News 5 Jan. 6 The little man..had by then recovered himself.

b. By then that, by the time that; ellipt. by then (as relative), by the time: see By A. 21 c. Now arch. or dial.

a 1400 Morte Arth. 99 By than that endyd was the fight, The fals were feld. 1470-85 Malory Arthur i. x. 49 By than they were redy on hor-bak, there were vij C knyghtes. c 1500 Robin Hood 1737 By than the yere was all agone, He had no man but twayne. 1634 Milton Comus 540 This evening late by then the chewing flocks Had ta'n their supper on the savoury Herb..I sate me down. 1788 T. Taylor Proclus' Comm. (1792) I. 12 By then he was twenty-eight years of age he composed a multitude of works. 1863 Reade Hard Cash I. v. 127 By then he had folded and addressed it, she returned. 1906 Graphic 29 Dec. 892/1 By then ye've been church-cried, I'll be in t' chimney corner like any proper old gaffer.

8. That time; the time referred to (esp. a past time): often contrasted with now. Cf. Now 14, 15.

1549-50 Paget Let. 20 Feb. in Strype Eccl. Mem. II. App. II, 14 the tyme is tourned: then was then, and now is now. 1601 Shaks. All's Well iii. ii. 62 When thou canst get the Ring vpon my finger, which neuer shall come off,..then call me husband: but in such a (then) I write a Neuer. 1674 N. Fairfax Bulk & Selv. 161 God could bring forth the world at that then, wherein or when he had cast with himself the world could afterwards be made. 1847 W. Thom in Whistlebinkie (1890) II. 234 Companion of my happy then! 1901 Daily News 19 Mar. 6/3 He reveals a corresponding contrast between the then and the now.

9. a. In sense 1, followed by a participle or adjective forming an adj. phrase, as the then existing system = the system then existing. (See also 10 a.)

1653 Baxter Saints' R. ii. vi. § 2 (ed. 4) 257 That the extirpation of Piety was the then great design. 1827 Scott Highl. (Waverl.) ii, The then unwonted circumstance..of a passenger being seen on the high-road. 1870 Lowell Among my Bks. Ser. I. (1873) 6 The trivium..and the quadrivium ..of the then ordinary university course. 1888 Bryce Amer. Commw. (1889) I. xlvi. 548 The then existing Constitution.

b. attrib. or as adj. That existed or was so at that time; the then ruler = the ruler that then was. (Cf. Now 16.)

1584 ? Sidney Earl of Leicester Misc. Wks. (1829) 263 He saith they are no gentlemen, affirming, that the then duke of Northumberland was not born so. 1620 E. Blount Horæ Subs. 367 To the then Bishop of Rome. a 1647 Pitts in Archæologia XIX. 255 The most noble prince, my then master. 1765 Blackstone Comm. I. ii. 157 A bill..was countenanced by the then ministry, for limiting the number of the peerage. 1896 L. Stephen Hist. Eng. Th. 18th C. I. 203 In the then state of critical enquiry.

* 10. Comb. a. adverb., with pples. or adjs., as then-instant, -ruling, -united (cf. 9 a); b. attrib.: † then-skill, a reason belonging to the particular time or occasion (cf. Skill sb. 3): for a then-skill, for the occasion; then-time, the time that was then, the past time referred to.

1602 Warner Alb. Eng. Epit., The said Edmund (whom the Duke's faction for a then-skill surnamed Crook backed). 1605 Sylvester Du Bartas ii. iii. iii. Law 198 While the then-Time's hideous face and form Boads them (alas!) nothing but wrack and storm. 1621 G. Sandys Ovid's Met. viii. (1626) 165 Whose wawes..That then-united masse of earth dis-loyne. a 1656 Br. Hall Rem. Unreveal. § 11 The extent, then of the then-instant appeaning of Christ. 1848 C. C. Clifford Aristoph., Frogs 40 Without the leave Of the then-ruling powers.

Hence Then v. (nonce-wd.), in phr. to now it and then it: see Now.

Then, obs. f. Than; obs. inflexion of That, The.

Then, variant of Thenne Obs., thence.

Thenabouts (ðēˈnăbŭuˈts), adv. rare. [f. Then adv., after thereabouts.] About that time.

1789 Burnham Eng. Poetr. I. vi. (Arb.) 27 For then abouts began the declination of the Romain Empire. 1842 R. Oastler Fleet Papers II. 344, I was mentioned more than once thenabouts. 1844 Tupper Crock of G. xxiv, Then, or thenabouts, the devil hinted 'steal it'.

Thenad (þe·n-, þĕnĕd), adv. Anat. [f. Then-ar + -ad: see Dentrad.] Towards the thenal aspect.

1803 Barclay New Anat. Nomencl. 166 Ulnad will signify towards the ulnar aspect..Thenad..towards the thenal. 1808 — Muscular Motions 307 The pronators rolling them thenad and radiad. 1827 Dunglison Med. Lex., Thenad is used adverbially..to signify 'towards the thenal aspect'.

Then-a-days (ðēˈnădēz), adv. rare. [f. Then adv., after nowadays.] In those days, at that (past) time.

1688 R. L'Estrange Brief Hist. Times iii. 9 At Length, through a Wonderful Providence (as Providence went Then-a-Days) both Armies were supply'd. a 1768 Ross Helenore ii. 87 'Bout them a days we never met wi' cross. 1844 N. Brit. Rev. II. 56 Then-a-days one could acquire a very complete knowledge of chemistry..in a very short space of time. 1898 M. B. Edwards in Westm. Gaz. 20 July 2/3 Then-a-days, ah! then-a-days, all the months were merry Mays.

† Then after, thena·fter, adv. Obs. After then, after that time: = Thereafter.

1470-85 Malory Arthur x. i. 494 And thenne after he gaf hym a drynke. 1485 Rolls of Parlt. VI. 285/2 Unabled for thenceforth for ever, to claime, have or enjoy, any of the premisses, by him thenne after. 1605 T. Sparke Brotherly Persuasion (1607) 6 Homilies then published and authorised, or to be then after published and authorised. 1791 Selby Bridge Act 14 At all times for ever thenafter.

So † Then afterward(s adv. phr. in same sense.

a 1485 Fortescue Wks. (1869) 486 Thanne afterward he ..destroited the Reame of Assury. 1597 Beard Theatre God's Iudgem. (1612) 99 He..was condemned for an Heretike by the Nicene Council, and his bookes burned: and thenceforwards making shew before Constantine the Emperour, with a solemne oath to recant his old errours. 1671 H. M. Erasm. Colloq. 226 What didst thou then afterward?

Thenal (þĕˈnăl), a. Anat. [f. Then-ar + -al.] Of or pertaining to the thenar.

1803 Barclay New Anat. Nomencl. 125 We may use the terms Radial and Ulnar to signify the two lateral parts... To the other two sides we may give the epithets Anconal and Thenal. 1808 — Muscular Motions 398 Being thenal flexors of the carpus. 1823 J. Lizars Syst. Anat. Plates I. v. 94 The muscles on the palmar or thenal aspect.

Thenar (þĕˈnăr), Anat. Also 8 tenar, thenor, tenor. [mod.L., a Gr. θέναρ palm of the hand, sole or flat of the foot. Cf. OHG. tenar, MHG. tener; F. thénar (16th c.).] The ball of the muscle at the base of the thumb; the palm of the hand; the sole of the foot.

1672 Sir T. Browne Let. to Friend § 10 The Thenar or Muscle of the Thumb. 1704 J. Harris Lex. Techn. I. Tenar, Tenor or Thenar, according to some, is the Name for an Adducent Muscle which draws the Thumb from the Fore-finger. 1857 Dunglison Med. Lex., Thenar, the palm of the hand, or sole of the foot.

b. attrib. or as adj. Thenar muscles, the muscles which form the thenar eminence, the ball at the base of the thumb.

1857 Dunglison Med. Lex., Thenar or Thenal Muscle, Riolan and Winslow give this name to the fleshy mass, formed of the abductor brevis. 1898 P. Manson Trop. Diseases xiv. 224 So may the thenar, the hypothenar, and the arm muscles [be found tender]. 1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VII. 209 A distinct flattening of the thenar eminence.

Thenardite (penăˈrdait, ten-). Min. [Named in honour of L. J. Thénard, French chemist: see -ite 1.] Anhydrous sodium sulphate occurring in white or brown translucent crystals.

1842 Penny Cycl. XXIV. 310/2 Thenardite—(Anhydrous Sulphate of Soda)—occurs crystallized...It is used in the preparation of carbonate of soda. 1868 Dana Min. 616 The water exudes during winter from the bottom of a basin, and becoming concentrated in the summer season, deposits crystals of thenardite.

† Thena·smon, var. Tenasmon Obs.

c 1400 Laufranc's Chirurg. 290 þou schalt acese þe akynge wiþ þis medicyn, & is good for thenasmon.

Thence (ðens), adv. Forms: 3–4 þannes, 4 þ-, thennes, 4–5 þ-, thennes, -is, -ys, þens, 4–6 thenns, 5 þennis, 5–6 thense, 6– thence. [ME. þannes, þennes, f. Thenne adv., with adverbial genitive suffix -es, -s. The later spelling thence for thens was to preserve the breath sound of s when final inflexional s became (z); as in hence, pence, defence, once, twice, mice, price, etc.]

1. From that place; from there. (Now chiefly literary.)

c 1250 S. Eng. Leg. I. 50/137 And bad heom of þulke holie bodi: Pat huy it þannes here. 1340 Ayenb. 72 Ha [Christ] wente into helle..nor to drage þannes..þe zaules of þe hol iustes. 1340–70 Alex. & Dind. 98, I..am temted hid to turne me þannes. 13.. Cursor M. 164 (Gött.) Hu þat he was þennis [Trin. bennes; Cott. þeþen] ledd. c 1386 Chaucer Franklt. T. 232 Er they thennes [w.r. bennes, þens, thens] wente..They fille in speche. c 1400 Brut 103 Þat men myst hit nouht remeve ne bere þennis. Ibid. 114 Or he departede þens. 1526 Tindale Mark vi. 1 He departed thens and cam in to his awne countre. 1536 Wriothesley Chron. (Camden) I. 51 The Kinge with his companye departed thense. 1667 Milton P. L. i. 12 If Spirit hitherto Delight thee more,..I thence Invoke thy aid. 1867 Lady Herbert Cradle L. iv. 123 Thence..the pilgrims came to the beautiful low shrine. 1898 Law Times Rep. LXXIII. 156/2 The 'Kirkmichael' left Liverpool..on a voyage thence to Melbourne.

b. Preceded by redundant from (†fro).

1382 Wyclif Mark vi. 1 And Jhesus gon out thennis [w.r. fro thennes]. 1388 Ibid., And he 3eede out fro thennus. c 1400 Destr. Troy 13270 To a penthilus place þat I fro thens. 1535 Coverdale Baruch vi. 2 After that wil I bringe you awaye peaceably from thence. 1609 Holland Ammi. Marcell. xxi. x. 177 He commanded Victor the Hystoriographer, whom he saw at Sirmium, to come from thence into him. 1703 Pope Thebais 383 Begin from thence, where first Alpheus hides His wand'ring stream. 1867 Geo. Eliot in Cross Life (1884) II. 4 Making our way homeward from thence by easy stages.

† c. As a relative (also thence that): From which place, whence. Obs. rare.

a 1450 Knt. de la Tour (1906) 36 Y must to the erthe thennes that y come fro.

2. At a place distant or away from there; distant; absent. Now chiefly in stating distance.

c 1290 Beket 1780 in S. Eng. Leg. I. 157 To longe ich habbe þannes iloo. c 1384 Chaucer H. Fame ii. 530 Lat a man stond..A myle thens and here hyt rounde. 1450–1530 Myrr. our Ladye 28 Though they..huue leue to be thense yet yt suffysyth not. 1489 Caxton Faytes of A. iv. x. 257 True proues that all that loue be vnto them. a 1548 Hall Chron., Edw. V 13 While one manne is there, which is neuer thence. Mod. Two miles thence is a fine waterfall.

3. From that time or date; thenceforward; thenceforth. Mostly with from. ? Obs.

c 1374 [see Thenceforth 1]. 1382 Wyclif Isa. xvi. 13 The word that the Lord spac to Moab fro thennys (1388 fro tho tyme). c 1449 Pecock Repr. ii. ix. 197 He seid that peple schulde frothens after worschipe. 1606 G. W[oodcock] Hist. Justine xx. 78 That no subiect of Carthage should from thence lenme Greeke learnyng. a 1751 Boughbroke Stud. Hist. (1752) I. vi. 236 From thence down to the present day. a 1832 Bentham Mem. & Corr. Wks. 1843 X. 62, I must have seen him..more than once at Romilly's, and thence afterwards at my own house.

4. From that, as a source, origin, or cause; (as an inference) from those premisses or data; therefrom. Also preceded by from.

1652 Nedham tr. Selden's Mare Cl. 2 Next are premised som things, for explaining the terms of the Question, that it may bee clearly thence understood. 1692 E. Walker Epictetus' Mor. ix, Weigh every Circumstance, each Consequence, And usurd Accident arising thence. 1798 H. Hunter tr. St.-Pierre's Stud. Nat. (1799) II. 409 It would thence follow, that..the number of women would daily go on [etc.]. 1817 Jas. Mill Brit. India II. v. iv. 702 They could present to their auditors every thing which conduced their own purposes, keep back every thing which opposed them; and thence more effectually deceive the nation.

Thence-a·fter. rare. After that time; thereafter.

1593 Tell-Troth's N. Y. Gift (1876) 18 Thence after they must sit no more in the shadowes. 1864 Neale Sentiv. Poems 187 Those blessed feet, thenceafter nailed Fast to the bitter cross!

Thenceforth (ðēˈnsfōˈrp, ðensfōˈrp), adv. [Orig. two words: Thence and Forth adv.]

1. From that time onward. Also with from (†fro).

c 1374 Chaucer Boeth. iv. Pr. iii. 86 (Camb. MS.) For no wiht as by Ryht fro thennes forth þat hym lakketh goodnesse ne shal ben clepyd good. 1526 Tindale John xix. 12 From thence forthe sought Pilate meanes to loose hym. 1536 Wriothesley Chron. (Camden) I. 55 To be observed and kept from thenceforth through all this realme. 1590 Spenser F. Q. i. 40 Henceforth I choose Dirtea for my Dame. 1812 Southey Omniaus II. 231 He makes a law, that from thenceforth there shall be only two lawyers in England. 1870 Morris Earthly Par. I. i. 396 Thenceforth her back upon the world she turned.

2. From that place or point onward. rare.

c 1449 Pecock Repr. v. xi. 540 Rede there and frothens forth into the ende of the argument. 1887 Morris Odyss. xii. 429 Night-long thenceforth was I carried.

Thenceforward, adv. [Orig. two words: Thence and Forward adv.] = prec. Also with from (†fro).

1457 Cal. Anc. Rec. Dublin (1889) 294 Fro thens forward shall the hen abyll to be jurys. 1472–3 Rolls of Parlt. VI. 30/2 To be from thensforward true Liegemen. 1677 Cary Chronol. ii. ii. iii. ii. 226 From thence-forward they might safely betake themselves to their Labours. 1732 BERKELEY Alciphr. IV. § 14 As an artist leaves a clock, to go thenceforward of itself for a certain period. 1856 FROUDE Hist. Eng. II. x. 430 No monks, thenceforward, were to leave the precincts of the monastery.

† Thenceforwards, adv. Obs. [f. as prec. + FORWARDS.] = prec.

1654 T. BURNET Th. Earth I. 280 A new order then setled in nature, which should continue there forwards so long as the earth endur'd. 1727 Bradley's Fam. Dict. s.v. Hen, Let them continue so for two Days without touching them, and from thenceforwards to the twentieth turn them.

Thence-from, adv. arch. [An inversion of from thence: cf. hence-from.] From that place or source; thence.

a 1618 SYLVESTER Woodman's Bear lxxi, Thence-from crafty Cupid shot All the Arrows of his quiver. 1666 J. SMITH Old Age (1676) 240 They flow not thence-from. 1896 PAYMONE Angel in Ho. II. ii. I, My life is hid with him in Christ, Never thencefrom to be entiticed.

† Thence-out, adv. Obs. [f. THENCE + OUT adv.] Out of that place; out from there.

1614 RALEIGH Hist. World II. 401 Adad..invaded Damascus, and thrust Rezon thence-out.

† The·neward, adv. Obs. [f. THENCE adv. + -WARD.] From that direction; thence.

c 1440 CAPGRAVE St. Kath. III. 1015 (MS. Arundel) But this noble Adryan..hud blisse I-now assigned to his part, He had so moche he was ful lord thereof. c 1450 Alphabet of Tales 291 He delyverd þe Holie Lande oute of Saracens handis, and come fro thens-ward be Constantynople. 1600 ABP. ABBOT Exp. Jonah 566 Whatsoever was to come, being to come from thence-ward.

Thence, pencle, obs. ff. THINK v.[1] and [2].

Thend, -e, pr. pple. of THEE v.[1], to prosper.

Thene, pene, obs. forms of THAN, THEN; obs. acc. sing. masc. of THAT, THE.

Thenforth, -forthward: see THENNE.

Thenk(e, benk(e, obs. ff. THINK v.[1] and [2].

† Thenne, then, adv. Obs. Forms: α. ɪ þanon(n)e, þonane, þonone, 2–3 þonene, 2–5 þanane, 3 þanene, þeonene, þenene. β. 3 þonne, 3–4 þanne, þeonne (3 þeone), 3–5 þenne (3 þene), 4–5 thenne. γ. 1 þanan, -on, -un, þonan, -on, 2 þenen, þeonen, 2–3 þanen. δ. 1 þonna. ε. 4–5 þen, þan, 5 then. See also THYNE. [OE. þanone, þanon, þonan, etc. = OFris. thana, OS. thanana, thanân, ODu. janna* (MDu. danne, dan, DIu. dan), OHG. thanana, than(n)ân, dan(n)ân (MHG., Ger. dannen), Goth. type þanana*: all formed by the addition of particles to the stem þa- of the demonstrative THAT.

As to the relations of the OE. forms, the β group may have arisen from the α, with loss of the middle vowel: þanône, þanne, etc. From the β forms, loss of the final e gave than, then, as in THEE adv. The β þonne is app. the northern form of þonan in γ. But the prehistoric development in OTeut. and the relation of the preh. forms to those of THEE, is very obscure: see the articles referred to under THEE.

1. Of motion: a. From that place; = THENCE I.

a. a 900 CYNEWULF Judith xi. 132 Eodon þa gesynum þanonne þa ídesa þa ellenþriste. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. V. 26 Ne gæst þu þanone (Lindisf. þona, Rush. þonon, Hatton þanen) ær þu agylde þone feorþinge. c 1175 Þe Lesse Crede in Lamb. Hom. 217 þonne he kumeð to demen þe quike and þe deade. c 1205 LAY. 235 Sone he þonene [c 1275 þanene] iuatte. Ibid. 1207 þeonene [c 1275 þanene] he ferde forð. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 5295 Brut..þat his fader slow, & þeruore was þenene [later v. rr. þenne, þanne, þens, þennys] idriue.

β. c 1205 LAY. 654 Vuiðle he þonne [c 1275 þanne] fare, Ibid. 5971 Þer Belin þeonne [c 1275 þanne] wende. Ibid. 31362 Ic fleomen hine þenne. c 1230 Hali Meid. 43 þeone godd warp hire. a 1250 Owl & Night. 132 Euer he cuþ þat he comme þenne [v. r. þonne]. c 1300 Havelok 1285 Per to dwelien, or þenne to gonge. 1362 LANGL. P. Pl. A. I. 71 Er heo þeonne þeode. c 1440 Pallad. on Husb. XII. 325 Pike all the filthes thenne.

γ. Beowulf (Z.) 1806 Wolde feor þanon cuma collen-ferhþ ceoles neosan. c 725 Corpus Gloss., Hilm. 1404 Epinal. 971 Erfurt. Hom. 67 He..þa halgan sauwla þonon alædde. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. XI. 1 He for þanon [c 1160 Hatton G. for þanen]. a 1131 O. E. Chron. an. 1123 Þeonen he ferde to Wudestoke. Ibid., þa ferde he eyðan þeonen to Fortesmuðe. a 1175 Cott. Hom. 241 Panen hit was ibroht up into heofene.

δ. c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Luke xii. 59 Ne gæs ðu ðona oðð [etc.].

ε. 13.. Cursor M. 8945 (Cott.) Þe tre þai vte o þe temple drogh..þai drou it þen [v. rr. þeiþen, þennes]. c 1425 Ibid. 6676 (Laud) Men shall hym þan draw to die. Ibid. 16908 Er they then went. c 1420 Chron. Vilod. 3000 þat þulke relicks nolde neuer go þen a-way.

b. With redundant from: = THENCE I b.

1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 9293 Fram salesburi to wigt He wende & fram panene to normandie rigt. Ibid. 8224 Fram þanene hii wende.

c. As a relative adverb: Whence, from where.

c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. xii. 44 Ic willo cerre in hus min ðona [L. unde] ic uneðe. 13.. Cursor M. 2768 (Cott.) Loth..Gayns þam ras fra þen [v. r. þar] he sats.

2. Of position: = THENCE 2.

1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 5845 A toun..þat bote þre myle þanne nas. 13.. Coer de L. 2947 Saladyn was ten myle theenne. a 1375 Joseph Arim. 25 Neuer more come aeqyn whon hei weore enes þenne. c 1450 LOVELICH Merlin 9866 Wers wylen they don, and we ben thenne.

3. = THENCE 3. (Only OE.)

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. XXX. § 2, & þonan wyrð anæþeled oð ðæt he wyrð unæþele. a 1000 Gloss. in Wr.-Wülcker 200/43 Dehinc, i. deinde, abhinc, rursum..dein, uel þonane, uel þa þan.

4. From that source, origin, cause; = THENCE 4.

Beowulf 1265 Þanon woc fela geo sceaft gasta. Ibid. 1690 Þonon geomor woc, hæleðum to hreðe. c 897 K. ÆLFRED Gregory's Past. C. xl. 289 Þonne wierð geþnescad þonne sio ðreaung ðæs anwaldes. c 1000 Ags. Ps. (Th.) lxviii[i]. 8 Þanon corðe byð eall onhered. c 1400 Rule St. Benet 4 Þanane byhoun þam feste þam ane, at god es tar best help.

Hence † Thenforth, -forthon adv. = THENCEFORTH; † Thenforthward adv. = THENCEFORWARD; † Thenward, -wards adv. = THENCEWARD.

c 875 Saxx. Genealogia 23 in O. E. Texts 179 *Þonan forð. a 1023 WULFSTAN Hom. I. (1887) 2 He ða syððan..þanonforð geseon ne mihte. 13.. Cursor M. 6357 (Cott.) Fra þan forth heild sir moyses þis wandes bath. 1426 in Surtees Misc (1888) 9 Þat þe snyd John Lyllyng fra þan furth suld be of gude governaunce. c 1477 CAXTON Jason 6 Fro *thenne forthon he named him his broder. 1484 — Fables of Æsop III. xx. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 189 And *þanenforðward he bereeð him wið sinne. a 1225 Ancr. R. 296 Hie him so *beneward, & ascur him so schemeliche. c 1230 Hali Meid. 43 As ha nuste huoch wei ha come þeneward; ne con na neauer ifinden na wei aþinward. 13.. S. Eng. Leg. (MS. Bodl. 779) in Herrig's Archiv LXXXII. 323/40 Franceys al naked þenwardis gan gon.

Thenne, penne, obs. form of THAT, THEN, THIN.

† Then-tofo·re, adv. Obs. rare. [f. THEN adv., after therefore.] Before then, before that time; = THEREFORE I.

1640 L. OWEN Spec. Jesuit. (1629) 7 According to many graces and priuiledges then-tofore granted. 1706 Col. Rec. Pennsylv. II. 268 Complaints made of the excessive charge thentofore of obtaining Lycences. 1785 J. DISNEY Mem. A. A. Sykes 130 Bishop Atterbury had thentofore written largely in support of the power of the convocation.

Thenward, adv.: see under THENNE adv.

Theo, þeo: see THE, THIGH, THO pron. and a.

Theo- (þēo), or, before a vowel, the-, repr. Gr. θεο-, stem of θεός God; in many compounds adopted from, or formed on the analogy of, Greek, or from Greek (rarely Latin or other) elements. See in their alphabetical places THEANTHROPIC, THEOCRACY, THEOLOGY, THEOSOPHY, etc. The·oanthropomo·rphic a., pertaining to gods in human form; so The·o-anthropomo·rphism: cf. anthropomorphic, anthropomorphism. The·oastrolo·gical a., of or pertaining to astrology theologically treated. Theoce·ntric a., centring or centred in God; having God as its centre. Theochri·stic a. [Gr. θεόχριστ-ος], anointed by God (Webster 1864). The·o-colle·ctivist, of the nature of collectivism as divinely instituted. The·odemo·cracy, a democracy under divine rule. Theodra·ma, a drama in which the actors are gods. The·ogeolo·gical a., of or pertaining to geology as accommodated to theological tenets. Theogno·stic [after AGNOSTIC; cf. Gr. θεόγνωστος known of God], one who holds that God is knowable. Theohu·man a., both divine and human; that is God as well as man. Theoktonic (-*kt*ŏ·nik) a., of or pertaining to Theoktony (þīē·ktŏni) [Gr. θεοκτονία (Eccl.)], killing or death of the gods. Theoma·nmonist (see quot.). Theoma·nia [Gr. θεομανία madness caused or inspired by God], religious mania; also, demonomania. Theoma·niac, one affected with theomania. Theoma·stix [-MASTIX], the scourge of (i. e. appointed by) God. Theo·metry [-METRY], measurement or estimation of God. Theomicrist (þīē·mikrist) [Gr. μικρός little], one who belittles God. The·o-misa·nthropist (nonce-wd., after THEOPHILANTHROPIST), one who hates God and man. Theomo·nism, a monism which recognizes God. Theopa·nphilist (see quot.). Theopa·nism [Gr. πᾶς, παν- all], (a) see quot. 1864; (b) the doctrine that God is all that exists: = PANTHEISM. Theo·phile [Gr. θεοφιλής dear to the gods], one beloved of God; also, one who loves God; so Theo·philist. The·o-philosophic a., that applies philosophy to theology. Theophoric (-*f*ŏ·rik), Theophorous (þīē·fŏrəs), adjs. [Gr. θεοφόρος, f. φέρειν to bear], bearing or containing the name of a god. Theophy·sical a. nonce-wd., physical, but ordered by God. Theopsy·chism [Gr. ψυχή soul], ascription of a divine nature to the soul. Theotau·rine a. [Gr. θεοταυρος god-bull, a title of Zeus], of or pertaining to a god in the form of a bull. The·o,teleo·logy, the doctrine of the divine direction of nature to an appointed end; hence The·o,teleolo·gical a.

1873 FAIRBAIRN Stud. Philos. Relig. & Hist. (1876) 349 The Hellenic mind..created those *theo-anthropomorphic doctrines. Ibid. 348 The one contributed the Monotheism, the other the *Theo-anthropomorphism, which lie at the basis of Christianity. 1833 Fraser's Mag. VIII. 572 Their *theo-astrolocal mythologies, and their symbolical mysteries. 1886 M. VALENTINE in Homilet. Rev. Oct. 283 The old *Theocentric Calvinism, in which every thing was made to revolve about the divine sovereignty. 1893 FAIRBAIRN Christ in Mod. Theol. II. i. 301 This theology must..be as regards source Christocentric, but as regards object or matter Theocentric. 1901 Daily Chron. 30 Aug. 3/4 Massachusetts with its township government centreing round the church, its *theo-collectivist modes of thought. 1830 Hist. Eur. in Ann. Reg. 244/2 The cajolery or intimidation ..employed by the priests to make their flocks join the faction of (what one of them called) the *theo-democracy. 1853 LIEBER Civil Liberty xxiv. 242 The Mormons themselves call their government a theo-democracy. 1801 W. TAYLOR in Robberds Mem. I. 389 A *theo-drama or..an epic poem, where all the actors are gods. 1828 R. ENNOX Cl. Arrists & Gl. Anat. 43 A theory or two was forced on him [Cuvier] by the *theo-geological school of England, which were not his. 1898 Chicago Advance 14 Apr. 491/3 Is man by..his powers..an Agnostic or a *Theo-gnostic? 1839 BAILEY Festus x. (1852) 139 Thou art and livest, man-god, Christ!.. The *Theohuman Being. 1875 R. B. ANDERSON Norse Mythol. iii. 60 The Eddas have a *theoktonic myth. Ibid., Eridu with a *theoktony (death of the gods). 1804 COLERIDGE Lett., to T. Poole (1895) 455 Such men I aptly christen *Theo-mammonists, that is, those who at once worship God and Mammon. 1857 DUNGLISON Med. Lex., *Theomania, demomania. 1890 BILLINGS Nat. Med. Dict., Theomania, religious monomania. 1879 SWINBURNE Stud. Shakes. iii. 214 The brutallest unwashed *theomaniac of the Thebaid. 1633 T. CAREW Coel. Brit. Wks. (1824) 154 My offices and title are, supreme *theomastix, hypocrittique of manners. 1881 ROSSETTI Soothsay xii. The Power that fashions man Measured not out thy little span For thee to take the meting-rod In turn, and so approve on God Thy science of *Theometry. 1834 DE QUINCEY in Tait's Mag. I. 628 He had defended Christianity against the vile blasphemers and impotent *theomicrists of the day. 1831 SOUTHEY in Q. Rev. Jan. 113 Those who (in reference to the appellation of a sect, not more presumptuous, and somewhat less impious) deserve to be called the *Theomnanthropists. 1906 F. BALLARD (title) *Theomonism True: God and the Universe in Modern Light. 1908 Daily News 7 Feb. 4/2 Mr. Ballard..calls it sometimes theism and sometimes theomonism. 1832 Fraser's Mag. VIII. 570 The Intimati called themselves *Theopanphilists, those who believed in the universal exhibition of the Divinity in characters of love. 1864 N. WEST in Homilet. Rev. (1886) May 407 It is true to teach *Theopantism, or that God is in all things. 1873 FAIRBAIRN Stud. Philos. Relig. & Hist. (1877) 392 It may evolve an Akosmism or Theopantism which is but the apotheosis of nature. c 1645 HOWELL Lett. (1650) II. xlii. 54 Affliction are the portion of the best *Theophiles. 1677 GALE Crt. Gentiles II. iii. 84 Virtuous persons, are Theophilists, or beloved of God. 18.. MILMAN is cited by Worcester as using theophilosophic. 1901 W. MACINTOSH Rabbi Jesus 182 With the dawn of Christianity the theophilosophic train of thought was carried onward and upward into a higher, nobler, purer channel. 1891 CHEYNE Orig. Psalter vi. 303 Such shortened forms of *theophoric names as Ahaz for Jehoahaz. 1903 Expositor May 323 We are left for conjecture to the *theophorous names of her kings. 1908 Ibid. Jan. 95 Yahu..is familiar enough from Hebrew theophorous names. 1775 ADAIR Amer. Ind. 129 By the time that this *theo-physical operation is performed on a patient [i. e. breaking his neck on pretence that it is the Divine will]. 1896 DK. OF ARGYLL Philos. Belief vi. 253 It may be said..that '*theopsychism' attributed to man, is the real explanation of what is called the anthropomorphism attributed in the Hebrew scriptures to the mind and will of God. 1814 SOUTHEY Lett. (1856) II. 368 When..prepared for the food of man, it..resembleth entirely in its appearance the *theo-taurine compost from whence it sprung. 1903 L. F. WARD Pure Sociol. III. xvi. 465 A doctrine that afterwards took name of teleology..would be better called theoteleology*, since it simply postulates a power outside of nature directing it toward some end.

‖ Theobroma (þīōbrō·mä). Bot. [mod.L., f. Gr. θεός god + βρῶμα food.] A genus of low trees, of which one species, Theobroma Cacao, a native of tropical America, and now naturalized in other warm countries, is the source of cocoa and chocolate. Hence Theobro·mic a. Chem. in theobromic acid: see quots.; Theobromine (þīōbrō·mēin), a bitter volatile alkaloid, $C_7H_8N_4O_2$, resembling caffeine, contained in the seeds of the cacao tree.

[1737 LINNAEUS Genera Plant. 367 Polyadelphia. I. Pentandria. *Theobroma.] 1760 LEE Introd. Bot. App. (1788) 331/2 Chocolate-nut, Theobroma. 1785 MARTYN Rousseau's Bot. XXXI. (1794) 478 In..Theobroma, or Chocolate..it [the nectary] is Bell-shaped. 1871 GARROD Mat. Med. (ed. 3) 194 Oil of Theobroma..Cacao Butter. A concrete oil obtained by expression and heat from the ground seeds of Theobroma Cacao. 1878 KINGZETT in Pharm. Chem. Soc. XXXIII. 44, I propose for it the name of *'Theobromic acid, which recalls the source from which it is obtained, and the fact that the seeds of Theobroma Cacao. 1881 WATTS Dict. Chem. VIII. 1922 Theobromic acid, $C_{64}H_{128}O_{32}$. This acid, the highest known member of the fatty series, has been obtained..from cacao-butter. 1894 Cyc. XXIV. 313/2 In analysis of *Theobromine by Wosresensky shows..that this article [chocolate]..must be highly nutritious. 1897 MOLONEY Forestry W. Afr. 165 They contain a very appreciable quantity of theobromine, which assists the action of caffein and possess similar properties to that base.

Theocracy (þīē·krăsi). Also 7-cratye, 7-8-erasie, -erasy. [ad. Gr. θεοκρατία (Josephus): see THEO- and -CRACY: cf. F. théocratie (1704 in Hatz.-Darm.).] A form of government in which God (or a deity) is recognized as the king or immediate ruler, and his laws are taken as the statute-book of the kingdom, these laws being usually administered by a priestly order as his ministers and agents; hence (loosely) a system of government by a sacerdotal order, claiming a divine commission; also, a state so governed: esp. applied to the commonwealth of Israel from the exodus to the election of Saul as king.

1622 DONNE Serm. (ed. Alford) V. 209 The Jews were only under a Theocraty, an immediate Government of God.

a 1652 J. Smith Sel. Disc. vii. iv. (1821) 346 Josephus..properly calls the Jewish government θεοκρατία, 'a theocracy', or 'the government of God himself'. 1737 Whiston Josephus, Agst. Apion ii. § 17 (1814) IV. 310 He [Moses] ordained our government to be what, by a strained expression, may be termed a Theocracy [ὡς ὁ ἀν τις εἴποι, βιαζόμενος τὸν λόγον, θεοκρατίαν]. 1741 Warburton Div. Legat. v. ii. II. 365 Thus the Almighty becoming their King, in as proper a Sense as he was their God, the Republic of the Israelites was properly a Theocracy; in which the two Societies, Civil and Religious, must...be intirely incorporated. 1811 Pinkerton Mod. Geog., Peru (ed. 2) 594 The government of the incas was a kind of theocracy. 1836 J. H. Newman Parr. Serm. (ed. 2) II. xxi. 283 When they tired of the Christian Theocracy, and clothed the church with the purple robe of Cæsar. 1863 Stanley Jew. Ch. vii. 155 The 'Theocracy' of Moses..was a government by God Himself, as opposed to the government by priests or kings. 1864 Burton Scot Abr. I. v. 276 It [the Church of Calvin] was a theocracy, dictating to all men the rule of the Deity as to their daily life. 1878 Maclear Celts ii. (1879) 17 The Druids were at once the ministers of a theocracy and the judges and legislators of the people.

b. transf. A priestly order or religious body exercising political or civil power.

1825 Wellington Desp. (1867) II. 537 The Roman Catholic clergy, nobility, lawyers, and gentlemen having property, form a sort of theocracy in Ireland, which in all essential points governs the populace.

Theocrasy (θῑ·ŏ·krăsi, θῑ·ŏ·krāsi). [ad. Gr. θεοκρᾶσία, f. θεό-s God + κρᾶσ-ις mingling: see -Y.]

1. Anc. Mythol. A mingling of various deities or divine attributes into one personality; also, a mixture of the worship of different deities.

1816 G. S. Faber Orig. Pagan Idol. I. 248 The mystic theocrasy of the old mythologists, by which all their deities were ultimately resolved into one person. 1832 Keightley Mythol. i. 16 The system of theocrasy..or mixing up, as we may call it, of the gods together.

2. (See quot.)

1842 Brande Dict. Sc., etc., Theocrasy, in ancient Philosophy, a term invented to signify the intimate union of the soul with God in contemplation, which was considered attainable by the newer Platonists.

Hence Theocrasical (-krăsikăl) a., pertaining to or involving theocrasy.

1816 G. S. Faber Orig. Pagan Idol. I. p. xxxviii, Theocrasical identity of Osiris and Typhon.

Theocrat (θī·ŏkrət). [f. next: see -CRAT. Cf. mod.F. théocrate (Littré).]

1. One who rules in a theocracy as the representative of the Deity; a divine or deified ruler.

1827 G. S. Faber Orig. Expiat. Sacr. 234 This mode of administering temporal sanctions on the part of the temporal theocrat of Israel. 1854 Milman Lat. Chr. vi. iii. (1864) III. 482 Admirers of the great theocrat [Pope Gregory]. 1852 Westm. Rev. Jan. 269 Mahomet gradually degenerated.. ultimately into a voluptuous tyrant and oppressive theocrat. 1874 Reynolds John Baptist viii. 490 The haughty theocrats of Persia dared to call on their subjects to adore them.

2. One who believes in or favours theocratic government; an advocate of theocracy.

1843 Emerson Misc. Papers, Carlyle Wks. (Bohn) III. 313 Though no theocrat, Mr. Carlyle..finds the calamity of the times not in bad laws of Parliament, but in the remedy in good bills. 1855 Q. Rev. Oct. 355 Disraeli..was a born theocrat. 1897 Golden. Smith in Amer. Hist. Rev. Oct. 138 For all but the aristocracy and extreme theocrats they must have learn about the best years that Scotland had known.

¶ b. See quot. (? erroneous use).

1864 Webster, Theocrat, one who obeys God as his civil ruler. 1882 Ogilvie (Annandale), Theocrat, one who lives under a theocracy; one who is ruled in civil affairs directly by God.

Theocratic (θīŏkrăt·ĭk), a. [f. Gr. θεοκρατία THEOCRACY + -IC: cf. aristocratic, etc.] Of, pertaining to, or of the nature of theocracy.

1741 Warburton Div. Legat. v. ii. II. 375 The true Reasons of the Theocratic Form of Government. 1841 Trench Parables ii. (1877) 29 We may say generally of the parables..that St. Matthew's are more Theocratic; St. Luke's more ethical. 1865 Lecky Ration. (1878) II. 120 This Church and State theory..forms the last vestige of the old theocratic spirit that marks the earlier stages of civilisation.

Theocratical (θīŏkrăt·ĭkăl), a. [f. as prec. + -AL: cf. aristocratical.] = prec.

1650 C. Nesse O. & N. Test. I. Epist. 3 A new common-wealth with a theocratical government. 1755 Warburton Div. Legat. v. iv. Wks. 1788 III. 123 Temporal rewards and punishments administered by the hand of God, followed, as a consequence, from the Jewish Government's being Theocratical. 1837 Foreign Q. Rev. XIX. 187 The prophetic books were preserved in writing by a theocratical people. 1863 E. V. Neale Anal. Th. & Nat. 201 The original form of all governments appears to have been theocratical.

Theocratically, adv. [f. prec. (or THEOCRATIC) + -LLY.] In a theocratic manner; from a theocratic point of view.

1827 G. S. Faber Orig. Expiat. Sacr. 234 Even the precept of a perfect love to God, when viewed theocratically, was part and parcel of the statute law of Israel.

Theod, theode, var. Thede Obs., people.

Theo-democracy: see Theo-.

Theodicy (θīŏ·dĭsi). Also 9 theodice, -ee. [ad. F. théodicée, the title of a work of Leibnitz (1710), f. Gr. θεό-s God + δίκη justice.] The, or a, vindication of the divine attributes, esp. justice and holiness, in respect to the existence of evil; a writing, doctrine, or theory intended to 'justify the ways of God to men'. Cf. Optimism I.

1797 D. Stewart in Encycl. Brit. (ed. 3) XI. 482/2 Metaphysical theology, which Leibnitz and some others call theodicy. 1885 Coleridge Aids Refl. (1848) I. 120 All the theodices ever framed by human ingenuity, before and since the attempt of the celebrated Leibnitz. 1875 White Life in Christ v. xxix. (1878) 500 Their theodicy is based on the belief that out of all evil God will bring eternal good.

Hence Theodice'an, one who frames or maintains a theodicy.

1873 Morley Rousseau I. 322 All things are for the best, said Rousseau and the theodiceans.

Theodidact (θīŏ·dĭdăkt), a. and sb. [f. Theo- + Gr. διδακτ-ός taught.] a. adj. Taught by God. b. sb. One taught by God.

1715 M. Davies Athen. Brit. I. 66 Pretended Theodidacts, and self-knowing Gnosticks. 1865 tr. Strauss's New Life Jesus I. i. xxx. 262 The young Theodidact was able.. to give some advice to the more learned. 1894 Louise S. Houghton tr. Sabatier's St. Francis Introd. 16 Owing nothing to church or schools he [St. Francis] was truly theodidact.

†Theodisc, a. Obs. rare. [OE. þeodisc = OS. thiudisc, OHG. diutisc:—O Teut. þeudisko-*², f. OE. þéod, Theod. Cf. Dutch. If the word had survived in later ME., its form would have been theedish*.] Of or belonging to a nation or people; native, national, popular; in biblical use, Gentile; in quot. 1715 used for Old German.

c 1000 Aldhelm Gl. viii. 350 in Nicolas O. E. Gloss., Gentiles, þeodisce. c 1205 Lay. 5838 Wende þa þeodisce men [c 1275 be Romanisse] þat Belin wolde þenne. 1715 M. Davies Athen. Brit. I. 197 Who turn'd the Gospels into Theodisc or Old Francick Rhyme.

Theodolite (θīŏ·dŏlait). Forms: 6–7 theodelitus, 7 theodelite, -dolit, -dilit, 8 -dolet, 7- theodolite. [Origin unknown: see Note below.]

A portable surveying instrument, originally for measuring horizontal angles, and consisting essentially of a planisphere or horizontal graduated circular plate, with an alidad or index bearing sights; subsequently variously elaborated with a telescope instead of sights, a compass, level, vernier, micrometer, and other accessories, and now often with the addition of a vertical circle or arc for the measurement of angles of altitude or depression.

The original theodelitus of Digges was for horizontal angles only, and many quots. down to 1796 c. use the name in this sense; Digges also describes a compound instrument having also a vertical semicircle for taking altitudes, but he calls that his topographicall instrument, restricting the name theodelitus to the horizontal circle.

1571 Digges Pantom. i. xxvii. H iij, The composition of the instrument called Theodelitus. It is but a circle diuided in 360..degrees, or a semicircle parted in 180 portions, and euery of those diuisions in 3 or rather 6 smaller partes... The index of that instrument with the slightes &c. are not vnlike to that which the square hath: In his backe prepare a vice or screw to be fastned in the top of some staffe. Ibid. I ij, [In the figure] GEFO [is] Theodelitus, GF his Alhidada or index with slightes. Ibid. xxix. I j b, Describing also within the same square the Planisphere or circle called Theodelitus. 1597 J. Norden Surv. Dial. iii. 127 It [Circumferentor] is a new name given to the very Theodelite, used in a sort otherwise then the Theodelite. 1612 A. Hopton Speculum Topogr. vi. 27 The Theodelitus is an instrument consisting of a Planisphere and an Alhidada. Ibid. Table D d 2 b, To take a plat at one station by the Theodelite. 1669 Sturmy Mariner's Mag. ii. 46 Any Instrument, as the Plain Table, the Theodolit or Circumferenter. 1701 Moxon Math. Instr. xv Theodolite, a whole Circle made of Brass, containing 360 degrees, diagonally or otherwise divided, with an Index and sights moving on the Center, and a box and Needle in the middle. 1790 Rov in Phil. Trans. LXXX. 136 It is a brass circle, three feet in diameter, and may be called a great theodolet, rendered extremely perfect. 1833 Herschel Astron. ii. § 155 The zenith sector and the theodolite are peculiar modifications of the altitude and azimuth instrument. 1842 Penny Cycl. XXIV. 314/2 Theodolite, or Theodolite..the name generally given to the instrument used for measuring horizontal angles. [Ibid. 315/2 The problem is to measure the horizontal angle between two objects. Ibid. 316/2 If the vertical angles are to be measured as accurately as the horizontal angles, the instrument becomes an altitude and azimuth circle.] [Cf. Altazimuth.]

b. attrib., as theodolite-goniometer, a goniometer with horizontal and vertical graduated circles; theodolite-magnetometer, an instrument for measuring magnetic declination, and for observations of magnetic force; theodolite-needle, the needle of the compass of a theodolite.

1820 Scoresby Acc. Arctic Reg. I. 333 A theodolite needle, performed ten vibrations in sixty seconds. 1877 Knight Dict. Mech., Theodolite-magnetometer. 1909 Cent. Dict. Suppl., Theodolite-goniometer.

Hence Theodoli·tic a., of, pertaining to, done or made with a theodolite (Webster 1864).

[Note. The name, alike in the Latinized form theodelitus and the vernacular theodolite (subseq. -dolite), originated in England, and is not known in French and German until the 19th c. Its first user, and probable inventor, L. or T. Digges, has left no account of its composition, as to which various futile conjectures, incompatible with its early history and use, have been offered; such is the notion that it arose in some way out of alhidada or its corruption athelida occurring in Bourne's Treasure for Travailers 1578, which an examination of the works of Digges and Bourne, where both words occur in their proper senses, shows to be absurd. Theodelite has the look of a formation from Greek; can it have been (like many modern names of inventions) an uncholarly formation from θεάομαι 'I view' or θεᾶ 'behold' and ἡδύς 'visible, clear, manifest', with a meaningless termination?]

Theodom: see Theowdom.

Theodosian (θīŏdō·sĭăn, -dō·sĭăn), a. and sb. [f. the name Theodosi-us: see -AN.]

A. adj. Of or pertaining to one named Theodosius; esp. of or pertaining to the Roman emperor Theodosius II (A.D. 408–450).

Theodosian code, a collection of laws made by direction of Theodosius II, and published A.D. 438.

1765 Blackstone Comm. I. Introd. iii. 82 Which Theodosian code was the only book of civil law received as authentic in the western part of Europe till many centuries after. 1802 Ranken Hist. France II. ii. iii. § 2. 251 The Gothic gave way to the Theodosian code. 1833 Encycl. Brit. (ed. 7) V. 713/1 In the council which sanctions the Theodosian Code, the emperor evidently admits that the compilers whom he had employed were not mere copyists. 1864 Bayne Rom. Emp. iii. (1889) 29 Revised editions of the Theodosian code were issued by the Visigothic and Burgundian princes.

B. sb. 1. A follower of Theodosius, a rhetorician of Alexandria, who became (A.D. 535) the leader of a division of the Monophysites.

1788 Gibbon Decl. & F. xlvii. IV. 611 note, The Galanites and Theodosians. 1797 Encycl. Brit. (ed. 3) I. 797/2 Theodosians..held that the persons of the Trinity are not the same; that none of them exists of himself, and of his own nature; but that there is a common god or deity existing in them all, and that each God, by a participation of this deity. 1874 J. H. Blunt Dict. Sects (1886), Theodosians, the Alexandrian section of the sect of the Phthartolatræ.

2. A member of a sect founded by Theodosius, a Russian monk: see quot. 1860.

1860 J. Gardner Faiths World, Theodosians, a sect of dissenters from the Russo-Greek Church who separated some years since from the Pomoryans, partly because they neglected to purify by prayer...articles purchased from unbelievers. 1874 in J. H. Blunt Dict. Sects, etc.

Theodotian (θīŏdō·ʃĭăn, -dō·tĭăn). [f. the name Theodot-us: see -IAN.] A follower of Theodotus ('the Tanner') of Byzantium, who (c 200 A.D.) taught the antitrinitarian doctrine of the Monarchians; also, a follower of Theodotus ('the Banker') who promulgated a similar heresy in the 3rd c. A.D. Hence Theodo·tianism.

1853 W. E. Taylor Hippolytus II. iv. 102 Disputes occurring among the Theodotians, he became the head of a new sect. 1874 J. H. Blunt Dict. Sects, Heresies, etc. (1886) s.v., Epiphanius writes that the Theodotian held Christ to be a mere man, and begotten of the seed of man... Hippolytus and Theodoret state that they had their beginning from Theodotus the Banker. 1876 A. Plummer tr. Dollinger's Hippolytus & Callistus 128 note, A full denial of the divinity of Christ or Theodotianism.

Theo-drama: see Theo-.

Theody (θī·ŏdi). [ad. It. teodia, ad. L. theōdia*, *Gr. θεῳδία, f. θεό-s God + ᾠδή song: cf. Melody.] A song of praise to God; a psalm.

1867 Longf. Dante, Paradiso xxv. 73 'Sperent in te', in the high Theody He sayeth, 'those who know thy name'. Iorig. Sperino in te, nell'alta Teodia, dice, color che sanno il nome tuo].

Theof, Theofthe, obs. ff. Thief, Theft.

Theogeological, -gnostic: see Theo-.

†Theo·gonal, a. [irreg. f. Theogony.] = next.

1727 A. Hamilton New Acc. E. Ind. I. p. vii, Opportunities to know some topographical, historical, and theogonal Parts of this Work. 1728 Ibid. Preface p. xxi, The theogonal and moral Parts may without Doubt, deserve some serious Thoughts or Attention.

Theogonic (θīŏgŏ·nik), a. [f. as next + -IC.] Of or pertaining to theogony; of the nature of theogony. So Theogo·nical a.

1840 tr. C. O. Müller's Hist. Lit. Greece xvi. § 4. 234 They show that by this time the character of the 'theogonic poetry' had been changed, and that Orphic ideas were in vogue. 1846 Grote Greece I. xvi. I. 493 The acts described in the old heroic and theogonic legends. 1880 Gladstone in 19th Cent. Apr. 720 Theogonic forms of theogonic and anthropomorphic evolution. 1864 Milman Lat. Chr. (1867) II. 30 To reconcile the doctrines of the Gospel with the 'theogonical system of Asia.

Theogonist (θīŏ·gŏnist). [f. next + -IST. (In sense 2, f. Gr. θεόγονος born of God.)]

1. One who is versed in or treats of theogony.

1698 Cudworth Intell. Syst. i. iii. § 32. 124 Such Theologers as these, who were Theogonists, and Generated all the Gods..out of Sensless and Stupid Matter. 1845 Maurice Mor. & Met. Philos. in Encycl. Metrop. (1847) II. 635/1 Plato, the cosmogonist and theogonist, is another man altogether from Plato the seeker of hidden truths in the facts which lay before him. 1880 E. Myers Æschylus in E. Abbott Hellenica 16 If Pindar and Aeschylus treated the primitive theogonies with reverence, it was not the reverence of a primitive theogonist.

¶ 2. erron. One who is born of God.

1833 Fraser's Mag. VIII. 570 [In] Genesis..it is..stated that the aboriginal races of just men distinguished themselves by this..title, Alibenim, theogonists, or God's sons, from the atheistical Sathanists, or evil-seekers.

So Theo·gonism, a system or theory of theogony; Theo·gonite = sense 2.

1678 Cudworth Intell. Syst. Pref. 34 That strange kind of Religious Atheism, or Atheistick Theogonism, which asserted..Beings..called by them Gods; Generated at First out of Night and Chaos..and Corruptible again into the same. Ibid. Contents I. v. 726 A certain kind of Atheistick Theism, or Theogonism, which acknowledging a God or Soul of the World,..supposed Him..to have emerged out of Night and Chaos. 1832 Fraser's Mag. IV. 94 He [Lord Brougham] assumes too much of the theogonite to be wise.

Theogony (θīŏ·gŏni). Also 8–9 erron. -geny.

[ad. Gr. θεογονία generation or birth of the gods, f. θεός god + -γονία a begetting. So F. théogonie.] The generation of the gods; esp. an account or theory, or the belief or study, of the genealogy or birth of the deities of heathen mythology.

1612 SELDEN Illustr. Drayton's Poly-olb. xi. 163, I imagine many of their descents were just as true as the Theogonie in Hesiod. 1656 BLOUNT Glossogr., Theogonie, the beginning or generation of the gods. 1748 HARTLEY Observ. Man n. ii. 87 There were many Cosmogonies and Theogonies current amongst the Pagans. 1853 MAX MÜLLER Chips (1880) I. iii. 73 In the Veda,..a theogony of which that of Hesiod is but the last chapter. 1889 I. TAYLOR Logic in Theol. 253 Theogenies, and theories of the universe.

Theohuman, theoklonic, -ny: see THEO-.

Theolatry [θῐŏ·lătrĭ]. [ad. Gr. θεολατρεία worship of God, f. θεός God + λατρεία worship: see -LATRY.] The worship of a deity or deities.

1806 Edin. Rev. VII. 487 The distinction between heroLatry and theolatry, or the sacred rites of heroes and the sacred rites of Gods, was perfectly well known in Greece. 1887 J. C. MORRISON Service of Man 265 The worship of deities has passed into the service of man. Instead of Theolatry we have anthropolatry.

Theolepsy [θῐŏ·lĕpsĭ). rare. [ad. Gr. θεολῆψία, f. θεός god + -λημψία, f. λῆψις seizure, f. λαμβάνειν, root λαβ- to take.] Seizure or possession by a deity, inspiration. So Theole·ptic [Gr. θεολήπτικός adj.], one possessed or inspired by a deity.

1881 W. ALEXANDER Speaker's Comm. N. T. IV. 332/2 The streets of Ephesus were full of theoleptics and convulsionaries. 1885 MUNSLEY Nat. Causes & Supernat. Seemings 222 The incoherent utterances which..the theoleptic..poured out under divine compulsion. Ibid. 315 Neither theolepsy, nor diabolepsy, nor any other lepsy in the sense of possession of the individual by an external power.

Theolog, obs. form of THEOLOGUE.

Theological [θῐ·ŏlŏ·gĭkăl), a. and sb. [a. F. théologal adj. and sb. (14th c. in Hatz.-Darm.), f. Gr.-L. theologi-us + theologian: see -AL.]

+A. adj. in theological virtues [OF. vertus théologales (14th c.)]: see THEOLOGICAL a. 1. Obs.

1484 CAXTON Chivalry 71 Of the seuen vertues thre ben theologale or deuyne and the other four ben cardynal. The theologal ben fayth, hope and charyte. 1502 Ord. Crysten Men (W. de W. 1506) I. v. 48 There ben thre vertues theologales & infuses. 1600 DEKKER Patient-mary 190 Theologall vertues, Faith, Hope, and Charity, are infus'd from God. Ibid. 210 This is not meant onely of Charitie, as it is a Theologall vertue.

B. sb. R. C. Ch. A lecturer on theology and Holy Scripture attached to a cathedral or collegiate church. Also called theologus and canon theologian.

1658 BAKER tr. Balzac's Lett. (vol. III) 173 To Monsieur Senne, Theologall of the Church of Saints. 1872 JERVIS Gallican Ch. I. xi. 389 note, The theologal enjoyed a canonry by virtue of his office.

+Theo·logant. Obs. rare—[1]. [ad. med.L. theologant-em, pres. pple. of theologāre,-ārē (Du Cange) to theologize: see -ANT.] = THEOLOGER.

1698 MARVELL Def. Sj. Home Wks. (Grosart) IV. 1169 The Theologants of former and later times..have attempted to clamber [etc.].

Theologaster [θῐ,ŏlŏgæ·stăr]. [a. med.L. theologaster (Luther 1518), f. theologus theologian: see -ASTER.] A shallow or paltry theologian; a smatterer or pretender in theology.

1621 BURTON Anat. Mel. II. ii. III, The like measure is offered unto God himself by a company of theologasters. 1642 H. More Song Soul Interpr. Words, Superficiall conceited Theologasters..having but the surface and thin imagination of divinity. 1744 WARBURTON Rem. Occas. Rel. i. App. 134 This sort of distressed our Theologaster. 1888 SCHAFF Hist. Chr. Ch. VI. iii. liv. 322 The furious decree of the Parisian theologasters.

Hence Theologa·stric a., of or pertaining to a theologaster; in quot. as sb. a theologaster.

1894 FROUDE Erasmus' Life & Lett. iv. 65, I am speaking merely of the theologastrics of our own time, whose brains are the rottenest.

Theologate [θῐ,ŏlŏgĕt). R. C. Ch. [ad. med. L. theologāt-us, f. theologus theologian: see -ATE[1].]

1. The course in theology prescribed for candidates for the priesthood.

1889 in WORCESTER Suppl.

2. A theological college or seminary.

1884 Mrs. Calderwood's Yrnls. v. 169 note, The Jesuit College at Liège, the theologate of the English Province. 1898 Month Oct. 439 The Prefecture of Holy Scripture at the great Jesuit Theologate of Woodstock. 1906 Tablet 15 Sept. 401 Ditton Hall, not far from Liverpool, where the exiled German province then had its theologate.

Theologe, obs. form of THEOLOGUE.

Theologer [θῐ,ŏlŏ·dʒăr). Now rare. [f. stem of Gr.-L. theolog-us or Eng. theology + -ER 1; see -LOGER.] One who studies or busies himself with theology; = THEOLOGIAN (but now with less implication of scholarship). a. In reference to Christianity or other monotheistic religion.

1588 J. HARVEY Disc. Probl. 37 After which last maner may our diuines, or Theologers be termed prophets, but not otherwise. 1653 H. MORE Conject. Cabbal. (1713) 29 Supposing them (conclusions) true, till such time as some able Philosopher or Theologer shall convince me of their falshood. 1756 AMORY Buncle (1770) II. 126 To make me a theologer, that I might be an able defender of the Creed of St. Athanasius. 1849 O. BROWNSON Wks. VII. 16 The theological speculations of theologers, as he [Dr. Bushnell] contemptuously calls them.

b. In reference to pagan religions.

1609 HOLLAND Amm. Marcell. 166 That..Goddesse Themis, whom..the antient Theologers have shrined in the verie bed and throne of Iupiter. 1698 CUDWORTH Intell. Syst. Pref. 38 The Pagan Theologers..acknowledged one Sovereign.. Deity, from which all their other Gods were Generated or Created. 1724 COLLINS Grounds Chr. Relig. I. xi. 83 Allegory was in use among the Pagans; being cultivated by many of the Philosophers themselves as well as by Theologers. 1876 BLACKIE Lang. & Lit. Highl. Scotl. ii. 79 The 'Works and Days' of the old Boeotian theologer (Hesiod).

Theologian (θῐŏlō·dʒĭăn). Also 5–6 -yen. [a. F. théologien (14th c. in Hatz.-Darm.), f. théologie or L. theologia THEOLOGY; subseq. assimilated to L. spelling: see -LOGIAN.] One who is versed in theology; spec. one who makes a study or profession of theology; a divine. Also attrib.

1483 CAXTON Cato F 3 b, The phycyen was wont aye good Theologyen or knowyng the dyuyne scryptures. 1509 FISHER Funeral Serm. C'tess Richmond Wks. (1876) 303 Whiche thinge not onely the theologyens wytnesse, but the phylosophers also. *a*1627 HAYWARD Edw. VI (1630 84 Some theologians..desteining their professions..by publishing odious vntruths. 1667 MILTON P. L. v. 436 The common glose Of Theologians. 1769 ROBERTSON Chas. V, xi. 111. 352 The hidden ordeal of theologians long exercised in disputation. 1836 H. ROGERS Y. Home ii. (1863) 23 Professed theologians were not the parties for whom the Bible was exclusively, or even principally intended. 1897 Scotsman 26 May 10/6 My theologian judges and my lay judges.

b. In reference to pagan religions: = THEOLOGER b, rare.

1603 HOLLAND Plutarch's Mor. 1047 The olde Theologians and Divines..have put into the hands of the images of the gods, musicall instruments. 1904 BUDGE 3rd & 4th Egypt. Room Brit. Mus. 129 Under the New Empire the votaries of Ra formed a numerous and powerful body, and their theologians and priests endeavoured to impress their views on the country in general.

c. Canon theologian (R. C. Ch.) = THEOLOGAL B. 1885 Cath. Dict. (ed. 3) s.v. Canon Theologian, The Council of Trent directed..that..in cathedral..or even collegiate churches..a Canon Theologian..should be appointed.

Theologic (θῐŏlŏ·dʒĭk), a. (sb.) [ad. F. théologique (14th c. in Hatz.-Darm.), ad. L. theologicus, a. Gr. θεολογικός, f. θεολογία THEOLOGY.]

1. Of or belonging to theology; = next, 2.

1477 EARL RIVERS (Caxton) Dictes 78 Aristoteles..lerned of plato..Esiliens and the iiij sciences theologiques. 1666 GALE Crt. Gentiles I. Introd. 4 Plato..derived the choisest of his contemplations, both Physiologic, and Theologic..from the Jewish Church. 1698 CUDWORTH Intell. Syst. I. iv. 323 It was customary with the Egyptian Priests, to entitle their own Philosophick and Theologick Books, to Hermes. 1780 H. WALPOLE Let. to Cole 4 July, I hate theologic or political controversy. *a*1846 M. COLLINS Th. in Garden (1880) II. 237 These young theologic adepts fancy they know everything.

†2. = THEOLOGICAL a. 1. Obs. rare.

1605 DRAYTON Man in Moone 488 Those Hierarchies.. Whose Orders..Make up that holy Theologike nine: Thrones, Cherubin, and Seraphin [etc.]. 1637 HEYWOOD Loaden Mitres Wks. (1874) I. 314 The Theologicke vertues, the three Graces, And Charities have here their sevvrall places.

B. absol. as sb. (pl.) Theological matters. rare.

1728 YOUNG Love Fame v. 374 These..who thus excell in Theologicks.

Theological (θῐŏlŏ·dʒĭkăl), a. (sb.) [ad. med. L. theologicālis (Duns Scotus a 1308), f. L. theologicus (see prec.) + -ālis, -AL: see -ICAL.]

1. Of or pertaining to the word of God, i.e. the Bible; scriptural: cf. THEOLOGY 2; in theological virtues [virtutes theologicæ, Albertus Magnus], applied to faith, hope, and charity (1 Cor. xiii. 13), as distinct from the earlier four cardinal virtues of Plato and the Stoics (cf. TEMPERANCE, Note).

(From the contemporary senses of theologia, this seems to have been the original meaning; but other reasons for and explanations of the name were current from Aquinas onward: see the quots.; cf. also c 1380 WYCLIF De Eccl. ii. Sel. Wks. III. 340 Pes two godliche vrtues [faith and hope]. The ancient pre-Christian virtues were called virtutes cardinales A.D. 379, by Ambrose Exx. Satyri I. 57.)

[1484: cf. THEOLOGAL.] 1526 Pilgr. Perf. (W. de W. 1531) 142 The role yt coureth all is the theologyall vertue, hope. 1588 A. KING tr. Canisius' Catech. 184 The vertues (quhilk I mawe called theological and cardinal). 1607–12 BACON Ess., Goodness (Arb.) 398 Goodnes answeares to the Theologicall vertue, Charitie, and admittes not excess, but errour. 1616 BULLOKAR Eng. Expos., Theologicall vertues, Faith, Hope and Charity are so called, because they haue their object and end in God. 1660 R. COKE Power & Subj. 14 By Theological virtues I do not mean only those three most eminent virtues of Faith, Hope, and Charity, but all those actions of obedience due to them..; to whom I owe my obedience not by any Law of Nature, but as commanded by God in the Scriptures. 1875 MANNING Mission H. Ghost iii. 82 Faith is called a theological virtue, because it unites the soul with its Maker. 1909 OTTLEY Chr. Ideas & Ideals I. vi. 98 Faith, hope, and love are commonly called 'theological virtues', for reasons which Aquinas briefly enumerates. They have, he says, God for their object; they [etc.].

2. Of, pertaining to, or of the nature of theology; dealing with or treating of theology.

1603 HOLLAND Plutarch's Mor. 1304 The Theologicall interpretations that the Stoicks give out: for they holde, that the generative and nutritive Spirit, is Bacchus. 1664 JER. TAYLOR Dissuas. Popery II. i. ii. (1667) 89 It is cited.. in the decrees of the Popes, and in the Theological sums of great Divines. 1780 HARRIS Philol. Eng. Wks. (1841) 541 Among their (the Arabians') theological works, there are some upon the principles of the mystic divinity. 1780 BENTHAM Princ. Legist. Introd. ii. § 18 The theological principle; meaning that principle which professes to recur for the standard of right and wrong to the will of God. 1833 HT. MARTINEAU Charmed Sea 1, Frederick was a theological student in the university at Wilna. 1862 STANLEY East. Ch. i. (1869) 23 The Athanasian controversy ..is, strictly speaking, theological; unlike the Pelagian or the Lutheran controversies, it relates not to man, but to God. 1904 Times 4 May 2/6 The abolition of all theological tests and sectarian teaching during school hours.

B. sb. †1. pl. The theological virtues. Obs.

1600 W. WATSON Decacordon (1602) 158 Three speciall principia or causes called of Diuines the three Theologicals,..faith,..charitie,..hope.

†2. pl. Theological matters or principles. Obs.

a 1626 W. SCLATER Exp. 4th ch. Rom. Ep. Ded., The greatest patterne, and example for men to liue by:..whether in your Naturals, or in your Morals, or in your Theologicals. 1774 J. HUTTON in Mme. D'Arblay's Early Diary (1889) I. 303, I have found much pleasure in Madame de Maintenon's Letters (except in Theologicals and Spirituals).

3. A man trained at a theological college.

1866 S. B. JAMES Duty & Doctr. (1872) 18 University clergy are rarer, and theological studies therefore more numerous.

Theologically (θῐŏlŏ·dʒĭkălĭ), adv. [f. THEOLOGICAL + -LY 2.] In a theological manner; from a theological point of view; according to the principles of theology; as regards theology.

1612 CORGR., Theologalement, Theologically, diuinely. 1617 MONYSON Itin. II. 165 To speake theologically, God preserves us, but stil in our wakes. 1681 FLAVEL Meth. Grace v. 95 Though a man be physically a living man,..yet his soul having no union with Christ, he is theologically a dead man. 1773 JOHNSON 7 May, in Boswell, He may be morally or theologically wrong in restraining the propagation of opinions, which he thinks dangerous, but he is politically right. 1845 FORD Handbk. Spain I. 70 It was long a disputed point in Spain whether chocolate did or did not break fast theologically. 1874 P. BAYNE in Contemp. Rev. Oct. 708 He liked them to be theologically in sympathy with the Reformation. 1905 W. SANDAY Crit. Fourth Gosp. v. 145 The simple peasants of Galilee needed moral teaching; whereas the theologically minded inhabitants of Judaea called out more of a theology.

Theologician (θῐ,ŏlŏdʒĭ·ʃăn). Now rare. Also 7 -itian. [f. L. theologic-us THEOLOGIC + -IAN: see -ICIAN.] = THEOLOGIAN.

c 1560 in 300 Yrs. Chaucer Criticisms (Chaucer Soc.) 95 Geffery Chaucer..was a sharpe Logician, a sweete Khetorician, a pure Poett, a grave Philipher, and a sacred theologician. 1647 W. BROWNE tr. Polexander I. III. 60 Though I am a weake Theologitian I dare assure my selfe [etc.]. 1757 MRS. GRIFFITH Lett. Henry & Frances (1767) II. 110 The same error..which theologitians have attributed to the heathen Romans. 1898 ADAMSON Life J. Morison xv. 171 Mr. Meikle was pre-eminently the theologician of the group.

Theologico- (θῐŏlŏ·dʒĭko), combining form from Gr. θεολογικός THEOLOGIC: 'theologically-, theological and . . '; as in theologico-astronomical, -ethical, -historical, -metaphysical, -military, -moral, -natural, -political adjs.; also with sbs., as in theologico-politician.

1800 COLERIDGE Lett., to Southey (1895) 323 A *theologico-astronomical hypothesis. 1837 LEWIS Lett. (1870) 85 *Theologico-ethical opinions. 1842 BARHAM Ingol. Leg. Ser. II. Lay St. Cuthbert Introd., The extracts..may be considered as *theologico-historical. 1897 Daily News 21 Oct. 8/3 A *theologico-metaphysical speculator of near the same capacity. 1827 G. S. FABER Sacr. Calend. Prophecy (1844) III. 229 The *theologico-military exploits of the Saracens and the Turks. c 1644 Ph. Enquiry, etc. in Hard. Misc. (Malh.) V. 498 The *theologico-moral design of convincing unnatural sinners. 1782 BECKFORD Italy, etc. (1834) I. iii. 330 A *theologico-natural history of birds, beasts, and fishes. 1680 R. MANSELL Narr. Popish Plot Addr. b) b, These *Theologico-Political Quacks. 1657–83 EVELYN Hist. Relig. (1850) II. 271 The *Theologico-politician Spinosa.

Theologism (θῐ,ŏlŏdʒĭz'm). [f. THEOLOGIST or THEOLOGIZE: see -ISM; cf. F. théologisme (Littré).] The action or product of theologizing; theological speculation or system: usually in a derogatory sense.

1867 WESTCOTT in Contemp. Rev. VI. 407 The potential creed of the mass, anything of spiritual polytheism and tending to theologism. 1901 J. K. INGRAM in Academy 28 Sept. 256/2 Theologism, especially in its monotheistic form. 1908 Hibbert Jrnl. July 924 Dr. White's book..has opened Mr. Tyrrell's eyes to all the vileness of theologism.

Theologist (θῐ,ŏlŏdʒĭst). [ad. med.L. theologista (Luther 1519 Wks. (1884) II. 161), agent-n. f. theologizāre: see THEOLOGIZE and -IST.]

A professed theologian. a. In reference to heathen religions: = THEOLOGER b. (Used of ancient or modern writers on these.) Now rare.

a 1638 MEDE Apostasy Later Times (1641) 19 Their Theologists bring in another kinde of Daemons more high and sublime. a 1638 — Wks. (1672) 626, I take the word Δαιμόνιον..in the better..sense, as it was..taken among the Theologists and Philosophers of the Gentils. 1755 Gentl. Mag. XXV. 58/1, I am informed by a most learned.. theologist, that Tantalus did not incur the displeasure of Jupiter till after the accident which happened to his son. 1816 G. S. FABER Orig. Pagan Idol. II. 102 The other philosophizing theologists of the east.

b. In reference to Christianity or other monotheistic religion: = THEOLOGER a.

1641 EARL MONM. tr. Biondi's Civil Warres v. 109 The schoole of Theologists who say that by sinning hee lost what hee had received by favour. 1668 Franco Truth Springing 1 The generally-received Opinion amongst the Jews Theologists,.. That the Lord governeth onely the people of Israel with his peculiar and particular Providence. 1774 Warton Hist. Eng. Poetry I. Diss. II. 42 Anselm, an acute metaphysician and theologist. Ibid. 75 These visionary theologists never explained or illustrated any scriptural topic. 1857 Baden-Powell in Oxford Ess. 181 The generality of these later natural theologists.

c. In derogatory sense: cf. Theologism.

1900 A. M. Christie tr. Hist. Germ. People Mid. Ages III. 57 His opponents were not theologians but theologists.

‖ Theologium (θῐŏlōdʒēĭ·ŭm). Gr. Antiq. Also in Gr. form theologeion (-gēĭ·ŏn). [mod. L., ad. Gr. θεολογεῖον (see def.), f. θεο-, Theo- + λογεῖον speaking-place.] In the ancient theatre, a small balcony above the stage, from which those impersonating the gods spoke.

1888 in Cassell's Encycl. Dict. 1889 A. E. Haigh Attic Theatre iv. § 8. 193 Another appliance for exhibiting gods in a supernatural manner was the theologeion.

Theologization. rare. Also θ-ασιον. [f. as next, perh. through a mod.L. theologizātio*: see -ation.] The action of theologizing.

a 1529 Skelton Replye. Wks. 1843 I. 209 The tetrycall theologisacion of these demy diuines, and Stoicall studiantes.

Theologize (pɪ̆·lŏdʒəiz), v. [In sense 1, ad. med.L. theologizāre (Albertus Magnus c 1250; also in Aquinas, Duns Scotus, Wyclif, etc.), f. theologia Theology: see -ize. So F. théologiser (Godef. Compl.). But the trans. senses may have been formed later directly from theology.]

1. intr. To play the theologian; to discourse or reason theologically; to speculate in theology.

1656 Blount Glossogr., Theologize, to preach or play the Divine. 1662 R. More Philos. Work. Prof. Gen. (1712) 8 My design, which is not to Theologize in Philosophy. 1721 Earl Nottingham Answ. to Whiston 57 As we Christians have been taught to Theologize of Him. 1846 G. S. Faber Diffic. Romanism (1853) 158 Justin..theologises in manner following. 1875 E. White Life in Christ Pref. (1878) 8 When they do theologise..on the question whether the existing human race owes its being to law or to grace.

2. trans. To render theological; to conform to theology: to treat theologically.

1649 W. Weightlus (title) Astrologie Theologized: wherein is set forth what Astrologie, and the light of Nature is. 1873 H. Rogers Orig. Bible vii. (1875) 295 Voltaire said that Pascal had illustrated..his genius..by theologising two things that seemed not made for theology—wit and pleasantry.

†3. To attribute divinity to; to treat as of divine or spiritual nature. Also intr. or absol. Obs.

1678 Cudworth Intell. Syst. I. § 33. 40 The same persons did..both Atomize in their Physiology, taking away all Substantial Forms..; and also Theologize or Incorporealize, asserting Souls to be a Substance really distinct from Matter and Immortal. Ibid. v. § 17. 498 In which Orphick Fables, not only the Things of Nature, and Parts of the World were all Theologized, but also all manner of Humane Passions.. attributed to the Gods.

Hence Theologizing vbl. sb. and ppl. a.; also Theologizer, one who theologizes, a theologer.

1685 Boyle Eng. Notion Nat. iv. (1686) 93 The ancient Ægyptian Theologizers..look'd upon the Sun and Moon.. as the chief Gods. 1693 J. Edwards Author. O. & N. Test. 92 Epicharmus, Thales, Plato, and all the Greek theologizers. 1827-8 Sears Athan. 8 Theologizers of the school we describe. 1677 Gale Crt. Gentiles II. iii. 136 Origen's allegoric mode of Theologising. 1833 J. H. Newman Arians ii. iv. (1876) 190 The introduction of a subtle and irreverent question, whenever the theologizing Sophists should choose to raise it. 1881 G. A. Simcox in Academy 7 May 330 An instructive contrast to much fashionable theologising.

Theologo- (pɪ̆·lŏgō), combining form repr. Gr. θεολογο-ς a theologian: as in theo'logo-inquisitorial adj., of or pertaining to a theological inquisitor; theo'logo-jurist, a jurist who treats of theology.

1802-12 Bentham Ration. Judic. Evid. (1827) I. 555 The character of theologo-inquisitorial despotism. a 1843 Southey Doctor clxxii. (1848) 448/2 'The title of Christ is Eternal Life is become absolute,—by absolute',—says this theologo-jurist [J. Asgill].—I mean discharged from all tenure or condition, and consequently from all forfeiture'.

‖ Theologoumenon (pɪ̆ŏlōgu·mĕnŏn, -gū-; -mēnŏn). Pl. -a (-ă). [a. Gr. θεολογούμενον, neut. of pr. pple. pass. of θεολογεῖν to theologize, f. θεολόγος theologian.] A theological statement or utterance on theology: distinguished from an inspired doctrine or revelation.

1891 Brit. Weekly 29 Oct. 1 What gives this dubious theologoumenon its importance in Dr. Dale's system is the connection into which he brings it with the doctrine of propitiation. 1895 J. Denney Stud. Theol. iii. 52 His utterances on this point may be disregarded as private theologoumena. 1906 D. W. Forrest Author. Christ vi. ix. 330 It can only rank as a theologoumenon of Peter.

Theologue (pɪ̆·lŏg). Also 5-7 theologe, 6-9 theolog. [ad. L. theolog-us, a. Gr. θεολόγος one who treats, or gives an account, of the gods (e.g. Hesiod, Orpheus), or of God; f. θεός God + λέγειν to discourse: see -logue. Before c 1600 app. only Sc.: cf. Astrologue.]

1. = Theologian. Now rare.

c 1425 Wyntoun Cron. IX. xxi. 2237 (MS. Cott.) Master Henry of Wardlaw..A theologe solempnes was he Kende, and knawyn of gret bownte. c 1470 Henryson Orpheus & Eur. 422 Doctor nycholas Quhilk in his tyme a noble theologe was. 1508 Dunbar Lament for Makkeris 38 Arts, magicianis, and astrologis, Rethoris, logicianis, & theologis. 1605 Timme Quersit. Ded. 1 Moses, that auncient theologue. 1682 H. More Annot. Glanvill's Lux O. 62 The divy Dreams..of earthly either Philosophers or Theologs. 1693 Phil. Trans. XVII. 807 A bad Astronomer, a worse Theologe, and the worst of all Physiologers. a 1734 North Exam. III. ix. § 7 (1740) 652 It is not for a Layman to act the Theologue. 1899 I. Taylor Logic in Theol. 147 The writings of the great theologue of Bethlehem, Jerome.

2. A theological student. U. S. colloq. (Prob. after Ger. theolog.)

1663 Blair Autobiog. ii. (1848) 42 My refusal would very much grieve all the young theologues. 1810-16 O'Connor Columbanus' Lett. vi. 111 Barrister Theologues of the poddle! 1884 Yrnl. Educ. XIX. 327 The theologs who graduate from Lombard will stand high in their profession.

Theology (pɪ,ŏ·lŏdʒi). Also 4 teologye, 4-7 theologie (5 -i, 6 -ye). [a. F. théologie (14th c. in Hatz.-Darm.), ad. L. theologia, a. Gr. θεολογία, abstr. sb. f. θεολόγ-ος: see prec. and -logy. For the early sense-history see Note below.]

1. The study or science which treats of God, His nature and attributes, and His relations with man and the universe; 'the science of things divine' (Hooker); divinity.

Dogmatic theology, theology as authoritatively held and taught by the church; a scientific statement of Christian dogma. Natural theology, theology based upon reasoning from natural facts apart from revelation. Pastoral theology, that branch of theology which deals with religious matters in its relation to the spiritual needs of men, and the 'cure of souls': see Pastoral a. 4.

1362 Langl. P. Pl. A. xi. 136 Bote Teologye [B. x. 180, C. xii. 129 theologie] hab teoised me ten score tymes For be more I muse peron be mistiloker hit semeb. c 1386 Chaucer Pars. T. 969 The exposicion of this hooly preyere ..I bitake to thise maistres of Theologie. 1552 Abp. Hamilton Catech. (1884) 7 Quhat is Theologie? Theologie is ane stuffit lerning. 1594 Hooker Eccl. Pol. III. viii. § 11 The whole drift of the scripture of God, what is it but only to teach Theologie? Theologie, what is it, but the Science of things Divine? c 1648 Locke Comm. Undervalu. (1693) 99 Containing the whole Treasure or ledge of God and His creatures, our duty to him and our fellow-creatures, and a view of our present and future state, is the comprehension of all other knowledge, directed to its true end. 1742 Young Nt. Th. IV. 73 Were I as plump as a stuffed theologe, Wishing would water me to this shade again. 1837 Hallam Hist. Lit. (1847) I. i. § 81. 72 Peter Lombard, the founder of systematic theology in the twelfth century. 1845 Conybeare Theol. in Encycl. Metrop. 897/2 Under the term Theology we comprehend all the knowledge which man can obtain respecting God, whether concerning His nature and attributes, or concerning the relation in which man stands to Him. 1874 J. Duncan Pulpit & Commun. Table 73 Polemical theology is the defence, Practical theology the application, of Dogmatic theology, which again rests upon Exegetical.

b. A particular theological system or theory.

1669 Gale Crt. Gentiles I. III. iv. 53 Aristotle wonderfully agrees with the Mosaic Theologie herein. 1796 H. Hunter tr. St.-Pierre's Stud. Nat. (1799) III. 734 Among those questions, two hundred referred to the theology of the Hebrews. 1830 Mackintosh Eth. Philos. Wks. 1846 I. 82 Clarke..consider such a scheme as the only reasoning against Hobbism, and probably also against the Calvinistic theology. 1837 Hallam Hist. Lit. (1847) I. i. § 18. 23 The scholastic theology..was, in its general principle, an alliance between faith and reason. 1894 J. B. Bury Higher Life xx. 408 There lies a meaning in these glorious words..for which there is no room that I can see in any of our theologies. 1899 C. K. Paul Mem. iv. 130 There [at Eton] in 1841 [some] of us..became conscious of the great stir which was going on at Oxford; a few of our masters were falling under the influence of the new theology. 1907 Standard 19 Jan. 9/4 Latest development of 'New Theology'.

c. Applied to pagan or non-Christian systems.

1662 Stillingfl. Orig. Sacr. I. ii. § 8 Had we rather demonstration of the greatness of mans Apostacy and degeneracy, the Ægyptian Theology would be an irrefragable evidence of it. 1677 Gilpin Demonol. (1867) 201 The Gentile theology of demons is the thing which Paul prophesyed should be introduced into Christianity. 1712 Addison Spect. No. 471 ¶ 8 Our Forefather, according to the Pagan Theology, had a great Vessel presented him by Pandora. 1841 Elphinstone Hist. India II. iv. (1845) I. 221 Their theology, mythology, philosophy,..are almost entirely of the Hindu family.

†2. Rarely used for Holy Scripture. So late Gr. θεολογία (Pseudo-Dion. de Cœl. Hier. 9 § 3), med.L. theologia. Obs.

[Cf. a 1149 Hugo de S. Victore (in Migne 1091 C), Theologia, id est divina scriptura.] 1494 Fabyan Chron. VII. ccxx. 242 This Lanfranke..was perfyetly lerned in the scyence of theologie or holy wrytte. [Cf. 1653 Milton Hirelings (1659) 98 The study of Scripture (which is the only true theologie).]

†b. Hence, Virtues of theology (also vertues theologyes, (?) theologycs) = 'theological virtues': see Theological I. Obs.

1422 tr. Secreta Secret., Priv. Priv. 124 The prologe of the iiij^b. Cardynale vertues, declaryngge the iiij^b. vertues of theologie, and foure maner of goodis. Ibid. 145 Ther byth the Vertues pryncipalle of theologi or dyuynne, y-callid in latevne Fides, Spes, Caritas. 1502 Ord. Crystem Men (W. de W. 1506) II. i. 85 The thre vertues theologyes or diuynes.

†3. Metaphysics. (See Note below.) Obs

1390 Gower Conf. III. 86 Theorique..stant departed upon thre, The ferste..is cleped in Philosophie The science of Theologie, That other named is Phisique, The thridde is seid Mathematique. Theologie is that science Which unto man yifth evidence Of thing which is noght bodely. c 1425 (?) Lydg. Assembly of Gods 859 Arsmetry, Geometry with Astronomy,..Nobyll Theology, and Corporall Physyk.

[Note. Gr. θεολογία meant 'an account of the gods, or of God (whether legendary or philosophical)'. Varro, following the Stoics, distinguished three kinds of theologia, mythical, natural (rational), and civil, the last being the knowledge of the due rites and ceremonies of religion. This threefold division is referred to also by Tertullian and St. Augustine. In Christian Greek, the vb. θεολογεῖν was used = to speak of as God, to attribute deity to', whence θεολογία had the specific sense of 'the ascription of a divine nature to Christ' in contrast to οἰκονομία, the doctrine of his incarnation and human nature. Another patristic Gr. use, arising out of the primary sense, was 'the account of God, or record of God's ways, as given in the Bible', whence the late Gr. and med.L. use of theologia for the Scriptures themselves. In the 12th c. (1121-40) Abelard applied the term to a philosophical treatment of the doctrines of the Christian religion, which, though at first strongly condemned, became current, and, in this sense, 'theologia' came to designate a department of academic study, the text-books of which were the Bible and the Sentences (from the Fathers) of Peter Lombard. Hence the earliest Eng. use. (The passage from Gower in sense 3 is derived ultimately from Aristotle's division of the theoretic forms of philosophy into μαθηματική, φυσική, θεολογική, the last being what we should call metaphysics, which included his doctrine of the divine nature.]

†Theolon. Obs. rare—[1]. [ad. med.L. theolōneum tax, impost, corruption of late L. telōnium (-eum), in Vulg., ad. Gr. τελώνιον toll-house, custom-house.] Payment of taxes, tolls, or imposts.

1610 W. Folkingham Art of Survey III. iv, Immunities and Exemptions from Theolonie, Pontage, Picage, Murage [etc.].

Theomachy (pɪ̆·ŏmăkĭ). Also 6 in Gr.-L. form theomachia (pɪ̆ŏmē·kĭă). [ad. Gr. θεομαχία, f. θεός god + -μαχία fighting.]

†1. A striving or warring against God; opposition to the will of God. Obs. spec. See quot. Obs.

1570-6 Lambarde Peramb. Kent (1826) 327 The whole religion of Papistrie..is Theomachia and nothing else. 1598 Bacon Sacr. Medit. xi. (Arb.) 127 Atheisme and Theomachie rebelleth and mutineth against the power of God. 1633 T. Adams Exp. 2 Peter II. 3 A theomachy, a desperate war against heaven. 1690 C. Nesse O. & N. Test. I. 134 This theomachy or rebelling against God.

b. 1656 Blount Glossogr., Theomachy, a warring or fighting against the gods, as the old Giants are feigned to have done.

2. A battle or strife among the gods: esp. in reference to that narrated in Homer's Iliad.

1898 Gladstone Homer II. ii. 77 When we come to discuss the position of Latona, both generally and in the Theomachy. 1865 — Farewell Addr. Editn. Univ. 29 Xanthos, a river god, appears in the Theomachy. 1891 — Prelim. Homer vi. § 27. 83 Artemis..is sorely belaboured, in the Theomachy, by the strong arm of Hera.

Hence [or from Gr. θεομάχ-ος] Theomachist (pɪ̆·măkĭst), one who fights against God.

1794 Mathias Pursu. Lit. (1798) 18 The continued labours of the arch Theomachist of the age,..that..conflict which he maintained, during..a long and impious life, against the spiritual 'kingdoms of God and of his Christ'. 1897 T. Hardy Desperate Remedies viii. To resist fate with the vindictive determination of a Theomachist.

†Theoma·gic, a. (sb.) Obs. rare. [f. Theo- + Magic.] Of or pertaining to magic claiming to be wrought by divine aid. b. Theoma·gios sb. pl., the principles and practice of 'theomagic' art. So †Theoma·gical a.; †Theomagi·cian, one who practises 'theomagics'.

1650 H. More Observ. in Enthus. Tri., etc. (1656) F 3, The ..Magicall Multiplication, or Theomagical fecundity of your Divine Writings. Ibid. 72 Anthroposophus would be a rare Theomagician indeed. Ibid. 76 We will set his saddle on the right Horse; and this Theomagick jade shall bear the blame. Ibid. 127 His strange mysteries of his Theomagick stone. 1651 — Second Lash ibid. 170 A publick professor of Theomagicks. 1656 Blount Glossogr., Theomagical, pertaining to the wisdome of God, or that works wonders by his help.

Theomammonist: see Theo-.

Theomancy (pɪ̆·ŏmænsi). [ad. Gr. θεομαντεία spirit of prophecy, f. θεός god + μαντεία divination: see -mancy.] A kind of divination: see quots.

1651 Hobbes Leviath. I. xii. 56 These kinds of foretelling events were accounted Theomancy, or Prophecy. 1809 Robinson Archæol. Græca III. xii. 257 Theomancy is distinguished from oracular divination, which was commonly limited to a fixed and stated time, and always to a certain place; whilst the θεομάντεις were free and unconfined, and able to offer sacrifices, and perform other prophetic rites, at any time, and in any part of the world. 1842 Brande Dict. Sc., etc., Theomancy, a name..given to that species of divination which was drawn from the responses of oracles..; or from the predictions of sibyls and others supposed to be immediately inspired by some divinity.

Hence Theoma·ntic a., pertaining to theomancy.

1620 Middleton & Rowley World Tost at Tennis 258 Strike, by white art, a theomantic power, Magic divine. 1684 tr. Agrippa's Van. Arts xlviii. 122 This part..is twofold: Arithmantick..and Theomantick, which searches into the mysteries of the Divine Majesty.

Theomasis,-iasis (θīŏmē·sĭs), Theomonism: see Theo-.

†Theomony. Obs. rare—[0]. [ad. Gr. θεομηνία the wrath of God, f. θεός God + μῆνις wrath.]

1623 Cockeram, Theomenie, the wrath of God. 1656 Blount Glossogr., Theominy.

Theomorphic (pɪ̆ŏmē·fĭk), a. [f. Gr. θεόμορφος of divine form (f. θεό-ς god + μόρφη form) + -ic.] Having the form or likeness of God; of or pertaining to theomorphism.

1879 J. H. Blunt Dict. Theol. 324/2 Although the Creator thus made man theomorphic, we are not to think of God as anthropomorphic. 1889 A. Moore Christian Doctr. God in Lux Mundi 64 A theomorphic view of man is of the essence of his faith. 1894 J. R. Illingworth Personality Hum. & Div. viii. (1895) 214 Our anthropomorphic language follows from our theomorphic minds. 1897 Ottley Aspects O. Test. vii. 240 Mosaism recognizes, so to speak, the theomorphic structure of man.

So Theomorphic, the doctrine that man has the form or likeness of God; Theomorphize v., trans. to form in the image of God.

1886 Mivart in Fortn. Rev. Jan. 63 A natural and innocuous Anthropomorphism of the intellect—which..may be more properly called Theomorphism. 1897 T. Stephens in Evang. Mag. June 289 Theomorphism in the doctrine of man has gone on side by side with anthropomorphism in the doctrine of God. 1905 J. Orr Probl. O. Test. v. 118 God, in creating, theomorphizes man.

The:o-mytho'logy. [f. Theo- + Mythology. (Cf. Gr. θεομυθία divine lore, mythology.)] A combination of theology and mythology. Hence The:o-mytho'loger.

1858 Gladstone Homer II. i. 2 That which, following German example, I have denominated the Theo-mythology of Homer. By that term it seems not improper to designate a mixture of theology and mythology. Ibid. v. 366, I have a lively conviction that Homer was (so to speak) the theomythologer who moulded these materials into system. 1868—Yun. Mimdt ix. (1870) 349 The will and power of the Olympian deities..may be described, from its mixed character of truth and fable, as the Theomythology of the poet.

Theonomy (θῐ·ŏnŏmĭ). [f. Gr. θεό-ς God + -νομία, -nomy, after Ger. theonomie (1838 in Heyse).] Administration or government by God; the condition of being ruled or governed by God.

1890 J. F. Smith tr. Pfleiderer's Developm. Theol. since Kant i. 14 His autonomy must therefore..be an actual (not merely subjectively conceived) theonomy. 1905 P. T. Forsyth in Contemp. Rev. Oct. 578 The God who rules us in Christ is not a foreign power. Theonomy is not heteronomy. He, or those laws, becomes also our life.

Theopanphilist, -pantism : see Theo-.

Theopaschite (θῐōpæ·skoit). Ch. Hist. Also 6 -paschit, 7 -passit. [ad. eccl. L. theopaschita, ad. Gr. θεοπαςχίτης, f. θεό-ς god + πάςχ-ειν to suffer : see -ITE 1 a.] A member of a Monophysite sect of the 6th c., who held that the divine nature of Christ suffered on the Cross.

1585 T. Rogers 39 Art. ii. § 2 (1625) 11 Most wicked were the opinions of those men which held..that..Christ had a bodie without a soule; as thought..the Theopaschites. Ibid. § 4 That Christ really and indeed hung not on the crosse: for his passion was in showe onely, said the Cerdonites..and the Manicheans: and another man, saide the Theopaschits,..suffered, and hung on the crosse. 1625 Gill Sacr. Philos. iv. 92 The errours..of the Theopaschites, who held that the God-head of Christ did suffer, while His body was nayled on the Cross. 1874-86 J. H. Blunt Dict. Sects, etc., Theopaschites, a sect of the Monophysites who maintained that Christ having only one Nature, and that the Divine, it was therefore the Divine Nature which suffered..at the Crucifixion. 1882-3 Schaff's Encycl. Relig. Knowl. III. 2346 Theopaschites..a by-name applied to such as accepted the formula, that..'God had suffered and been crucified'.

Hence Theopaschitally (-pæ·skitălĭ) adv., in the manner of, or in accordance with the doctrine of the Theopaschites; Theopaschitic (-pæskĭ·tĭk) a., of or pertaining to the Theopaschites or their doctrine; Theopaschitism (-pæ·skitizʼm), the doctrine or tenets of the Theopaschites. So Theopaschist (-pæ·skĭst), a Theopaschite.

1887 Richter Levana ix. 154 Theologians are active "Theopaschists. 1882 Cave & Banks tr. Doerner's Chr. Doctr. 209 In this respect it speaks quite "Theopaschitally. 1893 E. K. Mitchell tr. Harnack's Hist. Dogma 299 The carrying out of the theopaschitic formula. 1882-3 Schaff's Encycl. Relig. Knowl. I. 463 A revival of..Patripassianism, or "Theopaschitism.

Theopathetic (θῐōpăpĕ·tĭk), a. (sb.) [f. Theopathy, after pathetic.] Of, pertaining to, or characterized by theopathy: see quots.

1748 Hartley Observ. Man II. iii. § 7. 316 To deduce practical Rules concerning the Theopathetic Affections, Faith, Fear, Gratitude, Hope, Trust, Resignation, and Love. 1839 W. Taylor Hist. Surv. Germ. Poetry II. 5 All these publications..tend to assuage a benevolent sensibility, theopathetic affections, and evangelical doctrines. 1856 R. A. Vaughan Mystics (1860) I. i. v. 27 There are three kinds of mysticism, theopathetic, theosophic, theurgic. Ibid. 31 The mystic of the theopathetic species is content to contemplate, to feel, or to act, suffering under Deity, in his sublime passivity, 1878 Dowden Stud. Lit. 197 Studying the phenomena of morbid theopathetic emotion.

b. sb. (-ĕt quot.)

1860 Gardner Faiths World II. 899/2 Theopathetics, those mystics who have resigned themselves more or less passively to an imagined divine manifestation.

Theopathic (θῐōpæ·bĭk), a. [f. next.] = prec.

1846 Worcester cites Q. Rev. 1864 Edin. Rev. July 249 One of those rare beings, whose temperament, so to speak, is theopathic. 1899 Q. Rev. July 101 The theopathic and contemplative quietism of the East.

Theopathy (θῐ·ŏpăθĭ). [f. Theo- + -pathy. Cf. Gr. θεοπάθεια the suffering of God.] Sympathetic passive feeling excited by the contemplation of God; susceptibility to this feeling; sensitiveness or responsiveness to divine influence; pious sentiment. Cf. Theopathetic.

1748 Hartley Observ. Man I. iv. § 5. 486 The Pleasures and Pains of Theopathy; under this Class I comprehend all those Pleasures and Pains, which the Contemplation of God and his Attributes, and of our Relation to Him, raises up. 1816 Southey Ex. (1832) I. 235 In the order of nature, what Hartley calls theopathy, is not, and ought not, to be looked for, as the predominant feeling of youth. 1837 Hallam Hist. Lit. iii. ii. § 73 The writings..of St. Teresa..are..full of a mystical theopathy. 1881 Ch.Q. Rev. 60 The Sufi School, the 'Methodists of the East', as Martyn calls them, in reference to their creedless theopathy.

Theophagous (θῐ·ŏfăgŏs), a. [f. Theo- + -phagous.] God-eating. So Theophagy (-dʒĭ), the eating of God (in the mass or communion rite); Theophagite (-dʒōit), a God-eater (in quot. attrib.). All nonce-wds. (mostly dyslogistic).

1805 Monthly Mag. XX. 55 The theophagite cannibalism of the communion-rite. 1880 Swinburne in Fortn. Rev. June 760 In the bosom of a deicidal and theophagous Christianity. Ibid., A creed..based on deicide and sustained on theophagy. 1907 Hibbert Trnl. Apr. 684 The origin of the rites of Theophagy or Communion.

Theophany (θῐ·ŏfănĭ). [ad. L. theophania (c 400 in Rufinus), a. Gr. θεοφάνεια and θεοφανία (neut. pl.), f. θεός god + φαίνειν to show: see -phany. So F. théophanie. Cf. Tiffany.] A manifestation or appearance of God or a god to man.

a 1633 Austin Medit. (1635) 56 First, the Starre manifested him..from the Heavens. That's, the Epiphany; Secondly, it manifested him from God (in Trinity): for hee sent the Starre. There's, the Theophany. And lastly; It manifested him on Earth (in Homo).. There's the Bethphany. 1679 Gale Crt. Gentiles II. iii. 193 Neither was the name Theophania, which signifies the apparition of God or the Gods, unusual even among the Gentiles. 1854 Milman Lat. Chr. viii. v. III. 32 The universe is but one Divine Theophany, a visible manifestation of God. 1894 F. Watson Genesis e true Hist. vi. 141 In the records of the Theophanies to Joshua, Gideon, and Manoah. Ibid., The Theophany to Elijah at Horeb.

b. A festival celebrating the manifestation of a deity. (Sometimes spec. applied to Christmas.)

1746 Lives Saints (1656) I. 16 note, The Greeks still keep the Epiphany with the birth of Christ on Christmas-day, which they call Theophany, or the manifestation of God. 1753 Chambers Cycl. Soph., Theophania, θεοφάνεια, ..a festival observed by the Delphians upon the day whereon Apollo manifested himself to them.]

Hence Theophanic a., of or pertaining to theophany; Theophanism, theophany; Theophanous a., characterized by theophany.

1882-3 Schaff's Encycl. Relig. Knowl. III. 2346 No vision is without a "theophanic element. 1886 C. A. Briggs Messianic Proph. i. vi. § 10. 20 It is the theophanic manifestations of God in forms of time and space and the sphere of physical nature. 1849 Lady Wilde tr. Meinhold's Sidonia Sorc. iii. xiii. II. 184 note, All the "theophanisms (God-manifestations) recorded in the Old Testament. 1909 19th Cent. Oct. 676 This "theophanous land.

Theophilanthropist (θῐ·ŏfilănθrŏpĭst). [f. Theo- + Philanthropist, after F. théophilanthrope, erron. employed to express 'loving God and man', though etymologically it ought to mean 'a divine philanthropist'.] A member of a sect of Deists which appeared in France in 1796.

1797 W. Taylor in Monthly Rev. XXIV. 554 It is satisfactory to observe how nearly the Theophilanthropists agree with the more thinking Christians. 1798 Hist. M. Williams Trans. Unitarn. I. v. 79 This sect, distinguished by the name of Theophilanthropists, the friends of God and man. 1801 Belsham Geo. III, an. 1797 (R.), The Directory gave great encouragement to a new sect recently established under the name of theo-philanthropists.—These religionists, rejecting all revelation, confined their worship to one Supreme Being. 1897 Daily News 16 Jan. 6/2 The Society of Theophilanthropists, whose first public meeting was held in Paris, January 16, 1797, was of purely religious origin.

attrib. 1842 Southey in Q. Rev. XXVIII. 502 The preferred service of the Theophilanthropist lecturers. 1882-3 Schaff's Encycl. Relig. Knowl. III. 2347 God, virtue, and the immortality of the soul, formed the three articles of the Theophilanthropist creed.

So Theophilanthrope [as in F.] in same sense; Theophilanthropic, -ical adjs., of or pertaining to theophilanthropy or theophilanthropists; Theophilanthropism = next.

1803 in Spirit Pub. Trnls. VII. 254 We give and bequeath to our friend the Elector of Bavaria, the Bible of the "Theophilanthropes. 1843 tr. Cousin's Empire of Caesr III. 64 Their whole adjustment remains one of the theophilanthropes of the French republic. 1797 W. Taylor in Monthly Rev. XXIII. 560 The illuminated or "theophilanthropic sect.. who are supposed to reject the Old and to socinianize the New Testament. 1895 Péronne Vell of Liberty 389 Jean..had now transformed his Huguenot church into a Theophilanthropic temple. 1804 Larwood No Gun Boats 32 Having revolted from the Goddess of Reason, and the sheltenie of "Theophilanthropism. 1860 Gardner Faiths World II. 899/2 An attempt was made by Lamennais to revive Theophilanthropism in 1840, but it utterly failed.

The:ophila'nthropy. [a. F. théophilanthropie, intended to express 'love to God and man': cf. prec.] The deistic system of the theophilanthropists, based on a belief in the existence of God and in the immortality of the soul.

Theophilanthropy was adopted in France as a substitute for Roman Catholicism. It died out c 1801–2.

1798 W. Taylor in Monthly Rev. XXVII. 500 The rise of Martinism and of Theophilanthropy. 1847 J. Harr Vict. Faith 7 His Christianity..has been stunted and enervated, ..into a sort of sentimental theophilanthropy. 1895 Péronne Vell of Liberty 395 The pastor of Versailles closed his church..and reopened it to preach Theophilanthropy.

Theophile, -ist, -philosophic : see Theo-.

‖Theophobia (θῐōfō·bĭă). [f. Theo- + -phobia. Cf. F. théophobie (a 1784 in Littré Suppl.).] Anxious fear of God; dread of divine anger; rarely, aversion to or hatred of God. So Theophobist (-ŏfōbĭst), one who is affected with theophobia.

1870 O. W. Holmes Mechanism (1888) 105 Pascal, whose reverence amounted to "theophobia. 1882 Swinburne Misc. (1886) 239 His ..masterpiece of Cain,..might seem to a devout spirit to have been dictated by actual theophobia. 1899 Expositor Oct. 317 Those men laboured under a terrible disease—it is called Theophobia. 1885 Mrs. H. Ward tr. Amiel's Jrnl. II. 134 A "theophobist, whom faith in goodness rouses to a fury of contempt.

Theophoric, -ous, -physical : see Theo-.

Theophylline (θῐōfĭ·lĭn). Chem. [irreg. f. mod.L. thea Tea + Gr. φύλλον leaf + -INE 5.] A colourless alkaloid, $C_7H_8N_4O_2$, found in tea-leaves.

1894 in Morley & Muir Watts' Dict. Chem. IV. 682/2. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Theophyllin,..an alkaloid discovered in tea. It is isomeric with the base obtained from cacao (theobromine) and with paraxanthin, but differs from them in its reactions.

Theopneust (θῐ·ŏpnĭūst), a. [ad. Gr. θεόπνευστος, f. θεό-ς God + -πνευστος inspired, f. stem πνευ- of πνεῖν to breathe, blow.] Divinely inspired.

1647 Hammond Power of Keys iii. 30 Which delivers down all the books which make up our Canon of Scripture, for Canonicall, and Theopneust. 1806 G. S. Faber Diss. Prophecies (1814) II. 314 The promotion of image-worship, the purpose for which this misnamed theopneustic assembly met together. 1885 tr. Wellhausen's Hist. Israel i. iii. 48 Their polemic is a purely prophetic one, i.e. individual, theopneust,..independent of all traditional..opinions.

So Theopneu'stic a. in same sense; Theopneu'sty [Ger. theopneustie (Heyse 1837), F. théopneustie (Littré)], ‖ Theopneu'stia [Gr. θεοπνευστία], divine inspiration; also Theopneustian.

1660 S. Fisher Rusticks Alarm iv. 1. Wks. (1679) 592 Denying any such "Theopneustian[sic], Divine Inspiration, Revelation, Motion, immediate Mission. 1894 Thinker VI. 67 According to this theory, the writers of the books of Kings and Chronicles needed and received less of "theopneustia than the prophet Isaiah or the Evangelist John. 1897 Hare Christese Ser. i. (1872) 209 Its [Christianity's] anthropomorphism is "theopneustic. 1847 J. W. Donaldson Vind. Protest. Princ. 50 If man is, in his higher nature, a theopneustic being. 1847 Webster, 'Theopneusty, divine inspiration.

Theopo'litics, sb. pl. rare. [f. Theo- + Politics.] Politics based on the law of God. So Theopoli'cian, one who bases his politics on conformity to the will of God or the divine law; † Theopo'lity, a polity based on the law of God.

1736 Bailey (folio) Pref., Theopolitick, godly or divine Politics. Ibid., Theopolity, a godly or divine Administration of the Republick. 1867 Union Rev. July 346 He is not so much a politician as a theopolitician.

Theopsychism : see Theo-.

Theor (θῐ·ŏr). Gr. Antiq. Also in L. form theo·rus. [mod. ad. Gr. θεωρ-ός spectator, one who travels in order to see things, also an envoy, ambassador: see Theory 2.] An ambassador or envoy sent on behalf of a state, esp. to consult an oracle or perform a religious rite. (Cf. Theory 2.)

1849 Grote Greece ii. ix. II. 47 The Theors or sacred envoys, appeared with ostentatious pomp. 1849 Ibid. ii. iv. VII. 73 The tent which the Athenian theôrs provided for their countrymen visitors to the games. 1873 Symonds Gr. Poets iii. 50 He went as a Theorus to the shrine of Delphi.

Theorbo (θĭ·ŏrbō). Also 7 theorboe, 7–8 -orba; 7 theorb', 7–8 -orb, 8–9 -orbe. [ad. F. théorbe, théorbe (17th c.), ad. It. tiorba 'a kind of musicall instrument used among countrie people' (Florio 1598), Sp. tiorba. The spelling with th appears first in Eng. (prob. after the Theo- group); the ending -o for It. and Sp. -a occurs in other words: see -ado. Origin of the It. word unknown: some suggest that it was named after the inventor.] A large kind of lute with a double neck and two sets of tuning-pegs, the lower holding the melody strings and the upper the bass strings; much in vogue in the 17th century. (Cf. Archlute.)

1605 Chapman All Fooles Plays 1873 I. 144 Cor. Take thy Theorbo for my sake a little. Ved. By heaven, this moneth I touch not a Theorbo. 1611 Coryat Crudities 252 Two singular fellowes played together vpon Theorboes. 1652 Benlowes Theoph. i. iv, There sweet Religion strings and tunes, and skrues The Souls Theorb', and doth infuse Grave Diorbic Epode. 1690 Shadwell Am. Bigot iv. i, I had provided this drum to sing to, which is better than a Theorb, or Harpsychord. 1697 tr. C'tess D'Aunoy's Trav. (1706) 258, I never saw any Virginals or Theorbes. 1899 E. Gosse J. Donne i. 28 A madrigal for the theorbo. 1906 Blackw. Mag. Sept. 338/2 The whole household purchased Theorbes.

attrib. and Comb. 1657 J. Gamble (title) Ayres and Dialogues. To be Sung to the Theorbo-Lute or Bass-Viol. 1676 T. Mace Musick's Monum. 234 A Stop..which my Work-man calls the Theorboe Stop. 1688 Playford (title) Harmonia Sacra..: with a Thorow-bass for the Theorbo-Lute, Bass-Viol, Harpsichord, or Organ. 1880 Shorthouse J. Inglesant xxii, He found a young man,..playing on a double-necked theorbolute.

Hence Theor'boed (-ŏud) ppl. a., converted into a theorbo; Theor'bist, a player on the theorbo.

1611 Coryat Crudities 252 These two Theorbists concluded the night's musicke. 1889 A. J. Hipkins in Grove Dict. Mus. IV. 100/2 Early in the 17th century many large lutes had been altered to theorbos by substituting double necks for the original single ones..The theorbo engraved in Mersenne's 'Harmonie Universelle' (Paris, 1636) is really a theorbooed lute.

Theorem (þī·rĕm), sb. Also 6–7 -eme. [ad. late L. theōrēma (Gellius), a. Gr. θεώρημα, -ματ-, spectacle, speculation, theory, (in Euclid) a proposition to be proved, f. θεωρεῖν to be a spectator (θεωρός), to look at, inspect. Perh. directly a. F. théorème (thé� in Rabelais).]

A universal or general proposition or statement, not self-evident (thus distinguished from an AXIOM), but demonstrable by argument (in the strict sense, by necessary reasoning); 'a demonstrable theoretical judgement' (Alp. Thomson).

a. In Mathematics and Physics; spec. in Geometry, a proposition embodying merely something to be proved, as distinguished from a PROBLEM (sense 4), which embodies something to be done.

Particular theorems are usually named after their discoverers or investigators, as Boyle's, Carnot's, Cassini's, Cayley's, Clifford's, Euler's, Fermat's, Fenerbach's, Galileo's, Lagrange's, Lambert's, Maclaurin's, Newton's, Pappus's, Pascal's, Ptolemy's, Riemann's, Sylvester's, Taylor's, Wallis's, Wilson's (etc.) theorem; sometimes by defining adjectives, as the BINOMIAL, EXPONENTIAL, MULTINOMIAL theorem.

1551 RECORDE Pathw. Knowl. Argts., The Theormes, (which maye be called approued truthe) are ordeined for the due knowledge and sure proofe of all conclusions .. in Geometrye. 1570 BILLINGSLEY Euclid I. Introd. 8 A Theoreme, is a proposition, which requireth the searching out and demonstration of some properte.. of some figure. 1612 SELDEN in Drayton Poly-olb. A iij, His Geometricall Theorem in finding the squares of an Orthogonal triangles sides. 1752 FRANKLIN Lett. Wks. 1887 II. 253, I thank you for communicating the illustration of the Theorem concerning light. 1806 HUTTON Course Math. I. 2 A Theorem is a demonstrative proposition; in which some property is asserted, and the truth of it required to be proved.. A set or collection of such Theorems constitutes a Theory. 1816 tr. Lacroix's Diff. & Int. Calculus 22 This formula is called Taylor's Theorem, from the English geometer by whom it was discovered. 1862 H. SPENCER First Princ. II. XVI. § 136 Geometrical theorems grew out of empirical methods.

b. In general sense, or in reference to any particular science or technical subject. (In quot. 1697 applied to an axiom.)

1597 HOOKER Eccl. Pol. v. lxxvi. § 2 The first being a Theoreme both vnderstood and confest of all, to labour in proofe thereof were superfluous. 1613 CROOKE Body of Man 27, I call it a Science, because it is vniuersall or generall Theorames or Maximes, and common Notions. 1649 JER. TAYLOR Gt. Exemp. I. Ad Sect. vi. 105 Christian Princes cannot be restrained [from war] with the engagements and peaceful Theorames of..a holy Religion. 1696 COLEY Astrol. 143 Note that by the word Theorem is understood a Speculation or an undoubted Rule or Principle in any Science or Art, and is that which respects Contemplation more than Practice. 1697 tr. Burgersdicius his Logic v. xxii. 90 A xiom] to...A xi. 11... These Theorems..the Sense of them is manifest enough. 1766 BECCARIA Ess. Crimes xiv. (1793) 51 The following general theorem is of great use in determining the certainty of facts. 1835 I. TAYLOR Spir. Despot. iii. 101 In working the abstract theorem of a Christian polity. 1864 BOWEN Logic xi. 374 A demonstrable judgment, or one which is announced as needing proof, if theoretical, is called a Theorem.

Hence The·orem v., trans. to express in or by means of a theorem.

1840 CARLYLE Heroes i. (1872) 23 They are matters which refuse to be theoremed and diagramed. 1891 G. MASSIMILA One of our Cong. I. vii. 121 Euclid would have theorem'd it out for you at a glance.

Theorematic (þīərĕmæ·tik), a. [ad. Gr. θεωρηματικός, f. θεώρηματ-, THEOREM + -ικος, -IC. Cf. problematic.] Pertaining to, by means of, or of the nature of a theorem. Also † Theorema·tical a. Hence Theorema·tically adv., in the way of or by means of a theorem. So Theormatist (-e·mătist), one who discovers or formulates a theorem. Also † Theore·mic a. = theoremat·ic; † The·oremist = theorematist.

1656 BLOUNT Glossogr., Theorematick or Theoretick, belonging to a theorem, or to contemplation. 1879 W. E. FORSTER in T. W. Reid Life (1888) II. 224 The old principle was the Theorematic rule of the Sultan. 1908 Hibbert Jrnl. Oct. 101 Theorematic Demonstration. 1730 BAILEY (folio), Theoremattical*, of Theorems. 1735 JOHNSON, Theorematick, Theoremick. 1652 URQUHART Jewel Wks. (1834) 291 *Theorematically to infer consequences from in allible maximes. 1788 T. TAYLOR Proclus I. 109 We ought to conceive all those theorematically, but not problematically. 1727 BAILEY vol. II, Theorematist*,..a Finder out or Producer of Theorems. 1701 GREW Cosm. Sacra II. v. 52 *Theoremick Truth, or that which lies in the Conceptions we have of Things. 1656 BLOUNT Glossogr., Theoremist*, a professor of Theorems.

Theoretic (þīərĕ·tik), a. (sb.) [ad. late L. theōrētic-us (a 397 Ambrosius Exameron I. § § 17, theoreticæ artes opposed to actuosæ), a. Gr. θεωρητικός contemplative, f. θεωρητ-ός that may be seen, f. θεωρεῖν to look at, contemplate, inspect. So F. théoretique (1721 in Hats.-Darm.).]

†1. Speculative. Obs.

1656 STANLEY Hist. Philos. v. (1701) 180/2 Of Theoretick Philosophy one part enquires into things immutable..and the first causes of things. 1708 PHILLIPS, Theoretick, Theorical, or Theorick, belonging to Theory; Speculative.

2. (Rendering Gr. θεωρητικός in Aristotle.) Contemplative, as opposed to active or practical (πρακτικός): cf. CONTEMPLATIVE A. 3. rare.

1907 J. SETH in Hibbert Jrnl. Oct. 117 In Aristotle we find the affirmation of the superior value..of the 'theoretic' or spiritual life to the practical life.

3. = THEORETICAL 2.

a 1661 FULLER Worthies, Cornw. (1662) I. 202 Attaining to great perfection in the Theoretick, and practicall parts of those professions. 1750 JOHNSON Rambler No. 77 P 7 Few men, celebrated for theoretick wisdom, live with conformity to their precepts. 1773 Life N. Froude 63, I soon reduced my Theoretic Knowledge to Practice. 1862 TYNDALL Mountaineer. ii. 10 Our master minds built their theoretic edifices upon the rock of fact.

b. = THEORETICAL 2 b.

1790 BURKE Fr. Rev. Wks. V. 234 Is it then true, that.. it was of absolute necessity the whole fabrick should be.. pulled down, and the area cleared for the erection of a theoretick experimental edifice in its place? 1837 CARLYLE Fr. Rev. II. i. ii, Plots which cannot be executed; which are mostly theoretic. 1856 EMERSON Eng. Traits, Universities Wks. (Bohn) II. 91 Seven years' residence is the theoretic period for a master's degree.

c. Of persons, their minds, etc.: Versed in or proceeding by the scientific theory of the subject; opposed to empirical; also, Given to theories; speculative; theorizing: sometimes opp. to practical; = THEORETICAL 3 a, b.

1727–41 CHAMBERS Cycl. s.v., The theoretic physicians were such as went on the foot of reason, in opposition to the empirical physicians, who went wholly on experience. 1783 POTT Chirurg. Wks. II. 435 To which theoretic and whimsical people have assigned this disease. 1872 GEO. ELIOT Middlem. i. Her mind was theoretic, and yearned by its nature after some lofty conception of the world. Ibid. lxxxvi, Distinguished in his side of the county as a theoretic and practical farmer.

d. Relating to the moral perception of beauty.

(Used in this sense by Ruskin, in preference to æsthetic: see quot., and cf. THEORIA 2.)

1846 RUSKIN Mod. Paint. II. iii. I. i. § 10 The Theoretic faculty is concerned with the moral perception and appreciation of ideas of beauty. And the error respecting it is.. calling it Æsthetic, degrading it to a mere operation of sense.

B. sb.

1. Usually pl.: Theory (as opposed to practic, practice); theoretical matters (= next, B.).

1656 STANLEY Hist. Philos. v. (1701) 180/1 The Science of things that are is called Theoretick; of those which pertain to Action Practick. 1906 PHILLIPS (ed. Kersey), Theoretickes, those things that belong to the Speculative part of Physick. 1860 H. B. WILSON in Ess. & Rev. 160 Morals come before contemplation, ethics before theoretics. 1865 HODGSON Time & Space II. ix. § 68. 566 The three functions of cognition, conation, and feeling. The three branches of knowledge founded on these are Technic, Theoretic, and Teleologic.

2. A person devoted to a life of contemplation. (See quot.; cf. 2 above, and THEORIC sb. 4.)

a 1832 BENTHAM Deontology (1834) I. 54 A band of men, who m..[the Moralists] calls theoretics. These men look ..to contemplation alone for the summum bonum...To reach the summit of human felicity, a man has nothing to do but to contemplate. Who would not be a theoretic?

Theoretical (þīərĕ·tikăl), a. (sb.) [f. as prec. + -AL: s.v. -ICAL.]

†1. (In sense of Gr. θεωρητικός, L. theōrēticus.) Of or pertaining to contemplation, contemplative.

1616 BULLOKAR Eng. Expos. Theoretical, that which belongeth to contemplation or inward knowledge of a thing. 1623 COCKERAM, Theoretical, belonging to studie or contemplation.

2. Of, pertaining or relating to theory; of the nature of or consisting in theory. Often opp. to practical.

a 1652 J. SMITH Sel. Disc. vi. 207 They fall into great confusions in many theoretical matters of no small moment. 1700 C. NESSE Antid. Arminn. (1827) 99 The persons.. had merely escaped ..through a theoretical knowledge of the Lord. 1727–41 CHAMBERS Cycl. s.v. Theoretic, The sciences are ordinarily divided into theoretical, as theology, philosophy, &c., and practical, as medicine, law, &c. 1770 COOK Voy. round World II. x. (1773) 477 The theoretical arguments which have been brought to prove that the existence of a southern continent is necessary to preserve an equilibrium between the two hemispheres. 1830 MACKINTOSH Eth. Philos. Wks. 1846 I. 177 In the strictly theoretical part his exposition is considerably fuller. 1860 MAURY Phys. Geog. Sea (Low) viii. § 381 These observations agree with the theoretical deductions. 1860 ABP. THOMSON Laws Th. § 229. 274 Judgments that relate to speculation are also called theoretical; those which refer to practice are practical.

b. That is such according to theory; existing only in theory, ideal, hypothetical.

1826 HENRY Chem. II. 699 The theoretical numbers not agreeing with the experimental results, which are those of Dr. John Davy. 1883 SIR N. LINDLEY in Lane Rep. 11 Q. B. Div. 556 The attachment was granted for something more than a mere theoretical contempt. 1883 GILMOUR Mongols xvii. 204 A man..whose existence is evidently.. theoretical.

3. a. Of the mind or intellectual faculties: Having the power of forming theories; speculative.

a 1652 J. SMITH Sel. Disc. iv. 115 As for the mind and theoretical power. 1863 E. V. NEALE Anal. Th. & Nat. 117 The intuitions of space and time, and the conceptions of relation drawn from the theoretical reason.

b. Of persons: Addicted to theory; constructing or dealing with theories; speculative.

1840 CARLYLE Heroes vi. (1872) 211 What is to be done?.. a question which theoretical constitution-builders may find easy to answer. 1859 DARWIN Orig. Spec. I. (1860) 12 Doubts have been thrown on this principle only by theoretical writers. 1902 J. DENNEY Death of Christ iii. 121 The simplest preacher and the most effective is always the most absolutely theoretical.

B. sb. (pl.) Theoretical points or matters.

1860 H. B. WILSON in Ess. & Rev. 181 It is..strange..to expect all ministers..to be of one opinion in theoretics.

Theore·tically, adv. [f. prec. + -LY 2.] In a theoretic or theoretical manner.

a. In the way of or by means of theory; in relation to theory. (In quot. 1701 perh. = contemplatively, speculatively.)

1701 NORRIS Ideal World I. v. 235 As they [the Divine Ideas] are thus independent upon the existence of things in nature, so also upon all mind or understanding.., that is, I mean, as conceptive, or theoretically considered. 1748 HARTLEY Observ. Man I. iii. 343 This lessens the Difference theoretically also. 1832 BREWSTER Optics xxxiii. § 263. 274 Huygens..investigated the subject, both experimentally and theoretically. 1886 Manch. Exam. 6 Jan. 5/1 Questions which are theoretically interesting to thoughtful people and practically interesting to every one.

b. According to theory, in theory, ideally; hypothetically (as opp. to actually).

1790 C. C. PINCKNEY in Sparks Corr. Amer. Rev. IV. 341 One great advantage, that might not attend a Constitution theoretically perfect. 1853 LYTTON My Novel III. ix. The position was not quite so pleasant as, theoretically, he had deemed it. 1875 WHITNEY Life Lang. iv. 67 The possible number of human articulations is theoretically infinite.

Theoretician (þīərĕtĭ·şăn). [f. THEORETIC + -IAN: see -ICIAN.] One who treats of or studies the theoretical side of a subject; = THEORIST I.

1886 Q. Rev. Jan. 284 Not a mere theoretician or 'statist'. 1891 Athenæum 30 Aug. 276/1 Among musical theoreticians Mr. Prout occupies a distinguished position.

Theoretico- (þīərĕ·tikō), combining form from Gr. θεωρητικό-ς THEORETIC, THEORETICAL, as in theoretico-practical a., pertaining to or skilled in the theory as well as the practice of a subject.

1832 AUSTIN Jurisprr. (1879) II. 1122 A theoretico practical lawyer extensively versed in law..and in the sciences related to law.

‖ Theoria (þi,ō·rĭă). rare. [a. Gr. θεωρία a looking at, contemplation, f. θεώρευν to look at.]

†1. ? Contemplation, survey. Obs. rare.

1590 MARLOWE 2nd Pt. Tamburl. iv. iii, My love, In whom the learned Rabbis of this age Might find as many wondrous miracles As in the theoria of the world!

2. The perception of beauty regarded as a moral faculty. (Used in this sense by Ruskin, in contradistinction to æsthesis: cf. THEORETIC a. 4.)

1846 RUSKIN Mod. Paint. II. iii. I. ii. § 1 The impressions of beauty..are neither sensual nor intellectual, but moral; and for the faculty receiving them..no term can be more accurate..than that employed by the Greeks, 'Theoretic', which I pray permission..to use, and to call the operation of the faculty itself, Theoria. Ibid. § 6 The mere animal consciousness of the pleasantness I call Æsthesis; but the exulting, reverent, and grateful perception of it I call Theoria.

Theoric (þĭ·ŏrik), sb. and a.[1] Obs. or arch. Also 4–5 -ik, 4–7 -ike, 4–9 -ique, 5–6 -yke, -yque, 5–7 -icke, -icque, 6–8 -ick. [ME. theorique in Gower, a. OF. theorique (13th c. in Godef., opposed to pratique practice), prob. repr. a med.L. theōrica, Gr. θεωρική (not recorded in this sense): cf. med.L. theōricus adj. (13th c. in Du Cange) in vita theorica the contemplative life. The place of the stress, as in catholic, is due to Fr. derivation.

(L. theōrică* sb, attributed in the Dicts. to Jerome, is now eliminated as an error, the word being θεολογική.)]

A. sb. 1. = THEORY 1, 4, 5: chiefly in sense 4 b; often opposed to practic or practice. Obs. or arch.

1390 GOWER Conf. III. 85 The nature of Philosophie, Which Aristotle. Declareth..As of thre points is principal. Wherof the ferste is Theorique. 1483 CAXTON Gold. Leg. 389 b/2 Phylosophye is deuyded in thre in theoryque in practyque and in logyque. 1565 J. HALLE Hist. Lazpest. (Percy Soc.) 42 Chirurgeye cannot be perfectlye learned wythoute theorike. 1599 SHAKS. Hen V, I. i. 52 So that the Art and Practique part of Life, Must be the Mistresse to this Theorique. 1601 HOLLAND Pliny II. Explan. Words, Theoricke, or Theoretique, contemplative knowledge without action and practise. 1604 SHAKS. Oth. I. i. 24. 1720 STRYPE Stow's Surv. (1754) I. i. vi. 32/2 The great French Philosopher Des Cartes..telling us, that, from the Theorique of the Moon, the Moon seems so in her elliptical Orb (etc.). 1830 MISS MITFORD Village Ser. iv. 195 These..matters..may rather be termed the theorique than the practique of reform. 1853 [see PRACTIC sb.[1] 1].

†b. A theoric (or theoretical) treatise or discourse. Obs.

c 1391 CHAUCER Astrol. Prol. 3 The .4. partie shal ben a theoric or declaire the Moeuynge of the celestial bodies with [pe] clauses.

†c. pl. Theorics: theoretical statements or notions; theory; often opp. to practics or practice.

1551 RECORDE Pathw. Knowl. I. Defin., As they in theyr theorikes (which ar only mind workes) do precisely vnderstand these definitions. 1602 BLUNDEVILLE title The Theoriques of the seuen Planets, shewing all their diuerse motions. 1637 WOTTON Lett. (1907) II. 371 He was..a rare mathematician even..in algebra and the theoriques. a 1661 FULLER Worthies, Cornw. (1662) I. 202 Atwell..was well seen in the Theoricks of Physick, and happy in the practise thereof.

†2. A (mental) view or survey; a conspectus.

1591 LAMBARDE Eiren. Prohemie 2 A summarie consideration & Theorique of the whole office belonging to this Iustice. Ibid. 1. 4 Iuventing The First Booke, conteining a Theoricque [ed. 1602, or insight] of the office of the Iustices of Peace.

†3. A mechanical device theoretically representing or explaining a natural phenomenon. Obs.

1592 Dee Comp. Rehears. (Chetham Soc.) 28 Divers other Instruments as the theorick of the eighth sphearc, the nynth and tenth, with an horizon and meridian of copper. 1594 Blundevil Exerc. vi. Introd. (1636) 608 In the Limbe of the backe part is described the Theorique of the Sun, to know thereby in what signe and degree the Sun is every day ..by having the Diopter thereto. 1657 W. Rand tr. Gassendi's Life Peiresc v. 145 He caused a mechanicall Theoric [printed Theorie; the L. is theoricem mechanicam] or Instrument to be made..that .. the Places of the..Stars might be calculated.

†4. A man devoted to contemplation or speculation; a member of a contemplative sect of Essenes. (Cf. Practic sb.[2]) Obs.

1625 T. Godwin Moses & Aaron I. xii. 62 Of these Essenes there were two sorts, some Theorikes, giuing themselves wholly to speculation; others Practicks, laborious..in.. handy-crafts. a 1641 Br. Mountagu Acts & Mon. viii. (1642) 430 The one sect hee names Theoriques or Contemplators. 1798 W. Taylor in Monthly Rev. XXVII. 212 To the theoric, or instructors, a supper only.

†B. adj. 1. = Theoretic 3, Theoretical 2. (Often opp. to practic = practical.) Obs.

1551 Recorde Pathw. Knowl. i. Defin., This exactnes of definition is more meeter for onlye Theorike speculacion, then for practise and outwarde worke. 1662 Playford Skill Mus. I. (1674) 5 A true Rule of the Theorick part of Musick. 1726 Adv. Capt. R. Boyle (1768) 25 Gardening..I always took Delight in, both Theoric and Practic. 1804 W. Taylor in Crit. Rev. Ser. III. III. 508 These were daily instructed ..both in the theoric and practic parts of the Pythagorean philosophy.

†2. Knowing or studying the theory of things; theorizing; contemplative, speculative; = Theoretic a. 2, 3 c, Theoretical 1, 3. Obs.

1599 B. Jonson Cynthia's Rev. ii. iii, According to our subdivision of a courtier, elementary, practique, and theorique. Your courtier theoric, is he that hath arrived to his farthest, and doth now know the court rather by speculation than practice. 1602 Play Delightes for Ladies Epist. (1605) 3 By funcie framde within a theorique braine. 1632 Massinger & Field Fatal Dowry iv. i, A man heavy, Yet old in judgment; theoric and practic In all humanity.

Theoric (pi:ǵrik), a.[2] Gr. Antiq. [ad. Gr. θεωρικός pertaining to spectacles, f. θεωρία viewing, beholding.] Pertaining to or connected with public spectacles, religious functions, and solemn embassies: applied esp. to a fund provided for these purposes from the public treasury at Athens. (Cf. Theory[2].)

1727-41 Chambers Cycl. s.v., By the law of Eubulus, it was made a capital crime to pervert the theoric money to any other use; even to employ it in the occasions of war. 1852 Grote Greece II. lxxv. 136 The Theoric Board, or Paymasters for the general expenses of public worship and sacrifice. 1884 Q. Rev. Oct. 342 Pericles..by his theoric largesses, helped to swell the city mob of idlers.

†Theorical, a. Obs. [f. as Theoric a.[1] + -al: see -ical.]

a. = Theoric a.[1] 1. (Often opp. to practical.) 1571 Digges Pantom. Epist. sij b, A Discourse Geometricall ..containing sundry Theoricall and practicall propositions. a 1619 Fotherby Atheom. II. viii. § 5 (1622) 292 Wee must ..joyne theorical and practicall vertues together. 1651 Biggs New Disp. 3 Theorical or practical phlebotomy. 1730 Malcolm (title) A new system of Arithmetick Theorical and Practical.

b. = Theoretical 3.

1594 Plat Diuerse new Sorts Sayle 26, I thinke that those ..did not obtaine this skill by any practise or theoricall imagination, but..they did fyndc the same without any seeking. 1663 Cowley Verses & Ess., Disc. O. Cromwell (1669) 76, I see you are a Pedant, and Platonical Statesman, a Theorical Common-wealths-man, an Idoll in Dream. 1730 Malcolm Syst. Arith. Pref. 6 The Theorical writers have treated Arithmetick as a Science.

c. Contemplative, speculative. rare.

1612 T. Taylor Comm. Titus i. 15. 281 Their chefie and eminent inward parts are defiled, whether we consider the theoricall part, that is, the minde and vnderstanding, or the practicall facultie (included in the conscience). 1734 Waterland Doctrine Holy Trinity 513 That Three-fold Method of commenting which St. Jerome lays down; namely, the Historical, Topological, and Theorical; or, in more familiar Terms, the literal, moral, and sublime.

†The·orically, adv. Obs. [f. prec. + -ly 2.] In theory; = Theoretically a.

1571 Digges Pantom. iv. xxv. Gg j, Hitherto haue I onely intreated of the fine regulare bodies, Theorically and practically opening sundrie meanes to search out the proportion [etc.]. 1640 Quarles Enchirid. 22 It is most requisite for a Prince to prepare against..Warre, both Theorically in reading Heroick Histories; and practically, in maintaining Martiall discipline. 1680 Aubrey Lives, W. Holder (1898) I. 404 He is very musicall, both theorically and practically.

Theorician (pi:ori·ʃăn). [f. (after F. théoricien) on Theoric sb. + -ian; cf. logician, physician, etc.] A holder of a theory; = Theorist.

1841 Blackw. Mag. L. 26 To examine Mr. Porter the statistician, to discover a decisive refutation of Mr. Porter the free-trade theorician. 1895 Westm. Gaz. 2 Oct. 3/1 Some editors..believed, at the promings of jealous theoricians, that the Pasteur system was a fallacy. 1905 Athenæum 16 Sept. 365/1 Two other poets..are..considered in these pages; and then some theoricians.

‖Theoricon (pi:ǵŏ·rikŏn). Gr. Antiq. Also -kon. [a. Gr. θεωρικόν, neut. of θεωρικός Theoric a.[2]] The theoric fund in ancient Athens: see Theoric a.[2]

1828 tr. Boeckh's Public Econ. Athens I. 294 The payment of the Theoricon out of the public money was first introduced by Pericles...This distribution of the Theoricon filled the theatre. 1842 Brande Dict. Sc., etc., Theoricon, in ancient Attic History, the name given to that portion of the revenue of the state which was..reserved for the purpose of theatrical representations. 1850 Grote Greece II. xvi. VIII. 424 The manager of the Theôrikon or religious festival-fund.

Theorism (pĭ·ŏri·zm). rare. [f. as next + -ism.] Theorizing, speculation.

1856 H. R. Reynolds in Life v. (1898) 125 The lynx-eyed theorism of Leopsis. 1906 Contemp. Rev. July 60 Dead, dry-as-dust theorism.

Theorist (pĭ·ŏrist). [f. Theory (or its Gr. or L. source) + -ist.]

1. An adept in the theory (as distinct from the practice) of a subject. Often with mixture of sense 2.

1594 Carew Huarte's Exam. Wits xii. (1596) 177 It is a miracle to find out a Phisition, who is both a great Theorist, and withall a great Practitioner. 1664 Power Exp. Philos. Pref. 16 The Theorists in Conical Sections. 1784 Cook's Voy. Pacific Ocean v. iii. III. 144 note, Burney..perhaps the greatest musical theorist of this or any other age. 1855 Macaulay Hist. Engl. xx. IV. 492 It is..curious..that a man who, as a theorist, was distinguished..by the largeness of his views..should, in practice, have been distinguished..by the obstinacy with which he adhered to an ancient mode of doing business.

2. One who theorizes; one who frames or propounds a theory or theories, a theoretical investigator or writer; one who holds or maintains a theory; sometimes, a framer or maintainer of a mere hypothesis or speculation (cf. Theory[1] 6).

1646 Sir T. Browne Pseud. Ep. 115 That a Brock or Badger hath his legs of one side shorter then of the other,.. an opinion..received not only by theorists and unexperienced beleivers, but assented unto by most who..behold and hunt them dayly. 1692 Bentley Boyle Lect. vii. 204 It [gravitation] is lately demonstrated..by that very excellent and divine theorist Mr. Isaac Newton. 1735 Johnson Lobo's Abyssinia, Descr. x. 106 Some of these theorists have been pleas'd to declare it as their favourite Notion. 1884 Spectator 4 Oct. 1309/1 As a theorist on law, he has a distinctive place of his own.

Theorize (pĭ·ŏrəiz), v. [f. as prec. + -ize: cf. med.L. theōrizāre (Scotus Erigena a 880).]

†1. trans. To contemplate, survey. Obs. rare.

1658 Sir T. Herbert Trav. (ed. 2) 223 Hitherto wee have beene practical; let mee now draw your eyes to theorize in generall the severall properties and fashions of this great Empire.

2. intr. To form or construct theories.

1658 Sir T. Herbert Trav. (ed. 2) 6 Let us theorize a little upon the Mathematiques. 1797 Gillies Aristotle's Ethics x. vii. I. 307 Even unassisted and alone, though perhaps better with assistants, he [the sage] can still think and theorize. 1890-9 Cohentze Pyrenees I. iv. (1896) 128 The meanest of men has his theory, and to think at all is to theorize. 1845 Jebb Gen. Princ. Law in Encycl. Metrop. II. 677/1 He did not theorize without regard to facts and experience. a 1862 Buckle Misc. Wks. (1872) I. 8.

3. trans. To construct a theory of or about.

a 1848 W. A. Butler Hist. Anc. Philos. (1856) I. 40 [Mechanics] theorizes the forces and motions of the masses; [Chemistry] the intimate structure of each.

b. To suppose, or assume, in the way of theory. (With simple obj. or obj. clause.)

1828 Cobbett Rural Rides 'We can scarcely theorise a lower depth than this glaring and scandalous prostitution of justice. 1863 Cowden Clarke Shaks. Char. xx. 507 He theorised that the difference between a pea and nothing could make no difference to the poor beast.

c. To make constitution in theory; to bring into or out of some condition theoretically.

1843 Blackw. Mag. LIII. 697 He had..theorized himself into the future husband of his ward. 1864 Lowell McClellan's Rep. Prose Wks. 1890 V. 97 The one thing that cannot be theorized out of existence..is a lost campaign. 1886 J. Ker Serm. Ser. II. (1887) xi. 171 Men theorise it into a thing of natural growth.

Hence The·orizing vbl. sb. and ppl. a.; also The·oriza·tion, the action of theorizing, construction of a theory or theories; The·orizer, one who theorizes.

1820 Jefferson Writ. (1830) IV. 325 The misconstructions, interpolations and theorizations of..fanatics. 1824 E. G. Holland Mem. J. Badger 417 Men who have no tendency to speculative theorization. 1829 Carlyle Crit. & Misc. Ess., Novalis (1872) II. 197 A great and original plan, very different..from that of our idle 'theorisers and generalisers. 1870 Proctor Other Worlds 3 Not..the mere fanciful theoriser..but men of the highest eminence in science. 1818 Hallam Mid. Ages (1872) I. Pref. 6 A fault too common..that of 'theorizing upon an imperfect induction. 1849 Noad Electricity (ed. 3) 127 One fact is worth a volume of theorizing. 1792 J. Belknap Hist. New Hampsh. III. 229 The inconsistent conclusions of these 'theorising philosophers. 1891 Athenæum 5 Dec. 753/2 We find the utmost scorn expressed [by Moltke] for..theorizing demagogues.

Theory[1] (pĭ·ŏri). Also 7 -ie, -ee. [ad. late L. theōria (Jerome in Ezech. xii. xl. 4), a. Gr. θεωρία a looking at, viewing, contemplation, speculation, theory, also a sight, a spectacle, abstr. sb. f. θεωρός (:—θεαορός) spectator, looker on, f. stem θεα- of θεᾶσθαι to look on, view, contemplate. In mod. use prob. from med.L. transl. of Aristotle. Cf. It. teoria (Florio 1598 theoría), F. théorie (15..in Godef. Compl.).]

†1. A sight, a spectacle. Obs. rare.

1605 Br. Andrewes Serm., Passion (1631) 365 Saint Luke ..calleth the Passion θεωρίαν a Theory or Sight...Or our blessed Saviour's whole life or death, tries in no part but is a Theorie of it selfe, well worthie our looking on.

†2. Mental view, contemplation. Obs.

[1558-61 Florio, Theoria, contemplation, speculation, deepe study, insight or beholding.] 1611 Corgr., Theoria, theorie, contemplation, deepe study, a sight, or beholding, speculation. 1643 Sir T. Browne Relig. Med. I. § 45 Nor can I thinke I have the true Theory of death when I contemplate a skull, or behold a Skeleton with those vulgar imaginations it casts upon us. 1646 — Pseud. Ep. vii. xix. 385 As they encrease the hatred of vice in some, so doe they enlarge the theory of wickednesse in all. 1653 W. Harvey Anat. Exercit. Pref. ¶ v, All their theory and contemplation (which they count Science) represents nothing but waking mens dreams, and sick mens phrensies. 1710 Norris Chr. Prud. ii. 65 Speculative Knowledge contemplates Truth for itself, and accordingly stops and rests in the Contemplation of it, which is what we commonly call Theory.

3. A conception or mental scheme of something to be done, or of the method of doing it; a systematic statement of rules or principles to be followed.

1597 Hooker Eccl. Pol. v. xxix. § 8 If they had been themselves to execute their owne Theorie in this Church. 1643 Br. Hall Devout Soul i, It will hardly be believed, how far some of their contemplative men have gone in the theory hereof. 1694 Dryden Pref. Dufresnoy. Oxford 11 Your theories are here to practice brought, As in mechanic operations wrought. 1798 Malthus Popul. iii. (1806) II. 105 A theory that will not admit of application cannot possibly be just. 1832 Austin Jurisp. (1879) II. 1133 Theory of what is and of what ought to be are perpetually confounded. 1853 Bright Sp. India 3 June (1876) 4 The theory of the old Government of India was one which could not be defended. 1890 M. Pattison Milton xiii. 219 Even the calm and gentle author of the Christian Year..deliberately framed a theory of Poetic for the express purpose, as it would seem, of excluding the author of Paradise Lost from the first class of poets.

4. A scheme or system of ideas or statements held as an explanation or account of a group of facts or phenomena; a hypothesis that has been confirmed or established by observation or experiment, and is propounded or accepted as accounting for the known facts; a statement of what are held to be the general laws, principles, or causes of something known or observed.

1638 Sir T. Herbert Trav. (ed. 2) 127 Or whether from subterranean fires,..I dare not conclude, but leave such theories to those that study Meteors. 1684 Burnet (title) The Theory of the Earth, in two Parts (ed. Kersey), Theories of the Planets, certain Hypotheses, or Suppositions about the Motions of the Heavens, according to which, Astronomers explain..the Phenomena or Appearances of the Planets. 1727-41 Chambers Cycl. s.v., We say..theory of the rainbow, of the microscope..the motion of the heart, the operation of purgatives, etc. 1812 Playfair Nat. Phil. (1819) I. 3 A theory is often nothing else but a contrivance for comprehending a certain number of facts under one expression. 1850 Grove Corr. Phys. Forces (ed. 2) 105 Were a theory open to no objection it would cease to be a theory, and would become a law. 1879 M. Pattison Milton xiii. 280 The Copernican theory, which placed the sun in the centre of our system, was already the established belief of the few well-informed. 1890 A. R. Wallace Darwinism 7 The truest and most complete theory would not enable us to solve all the difficult problems which the whole course of the development of life upon our globe presents to us.

b. That department of an art or technical subject which consists in the knowledge or statement of the facts on which it depends, or of its principles or methods, as distinguished from the practice of it.

1613 R. Cawdrey Table Alph. (ed. 3), Theoria, the contemplation, or inward knowledge of any art. 1646 Bacon Sylva § 327 The means, hitherto propounded, to effect it, are in the practice, full of error and imposture, and in the theory, full of unsound imaginations. 1660 R. Coke Power & Subj. Pref. 5 A Musitian, who Composes well, yet understands but little in the theory of Musick. 1795 Hutton Math. Dict. s. v., To be learned in an art, &c., the Theory is sufficient; to be a master of it, both the Theory and practice are requisite. 1827 Whately Logic (ed. 2) 205 Logic being concerned with the theory of Reasoning. 1884 Grove Dict. Mus. IV. 101/1 Theory, a term often used..to express the knowledge of Harmony, Counter-point, Thoroughbass, etc., as distinguished from the art of playing, which is ..called 'Practice.'

c. A systematic statement of the general principles or laws of some branch of mathematics; a set of theorems forming a connected system: as the theory of equations, of functions, of numbers, of probabilities.

1799 W. Frend (title) The Principles of Algebra..; or the true Theory of Equations established by mathematical demonstration. 1806 [see Theorem a]. 1811 P. Barlow (title) An Elementary Investigation of the Theory of Numbers. 1838 [see Probability 3]. 1893 Forsyth (title) Theory of Functions.

5. In the abstract (without article): Systematic conception or statement of the principles of something; abstract knowledge, or the formulation of it: often used as implying more or less unsupported hypothesis (cf. 6): distinguished from or opposed to practice (cf. 4 b). In theory (formerly in the theory): according to theory, theoretically (opp. to in practice or in fact).

1624 T. Macarness in Capt. Smith Virginia Pref., That thou mightest read and know and safely see, What he by practice, thou by Theoree. 1692 Sir W. Hope Fencing-Master (ed. 2) 164 Theorie without Practice will serve but for little. 1769-72 Junius Lett. Pref. (1820) 17 Theory is at variance with practise. 1776 J. ADAMS Wks. (1854) IX. 375 It is certain, in theory, that it is the only moral foundation of government is, the consent of the people. 1821 J. Q. ADAMS in Davies Metr. Syst. III. (1871) 175 A compromise between philosophical theory and inveterate popular habits.

6. In loose or general sense: A hypothesis proposed as an explanation; hence, a mere hypothesis, speculation, conjecture; an idea or set of ideas about something; an individual view or notion. Cf. 4.

1792 BURKE Corr. (1844) IV. 13 Whether I am right in the theory or not, .. the fact is as I state it. 1794 PALEY Evid. (1825) II. 347 Theories which have, at different times, gained possession of the public mind. 1829 Jas. MILL Hum. Mind (1869) II. xxv. 403 The word theory has been perverted to denote an operation.. which consists in supposing and setting down matters supposed as matters observed. Theory in fact has been confounded with Hypothesis. 1864 BOWEN Logic xi. (1870) 375 A Theory, sometimes incorrectly used as a synonyme for Hypothesis. 1867 LADY HERBERT Cradle L. iii. 95 So varied are the theories as to the origin of these wonderful sepulchres. 1880 T. A. SPALDING Elin. Demonol. 35 This was not a mere theory, but a vital active belief.

7. Comb., as theory-bigoted adj., -building, -monger, -spinning; theory-blind a., (a) blinded by a theory, so as to be unable to see the facts truly; (b) blind to a theory, i. e. unable to see or apprehend it (cf. colour-blind); theory-man (nonce-wd.), a theorist; theory-tailor, contemptuously for a shaper of theories.

1884 Q. Rev. Apr. 337 More *theory-bigoted than Mr. ——. 1892 W. S. LILLY Gt. Enigma 230 You cannot help recognising, unless you are *theory-blind, .. the law of correlation. 1900 Q. Rev. Apr. 359 No one who is not theory-blind—a very common form of blindness. 1780 Mirror No. 107 P 2 There is something..so delightful in this art of *theory-building. 1727 DE FOE Syst. Magic i. 1. (1840) 9 What our learned *theory-men insist to have been the causes of the deluge. 1905 Academy 4 Feb. 105/1 It is high time that protest be made..against the master's works being made the prey of *theorymongers. 1904 WINDLE Prehist. Age Pref. 23 There has been a vast amount of *theory-spinning in connexion with the early epochs. 1876 MEREDITH Beauch. Career xxxvii, These men are *theory-tailors not politicians.

Theory [2] (pi·ə·ri). Gr. Antiq. [ad. Gr. θεωρία, the same word as in THEORY [1], in a specialized sense.] A body of THEORS sent by a state to perform some religious rite or duty; a solemn legation.

1842 Smith's Dict. Grk. & Rom. Antiq. s.v. Salaminia, They conveyed theoris, despatches, &c. from Athens. 1850 GROTE Greece II. iv. VII. 72 Curiosity..to see what figure the Theôry of Athens would make as to show and splendour. 1853 Ibid. II. lxxxiii. XI. 38 He sent thither his Theory, or solemn legation for sacrifices, dedicated in the richest garments.

Theos, early ME.: see THIS, THESE.

Theosoph (pĭ·əsŏf). [= Fr. théosophe (a 1784 Diderot in Littré), ad. med.L. theosophus (Scotus Erigena a 880), a. late Gr. θεόσοφ-ος (a 500, Pseudo-Dionysius De Div. Nom. § 6) wise concerning God, f. θεός God + σοφός wise.]

One who pursues THEOSOPHY (sense 1).

(The med.L. theosophus was often used for theologian, in contrast with philosophus.)

1822 SOUTHEY in Q. Rev. Jan. 37 This Theosophe was too poor, too religious, and too insane to have any share in establishing the seminary .. at Avignon. 1838 Fraser's Mag. XVII. 27 The Theosophs were right in separating entirely the mind from the soul. 1878 MORLEY Diderot I. v. 202 The article on Theosophs would hardly have been so disproportionately long as it is, merely for the sake of Paracelsus. 1880 Chambers' Encycl. IX. 400/1 Within the Christian period we may number among Theosophs, the Neo-Platonists .; the Hesychasts of the Greek Church [etc.].

Theosophema (pi,ə·sŏfĭ·mə). rare. [ad. Gr. type θεσόφημα* : cf. philosopheme.] A theosophical speculation or conclusion.

1896 C. J. ELLICOTT in Cambr. Ess. 162 Some appear to have been gospels..others the wildest and most unhistorical theosophemes. 1873 SYMONDS Grk. Poets vii. 231 The colossal theosophemes of Aeschylus called for profound reflection.

Theosopher (pi,ə·sŏfə). [f. THEOSOPH(Y, or med.L. theosoph-us (Scotus Erigena a 880) THEOSOPH + -ER [1]: cf. PHILOSOPHER.] = THEOSOPHIST. (Applied spec. to Jacob Boehme, 'the Teutonic Theosopher', and his followers.)

1647 WARD Simp. Cobler (1843) 18 Have an extraordinary care..of the late Theosophers, that teach men to climbe to heaven upon a ladder of lying figments. 1653 H. MORE Conject. Cabbal. (1713) 72 Laying down such Conclusions as the Naturalists and Theosophers in all Ages have looked upon as the choicest and most precious. 1755 AMORY Mem. (1766) II. 73 note, Jacob Behemen, the reverend theosopher. 1782 Gentl. Mag. LII. 599 The true and infallible ground of what he there advanced was to be found in the Teutonic Theosopher, in his three first Properties of Eternal Nature. 1850 MAURICE Mor. & Met. Philos. I. viii. § 2. 234 These books, which have procured him [Boehme] the name of the Theosopher. 1881 OVERTON W. Law 269 Hitherto Law has been presented to us in this chapter rather as a theosopher than as a mystic proper.

Theosophic (pĭəsŏ·fĭk), a. [f. THEOSOPH(Y + -IC. Cf. F. théosophique (Diderot).] Of, pertaining to, or of the nature of theosophy; versed in theosophy. (Chiefly in reference to the school of Boehme; more recently = THEOSOPHICAL. b.)

1649 ELLISTONE tr. Behmen's Epist. vii. § 24 He is a young companion of the Theosophic school. 1691 E. TAYLOR (title) Jacob Boehmen's Theosophick Philosophy Unfolded. 1710 R. WARD Life H. More 128 Such most Noble Truths, and Theo-sophick Mysteries are deliver'd in it. 1828 CARLYLE Misc., Werner (1872) I. 79 His French scepticism had got overlaid with wondrous theosophic garniture. 1856 R. A. VAUGHAN Mystics i. v. (1860) I. 31 The mysticism I term theosophic aspires to know and believes itself in possession of a certain supernatural divine faculty for that purpose. 1902 Encycl. Brit. XXVII. 60/2 Christian Science, a system of theosophic and therapeutic doctrine, .. was originated..about 1866 by Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy.

Theosophical (pĭəsŏ·fĭkăl), a. [f. as prec. + -AL: see -ICAL.] = prec.

1642 H. MORE Song of Soul i. ii. iii. iii. Argt., That th' earth doth move, proofs Physicall Unto us do descrie; Adde reasons Theosophicall, Als' adde Astronomie. 1697 State Philadelph. Soc. 12 The Title Page of the Theosophical Transactions. 1830 PUSEY Hist. Eccl. 350 To the theosophical fanatics, or a D. Hoffman, such a man, as he was, could not possibly assent. 1866 G. MACDONALD Ann. Q. Neighb. xii, He had ..often some theosophical theory to bring forward. 1888 Mosch. Ecum. 17 Feb. 5/3 Boehme is anything but a dealer in mere theosophical enigmas.

b. Of or belonging to THEOSOPHY, in sense 2.

Theosophical Society, an association founded at New York, 1875, by Col. H. S. Olcott, Madame Blavatsky, and W. Q. Judge, its professed objects being: 1. to form the nucleus of a universal brotherhood; 2. to promote the study of Aryan and other Eastern literature, religions, and sciences; 3. to investigate the unfamiliar laws of nature and the faculties latent in man.

1881 SINNETT Occult World 35 Assisted by some other persons whose interest in the subject was kindled by occasional manifestations of her extraordinary powers, and notably by Colonel Olcott, its life-devoted President, she [Madame Blavatsky] founded the Theosophical Society. 1885 OLCOTT Theosophy Pref. 10 The Theosophical spirit of conceding to the people of all creeds the right of enjoying their religious convictions unmolested.

Theosophically, adv. [f. prec. + -LY [2].] In a theosophical manner; by means of theosophy.

1689 TRYON (title) A Treatise of Dreams and Visions, wherein The Causes Natures and Uses of Nocturnal Representations, and the Communications both of Good and Evil Angels, as also departed Souls, to Mankind, are Theosophically Unfolded. 1845 SNEDLEY, etc. Occult Sciences 135 The doctrine of Boehmen,..worked out theosophically.

b. By means of or in accordance with theosophy (in sense 2).

1896 Columbus (Ohio) Dispatch 21 July 4/3 C. B...says: Theosophically I know that W. J. Bryan is the reincarnation of Andrew Jackson and spiritually I see another in him the forms of Washington, Lincoln and the lamented Polk.

Theosophico- (pĭəsŏ·fĭko), combining form of assumed Gr. θεοσοφικό-ς* theosophic.

1851 CARLYLE Sterling I. viii. (1872) 50 The moaning singsong of that theosophico-metaphysical monotony.

Theosophism (pĭə·sŏfĭzm). [f. as THEOSOPH + -ISM. Cf. F. théosophisme (Diderot).] The theory and practice of theosophy; theosophizing.

1791 ENFIELD Hist. Philos. IX. iii. II. 489 Many traces of the spirit of Theosophism may be found through the whole history of philosophy; in which nothing is more frequent, than fanatical and hypocritical pretensions to divine illumination. 1797 W. TAYLOR in Monthly Rev. Dec. 452 The ardent, zealous, and exalted enthusiast aspires to superhuman excellence, and clings to the prospects of theosophism.

b. In reference to THEOSOPHY in sense 2.

1896 Chicago Advance 1 Oct. 449 Theosophism, spiritualism, Christian Science, are all modern instances of ways in which men are led astray.

Theosophist (pĭə·sŏfĭst). [f. as prec. + -IST.]

1. One who professes or believes in THEOSOPHY (in sense 1). a. With specific reference to Boehme. b. In a more general sense.

a. 1656 H. MORE Enthus. Tri. a viij, A promiscuous Collection of divers odd Conceits out of several Theosophists and Chymists. 1816 Ibid. 4 The disease many of our Chymists and several Theosophists, in my judgement, seem very obnoxious to, who dictate their own Conceits and Fancies so magisterially and imperiously, as if they were indeed Authentick messengers from God Almighty. 1791 ENFIELD Hist. Philos. IX. iii. II. 488 The Theosophists..neither contented with the natural light of human reason, nor with the simple doctrines of scripture understood in their literal sense, have recourse to an internal supernatural light, superior to all other illuminations, from which they profess to derive a mysterious and divine philosophy, manifested only to the chosen favourites of heaven. 1817 COLERIDGE Biog. Lit. ix. 129 How dare I be ashamed of the Teutonic theosophist, Jacob Behmen?

b. 1814 SHELLEY Deism Pr. Wks. 1880 II. 77 The God of the rational Theosophist is a vast and wise animal. 1834 SOUTHEY Doctor ccix. (1862) 562/1 Certain theologians, and certain theosophists, as men who fancy themselves inspired sometimes affect to be called. 1837–9 HALLAM Hist. Lit. (1847) II. iii. ii. § 74. 361 The principal mystics or theosophists have generally been counted among philosophers. 1856 VAUGHAN Mystics i. v. (1860) I. 31 The theosophist is one who gives you a theory of God, or of the works of God, which has not reason, but an inspiration of his own for its basis. 1882 Pall Mall G. 30 Aug. 4 Of late years we have heard much and a good deal about that interesting Oriental theosophist, the ideal Buddhist.

2. A professor or adherent of THEOSOPHY (in sense 2); a member of the Theosophical Society; name of a magazine, the organ of that society.

1881 Sat. Rev. 3 Sept. 298/2 The Theosophist is full of translations from the works of ancient 'theurgists'. 1882 SINNETT Occult World 37 The natives [of India] were flattered at the attitude towards them taken up by their new 'European' friends, as Madame Blavatsky and Colonel Olcott were no doubt generally regarded in spite of their American nationality, and showed a shallow eagerness to become Theosophists. 1885 OLCOTT Theosophy Pref. 11 We are..the same thing to all men—viz., Theosophists; who believe in the essential identity of all men, race, caste, and creed to the contrary notwithstanding. Ibid. 144 The Theosophist is a man who, whatever be his race, creed, or condition, aspires to reach this height of wisdom and beatitude by self-development.

Theosophistic (pĭəsŏfĭ·stĭk), a. [f. prec. + -IC.] Of the nature of or pertaining to a theosophist or theosophy (in sense 1).

1849 LADY WILDE tr. Meinhold's Sidonia Sorc. III. xiii. II. 184 note, The theosophistic, cabalistic Dr. Joel. 1898 C. J. ELLICOTT in Cambr. Ess. 169 The main facts of Christianity..interwoven with the theosophistic speculations, the mystical doctrines.. that were so dear to the hybrid Christian of Alexandria. 1897—Comm. Gal. Introd. (1861) 111 To warn the Colossians against a system of false teaching, partly Oriental and Theosophistic in its character, and partly Judaical and ceremonial. 1897 Daily News 5 Feb. 6/7 The theurgic and theosophistic obscurities of Kabbalistic writings.

b. Of or pertaining to THEOSOPHY (in sense 2).

1886 Athenæum 9 Jan. 68/3 Mr. Cumberland..in India is studying theosophistic philosophy on the spot.

So Theosophistical a., in same sense (but with disparaging implication).

1814 SHELLEY Refut. Deism Prose Wks. 1888 I. 292 To shew how much the cause of natural and revealed Religion has suffered from the mode of defence adopted by Theosophistical Christians. 1894 Westm. Gaz. 16 Nov. 4/2 The disingenuousness of this very Theosophistical letter.

Theosophize (pĭə·sŏfəiz), v. [f. as THEOSOPH + -IZE.] intr. To practise or pretend to theosophy; to reason or discourse theosophically. Hence Theo·sophizing ppl. a.

1846 in WORCESTER citing M. STUART. 1858 Chamb. Jrnl. X. 265/2 We owe, indirectly, the greatest scientific impetus of the modern world to a theosophising shoemaker [Behmen]. 1875 M. ARNOLD in Contemp. Rev. XXVI. 682 These things are not at all in the manner of Jesus. Jesus never theosophized.

Theosophy (pĭə·sŏfĭ). [ad. med.L. theosophia (Scotus Erigena a 880), a. late Gr. θεοσοφία (a 500 Pseudo-Dion. Myst. Theologia i. § 1) wisdom concerning God or things divine, abstr. sb. from θεόσοφος THEOSOPH. So F. théosophie (18th c. in Littré).]

The word was revived early in the 17th c. in Latin and vernacular forms, to denote a kind of speculation, such as is found in the Jewish Cabbala and is illustrated by the writings of Cornelius Agrippa (1486–1535), Paracelsus, Robert Fludd, and others, which sought, usually by the doctrine of the microcosm and microcosmic derive from the knowledge of God contained in sacred books, or traditions mystically interpreted, a profounder knowledge and control of nature than could be obtained by the methods of the Aristotelian or other current philosophy. The name theosophy was often applied specifically to the system of Jacob Boehme (1575–1624), which, though not claiming to the same degree traditional authority, was largely expressed in language borrowed from writers of the school in question. The word has then and since been applied to more ancient and more recent views having more or less affinity to those already mentioned.

1. Any system of speculation which bases the knowledge of nature upon that of the divine nature: often with reference to such authors as those above mentioned, and more particularly to Boehme.

1650 'EUGENIUS PHILALETHES' (tr. T. Vaughan) Anthroposophia Theomagica, Author to Reader 13 The Ancient, reall Theosophie of the Hebrewes and Egyptians. 1678 CUDWORTH Intell. Syst. I. iv. § 20. 377 Xenophanes, philosophizing concerning the supreme Deity, was wont to call it ἓν καὶ πᾶν, one and all..Xenophanes his Theosophy, or divine philosophy, is most fully and accurately doubted by Simplicius. 1681 H. MORE in Glanvill Saducismus I. Postscr. (1726) 29 The sound Principles of Theosophy and true Divinity. 1691 E. TAYLOR Behmen's Theos. Philos. 171 What is all Sacred Theosophy, but the very understanding of a certain Divine Art? 1831 CARLYLE Early Germ. Lit. in Misc. Ess. (1872) III. 194 That..devout temper, now degenerating into abstruse theosophy, was awake in this era. 1837 HALLAM Hist. Lit. I. i. vii. § 17. 397 His own models were the oriental reveries of the Cabbala, and the theosophy of the mystics. Ibid. § 20 The theosophy of Paracelsus. 1841 W. SPALDING Italy & It. Isl. III. 29 The Italians furnished few converts to the theosophy of Lepaux, they numbered very many quiet and contemptuous unbelievers. 1852 CONYBEARE & HOWSON St. Paul I. xiii. 483 There was a strong affinity between the Neo-Platonic philosophy of Alexandria and the Oriental theosophy which sprang from Buddhism and other kindred systems. 1856 R. A. VAUGHAN Mystics i. v. (1860) I. 30 Among the Germans I find mysticism generally called theosophy when applied to natural science. 1700 no use of the word, I think. 1872 FARRAR Wtin. Hist. iii. 102 Porphyry and Hierocles met them with haughty mysticism and intellectual theosophy. 1877 E. CAIRD Philos. Kant ii. 17 The philosophies or theosophies that close the record of Greek speculation.

2. Applied to a system of recent origin, resembling the above in its claim to a knowledge of nature profounder than is obtained from empirical science, and contained in an esoteric tradition of which the doctrines of the various historical religions are held to be only the exoteric expression. Sometimes called Esoteric Buddhism. See Theosophical Society, under THEOSOPHICAL b.

1881 SINNETT Occult World 172 They have shown that Theosophy, or Occult Philosophy, is no new candidate for the world's attention, but is really a restatement of principles which have been recognized from the very infancy of mankind. 1884 Chr. World 16 Oct. 788/3 Theosophy is really another name for Esoteric Buddhism. 1885 OLCOTT Theosophy Pref. 23 Theosophy is the complement both of science and of philosophy, and as such is entitled to the respectful examination of the savant and the theologian. Ibid. 256

That priceless knowledge of divine things which we call Theosophy. 19.. MRS. BESANT Meaning of Theosophy 1 What is the essence of Theosophy? It is the fact that man, being himself divine, can know the Divinity whose life he shares. Ibid. 4 Theosophy has no code of morals, being itself the embodiment of the highest morality.

3. In etymol. sense: Wisdom or knowledge concerning things divine. nonce-use.

1836–7 SIR W. HAMILTON Metaph. I. 416 An organ of Imagination is intimately connected with that of Theosophy or Veneration.

Theotaurine: see THEO-.

Theotechny (θō'τεκνι). [f. Gr. θεός god + τέχνη art.] The introduction of divine or supernatural beings in the construction of a drama or epic; such beings collectively.

1858 GLADSTONE Homer II. iii. 268 It is not difficult to understand why..Dionysus does not appear in the theotechny of the Iliad. 1869 — Prim. Mundi vii. 206 The personages of the Homeric Theotechny, under which name I include the whole of the supernatural beings, of whatever rank, introduced into the Poems. Ibid. xiv. § 1. 491 The Theotechny, or divine movement of the Poem [the Iliad].

So † Theote·chnal a. Obs. rare$^{-1}$, of the nature of divine art; Theote·chnic a., pertaining to the invention or making of gods; also, belonging to theotechny; Theote·chnist, one who invents gods.

1651 BIGGS New Disp. Pref. 9 Those Arts we speak of are Theotechnal, the Arts of God. 1874 PIAZZI SMYTH Inher. Gt. Pyramid v. (ed. 2) 64 At Thebes..those temples and tombs..speak immediately to human theotechnic inventions. Ibid. xxii. 425 The original inventor and theotechnist of animal and other gods for his countrymen. 1878 GLADSTONE Prim. Homer vi. (1889) 67 Behind the complex and evective theotechnic machinery of the poems, there is still the presence and operation of an august personage.

Theoteological, -logy: see THEO-.

† Theoten, v. Obs. Forms: 1 θeotan, θiotan, θutan, 3 þeoten, (Orm.) þutenn. [OE. þeótan, (pa. t. þéat, þuton) = ON. þjóta to whistle, etc., OHG. diozan to howl:—OTeut. þeutan* (þaut-, þut-). OE. had also another pres. stem þútan, whence þútenn pr. pple. and þutenn in Ormin; so Da. tude:—þúta* to howl. Cf. búgan, Bow *v.*1] intr. To howl.

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xxxviii. § 1 Sume wurdon to wulfas; þa θuton, þon hi sprecan scoldon. a 1000 Sonth. Metr. xxvii. 80 Ac hie þrageamulne θeotaθ among wulfum. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Hom. I. 374 Þeotende swa swa wulf. c 1000 Ags. Gloss. in Wr.-Wülcker 195/17 Bombosa, hlowende, þutende. a 1225 St. Marher. 22 þa biguunen to þeoten ant to þellen. a 1325 Amer. R. 120 Ne deȝ heo bute þeoteȝ.

b. trans. To howl at.

c 1200 ORMIN 2034 Mann wollde tælenn þatt & þutenn hire & þutenn. Ibid. 4875 Icc þuteddd amm & þutedd.

Theothe, etc., for teoþe, obs. f. TITHE, etc.

‖ Theotokos (θεῑ·ŏ'τŏkŏs). [a. Gr. θεοτόκος adj., f. θεός God + -τοκος bringing forth, f. stem τεκ-, τοκ- of τίκτειν to bear.] A title of the Virgin Mary as 'Mother of God'; = DEIPARA.

1874 PUSEY Lent. Serm. 206 By this the lowly Virgin became Theotokos, 'the Mother of God'. 1879 SIR G. G. SCOTT Lect. Archit. xvii. II. 257 The Church of the Holy Theotokos, or of the Mother of God, is of much later date. 1896 Trans. St. Paul's Eccles. Soc. V. 1. 175 The devout cross to our Lady..said in honour of the Blessed Theotokos.

So Theo·toky, the divine motherhood of Mary.

1899 Westm. Gaz. 24 Apr. 4/3 The Mysteries of..the Virginity of the Blessed Virgin, the Theotoky.

Theow, thew, sb. and a. Now only Hist. or arch. Forms: a. 1 þeow (fem. þeowe, pl. þeowas); θiow, 2–3 þeu, 3 þeou, (Orm.) þeoww, þeww, (9 theow(e)). β. 1 þeowe (fem. þeowe, pl. þeowan), θiowa, θiuwa, θiua, θeua. θea, 2–3 þeowe, 3 þeue, 4 þewe. [OE. θíow, þéow, þéo, str. masc., = OHG. deo, dio, ON. (Runic) þeiwar, Goth. þiu:—OTeut. þeuwō*; beside OE. þeow str. fem., = OS. thiu, thiwa, OHG., MHG. diu, ON. þý, Goth. þiwi:—OTeut. þeuwī*. Also weak sbs. þeowa (masc.), þeowe (fem.); cf. OS. thiwa, þéowa, -e have the weak inflexion of the adj.]

A. sb. A slave, bondman, thrall.

c 893 K. ÆLFRED Oros. I. i. § 22 þa þeowan drincað medo. c 897 — Gregory's Past. C. Pref. 4 Micel menigu Godes θeowa [Hatton MS. θiowa]. a 950 Rituale Dunelm. (Surtees) 170 Besih ofer vsig θea θino [L. famulos tuos]. c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. viii. 9 Io cuseδo..θeua [Rushw. θeow] minum δo θis & does. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. xviii 28 þa se þeowa [Hatton þeow] ut-eode he gemette hys efnþeowan. Ibid. xx. 27 Sy he ower þeow [Lindisf. θea vel θeow, Rushw. esne]. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 181 Þus was adam þeu, þo godes muð cursede eorðe. c 1200 ORMIN Introd. 37 Adam wass wurrþenn θeofless þeoww. Ibid. 7154 An defless þeoww. c 1205 LAY. 29390 Þenne moste he libben þeou a þisse londe. c 1220 Ancr. 249 Þeuwe and þral may not craue þorw riht non heritage to haue.

Hist. and arch. 1819 SCOTT Ivanhoe xxxii, Thewe and Esne are thou no longer. 1839 KNIGHTLEY Hist. Eng. I. 73 Beneath these orders of freemen were the Theowes or slaves...This word θeow seems to have left no trace in the modern languages. 1865 LECKY Nation. II. vi. 260 All the civil laws for the protection of the theowes, or Saxon slaves, appear to have been preceded by, and based upon, the Canon law. 1874 STUBBS Const. Hist. I. v. 78 The θiowa or slave simple, whether wealh—that is, of British extraction..or of the common German stock.

b. A female slave, a bondwoman.

a 900 K. ÆLFRED's Hyll. 19. xii. 6 (1890) 290 Seo foresprecene Cristes þeowe. c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. xxvi. 69 An θiua [Rushw. menen vel þeowæ] cueð. — Luke xii. 45 ȝif..esne..onginneð..slaa ða cnæhtas & θiuwas [Rushw. ða θiowe, Vulg. pueros et ancillas]. 1398 TREVISA Barth. De P. R. vi. xii. (Tollem. MS.), Sche is þewe and þralle er he be bore.

† B. adj. [OE. þéow, pl. þéowe; later pl. þeowe, thue.] Servile, slavish; 'bond'. Obs.

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xli. § 2 ȝif him sceolden þiowe men þeinan. c 893 — Oros. III. vi. § 3 Hit þurh ænne þeowne mon zeþrýmed weard. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Gram. ix. (Z.) 67 Hic manceps, þes θeowa mann. Ibid. xv. 101 Meis mancipiis diuido denarios, minum θeowum mannum ic dæle penegas. a 1023 WULFSTAN Hom. xxxix. (Napier) 181 Þeowemen þa θritȝ dagas beon weorces ȝefreodne. c 1200 LAY. 334 Al þeo weren þeowe [c 1275 þeue]. a 1225 St. Marher. 4 Cuð me..ȝef þu art foster of freo monne oðer þeow wummon. c 1290 Beket 979 in S. Eng. Leg. I. 114 þat word was sone wide couth a-mong þeiuwe and freo. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 9657 þuman ne may nowȝt be imad aȝen is louerdes wille fre. c 1300 Havelok 2205 Alle samen, þeu and fre. c 1400 St. Alexius (Laud 463) 2 ȝong & olde, þrewe & freo.

† Theow, thew, v. Obs. Forms: 1 þeowian, 1–2 þewian, 2 þowie, þeowien, 3 þiwien. [OE. þéowian, f. þéow, THEOW sb.] trans. To be a serf or servant to; to serve, minister. (In OE. intr. with dat., or absol.)

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xxi. § 1 Þa θeowiaδ ealle þa þe θeowiaδ, ȝe ða þe cunnon ȝe þa þe ne cunnon. Ibid. xxxix. § 13 Hi ne mihton elles þion, ȝif hi ne θiowedon hiora fruman. c 975 Rushw. Gosp. Matt. iv. 10 Þo drýhtne þinum gode þu ȝebidde & him anum θewige. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Luke xvi. 13 Ne mæȝ nan þeow twam hlafordum þeowian (c 1160 Hatton G. þewian). a 1175 Colt. Hom. 241 Nan ne mai twan lihrren..samod þeowien. c 1205 LAY. 10015 Heo him wolden þiwien [c 1275 þeouwe].

Theow·dom, thew·dom. Obs. exc. Hist. Also 4 þedome, 5 theudome, 7, 9 theodom. [OE. þéowdom, f. þéow, THEOW sb. + -DOM.] The condition of a 'theow' or slave; slavery, bondage, thraldom. (In OE. also in sense 'service', without connotation of servility.)

c 893 K. ÆLFRED Oros. I. x. § 6 Þæt men hie mehten æliesan mid feo of þeowdome. a 950 Rituale Dunelm. (Surtees) 6 Ic relenesse vel in θeadome ic þegco. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Hom. II. 524 Eȝe is twyfeald, and θeowdom is twyfeald. c 1122 O. E. Chron. an. 675 (Laud MS.), Hi hit heafden ȝefreod..of ealle þeudom. Ibid. an. 963, Hi hit freodon..wiþ ealle weorold þeudom. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 99 Men wren alesed þurh þeodes θeowdome. c 1200 ORMIN 3611, I þeowwdom unnderr lafferrd. Ibid. 14779 Ut off þewwdomess bandess. c 1205 LAY. 454 Dardanisc kun ..wonede in þisse londe..inne þeowe-dome [c 1275 þeudome]. a 1225 Ancr. R. 32 Summe ine prisune, summe ine alse muchele θeudome alse oxe is oþer asse. c 1320 Cast. Love 247 Whon he him serwede in þewdome (v.r. thewdome, þedome). c 1425 Eng. Cong. Irel. 138 Nether al to be vndone, ne fully I-broght yn-to θeudome. [1658 PHILLIPS, Theodom (SAX.), servitude. 1833 GALT in Fraser's Mag. VIII. 497 Too fond of literature to relish the distasteful theodom of a tutor.]

† Theow·like, thew·like, a. Obs. rare. [f. THEOW sb. + -LIKE.] Servile, slavish; base.

c 1200 ORMIN 4777 Itt iss Resstedaȝȝ Off all þewwlike dede. Ibid. 4181 Uss birrþ wel uss ȝemenn..All fra þewwlike dede, Þatt iss, fra sinnfull word & werrc.

† Theow·ten, v. Obs. rare. In Ormin þeowwtenn, þewwtenn. [f. OE. þeowot, -(e)t service, f. THEOW sb.] trans. and intr. To serve, minister.

c 1200 ORMIN Introd. 43–4 For all swa summ þu þeowwtesst himm, Swa shall þin sune himm þeowwtenn. Ibid. 546 To þewwtenn i þe temmple.

Thepe, dial. var. þæpe: see FEABERRY, gooseberry.

Ther, inflexion of THARF v.; obs. f. DARE *v.*1 (A. 9); obs. f. THEIR, THERE; obs. var. THIR; obs. inflexion of THAT, THE.

‖ Therapeusis (θerăpiū·sis). [mod.L., a. Gr. type θεράπευσις* healing, f. θεραπεύειν to tend, heal (a sick person).] Therapeutic treatment.

1857 DUNGLISON Dict. Med. Sci., Therapeusis, therapeutics. 1875 H. C. WOOD Therap. (1879) 679 In regard to therapeusis, the first point to be determined in acute cases is..when to commence electrical treatment. 1897 Allbutt's Syst. Med. IV. 211 Effecting a more scientific and direct therapeusis.

‖ Therapeutæ (θerăpiū·tī), sb. pl. Also 9 in anglicized form therapeuts. [eccl. L., a. Gr. θεραπευταί servants, attendants, ministers.] A sect of Jewish mystics residing in Egypt in the first century A.D., described in a book attributed to Philo.

1681 S. PARKER Demonstr. Law Nat. II. xviii. 247 These Therapeutæ read the ancient Writings of the Authours of their Sect. 1856 R. A. VAUGHAN Mystics (1860) I. 53 The Therapeutæ, a sect similar to the Essenes, number many among them whose lives are truly exemplary. 1865 tr. Overbeck's New Life Jesus I. i. xxix. 235 He took the Egyptian branch of the Essenes, the so-called Therapeuts, for regular Christians.

Therapeutic (θerăpiū·tik), sb. Also 6 tera-. [In sense 1, ad. mod.L. therapeutica, a. Gr. θεραπευτική (sc. τέχνη) the art of healing, fem. sing. of θεραπευτικός: see THERAPEUTIC a. In Fr. thérapeutique (16th c.).

In senses 2 and 3 recent absolute uses of the adj.]

1. That branch of medicine which is concerned with the remedial treatment of disease; the art of healing. a. In the singular. Now rare.

(Quot. 1890 may belong to 2 b.)

1541 R. COPLAND Galyen's Terap. 2 A j, The fourth boke of the Terapeutyke or Methode curatyfe of Claude Galyen. 1547 BOORDE Brev. Health Pref. 2 b, Galen, prince of phisicions, in his Therapeutike doth reprehende and disproue [it]. 1625 HART Anat. Ur. I. ii. 19 Who did likewise deuide Physicke..into two parts, to wit, that which we commonly call Therapeuticke..: and..that part which we call Diagnosticke. 1890 S. P. LAMBROS in Athenæum 30 Aug. 294/2 The modern therapeutic is far from having used all the sources of the ancients.

b. Now usually in the plural Therapeutics.

1671 SALMON Syn. Med. III. i. 324* The Therapeuticks, or active part of Physick, is either Material, or Relative. 1707 FLOYER Physic. Pulse-Watch p. ii, The Chinese also have made that a part of their Therapeutics. 1843 MILL Logic vi. vi. § 1 Students in politics..attempted to study the pathology and therapeutics of the social body, before they had laid the necessary foundation in its physiology.

2. a. A curative agent. b. A medical man.

1842 ABDY Water Cure (1843) 123 M. Roche acknowledges..that cold water has long been known as a therapeutic. 1898 HOGG Life Shelley II. 420 Medical society... Some of the therapeutics were tolerably good company.

3. pl. = THERAPEUTÆ, rare.

1847 WEBSTER, Therapeutics, ..a religious sect described by Philo. They were devotees to religion.

Therapeu·tic, a. [In sense 1, ad. mod.L. therapeutic-us, a. Gr. θεραπευτικός, f. θεραπευτής, agent-n. from θεραπεύ-ειν to minister to, treat medically, f. θέραψ, θεραπ- attendant, minister. In sense 2, from the name of the Therapeutæ.]

1. Of or pertaining to the healing of disease.

1646 SIR T. BROWNE Pseud. Ep. IV. xiii. 230 Therapeutick or curative Physick, we term that, which..taketh away diseases actually affecting. 1658 PHILLIPS (ed. 4) s. v., The Therapeutick part of Medicine, is that which treats of the healing or curing of diseases. 1800 Med. Jrnl. III. 577 Here the fundamental therapeutic principles are proposed. 1857 MILLER Elem. Chem. (1862) III. 296 It has long been used as a therapeutic agent.

2. Of or pertaining to the Therapeutæ.

1681 S. PARKER Demonstr. Law Nat. II. xviii. 248 Philo affirms that this Therapeutick Sect prayed onely twice a day. 1727–41 CHAMBERS Cycl. s.v. Therapeutæ, Josephus .. does not say one word of the Therapeutic, or the therapeutic life. 1875 Expositor 429 Members of the Essene or Therapeutic communities.

Therapeutical (θerăpiū·tikăl), a. (sb.) [f. as prec. + -AL.] = prec. 1. (In first quot. absol.) 1605 DANIEL Queen's Arcadia III. ii, We must now Descend unto the Therapeutical. 1640 CHILLMEAD tr. Fernand's Love Melanch. XXXVII. 336 This Remedy .. should rather be Prophylacticall, for Prevention of the disease, then Therapeuticall, for the Cure of it. 1657 [see PROPHYLACTICAL]. 1703 T. S. A ph's Impress. p. xxv. 1843 R. J. GRAVES Syst. Clin. Med. Introd. Lect. 21 Observation of the progress of symptoms and the effects of therapeutical agents.

b. sb. A therapeutic substance, a medicine.

1845 FORD Handbk. Spain II. xiii. 967/2 Mineral therapeuticals still remain a..dead letter.

Hence Therapeu·tically adv., in a therapeutic manner; in relation to therapeutics.

1875 H. C. WOOD Therap. (1879) 97 Dr. Leand affirms that the oxide of manganese is therapeutically equivalent to the preparations of bismuth excepting in that it does not constipate. 1889 G. H. TAYLOR Retr. & Hern. Therap. 28 The local parts are by no means independent, therapeutically, as local therapeutics seem to imply.

Therapeu·tism. [f. THERAPEUT-Æ + -ISM.] The system or practice of the Therapeutæ.

1854 MILMAN Lat. Chr. I. 129 The Essenism or Therapeutism of the Jews.

Therapeutist (θerăpiū·tist). [f. THERAPEUT-(IC sb. + -IST. Cf. F. thérapeutiste.] One skilled in therapeutics; a physician.

1816–30 BENTHAM Offic. Apt. Maximised, Extr. Const. Code (1830) 63 This little work of the illustrious Therapeutist. 1886 W. T. GAIRDNER in Life Sir R. Christison II. vii. 138 Many..are now accomplished therapeutists.

Theraphim, -in, -ym, -yn, obs. ff. TERAPHIM.

Theraphoe (θerăfōē), a. and sb. Zool. [f. mod.L. Thēraphōsæ (Walckenaer), irreg. f. Gr. θηράφιον a little 'beast' or insect, f. θήρ beast.] a. adj. Of or pertaining to the Theraphosæ, a division of latebricole spiders, as the mygalids and trap-door spiders. b. sb. A spider of this group.

So Therapho·sid a. and sb.; Therapho·soid a.

1892 Cent. Dict., Theraphoes. 1898 Proc. Zool. Soc. 29 Nov. 892 A characteristic feature in these arboreal Theraphosids .. the long feathery fringes on the legs. 1895 Funk's Standard Dict., Theraphosoid.

Therapist. rare. [f. Gr. θέραψ, θεραπ- attendant (see THERAPEUTIC a.), or f. THERAP(Y + -IST.] = THERAPEUTIST.

1886 Medical News (U.S.) XLIX. 510 The results..will be much more satisfactory to the therapist.

‖ Therapon (θerăpŏn). Ichthyol. [mod.L., a. Gr. θεράπων attendant.] A genus of fishes, the type of the family Theraponidæ, allied to the perch; a fish of this genus. So The·raponid a., a member of the Theraponidæ; The·raponid a., resembling the Theraponidæ.

1891 Cent. Dict., Theraponoid. 1895 Funk's Standard Dict., Theraponid.

Therapy (θe·răpi). [ad. mod.L. therapia, a. Gr. θεραπεία healing: cf. θεραπεύ-ειν to attend medically. Cf. F. thérapie.] The medical treatment of disease; curative medical treatment.

1846 WORCESTER cites Month. R. 1873 WAGNER tr.

Trueffel's Hist. Rom. Lit. II. 26 The second [treats] of ..general pathology and therapy. 1881 VIRCHOW in Nature 11 Aug. 348/1 It will be pointed out to us...that therapy is to be replaced by hygiene. 1894 Lancet 3 Nov. 1044 Serum therapy...is a discovery belonging to M. Behring.

Therdde, obs. form of THIRD.

There (ðēər, unstressed ðĕr), adv. (a., sb.) Forms: see below. [OE. þǣr, þǽr, þǽr, cognate with OS. thār, OFris. thēr, dēr, MLG. dār, MDu. daer, Du. daar, OHG. dār (MHG. dâr, dâ, Ger. da); cf. also Goth. þar, ON. þar (Sw., Da. der); all derivatives of the demonstrative stem þa-, pre-Teut. to- (THAT, THE). The adverbial suffix -r appears also in OE. hwǽr, hwǽr, hwar, WHERE.

Besides þǽr, etc., OE. had also a rare form þǽra, prob. an emphatic derivv., like OHG. dâra, dâre, and not cognate with OHG. dare, MHG. dare, dare, 'thither'. In ME. all the variants þǽr, þǽr, þǽr appear also with final -e, perh. taken from the -ere form, þǽre, þǽre, þǽre, etc. The later forms thare and there may represent ME. þǽre, þǽre, or the final e may merely indicate the long vowel.]

A. Illustration of Forms.

α. 1 þǽra.

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xxxiii. § 5 Ac hit is þeah þara. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Mark iv. 15 Se ze-earwiað þara (Hatton þare, Lindisf. & Rushw. þer).

β. 1–3 þǽr, 2 þǽre.

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xxxiii. § 5 Swa is eac þǽr fyr on ðam stanum and on ðam wæstere. a 900 tr. Beda's Hist. i. 1 (1890) 28 Swa þǽr ǽnlic sunnan land ligeð þonne ðry dæ.as. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. xiv. 23 He wæs ana þǽr. a 1131 O. E. Chron. an. 1123, Ða..ferde se king to Wincestre and wæs ealle Eastren tyde þǽre. c 1200 ORMIN 2789 þe laffdiȝ Marȝe comm Till Zacariȝess bottle, And spacc þǽr wiþþ Elysabeth.

γ. 1–2 þǽr, 2–5 þare, þare, 3–5 north. þaire, 4–6 thar, thare (4–5 tare), 6 Sc. thair, yare, yair.

c 893 K. ÆLFRED Oros. i. i. § 22 xyf þar man an ban findeð unforhærned. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. xxi. 17 He..lærde hi þar [Lat. Illuc]. Ibid. Luk. xiii. 28 Rushw. þǽr] se godes rice. c 1275 LAY. 27474 Chilbert þa ȝeswikten; þlodes vt burnen. Ibid. 25651 þare. 13.. Cursor M. 5420 (Cott.) Iacob þaire [Gött. þar] liued seuenten ȝeir. Ibid. 21655 (Edin.) Thare dide him dritgin to rouse. ? a 1400 Morte Arth. 3603 Thare the false men flytyede, and one flode lengede. c 1400 Rule St. Benet 21 þai sal be broht by-fore þe cuuent and tare amende hir faute. 1483 Cath. Angl. 381/2 Thare, ibi, ibidem, illic. 1535 STEWART Cron. Scot. (Rolls) I. 33 Greit slauchter ofthynne wes maid yair. 1562 Reg. Privy Council Scot. I. 226 Williame Gordoun in Wigtoun, Johne Martine thair, Robert Johnestoun thair.

δ. 1–2 þǽr, 3–5 þer, þere (4 tere), 5 peer, theer, 4–6 ther, 4– there.

c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. v. 24 Forlet ðer [Rushw., Ags. G., Hatt. þær] þing ðin to wiðþeal. — Mark iv. 15 Seðe ymb woes ðer [Ags. Gosp. þar, Hatt. þǽr] bið gesauen. c 1205 LAY. 10 þer he bock radde [c 1275 þer heo bokes radde]. Ibid. 2565 Nes he þere [c 1275 þǽre] buten ane mǽn. Ibid. 29876 Alle..þe þere leunden weonden. c 1275 Ibid. 8 Merie þer [c 1205 þar] him þohte. Ibid. 582 þere [c 1205 þer] Brutus nam Antigo[num]. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 1796 An vrninde water þat ȝut is per, ich wene. Ibid. 3510 Pere he hulde is pauilun. 13.. Cursor M. 21104 (Cott.) His bodi is biried tere [prime sper; other MSS. þere]. c 1400 Destr. Troy 3719 Ermonia þe myld mayny was there. 1412–20 LYDG. Chron. Troy II. 4189. I was not pere. c 1420 (?here [see B. 1]). c 1425 Cursor M. 22962 (Trin.) Men wene þe doom shal be peer. 1430–40 LYDG. Bochas IX. xxxi. (1558) 32 b, Clement ther concludyng if he may. 1432–50 tr. Higden (Rolls) VII. 401 The seides . whilche hade bene sawen þer of olde tyme. c 1440 There [see B. 9].

ε. (variants of δ ther) 2 þoer, 3 þeer, þiar, 5–7 their, 6 thear, 6–dial. theare

a 1200 Moral Ode 273 (Lamb. MS.) Þeor beð naddren and snaken. c 1200 Ibid. 165 (Trin. Coll. MS.) Ne sal þeih no man samie þiar. c 1205 LAY. 607 Brutus hefde þa men.. lion into þan castle & þear inne quite heolde. a 1225 Leg. Kath. 8 Constantin..wunede sumrane hwile þeare. c 1425 Cursor M. 10042 (Laud) Their buxumnes holt her state. 1535 COVERDALE Josh. xxi. 45 Their myssed nothinge of all the good that the Lorde had promysed. 1563 B. GOOGE Cupido Eglogs, etc. (Arb.) 117 And..theare, for succour thus doth call. 1570 — Pop. Kingd. II. (1880) 13 Togither stande they theare [prime weare]. 1616 PURCHAS Pilgrimage, India (1864) 45 Three of the Gallions drueen on ground, ..and had beene their hell but for the Frigates. 1655 STANLEY Hist. Philos. I. 53/2 For their's no order in Equality.

ζ. 3–4 þōr, 3–5 þōre, 4–5 thōre.

c 1250 Gen. & Exod. 2844 He drog ðider and wunede ðor. Ibid. 2270 Þat riche louerd bore. c 1300 Havelok 922 Go þu yunder and sit þore [prime more]. Ibid. 1014 For neuere yete ne saw he or Putten the stone, or þanne þor. c 1300 Harrow. Hell (Harl. MS.) 30 Ihesu crist..seide he wolde vacche hem thore [prime sore]. c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. Wace (Rolls) 1021 He..wonede þere beside Brutus þore. c 1380 Sir Ferumb. 544 Pe Sar-yn þat was þor. c 1420 Chron. Vilod. 2040 To make alle thyngus redy þore [prime byfore]. a 1425 Cursor M. 409 (Trin.) He vs ȝaf ensample þore [prime more; earlier MSS. þare .. mare]. c 1470 HARDING Chron. III. iv, Seleucus than was the first kynge þore [prime afore].

B. Signification.

I. As a demonstrative adverb.

* Expressing locality or position.

1. In or at that place; in the place (country, region, etc.) pointed to, indicated, or referred to, and away from the speaker; the opposite of here.

c 888 [see A. α, δ]. a 900 [see A. β]. c 950 [see A. δ]. c 1050 Byrhtferth's Handboc in Anglia (1885) VIII. 306 Þonne beoð þeer swa fela concurrentes. c 1205 LAY. 716 Þǽr þu findest seouen houndred. c 1400 Three Kings Cologne 118 ȝei ȝede to þe cite of Sewill..and þere þei leuyd .ij. ȝere. 1523 LD. BERNERS Froiss. I. cv. 126 The erle of Derby went to Pelagrue, and there was sixe dayes. 1673 RAY Journ. Low C. 23 At our being there it was held with a strong Garrison. 1786 COWPER Let. to Lady Hesketh May, I have walked there, but have never walked thither. 1827 SCOTT Highl. Widow III, The cloudberry ..which is only found on very high hills, and there only in very small quantities. 1874 BOSW. SMITH Mohammed, etc. (1876) 322 There if anywhere, will be the Armageddon of Islam.

b. There (in emphatic use) may be defined by a relative clause, following or preceding, introduced by where († there) or an equivalent.

c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. vi. 21 Ðer wel huer forðon is strion. Þin ðer is and hearte. ðin. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Ibid., Þǽr ðin gold is þǽr ðin heorte. a 1300 Cursor M. 20358 Þar i sal be, quar mi sun is. c 1500 Melusine xxxvi. 294 There where he passed by he enquyred after guedon. 1591 HARINGTON Ariosto, Fur. Pref. † [i] Where the hedge is lowest, there doth every man go over. 1810 CRABBE Borough iii. 195 Where Time has plough'd, there Misery loves to sow. 1890 MCCOSH Div. Govt. ii. 1. (1874) 138 Wherever we find law, there we see the certain traces of a lawgiver. 1890 TENNYSON In Memor. cxviii, There rolls the deep where grew the tree.

2. Appended, unstressed, to the name of a person or thing to whose presence attention is called: = Who or that is there, whom or which you see there.

1590 SHAKS. Com. Err. v. i. 275 He din'de with her there, at the Porpentine. 1606 — Tr. & Cr. II. i. 97, I would haue peace ..but the fool will not: he there. 1611 — Wint. T. II. iii. 160 You that haue beene so tenderly officious With Lady Margerie, your Mid-wife there. 1794 MRS. RADCLIFFE Myst. Udolpho xlii, There she lay,..her face was upon the pillow there! Mod. Hand me that book there, please.

b. As a brusque mode of address (often in commands) to a person or persons in the place or direction indicated; = you (that are) there.

a 1596 Sir T. More i. ii. 9 Silence there, hoe! 1605 SHAKS. Lear iv. vii. 25 Louder the music there! a 1619 FLETCHER Mad Lover III. iii, Put to the doors a while there. 1676 DRYDEN Aurengzebe ii. 1. 24 Your fury hardens me:..A Guard there; seize her. 1889 Habitu Cd. Soc. v. 200 He will..use some such phrase as: 'May I trouble you for that ball, sir?' not 'Ball, you there', as one sometimes hears it. Mod. Hurry up there! Do you hear there? Pass along there, please!

c. Emphatically appended to the demonstrative that. dial. and vulgar. (Cf. HERE adv. 1 d.)

Also that'ere, that'air.

1742 RICHARDSON Pamela III. 404 On leaving yours and Mr. B.'s hospitable House, because of that there Affair. 1778 MISS BURNEY Evelina (1791) II. xxxvii. 244 Did you ever get a ducking in that there place? Ibid. 245 † For the matter of that there', said the Captain, 'you must make him a soldier'. 1818 SCOTT Hrt. Midl. xli, That trunk is mine, and that there hand-box, and that pillion mail. 1825 J. NEAL Bro. Jonathan I. 24 Is that fair fellow gone yet? 1840 THACKERAY Catherine vi, How came you by that there horse? 1863 Literary Times 20 June, The 'this here' and 'that there' (euphonically contracted into 'that 'ere') of the Cockney.

3. Pointing to something as present to the sight or perception, chiefly in there is, there are (ðēə·riz, ðēə·riz; ðēə·rā); also, calling attention to something offered (often absol.; cf. 7).

1535 LYNDESAY Satyre 1355 Tak, thair, ane vther [i.e. blow] vpon thy pedil harne-pan. 1597 SHAKS. 2 Hen. IV, v. ii. 117 There is my hand, You shall be as a Father, to my Youth. 1600 — Hen. V, iv. i. 27 And. Now, sirs, how I met you again: ther's for you. Seb. Why there's for thee, and there, and there. 1728 RAMSAY There's my Thumb ii, There's my thumb I'll ne'er beguile thee. 1742 RICHARDSON Pamela V. 375 There's for you, dear Sir! See what a Mother can do, if she pleases! 1890 'L. FALCONER' Mile. Lxe v, There was that lazy Mr. Lethbridge lounging in the doorway. Mod. There is the dinner-bell; make haste. See, there comes the train. Hark! there goes the bugle.

b. Pointing out a person or object with approval or commendation, or the contrary. Also in anticipatory commendation of the person addressed; cf. THAT dem. pron. B. I. 1 b.

1595 SHAKS. John II. i. 263 It grandame will Giue yt a plum, a cherry, and a figge; There's a good grandame. 1596 — Tam. Shr. v. ii. 180 Why there's a wench: Come on, and kiss me Kate. 1741 RICHARDSON Pamela II. 224 There's a Word for a Lady's Mouth! 1780 Mirror No. 97 † 26 'Quantity of syllables', exclaimed the Captain, 'there is modern education for you!' 1825 T. HOOK Sayings Ser. ii. Man of Many Pr. I. 191 Tom,..go and fetch the wine for your sister, there's a dear love. 1890 DICKENS E. Drood ii, Don't moddley-coddley, there's a good fellow. 1872 L. CARROLL' Through Looking-Glass vi. 123 There's glory for you! Mod. There's a fine horse I all skin and bones.

4. Used unemphatically to introduce a sentence or clause in which, for the sake of emphasis or preparing the hearer, the verb comes before its subject, as there comes a time when, etc., there was heard a rumbling noise. In interrogative sentences there comes between the verb and subject, as Breathes there the man, etc.?, or follows the first word of a compound verb, as Does there breathe a man?, Shall there be any notice taken of it? The same order was formerly observed after an introductory adv. or clause, as Then came there a voice, Soon shall there arise a prophet.

Grammatically, there is no difference between There comes the train! and There comes a time when, etc.; but, while in the former there is demonstrative and stressed, in the latter it has been reduced to a mere anticipative element occupying the place of the subject which comes later. Preceding or following a main verb, or following any verb, there, thus used, is stressless (proclitic or enclitic: e.g. there-ca'me, breathes-there, ŏ-there, wi'll-there), but preceding be or an auxiliary, there has a slight stress, and the verb is enclitic (e.g. there-is, there-was, there-ra'well).

a. with intransitive verbs.

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. iii. § 1 Þa com þǽr gan in to me heofencund Wisdom. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. vii. 25 Þa com þǽr ren and mycele flod and þǽr bleowun windas. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 3863 And ðer ros wræððe and strif a-non Æþen moysen and aaron. a 1300 Cursor M. 19867 Als þeire þan bigan til hon [Fairf., Gött. hone] þar com anoþer voice alson. c 1320 Cast. Love 736 In þulke derworþe feire tour þer stoned a trone wil sent down þe heyne. c 1386 CHAUCER Melib. P 537 Ne neuere cam ther a vileynous word out of his mouth. 1470–85 MALORY Arthur I. xxiii. 70 Ther maye no knyght ryde this way but yf he luste with the. c 1477 CAXTON Jason 20 For to sle a man ..ther be thousht but one stroke wel sette. c 1566 J. ALDAY tr. Beaysuaus's Theat. World X viij b, There died an infinite number of people. 1590 SPENSER F. Q. II. ix. 59 There chanced to the Princes hand to rise An auncient boke. 1609 HOLLAND Amm. Marcell. 47 In these Cottian Alpes..there peaketh up a mightie high mount. 1611 BIBLE Numb. xxiv. 17 There shall come a starre out of Iacob, and a Scepter shall rise out of Israel. 1762–8 HUME Hist. Eng. (1806) V. lxx. 247 There want not sufficient materials on which to form a true judgment. 1805 SCOTT Last Minstr. VI. i, Breathes there the man with soul so dead, Who never [etc.]? 1822 BYRON Ch. Har. iv. lxxxii, Lurk there no hearts that throb with secret pain? 1857 BUCKLE Civiliz. I. vii. 399 From all these things there resulted consequences of vast importance.

† b. with transitive verbs: usually before an auxiliary of tense or mood. Obs.

13.. Cast. Love (Halliw.) 306 Withoute these..Ther may no kynge lede gordship. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) I. 223 When it was ones i-tend..pere coube no man it aquenche wip no craft. 14.. HOCCLEVE Compl. Virgin 54 Ther may no martirdom me make smerte. 1548 UDALL, etc. Erasm. Par. Acts 43 b, Peter, knowing..that there woulde some lewes response this his doing.

c. with a verb in the passive voice.

a 1533 LD. BERNERS Huon cxi. 385 There coude not be founde a more goodlyer man. 1584 R. SCOT Discov. Witchcr. x. vii. (1886) 147 Whilst the treasurers is a digging, there must be read the psalmes [etc.]. 1691 T. H[ALE] Acc. New Invent. 99 There's nothing said herein. 1877 RUSKIN St. Mark's Rest I. § 4 There were no plenipotentiaries sent to the East, and back again. 1890 — There were found various relics of Franklin's expedition.

d. especially with the verb to be: cf. BE B. I, I b, 5 b. There is, there are, are equivalent to F. il est, il y a, Ger. es ist, es sind, es giebt, Sp. hay. (For such phrases as there is no saying = 'it is impossible to say', see No a. 4.)

c 893 K. ÆLFRED Oros. i. i. § 22 Þǽr is mid Estum an mæȝð. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 7551 Þer nas prince in al þe world ot so noble fame. a 1300 Cursor M. 17787 Ysrien [is] es, dut es þar nan. Ibid. 20123 Ne was tar noiper seke ne fere. 13.. Cast. Love (Halliw.) 275 Ther was a kyng of myche myght. c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. Wace (Rolls) 5467 Wasser [was there] non þat wolde byrn þeiynne. c 1380 WYCLIF Wks. (1880) 147 As þous þer were no lif but only in þis wrecchid world. a 1415 LYDG. Temple of Glass 179 And some per were..That pleined sore. 1456 SIR G. HAYE Law Armis (S.T.S.) 1 Into the quilk bide thare bathe foure partis. 1485 CAXTON Malory's Arthur Pref., Dyuers men holde oppynyon that there was no suche Arthur. 1531 in J. Bulloch Pynnores (1887) 59 Considering thair has bene and is daile besynes and ado with the pynnoris. 1605 SHAKS. Lear ii. iv. 305 For many Miles about There's scarce a Bush. 1657–83 EVELYN Hist. Relig. (1850) I. 79 Epicurus and his scholars of old..make this an argument of there being no God. 1690 COWPER Ex. Cadirh 2 My right there is none to dispute. 1823 P. CUSSON Ascent Mt. Blanc 22 There being no moon. 1842 TENNYSON Lady Clare xi, I will know If there be any faith in man.

e. When a relative clause follows, the relative pron. (that, who, or which) is often omitted. Now chiefly colloquial or archaic, as in ballad style.

Cf. that rel. pron. 10, of which this is a case.

?a 1366 CHAUCER Rom. Rose 1239 Ther is no cloth sitteth but On damiselle, than doth reket. 1470–85 MALORY Arthur XIII. iii. 616 There was no knyght knewe from whens he came. 1596 SHAKS. 1 Hen. IV, ii. iv. 568 There are two Gentlemen Haue in this Robberie lost three hundred Markes. 1806 WORDSW. Address to Child 8 But how he will come, and whither he goes, There's never a scholar in England knows. Mod. colloq. There's a man at the door wants to see you.

f. The antecedent, when a simple pronominal word (usu. pl., e.g. they, those, some, rarely sing., e.g. he, she, that), is sometimes omitted. (App. a Latinism, after sunt qui dicunt, and the like.) Cf. THAT rel. pron. 3.

c 1400 Destr. Troy 12860 There come out of castels & of cloise townes..þat hom bale wroght. 14.. Why I can't be a Nun 244 in E. E. P. (1862) 144 There weren that dyd not so. a 1533 LD. BERNERS Colds. Bk. M. Aurel. K iv, There were that saied, that this ambassador should be chastised. 1560 BIBLE (Genev.) Prov. xi. 24 There is that scatereth, and is more increased. 1569 J. SANFORD tr. Agrippa's Van. Arts 100 b, There be of them whche accompte it a greate offence to touchbe nonne. 1628 FELTHAM Resolves II. (1661) 35 There are, to whom Death doth seeme no more then a blood-letting. 1657–83 EVELYN Hist. Relig. (1850) I. 9 There have been..who pretend [etc.]. 1736 WALPOLE Wks. (1798) 455 There are, I know, who have strong prejudices to opinions of this sort. a 1849 H. COLERIDGE Ess. (1851) I. 236 Waller called Milton the old blind schoolmaster, and there are who have spoken of Wordsworth as the stammaster. 1864 BROWNING Abt Vogler v, There wanted not who walked in the glare and glow.

5. At that point or stage in action, proceeding, speech, or thought; formerly sometimes referring to what immediately precedes or follows: at that juncture; on that; on that occasion; then.

a 1400 Relig. Pieces fr. Thornton MS. 77 Atmyn endynge ..I pray þe laidy helpe me þare. a 1450 Le Morte Arth.

a388 The kynge Arthur Answeryng those Wordys that were kene and throo. Ibid. 3480 'A false traytor' he sayd there. 1596 SHAKS. Merch. V. II. viii. 46 And euen there his eye being big with teares, Turning his face, he put his hand behinde him. 1602 — Ham. II. i. 19 And there put on him What forgeries you please. 1640 HYDE Hist. Parl. I. vii. 76 There we are at this instant. 1706 FARQUHAR Recruit. Officer I. i, Brother! hold there, friend; I am no kindred to you that I know of yet.

b. And there(s) an end: and that is the end of the matter or the last word on the subject; 'and that's all'. Obs. or arch.

1591, 1615 [see END sb. 23]. 1596 SHAKS. 1 Hen. IV, v. iii. 61 If not, honour comes vnlooked for, and there's an end. 1650 TRAPP Comm. Exod. vii. 25 As the dog, who getting out of the water, shakes his ears, and there's an end. 1872 RUSKIN Fors Clav. xvi. § 5 Confirmed by the signature of any person whom the Queen might appoint; — and there an end.

6. † a. In that case; then. Obs.

c888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xvi. § 2 Hu ne is se anweald þon þær nauht? 1362 LANGL. P. Pl. A. ix. 32 þer [B. viii. 37 þanne] weore þe Monnes lyf I-lost þorw lachesse of himselue.

b. In that thing, matter, or business; in that fact or circumstance; in that respect, as to that.

c1386 CHAUCER Prol. 259 In loue dayes ther koude he muchel helpe, For there he was nat lyk a Cloystrer. 1585 T. WASHINGTON tr. Nicholay's Voy. II. xx. 57 b, If the moneye ordayned for the poore is not there bestowed. 1592 SHAKS. Rom. & Jul. III. iii. 129 Thy Iuliet is alliue,..There art thou happy. 1602 — Ham. III. i. 65, I, there's the rub. 1605 — Lear IV. vi. 148 Oh ho, are you there with me? 1613 — Hen. VIII, III. ii. 408 There was the weight that pull'd me downe. 1825 BROWNING Pippa Passes's Apol. 85 You would be all, I would be merely much; you beat me there. 1884 H. JAMES in Eng. Illustr. Mag. Dec. 248/2 It was beastly awkward certainly; there I could quite agree with him. 1896 Daily News 17 June 5/4 There is where the Japanese differ from us.

c. Referring to something said or done: In those words, in that act.

a1596 Sir T. More I. i. 176 Wil. My maisters..lets.. sweare true secrecie vppon our liues. Geo. There spake an angell. Come, let vs shake them. 1603 SHAKS. Meas. for M. III. i. 86 There spake my brother: there my fathers grave Did vtter forth a voice. 1829 Blackw. Mag. XXV. 558 There you have hit the nail on the head, James. Mod. colloq. You have hit it. I cannot tell you.

7. Used interjectionally, usually to point (in a tone of vexation, dismay, derision, satisfaction, encouragement, etc.) to some fact, condition, or consummation, presented to the sight or mind.

1535 COVERDALE Ps. xxxiv. [xxxv.] 21 They gape vpon me with their mouthes, sayenge: there, there [1611 Aha, aha !]: we se it with oure eyes. 1596 SHAKS. Merch. V. III. i. 87 Why there, there, there, there, a diamond gone cost me two thousand ducats. 1606 — Tr. & Cr. V. v. 43 Aljax. Troylus, thou coward Troylus. Diom. I, there, there. 1788 J. O'KEEFFE Prisoner at large I. vi, There, sir, the bed's ready. 1824 SCOTT St. Ronan's xxx, 'There now', said Touchwood, 'I there was a difference between them—the very thing I wanted to know'. 1856 MRS. CARLYLE Lett. (1883) II. 295 There! I have put my foot in it! 1872 Routledge's Ev. Boy's Ann. 514/1 'There, there', my poor father answered, 'it is not that'. 1876 STEVENSON Lett. (1901) I. iii. 115 There, that's your prophecy did that! 1878 BROWNING La Saisiaz 49 There, the dread descent is over. 1888 J. S. WINTER Bootle's Childr. ix, And, indeed—but there, what's the good of quarrelling? 1893 BURRELL & CUTHELL Indian Mem. 210 But there I I was not going to tell you how you felt. 1894 J. S. WINTER Red-Coats 55 My life's my own to do what I like with, and I'm going to em now; so there! 1902 Daily Chron. 28 Oct. 7/5 She showered blows upon the lad's head and shoulders, with the words,..'There now, how do you like it?'

 Expressing motion to a place.

8. To that place: now taking in ordinary use the place of THITHER.

There and back, to that place and back again. To get there (colloq. or slang): see GET v. 31 c.

a900 O. E. Chron. an. 894. Wæs Hæsten þa þær cumen mid his herge. c 1205 LAY. 29876 Alle ut wenden þa þer [c1275 þider] icumen weoren. 1382 Wycliff (Gött.) Quen þai cam þar [Pr. rr. þare, here] was þar na bote. a 1425 Ibid. 9990 (Trin.) Werid wise comeþ here neuer. c 1440 Alphabet of Tales 122 þis clerk denyed hym & sayd he come not þer. 1592 SHAKS. Ven. & Ad. 780 And will not let a false sound enter there. 1610 — Temp. II. i. 99 And the nearest that ever came alongside, answer'd Gonzalo. Council 41 Strangers that come there. 1858 J. H. NEWMAN Mission Bened. Ord. Sel. Ess. 21 When St. Hubert was brought there. 1871 MRS. H. WOOD Dene Hollow xxviii, We shall go only there and back, grandpapa. 1900 Westm. Gaz. 7 June 12/1 The 'there-and-back' distance between 'Auld Reekie' and Inverness is but eight miles less. Mod. Going to the meeting?—I am on my way there.

II. As a relative or conjunctive adverb.

† 9. In, on, at, or into which place; = WHERE.

a. with a sb. as antecedent.

a 800 O. E. Chron. an. 755, Þa þanne byriż..þær se cyning ofslæzen læ. c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. vi, 20 Strionas.. þuh strionа in heofnum, þer [Rushw. þær] ne hrust ne ec moþðe þespilles. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. John xviii. 20 Ic lærde ..on temple þar [Hatt. þær] ealle iudeas togendere comon. c 1150 Leg. Scott. Kenn. 91 Bi þere ilke stowe þe-forb-ward. a 1272 Luue Ron 122 in O. E. Misc. 97 Hit stont vppon a treowe more þar hit neuer truke ne schal. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 7683 In þe tresnýte at westmunstre here it yut is. c 1300 Cursor M. 2904 (Cott.) Þat stode in þat wele þa neuer man sank þat was o sele. c 1386 CHAUCER Frankl. T. 347 In to hir owene dirke Regiون Vnder the ground ther Pluto dwelleth Inne. c 1440 Pallad. on Husb. I. 21 In places there-bowe wilt have the culture. 1535 Merch. & Son 50 in Hall. E. E. P. I. 139 The erthe tremelyd there Wyllyam stode.

b. with there also as antecedent: there there = there where, in that place where.

c 1000 ÆLFRIC Gen. ii. 21 God..gefilde mid flæsce, þær þær þæt rihb wæs. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Saints' Lives xiii. 67 Man mot..hine gebiddan, beo þærþær he beo. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 85 He..scal þer þer hit is ful, makien hit clene. a 1250 Owl & Night. 295 Loke þat þu ne beo þare þar changeling beoh. a 1400 Relig. Pieces fr. Thornton MS. 24 Lectrye..mase manes herte to melte, and to playe thare þare his herte lykes.

c. with there serving as both antecedent and relative: (In) the place in which; = mod. where, as in 'I found it where I left it'.

c888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xxxii. § 1 He mænne ne mæg þebringan þer he him gehet. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 55 Ga to þine feder þurinesse oher þer eni of þine cunne lid in. c 1220 Bestiary 10 Þe leun..Draseð dust wið his stert þer he steppeð. 1303 R. BRUNNE Handl. Synne 851 And here hanen hunted bat customes best, Falleb oft ymse grete tempest. c 1340 HAMPOLE Prose Tr. 5 For þare he es he sekes hym noghte. 13.. Cursor M. 2768 (Gött.) Again þaim he ras fra þar [Trin. þere] he sate. c 1400 Laud Troy bk. 2926 Thei saylel alle on a rowe, Til thei were come ther thei were knawe. c 1440 CARGRAVE St. Kath. i. 506 Wyth a G set there C shuld stond. c 1500 God Speed the Plough 22 Than cometh the clerk..To haue A shef of corne there it groweth. a 1533 LD. BERNERS Huon lxiv. 221 It had been better for hym to have tarried there he was. 1594 T. BEDINGFIELD tr. Machiavelli's Florentine Hist. (1595) 182 Your laughing there you are, is the occasion I weep not where I am.

†10. In the very case or circumstances in which; where on the other hand, or on the contrary; whereas, while. (Cf. 6.) Obs.

c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 219 For nu is euerihc man iło þare he solde fren[d] the. c 1386 WYCLIF Wks. (1880) 32 þei han..welfare of mete and drynk, here þei mystten wimeþe before have bene-bred and watir or feble ale. c 1380 Antecrist in Todd 3 Treat. Wycliff 134 þei putten grete penauunce unto men þere Cristis charitee is lit. 1393 LANGL. Pl. C. xvii. 88 For pouerte hab þote pokes to putten yn hus goodes, Ther auarice hab almaries and yre-bounden cofres.

III. 11. as sb. That place; the (or a) place yonder.

1588 R. PARKE tr. Mendoza's Hist. China 202 They.. kneeled downe right ouer against there whereas the Viceroye satte in a chaire. 1829-8 SMITH Altham. 19 [Motion] requires a here and a there. 1888 J. MARTINEAU Stud. Relig. I. i. i. 68 In the Space-field lie innumerable other theres that never have been here. 1907 Outlook 26 Mar. 339/2 We..draw laboriously, and call upon the dark and say, 'We are here'; forgetful that there is no 'here' nor 'there'. Mod. We shall stay in Birmingham overnight, and go on from there next day. He left there last night.

IV. Phrases. (from I.)

12. a. To be there: to be at or in the place in question; to be present or at hand.

c 1300 Cursor M. 1248 Þou wat þat i was neuer þare. c 1400 Brut ccxxv. 295 He wolde be per him-self in al þe haste þat he myst. c 1420 Avow. Arth. xxiii, Kay called on Gauan, þorne Asches 'Quo is there?' 1600 St. Papers Eliz., Domestic CLXXVII. No. 98 (P.R.O.), Whether Sr John Leyfield be yet there or not thys examinate can not tell. 1602 SHAKS. Ham. I. i. 1 Who's there? 1722 RAMSAY Three Bonnets II. 43 Ha, ha! ye Judas, are ye there? 1818 LADY MORGAN Autobiog. (1859) 49 The Duke of Sussex was there, and the Duke of Kent..and the whole family of Gore. 1881 LADY HERBERT Edith 17 The 'little rift within the lute' was still there.

b. To be all there (colloq.): to have all one's faculties or wits about one; to be smart or on the alert; hence, not all there = not quite right in the head.

1864 MRS. GATTY Parab. fr. Nat. Ser. iv. 3 Hans Jansen was what is commonly called not all there. 1883 PAYN Thicker than Water xx, It was his excusable boast..that when anything was wanted he was 'all there'. 1889 MRS. L. B. WALFORD Stiffnecked Generation 325 'Was he there after dinner last night?' 'Very much there'. 1900 Daily News 23 Apr. 8/1 But they were of the real Lancashire type, and were, as the phrase goes, 'all there'.

13. a. There and then († there then), at that precise place and time; on the spot, forthwith. Also attrib. (Also then and there: see THEN adv. I d.)

1428 in Surtees Misc. (1888) 8 And þar þan he was asked. 1496 Coventry Leet Bk. 380 Wherupon þe seid Laurence was there & then commyt into þe Fleete. 1600 ABP. ABBOT Exp. Jonah 564 Although God do not say before, that there and then he will strike. 1848 MRS. GASKELL M. Barton xxxviii, Going on the search there and then. 1908 Daily Chron. 16 July 5/5 Happily..a there-and-then agreement was come to on their behalf.

b. Here and there, here.. there, here, there and everywhere, neither here nor there: see HERE adv. 9–12.

14. There or († and) thereabouts: primarily in the literal local sense; hence also = that or very nearly that (amount); something like that; approximately. See also THEREABOUTS.

a 1696 AUBREY Lives (1898) II. 226 (Shakspere) He left 2 or 300*li.* per annum there and thereabout to a sister. 1829 SCOTT Leg. Montrose xiii, 'Speak plainly, will there be five thousand men?' 'There and thereabouts', answered Dalgetty. 1845 T. HOOK Sayings Ser. ii. Passion & Princ. I. II. 248 A close, or field, containing eight acres, there or thereabouts. 1890 R. BOLDREWOOD Col. Reformer (1891) 431 You'll mostly find him there or thereabouts, as long as he's alive. 1890 BP. LIGHTFOOT in Expositor Feb. 91 Forty-six years there or thereabouts had actually elapsed.

15. There he (or she) goes, there you, they, go, is primarily literal, the person going being pointed to (as in 3); but it also calls attention to the way in which a person goes on, acts, talks, etc., usually expressing surprise or disapproval. There it goes! is a common exclamation when a thing falls, disappears, goes off, breaks, bursts, or the like.

1780 Mirror No. 97 P 32 'There she goes, the travelled lady', cried the Captain; 'she must always have a fling at her catechism'. 1837 DICKENS Pickw. ii, 'They're beginning up-stairs..fiddles tuning—now the harp—there they go'. The various sounds..announced the commencement of the first quadrille.

16. There you are! (colloq.) (a) = there you go! in 15; (b) expressing or drawing attention to the simplicity or ready consummation of a process or action; = There it is for you, there you have it, the thing is done.

1907 Westm. Gaz. 22 May 3/1 Tables, setting out in a there-you-are! fashion the declining percentage to the total of British imports into certain countries for two contrasted decades. Mod. Can't find the waiter? That's quite easy; just press that button and there you are! Accidents are common in Alpine ascents; one false step, and there you are!

V. 17. There (in branch I) in combination with adverbs and prepositions.

For the history of these, see note s. v. HERE adv. 16. The compounds of there meaning that, and of here meaning this, have been for some time passing out of use, and are no longer found in elegant writings, or in any other than formulary places (Todd's Johnson 1828, s.v. Therewithal). But see the Main words THEREABOUT, THEREAFTER, etc.

a. With adverbs, as there all-about, there east, there-without; † there-gates, in that manner; † there-thence, thence; † there-whyne (-quhyne), from whence. Also THEREAWAY, etc. b. With prepositions: = that, that place, matter, etc., as there-among († -among), there-below, there-between; thereamid († -amid), amid that; † therebout (-buten) = THEREABOUT; † therebove (-buve(n) = THEREABOVE; † therenext, next to that; † therefoffen = THEREOFFF; † thereouten, out of that; † there-ovenon (-ufenen), above that; † thereto-form, before that (time). Originally mostly written as two words. See also the main words from THEREABOUT to THEREWITHIN.

1422 tr. Secreta Secret., Priv. Priv. 198 Noone god of al that weryn *ther al about in al regions. a 1300 Cursor M. 11988 Maní childer was *þar emid. c 1220 Bestiary 601 He þe swiken *þer-inne. 1899 Westm. Gaz. 28 Apr. 2/1 It is a real joy to know that the pilot-fish does hide itself within the capacious throat, or some snug harbourage *therebelow, when danger threatens. 1876 MORRIS Sigurd iii. 194 And lingering flecks of the cloud-host are tangled *ther-between. 1885-94 R. BRIDGES Eros & Psyche, October 9 She..sweeping therebetween a passage wide, Made clear of corn and chaff the temple space. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 3625, vii. mond *Þor hulles be þem. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 11614 Bruggen hii breke oueral hii ne beleuede ssip non..ber pouts [C. aboute]. c 1897 K. ÆLFRED Gregory's Past. C. viii. 52 *Þærbufan is getæald hwelc he beon sceal. a 1300 Floris & Bl. 294 Above be walle stant a tree..lef and blosme beoþ ber-buve. 1692 BAILIE Lett. 28 Sept. (Bann. Club) I. 201 The Tables *there East thought meet they should not conjoyne, bot divided them in foure. c 1440 York Myst. xii. 48 Þus may *þer-gatis be mente. 13.. Cursor M. 141 (Cott.) Þar paradis [F. þar neist] he sythen tald How þat ioseph was boght and sald. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) VII. 71 Under a treen brugge þat was bere next. c 1450 LOVELICH Merlin 6294 The wlleche child to hire schal hen browht; but *there-offen the peple may neuer more wonk. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 3364 And he smot wiþ his wond ȝor on, And water gan *ȝor vten gon. c 1205 LAY. 12423 Heo bi gunnen..ane swiðe deope dich & *þer ouen on our al senne stronge stanene wal. Ibid. 17656 þer uliuenen he hæfde Ane ladliche here. c 1475 Partenay 3125 *I'ber thens to uauuent [Vauvent] A man sent in message, Which full courtois was, inly wise also. a 1425 Cursor M. 12479 (Trin.) [He] wende þe maistir were of iyue As opere *þer to forn were. 1456 SIR G. HAYE Law Arms (S.T.S.) 77 And *thairquhyne cumis this? a 1500 Flower & Leaf 71 Al tho that yeden *there without.

There, obs. gen. and dat. sing. fem. of THE; obs. var. of THEIR, THIR; inflexion of THARF v. Obs.

Thereabout (ðē·rəbau̇t, ðēə·rəbau̇t), adv. Forms: see THEREAND ABOUT. [OE. þǣr abútan, two words, viz. þǣr, THERE 17 and abútan, ABOUT.]

1. About (orig. outside) or near that place: = THEREABOUTS 1.

a 925 O. E. Chron. an. 917 (Parker MS.) Æt Hocneratune, and þær onbutan. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Saints' Lives xxv. 595. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Mark xiv. 69 Heo ongan cweðan to þam þe þar abutan stoden. 1131 O. E. Chron. an. 1124 (Laud MS.) Ealla þa casteles ða þær abuton weoron. c 1250 Beket 2126 in S. Eng. Leg. 167 And al round þare a-bouten it lay. c 1400 MAUNDEV. (Roxb.) Pref. 3 Ierusalem, and the haly placez þat er þare aboute. 1451 Paston Lett. I. 196 To all your frendes and tenauntes ther abowtyn. 1517 TORKINGTON Pilgr. (1884) 56 The Cityes in the Countre ther a bowght. 1562 Reg. Privy Council Scot. I. 220 To remane within the samin and foure myllis thairabout. 1692 RAY Disc. ii. v. (1732) 215 The Alternation of the sea thereabout. 1884 BURTON Scot Abr. I. 181, 120 Quarrelled in the different villages thereabout. 1908 [MISS E. FOWLER] Betw. Trent & Ancholme 67 From somewhere thereabout our garden gravel came.

† b. Around that object (a pillar, or the like).

1340-70 Alex. & Dind. 1136 He bad buldon of marbre A piler..& þat þei wrouhten a wrytte & writen þer aboute.

c. fig. About that; near to that state or action: cf. THEREABOUTS 1 c. Obs. or rare.

1664 DRYDEN Rival-Ladies iv. iii, Amid...I feel already My stout Heart melts. Hip. Oh! Are you thereabout?

2. a. About or somewhere near that time or date. b. About that number, quantity, size, space of time, etc. = THEREABOUTS 2. (Chiefly after or.)
1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 8984 Hit biuel þer aboute þat þe erl theband..thereberude þe peys. 1405 J. PASTON in P. Lett. II. 236 The xxii yere of Kyng Henry or ther abought. 1534 in Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm., Ver. Coll. IV. 217 Amountyng to the some of 30*l.* or therabout. 1564 Brief Exam.  ij b, Referred to the Prophetes tymes, and thereabout. 1612 DAVIES Whip Ireland, etc. (1787) 13 A company of volunteers, in number four hundred, or thereabout. 1727 DE FOE Syst. Magic I. ii. (1840) 51 At the distance of less than two hundred years, or thereabout. 1908 [Miss K. Fowler] Betw. Trent & Ancholme 369 Slie has walked 221,490 miles, or thereabout.

3. About, concerning, or with reference to that matter or business; thereanent. To go or be thereabout, to occupy or busy oneself therewith: cf. ABOUT B. 10, 11. Now arch. or rare.
a 1300 Cursor M. 22885 (Edin.) þe mar man swink him þar abouttin Fra sped þe ferre he sal ben outin. c 1350 Will. Palerne 972 But I were bust þer aboute to blame I were. c 1386 CHAUCER Somptn. T. 129 What wol ye dyne? I wol go ther-aboute. c 1400 Vwaine & Gaw. 2698 Thar-obout wil i be bayn. c 1440 Jacob's Well 56 Here resonable expensys þere abowte awte ferst to be takyn vp. 1450–1530 Myrr. our Ladye 31 All that wyll do theyr besynes there aboute. 1534 MORE Treat. Passion Wks. 1280/2 How much payn so euer himselfe tooke therebout. 1611 BIBLE Luke xxiv. 4 They were much perplexed thereabout. 1657 R. RAND tr. Gassendi's Life Peiresc II. 77 Peireskius ..congratulated with him thereabout.

Thereabout's, adv. [f. prec. with advb. -s. Of later appearance than prec., but now in southern Eng. more frequent in senses 1 and 2.]
1. About, or in the neighbourhood of, that place; in the district, region, etc. round about there.
c 1400 MAUNDEV. (Roxb) xix. 63 Þare abouten er many gude hilles and faire. 1522 Rutland Papers (Camden) 83 The noblemen belongyng to themperor that be lodged in the chanons howses of Paules and ther abootes. 1585 T. WASHINGTON tr. Nicholay's Voy. I. xii. 14 Theuues..there aboute do lye secretly hidde vnto vnknowen the time that came therabouts. 1662 J. DAVIES tr. Olearius' Voy. Ambass. 6 Files, Gnats, and Wasps, which the Fens thereabouts produce in such quantity. 1797 MRS. D'ARBLAY Let. to Burney 13 Sept., It is the best house in Cheltenham, Broad street, there. 1860 HAWTHORNE Marb. Faun xvi, A homeless dog, that haunted thereabouts. 1909 Times 23 July 10/1 In the streets thereabouts men and women gathered in crowds.
†b. After a preposition. Obs. rare.
1491 CAXTON Vitas Patr. (de W. 1495) i. xxxvi. 38 b/1 All the others..departed all fro there abowtes. 1568 GRAFTON Chron. II. 673 In the Countie of Yorke, and other places, nere thereabouts. 1654 EARL MONM. tr. Bentivoglio's Warrs Flanders 427 The Town of Groll is not far from thereabouts.
c. fig. About that; near to that state or action: see ABOUT adv. 13. Obs. or rare.
1606 SHAKS. Ant. & Cl. iii. x. 29, I, are you thereabouts? Why then goodnight indeede. 1611 — Wint. T. i. ii. 378, 1697 VANBRUGH Relapse iii. 1, Lady. Unlace me, or I shall swoon. Dor. Unlace you! why, you are not there abouts, I hope? 1732 FIELDING Debauchees ii. iv, Hoity-toity—Are you thereabouts, good father?
2. Transferred to time, quantity, quality, degree, etc. Mostly preceded by or.
a. About or near to a specified date or time.
1561 T. NORTON Calvin's Inst. I. xiii. 14 Ceres was here in the hundreth yere or there aboutes after the death of Esaie. 1631 WEEVER Anc. Fun. Mon. 139 Which happened since the dissolution here in England, or much what thereabouts. 1769 BURKE Corr. (1844) I. 177 The meeting is put off until ..the twelfth of September, or thereabouts. 1878 HUXLEY Physiogr. 10 From the year 1660 or thereabouts.
b. About or not far different from a stated number, sum, quantity, space of time, degree, condition, etc.; very nearly so; approximately so. There or thereabouts: see THERE adv. 14.
1413 Pilgr. Sowle (Caxton 1483) iv. xvii. 64, I wyl that mun lyue in..tribulacion fyue thousand yere or neyhe ther aboutes. 1581 in Cath. Rec. Soc. Publ. V. 20 William Tharley aged thirtie yeares or therabouates. 1601 SHAKS. All's Well iv. iii. 277 Fine or six thousand horse I sed..or thereabouts. 1704 Lond. Gaz. No. 3987/4 A lighter Bay, 13 hands and half high, or thereabouts. 1719 DE FOE Crusoe (1840) II. viii. 191 In three hours, or thereabouts. 1794 SULLIVAN View Nat. II. 17 Mont Blanc is 15,562 feet or thereabouts. 1818 KEATS Lett. Wks. 1889 III. 127 Write to me and tell me that you are well, or thereabouts. 1878 HUXLEY Physiogr. 210 The pavement was at the sea-level or thereabouts. 1898 Pall Mall G. 20 Jan. 2/2 You may be sure the original statement was thereabouts, if not quite there.
†3. About or concerning that; = prec. 3. Obs.
1586 DAY Engr. Gentlemen 11. (1629) 71, I would haue you to conferre with my Cosen T. R. thereabouts. 1611 W. SCLATER Key (1629) 306 Colour..cannot be said to be obiectum actis, till some act of sight be exercised therebouts. 1632 GOODWIN God's Arrows iii. § 61. 398 Mens conjectures thereabouts are various. 1657 W. RAND tr. Gassendi's Life Peiresc I. 178 He concludes a passage thereabouts in these words.

Thereabove (ðēərăbŭv), adv. [Orig. two words, THERE 17 and ABOVE adv.] †a. Above or on the top of that (obs.). †b. Above or more than that (obs.). c. Up above there; up yonder (in heaven). rare.
1382 WYCLIF 1 Kings viii. 35 In the cop..was a maner roundnes,..so forgid, that the watir vessel myste be sette there aboue. 1439 in Fenland N. & Q. July (1905) 221 To the somme of xl. m^l. marc or yer above. 1891 C. E. NORTON Dante's Hell i. 5 That Emperor who reigneth thereabove [L. 124 quello Imperador, che lassù regna]. 1892 — Paradise i. 4 Beatrice was standing with her eyes wholly fixed on the eternal wheels, and on her I fixed my eyes from thereabove removed [L. 66 Le luci fisse di lassù rimote].

Thereafter (ðēərăftăr), adv. [OE. þǣr æfter, two words, viz. þǣr, THERE 17 and æfter, AFTER; ME. per after. Cf. OS. thar after (Du. daarachter); ON. þar eptir (Sw., Da., Norw. derefter).]
1. After that in time, order, or sequence; subsequently; afterwards. (Now somewhat formal.)
c 897 K. ÆLFRED Gregory's Past. C. xix. 144 Hie..ne ondrædaþ ðone dom þe þǣr æfter fylgeð. c 1000 Sax. Leechd. III. 244 þonne þу ðē se sunnan dæg þǣr æfter easter dæg. c 1154 O. E. Chron. an. 1132 (Laud MS.) Was it nobe suithe lang per efter þatte king sende efter him. c 1205 LAY. 1220 He gon slomnen & þer after to slepen. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 8277 ȝut sone per after an oþer com al so. 1375 BARBOUR Bruce i. 300 And the King A. parlyament Gert set tharefrit hastely. 1445 in Wars Eng. in France (1861) I. 465 At Witsontide next thereafftere. 1535 COVERDALE Luke xv. 13 Not longe therafter, gathered the yonger sonne all together. 1652 LITHGOW Trav. III. 54 A little thereafter the Generall of the Galleys came to the Monastery. 1760–72 H. BROOKE Fool of Qual. (1809) III. 50 This prerogative.. was thereafter..discontinued. 1898 Allbutt's Syst. Med. V. 513 A year thereafter she must be re-examined.
†b. After that in place or position. Obs.
c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. xxi. 9 Þæt folc þæt þar beforan ferde, and þæt þar æfter ferde. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 3644 Þat bristе skie bi-foren hem fleȝt, And ôis fole ôor after teȝ.
†2. Conformably thereto, accordingly; thereafter as, according as; to be thereafter, to be conformable or agreeable thereto. Obs.
c 1175 Lambh. Hom. 133 Eurie mon þe luste3 luelliche godes wordes and ledeð his lif rihtliche þer efter. c 1200 Vices & Virt. 65 Þis is godes siue, ȝif ðu ðus ðe bejencst and ðar after wercst. c 1380 WYCLIF Sel. Wks. III. 360 ȝif oþer men wolden be presiis, þyne þei þeraftir. 1470–85 MALORY Arthur iv. xii. 134 Ye shalle be a knyghte of myne, and yf your dedes be there after I shall so proferre yow [etc.]. a 1533 LD. BERNERS Huon xlii. 140 He was ..xvii. fote of length, & of bygnes he was therafter. 1535 COVERDALE Ps. cxi. 9 A good vnderstandinge have all they that do therafter. 1551 T. WILSON Logike (1580) Epist., The presente of a true faithfull subiecte, whiche would haue brought better if his power had been thereafter. 1584 COGAN Haven Health (1636) 198 The Physitian, in dyetting, should regard chiefly two things..and thereafter to prescribe lesse or more to be received. 1597 SHAKS. 2 Hen. IV, iii. ii. 56. 1618 BR. HALL Righteous Ramnon Wks. (1628) 723 Because these are but hours..we regard them thereafter. 1697 MILTON P. R. II. 321. 1727 GAY Begg. Op. II, That, Madam, is thereafter as they be.
†3. With verbs const. with after, as cry, gaze, look, wish, yearn: cf. AFTER B. 5 e. Obs.
c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 5 Alle bileffulle men þe weren þo and bileffuren wisseðe swiðe þar after. a 1300 Cursor M. 486 For godd aght not gif þam mercy, þat þar efter wil not cri. 1393 LANGL. P. Pl. C. viii. 225 Leue hem in þy lift hand and loke nouht þer-after.
4. quasi-adj. (with n. of action). Subsequent.
1839 GALT Laurie T. iv. xii, Supposing no thereafter increase.

Thereafterward, adv. rare. [f. THERE adv. 17 + AFTERWARD.] = prec. 1.
1867 LONGF. Dante's Paradiso xxiv. 70 And I hereafterward; 'The things profound [etc.]'. 1884 J. PAYNE 1000 Nts. VIII. 8 The day thereafterward for weariness thou't plie.

†Thereagain, adv. Obs. Forms: a. I þeer-onȝen, 3 þer aȝen, (Orm.) þeer onnȝem, 4 þer aȝeyn(e, þer oȝein. β. 3–4 þar aȝain, -egain, -agayn(e, 4 þer agayn(e, again, 5 thereagyn. [OE. þeer ongēʒ(a)n, two words, viz. þēr, THERE 17 and ongēan, ME. onʒen, aȝen, subseq. ogain, AGAIN.]
1. = THEREAGAINST 1.
a. [a 1023: see 2.] c 1200 ORMIN 5304 Þa birrþ þe stanndenn þeer onnȝen. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 8881 þis mayde was þer aȝen, & wiþ sede it longe. a 1300 Cursor M. 3904 (Cot.) We sal neuer oȝein þer again [F. þar a-gayne, G. þar again, T. þer aȝayn]. 13.. Guy Warw. (A.) 977, & who so þer oȝain sey ouȝt. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) VII. 157 It is byholdinge to hym..þat he goo þere agayne and to-ward him. 1393 LANGL. P. Pl. C. xxi. 312 And neuere was þer aȝeyn. a 1425 Cursor M. 17034 (Trin.) Per is no mon..may say þer aȝeyne. 1430–40 LYDG. Bochas ix. xviii. (MS. Bodl. 263) 42*r*/1 Yet ther was sume that grutchched thereageyn.
2. = THEREAGAINST 2.
a 1023 WULFSTAN Hom. xlviii. (Napier) 248 Englas..cyðað þine dæda..and deofol awrit þæronȝenn ealle þine misdæda. 13.. Cursor M. 20789 (Fairf.) Bot þar againe (C. þar again) þais Ieronim He wille take na charge on him. a 1350 St. Stephen 100 in Horstm. Altengl. Leg. (1881) 29 Bot þarogayn to þam he kend On thre maners þaire mys to mend.
3. = THEREAGAINST 3.
c 1330 Arth. & Merl. 5132 Wawain it seiȝe sone on hast, His scheld þer oȝein gan cast.

Thereagainst (ðēərăgēnst), -ăgĕnst), adv. Now arch. Forms: a. þeraȝeyns, 5 ther-ayeines, -ayeynes, per-ayens, þar-agayns, there ayens. β. 5 ther agenst, ageynste, ther(e-ayenst(e, 6 ther agenst, -ageinst, 6- there-against. [f. THERE 17 + against, AGAINST prep.]
1. Against in or opposition to that.
a. c 1380 WYCLIF Sel. Wks. III. 367 No mon may distrie hit, or dispense þeraȝeyns. c 1402 LYDG. Compl. Bl. Knt. 533 Ther ayeines shal I never stryve. c 1449 PECOCK Repr. 75 If the greiter bataile be maad thereagaynes.
β. 1450–1530 Myrr. our Ladye 10 Remedyes..to be used there ageynste. Ibid. 69. 1528 TINDALE Obed. Chr. Man 93 b, I will not stryue nor saye thar against. c 1647 SANDERSON Episcopacy (1673) 3 Remedy provided there-against by an Act of Parliament. 1870 MAGNÚSSON & MORRIS Völsunga Saga xx. 71 But thereagainst I vowed a vow, that never would I wed one who knew the name of fear.
2. As a set-off thereto; contrariwise; on the other side. Obs.
a 1400–50 Alexander 1264 Ser Beritinus þe bald þai breted to dethe, And Sampson on þis side was slay þar agaynys. c 1407 H. SCOGAN Moral Ballad 158 Seeth, there ayenst, how vertuous noblesse..Dryveth away al vyce. 1422 tr. Secreta Secreti, Prvv. Prvv. 14 Of the wynde comyth good. ..But ther ayeynes dyuers Perillis..and destourbance fallyyth. 1558 PHAER Æneid. II. E iv b, In his purpose still he fixt remainyd stad. We theragainst with streaming teares.
3. In pressure or impact against that.
1863 SALA in Temple Bar Mag. VII. 456 From the bobbing and rasping of watch-spring crinolines there-against. 1884 C. T. DAVIS Manuf. Bricks & Tiles, etc. ix. (1889) 285 Its ends are passed through the side pieces of the frame and tightened there-against by nuts.

Thereamong (ðēərămŏŋ'), adv. Now rare or arch. [Orig. two words, THERE 17 and AMONG prep.] Among that, those, or them.
1399 LANGL. Rich. Redeles Prol. 57 If ȝe ffynde ffables or ffoly per among. 1482 Rolls of Parlt. VI. 222/1 And thereamonge put Thokes and broken belyed fissh. 1836 Fraser's Mag. XIII. 12 There is neither fruit, nor appearance of fruit, thereamong. 1869 TENNYSON Pelleas 92 Three knights were thereamong; and they too smiled.

So Thereamongst adv. rare, in same sense.
1599 A. M. tr. Gabelhouer's Bk. Physicke 20/1 Mixe thereamongste Cubebes, Mace, Cloves. 1606 G. WOODCOCK? Hist. Testine ii. 12 b, They might perceiue a multitude of women to be there amongst.

Thereanent (ðēərănē'nt), adv. Orig. and chiefly Sc. and north. [Orig. two words, THERE 17 and ANENT prep.] About, concerning, or in reference to that matter, business, etc.; relating thereto.
c 1340 Cursor M. 20789 (Gött.) Bot þar enent [v. r. thereagain], sais Ieronim, He will noght take þe boke on him. 1562 Reg. Privy Council Scot. I. 218 For satisfying of hir Hienes thairanent. 1578 Ibid. II. 700 Ordour to be takin thairanent with expeditioun. 1681 Sc. Acts Jas. II (1820) VIII. 243/2 According to the tenour of the respective acts of Parliament thereanent provided. 1726 Wodrow Corr. (1842) III. 243 To hear the state of this affair..and bring in an overture thereanent. 1819 SCOTT Leg. Montrose xii, I will gage my life upon his making my words good thereanent. 1853 C. BRONTË Villette xxiv, Some people seemed inclined to have my impressions thereanent. 1868 VISCT. STRANGFORD Select. (1869) II. 311 The public prints of an earlier date in this year..may be consulted thereanent with propriety.

Hence (with advb. genitive) †Thereanents (-anentis, -anendis) adv., in same sense; in quot. c 1400 app. = THEREABOUTS 1.
c 1400 MAUNDEV. (Roxb.) viii. 30 It þe Reed See] is þer anentes vi. myle brade. 1552 Reg. Privy Council Scot. I. 133 [We sall] leif noch behind that lyis in our possibilitieis thairanentis. 1564 Child-Marriages 26 Procured the Counsellis letires thereanendes. c 1568 REG. MURRAY in H. Campbell Love Lett. Mary Q. Scots (1824) 218 My Lord of Argyll..spak largely..theirananents to the Queen herself.

†Thereas, conj. Obs. [Originally a conjunctive phrase: see THERE 9, 10 and AS 27.]
1. In that place (or case) in which; where; = THERE 9.
a 1225 Ancr. R. 12 Þer ase þeos þinceges beoð ber is riht religion. 13.. Cast. of Holy Lov. 444 (Laud MS.) Ne no lode, There as were is nyȝn-honed. 1493 Festivall (W. de W. 1515) 6 To go to an hous ther as is a corps. 1550 COVERDALE Bk. Death ii. 1 178 The comfortable promes of Chryst; there as he sayth: I am the resurreccion and ye lyfe.
2. Whereas; = THERE 8.
c 1385 CHAUCER L. G. W. 1282 (Dido) Sche hath..hire reame ȝeuyn In to his hand, there as she mygthe haue been Of others landys than of cartage quien. c 1460 FORTESCUE Abs. & Lim. Mon. xix. (1885) 155 Þer as oþer kynges haue flounded byshopriches..þe kyng shal ȝeue hym flounded an holl reaume. 1470–85 MALORY Arthur xx. xi. 815 There as ye say I haue slayn your good knyghtes, I wote wel that I haue done soo, and that me sore repeteth.

Thereat (ðēərăt'), adv. Now fo mal or arch. [OE. þǣr æt, two words: see THERE 17 and AT.]
1. At the place, meeting, etc., mentioned; there. a 900 tr. Bede's Hist. iv. viii. § 2 Monige untrume..þǣr æt hælo onfengon. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 9326 Hii buide a parlement..& þe king him suif was þerate. 13.. Seuyn Sag. (W.) 2358 Wnan he com to Rome yate, And wolde wendе out thereat. c 1400 MAUNDEV. (Roxb) xvi. 74 Sum saise þai hafe bene þarat att. 1526 TINDALE Matt. vii. 13 Many there be which goo yn there att. 1561 SHAKS. Wint. T. iv. iv. 500 Not for Bohemia, nor the pompe that may Be thereat gleaned. 1888 Ady 38 & ag Vict. c. 78 § 30 He shall..hold a sitting..and shall thereat take and receive any evidence..offered.
b. With a verb of motion or aim: cf. AT 13.
1517 TORKINGTON Pilgr. (1884) 27 He cast a stonne ther att.
c. Expressing attachment to a thing: cf. AT 7.
1566 tr. St. Acta Jas. IV. c. 85 Our Soueraine Lord..annexis till his Crowne the Erldome of Ros with the pertinentis, to remane thairat for euer. 1567 in 6th Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm. 643/2 Ane tabled hyngand with ane grytt rubye and ane grytt hingand peirle thairatt. 1650 BULWER Anthropomet. xi. 100 A broad plate..and the Jewel they hang thereat. 1688 R. HOLME Armoury III. 161/2 A Leather Girdle..with a strong Rope..hanging thereat.
2. On the occasion or occurrence of that, thereupon, because of that: cf. AT 34, 35.
a 1300 Cursor M. 2722 Sarra..Herd his word and logh þar at. a 1450 Knt. de la Tour 98 His wyff..dysdeyned thereatte, and had scorne therof. 1490 CAXTON Eneydos xviii. 68 For to take theratte som comforte. 1590 SPENSER F. Q. II. vii. 34 Thereat the feend his gnashing teeth did grate. 1605 SHAKS. Lear iv. ii. 75 Bending his Sword To his great Master, who, thereat enrag'd Flew on him. 1869

Tennyson Pass. Arthur 462 Thereat once more he moved about. 1870 Morris Earthly Par. II. iii. 253 Thereat the silver trumpet's tuneful blare Made music strange.

3. At or in connection with the thing or process to which action is brought to bear: cf. AT 17.

13.. Cursor M. 11674 (Fairf.) My hande þer at may naþing do. c 1440 Alphabet of Tales 198 When he fand gude wyne on a tyme, he sell his slawyn & drank it þer-att. c 1556 R. Cockes in Archæologia XXXV. 20. I trust this weke that cometh we shall do a good chare therat [at the hay-making]. 1581 Exch. Rolls Scot. XXI. 551 The saidis parties obliss thame to..abyd thairat but any reclaming.

† Thereatour, adv. Sc. Obs. In 5 thearatour, 5–6 thairattour. [f. There 17 + Atour prep.] Over or beyond that; about or concerning that: see Thereover.

1457 Sc. Acts Jas. II, c. 95 (1814) II. 51/1 Gif he dois ony thing þairattour furth with to arrest his persoun. 1473 Rental Bk. Cupar-Angus (1879) I. 173 Tharatour tha sal do thar det lelaly and truly to our myl..bath in fre multur and thyrl. 15.. Priests Peblis 1. in Pinkerton Scot. Poems (1792) I. 14 Than spak the King, your conscience is quaint; And thairattour ye mak to us a plaint.

Thereaway (ðē″răwā), adv. Chiefly Sc. and north. dial. [Orig. two words, There 17 and Away adv.]

†1. Of motion: Away thither, or in that direction. Hereaway, thereaway: see Hereaway. Obs.

1375 Barbour Bruce x. 32 (MS. E.) For gif the king held thar away, He thought he suld soyn vencust be. c 1400 Maundeville (Roxb.) v. 19 Schippes þat ben redy for to fraght þam with þat salt. c 1450 Life St. Cuthbert (Surtees) 5102 Pare away to fare. a 1500 Smith & his Dame 30 in Hazlitt E. P. P. III. 202 Ovr lorde came there away. 1549, 1799, etc. [see Hereaway 1]. 1600 Hey Rec. Eng. Prov. S. V. (1880) VI. 735 For such English as come thereaway to Loreto. 1659 W. Guthrie Chr. Gt. Interest ii. vi. (1724) 207 Confirming the same by many mighty Works in Scripture tending there-away.

2. Of situation: Away in that direction or region; in those parts; thereabouts.

1551 R. Robinson More's Utop. ii. (1895) 253 There be fewe wares thereawaye, wherin is not a greate numbre of them in bothe partyes. c 1670 Penn Left. in Life Wks. 1726 I. App. iii. 156 Among the Carnal and Historical Christians there-away. 1816 Scott Bl. Dwarf viii, All evil comes out o' thereaway..and we'll e'en away there. 1840 Caroline Fox Old Friends (1882) 60 The Duke of Wellington..in some mighty action thereaway showed his wondrous power in animating soldiers.

3. Somewhere about that (number, amount, age, etc.); = Thereabouts 2.

1824 Scott Redgauntlet ch. xi, Swaggering about the country..for five or six months, or thereaway. 1830 Miss Mitford Village Ser. 1. 38 An old batchelor of fifty-five, or there-away. 1862 Mrs. Grote Coll. Papers 261 A hundred thousand pounds or there-away.

Hence † Thereaway-abouts adv., thereabouts.

1828 Moir Mansie Wauch xxii. (1849) 169 The martyrs had been buried thereaway-abouts.

Thereaways, adv. Now dial. [i. prec. with advb. genitive -s: cf. Aways.] = prec.

1575 Gamm. Gurton iv. ii, He intends this same night to slip in there aways. 1682 in Jrnl. Friends' Hist. Soc. IV. 151, I would have yt to mynd my love to friends thereaways and at Burton. 1847 T. G. Ward Ann. Hunters, xvii. (1869) 137 Come from Lapland, or thereaways. a 1825 Forby Voc. E. Anglia s. v., Is the horse worth twenty pounds? There and there-aways. 1902 Buchan Watcher by Threshold 73 What's taking ye thereaways?

† Therebefore, adv. Obs. Forms: see There and Before. [Late OE.; two words.]

1. Before that in position or order; in front.

c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. xxi. 9 Dæt folc þæt þar beforan [c 1160 Hatton Gosp., þær be-fore] ferde.

2. Before that (time); formerly, previously.

c 1200 [see Thereafter 3]. c 1275 Passion our Lord 218 in O. E. Misc. 43 As wre lowerd þer by-vore heom iseyd bedde. c 1386 Chaucer Man of Law's T. 99 In sterres many a wynter ther biforn Was writen the deeth of Ector Achilles. c 1430 Freemasonry 302 ȝif he nulle okepye hem no more, As he hath y-done ther by-fore. 1592 in J. Morris Troub. Cath. Forefathers (1877) 34 And the priest there before dead.

Thereben, adv. Sc. [See Ben adv. c.] 'Ben' there, within there.

[13.. Cursor M. 2721 (Cott.) Sarra þar bin quare sco satt Herd þis word and logh þar-att.] c 1500 Rowll Cursing 324 in Remains of Northern Dialect (E.D.S.) And how sche sitho that shall hen And put hir in the pot thair ben. a 1568 Wowing Jok & Jynny 21 ibid. 388 Ane pig, ane pot, ane raip thair ben. 1604 Acts Sederunt 11 Jan. (1790) 36 For removing of that impediment of proceeding in the Utter-house, (that the procurator is thair ben) it is appointit..that [etc.]. 1728 Ramsay Monk & Miller's Wife 144 'Hout I' quoth she, 'ye may well ken, 'Tis ill brought but [= out] that's no there-ben'.

Therebeside, adv. Now only arch. and poet. [Orig. two words: see There 17, Beside prep.] By the side of that; next to that; near by.

a 1250 Owl & Night. 25 Þo stod on old stoc þar biside. 13.. in Horstmann Altengl. Leg. (1875) 91 He hedde þer is asse an à oxe, iteiied þer biside in a eracche. c 1400 Maundev. (Roxb.) iii. 9 Þare be syde es a fayre place ordeynd for iustyng. 1470–85 Malory Arthur ii. xvi. 94 Ther besyde satte a fayr knyght on the ground. 1870 Morris Earthly Par. III. iv. 339 When I stood therebeside Methought its likeness ever would abide Within my mind.

† So † Therebesides adv., in same sense.

1470–85 Malory Arthur i. x. 48 There bysydes were viij knyghtes that asayed them.

Therebinthe, obs. form of Terebinth.

Thereby (ðē″rbəi, -ðēə″rbəi), adv. Forms: see There and By. [OE. þærbi, f. þǣr, There 17 + bī, By prep. Cf. G. dabei, Du. daarbij.]

1. By that; by means of, or because of, that; through that. Cf. By A. 30–33, 36.

c 897 K. Ælfred Past. C. v. 42, gif he ðonne beam ðærbiȝ [w.r. -bie, Hatt. -biȝ] xestriene. a 1225 Ancr. R. 160 He.. feste..one ie wildernesse vorte scheawen þerbi þet [etc.]. a 1300 Cursor M. 107 þur þi man mal hir helping leem. 1413 Pilgr. Sowle (Caxton) iv. xxxviii. (1859) 63 supposyng thereby for to geten honoure and fame. 1551 Cranmer in Strype Life (1694) App. 158 God shal therby be glorified. 1588 A. King tr. Canisius' Catech. i vij, Ye sall haiff yairby ye hicht of ye equinoctiall lyne. 1600 Hamilton Facile Tr. in Cath. Tractates (S.T.S.) 220 Desyrous to ressaue thairbe, thair eternel felicitie in heuin. 1607 Topsell Fourf. Beasts (1658) 83 They cannot abide the savour of ointments, but fall mad thereby. 1703 Moxon Mech. Exerc. 126 Of the Ten-foot Rode, and thereby to measure and describe the Ground-plot. 1809 Pinkney Trav. France 93 The rooms were so full as to render our stay unpleasant, and we thereby lost an antamony lecture. 1896 R. S. S. Baden-Powell Matabele Campaign vi, For fear of having my attention distracted ..and of my thereby losing my bearings.

2. Beside, adjacent to, or near that. (In quot. c 1220, Up against that.) Now arch. and dial.

c 1200 Beoviat 634 A tre he seleð..ðat is strong..and lenesð him..ðer bi. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 3361 It was a stede henden ðor hi, On a syde of munt synay. a 1300 Cursor M. 13765 þar bi lai many [man] vn-fere. c 1449 Pecock Repr. ii. iii. 137 Iondir is the Holi Goost and therbi is Marie with Seint Peter. c 1450 St. Cuthbert (Surtees) 3915 He duelt in a place þare by. 1590 Spenser F. Q. ii. vii. 32 A couetous Spright..Who thereby did attend. 1641 Hewlin Hist. Eptist. i. (1657) 23 The twelve fountaines of Elim, and seventy Palmes that grew thereby. 1719 De Foe Crusoe (1840) II. iv. 94 At the foot of a tree thereby. 1875 Morris Æneid Proem 2 Fields that are thereby. 1888 Elwyth W. Somerset Wordbk. s. v., Nif I baint there, you'll vind me thereby.

b. With verbs of motion, in sense of By A. 16.

a 1300 Cursor M. 15634 Quer i sal þis calice drinc, Or i sal pass þar bi. 1526 Pilgr. Perf. (W. de W. 1531) 3 Whan my glory shall passe therby, thou shalt se my hynder parties. 1608 Willobocks (1868) Josiah iv. 21 The tides of Scylla and Charibdis, which made men beleeve in sailing thereby that they heard the continuall barking of doggs.

c. To come thereby = to 'come by' or get possession of that: see Come v. 39 b and By A. 15.

c 1386 Chaucer Wife's T. 128 Whan that he saugh he myghte nat thereby Noon other thing, this is to seye what womanhoot. c 1430 [see Come v. 39 b]. 1567 Gude & Godlie B. (S.T.S.) 27, I traist eternall glore to se; Christ grant that I may cum thairby.

† 3. Besides, together with, or in addition to that.

13.. Minor Poems fr. Vernon MS. xxxii. 524 Wyuche ben þe seuen synnes dedly, And þe seuen vertuwes berby. 14.. Tundale's Vis. 803 All ȝif god be folk of mercye, Rygtwysnesse behoves go ber by. a 1500 Chester Pl. (E.E.T.S.) 288 Thou wold revive them some in hye. With Deus and Sinew and Skynn therby, Which sone he can them geue.

4. In reference to a number or quantity: Very nearly so; somewhere about; = Thereabouts 2, 2 b. Sc.

[c 1425 Wyntoun Cron. ix. xiv. 1568 A thousande and thre hundyr there Nynti and v. or þar by nere.] 1557–75 Diurn. Occurr. (1833) 86 At xij hours at evin or thairby. 1569 Reg. Priby Council Scot. I. 245 To the nowmber of fourtie personis or thairby. 1582–8 Hist. Jas. VI (1804) 172 Thair were takin prisoneris 9 scoire and ten gentillmen or thairby. 1726 Wodrow Corresp. (1842) III. 271 The spurious paper.. dully written, two years or thereby after Mr. Henderson's death. 1821 Scott Kenilw. x, There was one maiden of fifteen or thereby. 1863 A. B. Grosart Small Sins Pref. (ed. 2) 8 It is my intention..to print half-a-dozen or thereby of small books.

† 5. With reference thereto; apropos of that; thereament. Obs.

a 1250 Owl & Night. 244 A day [= by day] þu art blynd o þer bisne, þar by men seggeð a vorbisne. 1303 R. Brunne Handl. Synne 2909 Seynt Gregory telleþ a tale par by.

b. Thereby hangs a tale: see Tale sb. 3.

† 6. In accordance with that. Obs.

1512 Act 4 Hen. VIII, c. 19 Preamble, The said Prensche kyng..the Decree of the enterdiccion dispysyng will not therby reforme himself.

7. quasi-adj. Consequent. nonce-use.

1661 Pepys Diary 18 Oct. (1893) I. 261 The chiefest Knowledg that we get, is that of our thereby guilt and misery.

† Theredown, adv. Obs. [In ME. two words, There 17 and Down adv. q. v. for Forms.] Down there; down: in reference to direction or position.

1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 9791 Þe brain orn al abrod in þe pauiment þer doune. Ibid. 9797 Nou he lip ber doune. c 1305 St. Kenelm 206 in E. E. P. (1862) 53 And falsliche as heo com aniheȝ, also heo fel [v.r. fell] þerdoune. a 1325 Poem Eccles. II 37 in Pol. Songs (Camden) 325 Certes holi churche is muchel i-brouht ther doune. 1375 Barbour Bruce xi. 300 The sykis alswa thair doune Sall put thame to confusioune. a 1550 Freeris of P. 178 in Dunbar's Poems (S.T.S.) 291 All that thay did thair doun he micht weill se.

Therefore (ðē″rfiˌfōə), therefor (ðē″rfiˌr), adv. (sb.) Forms: a. 2–3 ðer-, 2–5 perfore, (2 paruore, 2–4 peruore, 3 ðor-, þar-fore, 3–4 þervore), 5–6 therfore, (6 Sc. thair-, yair-, theirfore). β. 2–5 perefore, (2–3 pereuore, 4 parefore), 5– therefore. γ. 3–5 perfor, (3 peruor, 4 þar-, tarfor, 4–5 per-for, yarfor), 5–7 therfor, (6 Sc. thair-, yairfor, -foir, 7 therfoer). δ. 6– therefor, (9 there-for). [Early ME. perfore, perefore (often written as two words), f. þǣr-, per-, There + fore, OE. and early ME. collateral form of for: see Fore adv. and prep. After final e became mute, fore prep. was gradually levelled with for, and ther(e)fore was often written therfor, therefor. In mod. Eng. (since c 1800) therefore and therefor are almost always differentiated in spelling and stress in accordance with meaning: see below.]

1. (Now stressed ðē″rfōˌr, and usu. spelt therefor for distinction from 2.) formal or arch.

1. For that (thing, act, etc.); for that, for it.

a. In various senses of For prep.

c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 9 His festen..and chirc-gong and god to donne þerunore. c 1220 Bestiary 377 God gisleð ðer fore mede. a 1300 Cursor M. 610 (Cott.) He gaf it him, als in heritage, To yeld þerfor [Gt. pare fore, þar for, þerfore] na mar knaulage. c 1386 Chaucer Sqr.'s T. 169 Born anon in to the heighe Tour, With certeine officers ordeynd therfore [v.r. ther fore, there fore, perfore]. c 1440 Alphabet of Tales 97 Sho answerd agayn & sayd..sho wold not deliver it or he & his fellow bothe samen come perfor. 1477 Earl Rivers (Caxton) Dictes 1 To gyue therfore synguler louynges & thankes. 1561 Norton & Sackv. Gorboduc v. i, Speede must we vse to leyle force therefore. 1622 Callis State Sewers (1647) 86 To erect new Walls, Banks and other Defences, and what sums of Money to Raise and Levy therefore. 1824 Medwin Conversa. Byron II. 186, I.. have..continued here. in the hope of seeing things reconciled, and have done all in my power therefor. 1896 R. A. Vaughan Mystics vi. iv. (1860) I. 184 If the emperor sins, he must give account to God therefor. 1861 Evening Star 4 Oct., 10olbs. of potatoes or a substitute therefore thrice a week. 1870 Morris Earthly Par. I. iv. 124 The love I had therefor. 1877 F. Hall Eng. Adj. in -able 39 Argument being at an end, recourse was then had to the common substitute therefor, ridicule. 1885 Act 48 & 49 Vict. c. 70 § 7 He shall supply a copy of such report..on payment of the sum of one shilling therefor.

b. By reason of that; for that reason, on that account: cf. For prep. 21, 22.

c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 5 þa ȝe [MS. þaȝ] habbe wele to ouer stohwennese on þisse liue ne beo þu þereuore prud. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 143 Þaruore hire sinne hire bi-cone swiðe laðe. a 1250 Bestiary 377 Wif of his foise is smit an onde,..ðer-fore oðre fisses to him drasen. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 1215 Ysmael pleide hard gamen; Sarra was ðor-fore often wroð. 1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 5348 Vre louerd mid is eyen of milce on þe folkeþ berefore. a 1300 Cursor M. 287 perfor is he cald trinite For he es anfald godd in thre. 13.. Ibid. 2894 (Gött.) God forbede ȝe do þat sin þat ȝe in hell þarfor [Trin. perfore] brin. c 1386 Chaucer L. G. W. 1865 Lucrece Thus Tarquyny shulde ybanysshed be ther-fore. 1533 More Debell. Salem Wks. 954/1 When he saith himself that they haue punished many therfore, that is to wit, for thesame cause. 1605 Camden Rem. 181 If that any lie dead in any Corporation for his slave, hee should bee fined therefore. 1805 Scott Last Minstr. iv. vi, They crossed the Liddle..And burned my little lonely tower; The fiend receive their souls therefor! 1848 Lowell Lett. (1894) I. 151 Tell Briggs that his ticket came safely, and that I am thankful therefor. 1868 Hawthorne Amer. Note-Bks. (1879) II. 173 They would all be ..healthier men therefor. 1899 F. T. Bullen Log Sea-waif 149 The ill-used crew promptly refused to do any more in her, and were, of course, clapped in jail therefor.

II. (Now always spelt therefore, and stressed ðē″rfōˌr.)

2. In consequence of that; that being so; as a result or inference from what has been stated; consequently. Formerly sometimes unemphatic (esp. in versions of N. T.) = Then 5.

In early use often indistinguishable from 1 b, where see earlier examples; now distinguished as expressing a general relation of consequence or inference. Sometimes classed as a conjunction.

a 1400 Prymer (1891) 45 Lo ther fore alle generations schulle seye y am blessed. 1526 Tindale Matt. xiii. 18 Heare ye therfore the simillitude off the sower. 1533 Cranmer Misc. Writ. (Parker Soc.) II. 260. I trust, therefore, you will not so hardly regard my first request herein. 1548–9 (Mar.) Bk. Com. Prayer, Communion, It is very mete..that we shoulde ..geue thankes to thee, O Lorde..Therefore with Angelles and Archangels..we laud [etc.]. 1552 Huloet, Therfore, cum accent. in penult., eo, ergo, idcirco, ideo, igitur, ..propterea, propter hoc. 1555 Eden Decades 202 Manate..is the thyrde [fish] whereof I haue promysed to entreate. Manate therefore, is a fysshe of the sea, of the byggest sorte [etc.]. c 1600 Shaks. Sonn. xii, Gentle thou art, and therefore to be wonne, Beautious thou art, therefore to be assailed. Ibid. cxxiii, Our dates are breefe, and therefor we admire, What thou dost foyst vpon vs that is olde. 1612 Bacon Sermons iv. 6 Now Iacobs Well was there. Iesus therefore [Tindale then], being wearied with his iourney, sate thus on the Well. 1660 Barrow Euclid 1. xv. Schol., Because the angle AEC+AED=CEB+DEB = 4 right angles, therefore the angle AEC+AED = CEB+DEB = to two right angles, therefore CED and AEB are strait lines. 1735 Berkeley Freethink. in Math. § 2 Things obscure are not therefore sacred. 1845 M. Pattison Ess. (1889) I. 13 The Freaks were the stronger, and therefore the masters. 1849 Macaulay Hist. Eng. vi. II. 80 The refugees were zealous for the Calvinistic discipline... James therefore gave orders [etc.].

B. as sb. The word 'therefore' as marking a conclusion; an expressed conclusion or inference.

1641 'Smectymnuus' Vind. Answ. xiii. 144 Let him first answer our Therefores, and we will quickly answer his Wherefores. 1674 Hickman Hist. Quinquart. (ed. 2) 185 The Article having made a (therefore), its strange that any one should draw any other conclusion from it, than what it self hath drawn. 1874 Geo. Eliot Coll. Breakf. P. in Theal, etc. 232 A faith Defying sense and all its ruthless train Of arrogant 'therefores'.

† Thereforne, adv. Obs. In 3–4 þer-, þar-. [app. an alteration of Therefore, in imitation of words in -forne from OE. -foran, e.g. beforne.] = THEREFORE 1.

*a*1300 E. E. Psalter xvii[i].3 Mi schelder..And mi fonger ai per forne. Ibid. xxxi[i].4, I am torned in mi sorw þar forn, Wiiles þat pricked us þe thorn. 13.. Gow. & Gr. Knt. 1207, & quat chek so ȝe acheue, chauns me per forne. *c*1400 Cato's Mor. 260 in Cursor M. p. 1672 (Fairf.) If þi gode be lorne Sorou noȝt þar forne To double þi harme.

†Therefo'rth, adv. Obs. [f. THERE 17 + FORTH adv.]

1. a. Forth from thence; away from that place. b. Along that way; by that place.

1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) ȝyt kiling also at glastingbury as he peruorþ com, Seint apelwold þat was pere monek, out of þe house he nom. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) V. 299 þe kyng passede perforþ, and wolde wite what it were. *c*1450 LOVELICH Grail xiii. 312 Hom he took vpe tianne Everychon, and with hym bar perforth Anon.

2. Out, outside; in the open; = THEREOUT 2.

1536 BELLENDEN Cron. Scot. ii. xi. (1541) 17 b/1 He punist theiffis..and orthir criminalyll personis with sic seuerite.. that the bestiall & gudis lay thairforth but ony trubyl. Ibid. v. iv. 56 b/1 Thay wer ane rude vnduntit pepill, and lay thair furth all wynter nochtwithstanding ye cauld frostis.

†Therefro', adv. Obs. Also Sc. par-fra. [Orig. two words, THERE 17 and FRO prep.] = next.

13.. Cursor M. 1316 (Gött.) Par fra [C. par ut, F. per-out] renis four grete stremis. 1340 HAMPOLE Pr. Conss. 5214 Lo I here þe sepulcre vyth þar fra. To 1366 CHAUCER Rom. Rose 1660 Whan I was not fer therfro. *c*1380 WYCLIF Wks. (1880) 364 With-outen addynge ber to or abregynge þer fro. 1413 Pilgr. Soule (Caxton 1483) iv. x. 62 The juse that yesiueth ther fron. 1565 in Reg. Mag. Sig. Scot. 1575. 656/1 Passand thairfra up ane dyke betuix Kippelaw and Bowdane. 1588 A. KING tr. Canisius' Catech. g viij b, Bot in this our age throwch ye anticipation of ye ꝓquinoxe is distant yairfra almaist 4 dayes. 1632 MASSE tr. Aleman's Guzman d'Alf. ii. 59, Smell o. beside t here-fro. 1678 SIR G. MACKENZIE Crim. Laws Scot. ii. xxiii. § 4 (1699) 248 They are not excluded therefrae by the foresaid act of Parliament.

Therefrom (ðēə·frə'm), adv. arch. or formal. [Orig. two words, THERE 17 and FROM prep.] From that; from that place; away from there.

*a*1250 Owl & Night. 137 Þeyh he bar from hem bicume He cuþ hwenene he is icume. *c*1300 St. Brandan 512 Þe ȝut hi were fur ther fram. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) VIII. 89 þe schap of þe cros was I-seie forsake þe baner and passe sonwhat of space perfrom [MS. y. perfrom]. *c*1610 SIR J. MELVIL Mem. Author to Son (1735) 18 Deburing therefrom all honest, true, and plain Speakers. 1660 SHARROCK Vegetables 24, I much doubt of any effect therefrom. 1728 CHAMBERS Cycl. s.v. Cycle, They took their name therefrom. 1890 NEALE Med. Eyrynis (1897) 102 The streams that flow therefrom. 1885 Law Times LXXX. 132/1 Nor was the doctrine contended for..logically deducible therefrom.

†Theregai'n, adv. Obs. Forms: 3 þor ȝen, þer yen, 5 ther geyn. [f. THERE 17 + GAIN prep. Cf. THEREAGAIN.] Against or in opposition to that.

*c*1250 Gen. & Ex. 2797 If he it werne and he þor ȝen, Ic sal be techen hu it sal ben. *c*1300 Havelok 2271 Per yen ne wolde neuer on strine. *c*1400 Rom. Rose 6555 If men wolde ther geyn appose The naked text.

So † Theregai'ns adv. [GAINS], on the side opposite to that; over against there.

*c*1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. Wace (Rolls) 13558 O syde toke þe Romayns, & Arthur þat opur seen þer gayns.

Therehence, adv. Obs. exc. dial. Forms: α 4–5 þerhenne, (4 therhanne). β. 4 þer hannes, 6– there(-)hence, (6 therence (9 dial.), therehens, 7 therhence). [f. THERE 17 + HEN, HENNE adv., and hennes, hens, HENCE adv.]

1. From or out of that place; from there: = THENCE 1. Now dial.

α. *c*1300 Beket 1145 Therhanne he wende to Eystrie. ? *a*1400 Arthur 591 Muche folke þerhenne he toke þo.

β. *c*1400 K. Gloucester's Chron. (Rolls) App. A. 2 He nolde per hannes pass. 1548 UDALL Erasm. Par. Luke viii. 89 Therehens as ..out of a chaire or pulpite he taught the multitude. 1600 HAKLUYT Voy. (1904) X. 102 The famous voyage of Sir Francis Drake into the South sea, and there hence about the whole Globe of the earth, begun in 1577. 1724 R. WELTON Chr. Faith & Pract. 367 The waves toss the ships up to the very clouds, and the winds therehence drive them to the deep abyss. 1898 T. HARDY Wessex Poems 46 Stone-dead therence went many a man.

†2. From that source or origin; from that fact or circumstance: = THENCE 4. Obs.

1528 TINDALE Parable Wicked Mammon 16 Hamon, in the Hebrewe spyche sygnyfyeth a multytude or abundaunce. ..And therhence commeth mahamon or mammon, abundaunce or pleniteousnes of goodes or ryches. 1597 J. KING On Jonas (1618) 10 Therehence, they say, he was named the son of Amittai; that is, the sonne of truth. 1623 W. C. Fatall Vesper 4 Those vnreuealed attributes, which doe flow therehence. 1718 SWIFT To Sheridan 3, I have a great esteem for Plautus; And think your boys may gather there-hence More wit and humour than from Terence.

†3. Distant from that place: = THENCE 2. rare.

1611 CORYAT Crudities 10 A countrey village..fourteene miles therehence distant. Ibid. 68 A parish tenne miles therehence.

Therein (ðēə·rin), adv. Now formal, arch., or dial. Forms: see THERE and IN; also 3 þrin. [OE. þǣrin, f. þǣr THERE 17 + IN prep.]

1. In that place or (material) thing.

*a*1000 Boeth. Metr. xi. 4 Wealdend..heofones & eorðan ..& ealra þara þe þǣrin wunaiȝ. *a*1300 Cursor M. 15895 (Cott.) A knaun freind he had bare in [o. rr. þar ine, þerin]. 1398 TREVISA Barth. De P. R. xiii. xxvi. (Bodl. MS.), Perin is a maner kinde of beestes Dolphyns wip rugge itoped as a sawe. *c*1450 St. Cuthbert (Surtees) 789 Pai sailed par in mieualously. 1535 COVERDALE Ps. xxiv. 2 The compasse of the worlde, and all yt dwell therin. 1676 RAY Corr. (1848) 123 If you have observed any errors or mistakes therein. 1875 JOWETT Plato (ed. 2) III. 688 The universe, and the things that are and move therein. 1912 Act 2 Geo. V, c. 1 Sched. (Paisley Corp. Order Confirm. Act), The late Robert Brodie..by his trust disposition..conveyed his entire property to trustees therein named.

b. In or during that time.

1539 BIBLE (Great) Exod. xxxi. 14 Kepe my Sabbath.. whosoeuer worketh therin, the same soule shalbe rooted out from amonge hys people.

2. In that affair or matter; in that thing, circumstance, or particular.

*c*1230 Hali Meid. 3 Maken þe to þenchen hwuch delit were þrin. *a*1300 Cursor M. 19259 (Cott.) Lok þi will bi noght þar in. 1526 Pilgr. Perf. (W. de W. 1531) 2 That ye neuer..be besy to attempte ony persone therin. *c*1555 HARPSFIELD Divorce Hen. VIII (Camden) 83 Therein we do find no fault. 1588 A. KING tr. Canisius' Catech. 130 All perdition had the beginning thairin (in pride). 1631 HEYWOOD and Pt. Maid of West IV. Wks. 1874 II. 391 Thou therein hadst much hyperbole'd. 1882 STURGEON Treas. Ecc. 17 The more will be he driven towards God for help therein.

3. Inside, in the house, within doors. mod. Sc.

1822 HOGG Perils of Man III. vii. 202 Bessy Chisholm —He! Are ye therein? 1828 BUCHAN Ballads I. 113 If ye'll wook therein as we thereout, Well borrow'd shou'd your body be.

4. Into that place or (material) thing.

*a*1240 Sawles Warde in Cott. Hom. 263 Þu most al gan þrin ant al been bigotten þrin, for in þe nes mei hit nanesweis neomen in. *a*1300 Cursor M. 8812 Þair in [Trin. þeryne] þan was þair relikes don. 1398 TREVISA Barth. De P. R. iii. xviii. (W. de W. 1495) 65 Somtyme graueil and powder falleth therin. 1526 R. WHYTFORD Martilage 135 b, Than made they a greate fyre..and cast therin pytche and rosyne. 1747 WESLEY Prim. Physick (1762) 90 Smell to a Sponge dipt there-in.

†5. = THEREON 2: cf. IN prep. 31 a. Obs.

1535 COVERDALE 1 Sam. xxxi. 4 Then tobe Saul yᵉ swerde, and fell therin. [Cf. Germ. (Luther) fiel darein; Vulg. super eum; next verse lax vpon his swerde.]

†6. As relative adv.: In which; into which; = WHEREIN. Obs.

971 Blickl. Hom. 73 He wæs on Simones huse..þǣrin geat þæt wif þa deorwyrþan smerenesse on his heafod. 13.. Cast. Love (Halliw.) 56 This castel Marie bodi wes, Therin he alyght and his fo [other his inn]. 13.. Cursor M. 396 (Gött.) In þe heiest element of all, þar in þe fire has his stall. 1422 tr. Secreta Secret., Priv. Priv. 167 The Seete therin as he was woned to sitte.

7. Thereinafter, therein before, therein under, = after, before, below in that document, statute, etc. (Usually written as single words: cf. herein after, etc., s. v. HEREIN.)

1818 CRUISE Digest (ed. 2) II. 276 Upon trust to preserve the contingent remainders thereinafter limited. 1827 JARMAN Powell's Devises (ed. 3) II. 205 A general residuary devise of real and personal estate not thereinbefore disposed obs. 18.. A. BAIN in B. Stewart Conserv. Force (1873) viii. 221 He gave 'mental work' as one heading, but declined to make an entry thereinunder.

†Therei'nne, adv. Obs. Forms: see THERE and INNE: also 4–5 thrynne. [OE. þǣrinne, f. þǣr, THERE 17 + INNE.] = THEREIN.

(In late instances perh. only a var. spelling of therein.)

*c*890 K. ALFRED Gregory's Past. C. xvi. 100 He wæs ðǣrinne getogen to ðǣre godcundan sceawunge, & ðǣrute [v. r. ðǣrut] he wæs abiscod ymb ðæs folces ðearfe. *c*1200 Vices & Virt. 137 All ðat folk þe þerinne was. *c*1200 ORMIN 1651 Siþ þat þa þat mann wile þa þen Wiþ wit & skill þǣrinne. *c*1250 Gen. & Ex. 2104 Non ðing ne mai ðor inne liuen. 1382 WYCLIF Luke xix. 45 He..biqan to caste out men sellinge ther ynne and biggynge. *c*1400 Gamelyn 314, I wil not chaue compaignye parten at-wynne, And ye wil doon after me, whil eny sope is thrynne. *c*1400 Sowdone Bab. 335 Thai slough all, that were ther Inne. *c*1450 Merlin 1. 10 She wende to haue founde hym thar ynne.

†There,inti'l, adv. Sc. Obs. [f. THERE 17 + INTILL.] Therein; therein-to.

1550 in Charters, &c. Edinb. (1871) 192 To mak ony stop or impediment to thame thairintill. 1533 BELLENDEN Livy II. xiii. (S.T.S.) I. 175 The faderis, quhen þis mater wes brocht afore þame, mycht nocht ordourlie gif þare consultacioun þareintill. 1650 Acts Sederunt 29 Jan. (1790) 66 All bands and actis of caution..heirefter, shall bear this clause insert therintill. 1700 in A. McKay Kilmarnock (1880) 61 To give furth and pronounce..sentences thereintill.

Thereinto (ðēə·rintū', ðēə·rintŭ), adv. arch. [f. THERE 17 + INTO.]

1. Into that place, matter, condition, etc.

*a*1300 Cursor M. 23221 (Edinb.) Cald sa ken..þat þoh a firin fel war mad. And þorcu a chance þar into slad [fect.]. 1611 BIBLE Luke xxi. 21 Let not them..enter thereinto. 1652 KIRKMAN Clerio & Lasia 278 No Victuails could be carried thereinto. 1695 WOODWARD Nat. Hist. Earth Pref. 1 Ways whereby I got Light therinto. 1867 KINGSLEY in Life (1877) II. 249, I have been drawn thereinto because I find every one talking about it [Darwinism]. 1887 MORRIS Odyss. xi. 36 And the black blood flowed therinto.

†2. = THEREIN 2. Cf. INTO 22. Obs.

1581–2 Reg. Privy Council Scot. III. 452 The said compliner his differrit the samin unto the tyme he knew his Hienes and Lordschippis myndis thairinto. 1676 OWEN Nat. & Causes Aspect. Wks. 1851 VIII. 4 On such principles of difference in judgment as have no considerable influence thereinto.

†There-mid, ther-mid, adv. Obs. [Orig. two words, THERE 17 and MID prep.] With or by means of that; = THEREWITH 3.

*c*888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xvi. § 2 (MS. B.) Þa forceaw he his agene tungan and wearp hine ðǣr mid on ðæt neb foram.

*c*1000 ÆLFRIC Saints' Lives xxiii B. 767 Ongan þa þǣre mid delfan. *c*1175 Lamb. Hom. 63 We hit ȝæn to ȝeme and god soif þer mid iqueme. *c*1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. Wace (Rolls) 16450 ȝyf any had leyd a cors in pyt, Hym þat fel þanne ded per myt [the plague]. 1393 LANGL. P. Pl. C. iv. 253 To do per myd here beste.

†Ther(e)-mide,-mydde, adv. Obs. [f. as prec. + -e, after THEREINNE, etc.]. a. Along with that; together with that; at the same time. b. = prec.

a. *c*1175 Lamb. Hom. 75 Ic on wile seggen word efter word and þermidde hwat þet word beo-þuhte. *c*1250 Hali M. B. xvi. 262 Þe pouke it hath attached, And me þere mydde. *c*1425 Seven Sag. (P.) 2171 He went don a[nd] bare uppe a cole, And a torche up ther mydde.

b. *c*1220 Bestiary 613 Siðen he bigeten on, and two ȝer he ber mide gon. *a*1250 Prov. Ælfred 392 in O. E. Misc. 126 Ne myhte he þar mydde his lif none hwile holde. *c*1250 Gen. & Ex. 2656 Hise tunges ende is brent ðor mide. *c*1350 Will. Palerne 5328 Eche man þer mide hadde hold him a-paied. 1377 LANGL. P. Pl. B. vi. 69 Make hem mery þere mydde.

Therence, variant of THEREHENCE.

Thereness (ðēə·mes). rare. [f. THERE + -NESS.] The condition or quality of being there; existence in a defined place. (Usually opposed to hereness.)

1674 N. FAIREAX Bulk & Selv. ii The all-fillingness of God, the hereness and thereness of ghosts, have been too much interwoven and twisted together. Ibid. 45 The thereness or hereness was nothing belonging unto God. 1887 W. JAMES in Mind XII. 18 Could that possibly be the feeling of any special whereness or thereness? 1899 J. CAIRD Fundamental Ideas Chr. II. ix. 13 Hereness and thereness are incessantly passing out of and into each other.

†There-ni'gh, adv. Obs. Forms: see THERE and NIGH. [OE. þǣr nēah: þǣr, THERE 17, nēah near, NIGH.] Near that place or thing.

971 Blickl. Hom. 139 Cezende calle hire magas þa þe þǣr neah weren. *c*1125 Lamb. Hom. 43 Þar nes nǣnig man þan liuiende mon gan. *c*1290 Beket 929 in S. Eng. Leg. I. 133 Ich ov hote þat ȝe þare neiȝ ne beon. *a*1300 Cursor M. 767 (Cott.) If we com þer nei [F. per neye; G. þar ney; T. per nyȝh]. 1382 WYCLIF Luke (Rolls) 19 Sarzins war þar neigh be-side All fled.

Thereof (ðēərŏ·f, ðēərŏ·v with shifting stress), adv. Now formal or arch. Forms: see THERE and OF; also 3 þrof (trof), 5 throf. [OE. þǣr of: see THERE 17 and OF.]

1. Of that or it: in various current senses of OF.

*c*1000 Sax. Leechd. I. 196, ȝenim þas ylcan wyrte, wyrc clyþan þærof. *c*1200 ORMIN 6867 þa staness þatt he spacc þæroff, þeȝ werenn ribbe stanness. *a*1300 Cursor Worde in Cott. Hom. 253 To a rudden him ut þrof. Ibid. 265 þat tu hauest ibeo þear ant soð hauest iseid throf. 13.. Cursor M. 22732 (Cott.) Par of wit trout he broght þam vte. *c*1400 MAUNDEV. (Roxb.) v. 16 Men makes þeroff gude glasse. 1486 Bk. St. Albans C v, Make throf iij. pelletis. 1526 Pilgr. Perf. (W. de W. 1531) 126 A sage persone..wyll be well ware throf. 1588 SHAKS. L. L. L. iii. 1. 130, I..in lieu thereof, impose on thee nothing but this. 1599 HAKLUYT Voy. II. 186, I..tooke oute thereof a larre of oyle. 1611 BIBLE John vi. 50 That a man may eate thereof, and not die. 1678 WANLEY Wond. Lit. World v. ii. § 79 Having lived about fifty two years, and thereof Reigned thirty one. *a*1761 LAW Comf. Weary Pilgr. (1809) 61 But instead thereof, he was left solely to the light and spirit of this world.

b. = of it, as objective genitive.

*c*1175 Lamb. Hom. 3 Þe lauerd haueð þar of neode. *c*1250 Gen. & Ex. 132 Adam for of holder liet tale. *a*1300 Cursor M. 1287 (Cott.) Quen [he] þar of son had a sight. *c*1380 WYCLIF Wks. (1880) 69 þei ben consenteris & fautouris þer of. *c*1400 Pynaine & Gaw. 762 For throf had he greete myster. 1568 GRAFTON Chron. II. 205 To the spedy execution thereof. 1590 SHAKS. Com. Err. iv. 1. 38 Disburse the summe, on the receit thereof. 1600 J. PORY tr. Leo's Africa II. 62 At last [he] vsurped the gouernment thereof. 1665 in De Foe Plague (1840) 41 Give notice thereof to the examiner of Physick. 1691 Acts Edinburgh 3 Find out some Name, that might be most expressive thereof. 1818 CRUISE Digest (ed. 2) III. 304 Nor should the heir be occupant thereof.

c. = of it, its, as possessive genitive.

Many examples in Biblical use; a few occur in the later Wycliffite version; they increase in the 16th c. versions, and become very numerous in the Rhemish and in 1611.

1388 WYCLIF 2 Kings ii. 12 The chare of Israel, and the chariotis thereof [1382 of it; Cov. and his horsmen; Genev., 1611, and R. V., and the horsemen thereof]. — Prov. iii. 16 Lengthe of daies is in the rigthalf thereof, and richessis and glorie ben in the lifthalf thereof [1382 his, * Witt.* 1611 it]. ii. 16 And slowe alse the children, that were in Bethlem, and in alle the coostis thereof [1382 in alle the eendis of it; TINDALE in all the costes there of; Genev., Rhem. thereof; 1611 thereof; 1881 R. V. in all the borders thereof]. 1394 SHAKS. Rich. III, i. iii. 14 A little for joy you may suppose In me, That I enioy, being the Queene thereof. 1611 BIBLE Joshua xv. 47 Vnto the riuer of Egypt and the great sea and the border thereof. [So R. V.] 1623 COCKERAM III, Ignamus..He runneth up trees, and his desire is to sit there on the tops thereof. 1632 SANDERSON Serm. 129 Easy, speaking of Christ and his kingdome, and the righteousnesse thereof. 1825 J. NEAL Brz. Jonathan III. 401 He tottered away to a rock at no smaller distance, clung to it, as to the horns thereof. 1910 Act 10 Edw. VII, c. 38 § 3 The schedules ..shall be deemed to be part of this Act in the same manner as if they had been contained in the body thereof.

2. From or out of that, as source or origin.

*c*1230 Hali Meid. 5 Al þat mochele lure þat ter of arise[ð. 1399 Rolls of Parlt. III. 451/2 So mykel harme and meschief felle therof. *c*1400 MAUNDEV. (Roxb.) Pref. 2 Peroff þai hafe grete solace and comforthe. *c*1440 Pallad. on Husb. v. 5 What cam therof? 1542 UDALL Erasm. Apoph. 324 It is thought that one Caluisa poete brought it firste vp on Pompeius, & thereof the same to have been taken vp in a prouerbe. 1590 SHAKS. Com. Err. v. i. 68 And thereof came it, that the man was mad. 1667 MILTON P. L. xii. 476 Much more good thereof shall spring. 1888 RICKARBY

Moral Philos. i. x. 181 Better is the activity..than the pleasure which comes thereof.

†3. Answering to various obsolete uses of Of: in quots. = thereat, therefor, therefrom, thereanent, etc.

a 1200 Vices & Virt. 29 And ðanne þerof gode swiðe ȝierne. 13.. Guy Warw. (A.) 4656 Now, sir, take þerof pite. c 1386 CHAUCER Pars. T. ¶ 240 For soothly he..sholde..yeuen his body and al his herte to the seruice of Iheſu crist and ther-of doon hym homage. 1390 GOWER Conf. I. 112 Gret offence He tok therof. c 1400 MAUNDEV. (Roxb.) xxix. 131 Pai meruailed þam gretely peroff. c 1400 Brut ccxxv. 293 þe lordes of eny toun .. shulde ansuere to þe King peroff. c 1440 Alphabet of Tales 113 He þankid almighti God peroff. c 1450 Godstow Reg. 424 Duyng therof seruyce as hit is I-conteyned in the Charter. c 1500 Melusine xxiv. 163 By my feyth, lady, .. doo your will therof. 1594 CAREW Huarte's Exam. Wits (1616) 99 If Lazarus had carried to him a pitcher of fresh water, hee should haue taken great refreshment thereof. 1669 MARVELL Corr. Wks. (GROSART) II. 276 If there be any particular that may more nearly relate to your affaires, you will be pleas'd to consider thereof.

Hence † There-o-ffe, there-offe adv. [with final -e, after THEREINNE, etc.], in same senses.

c 1400 MAUNDEV. (1839) ii. 13 He þat breth a braunche.. peroffe. Ibid. xiv. 156 So cold þat noman may drynke peroffe. a 1461 How Gd. Wif taught her Daughter 53 in Hazl. E. P. P. I. 283 Mesurely take ther offe [v.r. (Babees Bk. 36) per-of], that the falle no blame.

Thereology (þeriɒˈlŏdʒi). rare—[1]. [erron. f. Gr. θέρ-ειν to heat, in Nicander 'to foment or apply a fomentation to (a wound)', hence θέρων is glossed by a scholiast by ἰώμενος healing, curing: see -OLOGY.] The healing art. (See quot.)

1841 R. PARK Pantology XII. iii. (1847) 418 In the branch of Thereology, we include the study of diseases, and the practice of Medicine. The name is derived from the Greek, θέρων, I cure, or take care of.

So thereolo·gist, one skilled in thereology.

1882 in OGILVIE (Annandale).

Thereon (ðĕərˈɒn, ðĕərˈpn), adv. formal or arch. Forms: see THERE and ON; also 3 þron, 4 þran. [OE. þǣron, f. þǣr, THERE 17 + ON prep.]

1. Of position, lit. or fig.: On or upon that or it.

971 Blickl. Hom. 71 His þegnas..leddon him to þone eosel, & gedydon þæt he þær on gesittan mihte. c 1200 Bestiary 83 Þannе god he to a ston, and he billeð þer on. a 1300 Cursor M. 2472 (Cott.) Quar-for þar on [T. þeron] godd tok his wrac. c 1400 Lanfranc's Cirurg. 281 If þe place be weik & noische and þerof come grete. a 1533 LD. BERNERS Huon lxxxiii. 259 He toke his cuppe and made theron .iii. crosses. 1606 SHAKS. Ant. & Cl. v. ii. 133 If thereon you relye. I'll take my leaue. 1786 JEFFERSON Wks. (1859) I. 370 To confer with him thereon. 1809–10 COLERIDGE Friend I. iv. (1865) 125 All our notion of right and wrong is built thereon. 1896 Law Times C. 358/2 After payment of all charges thereon.

†b. as relative adv. On which: = WHEREON.

c 1350 Assumptn. Virg. (B.M. MS.) 60 Foure of þe apostles schal bere þe beere Ther on schal ligge me modre deere.

2. Of motion or direction: On or upon that or it; onto that.

a 1300 Cursor M. 10776 A duu..þare lighted dun, and þar on lend. c 1315 SHOREHAM iii. 158 Penche þou most wel byssyly, And þy wyȝt þran by-stowe. c 1400 MAUNDEV. (Roxb.) ii. 7 þe lewis..sete a corne on his hened and thrust it þeron so fast þat þe blude ran doune. c 1475 Rauf Coilȝear 374 Thairun my lyfe dar I layd [= lay it]. 1593 SHAKS. Lucr. 1239 Who, if it winke, shall thereon fall and die. 1798 CRABBE (Poems) Gloaming, By reason of the Sand strew'd thereon. 1887 MORRIS Odyss. XI. 591 When up reached the elder his hands thereon to lay.

3. As soon as that happened, was done, or was said; immediately after that; = THEREUPON 2 b.

a 1300 Cursor M. 5871 (Cott.) And taron [v.r. þar on, þer on] set De men at sikl & ȝeld in to yeild þair task. 1618 WITHER Motto, Nec Curo Wks. (1633) 545, I care not greatly what succeed thereon. 1783 in Cruise Digest (1818) V. 319 Any non-claim which had ensued thereon. 1870 MORRIS Earthly Par. II. iii. 245 Slowly thereon he gat unto his feet.

†4. From some obsolete uses of ON: a. In that, therein. b. Into that, thereinto. c. About that, thereof. d. At that, thereat. Obs.

a. c 897 K. ÆLFRED Gregory's Past. C. li. 399 Hio is an lytel [burg], & ðeah ic mæg ðæron þlay þinne task. 1618 WITHER Motto, Nec Curo Wks. (1633) 545, I care not greatly what succeed thereon. 1783 in Cruise Digest (1818) V. 319 Any non-claim which had ensued thereon. 1870 MORRIS Earthly Par. II. iii. 245 Slowly thereon he gat unto his feet.

b. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Deut. xxxii. 52 þu scealt geseon þæt land and þu ne cymst þær on. c 1275 LAY. 7274 Par on Brutus bicom. c. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Gen. xxxix. 23 He ne cuðe nan þing þar on. d. c 1400 Brut lxviii. 64 He wondrede þeron gretly, what it mȝt bitoken.

Hence † There,o·ne (perone, also 3 þronne) Obs. [after þæriinne, etc.; in later use sometimes only a variant spelling of thereon] = THEREON.

c 1200 ORMIN 937 þa twelffe namess ec þatt wæренn don þæronne. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 89 Ure helende rod perone. Ibid. 217 Ich wille ew segge þat ich þronne understonde. c 1400 Rowland & O. 416 Ther-one was sett a Sercle of golde. c 1440 Anturs of Arth. 171 Pere one hertly take hede. a 1455 Cursor M. 1938 (Trin.) Noe, let reise an autere swiþe, Peronne [C. þar-on] made he sacrifise.

Also There·onto adv., onto or upon that. rare.

1898 Blackw. Mag. Mar. 406 Thereonto throw nine hairs from the head.

Thereout (ðĕərˈaʊt), adv. Forms: 1 þǣr ût(e, ME. þar, þer out(e: also 4–5 (9 Sc.) throut(e. [OE. þǣrût(e: see THERE 17 and OUT, OUTE.]

1. Outside of that place, etc.; without. Now rare.

c 893 K. ÆLFRED Oros. II. viii. § 4 Nahton hie naþer ne þǣrinne mete ne þǣrute þǣrûte. c 897 [see THEREINNE]. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Mark iii. 31 His modor and his gebroðra ..þar ute stoðon. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 33 þe mon þe leie xii. monedi in ane prisune nalde he ȝefen al þet he efre mahte biþenche þi þet he ȝeldeð xii. þeȝ þer ut of. c 1205 LAY. 1179 Brutus ferde in to þere temple..& lette al his folc bileuen þer vte. a 1300 Cursor M. 1333 (Cott.) He..stod per oute [v.r. par oute, par vte]. And sagh þe thing. Ibid. 15934 He..Fain wald ben per vte. c 1450 HENRY Wallace iv. 488 The ȝett he wor..þ he held na man tharout. 1881 J. T. BENT Genoa vi. 127 A..story current in Roman Catholic circles, but not much accredited thereout.

2. Out of doors; in the open. Now Sc.

a 1300 Cursor M. 9928 Iacob..to be feild þar oute he lai. c 1325 Body & Soul 114 Mat's Poems 249 For alle owre toures heye, ligge we shule throute In forstes ant in snowes. c 1400 MAUNDEV. (Roxb.) xxvii. 125 þe oomonis..er all hird men and lyez þeroute in logez. c 1440 Pallad. on Husb. i. 896, x crabbes yf thou kest With wotte in an erthen potte ywrie, Ten dayis throut [L. subdito], vntil the vapur die. 1483 Cath. Angl. 382/1 Tharovte, subditus .i. sub nudo Aere. 1572 Satir. Poems Reform. xxxiii. 900 Lang time thay lay thairout. 1808–18 JAMIESON s. v., To lie thairout, to lie in the open air during night.

b. Abroad; in existence; = OUT 26 c. Sc.

a 1300 Cursor M. 1077 Quils þou may se mi rainbou þar oute, Of suilk a flod haue man na doute. c 1560 A. SCOTT Poems (S.T.S.) xxiv. 42 Thine wyseis women hairoun Wi wird may be wyllit To do þe deid. 1725 RAMSAY Gentle Sheph. III. ii, Greater liars never ran thereout.

3. Of motion: Out of that; out from that place, etc.; forth from thence. Now Sc.

a 1300 Cursor M. 4542 þe boteler to þe prisun leþ, And suilk þarout he þought to sleand. 13.. Ibid. 2967 (Fairf.) Come now þer-oute, þe-halde þou þe lift a-boute. c 1489 CAXTON Sonnes of Aymon xvi. 371 He went to the couffres, and toke there-out all the treysour. 1533 GAU Richt Vay (S.T.S.) 1 Illisis hie god quilk hes helpit me thair owt. c 1750 J. NELSON Jrnl. (1826) 58 They had better never have known the way of salvation than, after knowing it, be turned thereout.

4. From or out of that (it, them), as source or origin; thence. arch.

c 1375 S. Leg. Saints I. (Petrus) 392 þe fals fend in his likness Vith þe pupill wald spek þarowte [out of the figure]. 1535 COVERDALE Ps. lxxiii[i]x 10 And there out sucke they no small auauntage. 1650 EARL MONM. tr. Senault's Man hec. Guilty 56 They tens up the bowels of the earth to learn secrets thereout. 1788 JEFFERSON Wks. (1859) II. 353 On condition that he may retain thereout one hundred and eighty thousand guilders. 1885 KINGSLEY Herew. ix, With the divine instinct of freedom, and all the self-help and energy which springs thereout. 1871 B. TAYLOR Faust (1875) I. viii. 120 As oft as he drank thereout.

Thereover (ðĕərˈōvəɹ), adv. arch. [OE. þǣroफer, ME. per, þar ouer: see THERE 17 and OVER prep.]

1. Over or above that, in position (or in transit; also in charge, rank, number or amount).

c 897 K. ÆLFRED Gregory's Past. C. xlv. 336 Ne be self nanne wæstm ðǣrofer ne þireð. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. xxvii. 34 Hie ȝe-dedon hys teaf and wurpon hlot þǣr ofer. c 1220 Bestiary 64 Ðer ouer he flesȝeð. a 1300 Cursor M. 4157 Per ouer standes a mikel tre. c 1400 MAUNDEV. (Roxb.) xviii. 85 He berez it to þe kyng and makes þar ower many blissings. 1552 COVERDALE Chron. xxiv. [xxiii.] 17 But ye children of Rehabia were many therouer. 1558 PHAER Æneid vi. Q, Therouer dare no bird attempt to flie, for deadly dout. 1870 MORRIS Earthly Par. III. iv. 235 In a dark blue kirtle he clad, And a grey cloak thereover. 1905 Contemp. Rev. Feb. 208 To drive Man out of Paradise, and to keep watch thereover.

2. fig. In reference to that (which is under consideration or observation, or is the object of occupation, discourse, or attention: see OVER prep. 4).

1535 COVERDALE Eccles. xxxiv. 12, I. came off in parell of death therouer, yet I was delyuered from it. — John vi. 41 Then murmured the Iewes ther ouer, that he sayde: I am yᵉ bred which is come downe from heauen. 1870 MORRIS Earthly Par. II. iii. 355 He..smiled to see his deep-set eyes and grave Gleam out with joy thereover.

Thereright (ðĕərˈɹəiˈt), adv. Obs. exc. dial. [OE. þǣr rihte (two words): see THERE 17 and RIGHT adv. 7 b. Cf. HERERIGHT.] Straightway, forthwith; there on the spot.

971 Blickl. Hom. 221 þa eode he þǣr rihte biȝ on sume stowe. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Gram. xxxviii. (Z.) 233 Statim, þǣr rihte. c 1205 LAY. 25676 Nu fulle feowertene nihť þe feond heo habbeð ihalded þer rihť [c 1275 forþ riht]. 1628 HOBBES Thucyd. (1822) 92 Because their virtue was thought extraordinary [they] were therefore buried thereright. a 1656 USSHER Ann. vi. (1658) 392 And they with their naked swords threatened to kill them there-right, unlesse they returned to the fight. 1675 HOBBES Odyss. 172 On me..Bestow'd a ram, which on the sand there-right I made a sacrifice to mighty Jove. 1896 Cheltenham Exam. 12 Feb. 8 (E.D.D.) Er picked un up thurrite un went. 1898 T. HARDY Wessex Poems 204 [Tell me come to the archer, when crooping there-right.. His lonesome young Bartree appears.

So † Therert·ghts adv., OE. þǣr rihtes [with advb. genitive], in same sense.

a 1100 Ags. Hymns (Surtees) 92 Pacemque dones protinus (gǣst) & sibbe þu selle þǣr rihtes. Ibid. 113 Ascendant ..protinus Ad thronum..[gǣst] Astiȝan, þǣr rihtes to þrymsetle. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 33 Þerihtes he ne bið.

Theresian, variant of TERESIAN.

† Therete·ken, perte·ken, adv. Obs. [OE. þǣr tô ǣcan, i.e. þǣr, THERE 17 and tô ǣcan, TEKE, TEKEN.] In addition to that; besides that.

c 1000 ÆLFRIC Hom. II. 84 Hu he þurun gyltum miltsað, and ðǣr to eacan þæt heofenlice rice behæt. a 1120 O. E. Chron. an. 1123 þǣr to eacan. a 1225 Ancr. 17, 19 þe nome of Hester ne seið nout one, 'abscondita', ..auh deð þer teken, 'eleuata in populis'. a 1300 Havelok 2878 She is fayr, and she is fre,..Pertekene she is wel with me.

Therethrough (ðĕərˈθrūˈ), adv. arch. Forms: see THERE and THROUGH. [Early ME. per þurh; see THERE 17, THROUGH prep.]

1. Of place: Through that, it, or them.

c 1275 Lamb. Hom. 83 Þet gles ȝe sunne schineð þer þurh. a 1325 MS. Rawl. B. 520 If. 32 b, [They] sullen wite þe tounne..ȝif ani vncouu passez þere þorui sal be arested for te amoruz. 13.. Cursor M. 12872 (Gött.) þe fader steuen þar thorui it brast, Right als it were a donir blast. 1495 Trevisa's Barth. De P. R. v. v. (W. de W.) gtw/1 The glasy humour [of the eye] is..bryghte as glasse, soo yt we mayese ther thorugh. 1594 BLUNDEVIL Exerc. III. ii. xxvii. (1636) 423 To make therethrough a navigable passage. 1672 MARVELL Reh. Transph. I. 55 Its Waters would not mix with this Lake ..but ran theere thorow without ever touching it. 1870 MORRIS Earthly Par. II. iii. 232 He hurried on until he reached again The outer door, and, sighing, passed therethrough. 1873 M. COLLINS Mirandus i. 73 The musical moan of the water as the ship cuts its way therethrough.

2. By means, or by reason, of that; thereby.

c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 189 þat he hauеð þer þurh forloren heuene wele. c 1200 ORMIN 2325 þatt þho..sholldе wurrþenn Wiþ childe swa þatt þho þurrþurrth þe sholldе nohht ben wemmedd. c 1300 Beket 75 And therthurf me taȝte hire the wei: so that heo thider com. c 1412 HOCCLEVE De Reg. Prince. 2667 His lorde þe kyng withe venym wolde he felle, So þat thee-þurgh he stemen shulde nede. 1535 COVERDALE Eccles. Preli., Therfore they that .. reade it, shulde not onely them selues be wyse there thorow, but serue other also with teachinge and wytinge. 1678 R. BARCLAY Apol. Quakers v. xxii. 162 Every Man..may come therethrough to believe. 1818 SCOTT Hrt. Midl. xliii, Ye maun be minded not to act altogether on your ain judgment, for therethrough comes sair mistakes. 1894 F. T. ELLIS Reynard Fox 257 Winning renown and fame therethrough.

Therettill (ðĕərˈtĭl), adv. north. dial. Sc. [ME. þar till: see THERE 17 and TILL prep.]

a 1300 Cursor M. 887 'Þe worm', sco said, 'me draf þar till'. Ibid. 13658 All þi wit it sal be dun, þar til i am redi. c 1300 Havelok 1443 Castles ten, And þe lond þat þor til longes. c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. (1810) 210 Heyre was he kon, no perfitte had resoun; Pe Emperice sonne Henry he had right perfitte. c 1400 MAUNDEV. (Roxb.) vii. 26 By cause of þe perilous wayse perfitt. c 1425 WYNTOUN Cron. III. ix. 1080 A thousand and thre hundyr yhere And ten thare till. c 1470 HENRYSON Wallace 326 Gret strenth he has, bathe wyt and grace thartill. 1562 BP. PILKINGTON Burn. Paules Ch. § 7 It is a commen true sayinge: he that wil do no yl, must do nothinge that longes there till. a 1577 GASCOIGNE Dan Bartholomew Wks. (Hearbes, Weeds, &c. (1587) 96 And signe it with my simple hand and set my seale theretill. 1819 TENNANT Papistry Storm'd ii. (1827) 63 Wi' angry bill, and wing theretill. 1832 HENDERSON Scot. Prov. 158 A shower of rain in July..Is worth a plough of owsen, and a' belongs theretill.

Thereto (ðĕərˈtū), adv. Now formal or arch. [OE. þǣr tô, þǣrtô: see THERE 17 and TO prep.] To that (or those things), to it (or them).

1. To that place, thing, affair, etc. in various senses of To prep.

c 1000 ÆLFRIC Hom. II. 378 Þæt he us gebringe to his eran geþeorscipe, seðe þurh his to-cyme us ðærto gebalode. c 1000 Salmist. Times xcv. 227 Mathathias..ofsloh..þæs cyninges þegn þe hine ðǣr to ymbæðde. c 1000 Sermo Lat. 6 Hwoa se nimeð þing on hond and bihat hit..to donne, heo bint hire þerto. a 1250 Owl & Night. 103 His nest..þar to þu stele in o day & leydest þar on þi fule ey. 1377 LANG. P. Pl. B. xviii. 178 Moyses and meny mo mercy shulleн syngе: And I shal daunce þer to. c 1400 Apol. Loll. 34 Ne to put more þer to, ne to draw þer fro. c 1440 Pallad. on Husb. i. 40 Smell also therto in cas it stynke. 1445 tr. Claudian in Anglia XXVIII. 275 Where he þat is worthy is callid therto. a 1533 LD. BERNERS Huon lxxxi. 247 Nere therto there was a lytell wode. 1538 STARKEY England i. ii. 53 Such as haue byn long vsyd therto. 1611 BIBLE Isa. xliv. 15 He maketh it a graven image, and falleth downe therto. 1794 G. ADAMS Nat. & Exp. Philos. IV. xxxviii. 59 The edge of the disk will be perpendicular thereto. 1875 F. HALL in Lifpincott's Mag. XVI. 740/2 All circumstances of the provocation thereto dispassionately considered.

1892 Law Times Rep. LXV. 582/1 The posts..are fixed thereto by iron dogs and dowels.

2. With words denoting pertinence, suitability, etc., expressed or implied: (Belonging, pertinent, suitable, needful) to that matter or thing; (according) therewith; for that matter, purpose, etc.

c 1000 ÆLFRIC Hom. II. 494 On oðre healfe stod ðæs monan crut..and ða oxan ðærto. c 1000 — Saints' Lives xxix. 129 Ures hælendes ȝerip mænig-feald is..and feawa wyrhtan þær-to. c 1305 St. Andrew 33 in E. E. P. (1862) 99 Hou miste hit beo, þat his wille were þerto? c 1425 Eng. Comp. Jrnl. 6 His heir was mycle there-to. 1454 E. E. Wills (1882) 133 My bed of grene sylye, wyth the testour & Canape ther-to. c 1489 Digby Myst. i. 24 If our cunnyng be ther-too. 1539 TONSTALL Serm. Palm Sunid. (1823) 86 Hayynge tyme therto. 1556 Aberdeen Reg. (1848) II. 294 All materialis neidfull therto. 1626 GOUGE Serm. Dignity Chivalry § 4 Preparation for Warre, Exercises thereto. 1748 G. WHITE Serm. (MS.), Nothing more is needful thereto. 1872 BROWNING Pr. Hohenst.-Schw. 643 Now for the means thereto.

3. Added to that, in addition to that; besides, also, moreover. Now arch. and poet.

a 900 tr. Bæda's Hist. III. xiv [xvii.] (1890) 202 Nowiht ȝæines..buton his cyricean and þær to feower æceras. c 1000 ÆLFRIC De Vet. Test. (Gr.) 14 Ic eseit hæbbe..wel feowertiȝ larspella on Engliscum ȝerœrde and sumne eacan þær to. a 1122 O. E. Chron. an. 1102, Se eorl Rotbert.. hæfde þone eorldom ler on lande on Scrobbesbyrig..ȝ

micel rice þær to. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 67 His apostles.. and monie oðre þere to. c 1386 CHAUCER Prol. 153 A Prioresse..Hir mouth ful smal, and ther to softe and red. Ibid. 353 — Squire's T. 11. a 1450 Knt. de la Tour 103 To falle from riche-se into lowe estate, and thereto pouerte. 1587 GOLDING De Mornay xi. (1592) 160 Man reasoneth and discourseth, because he is Man: and were he thereto vnchangeable, he were a God. 1633 P. FLETCHER Purple Isl. xi. xlvi. Thereto of substance strange, so thinne and slight. 1830 TENNYSON Talking Oak 196, I would have paid her kiss for kiss, With usury thereto. 1887 MORRIS Odyss. XI. 287 As Cromius and Nestor.. And hereto the glorious Peleus.

Theretofore (ðēərtuförˈ), adv. Now formal. [ME. per tofore: see THERE 17 and TOFORE adv.] Before that time; previously to that.

c 1350 Will. Palerne 2611 þei..wist þat þai in wast wroust þer to-fore. 1430–40 LYDG. Bochas VIII. 1. (MS. Bodl. 263) 368/2 Emperors reknid for ther toforn was non. 1791 in Picton L'pool Munic. Rec. (1886) II. 205 The By-laws theretofore made. 1851 GLADSTONE Glean. (1879) VI. 4 A judgment that alienated dissenting endowments from purposes to which they had theretofore been applied. 1894 State Trials (N.S.) VI. 410 According to the canonical practice theretofore observed in England.

Thereto·ward, adv. rare. [ME. þertoward, f. THERE 17 + TOWARD prep.] Toward that (place, thing, matter, etc.).

a 1225 Leg. Kath. 1484 þat alle þat ter bi gað..buhe þer toward. a 1225 Ancr. R. 52 Eue..turnde hire lust þer toward, & nom & et þerof, & þer lowerd. 1908 Daily News 29 Feb. 4 The matter of Signor Nasi's conduct, with the popular attitude thereto ward.

†Theretoyen, adv. Obs. Forms: 1 þærtoganes, þer togenes, 3 þer to ȝenes, þertoȝines, þertoȝenes. [Orig. two words: OE. þǣr, THERE 17, togenes, TO-GAINS; if the compound had survived till 15th c. it would have become theretogainst.]

1. Against or in opposition to that.

c 1000 ÆLFRIC Hom. I. 236 Swilce hi wilice sprecon I Ac we cwaðaþ þærtoganes, þæt hi ne ȝelimfiliþ. a 1225 Ancr. R. 80 Nu we schullen sumhwat speken..ȝeiн vuel speche þæt ȝe þertoȝeines tunen ower earen. 1340 Ayenb. 11 Huo þet deþ þerteyens be his wytinde zenseþ dyadliche.

2. In return for that; in exchange therefor.

1666-9 in Thorpe Charters (1865) 436 We habbaþ heom ȝeunnen..and hi us þar toȝenes ȝifeþ. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 203 Ech man þe for mine name..folȝeð me þe shal fon þer to ȝenes hundredfeld mede.

Thereunder (ðēərʌndər), adv. Now formal. [OE. þǣrunder: see THERE 17 and UNDER prep.]

1. Under that or it; below or beneath that.

c 897 K. ÆLFRED Gregory's Past. C. xviii. 130 Ealle ða þe ofer oðre beoð, beoð heafdu ðara þe ðærunder beoð. c 1220 Bestiary 314 He draȝeð ðe neddre of ðe ston..for it wile ðerunder gon. 13.. Cursor M. 28731 Pe berer..behouis it [the burden] cast him fra, Quen he mai noght þar vnder ga. c 1440 Sir Gawther 313 There under he made his sete. 1579 W. WILKINSON Confut. Family of Love, Heret. Affirm. b 8, Not that they should alwayes remaine as subject thereunder. 1630 SANDERSON Serm. (1681) II. 312 There is no way but to submit, and to humble our selves thereunder. 1862 SMILES Engineers III. 358 A contract with owners of land..for the working of the coal thereunder.

2. Under that title, heading, etc.; under the provisions, or by the authority, of that.

1637 MINSHEU Ductor Title-p., The Nature, Propertie, Condition..of things there-vnder contained. 1640 BP. HALL Episc. I. v. 21 The cause of those, who there-under have reformed France. 1706 in Parish Accts. St. Julian's, Shrewsbury II. 43 (MS.) The Assessors thereunder named or the major part of them. 1885 H. KEED in Law Rep. 15 Q. B. Div. 160 The intention is that s. 225..and the rules to be made thereunder shall constitute a complete and separate code. 1908 Times 6 May 17/3 Royalties paid thereunder were to be paid to the publishers.

3. Under or less than (number, age, etc.).

1535 COVERDALE 1 Chron. xxvii. 23 Them that were twentye yeare olde and there vnder.

†Thereunti·l, adv. Obs. [f. THERE 17 + UNTIL prep.] = THEREUNTO.

13.. Cursor M. 1066 (Göttl.) Vr lauerd loked noght þar vntill Coll. þar till).

Thereunto (ðēərʌntūˈ, -ʌnˈtu), adv. arch. [f. THERE 17 + UNTO prep.]

1. Unto or to that place; unto that thing, matter, subject, etc.

13.. Cursor M. 3717 (Göttl.) Hir moder consail was þar vnto [rime do; v.r. þar to]. 1474 Rolls of Parlt. VI. 113/1 The said sommes..shuld be restored..to every persone.. that had payed thereunto. 1508 GRAFTON Chron. II. 305 To make the offense the greater, he added much thereunto. a 1651 FULLER Worthies, Surrey (1662) III. 87, I am affraied that our Infidel Age will not give credit thereunto. 1713 WARDER True Amazon (ed. 2) 105 Many cannot attain thereunto. 1875 MYERS Poems (ed. 4) 89 When God had brought me thereunto.

†2. In addition to that; = THERETO 3. Obs.

1557 DRANT Horace, Epist. To Rdr. ev, A sillye translator rythmical and thereto an hardy wryter. 1658 WANLEY Wonders Lit. World v. ii. 8 pm. 479/1 Of an exceeding courage and strength, of a sharp wit, and thereunto very fortunate.

†There·up, adv. Obs. Forms: see THERE and UP; also 3 þruppe. [Late OE. þǣr uppan (þǣr there, uppan upon, on) would give ME. þǣr uppen, þeruppe, and in 14th c. þerup; but these might also be new formations from uppe, UP.]

1. Up on that, upon that (place or thing); up in or into that place; up there, up above. In quots. c 1230, above (on the page or in the document).

a. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Saints' Lives xxx. 200 Him wæs his mynen forlæten þæt he þær uppan sitian mihte. c 1230 Halt Meid. 39 Ich habbe þialden mine beheaste þruppe. Ibid., Forsac þi flasher bus as hit is þeruppe iopenet. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 1609 De louerd ðor uppe a-bauen Lened ðor on. c 1300 St. Brandan 123 Bord and cloth i-sprad, And bred and fisch ther uppe. c 1325 SHOREHAM I. 41 Howe mey þat be? wo þar þer oppe steiȝe?

β. 1572 BUCHANAN Detect. Q. Mary Uiij, I haue wakit laiter thairvp [Fr. ils haut] then I wald haue done, if it had nat bene [etc.]. 1829 A. CLARKE in Life xiii. (1840) 478 Collections..from all who should go thereup.

2. = THEREUPON 2, 3.

a. a 1225 Ancr. R. 42 Hwo se wule mei a-stunten þeruppe anon rittes efter þe uorme ureisun. c 1290 Beket 447 in S. Eng. Leg. I. 119 Heo wollez þannemis-ion al day and been þuro-oppe wel bolde. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 808 (Robert) boreweie þer uppe [v.r. c 1400 per vpon] of him an hondred þousend mare. a 1325 MS. Rawl. B. 520 If. 32 þat a non rist..be i-mind so ofen siuite þer oppe fram toune to toune.

β. 1375 Wyntoun 148/1 BARBOUR Bruce X. 43 Sic mellie thairup can he mak. 1430 W. PASTON in P. Lett. I. 30 And there up to graunte your worthy lettres.

3. Over and above that, in addition to that.

1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 716 Zif þou wole sut þer vppe more esse (v.r. suk) & wite of me. Ibid. 1085 þanne ȝif it be lioue ..Loue & frendsshe to aski us..þei þou ne askedest þer vppe þralhede euere mo.

Thereupon (ðēərʌpˈɒn, ðēərʌpˈpɒn), adv. Forms: see THERE and UPON. [In ME. two (or three) words.]

1. Upon that or that (of position or motion, lit. or fig.). arch. or formal.

c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 53 þes riche men..liggeð ber uppon alle þe tudde deli in þere eorðe. a 1225 St. Marher. 21 Cume þe sunfule mon ant legge his muð ber up on. a 1300 Cursor M. 18565 þar apon þai did þair sele. c 1400 Brut 103 þat euery man mist..þereoppon loke. c 1400 Destr. Troy 8447 Vche lede, þat leuys þerapon. 1588 A. KING tr. Canisius' Catech. h ij b, Yesonday..callit ye day of our Lord, because of his resurrection yairypon. 1716 Lond. Gaz. No. 5480/1 The Goods and Merchandizes laden thereupon. a 1774 DUCKLE L. Lett. (1841) 79 Any man thinks he has ..formed his own speculative plan thereupon.

†b. Alongside of that. Obs.

c 1275 LAY. 12423 Hii bi-gonne..anne swipe deope dich, and þar vp on oueral one stoneine wal. 1652 NEEDHAM Selden's Mare Cl. To Rdr. Diuers Potent Princes..who saue..large territories lying thereupon [on the sea].

† c. = THEREABOUTS 2 b. Sc. Obs.

1649 BP. GUTHRIE Mem. (1702) 72 Standing in the Close, with 60 Gentlemen or thereupon about him.

2. Upon that (in time or order); on that being done or said; (directly) after that.

13.. Cursor M. 4945 (Göttl.) Ete & drinck i gaf þaim bai..And þar apon [Gt. par on] stale [C. þai] þus mi thing. c 1400 [see THERUP 2, quot. 1297]. 1499 BP. R. FOX in Lett. Rich. III & Hen. VII (Rolls) II. 85 [He] wilbe with you at Michelmas or soone thereupon. 1526 Pilgr. Perf. (W. de W. 1531) 1 b, Thereupon I began after my poore maner to wryte in latyn. 1651 HOBBES Leviath. II. xxvii. 159 If thereupon he accept Duell. 1891 Law Times XCII. 104/2 For the purposes of the argument and the decision following thereupon.

b. On that ground; in consequence of that. arch.

1534 STARKEY Let. to Cromwell in England (1878) p. x, So therapon wyth your beneuolent mynd you may set forward somewhat better my purpos. 1590 SHAKS. Com. Err. v. i. 388, I was tane for him, and he for me, And thereupon these errors are arose. 1640 BLACKSTONE Comm. II. xviii. 281 In some particular countries, by local custom, where other trees [than oak, ash, and elm] are generally used for building, they are thereupon considered as timber. 1838 THIRLWALL Greece I. v. 1. Pref. 5 It had been fitted up for somebody's reception, and been thereupon fresh painted.

3. On that subject or matter; with reference to that (it, them); thereanent. arch. or formal.

1414 Rolls of Parlt. IV. 22/2 That ther never be no Lawe made ther upon. 1439 in Archaeologia XXI. 35 After þ^e..Kynges letires patentz ther upon made. a 1557 Hearn. Occas. (1833) 34 The erle Bothwell..tuke thanne to Allandy, and disponit thairvpone at his pleasour. 1695 Eng. Anc. Const. Eng. 39 Upon a legal process issued out thereupon. 1781 R. GATES in Sparks Corr. Amer. Rev. III. 420, I should have been happy to know your sentiments thereupon. 1905 Sat. Rev. 23 Dec. 814/2 As the..reports ..interest..teachers I venture to address you thereupon.

†Therewhi·le, adv. Obs. Forms: see THERE and WHILE. [ME. þer hwile, analysis not certain, but app. repr. an OE. (on)þǣre hwile 'in that time', and thus, practically = the more usual the while, OE. þā hwile.

þer hwile had evidently come to be apprehended as a whole, and taken as an adv. before 1250, when it appears with advb. genitive -es, -s: see next. Cf. the while (OE.), the whiles c 1300, and the later while, whiles, advbs., both c 1300.]

1. During the time that; whilst; so long as.

b. During that time; the while; meanwhile.

c 1220 Bestiary (in O.E. Misc.) 184 Ne dar he sitinen, ne noman deren, Der wile he laȝe and luue beren. 1340 Ayenb. 213 þer huile þet ich me solaci an playe, iche ne penche none manne kueand. a 1400–50 Alexander 157 Many was þe bald berne at banned þar quile Pat euer he dured þat day. c 1430 Life St. Kath. Cont. (1884) 3 How þe Emperour..ther whyle sent pryue letires. 1575 Q. ELIZ. in Harington's Nuge Ant. (ed. Park 1804) I. 126 Their-while I prepair my selfe to welcome death. 1617 HIERON Wks. II. 66 What becommeth of the Spirit of God therewhile? Is it lost?

†Therewhi·les,-whi·lst, adv. Obs. [f. prec. with -s of advb. genitive, subsequ. made -st: see WHILST.] = prec.

a. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 1282 Ðor quiles he wunede in bersabe, So was ysaaces eld [etc.]. c 1320 R. BRUNNE Medit. 367, Y kepte hem þyrwhylys y was with hem. 1340 Ayenb. 194 Oifre to god worþ offringes þerinuyls þet þou leuest. 1377 LANGL. P. Pl. B. vi. 8 What shulde we women worche þere whiles? c 1491 CAXTON Chast. Goddes Chyld. 28 There whiles he may not be unied to god by cause he liueth in all contraryousnes. c 1557 Mis. M. BASSET tr. More's Treat. Passion M.'s Wks. 1396/2 Which is priesly employed in euery thing he doth therwhiles.

β. a 1541 WYATT Penit. Ps. xxxvii. 57 Therewhilst shall fall these wicked men therefore. 1587 FLEMING Contn. Holinshed III. 976/1 The lord Gerrard..and prisoner his wife, and therwhilest made a clearke..to write the same Verbatim. 1603 FLORIO Montaigne I. xxx. (1632) 103 Their women busie themselves therewhilst with warming of their drinke.

Therewith (ðēərwiθˈ), ðēərwīθˈ with shifting stress), adv. Now formal or arch. [OE. þǣr wiþ, ðǣrwiðˈ, f. þǣr, THERE 17 + wiðˈ, WITH prep.]

†1. Against that (or those); in opposition to that; in return for that. Obs.

c 1000 ÆLFRIC Gen. xlvii. 16 Drifaň hider eowre orf..and ic sylle eow þær wiðmete. a 1200 Moral Ode 300 Warnie [sic man] æc his frend þer wid so ic habbe mine. c 1220 Bestiary 383 Mikel ned, þat we ðar wit ne dillen. c 1300 Cursor M. 28109, I said not ans þar wit nai.

2. With that (or those) as accompaniment, adjunct, etc.; together or in company with that (and in allied senses of with).

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xxxiii. § 5 Swaþeah hi sint ðǣrwið gemengde. a 1300 Cursor M. 7262 [Samson] slogh his fans, him self þar with. 1340 HAMPOLE Pr. Conc. 1751 þai sal fele þar many a del þasyde, Pro þai sal lyf þar with. 1599 DAVIES Immort. Soul I. xxiii, All things.. We seeke to know, and how therewith to do. 1885 Law Rep. 14 Q. B. Div. 246 At right angles therewith. 1886 SPURGEON Treas. David Ps. cxxxii. 10 Every person connected therewith. 1907 ILLINGWORTH Doctr. Trin. iii. 44 The..historical accuracy of the Acts has been amply revindicated.., and therewith the value of its evidence. 1910 Act 10 Edw. VII, c. 38 Schedule B, For Old Age Pensions..and for certain Administration Expenses in connection therewith £500,000.

b. In addition to that; besides, withal.

a 1300 Cursor M. 2204 Nembrot..O babilon king, stiff in stur, And per wit [v.r. þar-wid, -wip] was he gret wertur. c 1400 MAUNDEV. (Cotton) xii. 50 Pe water of his see es full bitter and salt þarwith. 1886 KIPLING Departm. Ditties, etc. (1899) 41 Pagett, M.P., was a liar, and a fluent liar therewith.

c. With that (word, act, or occurrence); that being said or done; thereat, thereupon, forthwith.

c 1369 CHAUCER Dethe Blanche 275 Y fil asleepe, and therewith euene Mete me seme swete as a swerme. 1377 LANGL. P. Pl. B. xix. 479 Pe vyker..toke his leue, And I awakned þere with. a 1425 Cursor M. 10462 (Trin.) Vayne per wip [G. wid his word] gon to tene. 1512 R. COPLAND Helyas (1562) 17 [After the king had spoken] he went and kyssed theyr sonne Helias. 1517 TORKINGTON Pilgr. (1884) 33 And ther with they com ner hym. 1868 MORRIS Earthly Par., Man born to be King 107 Therewith he rose And led the way unto a close.

3. With that as instrument; by means of that.

c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 379 Two pilches weren..to Adam and to Eue broȝt, Ðor wiþ he þen nu boðen srid, And here same sumdel is hid. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 3828 Is sneed he dron þere Vor to asaile þem þerwiþ. c 1400 Brut (ccvii. 238) þai toke stone, and made þerwip þe tour. 1526 TINDALE Jas. iii. 9 The tonge..Therwith blesse we God the father and therwith curse we men which are made vnto the similitude off God. 1579 LANGHAM Gard. Health (1633) 37 Whether fish or birds be taken therewith. 1725 Bradley's Fam. Dict. s. v. Mint, If you bathe the affected Part therewith.

b. With that as cause or occasion; on account of or because of that; in consequence of that.

c 1440 Jacob's Well 300 Wham þe fiesch sufferyth penauns or hardnesse, it gyuyth hym mede therwith. c 1500 Melusine 360 Hys brethieren and the baronnye þere were abasshed therwith. 1526 TINDALE 1 Tim. vi. 9 When we have fode and rayment, let vs therwith be content. 1579 SPENSER Sheph. Cal. Mar. 94 Therewith affray Tityrus away. 1792 COWPER Let. to J. Johnson 5 Nov., I have finished the Sonnet..and sent it to Hayley, who is well pleased therewith.

Therewithal (ðēərwiθōˈl), adv. arch. [Orig. two words, THERE 17 and WITHAL adv.]

1. Along with or together with that; besides, or in addition to that (fact, circumstance, etc.); with all that; over and above that; = THEREWITH 2, 2 b.

c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. Wace (Rolls) 11915 Nys non on lyue..Pat semeþ wel his heyrnesse, Pat he so curteys þer vyþal. c 1386 CHAUCER Wife's Prol. 773 And ther with al he knew of mo prouerbes Than in this world ther growen gras or herbes. 1490 CAXTON Eneydos xcix. 112 A wlyte coloure, with a bryght hew ther-with alle. 1599 SHAKS. Two Gent. iv. iv. 90 Giue her that Ring, and therewithall This letter. 1620 VENNER Via Recta vi. (1637) 113 A couple of potched Egges,..eating therewithall a little Bread and Butter. 1809 MALONE Gil Blas xii. (Rtlg.) 414 He was to make a voyage, and as he hoped, his fortune therewithal. a 1850 ROSSETTI Dante & Circ. i. (1874) 250 False hopes, true poverty, and therewithal The blinded judgment of a host of friends.

2. That being said or done; = THEREWITH 2 c.

a 1300 Cursor M. 1117 Caym..wend [ha scaped þar wit alle [G. þar wid all]. 1375 BARBOUR Bruce v. 252, 'I grant', he said; and thar with all He lowtit, and his leyf has tane. c 1405 Reeve's Tale 121 Ye shuldeken wel with hir alle The breid of the hall. c 1570 Pride & Lowl. (1841) 20 What then?..Quoth he; and therewithal he swore an oath. 1663 BLAIR Autobiog. iii. (1848) 55 Therewithal, stretching out both his arms, drew in my head to his bosom. 1801 WORDSW. Trotlus & Cr. 8 And therewithal to cover his intent A cause he found into the Town to go. 1879 BUTCHER & LANG Odyss. xv. 255 He had signed silently to the woman and therewithal gat him away to the hollow ship.

†3. With that; = THEREWITH 3. Obs.

1490 CAXTON Eneydos lx. 159 He toke hys hand fulle of erthe..and fylled hys throte therwithalle. 1577 B. GOOGE

Heresbach's Husb. t. (1586) 43 Make plaister, and washe therewithall thin walles within. 1656 Earl Monm. tr. Boccalini's Advts. fr. Parnass. i. xxvi. (1674) 28 [He] throwing off his Royal Cloak..would therewithall have covered that beautiful Lady.

Therewithin (ðɛ̃ˈwɪðɪˈn), adv. arch. [Early ME. two words, þer wiðinnen, wiþinne, = Ther 17 and OE. wiðinnan, Within: cf. Therinne, Therein.] Within or into that place; within there. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 115 þe engles þe þer wiðinnen weren. c 1320 Cast. Love 771 Neuer þynne per wiþ inne com. 1375 Barbour Bruce iii. 446 þai na mete þar within had. 1447 Shillingford Lett. (Camden) 104 Eny persone dwelling there withynne. 1889 Tennyson Prol. to Gen. Hamlet 15 Therewithin a guest may make True cheer. 1892 C. E. Norton Dante's Paradise v. 27.

Therf, Therf-cake: see Tharf, Tharf-cake.

Therfor(e, -fro, -from, -(ge)yn), -hence, obs. ff. Therefore, -fro, -from, -gain, -hence.

Theriac (ˈθɪ·rɪæk), sb. (a.) arch. Forms: a. (1 tyriacæ); 6- theriaca, 7-8 theriace. β. 5 tiriake, tyriake. γ. 6- theriac, 7 -ack, -aque. See also Thériacle. [a. late L. thériaca, thériacē (med.L. thériacum), a. Gr. θηριακὴ (ἀντίδοτος), θηριακὸν (φάρμακον), fem. and neut. of θηριακός pertaining to wild beasts or poisonous reptiles, f. θηρίον, dim. of θήρ wild beast, poisonous reptile. So F. thériaque (16th c. in Godef.), whence the last γ form; It., Sp. teriaca, Sp. triaca, Pr. tiriaca; MHG. triak, G. theriak, Du. teriack: see also Theriacle.] An antidote to poison, esp. to the bite of a venomous serpent; = Treacle sb. 1.

The flesh of the viper was formerly held to be a necessary ingredient of the antidote to its bite (see quot. 1608); hence many references in the fig. uses of theriac and treacle.

a. [c 1000 Sax. Leechd. II. 175 Tyriaca is god drenc wiþ innoþ tydernesse. Ibid. 290 Nime þonne ane lytle smæl þees tyriaccs & zemengeþ.] 1562 Bullein Bulwarke Diet. Soarnes & Chir. (1573) 59 Take Theriaca of the making of Andromachus, .. which is a Triacle incomperable. 1601 Holland Pliny xxix. i. 348 See what account there is made of a composition called Theriaca [major. Theriak: corrected in list of errata]. 1608 Topsell Serpents (1658) 810 Theriace, or Triacle, not only because it cureth the venomous bitings of Serpents, but also because the Serpents themselves are usually mingled in the making thereof. 1765 Univ. Mag. XXXVII. 237/1 He..took..a large dose of theriaca with wine. [1811 Hooper Med. Dict. s. v., Theriaca Andromachi, the Venice or Mithridate treacle. . . Theriaca communis, common treacle, or molasses. . . Theriaca Londinensis, a cataplasm of cummin seed, bay-berries, germander, snake-root, cloves and honey.]

β. c 1440 Pallad. on Husb. iii. 1100 Vyn triiake [v. r. Vyntariake] is also now to make. . The bite of every best me shul escape. Ibid. 1118 Also triiake [v. r. Tyriake] Vs good to take and.. Heeld on theyr rootes ofte.

γ. 1568 Skenne The Pest (1860) 24 One half vnce of guid auld theriac. 1658 Rowland Mouffet's Theat. Ins. 1003 Oyl of Quinces is commended as the certain Theriack for this disease. 1665-6 Phil. Trans. I. 160 The great number of Vipers, brought to the Grand Duke of Toscany for the compoising of Theriac or Treacle. 1674 Jeake Arith. (1696) b j ii, As when the skilful Artist to compose His mighty Theriaque; Weighs the Critick Dose. 1751 Student II. 344 When the disease was young, it was mitigated with.. crabs eyes; .. therine and vinegar. 1824 Beverdge Hist. India I. i. 108 Triiak or Hindu Antidote, then in high repute as an antidote. 1890 Athenæum 19 Apr. 496/3 Such tisane or theriac as the science of the time could furnish.

B. adj. = Theriacal.

c 1440 Vyn triiake [= med.L. vinum tiriacum; see β above] 1897 Dunglison Med. Lex. 80 Theriaca, 'Theriac' and 'Theriacal' have been used adjectively for 'medicinal'.

Theriacal (θɪrɪˈəiəkəl), a. [f. Theriac + -al. Cf. F. thériacal (15th c. in Godef. Compl.).] Pertaining to or of the nature of theriac; antidotal.

1603 Holland Plutarch's Mor. 703 Who confound and mixe together minerals, herbs, theriacall trochists, made of the parts of venemous serpents, for the composition of their treacles. Ibid. Explan. Words, Theriacal Trochisks, Troaches made of vipers flesh. 1607 Topsell Four-f. Beasts (1658) 215 The heart of a Hair hath in it a theriacal virtue also. 1756-7 tr. Kepler's Trans. (1760) II. 131 To carry a spunge moistened with spirits of wine and a theriacal vinegar, and often to smell to it. 1857 [see prec. B].

Hence † Theriaca·lity, theriacal quality. rare—1.

1657 Tomlinson Renou's Disp. 331 Mesueus uses it in the Electuary. .because there is some theriacality in it.

† Theri·acle, obs. Forms: 5 tiriacle, 6 tyriakle, 7 theriacle, -cal. [a. OF. tiriacle, ter(i)acle (15th c. in Godef. Compl.), beside OF. triacle (12th c.); popular alterations of tiriaque, thériaque, Theriac: see also Treacle.] = Theriac, Treacle sb. 1.

c 1400 Maundev. (Roxb.) xxi. 94 Triiacle may not helpe ne nan oyher medecyne. 1561 Hollybush Hom. Apoth. 29 Geue him..a penyweyght of fyne Tyriakle. 1647 Trapp Comm. Acts xxviii. 5 A wholesome theriacle..or treacle, as we call it. 1681 tr. Willis' Rem. Med. Wks. Vocab, Theriacal, or treacle, a medicine..invented against poysons. 1730-6 Bailey (folio), Theri'acal, Theri'ace, Theri'acle, Treacle.

[Therial, in recent Dicts., error for Theriac.

Founded upon a misprint in Holland's Pliny, corrected in the Errata and in subseq. editions, but correction missed by Richardson: see quot. 1601 in Theriac a.]

Therici·an (θɛrɪkiˈən), a. [f. L. Thēricliānus adj., a. Gr. θηρικλεια-ός made by Thericles, a famous Corinthian potter: see -an.] Of Thericles; of the form or kind made by Thericles, as a cup.

1692 R. L'Estrange Josephus, Antiq. ix. 1. (1733) 278 Vessels that Nebuchadnezzar carry'd away from the Temple at Jerusalem to be sent back and restor'd; that is to say.. fifty Golden Vessels all thericlean Cups, and four hundred silver ones. 1703 Rowe Ulyss. Prol. 13 They sent her Billets doux, and presents many; Ancient Tea and Thericlean China. [1897 Birch Anc. Pottery (1858) II. 107 The Thericleios was a kind of cup invented by Thericles, a Corinthian potter, the contemporary of Aristophanes.]

‖ Theridion (θɪriˈdiən), -ium (-iəm). Zool. [mod.L. a. Gr. θηρίδιον little animal, dim. of θήρ wild beast.] A genus of spiders, many of which spin webs of irregularly intersecting threads.

1861 Hulme tr. Moquin-Tandon II. v. ii. 261 Spiders... The most important are—1, the Mygales; .. 2, the Clubiones; .. 3, the Theridions, especially the Malmignatte of Corsica and Italy, and the Mactans of South America.

Therin, -inne, etc.: see Therein.

Therio- (θɪ·riə), before a vowel theri- (θɪ·ri), representing Gr. θηριο-, combining form of θηρίον, dim. of θήρ wild beast; forming the first element in some scientific and other words. Theri-anthropic a. [Gr. ἄνθρωπος man], combining the form of a beast with that of a man; of or pertaining to deities represented in the combined forms of man and beast, as dog- or eagle-headed divinities. Theria·nthropism, representation or worship of therianthropic deities (Funk's Stand. Dict. 1895). The·riodont [Gr. ὀδούς, ὀδοντ- tooth], a fossil reptile with teeth of a mammalian type, spec. one of the order Theriodontia; also attrib. or as adj. Therio·latry, the worship of beasts, or of theriomorphic deities. † Theriol·gic, † -ical adjs. rare, of or pertaining to the scientific study of beasts; zoological. The·riomancy [-mancy], divination from the movements of animals. Theriomaˈnia, nonce-wd., one who has a mania for hunting wild beasts. The·riopod a. and sb. = Theropod (Cent. Dict. 1891). Theriotomy [Gr. τομή cutting], the dissection or anatomy of beasts; zootomy. Theriotro·phical a. [Gr. τροφικ-ός nursing], concerning the nursing or rearing (of man) by beasts. Theriozoˈic a. [Zoic], of or belonging to the period in human history anterior to the domestication of animals.

1886 C. P. Tiele in Encycl. Brit. XX. 367/2 Religions, in which animistic ideas still play a prominent part, but which have grown up to a ·therianthropic polytheism. 1876 Owen in Q. Jrnl. Geol. Soc. XXXII. 352 (title) Evidences of ·Theriodonts in Permian Deposits elsewhere [etc.]. Ibid. 356 It is to the Theriodont, not the Labyrinthodont order that such humerus must be referred. 1877 Le Conte Elem. Geol. (1879) 410 Remarkable reptiles, .which from some mammalian characters, especially in the teeth, he [Owen] calls Theriodonts (beast tooth). 1905 Athenæum 25 Feb. 246/3 On..the Anatomy of a Theriodont Reptile. 1887 Edin. Rev. July 239 He rightly declines to trace back all ·theriolatry to totemism. [1820 Alsted Encycl. 623 Physiognomia ·theriological est bestiarum.] 1697 Evelyn Numism. viii. 296 Compares this Theriologic Physiognomy and resemblance of Brutes. 1663 R. Sanders Physiogn. b ij, I have discoverd the parts of Physiognomie, except the ·Theriological part. 1652 Gaule Magastrom. xix. 165 *Theriomancy, [divining] by Beasts. 1845 Ford Handbk. Spain ii. xi. 751/2 Portraits of ·theriomaniac Austrian royalty. 1897 Dunglison Med. Lex., *·Theriotomy, zootomy. 1845 Ford Handbk. Spain i. vii. 535/1 These ·theriotrophical legends are of all countries; thus Habis, king of Spain, was reared by a doe. 1898 Sir H. Howorth in Nat. Sc. Apr. 269 To separate the ·Theriozoic beds into two series.

Theriodio (θɪrɪgˈdik), a. rare—0. [f. Gr. θηριωδία brutality, savagery + -ic.] Of ulcers, etc., Malignant.

1899 in Syd. Soc. Lex. 1909 in Cent. Dict., Suppl.

Theriomorphic (θɪ·rɪəˌmɔ̃·fɪk), a. [f. Therio- + Gr. μορφή form + -ic: cf. Morphic.] Having the form of a beast; also transf. of or pertaining to a deity worshipped in the form of a beast.

1882 Sat. Rev. 21 Jan. 71 The process by which Theriomorphic became Anthropomorphic Gods is .. sufficiently illustrated by early religions. 1884 E. H. Plumptre tr. Expositor July 4 The 'abominations' of the Egyptian theriomorphic worship. 1890 L. R. Farnell in Oxf. Phil. Soc. Tr. 7 Feb. 9 The perfectly human God, the transition from a .. vaguer and often theriomorphic conception of him. 1898 Q. Rev. July 103 An elaborate cult of bestial gods, or at least a theriomorphic ritual.

So Theriomorphosis (-mɔ̃·rɪfə·sis, -mɔrɪfə·sis), transformation into the shape of a beast; Theriomo·rphous a., a. = Theriomorphic; b. Zool. of or pertaining to the Theriomorpha, in Owen's classification, a suborder of Batrachia; also in Palæont. resembling a quadruped or mammal, as 'the theriomorphous reptiles of the Permian period'.

1862 Baring-Gould Werewolves x. 172 The phase of transition from theriomorphosis to anthropomorphosis.

† Therk, a. Obs. Forms: 3 ·þerk, 4-5 perke, 5 therk, thirke, thyrke, 7 thurck, thurk. [app. a variant of ME. derk, Dark; but the change of initial d to θ, þ, is abnormal and unexplained: cf. however OS. thimm, beside OE. dim(m), OFris. dimme Dim.] = Dark a.

c 1250 Þherk [see Therkness below]. 13.. Sir Beues (A.) 2790 Til it was þe perke nigt. c 1430 Lydg. Min. Poems (Percy Soc.) 204 Your bylclothyd thirke and on clene. c 1440 Jacob's Well 219 Hyve cytees schal be in þe lond of thirkes spekyng wyth a chaungyng tunge. Þis is for to saye, fyve citees schal be in the therk body of man. c 1450 Cov. Myst. xvii. (1841) 170 To marre 30w in a thyrke mystye. a 1682 Sir T. Browne Tracts viii. (1686) 146 Words..of common use in Norfolk..as..Thurck. 1691 Ray S. & E. C. Words, Tharky adj., 'very tharky', very dark. Suff..Thurk, Norf. Ibid. Pref. 5 Thurk is plainly from the Saxon deore, dark.

Hence † Therk v. Obs. (3 þirk) = Dark v.; † Ther·kness Obs., darkness.

c 1275 Lay. 11973 þirkede vnder sonne Þustrede þe wolkne. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 3102 Þhikke Þherknesse cam on ðat lond. c 1440 [see above]. c 1485 Digby Myst. iii. 773 Owt of þe dep of therknesse do lend vs aye!

Therl, obs. form of Thirl sb.[1] and v.[1]

Therm [1] (θɜm). arch. Also 6-8 therme. [prob. a. F. thermes (13th c. in Godef. Compl.) in pl., ad. L. thermæ, a. Gr. θέρμαι hot baths, pl. of θέρμη heat.] A public bath or bathing establishment.

1549 Thomas Hist. Italie (1549) 28 b, A noumbre of hotbouses in euerie Therme. 1606 Sylvester Du Bartas ii. iv. 1. Trophies 1112 O cleer Thermes, If so your Waves be cold; what is it warms, Nay burns my heart? 1613 Daniel Hist. Eng. 2 25 Britaine..could not but partake of the magnificence of their goodly structures, Thermes, Aqueducts, High ways. 1629 Maxwell tr. Herodian (1635) 175 The Theaters, Therms, and all the splendor and glory thereof. 1798 Leoni Alberti's Archit. II. 74/1 A public Bath or Therme. 1890 Bridgett Blunders & Forg. ii. 32 The same author describes the therms at Paris.

Therm [2] (θɜm). Physics. [mod. f. Gr. θερμός hot, warm, θέρμη heat.] A proposed unit of heat: the quantity of heat required to raise the temperature of one gramme of water at its maximum density one degree centigrade. (Not generally accepted.)

1888 Rep. Brit. Assoc. 56 It was resolved, on the motion of Mr. W. H. Preece, to adopt the name 'Therm' for the Gramme-Water-Degree-Centigrade Unit of Heat. 1888 Nature 13 Dec. 159 Electrical Notes..The term 'therm', in place of calorie, for the unit of heat in the C. G. S. system, has not met with general approbation. 1889 Rep. Brit. Assoc. 514 The Therm as the unit of heat..did not commend itself to the French members [of the Electrical Congress in Paris, 1889]. They preferred for the present to retain the word Calorie. 1899 Ebsre Meas for Ath. Students Pref. 1 Following the nomenclature used in the Smithsonian Physical Tables the term therm has been [here] used [etc.].

Therm [3], erron. f. Term sb. (sense 15): see quot. 1727-41 Chambers Cycl., Terms, Termes, Termini...Some write the word thermes, from hermes, a name the Greeks gave the god Mercury, whose statue.. was placed in several of the cross-ways. 1811 W. Cooke Thames Sign. 39, lf. 3 The first object is the bust of Flora, on a therm. 1846 Worcester, Therm..., a pedestal increasing upwards for the reception of a bust.

Therm, obs. and Sc. form of Tharm, intestine.

‖ Thermæ (θɜ·mɛ), sb. pl. Cl. Antiq. [L. = 'baths': see Therm [1].] One of the public bathing establishments of the ancient Romans and Greeks; also, hot springs (? obs.).

1600 Holland Livy, Summ. Mar. iv. xxv. 1382 Those places where they built these baines and hote houses, they call Thermæ. 1695 Woodward Nat. Hist. Earth iii. L. 1 Thermæ, Natural Baths, or Hot-Springs. 1845 Gell Pompeiana I. iv. 47 The baths or thermæ. 1908 Westm. Gaz. 31 Dec. 4/1 Unlike the thermæ of the élégants of Pompeii..the R.A.C. baths will have ample window space.

‖ Thermæsthesia (θɜmɛsθˈziə). Path. [mod. L., f. Gr. θέρμη heat + αἴσθησις perception.] Sensitiveness to heat or cold; the sense of heat. Hence Thermæsthesio·meter: see quot. 1888.

1888 Buck's Handbk. Med. Sc. I. 85/2 Thermæsthesiometer, for measuring the sensibility to differences of temperature, Weber used two long glass phials filled with oil. Ibid. 86/1 In 1866, Eulenburg described his thermæsthesiometer. 1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VIII. 265 Thermæsthesia.—There are two disorders of subjective sensation of heat and cold.

Thermal (θɜ·rməl), a. [= F. thermal (Buffon), f. Gr. θέρμη heat + -al.]

1. Of, pertaining to, or of the nature of thermæ or hot springs; of a spring, etc., (naturally) hot or warm; also, having hot springs.

1756 C. Lucas Ess. Waters III. 69 These thermal waters are absolutely colorless. 1802 Mavor Span. Mines Ibid., Waters Pref. 17 The thermal waters of Bath or Buxton. Ibid. iv. 352 Enriched with several thermal springs. 1859 R. F. Burton Centr. Afr. in Jrnl. Geog. Soc. XXIX. 81 Detached boulders, blackened, probably, by the thermal fumes. 1893 M. Collins From Midn. to Midn. III. ix. 169 The thermal city's [Bath's] superb crescents. 1898 Allbutt's Syst. Med. V. 1000 Simple thermal baths at 90° F. or under commonly tend to reduce the pulse-rate.

2. Of or pertaining to heat; determined, measured, or operated by heat.

The thermal capacity of a body (cf. Capacity 1 c), Heat sb. 2 d) is measured by the quantity of heat required to raise its temperature one degree; the thermal efficiency of an engine, by the ratio of the work done by it to the heat supplied to it. Thermal storage: a system of storing water at high pressure and temperature in vessels above the boilers during hours of low load in electric generating stations. Thermal unit: a unit of heat; the British thermal unit (abbrev. B. Th. U.) is the amount of heat required to raise the temperature of a pound of water at its maximum density through one degree Fahrenheit.

1837 Brewster Magnet. 267 The thermal and the magnetic equators are connected..with the thermal and magnetic poles. 1870 Tyndall Lect. Electr. § 10 To produce both magnetic and thermal phenomena. 1876 Catal. Sci.

App. S. Kens. Mus. § 1056 The heat is calculated as follows, either in calories or British thermal units. 1884 KNIGHT Dict. Mech., Suppl. 891/1 Thermal Alarm for Hot Boxes. 1910 J. G. HORNER in Encycl. Brit. IV. 148/2 In some cases where the work required is very intermittent, thermal storage is employed. 1910 H. L. CALLENDAR ibid. V. 61/1 The specific heat of a substance is sometimes defined as the thermal capacity of unit mass. Ibid. XIII. 137/1 English Engineers usually state results in terms of the British Thermal Unit (B. Th. U.). Ibid. 138/2 The improvement in thermal efficiency obtained by expansive working.

3. fig. Heated with passion; erotic, passionate, impassioned.

1866 Lond. Rev. 18 Aug. 178 Instead of the establishment in England of a thermal school of poetry; instead of the revivification of a grand (and wicked) old Paganism.

Hence Therma·lity, thermal condition; The·rmally adv., in a thermal manner; by means of or with regard to heat.

1884 tr. L. Brochet's Aix-les-bains 1. 74 We must pay special attention to the thermality, which is the sole bond of union [etc.]. 1891 TYNDALL Fragm. Sc. (1879) I. xvii. 449 The experiments proved rock-salt to be coloured thermally.

Thermammeter [θərmæ·mĭtər]. [f. THERM(O- + AMMETER.] A device whereby the amperestrength of an electric current is measured by the quantity of heat that it generates.

1891 in Cent. Dict.

‖ Thermanæsthesia [θɔ̄rmænɛ̄sθī·ziă]. Path. [mod.L. f. as prec. + ANÆSTHESIA.] Absence or loss of heat-perception; insensibility to heat.

1885 Buck's Handbk. Med. Sc. I. 86/2 By extremes of heat or cold a thermanæsthesia is produced. 1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VII. 355 Cases..in which there have been complete analgesia and thermanæsthesia.

Therma·ntic, a. (sb.) Med. Now rare or Obs. [ad. Gr. θερμαντικός, f. θερμαίνειν to heat. Cf. F. thermantique (15th c. in Hatz.-Darm.).] That promotes warmth; heating, calefacient.

1748 tr. Renatus' Distemp. Horses 175 The Animal must be warmed with thermantic Drenches. 1768 [W. DONALDSON] Life Sir B. Sapshull II. xiii. 81 He then pulled out of his pocket a large phial of thermantic ingredients, which he had prepared...the night before. 1860 MAYNE Expos. Lex., Thermanticus, promoting warmth;..thermantic.

B. as sb. A heating medicine, a calefacient.

1706 PHILLIPS (ed. Kersey), Thermanticks, Medicines that cause Heat.

Thermantidote [θəɹmæ·ntidōʊt]. [f. Gr. θέρμη heat + ANTIDOTE.] An antidote to heat.

1. A rotating fan fixed in a window-opening and incased in wet tatties, used in India to drive in a current of cooled air. (Introduced in 1831.)

'[It] is in fact a winnowing machine fitted to a window aperture' (Yule).

1840 W. G. OSBORNE Crt. & Camp Runjeet Sing 732 The thermometer at 112 all day in our tents, notwithstanding tatties, thermantidotes, and every possible invention.. to lessen the stifling heat. 1898 P. MANSON Trop. Diseases xii. 214 Rooms should be kept dark during the day, and cooled by means of punkahs, thermantidotes, and tatties.

2. Med. A cooling medicine. rare—°.

1860 MAYNE Expos. Lex., Thermantidotum, term for a medicine..: a thermantidote. 1890 BILLINGS Med. Dict., Thermantidote, a remedy against excessive heat or fever.

Thermatology [θɔ̄rmătŏ·lŏdʒi]. rare—°. [f. Gr. θέρμα, θέρματ- θέρμη heat: see -LOGY.] Properly = THERMOLOGY; but given in Dicts. as = thermotherapy (see THERMO-).

1891 in Cent. Dict. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Thermatology, science of treatment of disease by heat, or specifically by thermal baths.

Therme, obs. form of THARM, THERM[1].

+ Thermefy, v. Obs. rare—°. [irreg. f. Gr. θερμ-ός hot + -FY.]

1656 BLOUNT Glossogr., Thermefy, to chafe or make one hot with outrageous eating and drinking hot things.

Thermelæometer : see THERMO-.

Thermic [θɔ̄·rmik], a. [f. Gr. θέρμη heat + -IC: cf. F. thermique.] Of or pertaining to heat; of the nature of heat; = THERMAL 2.

Thermic balance= BOLOMETER. Thermic fever, fever resulting from external heat, esp. heat-stroke, insolation.

1846 GROVE Corr. Phys. Forces 59 The definite thermic effects produced by chemical changes, have been lately much studied. 1849 MRS. SOMERVILLE Connex. Phys. Sc. xxv. 266 Those rays of the spectrum, whether luminous or thermic. 1890 BILLINGS Med. Dict., Thermic fever, heat-stroke. 1896 Allbutt's Syst. Med. I. 499 In thermic fever or insolation the object is to reduce the temperature. 1897 Ibid. II. 313 Simple continued, thermic, and enteric fevers. 1899 Ibid. VIII. 706 Tactile, thermic, and pain sensibility.

So The·rmical a. in same sense; hence The·rmically adv., in a thermic manner; thermally.

1852 CARPENTER Man. Phys. (ed. 2) 44 This Power..manifests itself in those phenomena which we call electrical, magnetical, chemical, thermical, optical, or mechanical. 1859 R. F. BURTON Centr. Afr. in Jrnl. Geog. Soc. XXIX. 361 There are no unhealthy exhalations..no thermical extremes nor surprises. 1877 ROSENTHAL Muscles & Nerves 109 A portion of the nerve may be heated, that is, it may be thermically irritated.

Thermid: see THEREMID adv.

Thermidor [θɔ̄·rmidɔ̄ʳ, ‖ tɛ̃rmidɔ̃r]. [Fr. (1793), f. Gr. θέρμη heat + δῶρον gift.] The eleventh month of the French revolutionary calendar, extending (in 1794) from July 19 to August 17.

1829 SCOTT Napoleon Introd., The 9th Thermidor, or 27th July. 1842 BRANDE Dict. Sc., etc. s.v. Thermidor, It was the month signalized by the overthrow of Robespierre and the Reign of Terror; thence commonly called the Revolution of Thermidor, and those who boasted of having participated in it called themselves Thermidorians.

Thermidorian [θɔ̄rmidōʊ·riăn], sb. and a. Also -ean. [a. F. thermidorien, f. THERMIDOR + -ien, -IAN.]

A. sb. Fr. Hist. One of those who took part in the overthrow of Robespierre on the 9th Thermidor (27 July) 1794.

1827 SCOTT Napoleon Introd., The Thermidoriens, as the actors in Robespierre's downfall termed themselves. Ibid. III. 58 The Thermidoreans, who had killed Robespierre and now reigned in his stead. 1842 [see THERMIDOR].

B. adj. a. Of, pertaining, or appropriate to the month Thermidor. b. Of or pertaining to the Thermidorians: see A.

1891 T. HARDY Tess xxii, June passed, and the Thermidorean weather which came in its wake seemed [etc.]. 1895 Edin. Rev. Oct. 391 The Thermidorian leader [Barras].

Thermite [θɔ̄·rməit]. Also thermit. [ad. Ger. thermit, f. Gr. θέρμη heat, θερμός hot + -ĭt = -ITE[1].] A mixture of finely divided aluminium and oxide of iron or other metal, which produces on combustion a very high temperature (c 3000° C.)

Invented by Mr. Claude Vautem of London; named subsequently by Dr. H. Goldschmidt of Essen.

1900 Engineering Mag. XIX. 756/2 A mixture called 'thermit' consisting essentially of iron oxide and aluminium. 1901 Westm. Gaz. 2 May 4/2 The application of 'thermite', as the mixture has been named, to welding steel tubes and rails was illustrated. 1901 Nature 8 Aug. 362/1 To this mixture the name of 'thermit' has been given, and several varieties of it, adapted to various kinds of work, are used. 1906 Dundee Advertiser 26 June 10/1 The heat developed in the combustion of thermit,..which makes it possible to mend iron castings weighing tons.

Thermo- [θɔ̄·rmo], before a vowel usually therm- (but often in full form), repr. Gr. θερμο-, combining form of θερμό-ς hot, θέρμη heat; entering into many scientific and technical terms, as THERMOCHEMISTRY, THERMODYNAMIC, THERMOGRAPH, THERMOMETER, THERMOSCOPE, etc., q. v., and their derivatives; also in the following words of less frequent use or more recent formation. (In some of these thermo- is used as an abbreviation of THERMO-ELECTRIC.)

The·rmelæometer [Gr. ἔλαιον oil: see -METER], an apparatus for measuring the heat evolved by mixing concentrated sulphuric acid with various fixed oils. ‖ The·rmo-æsthe·sia = THERMÆSTHESIA. ‖ The·rmo-anæsthe·sia = THERMANÆSTHESIA. Thermoa·queous a.: see quot. Thermoba·rograph, an instrument which simultaneously records temperature and atmospheric pressure. Thermobaro·meter, a name given to two distinct modifications of the barometer: see quots. Thermo-ba·ttery, short for thermoelectric battery. Thermo-ca·lcite [CALCITE], a name for non-crystalline limestones. The·rmocall, (a) a fire-alarm operated by a thermoelectric battery; (b) an electric fire-alarm in which the circuit is closed automatically when the temperature reaches a certain point. Thermocau·tery, any form of actual cautery; spec. a hollow platinum cautery in which heat is maintained by means of benzine or gasolene vapour. The·rmo-cell, a thermo-electric cell or couple. Thermocha·ntic a., of or pertaining to disintegration or dissolution by heat. The·rmocline [Gr. κλίνειν to incline], a temperature gradient; esp. an abrupt temperature gradient occurring in a body of water. The·rmo-couple, short for thermo-electric couple (see COUPLE sb. 12). The·rmo-current, the electric current produced in a thermo-electric battery; also (nonce-use) a stream of warm air or water. Thermo-diffu·sion, diffusion of heat. The·rmodynamo·meter, a sensitive thermometer in which the thermometric substance is the saturated vapour of some volatile liquid supporting a column of mercury. Thermoela·stic a., pertaining to elasticity in connexion with heat. The·rmo-electro·meter, an instrument for measuring the heating power of an electric current, or for determining the strength of a current by the heat produced. The·rmo-electromo·tive a., of, pertaining to, or of the nature of electromotive force produced by heat; = THERMOELECTRIC I. Thermo-ele·ctroscope, an instrument for indicating temperature electrically, as a thermopile. The·rmo-e·lement, a thermo-electric couple as an element of a battery. Thermo-exci·tory a.: see quot. 1899. Thermo-expa·nsive a., expanding under the influence of heat. Thermo-fo·cal a., of or pertaining to the focal length of a lens as influenced by heat. Thermo-galvano·meter, a thermo-electric instrument for measuring small electric currents. The·rmo-gauge, a form of pyrometer (Cent. Dict., Suppl.). Thermo-geogra·phical a., pertaining to the geographical distribution and variation of temperature; so Thermogeo·graphy, the study of this. Thermo-hydro·logy [Gr. ὕδωρ water], the scientific study of thermal waters. Thermo-hydro·meter, a combined instrument showing the temperature and density of a liquid. Thermo-hy·grograph [Gr. ὑγρός moist], a combined instrument recording the temperature and the humidity of the air. Thermohy·groscope [-SCOPE], a combined instrument indicating the temperature and humidity of the air. Thermo-inhi·bitory a., pertaining to the prevention of undue heat in the body; applied to a part or function of the nervous system (Billings 1890). Thermo-i·sopleth [Gr. ἰσοπλήθ-ης equal in quantity, number, etc.]: see quot. Thermojunction, the junction of two metals in a thermocouple. Thermokinema·tics, the theory of the motion of heat. The·rmo-lamp: see quot. Thermo-lumine·scence, luminescence resulting from exposure to high temperature; hence Thermo-lumine·scent a., characterized by or pertaining to thermo-luminescence. Thermo-magne·tic a., pertaining to or of the nature of thermo-magnetism. Thermo-ma·gnetism, magnetism caused or modified by the action of heat. Thermo-mano·meter [MANOMETER], an instrument for measuring at the same time the temperature and elasticity of vapour. Thermo-metamorphic a., of or pertaining to thermo-metamorphism. Thermo-metamo·rphism, Geol., metamorphism produced by the action of heat. Thermo-mo·tive a., of, pertaining to, or caused by heat applied to produce motion, as in a thermo-motor. Thermomo·tor, an engine driven by the expansive power of heated air or gas. Thermo-neutra·lity, neutrality in relation to temperature. The·rmopair = thermo-couple. Thermo-palpa·tion: see quot. 1899. Thermopegology (-pĕgŏ·lŏdʒi) [Gr. πηγή spring], the scientific study of thermal springs. Thermo·phagy [-PHAGY]: see quot. 1899. The·rmophore [-PHORE], a portable heating apparatus: see quots. Thermophyllite (-fĭ·lŏit), Min. [Gr. φύλλον leaf; A. E. Nordenskiöld, 1855, in Swedish], a light brown variety of serpentine which exfoliates when heated, found in aggregate masses of small scaly crystals. Thermopla·stic a., capable of being moulded or bent by heat. ‖ Thermoplegia (-plē·dʒiă) Path. [Gr. πληγή stroke], heat-stroke. Thermo-radio·meter: see quot. Thermore·gulator, an apparatus for regulating temperature; a thermostat. Thermosy·nthesis, chemical combination due to the action of heat. Thermosysta·ltic a., of or pertaining to systaltic motion due to heat. Thermote·lephone, a thermo-electric telephone. Thermo-te·nsile a., of or pertaining to cohesive power as affected by temperature. Thermo-te·nsion, tension or strain applied to material at a specified temperature to increase or test its tensile power. Thermothe·rapy (also in Gr.-L. form -therapei·a) [Gr. θεραπεία medical treatment], treatment of disease by heat. Thermoto·xin, a poison developed in the body by heat. The·rmo-unsta·ble a. = THERMOLABILE. Thermo-volta·ic a., of or pertaining to the thermal effects of voltaic electricity, or to heat and voltaic electricity.

1890 Jrnl. Soc. Chem. Industry IX. 113 The heat evolved by mixing the oil with sulphuric acid is determined by means of the..apparatus named by the author [F. Jean in J. Pharm. Chim. (1889) XX. 337]' 'Thermelæometer'. 1909 Cent. Dict. Suppl., Thermoæsthesia. 1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VII. 41 There was thermo-anæsthesia below the second rib. 1881 RAYMOND Mining Gloss., Thermo-aqueous, produced by, or related to, the action of heated waters. 1891 Cent. Dict., Thermobarograph. 1864 WEBSTER, Thermobarometer, a barometric instrument graduated for giving altitudes by the boiling point of water. 1868 WATTS Dict. Chem. V. 761 Thermobarometer... Applied by Belloni to a syphon-barometer having its two wide legs united by a narrow tube, so that it could be used either in its ordinary position as a barometer, or in the reversed position as a thermometer. 1849 NOAD Electricity (ed. 3) 427 In order to effect the decomposition of water, Mr. Watkins employs a massive "thermo-battery, with pairs of bismuth and antimony. 1888 Cassell's Encycl. Dict., Thermo-calcite. 1895 Funk's Standard Dict., Thermo-call. 1902 SLOANE Stand. Electr. Dict., Thermo Call, (a) An electric alarm or call bell operated by thermo-electric currents...(b) See Thermoelectric Call. 1879 BEVANS Proct. Surg. II. 6 The galvanocaustic or thermo-cautery is superior to any. 1907 Daily News 13 Nov. 11/1 The adoption of this method of telephony was made possible by the invention of a thermo-cell for use in the receiving circuit. 1895 Funk's Stand. Dict., Thermochaotic. 1898 Nat. Science May 207 As regards the production of the Thermocline, Prof. Birge believes that, in Lake Mendota at least, it is due to the concurrence of gentle winds and hot weather. 1901 Nature 6 Nov. 16/1 Throughout the circulating water above the thermocline, oxygen was abundant, but carbonic acid was absent...Just below the thermocline both gases were present. 1890 Lond., Edin. & Dubl. Philos. Mag. Feb. 141 A practical method for the calibration of *thermocouples by aid of boiling-points. 1901 Nature 23 May 92/2 The temperatures were measured with the thermocouple. 1849 NOAD Electricity (ed. 3) 428 Dr. Andrews..succeeded in obtaining chemical decompositions, by this peculiar *thermo-current. a 1859 G. WILSON Relig. Chem. (1862) 18 A confined chamber could gain nothing from the winds, or thermo-currents, or the far-off sea. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Thermo-diffusion*, diffusion (of gas) by inequalities of temperature. 1909 Cent. Dict. Suppl., *thermodynamometer. 1903 Science Abstracts VI. 130 To represent the *thermo-elastic properties of gases, liquids, and solids as the statical properties of monocyclic systems. 1842 FRANCIS Dict. Arts, etc., Clarke's ..Thermo-Electrometer, an instrument which professes to ascertain the deflagrating, or heating power of an electric current. 1849 NOAD Electricity (ed. 3) 247 The instrument employed was a Harris's thermo-electrometer. 1890 Lond., Edin. & Dubl. Philos. Mag. Feb. 146 *Thermoelectromotive forces are..expressed in terms of a fixed standard, the torsional rigidity of the platinum wire. 1895 Funk's Stand. Dict., *Thermo-electroscope. 1888 Cassell's Encycl. Dict., *Thermo-element. 1891 Cent. Dict., *Thermo-galvanometer. 1893 Syd. Soc. Lex., Thermo-excitory, having the function of exciting the production of heat. 1894 J. SCOFFERN in Orr's Circ. Sc., Chem. 118 A *thermo-expansive material. 1903 Science 27 Feb. 333 A study of the Thermo-electrical changes in long focus lenses. 1867 Chambers' Encycl. IX. 401 Special galvanometers..in which the coil wire is short..and thick..are called *thermo-galvanometers. 1902 SLOANE Stand. Electr. Dict. App., Thermo-Galvanometer, a galvanometer whose needle is suspended in a special form of thermoelectric couple..used to measure small amounts of radiant energy. 1895 C. L. MADSEN (title) *Thermo-geographical Studies: General Exposition of the Analytical Method applied to Researches on Temperature and Climate. 1897 Nat. Geogr. Mag. Articles on the subject of *Thermo-Geography will be most thankfully received. 1881 PEALE in 12th Rep. U. S. Geol. & Geog. Survey II. (1883) 325 *Thermo-hydrology. 1884 Athenæum 16 Aug. 211/2 The *thermo-hydrology' of Pompeii' give evidences of a thoroughly scientific observer. 1894 Brit. Jrnl. Photogr. XLI. 43 MR. W. E. Hales exhibited Fletcher's *Thermo-hydrometer. 1901 Pop. Sc. Monthly Dec. 186 An interesting figure shows the 'thermo-isochrons' for Berlin, these lines indicating, in one drawing, both the diurnal and the annual march of the air temperature. 1889 L. E. & D. Philos. Mag. Sept. 213 If the heat generated were immediately communicated to the *thermo-junction. 1903 Times 10 Sept. 10/4 A number of thermocouples of the platinum metals for use up to the highest temperatures have also been studied. 1871 CLERK MAXWELL Heat Introd. 9 The theory of the equilibrium of heat might be called Thermostatics, and that of the motion of heat Thermodynamics. 1898 WEBSTER, Thermolamp, an instrument for furnishing light by means of inflammable gas. Med. Repos. 1897 J. J. THOMSON in Smithsonian Rep. (1898) 158 The phenomenon called by its discoverer, Prof. E. Wiedemann, 'thermoluminescence.' 1898 SIR W. CROOKES Addr. Brit. Assoc. 22 Fluor-spar, which by prolonged heating has lost its power of luminescing when re-heated, regains the power of thermo-luminescence when exposed to Röntgen rays. 1906 J. B. BURKE Orig. Life xiii. 241 Many substances, when warmed, possess the power of radiating energy which they had previously stored up in some other way: a phenomenon which is known as Thermoluminescence. 1899 A. S. HERSCHEL in Nature 21 May 29/2 A very moderate degree of heat suffices to expel completely from minerals..all the store of *thermo-luminescent energy which..they more or less abundantly possess. 1892 T. S. TRIALL in J. Chem. Soc. S. VI. 1262 449 Having been lately occupied in some *thermomagnetic experiments. 1860 MAYNE Expos. Lex., Thermo-magnetism*, the same as Thermo-electricity. 1864 in WEBSTER. 1883 Athenæum 9 June 736/2 The use of a *thermo-manometer, which would indicate whether the pressure is below that to be expected from the temperature of the water. 1889 HARKER in Geol. Mag. VI. 27 The interpolation of *thermo-metamorphic rocks. Ibid. 16 High temperature and low pressure (thermo-metamorphism). 1884 WATTS Dict. Chem. VIII. 985 The term *thermo-neutrality is employed..to express the fact that the quantity of heat evolved or absorbed when a salt is dissolved in water already containing equivalent quantities of other salts, is the same as the same quantity that it would be if the former salt were dissolved in pure water. 1897 JOYCE Sel. Dict., Electr. vi. (1846) 424 Delicate *thermo-pairs have been used to obtain the temperature of the human body. 1891 Cent. Dict., *Thermo-palpation. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Thermo-palpation, palpation of the surface of the body, with a view of determining local or general variations of temperature. 1888 Cassell's Encycl. Dict., *Thermo-pegology. 1860 MAYNE Expos. Lex., *Thermophagy. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Thermophagy, the habit of swallowing very hot food. 1900 Brit. Med. Jrnl. 5 May 1105 To sterilise this instrument [i.e. a catheter]..with a small pocket *thermophore. 1901 Lancet 9 Nov. 1290/2 The introduction of a ring-shaped thermophore. 1868 DANA Min. 465 *Thermophyllite. 1883 Fisheries Exhib. Catal. 63 *Thermoplastic Splints, likewise Splints for Fractures and Broken Bones. 1899 Cent. Dict. Suppl., *Thermoplegia. 1876 Contal. Sci. Adpts. & Rem. Mex. 5 258 *Thermo-radiometer, [an instrument] for measuring losses of heat by radiation from walls of furnaces, sides of steam boilers, etc. 1875 WATTS Dict. Chem. VII. 1153 An automatic *thermo-regulator for use in the preparation of nitrous oxide and other gases. 1899 CAGNEY Jaksch's Clin. Diagn. x. (ed. 4) 446 Of these [thermostats] the author uses the thermo-regulator of L. Meyer. 1895 Funk's Standard Dict., *Thermo-systaltic. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Thermosystaltic, muscular contraction due to heat. 1884 KNIGHT Dict. Mech. Suppl., *Thermo-telephone. 1891 Cent. Dict. s. v. Thermo-tensile, Elaborate *thermotensile experiments on iron and steel, especially with reference to boilers. 1847 WEBSTER, *Thermotension. 1860 E. WILSON (title) *Thermo-therapeia; the heat cure. Ibid. 3 Thermo-therapeia is the application of atmospheric air at a high temperature to the surface of the body, for the relief of pain and disease. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., *Thermotherapy. 1902 W. WINTERNITZ (title) Hydro-therapy, Thermotherapy, Heliotherapy, and Phototherapy. 1902 Brit. Med. Jrnl. 5 Apr. 846 To demonstrate two very different forms of complement—one a *thermo-unstable, and the other a thermo-stable. 1895 Funk's Stand. Dict., *Thermo-volatic.

Thermo-æsthesia to -chaotic: see THERMO-.

Thermoche·mistry. [f. THERMO- + CHEMISTRY.] That branch of chemical science which deals with the quantities of heat evolved or absorbed when substances undergo chemical change or enter into solution; e.g. the amount of heat evolved when hydrogen burns in oxygen or when sodium hydroxide is neutralized by sulphuric acid. Also sometimes used in a wider sense to include all relations of heat to substances, such as conductivity, specific heat, etc.

1844 JOULE in L. E. & D. Philos. Mag. (1845) May 382 The phenomena described in the present paper, as well as most of the facts of thermo-chemistry, agree with this theory. 1880 CLEMINSHAW Wurtz' Atom. The. 330 It is useless to bring forward in opposition to the hypothesis of atoms considerations drawn from thermo-chemistry. 1901 Westm. Gaz. 16 Dec., Up to the war of 1870 his [Berthelot's] time was mainly spent on researches in the region of physical chemistry, culminating in the foundation of a new science—that of thermo-chemistry.

So Thermoche·mic, Thermoche·mical adjs., of or pertaining to thermochemistry; Thermoche·mically adv., by means of or with reference to thermochemistry; Thermoche·mist, one who is skilled in thermochemistry.

1871 THOMSEN in Jrnl. Chem. Soc. XXIV. 878 On the Inaccuracy of Favre and Silbermann's *Thermochemical Determinations made with the Mercury Calorimeter. 1880 CLEMINSHAW Wurtz' Atom. The. 330 Thermo-chemical facts agree perfectly with the atomic hypothesis. 1901 Nature 24 Oct. 644/1 A thermochemical comparison of the action of acids upon oxide of silver before and after the action of hydrogen peroxide. 1890 Ibid. 28 Dec. 165/2 *Thermochemists..attempt to draw an impossible distinction between chemical and physical changes.

Thermochrosy [θə·ˈmɒkrəsi, ˈθɜ·mə-ˈkrɒ̄si]. Also thermochrose (erron. -crose), -chro·sis. [f. THERMO- + Gr. χρῶσις colouring. Cf. F. thermochrose (Melloni).] The 'coloration' of heat-rays; the property possessed by radiant heat of being composed of waves of different lengths and degrees of refrangibility (thus corresponding to the different colours of light-rays). So Thermochro·ic a., of or pertaining to thermochrosy; The·rmochro|o·logy, the science of thermochrosy.

1847 WHEWELL Hist. Induct. Sc. x. i. § 8 (ed. 2) II. 594 M. Melloni..has proposed for this part of thermotics the name Thermochrosy. 1864 WEBSTER, Thermochroisy. 1866 ATKINSON tr. Ganot's Physics (ed. 2) § 379 Different luminous rays being distinguished by their colours, to these different obscure calorific rays Melloni gave the name of thermocrosis [ed. 1871 thermocrosy] or heat colouration. 1869 MILLER Elem. Chem. I. 256 Thermochrosis or calorific tint..is analogous to a difference in colour. 1895 Funk's Standard Dict., Thermochroic. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Thermo-chroic, pertaining to a quality of certain substances that transmit some thermal radiations, but absorb or change others. 1909 Cent. Dict. Suppl., Thermochroic, of or pertaining to the differences in wave-length of heat-waves, and to the phenomena resulting therefrom.

Thermocollodion to -cuvette: see THERMO-.

Thermod [θɜ·ˈmɒd, -ˈθɒd]. [f. THERM(O-+ OD[2].] The odic or odylic force of heat; heat 'od'; see OD[2] b. 1891 in Cent. Dict.

Thermodin [θɜ·ˈmɒdin]. Pharm. [? Arbitrarily f. Gr. θερμόδης lukewarm + -IN.] Trade-name: see quot.

1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Thermodin, acetyl-para-ethoxyphenylmethane. (Not official.) It forms colourless crystals, almost insoluble in cold, and very slightly soluble in warm water. It is recommended..as a mild antipyretic.

The·rmodynamic [see DYNAMIC], a. [f. THERMO- + DYNAMIC.] Of or relating to thermodynamics; operating or operated by the transformation of heat into motive power.

1849 THOMSON (Ld. Kelvin) in Trans. R. Soc. Edin. XVI. 545 A perfect thermo-dynamic engine. 1851 Ibid. XX. 261 In some conceivable 'thermo-dynamic' engines. 1853 RANKINE in Phil. Trans. (1854) 125 Third Corollary (of Thermo-Dynamic Function) Ibid. 126 This function which I shall call a Thermo-dynamic Function. 1875 J. D. EVERETT C. G. S. Syst. Units ix. 54 By thermodynamic principles, the heat converted into mechanical effect in the cycle of operations is [etc]. 1882 G. H. DARWIN in Nature 16 Feb. 361/1 He shows that the sun and earth together constitute a thermodynamic engine whereby the earth's rotation is accelerated.

So Thermodyna·mical a., in same sense; The·rmodyna·mically adv., in a thermodynamical manner; The·rmodynami·cian, Thermodynamicist, Thermody·namist, one versed in thermodynamics.

1860 MURRY Phys. Geog. Sea (Low) ii. § 129 By no means the only body of warm water the *thermo-dynamical forces of the ocean keep in motion. 1901 Nature 27 June 210/2 If the equilibrium between the jelly substance and the water was of a purely thermodynamical character. 1889 THURSTON in Jrnl. Franklin Inst. Dec. 467 The quantity so wasted varies with the weight of steam worked *thermodynamically each stroke. 1892 Cambr. Univ. Corresp. 15 Mar., 1/1 He failed to make any mark as a *'thermodynamician' during his lifetime. 1889 Academy 26 Oct. 273/3 The mechanical equivalent of heat—the familiar 'J.' of *thermodynamicists. 1901 THURSTON in Smithsonian Rep. (1902) 267 Prof. De Volson Wood, the greatest of American *thermodynamists of the nineteenth century.

Thermodyna·mics, sb. pl. [f. as prec. + DYNAMICS.] The theory of the relations between heat and mechanical energy, and of the conversion of either into the other.

1854 Phil. Trans. 116 (heading) Mr. Macquorn Rankine on Thermo-dynamics. [Word not in article.] 1854 THOMSON (Ld. Kelvin) in Trans. R. Soc. Edin. XXI. 123 Fundamental Principles of General Thermo-dynamics recapitulated. 1867 MURCHISON Siluria xx. (ed. 4) 499 The principles of thermo-dynamics. 1871 CLERK MAXWELL Heat viii. 132 The principle of the conservation of energy, when applied to heat, is commonly called the First LAW of Thermodynamics.

Thermodynamometer,-elastic: see THERMO-.

The·rmo-ele·ctric, a. (sb.) [f. THERMO- + ELECTRIC.]

1. Of or pertaining to thermo-electricity; characterized or operated by an electric current produced by difference of temperature. Thermo-electric battery, current, pair, pile: see quot. 1876.

1823 CUMMING in Ann. Philos. Sept. 177 (heading) A List of Substances arranged according to their Thermoelectric Relations, with a Description of Instruments for exhibiting Rotation by Thermoelectricity. 1832 Nat. Philos. I. Electro-Magnet. xiii. § 305. 93 (Usef. Knowl. Soc.) The electrical current thus excited has been termed Thermo-electric, in order to distinguish it from the common galvanic current. 1842 FRANCIS Dict. Arts, etc., Thermo-Electrometer..Piles,..Thermometer. 1863 TYNDALL Heat i. (1870) App. 77 A thermo-electric pair or couple. c 1865 J. WYLDE in Circ. Sc. I. 29/1 We observe the thermo-electric battery. 1876 PREECE & SIVEWRIGHT Telegraphy 298 A current of electricity will continue to flow so long as a difference of temperature is maintained between the junction and the extremities. This current is named a thermo-electric current, and the two metals form what is known as a thermo-electric pair; a combination of these pairs forms the thermo-electric pile or battery. 1878 GURNEY Crystallogr. 115 Crystals sometimes acquire different electrifications when two ends of a different heated..These crystals are called thermo-electric. 1902 SLOANE Stand. Electr. Dict., Thermo-electric Telephone, a telephone transmitter including a thermo-electric battery placed in circuit with the line.

2. Of or pertaining to heat and electricity; thermo-electric alarm or call, a device in which a rise or fall of temperature to a pre-arranged point closes an electric circuit so as to cause a bell to ring.

1897 KNIGHT Dict. Mech., Thermo-electric-Alarm, an apparatus designed to indicate the rise of temperature in bearings for shaftings, or in any kind of machinery or any branch of manufacture where a fixed temperature is desirable. 1902 SLOANE Stand. Electr. Dict., Thermo-electric Call, a thermostat arranged to ring a bell or give some indication when the temperature rises or falls beyond certain points.

†B. sb. (See quot. 1842.) Obs.

1823 CUMMING in Ann. Philos. Sept. 179 The motion of the thermoelectrics on the approach of a magnet. 1842 FRANCIS Dict. Arts, etc., Thermo-Electrics, metallic bodies, the union of which show[s] the effects attributed to thermoelectricity.

So Thermo-ele·ctrical a.; hence Thermo-ele·ctrically adv., in a thermo-electric manner; by means of thermo-electricity.

1830 Edinb. Encycl. XVIII. 584/1 Professor Oersted has proposed to call the current discovered by Dr. Seebeck the thermo-electrical current. 1878 CHRYSTAL in Encycl. Brit. VIII. 94/2 A thermoelectric series, any metal in which is thermoelectrically related to any following one. 1881 Athenæum 29 Jan. 160/3 A thermo-electric pile, one of which is exposed to the heat, the other end being kept cool.

The·rmo-ele·ctri·city. [f. THERMO- + ELECTRICITY.] Electricity generated in a body by difference of temperature in its parts; esp. an electric current produced in a closed circuit composed of two dissimilar metals when one of the points of union is kept at a temperature different from that of the rest of the circuit. Also, that branch of electrical science which treats of currents produced by means of heat.

1823 [see THERMO-ELECTRIC 1]. 1827 CUMMING Man. Electro-Dynamics 189 On the electro-dynamic effects of heat, or thermo-electricity. 1829 HERSCHEL Nat. Philos. 341 The curious relations of electricity to heat, as exhibited in the phenomena of what has been called thermo-electricity. 1834 Edin. Rev. LIX. 267 The new branches of magneto-electricity and thermo-electricity. 1872 TYNDALL Fragm. Sc. (1879) II. xiv. 347 In 1826 Thomas Seebeck discovered thermo-electricity.

Thermo-electrometer to -gauge: see THERMO-.

†The·rmogen. Obs. rare—[f. THERMO- + -GEN.] A name for the fluid formerly supposed to exist as the material substance of heat; = CALORIC 1. 1847 in WEBSTER.

Thermo·genesis [θəmo|ˈdʒe·nəsis]. [f. THERMO- + GENESIS.] The generation or production of heat, esp. in the animal body.

1891 in Cent. Dict. 1896 Allbutt's Syst. Med. I. 143 The nervous system precedes over thermogenesis no less directly than over thermolysis. 1899 Nature 30 Aug. 360/1 Thermogenesis and use of energy by man in raising and lowering his own weight.

So Thermogene·tic, Thermoge·nic adjs., of or pertaining to thermogenesis; Thermogenous (-ˈɒdʒənəs) a., produced by or producing heat; Thermo·geny, thermogenesis (Cent. Dict., Suppl. 1909).

1860 MAYNE Expos. Lex., Thermogenus, Min., applied by Haüy to a quartz agate which is deposited near the sources of silicious thermal springs..: thermogenous. 1877 FOSTER Phys. II. v. (1878) 377 Indications of the existence of what may be called 'thermogenic' nerves and thermogenic nervous mechanisms. 1899 WEBSTER Suppl., Thermogenous, producing heat. 1896 Allbutt's Syst. Med. I. 551 The thermogenetic chemical processes to which the taking in of food gives rise. 1899 Ibid. VIII. 244 In these children thermogenic powers are sufficient. 1898 SALTER tr. Lafar's Techn. Mycol. I. 165 Thermogenic Bacteria.

Thermo-geographical, etc.: see THERMO-.

Thermogram (pō·umōgræm). [f. THERMO- + -GRAM: cf. next.] = next, 2.

1883 R. H. SCOTT Elem. Meteorol. 38 The thermograms, as such curves are called, are measured every hour. 1901 Nature 28 Mar. 522/2 During each winter the Vienna thermograms show some anomalous jumps of temperature, amounting to 3° to 5° C.

Thermograph (pō·umōgraf). [f. as prec. + -GRAPH: cf. F. thermographe.]

1. A figure or tracing produced by the action of heat, esp. of the heat-rays of the spectrum upon a prepared surface.

1840 HERSCHEL in Proc. Roy. Soc. 3 Mar. 209 He has discovered a process by which the colorific rays in the solar spectrum are made to affect a surface properly prepared.. so as to form what may be called a thermograph of the spectrum. 1865 Reader 28 Jan. 105/2 His drying paper presented to him a thermograph of the spectrum, and showed the heating power to extend far beyond the red. 1872 TYNDALL Fragm. Sc. (1879) I. ii. 48 The light is cut away,.. but an invisible thermograph remains. 1906 Athenæum 23 June 768/3 Such experiments..will yield valuable 'thermographs', as the resulting parti-coloured 'prints' are named.

2. A graphic record of variations of temperature; a heat register; = THERMOGRAM.

1843 Mech. Mag. XXXIX. 128 Obtained..by the aid of the pyrometer,..with the addition of the thermograph, or heat-register, which I have added to it. 1878 T. BRYANT Pract. Surg. I. 55 These points are well seen in the following thermographs.

3. A thermometric instrument which automatically records variations of temperature; a self-registering thermometer.

1881 Nature 15 Sept. 470/2 Bowkett's New Thermograph, an instrument for recording changes of temperature, which are measured by the action of heat upon a hollow circular metallic ring connected with a circular vessel. 1883-4 Med. Ann. 78 Thermograph—an ingenious instrument..for recording in permanent diagrams all variations in temperature occurring in any patient.

Thermographic (-græ·fik), a. [f. as prec. + -GRAPHIC, or f. prec. + -IC.] Of, pertaining to, or obtained by a thermograph or thermography.

1848 Art-Union Jrnl. Mar. 72 We have much satisfaction in recording the Thermographic processes. 1879 St. George's Hosp. Rep. IX. 688 In none..was there anything specially remarkable in the thermographic tracings.

Thermography (pəumɒ·grăfi). [f. as prec. + -GRAPHY: cf. F. thermographie.] Any process of writing or drawing effected or developed by the influence of heat.

1840 HUNT in Philos. Mag. Oct. 268 A new..field of..inquiry, which may..end in..the establishment of the new art of Thermography. 1842 Ibid. Dec. 466, I..proposed the name of Thermography, to distinguish it from Photography. 1848 Art-Union Jrnl. Mar. 71 From the circumstance that all the results..exhibit a very close relation between the surfaces employed and their powers of radiating heat, the term Thermography or Heat-drawing has been employed. 1875 Ure's Dict. Arts, etc. (ed. 7), Thermography, a term proposed..to express the 'Art of Copying Engravings, &c. on Metal Plates'; the effect being due..to the influence of heat-radiations. 1883 J. F. CAMPBELL Thermography i. § 3, 11. Ibid. 12 Because light does not act upon the materials used, dark cameras are not needed in thermography.

Thermo-hydrology to -kinematics: see THERMO-.

Thermolabile (pōsmōlæ·bil, -lă·bil), a. [f. THERMO- + LABILE.] Liable to destruction at moderately high temperatures, as certain toxins and serums: opposed to thermostable. Hence Thermolabi·lity, thermolabile quality.

1904 Brit. Medical Jrnl. to Sept. 557 [see THERMOSTABLE]. Ibid. 561 The hæmolysis being due to the co-operation of a thermolabile complement—also called alexin—and thermostable immune body, otherwise amboceptor. Ibid. 563 This thermolabile serum feast prepares is called by Wright and Douglas opsonine. Ibid. 561 Buchner has drawn special attention to the characters of the alexins—their thermolability [etc.]. 1907 Jrnl. Med. Research May 288 (C. D., Suppl.) The digestive ferment of these organs in solution is ..thermolabile at 56° C.; the entire extract..is thermolabile at slightly higher temperatures.

Thermology (pəumɒ·lŏdʒi). [ad. F. thermologie: see THERMO- and -LOGY.] The science of heat; that department of physics which treats of heat; thermotics.

1840 WHEWELL Philos. Induct. Sc. I. p. lxxii, The science which treats of heat has hitherto had no special designation. ..M. Le Comte terms it Thermology (i.e. the science of heat). In the History of the Sciences, I have named it Thermotics. 1843 MILL Logic II. ix. § 5 (1846) I. 246 Thus mechanics, hydrostatics, optics, acoustics, and thermology, have successively been rendered mathematical. 1858 H. SPENCER Ess. I. 215 Thus acoustics was arrested until thermology overtook and aided it.

Hence Thermolo·gical a., of or pertaining to thermology.

1871 PROCTOR Sun iv. 193 So high an authority in meteorological and thermological questions.

Thermo-luminescence, etc.: see THERMO-.

Thermolysis (pəumɒ·lisis). [f. THERMO- + Gr. λύσις loosing, solution, etc., after Ger. thermolyse (F. Mohr, 1874).]

1. Chem. The separation of a compound into its elements by the action of heat; decomposition or dissociation by heat.

1892 WATTS Dict. Chem. VII. 656 Decomposition by heat. Dissociation—Thermolysis (F. Mohr, Ann. Ch. Pharm. clxxi. 361). Ibid. 637 An essential condition of thermolysis is that the constituents of the compound shall, in combining, have given out heat. 1894 A. DANIELL Princ. Physics xiii. 319 The heat..has the effect of throwing the molecule into such agitation that the mutual affinity of the atoms cannot retain them in union. This is the process of Dissociation or Thermolysis.

2. Physiol. The dissipation or dispersion of heat from the body.

1896 Allbutt's Syst. Med. I. 143 [see THERMOGENESIS]. Ibid. 159 In Dr. Macalister's..Goulstonian Lectures on Fever it is suggested that thermogenesis, thermolysis, and thermotaxis must be regarded as three separate functions of the nervous system. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Thermolysis, the dissipation of heat.

Hence Thermoly·tic a., pertaining to or producing thermolysis; sb. a thermolytic agent or substance; The·rmolyse, -yze v., trans. to subject to thermolysis; to decompose by the action of heat.

1892 BILLINGS Nat. Med. Dict., Thermolytic, heat-discharging. 1896 Allbutt's Syst. Med. I. 130 Able to influence 'thermolytic' or thermogenetic processes. 1891 Cent. Dict., Thermolyze. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Thermolytic, ..[also] an agent promoting the discharge of heat from the body.

Thermo-magnetic to -metamorphism: see THERMO-.

Thermometer (pəumɒ·mĭtər). Also 7 -tre. [mod. f. Gr. θέρμ-η heat, θερμό-ς hot + μέτρον measure: see -METER. In F. thermomètre (1624).]

The name thermoscopium appears somewhat earlier: see THERMOSCOPE.]

An instrument for measuring temperature (see TEMPERATURE 7) by means of a substance whose expansion and contraction under different degrees of heat and cold are capable of accurate measurement.

For the history of the instrument and its names, see H. C. Bolton The Evolution of the Thermometer (Easton Pa. 1900). Menon Hist. du Thermomètre (Versailles 1870). Burckhardt Zur Geschichte des Thermometers, 1902.

The earliest form was an air-thermometer invented and used by Galileo a 1597, for indicating the temperature of the atmosphere; alcohol thermometers were used c 1650; the device of a fixed zero (orig. the freezing-point) was introduced by Hooke, 1665. The fixing of the zero at an arbitrary point below the freezing point is attributed to FAHRENHEIT of Amsterdam, who made mercurial thermometers c 1720, and his scale has been in general use in England since c 1724. The zero of REAUMUR (1730), and of the CENTIGRADE thermometer of Celsius (1742), now largely used in science, is (like that used by Hooke and Sir I. Newton) the freezing-point. The ordinary form is now a slender hermetically sealed glass tube with a fine bore, having a bulb at the lower end filled with mercury, or with alcohol or other liquid, and graduated to indicate by the relative positions of temperature being indicated by the varying heights of the column of liquid in the tube, due to its expansion and contraction.

Air-, Centigrade, Clinical, Differential, Fahrenheit, Gas-, Maximum-, Minimum-, Reaumur, Register thermometer: see the first elements. Metallic (or bimetallic) thermometer, a thermometer which indicates temperature by differential expansion and contraction of composite metal bars.

[1624 †H. VAN ETTEN' (J. Leurechon) Récréation mathématique (1626) 97 Thermobre ou instrument pour mesurer les degrez de chalour ou de'froidure qui sont en l'air.] 1633 W. OUGHTRED tr. van Etten's Math. Recr. 110 Of the Thermometer: or an instrument to measure the degrees of heat and cold in the air. 1646 Sir T. BROWNE Pseud. Ep. 227 The same is evident from the Thermometer. 1665 HOOKE Microgr. vii. 38 Sealed Thermometers, which I have, by several trayals, at last brought to a great certainty and tenderness: for graduating the stem, I fix that for the beginning of my division where the surface of the liquor in the stem remains when the ball is placed in..water, that is so cold that it just begins to freeze..(which I mark with an 0) not reckoning 32 as Mr. Boyle, Mr. Newton, etc. do. It is very hot in Aleppo,..the first day of June at Noon I found by my Thermometre, that the heat was at the thirtieth Degree. 1744 Phil. Trans. XLIII. 32 Fahrenheit,..so well known by his Mercurial Thermometers. 1782 Phil. Trans. LXXII. 1. 72 Account of an improved Thermometer. By Mr. James Six. 1799 Monthly Rev. XXX. 9 In Pennsylvania, on the 14th of March,.. Fahrenheit's thermometer stood at 65° at noonday, though it had been at 14° but a week before. 1820 Register thermometer [see REGISTER sb.[1] 12]. 1878 HUXLEY Physiogr. 71 Dry-and-wet bulb Thermometers..One of the instruments has its bulb free, while the other is covered with muslin. Ibid. 199 If a thermometer be buried in the ground..it is found to be affected by all superficial changes of temperature. 1898 P. MANSON Trop. Diseases viii. 158 The tongue now begins to moisten, the pulse-rate and the thermometer to fall.

b. fig.

1801 A. HAMILTON Wks. (1886) VII. 224 No bad thermometer of the capacity of our Chief Magistrate for government is furnished by the rule which he offers for judging of the utility of the Federal Courts. 1824 BYRON Juan XVI. xlviii, Taste..now-a-days is the thermometer By whose degrees all characters are class'd. 1893 H. SMITH in J. G. Butler Bible Work II. 825/2 The true missionary spirit in the Church is..the test and thermometer of her piety.

c. attrib. and Comb., as thermometer bulb, piece, reading, scale, tube; thermometer-gauge, a steam-gauge which indicates the pressure in a boiler by the expansion of a fluid at the temperature due to the pressure; thermometer-stove, a stove automatically regulated by means of a thermometer.

1784 WEDGWOOD in Phil. Trans. LXXIV. 367 Some of the clay thermometer pieces were set on end upon the silver piece. 1834 MUS. SOMERVILLE Connect. Phys. Sci. 125 A glass tube of extremely fine bore, such as a small thermometer-tube. 1838 Civil Eng. & Arch. Jrnl. I. 120/2 The self-regulating fire, or thermometer-stove. 1841 Ibid. IV. 13/2 The four instruments employed..to determine the pressure of steam,..the barometer-gauge, the air-gauge, the thermometer-gauge, and the spring-gauge or indicator. 1901 Daily Chron. 26 Nov. 5/1 The downward tendency in yesterday's thermometer readings.

Thermometric (pəumɒme·trik), a. [f. prec. + -IC: cf. Gr. μετρικός of or for measuring. So F. thermométrique (18th c.).] = next.

1784 Phil. Trans. LXXIV. 367 The stage of extension.. always precedes the thermometric diminution. 1826 HENRY Chem. I. 86 The absolute zero, or point of total privation of heat on the thermometric scale. 1860 TYNDALL Glac. II. xiii. 296 His own thermometric experiments show us that the body of the glacier is at a temperature of 32° Fahr.

Thermometrical (pəumɒme·trikăl), a. [f. as prec. + -AL: see -ICAL.] Of or pertaining to the thermometer or its use; made with or involving the use of the thermometer.

1664-5 BOYLE Exper. & Obs. Cold (heading), New Thermometrical Experiments and Thoughts. 1715 CHEYNE Philos. Princ. Relig. v. § 21 (ed. 2) 233 His Heat raises the Juice in the Thermometrical Tubes. 1820 SCORESBY Acc. Arctic Reg. I. 352 A series of thermometrical observations, continued through the space of a few years. 1880 HAUGHTON Phys. Geog. iii. 50 Marking so many fixed points on the earth's thermometrical scale.

b. That acts as a thermometer; indicating rise or fall of temperature.

1823 J. BADCOCK Dom. Amusem. 40 Thermometrical Ink.

Hence Thermome·trically adv., according to or by means of the thermometer or its indications.

1828 in WEBSTER. 1856 G. WILSON Let. 10 Apr., in Mem. x. (1860) 427 For a month..the wind has blown geographically from Arabby the biest, but thermometrically from Iceland the accursed. 1881 SULLIVAN in Macm. Mag. XLIV. 342 A very heated term, thermometrically speaking.

Thermometrograph (pəumɒme·trŏgraf). [f. THERMOMETER + -GRAPH.] A self-registering thermometer.

1837 MACDOUGALL tr. Graah's E. Coast Greenland 20 Mr. Vahl, having..let down his thermometrograph, found the temperature of the sea, at the depth of 120 fathoms, to be 5°.50, while that at the surface was 6°.3. 1877 KNIGHT Dict. Mech., Thermetograph [sic], a self-registering thermometer, recording the maximum and minimum of temperature in a given time.

Thermometry (pəumɒ·mĭtri). [f. THERMOMETER: see -METRY.] The department of science which deals with the construction of thermometers; the scientific use of the thermometer; the measurement of temperature.

1858 LARDNER Hand-bk. Nat. Phil., etc. 240 Chap. II. Thermometry. 1871 MAXWELL Theory of Heat Pref., The whole science of Thermometry is comprehended in Calorimetry. 1878 LOCKYER Stargazing 376 He attaches a thermopile to his telescope and establishes a celestial thermometry.

Thermo-motive, -motor: see THERMO-.

Thermo-mu·ltiplier. [f. THERMO- + MULTIPLIER 4.] Early name for a THERMOPILE: so called in reference to the multiplying effect of the numerous cells in the battery.

1835 FARADAY tr. Melloni in Philos. Mag. VII. 475 In order to experiment under these circumstances, it is clearly necessary to employ an extremely delicate thermoscope, such as well-constructed thermomultipliers. 1854 J. SCOFFERN in Orr's Circ. Sc., Chem. 276 The thermo-multiplier of Nobili consists of about fifty pairs of antimony and bismuth bars. 1899 NEWCOMB & HOLDEN Astron. 495 In the case of the brighter stars the heat radiated has been made sensible in the foci of our telescopes by means of the thermo-multiplier.

So Thermo-mu·ltiple in same sense.

1895 in Funk's Stand. Dict.

Thermonatrite (pōsmōnă·trəit). Min. [a. Ger. thermonatrit (Haidinger 1845), 'because it results from the drying out of natron' (Chester), by THERMO- + NATRON: see -ITE 1.] Hydrous carbonate of soda, found in various saline lakes, about some mines and volcanoes, and as an efflorescence in many dry regions.

1859 PAGE Handbk. Geol. Terms s. v., According to Haidinger, a saturated solution of soda at a temperature of 77° to 99° Fahr., and cooling slowly, forms crystals of thermonatrite. 1892-3 WATTS Dict. Chem. I. 795 $Na_2CO_3+aq$. formed from the deca-hydrate by efflorescence, is found native as thermonatrite, in the same localities as natron.

Thermo-neutrality, etc.: see THERMO-.

Thermonous, a. rare[−1]. [a. Gr. θερμό-νους heated in mind, f. θερμός hot + νοῦς mind.]

1888 G. MEREDITH Reading of Earth Poems 1898 II. 200 Not as Cybele's beast will thy head lash tail So præter-determinedly thermonous.

Thermophil, -phile (pō·umōfil), a. and sb. [f. THERMO- + -PHIL.] a. adj. Requiring a high temperature for development, as certain bacteria. b.

sb. A thermophil organism. So Thermophilic (-fi·lik), Thermophilous (-ɒ·filəs) adjs.

1896 Allbutt's Syst. Med. I. 513 There is a class of microbes which refuse to grow at any temperature below 50° C.; such organisms are called 'thermophile'. 1899 Nature 15 June 147/1 Facts regarding the existence of thermophilous organisms. 1900 Ibid. 22 Feb. 388/2 Thermophilic bacteria..are specially important as regards the fermentation in ensilage and the digestion of cellulose.

Thermophone (pɔ̄·rmɔfōn). [f. as prec. + Gr. φωνή voice, sound, after TELEPHONE.] An apparatus in which sonorous vibrations of a diaphragm are produced by heat-rays.

1878 TH. WIESENDANGER in Engineer XLVI. Nov. 335 The Thermophone. A new source of sound for the telephone. 1881 A. G. BELL in Nature 12 May 44/1 We have decided to adopt the term 'radiophone'..limiting the words thermophone, photophone and actinophone to apparatus for the production of sound by thermal, luminous, or actinic rays respectively. 1902 SLOANE Stand. Electr. Dict. 537 Thermophone, an apparatus for reproducing sounds telephonically by the agency of heat; a receiving-telephone actuated by heat.

Thermophore, etc.: see THERMO-.

Thermopile (pɔ̄·rmɒpōil). [f. THERMO- + PILE *sb.*3 5.] A thermo-electric battery, used in connexion with a galvanometer, for measuring minute quantities of radiant heat; also called THERMO-MULTIPLIER.

1849 NOAD Electricity (ed. 3) 424 Thermo-piles are now constructed by soldering together at their alternate edges, bars of antimony and bismuth, with squares of cardboard or thick paper intervening. 1871 B. STEWART Heat § 165 A square block, containing altogether 25 couples of bismuth and antimony is generally employed, and such an arrangement is called a thermo-pile. 1892 Times 2 Oct. 3/1 A thermopile..is an apparatus for direct conversion of heat into electricity ‖ Thermopolion, -lum (pɔ̄rmɒpō·liɒn, -iə̄m). Antiq. [a. Gr. θερμο-πώλιον (L. thermopolium, Plaut.) a tavern where hot drinks were sold.] (See quot. 1753.) Hence † Thermo·polist: see quot. 1656; Thermo·polite, the keeper of a thermopolion.

1656 BLOUNT Glossogr., Thermopolist..a Cook that sells hot meat. 1753 CHAMBERS Cycl. Supp., Thermopolium, a name for a sort of public houses among the ancients, in which hot liquors were sold. 1832 GELL Pompeiana I. i. 8 The shops of a thermopolite. Ibid. II. xii. 20 An ordinary wine shop or thermopolion.

† Thermopot, -pote. Obs. rare—°. [ad. Gr. θερμο-πότης drinker of hot liquids, f. θερμο-, THERMO- + πότης drinker.] (See quot.)

1797 BAILEY vol. II, Thermopôte, a Drinker of hot Liquors. So ‖ Thermopotis (pəɜrmɒ·pōtis), Class. Archæol. [a. Gr. θερμο-πότις cup for hot drinks].

1827 BIRCH Anc. Pottery (1858) II. 90 The thermopotis was a vase also used for warming wine.

Thermo-radiometer, -regulator: see THERMO-.

Thermos (pɔ̄·rmɒs). [a. Gr. θερμός warm, hot.] A registered trade term noting a flask, bottle, or the like capable of being kept hot by the device (invented by Sir James Dewar) of surrounding the interior vessel with a vacuum jacket to prevent the conduction of heat.

Patented 1904, No. 4421; not named. Name (Trade Mark No. 364,470) adv. in Trade Mark's Jrnl. 20 March, 1907.

1907 Eng. Mech. 18 Oct. 246 This invention [of Sir James Dewar] is utilised in the thermos flask. 1909 Ladies' Field 28 Aug. 511/2 A Thermos bottle filled with hot coffee was not forgotten. 1909 Westm. Gaz. 16 Sept. 5/2 Lieutenant Shackleton testified to the fact that the Thermos flask helped him to perform his wonderful feats in the Antarctic. 1910 Repts. Patent Cases XXVII. 396 This was the Dewar vessel..in 1904 it occurred to a Mr. Burger that this vessel could be adapted for use as a flask..the result..was the production of the well known Thermos flask.

Thermoscope (pɔ̄·rmɔskōɒp). [ad. mod.L. thermoscopium (Bianconi, 1617): see THERMO- and -SCOPE. Cf. F. thermoscope.] An instrument for indicating changes of temperature, of which there are various forms.

a. An early name for the thermometer, esp. in its earlier forms. b. Count Rumford's name for a differential thermometer for detecting minute differences of temperature. c. An electric or magnetic apparatus, as a thermopile, for detecting and measuring minute differences of temperature. d. Any substance or device used to indicate excessive heat in machinery, variations of bodily temperature, rate of radiation of heat, or the like.

a. [1617 GIUS. BIANCONI Sphæra Mundi, seu Cosmographia Demonstrativa..Thermoscopium.] 1656 tr. Hobbes's Elem. Philos. (1839) 391 This version is called a thermometer or thermoscope, because the degrees of heat and cold are measured and marked by it. 1672 BOYLE in Phil. Trans. VII. 5112 The Air by the seal'd Thermoscope appeared hot for the season. 1778 Phil. Trans. LXVIII. 484 The first inventors..called..their instruments..Baroscopes, Thermoscopes, Microscopes. 1790 DE LUC ibid. LXXXI. 32 The thermoscopes of quicksilver and water. 1842 BRANDE Dict. Sc., etc. s. v. Thermometer, The thermometer of Drebbel and Sanctorio..had no scale, and was therefore merely an indicator of changes of temperature, or a thermoscope.

b. 1804 CT. RUMFORD in Phil. Trans. XCIV. 101 An instrument I contrived for measuring, or rather for discovering, those very small changes of temperature in bodies, which are occasioned by the radiations of other neighbouring bodies, which happen to be at a higher, or at a lower temperature. This instrument..I shall take the liberty to call a thermoscope. 1842 BRANDE Dict. Sc., etc. s. v., The modification of the air thermometer, called by Leslie a differential thermometer, was claimed by Count Rumford as one of his own inventions, under the name of thermoscope. 1892 GROVE Corr. Phys. Forces (ed. 2) With the most delicate thermoscope, he could detect no indications of transmitted heat. 1860 MAYNE Expos. Lex., Thermoscopium, term for an instrument by Rumford for measuring the difference of temperature by dilatation of dry air contained in two balls, which a long tube, twice bent, separates from each other: a thermoscope

c. 1885 [see THERMO-MULTIPLIER]. 1879 tr Du Moncel's Telephone 195 It is therefore a microphone as well as a thermoscope. 1881 Nature 17 Feb 372/2 The magnetic thermoscope is intended to indicate differences of temperature by showing differences between the magnetic moments of steel magnets

d. 1877 KNIGHT Dict Mech 2550/2 Barker and Mayer's thermoscope..is designed to indicate..the existence of excessive heat in journal-bearings..Marcy's thermoscope..is particularly designed for experiments on animal heat. 1884 Ibid. Suppl. 899/2 The varied changes of tint..may serve..as a rough index of the temperature of surrounding bodies, thus constituting the little instrument a thermoscope.

Thermoscopic (pɔ̄rmɔskɒ·pik), a. [f. prec. + -IC.] Of, pertaining to, or of the nature of a thermoscope.

1730 Phil. Trans. XXXVI. 254 The Severity of the Weather did not cease:..the Spirit of Wine, in the English Thermometer, in a Morning always stood at, or under the 80th Deg. of the Thermoscopick Scale. 1843 GROVE Corr. Phys. Forces (1856) 17 Of which heat no evidence can be afforded by any thermoscopic test. 1864 J. SCOFFERN in Orr's Circ. Sc., Chem. 121 Thermometric and thermoscopic instruments.

So Thermosco·pical a., in same sense; whence Thermosco·pically adv.

1670 Phil. Trans. V. p. iv, The Thermoscopical Measures of Warmth and Frigidity. 1730 Ibid. XXXVI. 254 From Thermoscopical Observations. 1895 Funk's Stand. Dict., Thermoscopically.

Thermo-si·phon. [f. THERMO- + SIPHON.] A siphon attachment by which the circulation in a system of hot-water pipes is increased or induced. Also attrib.

1894 Loudon Encycl. Gard. § 2142 Fowler's method of circulating hot water in his thermosiphon. 1906 Daily Chron. 3 Mar. 3/6 Water from a reservoir is circulated around the cylinder, in the water-jacket, either by a pump worked by the engine, or on the thermo-syphon system.

Thermostable (pɔ̄rmɔstē·b'l), a. [f. THERMO- + STABLE a.] Retaining its character or active quality at moderately high temperatures: opposed to thermolabile. Hence Thermostabi·lity, the quality of being thermostable.

1904 Brit. Med. Jrnl. 10 Sept. 557 The killing of the bacteria is associated with the presence in the serum of an immune animal, of two substances, one thermolabile (complement) which naturally occurs in the serum of the animal species involved, and the other thermostable (immune body), which either is present in normal serum in very small amount or is altogether absent. Ibid. 561 [see THERMOLABILE]. 1907 Science 13 Sept. 346 The high stability of opsonins against desiccation and the high thermostability of dried opsonins are very striking.

Thermostat (pɔ̄·rmɔstæt). [f. THERMO- + Gr. στατός standing: cf. HELIOSTAT.] An automatic apparatus for regulating temperature; esp. a device in which the expansive force of metals or gas acts directly upon the source of heat, ventilation, or the like, or controls them indirectly by opening and closing an electric circuit.

1832 URE in Proc. Roy. Soc. 16 June 67 On the Thermostat or Heat Governor, a self-acting physical Apparatus for regulating Temperature. 1835 — Philos. Manuf. 26 The instrument, for which I have obtained a patent, under the name of the heat-governor, or thermostat. 1877 W. THOMSON Voy. Challenger I. i. 34 The size of the iron frame was arranged so as to receive one of Bunsen's thermostats in ordinary use in laboratories. 1899 CAGNEY Yaksch's Clin. Diagn. II. (ed. 4) 107 The test-tube containing the infected serum is now placed in a thermostat, maintained at 36·5°–37° C.

b. An apparatus which gives notice of undue increase of temperature; an automatic fire-alarm.

1888 Philad. Record No. 3462. 4 The thermostat, which gives an alarm as soon as the temperature of the room where it may be rises to 100°. 1908 Daily Chron. 24 Aug. 6/3 The thermostat is usually attached to the ceiling, and immediately an abnormal and dangerous rise of temperature occurs the metal bars expand.

So Thermosta·tic a., of, pertaining to, or of the nature of a thermostat; Thermosta·tically adv., by means of a thermostat; Thermosta·tics sb. pl. [after hydrostatics], name suggested for the theory of the equilibrium of heat.

1839 URE Dict. Arts, etc. 1237 A single thermostatic bar, consisting of two or more bars or rulers of differently expansible solids..firmly riveted or soldered together, face to face.... A thermostatic hoop. 1871 THOMSON [see thermokinematics, THERMO-]. 1877 KNIGHT Dict. Mech., Thermostatic Alarm, a device to give a signal when a certain temperature is attained. 1883 Cassell's Fam. Mag. Aug. 537/2 Frost telltales..can be readily constructed by employing a thermostatic spring. 1892 Cent. Dict. s. v., A thermostatically adjusted radiator.

Thermosynthesis, etc.: see THERMO-.

Thermota·ctic, a. [f. as next + Gr. τακτικός arranging, f. τακ-, root of τάσσ-ειν to arrange: see next.] Of or pertaining to thermotaxis.

1896 Allbutt's Syst. Med. I. 150 To this [the nervous] system must be assigned the thermotactic function. Ibid. 151 The question where the thermotactic centre or centres are to be found, and how they act in fevers. 1899 Ibid. VI. 860 The so-called heat fibres, that is the thermotactic.

‖ Thermotaxis (pɔ̄rmɒtæ·ksis). [mod.L., f. THERMO- + Gr. τάξις arrangement: see TAXIS.]

1. Physiol. That function of the nervous system on which the normal temperature of the body depends; the regulation of the bodily heat.

1891 in Cent. Dict. 1896 Allbutt's Syst. Med. I. 150 It may be assumed that thermotaxis is conducted by a 'centre' or 'centres'. Ibid. 156 What they do not prove is that fever is nothing more than a disorder of thermotaxis. 1899 Ibid. VII. 341 The tuber cinereum, which he regards as the true centre of thermotaxis.

2. Biol. Movement or stimulation in a living body caused by heat: cf. TAXIS 6.

1900 B D. JACKSON Gloss. Bot. Terms, Thermotaxis, changes produced by warmth. 1902 MAX VERWORN in Encycl. Brit. XXXI. 715/1 Cases of directive stimulation ..have been designated..positive or negative Chemotaxis, Phototaxis, Thermotaxis, Galvanotaxis, and so forth.

Hence Thermota·xic a. = THERMOTACTIC.

1877 FOSTER Phys II. v. (1878) 578 Thus at first sight looked like the indication of a thermotaxic mechanism, rendered inactive by the condition of fever. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Thermotaxic, same as Thermotactic.

Thermotelephone, etc.: see THERMO-.

Thermotic (pəɜrmɒ·tik), a. [f. Gr. θερμωτικός (Plutarch Q. Conv. 715 C) warming, calorific: used in modified sense to match acoustic, optic, etc.] Of or pertaining to heat; esp. relating to thermotics. So Thermo·tical a., in same sense (hence Thermo·tically adv.); Thermo·tics sb. pl., the science of heat, thermology.

1837 WHEWELL Hist. Induct. Sc. VIII. Introd. II. 293 Acoustics, Optics, and Thermotics. Ibid. x. Introd. 469, I employ the term Thermotics, to include all the doctrines respecting Heat. Ibid. x. i. § 4. 481 They require the light of thermotical calculations. 1858 BUCKLE Civilis. (1869) II. vii. 362 Fourier..employed himself in raising thermotics to a science. 1874 tr. Lommel's Light 201 In the spectrum of a flint-glass prism the apex of the thermotic curve is situated outside the apparent spectrum in the ultra-red region. 1899 S. HIGGLEY in Cassell's Techn. Educ. IV. 234/1 Optical, acoustic, and thermotic demonstrations in the lecture-room. 1895 Funk's Stand. Dict., Thermotically.

Thermotropic (pɔ̄rmɒtrɒ·pik), a. Bot. [f. Gr. θερμο-, THERMO- + -τροπ-ος turning + -IC: cf. HELIOTROPIC.] Turning or bending under the influence of heat; of, pertaining to, or exhibiting thermotropism.

1885 GOODALE Physiol. Bot. (1892) 394 Curvatures dependent upon temperature are called thermotropic.

Thermotropism (pəɜrmɒ·trɒpiz'm). Bot. [f. as prec. + -ISM.] The property possessed by growing plant-organs of turning or bending towards (positive thermotropism) or away from (negative thermotropism) the sun or other source of heat. In Biology, The bending or growth of any organism dependent upon temperature (Cent. Dict., Suppl.).

1898 tr. Strasburger's Text-Bk. Bot. I. ii. 263 Thermotropism..and Aerotropism..stand in direct relations to certain vital requirements of plants.

Thermotype (pɔ̄·rmɒtəip). [f. THERMO- + -TYPE.] Name proposed for an impression obtained from an object by means of heat. Hence Thermoty·pic a., of or pertaining to thermotypes or thermotypy; The·rmotypy, the process or art of making thermotypes.

1864 WEBSTER, Thermotype; Thermotypy. 1877 KNIGHT Dict. Mech., Thermotype, an impression (as of a slice of wood) taken by means of wetting with dilute acid, pressing on the object, and subsequently heating the impression. 1909 Cent. Dict. Suppl., Thermotypic.

Thermo-unstable, -voltaic: see THERMO-.

† Therne. Obs. Also 4 tharne, (tarne), pierne. [a. ON. þerna (Sw. tärna, Da. terne) = OS. thiorna (Du. deerne), OHG. diorna (MHG. dierne, Ger. dirne).] A girl, maid, young woman.

c 1300 Havelok 298 Sholde ic yeve a fol, a þerne, Engelond, þou sho it yerne? 1303 R. BRUNNE Handl. Synne 7353 Two vnweddyd ..single knaue and single tarne [p. r. tiarne]. c 1315 SHOREHAM Poems i. 1796 þet knaue child forlene ȝer Schel habbe, ane tuel þe þerne. 1340 Ayenb. 129 þe þierne [of] saynt abraham [i. e. Hagar].

Thero- (þɪ·ɛro), repr. Gr. θηρο-, combining form of θήρ wild beast; hence THEROID, THEROPOD, etc.; also the following: Therocephalian (-sɪfē·liăn) [Gr. κεφαλή head], a. belonging to an extinct order of carnivorous reptiles having a skull of the mammalian type; sb. a reptile of this order. Therocrotaphous (-krɒ·tăfəs) a. [Gr. κρόταφος the temple], having the temporal bone resembling that of mammals. The·rodont sb. and a., = Theriodont (Cent. Dict. 1891): see THERIO-. Thero·latry [-LATRY], beast-worship, worship of animals. The·romorpholo·gical a., of or pertaining to the morphology of the lower animals.

1904 Amer. Nat. Feb. 103 These cynodonts have lost several of the other more primitive characters of the therocephalians, such as teeth in the palate. 1907 Science 6 Dec. 796 Three new Therocephalian genera have been discovered in beds which are probably Middle Permian. Ibid., The discovery of this new reptile, Galechirus, strongly favors the descent of the Therocephalians from an early Rhynco-cephaloid ancestor. 1907 Wilkinson in Proc. U. S. Nat. Mus. XXXII. 488 The Insectivora have a larger temporal vacuity, larger indeed than is to be found in any other reptiles of the therocrotaphous* (I coin the word) type. 1873 W. Cory Lett. & Jrnls. (1897) 311 Mahomet's alteration of a national character, the complete obliteration of *theolatry. 1885 Hartmann Anthropoid Apes iii. 111 Virchow and W. Gruber have agreed in representing this frontal process as 'theromorphological—that is, as a characteristic of the lower animals, and more especially of apes.

Theroid (þī·rōid), a. [f. Thero- + -oid; cf. Gr. θηροειδής.] Like or having the form of a brute; of bestial nature or character.

1867 Maudsley Physiol. Mind 291 The theroid degenerations of mankind are pathological specimens. 1870 — Body & Mind 47 There is a class of idiots which may justly be designated theroid, so like brutes are the members of it. 1885 N. Pearson in 19th Cent. Sept. 353 The animal mind of the theroid idiot is accompanied by appropriate animal peculiarities of body.

Theology (þīr·ŏlŏdʒi). [f. Thero- + -logy. Proposed as a substitute for the irregular but established mammalogy.] The science of beasts or mammals; mammalogy. Hence Theologic (þīerolo·dʒik), Theological adjs., of or pertaining to theology, mammalogical; Thero·logist, one versed in theology; a mammalogist.

[Cf. 1620 Alsted Encycl. 372 Irrationale animal est, quod formâ brutâ est præditum, & dicitur bestia. Ejus doctrina dicitur Theologia.] 1877 Academy 25 Aug. 199/3 A gentleman who, to use a newly-coined transatlantic word, is certainly one of the first 'theologists' of his country. 1882 Ogilvie (Annandale), Theology. 1891 Cent. Dict., Theologic, Theological, Theology.

Theromorous (þīerōmō·rəs), a. Palæont. [f. mod.L. Thēromōra (see def.), f. Gr. θηρο-, Thero- + μορφή form.] A reptile of the extinct order Theromorpha, of Permian and Trias age, having certain mammalian characters. So Thero·rphic a.[1], Thero·rphous a., belonging to or having the characters of the Theromorpha.

1887 Cope Orig. Fittest xi. 317 The Mammalia have been traced to the theromorphous reptiles through the Monotremata. 1891 Cent. Dict., Theromorph, Theromorphic. 1901 H. Gadow in Cambr. Nat. Hist. VIII. viii. 303 Many of the Theromorpha reached a considerable size, massive skulls of one foot in length being not uncommon. Note. Cope, the inventor of this most appropriate name (Theromorpha, or 'beast-shaped' animals), soon changed it, unnecessarily, into Theromora.]

‖ Theromorphia (þīerōmō·rfiă). [mod.L. a. Gr. θηρομορφία = θηριομορφία, f. θηριόμορφος having the form of a beast: see prec.] (See quot. 1890.) So Theromo·rphic a.[2], of or pertaining to theromorphia; Theromo·rphism = theromorphia.

1890 Billings Nat. Med. Dict., Theromorphia, an abnormity in human anatomy resembling the normal structure in lower animals. 1891 Cent. Dict., Theromorphic. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Theromorphism, an apparent reversion to an animal of lower type in the human subject.

Theropodous (þīr·ŏpŏdəs), a. Palæont. [f. mod.L. Thēropoda neut. pl. (f. Gr. θηρο-, Thero- + ποῦς, ποδ- foot) + -ous.] Of or belonging to the Theropoda, an order of carnivorous dinosaurs in Cope's classification, having feet like those of mammals. So Theropod (þīerōrpɒd), a. = theropodous; sb. a dinosaur of this order.

1889 Q. Jrnl. Geol. Soc. XLV. 144 Axis of a (? Theropodous) Dinosaur from the Wealden. 1891 Cent. Dict., Theropod. 1901 H. Gadow in Cambr. Nat. Hist. VIII. x. 425 The whole hind-limb of the Theropodous Compsognathus is far more ornithic than that of any three-toed Ornithopoda.

Therosaur (þīerōsɔ̄r). Palæont. [f. Gr. θηρο-, Thero- + σαῦρος lizard.] One of the Therosauria, an extinct order of herbivorous dinosaurs having the mammalian form and bird-like feet. Hence Therosau·rian a., of or pertaining to the Therosauria, or having their characters; sb. a dinosaur of this order.

Therrepylle, obs. f. Thripple, cart-shelving.

Thers, therse, obs. forms of Theirs.

Thersitical (þəsisti·kăl), a. rare. [f. Gr. Θερσίτης Thersites ('the Audacious'), an ill-tongued Greek at the siege of Troy + -ical.] Like Thersites in language or address; abusive, reviling, scurrilous. So Thersitean (þəsaiti·ăn) a. rare[−1].

1650 Bulwer Anthropomet. 4 With a Thersitical head and heart. 1767 Sterne Tr. Shandy IX. xiv, There is a pelting kind of Thersitical satire, as black as the very ink its wrote with. 1908 Daily Chron. 28 July 4/4 Adding a string of Thersitean scurrilities unfit for publication.

Therst(e, obs. form of Thirst.

Therst(e: see Dare v.[1] A. 9, Tharf v.

Therve-cake: see Tharf-cake.

Therwe, berwe, obs. form of Through.

†Thes, adv. (conj.). Obs. Forms: 1–3 þes, þas, 3 (Orm.) þess. [OE. þæs, gen. sing. masc. and neut. of se, sēo, þæt: see The A. 4 a, That A. 1. Retained in certain adverbial and conjunctive uses, after its simple genitive use became obsolete.]

1. a. Because of or on account of that; because. b. From that time, after that; from the time that, after. c. In the way that, according as, as. d. To that extent, so: cf. That dem. adv.

a. c 897 K. Ælfred Gregory's Past. C. xliv. 379 Wæ me þæs [L. quia] ic swīgode. c 1205 Lay. 2723 Wa wes Lumbardisce folc þes [c 1275 þas]. Ibid. 5989 Wel wes Romanisce folc þes [c 1275 þas]. a 1300 XI Pains of Hell 208 in O. E. Misc. 155 Þat weren her, wo is ham þes. b. c 893 K. Ælfred Oros. iv. vi. § 12 þes ymb iii gear..þa consulas foran..on Africe. a 900 O. E. Chron. an. 894, þæt wæs ymb twelf monaþ þæs þe hie ær hider..comon. a 900 tr. Bæda's Hist. i. ix. [xii.] (1890) 44 Sona þæs ðe hi on þis ealond comon. c 980 Sir Ferumb. 1387 Olyuer wuc hol sone þas. c. 888 K. Ælfred Boeth. xxiv. § 3 Men secað anfealde eadignesse ðæs ðe him ðincð. a 900 tr. Bæda's Hist. i. xiv. [xxv.] (1890) 60 Þæs þe me sæþuht is & gesewen. c 1000 Ælfric Gen. xliii. 7 We him andswaredon þæs þe he us axode. c 1000 St. Andrew & Veronica 26 Ðæs þe beo secgaþ. d. a 1000 Cædmon's Gen. 832 Nære flod þæs deop, nære stream þæs micel.

2. Thes the, þes þe (þess te), before a comparative: For that the (more, etc.); so much the (more, etc.); = OHG. desde, MHG. deste, Ger. desto (mehr, etc.).

c 897 K. Ælfred Gregory's Past. C. xvii. 123 Sio wund biþ ðæs ðe wiersa. c 1000 Ælfric Gosp. Matt. xx. 31 þa clypodon hig þæs ðe ma. c 1160 Hatton Gosp. ibid., þa clepedon hyo þæs þe mare. [So Mark x. 48.] c 1200 Ormin 444–5 Þatt hise frend mihhtenn off himm All þess te mare blissenn, & tatt te folc all þess te bett Hiss lare sholde folljhenn. a 1275 Prov. Ælfred 436 in O. E. Misc. 129 Panne sal þe child þas þe bet worþen.

Thes, obs. f. These; gen. sing. of That, The.

†The·saur, -aure. Chiefly Sc. Obs. [ad. L. Thesaurus: cf. Prov. thesaur, OCat. tesor, Sp., It. tesoro, Pg. thesouro.] = Treasure.

1491 Sc. Acts Jas. IV (1814) II. 230/1 Stelaris [and] concelaris, of the said gold or thessaure. a 1510 Douglas K. Hart xo. Quhair is the thessaure now thaw have bene wonn? 1532 Addr. fr. Convoc. (MS. Cleop. E. VI. ii. 274 b), The thesaure of this realme hath beene carried and conueyhed beyond the mountaines to the coort of rome. 1596 Dalrymple tr. Leslie's Hist. Scot. (S.T.S.) I. 7 Moyr hidd thesauris. Ibid. v. 303 Quhat proffit sa euir cumis of that feild..sall cum in to the kingis Thesaur.

b. Comb. The·saurhouse, treasury.

1488 Acc. Ld. High Treas. Scot. I. 85 marginem, Thir boxis put in the Thesaurhous in the grete kist nerest the windo. 1596 Dalrymple tr. Leslie's Hist. Scot. x. (S.T.S.) 264 The palice of Halyruidhous..the Thesaurhous, and vtheris places.

Thesaurarial (þēsōrē·riăl), a. [f. L. thēsaurārī-us (see next) + -al.] Of or pertaining to the office of treasurer.

1881 Athenæum 2 July 15/2 He was invariably to be found..in his thesaurarial chair at the evening meetings. 1896 Trans. Roy. Hist. Soc. X. 42 The addition of the judicial to the thesaurarial functions..of the Court of Exchequer.

†Thesaurary, -ie. Chiefly Sc. Obs. [ad. med.L. thēsaurāria 'thesaurarii dignitas' (Du Cange), fem. of thēsaurārī-us adj., f. thēsaur-us treasure: see -ary[1]; cf. Pr. thezauraria, Sp. and It. tesoreri-a, mod.F. trésorerie treasury.]

1. The office of treasurer; treasurership. Sc.

1473–4 Acc. Ld. High Treas. Scot. I. 1 Compt of a reuerend fader in God..of the office of Thesaurary. a 1552 Diurn. Occurr. (1833) 11 Archibald was deprywit of the thesaurie. 1596 Dalrymple tr. Leslie's Hist. Scot. x. (S.T.S.) 291 The Cardinal..put him fra the office of the Thesaurarie.

2. transf. A treasury; also = Thesaurus 2.

1592 Sc. Acts Jas. VI (1814) III. 558/1 The ordinar fies ..sall nawayis be gevin out of his Maiesties thesaurarie. 1597 A. M. tr. Guillemeau's Fr. Chirurg. C iij b/2 The end of the thesaurarye or storehouse of the Instrumentes of Chyrurgerie.

3. attrib. Thesaurary house, treasury.

1495 Acc. Ld. High Treas. Scot. I. 268 To turs it to the Thesaurary hous in the Castell.

†The·saurer. Chiefly Sc. Obs. Also 5–6 thesaurair, -are, 5–7 -ar, 6 thesorar, -uerer, -awrar, 7 -orer. [ad. L. thēsaurārius treasurer, f. thēsaurus treasure: see -ar[2], -er[2] 2. Cf. Pr. thesaurier, Sp. tesorero, It. tesoriere; also Treasurer.] An officer in charge of treasure, or of a treasury; = Treasurer. Thesaurer deputé, deputy treasurer: see quot. 1708.

c 1450 Holland Howlat 209 Apon the sand 3it I sawe, as thesaurer tane, ..schir Gawane the Drak. 1473 Acc. Ld. High Treas. Scot. I. 32 Pait be the Thesaurair. 1489 Ibid. 125 Takyne be the Kyng.. out of the Thesorarris purs. 1544 in Gross Gild Merch. II. 75 The orbir halfe to the thesuerer of the sayde sytty [Dublin]. 1557–75 Diurn. Occurr. (1833) 180 Iohne Cunnyngham..wes maid half thesaurer, with Mr. Robert Ritchartsone that wes thesaurer of befoir. 1685 Lond. Gaz. No. 2031/1 The Earl of Kintore Lord Thesaurer Deput. 1707 Narr. Jas. Nimmo (1889) 103, I was chosen Town Thesaurer. 1708 J. Chamberlayne St. Gt. Brit. II. ii. iv. (1737) 376 The Officers of State [of Scotland] before the late Union...The Lord Thesaurer Deputé, whose Commission ran in the same Terms with that given to the Thesaurer Principal, or the Commissioners of Thesaury. 1711 Country-Man's Let. to Curat 21 The Lord Thesaurer Burleigh and Sir Francis Walsingham Secretary,..were professed Friends to the Non-conformists.

b. attrib. Thesaurer house, treasury.

1489 Acc. Ld. High Treas. Scot. I. 110 Item, the thrid da of May, takin be the King furth of the Thesaurare Hous himself, foure score of demyss, lvj li.

†The·saurize, v. Obs. [ad. late L. thēsaurizāre, ad. Gr. θησαυρίζ-ειν, f. θησαυρός treasure: see -ize; cf. F. thésauriser (14th c. in Godef. Compl.).] trans. To hoard, as treasure. Mostly fig.

1594 Zepheria vi, My heart prepares anew to thesaurize Sighs and lone options. a 1620 Sir J. Semple in S. Ballatis (1872) 224, I was resolit to thesaurize my greifs. Ibid. 247 Set durst I not behold [? be bold]..But thesawrie'd my hiddin harmes. 1623 Cockeram, Thesaurise, to gather riches. (Also in Blount, Bailey, etc.)

‖ Thesaurus (þēsō·rŏs). Pl. -i. [L., a. Gr. θησαυρός a store, treasure, storehouse, treasury.]

1. Archæol. A treasury, as of a temple, etc.

1823 in Crabb Technol. Dict. 1846 in Worcester. 1847 Grote Greece II. ix. III. 44 Myrôn..built at the same holy place [Olympia] a thesaurus..for the reception of commemorative offerings.

2. a. 'treasury' or 'storehouse' of knowledge, as a dictionary, encyclopædia, or the like.

[1565 Cooper (title) Thesaurus Linguæ Romanæ et Britannicæ [etc.]. 1736 Ainsworth (title) Thesaurus Linguæ Latinæ compendiarius; or..Dictionary of the Latin Tongue.] 1840 Mill Disc. & Disc. (1859) II. 401 A thesaurus of commonplaces for the discussion of questions. 1852 Roget (title) Thesaurus of English Words and Phrases classified and arranged [etc.]. 1862 Marsh Lect. Eng. Lang. iii. 49 In a complete thesaurus of any language, the etymology of every word should exhibit both its philology and its linguistics. 1906 Westm. Gaz. 18 Dec. 2/2 This work is one of five thesauri published under the auspices of Kang Hsi, the second Emperor of the present dynasty. 1910 Spectator 20 Aug. 279/2 A thesaurus of critical learning.

†The·saury. Chiefly Sc. Obs. [ad. med.L. thēsauria[1] locus ubi thesaurus reconditur, gazophylacium' (Du Cange), f. Thesaur-us + -ia: see -y.] The treasury; the treasurership.

a 1639 Spottiswood Hist. Ch. Scot. vii. (1677) 517 His Uncle..was made Deputy in the Office of Thesaury. 1688 Addr. Sc. Privy C. in Lond. Gaz. No. 2388/2 They..have gay Pay for the Month October instant out of Your Majesties Thesaury. 1708 [see Thesaurer].

†These, sb. Sc. [a. F. thèse (1579 in Godef. Compl.), or ad. med.L. thesis.] = Tresis 4, 5.

a 1600 Montgomerie Sonn. lxiv. 11 Fy! I refuse sik filthie these or thrawn. 1640 R. Baillie Canterb. Self-Convict. 99 The authour..avowes..that the These alledged, and all the rest of his booke doeth perfectly agree with the English Articles. 1648 — Lett. & Jrnls. (1841) III. 63 The generall These which he professed to maintain.

These (ðīz), dem. pron. and adj. (plural). Forms: see below. [This word has a complicated history. The OE. pl. of ðes, ðēos, ðīs, was þās, less commonly ðēs (1—ŌTeut. þai-se, -si*), dat. ðiosum, ðis (y)um, gen. ðissa, ðisra. The form ðīs remained in ME. as þīs, which was duly retained in the north, and by regular phonetic development became þōs in midland and south. The OE. ðēs gave ME. þēs, þēs, þeos, and their local variants, including s. w. þīs. A frequent form of þēs from the 12th to the 16th c. was þīs, identical with the sing.: see v below. The two forms þēs and þīs became differentiated in use after 1250–1300, þēs and its variants remaining in the south as plural of This, while þīs became synonymous with þā, the plural of se, sēo, þæt, That. This was prob. due to assimilation, þēs, þīs, etc. being more like the singular and the dat. and gen. pl., while þēs was in vowel like þæt and þā. Apparently the assumption of þīs as pl. of þæt began in the north, and slowly spread to the south in the form þōs: see Those. But from the 12th c. there was evidently a tendency in the midl. dialects to differentiate the plural of this by adding -e, as in the plural of adjs. (al, alle, sum, sume, his, hise, etc.), so that from c 1200 to 1500 a frequent midland form was þise-e (2 syllables in Ormin, etc.); in e. midl. also þese appears c 1200. Even the s. w. þīs varied with þīse. Of all these varieties, these was the survivor. Also, of thō and thōs, the two plurals of that, the former was finally dropped in the course of the 16th c.; so that there now remain in standard English only the two forms these and those (thoos, thōs)—both in their origin plurals of this; the original plural of that being lost in standard English, though in Scotland and the northern counties of England it survives dialectally as thae, thee, theek; see That. In the same district these has been superseded by Thir (thur, thor). (The original pl. þās, þōs is treated under Those, to which it belongs in form, though in meaning it belongs here.)]

A. Illustration of Forms.

[α. 1–3 ðēs, þēs, þōs: see Those.]

β. 1 ðēes, 1–3 þees, 2–5 þēs, 3 ðēs, 3–4 þeos, (teos, peors), 5 þies, thees, 5–6 thes, thies, 6 thyes, thez, theis. Early inflexions: dat. 1 ðiesum; ðiosum, ðissum, ðassum, 2 þison, -an, 2–3 þissen, þisse, 2–4 þisen, 3 þesse. gen. 1 ðissa; ðeossa, ðassa þisra, 2–3 þisse, þissere.

b. attrib. Thesaurer house, treasury.

c888 K. Ælfred Boeth. xxxii, § 2 Hwelc þæs ælæslican good sien. 971 Blickl. Hom. 5 Þeos halige fæmne..brohte ealles geleafullum þæs bletsunga. c1175 Lamb. Hom. 11 Moyses þe hehte heom feste þes dæges uppon þe munte of synai. c1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 19 Nu ich eu habbe opened þes fif word...Hereð nu þes oðre. c1205 Lay. 1098 Þæs (c1275 þeos) tiðende him weren leofe. Ibid. 4021 We..nuten nauere þæs gume (c1275 þis gome). c1230 Hali Meid. 5 Þeos þohtes warp ut of þin heorte. c1250 Gen. & Ex. 1643 Iacob ðes hirdes freinen gan. a1375 Lay Folks Mass Bk. App. iv. 175 Peos Auctours alle. c1380 Wyclif Serm. Sel. Wks. II. 123 Studie þes wordis. c1400 Destr. Troy 1454 All thies maters. 1490 Caxton Eneydos xvi. 65 By what wayes he maye notyfye thees thynges to Dydo. c1500 New Nut-br. Mayd 235 Ayenst thyes hire. 1549 Cbl. Wolsey in Pour C. Eng. Lett. (1880) 10 Thes thyngs consyderyd. 1556 Chron. Gr. Friars (Camden) 74 Thesis iiij. knyghttes. a1596 Sir T. More II. ii. 26 Fier the howses Of theis audacious strangers.

dat. c845 Ps.Cp. Psalter xviii[i] 18 From ðissum ða fiodon me. c893 K. Ælfred Orosius II. ii. § 2 He þa Romulus æfter þiosum underfeng Cirinensa gewinn. c897 — Gregory's Past. C. xviii. 138 Betweox ðissum. Ibid. xxi. 162 Be ðiosum sile is swiðe rythlice gecweden. c1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. iii. 9 Of þysum stanum. Ibid. xxvii. 21 Hwæþerne..of þisum twam? c1160 Hatt. G. ibid. of þisen stanen..Of þisan twam?]. c1175 Lamb. Hom. 11 On þisse gastliche dæges. Ibid. 57 Summe of þisse þinge. c1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 217 On þesse fewe litele woreld..Ac ich he mai ne ich ne can þesse [pr. þosse] on openi. c1205 Lay. 26356 No æþef þissen [c1275 to þeos] eorðen. 1340 Ayenb. 57 Of þisen we habbeþ an ruobinne þe gesuobleþ. Ibid. gen. c897 K. Ælfred Gregory's Past. C. xiv. 82 Mid nanum ðissa. c950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. xxiii. 4 Hiaferd ðisra nytt hæfeð. c1000 Ælfric Lives of Saints xxiii. 137 Menn..þiss mondoma georne hedðon. c1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. xiii. 22 Leasunge ðisses world-weloma. c1160 Hatton Gosp. ibid., Leasunge þissere worlde welen. c1205 Lay. 14829 Ich sæm þissere leodene king.

y. 2–5 þis, 5–7 this, (5–6 thys).

c1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 221 On þis fiwer þaes. 1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 320 Þes man of þis wilde bestes slowe & caste inowe. 1477 Earl Rivers (Caxton) Dictes 30 Thou hast ben in all this dangers. 1534 in Lett. Suppress. Monasteries (Camden) 11 Yn thys thynges I desyryd you to do thy yoyn thynge. 1622 B. Ward Christ Act in All (1627) 13 This Eagles feathers will not abide blending with others.

δ. 3–5 þus (ii), þuse, thus(e.

1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 12950 þus sixe iwis. a1300 Fragm. Poh. Sc. (Wright, 1841) 135/24 Of þuse four elementz ech quik best y-maked is. c1300 Beket 890 Þuse knistes ich lovie more. c1380 Sir Ferumb. 1012 Þus þay prikede, þuse two baronn hurre frendes to rescowe. c1400 Chron. Vilod. 41 And hide þuse in þis gouernynge. Ibid. 1359 And dred þus laudable wordus.

ε. 2–5 þise, 4–5 thise, 5 thyse.

c1200 Ormin 4573 Whas itt iss þatt follþeþþ wel & filleþþ þise mahhtess. c1220 Bestiary 514 Þis cete ðanne..þise fisses alle in sukeð. c1400 Chaucer Wife's Prol. 560 Thise wermes, ne thise Mothes, ne thise mytes. c1450 Merlin i. 23 Whan alle thise thynges were don. 1494 Fabyan Chron. vii. 359 The best men of yᵉ cytie by thyse xyotous persones were spoyled & robbid.

ζ. 3 ðese, 4–5 þese, 4– these, (4 peose, þiese, 5 pesse, 6 these, these).

c1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 13 Þese six werkes..ben cleped lihtes scrud. c1250 Gen. & Ex. 3697 Forð was gon al þese oðer yer. 13.. Cursor M. 16767+65 (Cott.) These ilk wordes said he. c1425 Disid. 4597 (Thrn.) Peese cheres seisen woful teet. c1500 Dict. Common Wealth Eng. (1893) 139 In consideration of theese thinges. Ibid., At theise days.

B. Signification.

The plural of This pron. and adj.

I. Demonstrative pronoun.

1. Denoting things or persons actually or ideally present or near; esp. those that have just been mentioned.

a. things: plural of This B. I. 1 a. c893 [see A. β]. c1205 Lay. 26044 Ær þe king hæfde þæs ful isaide. c1323 R. Brunne Handl. Synne 11112 Þese are þo yche twey verse þat to holynes are reuers. 1340 Ayenb. 97 Þise byeþ þe seve ruieles of holy lyf þet þe sope salomon tekþ to his children. a1425 Cursor M. 10215 (Trin.) Lecchory and gluttony, Pouerte þess am I dom dryuen. 1474 Coventry Leet Bk. 397 If he do the contrary to any of thies his fyne is at euery tyme xl.d. 1581 Campion in Allen Martyrd. (1908) 4 These are the wordes of S. Paule. 1624 Wotton Archit. in Relig. (1651) 21 Such occasions as these seem somewhat too large for this Rubbage. 1790 Burke Fr. Rev. 56 For want of these, they have seen the medicine of the state corrupted into its poison. 1862 Ruskin Unto this Last iv. § 78 (1901) 156 His [man's] race has its bounds also; but these have not yet been reached.

b. persons.

Still used without the restriction to which the singular this is now subject: see This B. I. 1 b.

c825 [see A. β]. 1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 547 Þes were as þre kinges. c1300 R. Brunne Chron. Wace (Rolls) 13395 Bifore Arthur schuld þeos alle wende. 1382 Wyclif Rev. vii. 13, 14 Who ben thes..and of whennus camen thei? ..Thes ben thei, that camen fro greet tribulacioun. c1400 Destr. Troy 14202 Desdaing! Thy knight in the field. c1440 Gesta Rom. lxiii. 274 (Harl. MS.) Þees ben þei, that sleith hire soulis. 1526 Tindale John xxi. 15 Lovest thou me more then these? 1670 Shadw. Temp. II. iii. 91 These are clouts! Ou clowne. a1715 Burnet Own Time (1823) I. 342 One of these being taken, and apprehending he was in danger. 1869 Tennyson Coming of Arthur 52 He..rode a simple knight among his knights, And many of them in richer arms than he.

c. Referring to things mentioned or enumerated immediately after: pl. of This B. I. 1 d; cf. II. 1 b.

a1225 Ancr. R. 36 þe vreisuns beoð þeos. 'Deus qui sanctam crucem' [etc.]. c1380 Lay Folks Catech. 349 These ben also by fyue lowyttys, Wyt, Resoun, Mynd, ymagynacioun and thoght. c1400 tr. Secretis Secreti, Gov. Lordsh. 68 Þes er þe tokenys of a good stomak—lightnes of body, clernes of vnderstondynge, stiryng appetyt. 1526 Tindale Gal. iv. 29 The dedes of the flesshe are manyfest, whiche are these, adyoutrie, forniication [etc.]. 1678 Bunyan Pilgr. i. 190 Such sayings as these: All our righteousnesses are as filthy rags [etc.]. 1847 Tennyson Princess II. 55 Then an officer Rose up, and read the statutes, such as these: Not for three years to correspond with home [etc.].

2. In opposition to †tho, those (of things or persons); sometimes spec. = 'the latter': plural of This B. I. 3, 3 b. Also †these.. they = some.. others (quot. c1450).

c893 K. Ælfred Orus. I. xi, þeþence þonne þara tida and nu þissa. c1450 in Aungier Syon (1840) 266 Other sustres ..nowe these, now thei, owe of pyte..to visitte suche prysoners. Wyc Bible Luke 1 Wheen the hiyng creatures were lift vp from the earth, the wheels were lift vp... When those went, these went, and when those stood, these stood. 1674 tr. Scheffer's Lapland 15 The Russians are generally tall, the Laplanders..very short; these are fat and corpulent, these lean and slender. 1734 Pope Ess. Man iv. 22 Some place the bliss in action, some in ease, Those call it Pleasure, and Contentment these. 1902 Westm. Gaz. 20 Feb. 4/1, I left the skaters flitting to and fro, these with their hockey sticks, those with their sledges.

II. Demonstrative adjective.

1. Indicating things or persons present or near (actually, or in thought, esp. as having just been mentioned): plural of This B. II. 1.

c888, etc. [see A. β]. c1175 Lamb. Hom. 107 Hu þes halie mihten ouercumað þa sunnan. c1205 Lay. 29786 [pr. c1275 þeos] tiðende come to Austine sone. c1250 Beket 308 in S. Eng. Leg. I. 215 Þis wise meni weren þe Messangers. 1340 Ayenb. 7 Þise þri hestes diteþ ou to gode specialliche. 1390 Gower Conf. I. 34 Yet these clerkes alday preche And sein, good dede may non be. 1411 Rolls of P. III. 650/2, I..dyd assemble thise persones that here been. c1440 Alphabet of Tales 42 Nowder of þies two did it; I did it my selfe. 1526 Tindale Matt. xx. 21 These my two sonnes. 1557 North Guevara's Dial. Pr. 50 This dangerous and perillous warres. 1653 Walton Angler ii. 69 I'l give you another dish of fish one of these dayes. 1869 Lowell Vussori ii, His who buildeth over these Our tents His glorious roof of night and day. 1872 Tennyson Gareth & Lynette 798 Well that ye came, or else these caitiff rogues Had wreak'd themselves on me.

b. Referring to something immediately following: plural of This B II. 1 b.

a1225 Ancr. R. 16 Efter þis uallet acneon..mid teos vif gretunges. 'Adoramus te Christe [etc.]'. c1275 Lay. 688 And þeos [c1205 þas] seide: Britus þe sele, Nipine þou art dead. 1377 Langl. P. Pl. B. Prol. 184 A mous..to þe route of ratones rehersed þese wordes: 'Thoug we culled þe catte [etc.]'. c1420 Chron. Vilod. 2454 And þese wordus tho þe dude say. 1589 Puttenham Eng. Poesie III. iv. (Arb.) 159 Also ye finde these words, penetrate, penetrable, indignitie. 1678 Bunyan Pilgr. I. 80 Then was he glad, and that for these reasons: First [etc.]. 1737 Gentl. Mag. VII. 89/2 Under the Inscription are these Words, in Greek Letters, Kairos o Pandamator.

c. Referring to things or persons familiarly known, esp. to the whole class of such things or persons: plural of This B. II. 1 d.

c1325 Poem Times Edw. II 49 in Pol. Songs (Camden) 326 Thise ersedekens that ben set to visite holi churche. c1386 Chaucer Reeve's Prol. 1 Thise olde gentil Britons. 1591 Shaks. 1 Hen. VI, I. ii. 123 These women are shrewd tempters with their tongues. 1602 — Ham. II. ii. 223 These tedious old fooles. a 1704 T. Brown Misc., Match for Devil Wks. (1730) IV. 149 These Husbands are such very Drones. 1766 Goldsm. Vic. W. iv, These ruffians, and pinkings, and patchings, will only make us hated. 1820 Byron Mar. Fal. iv. ii. 17 These city slaves have all their private bins. Ibid. Do you approve of these old age pensions? Who are these Manchus in China?

d. Used instead of this with a sing. noun of multitude (formerly with company, number; now only with collectives in pl. sense, as vermin); or esp. with kind, sort (†form, †manner) followed by of with pl. sb. (cf. Kind sb. 14 b, Those II. 2 c).

a1533 Ld. Berners Gold. Bk. M. Aurel. Let. xii. (1535) Oo ij b, As I say of these smalle nombre, I myght say of many other. 1583 Stubbes Anat. Abus. I (1879) 147 Then, marche these heathen company towards the Church. a 1643 J. Shute Judgem. & Mercy (1645) 108 All the land was covered with these vermin. 1796 Southey Lett. fr. Spain (1799) 328 A faithful picture of these vermin.

e. With a numeral (definite or indefinite) in expressions of time referring to a period immediately past or immediately future.

c1386 Chaucer Merch. Prol. 22, I haue ywedded bee Thise Monthes two. 1552 Ascham in Lett. Lit. Men (Camden) 11 Any thing that hapt vnto me, thies many yeares. 1600 Shaks. A. Y. L. iv. i. 180 For these two houres Rosalinde, I will leave thee. 1641 R. Baillie Lett. & Jrnls. (1841) I. 313 These three or four years hence. 1655 Nicholas Papers (Camden) II. 209 Att the French Court they expect not the conclusion these 4 monthes. 1738 Swift Pol. Conversat. 4 Where was the Wench been these Three Hours? 1764 Foote Patron III. Wks. 1799 I. 357, I warrant he won't shew his head for these six months. 1782 Cowper Gilpin ii, Though wedded we have been These twice ten tedious years. 1872 Thackeray Esmond iv, Dan Chaucer's, who's dead these ever so many hundred years. 1865 Wherwell. in Life (1881) 549 As I have done any time these twenty years and more.

2. In opposition to those: pl. of This B. II. 2.

1641 Hinde Y. Brunn xxxiii. 204 O how great is the difference betwixt those holy exercises of Religion.. and these prophane exercises of corruption and lust! 1660 Barrow Euclid v. xv, The number of these parts is equal to the number of those. 1810 Crabbe Borough iv. 54 And these fair acres, rented and enjoy'd, May those excel by Solway-moss destroy'd. Mod. Do you think these scissors sharper than those you had yesterday?

III. Comb. These-like a., like these, such as these: cf. this-like s. v. This B. III.

1644 Milton Areop. (Arb.) 57 Every acute reader upon the first sight of a pedantick licence, will be ready with these like words to ding the book a coits distance from him, I hate a pupil teacher [etc.]. 1819 Keats Hyperion I. 50 Some mourning words, which in our feeble tongue Would come these like concerts.

Thesean. (þisʼiən) a. [f. L. Thēsēus adj. + -an.] Of or belonging to Theseus, a legendary hero-king of Athens. So Theseid (þisʼid) [ad. L. Thēsēis, -idem, Gr. Θησηΐς, -ίδα], the title of a poem on the exploits of Theseus; transf. a poem of the same character as the 'Theseid of hoarse Codrus' referred to by Juvenal. Theseium (þisʼiəm), Theseum (þisʼiəm), Thesion (þisʼiən) [a. L. Thēsēium, Gr. Θησεῖον], the temple of Theseus at Athens, or the Doric building to which the name is now applied (generally held to be the temple of Hephæstus).

1902 Speaker 26 June 370/1 These..should go far to explain the old *Thesean legends. 1725 Pope's Odyss. I. View Epic Poem, etc. in to Poets..who composed their *Theseids, Heracleids, and the like. a 1822 Shelley Def. Poetry Ess. & Lett. (Camelot) 39, I confess myself..unwilling to be trumned by the Theseids of the hoarse Codri of the day. 1873 Hayman Odyss. xi. 260 note II. 205 An Amazon of the Thesei legend. 1880 Dowden Your Greece I. xii. 362 The *Theseion impresses the beholder more by its symmetry than its magnitude. 1837 Antiq. Athens 68 Unlike the lavish decoration of the temple of Minerva, the *Theseium was ornamented with a sparing hand. 1854 tr. Heitner's Athens & Peloponnese 152 The monument of Aristion in the *Theseum at Athens.

† Thesial, a. Obs. rare—[irreg. f. Thesi-s + -al.] Relating to a thesis or theses.

1654 Vilvain Epit. Ess. App. 191 One hundred Thesial Verses are here rendred.

† me·sicle. nonce-wd. [f. Thesis + -cle, dim. suffix: see -cule.] A little insignificant thesis.

1863 Russell Diary N. & S. I. 232 Their paltry theticles on the divine origin and uses of slavery. 1864 in Webster.

Thesis (þēʼsis, þeʼsis). Pl. theses (þēʼsēz). [a. Gr. θέσις putting, placing; a proposition, affirmation, etc., I. root θε- of τι-θέ-ναι to put, place.]

I. In Prosody, etc.: opposed to Arsis.

1. Originally and properly, according to ancient writers, The setting down of the foot or lowering of the hand in beating time, and hence (as marked by this) the stress or ictus; the stressed syllable of a foot in a verse; a stressed note in music.

[1855 Weil & Benloew Théorie générale de l'accentuation latine 98. 1861 R. Westphal Fragm. der griech. Rhythmiker 98. 1880 P. Peerson Métrique Naturelle du Latin. 32.] 1864 Hadley Ess. (1873) 81 The name fest for rhythmic elements, arsis (raising of the foot), thesis (setting down of the foot), have primary reference to orchestic. 1891 Cent. Dict., Thesis...In musical rhythmics, a heavy accent, such as in beating time is marked by a downfall.

2. By later Latin writers (e. g. Martianus Victorinus a 400, Priscian c 500) used for the lowering of the voice on an unstressed syllable, thus practically reversing the original meaning; hence in prevalent acceptation (from the time of Bentley, 1726): The unaccented or weak part of a foot in verse (classical or modern), or an unaccented note in music.

1398 Trevisa Barth. De P. R. xix. cxxxi. (1495) 941 Arsis is reryngε of voys and is the begynnyng of songe. Thesis is setyngε and is the ende. [1726 Bentley Terence p. 1] 1890 J. Seager tr. Hermann's Metres i. ii. 4 After the example of Bentley, we call that time in which the ictus is, the arsis, and those times, which are without the ictus, the thesis. ..Other writers on rhythm, together with ancient musicians,..call that thesis which we call arsis, and that arsis, which we call thesis. 1844 [see Anacrusis]. 1846 Keightley Notes Virg., Bucol. I. 47 (Fortūnātē sēnex, ergō tibi rūrā manēbunt.) He (Wagner) adds, that the emphasis should therefore be on tua, and not on manebunt. But this was not possible to a Roman, for tua here (like mea ix. 4) is in the thesis of a dactyl. 1876 Kennedy Pub. Sch. Lat. Gram. § 238 Each simple Foot has two parts, one of which is said to have the ictus upon it, and is called arsis..the other part is called thesis. 1879 Ousley in Grove Dict. Mus. I. 95/2 The terms arsis and thesis may be regarded as virtually obsolete, and are practically useless in these days.

‖ 3. Mus. Per arsin & thesin (= by raising and lowering') = used of a fugue, canon, etc. in which the subject or melody is inverted, so that the rising parts correspond to the falling ones in the original subject and vice versâ: the same as by inversion.

1597 Morley Introd. Mus. II. 114 If therefore you make a Canon per arsin & thesin, without anie discorde in binding maner in it. 1706 Phillips (ed. Kersey) s. v. Arsis, A Point being inverted or turned, is said, To move per Arsin and Thesin, that is to say when a Point rises in one Part, and falls in another; or on the contrary, when it falls in one Part, and rises in another. 1879 [see Arsis 3].

II. In Logic, Rhetoric, etc.

4. A proposition laid down or stated, esp. as a theme to be discussed and proved, or to be maintained against attack (in Logic sometimes as distinct from Hypothesis 2, in Rhetoric from Antithesis 2); a statement, assertion, tenet.

1579 Diggs Stratiot. a iv, The vulgare Thesis of the Earthes Stabilitie. 1600 W. Watson Decacordon Pref.

(1600) A v b, By way of a Quodlibet or Thesis proposed. 1691 Life Father Sarpi (1676) 8 He was sent to dispute against the Theses that were then given in. 1697 tr. Burgersdicius his Logic II. xxiii. 112 A Thesis, whose Truth is not known by the meer Signification of the Words only; but by the Judgment of the Senses, or some way of Declaration. 1727-41 CHAMBERS Cycl. s. v., The maintaining a thesis, is a great part of the exercise a student is to undergo for a degree. Ibid., Every proposition may be divided into thesis and hypothesis, thesis contains the thing affirmed or denied, and hypothesis the conditions of the affirmation or negation. Thus,..If a triangle and parallelogram have equal bases and altitudes (is the hypothesis), the first is half of the second, (is the thesis. 1823 COLERIDGE Table t. 3 July, The style of Junius is a sort of metre, the law of which is a balance of thesis and antithesis. 1860 COLLIER Gd. Events Hist. vi. 182 [Luther] Shaping his belief on the subject of the indulgences into ninety-five theses or propositions. 1899 FARRAR St. Paul II. 96 In the Epistle to the Romans he established the thesis that Jews and Gentiles were equally guilty.

b. spec. distinguished from HYPOTHESIS 1, q. v. quots. 1620-a 1647.

c. A theme for a school exercise, composition, or essay.

a 1774 TICKER Lit. Nat. (1834) II. 624 Whether among the theses given to declaim upon, it might not be profitable sometimes to choose those wherein the boys will be heartily interested. 1786 JEFFERSON Writ. (1859) II. 42 On such a thesis, I never think the theme long.

5. A dissertation to maintain and prove a thesis (in sense 4); esp. one written or delivered by a candidate for a University degree.

1653 Mumim. Univ. Glasgow (1854) II. 323 Theologicall theses. 1659 OWEN Consist. Bibl. Polygl. 205 The Thesis prefering this or that translation above the originall. 1673 RAY Journ. Low C. 36 He makes Theses upon the Subject he intends to answer, which Theses are printed. 1741 WATTS Improv. Mind x. xiii. § 3 It is the business of the respondent to write a thesis..or short discourse on the question proposed. 1837 LOCKHART Scott vi, Scott's thesis was, in fact, on the Title of the Pandects, 'Concerning the disposal of the dead bodies of criminals.' 1864 BURTON Scot Abr. I. v. 266 There was an instruction that each should write his name on his thesis.

6. Comb.: thesis-play, a play composed with the purpose of maintaining a thesis, a tendency-play; so thesis-playwright.

1908 Athen. Rev. July 109 The conscious, deliberate thesis-playwright was Dumas fils. 1904 Ibid. Oct. 209 The use of 'thesis play' as a term of reproach is not without a certain justification. 1905 Daily Chron. 14 June 5/2 'L'Adversaire' is one of those brilliantly specious thesis-plays with which M. Capus has been wont to astonish both the philosophic and dramatic worlds.

Thesmo·philist. nonce-wd. [f. Gr. θεσμός law (f. root θε- to lay down) + -φιλ-ος, -PHIL + -IST.] A lover of law.

1644 SIR E. DERING Prop. Sacr. e iij b, His Bishop [Bp. Wren], that great Thesmophilist.

Thesmophoric (pesmofˈrik), a. Gr. Antiq. [f. Gr. (τὰ) θεσμοφόρια, neut. pl. (f. θεσμοφόρος, f. θεσμός law + -φορος -bearing, an epithet of the goddess Demeter) + -IC.] Of or pertaining to the Thesmophoria, an ancient Greek festival held by women in honour of Demeter. So Thesmophor·rian a., in same sense.

1882 W. M. RAMSAY in Encycl. Brit. XVII. 127/2 The Thesmophoric rites are so obscure that no sure idea can be gained of the relation between them and the simpler Arcadian cultus. 1891 Cent. Dict., Thesmophorian.

Thesmothete (peˈsmoθīt, -pet). Also in Gr. form thesmothetes (pesmoˈθētēz), pl. -thetæ. [ad. Gr. θεσμοθέτης, pl. -θέται (see def.), f. θεσμός law + -θέτης, forming agent-nouns from root θε- to place, lay down.] Each of the six inferior archons in ancient Athens, who were judges and law-givers; hence transf. one who lays down the law.

1603 HOLLAND Plutarch Explan. Words, Thesmothetes, were six of the nine Archontes or chiefe rulers in Athens during their free popular estate. 1727 BAILEY vol. II, Thesmothete, a Law-giver. 1819 H. BUSK Tax 18 Without these thesmothetes their laws enacted. 1874 T. HARDY Far fr. Madding Crowd x, Then this small thesmothete stepped from the table, and surged out of the hall.

Thesocyte (peˈsosəit). Biol. [irreg. f. Gr. θέσις putting, deposit + -CYTE.] (See quot.)

1887 SOLLAS in Encycl. Brit. XXII. 420/2 Reserve cells or thesocytes have been described in several sponges as well as amyelin and oil-bearing cells.

Thesorar, -er, variant of THESAURER Obs.

Thespian (peˈspiən), a. and sb. [f. Gr. proper name Θέσπις + -AN.]

A. adj. Of or pertaining to Thespis, the traditional father of Greek tragedy (6th c. B. C.); hence, of or pertaining to tragedy, or the dramatic art; tragic, dramatic.

1675 COCKER Morals 39 Nectar, Ambrosia, and the Thespian Spring, May all avant, for Mony is the Thing. 1748 THOMSON Cast. Indol. i. 49 Oft they snatch the pen, As if inspir'd, and in a Thespian rage; Then write and blot, as would your ruth engage. 1847 (title) Theatrical Times, a Weekly Magazine of Thespian Biography. 1855 KINGSLEY Westw. Ho ii, To extemporise a pageant,..or any effort of the Thespian art. 1906 Athenæum 3 Mar. 256/2 The Chorus was a reminiscence of the old Thespian drama.

B. sb. A tragedian; an actor or actress.

1827 W. KENNEDY Poems 42 The Thespian's outward guise Of happiness, her secret mood belies. 1864 DORAN Ann. Eng. Stage I. v. 121 The..Lord Chamberlain..clapped the unoffending Thespian..in the Gate House.

Thessaure, var. THESAUR Obs., treasure.

Thessel, -downe, obs. form of THISTLE, -DOWN.

† Thester, sb. Obs. Forms: 1 θiostru, -tro, þeostru, θiestru, þystru, -o, 2 þeostre, 3 þuster, 4 þustre, 4 þestri, þester, 4-5 thestre, 5 thestur. [OE. θiestru, þeostru, fem. (orig. of the -i decl.) = OS. thiustri; also OE. θiestre, þeostre, pl. -ru, neut.; f. THESTER a.] Darkness. lit. and fig.

Beowulf 87 Seþe in þystrum bad. c 897 K. ÆLFRED Gregory's Past. C. xxxv. 244 Se dæg biðierres dæges & þiestra þæg. a 900 tr. Bæda's Hist. v. xiii. [xii.] (1890) 426 He mec forlet in middum þæm þeostrum. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. xxii. 13 Warpaþ hine on þa nuttum þystro [c 1160 Hatton G. þeostran, Rushw. θiostre, Lindisf. θiostrum]. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 131 He ledde heom of þeostran and of scadewe. a 1250 Owl & Night. 230 Hit luuyeþ þuster & hateþ lyht. c 1315 SHOREHAM v. 130 Þaz hyt were þustre of nyht. 13.. E. E. Allit. P. B. 1775 Þay þrongen þeder in þe þester. c 1400 Destr. Troy 4629 Thunret in the thestur throly with all. a 1400-50 Alexander 4627 Quen it walows & wannes all our thestres.

Hence † The·sterful, peosterful a., full of darkness; † Theosterleyk (Orm. peosstrrleȝȝe), darkness.

c 1000 ÆLFRIC Hom. II. 350 Se engel me lædde..to þære þeostorfulre stowe. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. vi. 23 Eall þin lic-hama byð ðysterfull [c 1160 Hatton G. þeosterful]. c 1200 ORMIN 2964, I þiss lifess þeosstrrleȝȝe.

† Thester, a. Obs. Forms: 1 θiostre, *θiestre, þystre, þiostor, 1-2 þeoster (-or, -ur), 1-3 þeostre, 2 þiestre, þostre, 2-3 þestre, 2-4 þester, 3 þuster, -re, þestere, (Orm. þesstert), 4 þyestre, þister, þyster, 4-5 thester, -ir, 5 thestur. [OE. θiostre, þeostre, in WS. (with umlaut) þiestre, þystre, = OS. thiustri, OFris. thiistere, MDu. duister (Du. duister, MLG., LG., G. düster), +-O Teut. þiustr-jo*.. Ulterior etymology uncertain.] Dark. lit. and fig.

Beowulf 2000 Þæs þe wæll beostrum þeþonum. a 900 tr. Bæda's Hist. v. xiii. [xii.] (1890) 426 Under ðæm scuan þære ðeostran nihte. c 1000 Ags. Ps. (Th.) xviii[i]. 12 Þa hangodes þiestre þystru wæter on þam wolcnum. a 1175 Cott. Hom. 233 H[e] sweneð hus mid þiestre nicht. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 39 Al þis lif..is to nihte iefned, for þat it is swa þester of ure ateliche synnes. c 1200 ORMIN 16774 Nicodem, þatt comm till ure Laferrd O þesterr nahht. Ya 1300 XI Pains Hell in O. E. Misc. 150 þe studie is þurrhe þenne þe nyht. Ibid. 225 Þustrur þanne þe nyht. c 1315 SHOREHAM v. 146 Be hyt byster, be hyt lyȝt. 1340 Ayenb. 45 Þise zelleres of cloþ þet chieseþ þe þyestre stedes huer hi zelleþ hare cloþ. c 1400 Destr. Troy 9362 He þrong into þicke wodes, þesterwithin. Ya 1500 Chester Pl. (Shaks. Soc.) I. 226 He maie goe no thester waie.

† Thester, v. Obs. Forms: 1 θ-, þeostrian, þiestrian, þystrian, 2 þestrian, 2-3 þ(e)ostren, 3 þustren, 4 þester. [OE. þeostrian, þiestrian, f. þeostre, THESTER a. Cf. G. düstern.]

1. intr. To become dark, grow dim.

a 900 tr. Bæda's Hist. v. xiii. [xii.] (1890) 426 Þa þeseah ic onginnan ðeostrian ða stowe. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Gen. xlviii. 10 Israelis eagan þystrodon þurr micelun ylde. c 1175 O. E. Chron. an. 1135 (Laud MS.) þa þestrede þe dæi ouer al landes. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 143 Steorren sculen þeostren. c 1205 LAY. 4574 Þeostrede [c 1275 þustrede] þa wolcne.

2. trans. To make dark, darken; to dim.

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xxxviii. § 5 Se dæg blent & þiostraþ heora eagan. c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Mark xiii. 24 Sunna biþ ge-þiostrod. a 1225 Ancr. R. 94 Þet heo her þeostreð nu þam suluen.

† The·sterly, a. and adv. Forms: 1 þeosterlic (adj.), 4 þiesterliche (adv.). [f. THESTER a.: see -LY 1, 2.] a. adj. Dark. b. adv. Darkly.

c 1000 ÆLFRIC Hom. I. 504 Þæs muntes cnoll mid beosterlicum ȝeþancum eal oferhangen wæs. 1340 Ayenb. 244 Þe clene of herte þet hier ssolle ysy him be byleaue, ac alneway þiesterliche.

† The·sterness. Obs. Forms: see THESTER a. [OE. þeosternes, etc., f. þeostre, THESTER a. + -NESS.] Darkness. lit. and fig.

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xxxiv. § 8 Þesternes. c 893 — Oros. vi. ii. § 3 Wearð micel þeosternes ofer ealne middangeard. c 1000 Ags. Hom. (ed. Assmann 1889) 203 Þa com..þære nihte þysternys. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 61 Þe engles a-dun follon in to þe þosternesse hellen. a 1200 Moral Ode 277 Eure þer is vuel smech, þusternesse and eie. c 1200 ORMIN 16737, & menn ne lufenn nohht te lihht Acc lufenn þesternesse. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 1942 Quiles he slep, In ðis þisternesse, old and eie. c 1300 Havelok 2191 Gon was þisternesse of þe nith. 1377 LANGL. P. Pl. B. xvi. 160 On a thoresday in thesternesse þus was he taken. Ya 1500 Chester Pl. ii. 12 Twynned shalbe throughe my mighte the lighte from thesternes.

† Thestri, a. Obs. Forms: 1 θiostrig, þystriz, 3 þeostri, 4 thestri. [OE. θiostrig, f. þiostre, þeostre, THESTER a. + -ig: see -Y.] Dark (lit. and fig.); = THESTER a.

a 900 WERFERTH Gregory's Dial. (1900) 76 Þonne biþ þin lichama eall þystriz. c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Mark viii. 17 Þiostriz..zie habbaþ hearta iuer. a 1240 Urείsun in Cott. Hom. 221 Allit mine þeostri þeoes. c 1325 Body & Soul in Map's Poems (Camden) 346 In a thestri stude y stod.

Thesuerer, variant of THESAURER Obs.

Thet, pet, obs. f. THAT; obs. neut. sing. of THE.

Theta (pˈtä). [a. Gr. θῆτα: see def.] The eighth letter of the Greek alphabet, Θ, θ (see TH).

In ancient Greece, on the ballots used in voting upon a sentence of life or death, θ stood for θάνατος, death; hence in allusive use.

1623 DANIEL Def. Ryme H iv, Setting his Theta or marks of condemnation vppon them. 1626-61 HOLYDAY Persius iv. 317 And the black theta, signe of deadly shame, Thou can'st prefix 'fore an offenders name. 1682 SIR T. BROWNE Chr. Mor. I. § 22 At the Tribunal..wherein iniquities have their natural Theta's, and no nocent is absolved by the verdict of himself. 1789 M. MADAN tr. Persius (1795) 103 Able to fix the black theta to a man.

b. attrib. and Comb., as theta-sounding adj.; theta-function, in Math., a name for two different functions: (a) the sum of a series from $n = -\infty$ to $n = +\infty$ of terms denoted by $\exp(n^2a + 2na)$; also extended to a similar function of several variables; (b) a function occurring in probabilities, expressed by the integral $\int e^{-2}dt$; theta-phi diagram, the temperature-entropy diagram, which represents the heat-units converted into work per pound of working fluid ($\theta$ = absolute temperature, and $\phi$ = entropy).

1871 M. COLLINS Mrg. & Merch. III. iii. 88 You [English] are a theta-sounding people. 1879 CAYLEY Coll. Math. Papers X. 475 We have thus an addition-with-subtraction theorem for the double theta-functions. 1901 Pract. Engineer Pocket Bk. 166 The temperature-entropy diagram is usually called the θφ (theta-phi) diagram.

Thetch (pet]). dial. [A dial. form of fetch = VETCH: cf. thane [2], and see TH (6).]

1733 W. ELLIS Chiltern & Vale Farm. 50 Waggon Loads of Peas, Theitches, Chaff and other Grain. 1799 in Q. Fmal. Economics Nov. (1907) 77 To be sowed Wheat as soon as the thetches are tyed off. 1893 Wilts. Glossy., Thetches, Thatches, vetches. Lent thetches are an early spring kind.

Thetch(e, obs. variants of TEACH.

Thete (pit). Gr. Antiq. [ad. Gr. θής, θητ-, orig. a villein, slave.] In ancient Athens, by the constitution of Solon, a free man of the lowest class, whose property in land was assessed at less than 150 medimni.

1652 L. S. People's Liberty ix. 17 Such whose revenue amounted not to so much as 200 measures of arable and liquide fructs (who were called Thetes). 1846 GROTE Greece I. xxi. II. 131 Poor freemen called Thetes, working for hire. Ibid. 132 The condition of a slave under an average master may have been as good as that of the free Thête.

Thete, variant of THEAT.

Thethe, Thething, erroneous spelling of tethe, tething, = TITHE, TITHING.

† Thethen, adv. Obs. Forms: 2-3 (Orm.) þeþenn, 3 ðeðen, 4 þi-, þei-, þeyþen, þeþin, thythen, þeden, -in, 4-5 þeþen, -þin, -thyn, þeþen, -then, -thyn, 5 þ-, thethin, -thyne. [Early ME., a. ON. þeðan, Icel. þaðan (MSw. thædhan, obs. Da. deden), f. root of THE with suffix of 'motion from', as in HETHEN, WHETHEN; cf. Gr. -θεν.] From that place; = THENCE.

c 1200 ORMIN 1098 Siþenn þede he þeþenn ut. c 1220 Bestiary 797 in O. E. Misc. 23 Þeðen he sal cumen eft. a 1300 Cursor M. 6190 Þai suld his banes þeþen bring. Ib. 8045 (G.) Þai drow it þedin [F. þeiþen]. c 1400 Melayne 519 The myghte of god..Had broghte tham thethyn a way. c 1450 St. Cuthbert (Surtees) 54 Sho byed her þeþin fast.

b. Preceded by fro (= from).

1340 HAMPOLE Pr. Conse. 1018 Þe ayre fra þeþen, and þe heat of þe son Sustayns þe erthe þe more. c 1400 Destr. Troy 8990 Fro thethen the lycour belyne launchit doun evyn. c 1420 Wars of Alexander (Roxb) 66 Fra thethyn, Alexander remowede his Oste & come to þe sates of Caspee.

Hence † The·thenforth adv. = THENCEFORTH; † The·thenward adv. = THENCEWARD.

c 1200 ORMIN 10786 Iwhilc mann þatt .. Iss laþhelike fulllnnedd Birrþ siþhenn dun fra þeþennforþ Off modinnessess lawe. Ibid. 18176, & þeþennforþ to þewwtenn Crist. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 69 Ðe ðeðen forð shal wexen alse he seide. 13.. Cursor M. 6357 (Fairf.) Fra þeþen forþ sir moises þer wandes bare. Ibid. 14557 (Cott.) In effraym duelt he..And þeþen ward son can he fuhde.

Thether, -ur, obs. forms of THITHER.

† Thethey, obs. ? scribal error for TEETHY a.[1]

c 1400 Rowland & O. 1032 Gude sir, ryde my lemmane nere, the knyghte es full thethey.

Thethorn, variant of THEVE-THORN Obs.

Thethy: see TETHY.

Thetic (peˈtik), a. (sb.) [ad. Gr. θετικ-ός such as is placed or is fit to be placed; positive, affirmative, f. θέτος placed, f. root θε- to place.]

1. Characterized by laying down or setting forth; involving positive statement: cf. THESIS 4.

1678 GALE Crt. Gentiles III. Pref., To render our Discourse the lesse offensive, we have cast it into a thetic and dogmatic method, rather than agonistic and polemic. 1837 E. BICKERSTETH Life Francke iv. 61 Thetic and historical divinity were not the fields which Francke had chosen to lecture upon. 1882 A. M. FAIRBAIRN in Contemp. Rev. Dec. 862 His [Mohammed's] genius was not thetic, but synthetic, not creative but constructive.

2. Pros. That bears the thesis; stressed.

1825 J. GRANT in Monthly Mag. XXXIX. 303 The first syllable of each being thetic or emphatic and the remainder of the foot being in arsis or remiss.

b. 'Beginning with a thesis' (Cent. Dict. 1891).

B. sb. (pl.) Thetics (nonce-wd.), the art of laying down principles or putting forth propositions.

1864 CARLYLE Fredk. Gt. xvi. v. (1873) VI. 182 Polemics, Thetics, Exegetics.

Thetical (peˈtikəl), a. [f. as prec. + -AL: see -ICAL.] Of the nature of or involving direct or positive statement; laid down or stated positively or absolutely; positive; dogmatic; arbitrary.

1653 H. More Conject. Cabbal. (1713) 66 This Law..was merely Thetical or Positive, not Indispensable and Natural. 1678 Cudworth Intell. Syst. Pref. 2. 1718 J. Chamberlayne Relig. Philos. Pref. (1730) 4 The Thetical Way..must not appear imperfect to them. 1893 W. Humphrey Divn. Teacher p. iii, A thetical exposition of the Catholic doctrine.

Thetically (þe·tikăli), adv. [f. Thetical + -ly 2.] In a thetical manner; by way of assertion or positive statement; positively.

1657 W. Morice Coena quasi Koινή v. 58 Why should the same thing be true when proposed thetically, generally.., and false when applied hypothetically, particularly? 1697 G. K. Disc. Geom. Problems 12, [I] have proposed it rather Problematically than Thetically. 1870 M. J. Evans Oosterzee's Theol. N. T. 305 The doctrine of justification is in the Epistle to the Romans presented more thetically (i. e. by way of statement), in Galatians more polemically.

Thetis (þe·tis). [a. Gr. Θέτις, proper name.]

1. Gr. and Rom. Mythology. One of the Nereids or sea-nymphs, the mother of Achilles; poetically, the sea personified.

1422 Lydg. Min. Poems (Percy Soc.) 14 Thetes wiche is of water chef Goddes. c 1620 T. Robinson Mary Magd. 14 Neptune too, and Thetis greene, In my palace may bee seene. 1721 Shaftesb. Charact. (1737) II. 356 The bride-groom-doge, who in his stately Bucentaur floats on the bosom of his Thetis, has less possession than the poor shepherd, who from a hanging rock..admires her beauty. 1820 Keenan Engl. Lang. Sen. I. Wither's Epithe 87 If.. he laid his head In Thetis's lap beneath the seas.

2. Astron. Name of the seventeenth asteroid.

Hence †The·tisie, obs. nonce-wd., the abode of Thetis and the Nereids; the watery realm.

1600 Tourneur Transf. Metam. xi, The Treasure-house of Neptune's Thetisie. Ibid. lxxiv, When fatall Neptune.. hal'd him to his Thetisie.

Thetsee, var. Thitsi, black-varnish tree.

Theu, theue, var. Thew, Thew.

Theurgic (þi,ə·rdʒik), a. (sb.) [ad. L. theurgicus, a. Gr. θευργικός magical: see Theurgy and -ic. So F. théurgique (14th c.).] Of or pertaining to theurgy.

1610 Healey St. Aug. Citie of God x. lix. 371 Certaine Theurgike consecrations called Teletae. 1718 Dr. Hutchinson Witchcraft 33 A Golden Image of Jupiter, prepared by this Theurgic Art. 1834 Lytton Pompeii iv. viii. (see Goetic A.). 1861 – Str. Story (1862) I, 313 Every secret ..which the nobler, or theurgic, magic seeks to fathom. 1895 Farrar Gathering Clouds ii. 38 Whatever skill..of medicine he possessed, he eked it out with theurgic pretences.

†B. sb. A theurgist. Obs. rare.

1610 Healey St. Aug. Citie of God x. xvi. (1620) 362 Let the Platonists, Theurgiques (or rather Perirgikes..) or any other Philosophers answer. Ibid. 395 They whom the malitious Theurgike bound from purging the soule of the good one.

Theurgical (þi,ə·rdʒikăl), a. [f. as prec. + -al: see -ical.] = prec. adj.

1569 [see Theurgy 1]. 1610 Healey St. Aug. Citie of God 395 The true Angels..differ from them that descend unto men that use Theurgical conjurations. 1652 [see Goetical]. 1678 Cudworth Intell. Syst. I. iv. § 16, 286 This Divine Magick of Zoroaster..degenerated..into the Theurgical Magick. a 1834 Coleridge Lit. Rem. (1839) III. 159 A corrupt mystical theurgical pseudo-Platonism.

Hence Theu·rgically adv.

1854 Maurice Mor. & Met. Philos. II. 71 The author proposes to discuss..theurgical [questions] theurgically.

Theurgist (þi,ə·rdʒist). [f. Theurg(y + -ist. Cf. F. théurgiste (18th c.).] One who practises or believes in theurgy; a magician.

1652 Gaule Magastrom. xxvi, The sacrilegious theurgist will consecrate my head to the devil. 1678 Cudworth Intell. Syst. I. iv. § 15, 269 One of those more refined [magicians], who have been called by themselves Theurgists. 1856 R. A. Vaughan Mystics (1860) I. i. iv. 24 The mysticism of the theurgist, who will pass the bounds of the dreaded spirit world..to seize one of its thrones.

Theurgy (þi,ə·rdʒi). [ad. L. theurgia, a. Gr. θευργία sorcery, f. θεός god + -εργος working. So F. théurgie (14th c. in Godef. Compl.).]

1. A system of magic, originally practised by the Egyptian Platonists, to procure communication with beneficent spirits, and by their aid produce miraculous effects; in later times distinguished as 'white magic' from Goety or 'black magic'.

1569 J. Sanford tr. Agrippa's Van. Artes 59 b, Porphierie who doth muche dispute of this Theurgie or Magicke of things denine doth wilfully conclude that with Theurgiall consecrations mans minde may be made apte to receaue Spirites and Angels. 1584 R. Scot Discov. Witcher. xv. xlii. (1886) 392 There is yet another art, which is called Theurgie; wherein they worke by good angels. 1652 Gaule Magastrom. xxvi, Of ceremoniall magick there are two parts, goetie and theurgie. 1725 [see Goety]. 1899 W. R. Inge Chr. Mysticism vii. 267 The turbid streams of theurgy and magic flowed into the broad river of Christian thought by two channels—the Neo-Platonism, and Jewish Cabbalism.

2. The operation of a divine or supernatural agency in human affairs; the effects produced among men by direct divine or spiritual action.

1858 Gladstone Homer III. 564 We stand here at a juncture in the poem, where its theurgy supersedes its human mechanism. 1873 M. Arnold Lit. & Dogma (1876) 167 The constant tendency of popular Christianity to add to the element of theurgy and thaumaturgy, to increase and develope it. 1878 Gladstone Prim. Homer 86 The Olympian court is the masterpiece of the whole theurgy of Homer.

†Theutonicke, obs. form of Teutonic.

†Theve, sb. Obs. rare$^{-1}$. The first element of Theve-thorn, of uncertain derivation: app. Brushwood, bush, shrub; = Brush sb.[1] 2.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 490/2 Theve, brusch [v. r. brush: no Latin equivalent given].

†Theve, v. Obs. Also 4 thef. [ME. a. ON. þefa to smell, to sniff. Cf. Thef.] trans. To smell.

13.. Cursor M. 23456 (Gött.) In þis lijf has man gret liking..Snete spiced to theue [Edin. thef, Cott. fell (= fele), F. tast] and smell.

Theves, obs. pl. of Theave, Thief.

†The·ve-thorn, the·thorn. Obs. Forms: 1 þeþanthorn, þefan-, þeofe-, þife-, þyfe-, 1–3 þefeþorn, 3–5 theve-, 4 theoue, thef-, 4–5 thethorn(e); (5 thewe-, threw-thorn). [Cogn. with OHG. depandorn (Ahd. Glossen I. 237, 34). Etymology of first element uncertain.

Grimm, Kl. Schr. I. 246, renders depandorn 'brenndorn', comparing 'deba, diba incendium', in the Malb. Glosa. This might refer to thorns used for burning or kinding a fire. See also Van Helten in P. & B. Beitr. XXV. 348.]

Name of some thorny shrub.

a. In OE. and ME. glossaries commonly rendering L. rhamnus, which was sometimes in late and med.L. applied to the bramble or blackberry-bush, and was sometimes glossed by whitethorn or hawthorn.

The sense 'bramble' or 'blackberry-bush' is supported by L. mōrus in Metr. Voc. (which has this sense sometimes in Pliny, and still in Romanic langs.); that of 'hawthorn' by the red fruit of Sinon. Barthol. (Theethorn could not be buckthorn, the late botanical identification of Rhamnus with buckthorn being merely a caprice of Linnæus, without any ancient warrant).

a 700 Epinal Gloss. (O. E. T.) 880 Ramnus, thebanthorn. c 725 Corpus Gloss. 1710 Ramnus, ðeofeðorn. c 1000 Sax. Leechd. II. 312 Wib wlyre wyrc sealfe; nim.. þefan þorn. Ibid. III. 56 Nim..ðefeþorn. c 1000 Ags. Voc. in Wr.-Wülcker 460/27 Ramnus, coltestrappe, þefanþorn. c 1050 Ælfric Voc. ibid. 139/20 Ramnus, þifeþorn. Ibid. 149/32 Ramnus, uel sentix ursina, ðyfeþorn. a 1300 E. E. Psalter lviii(l). 10 Ar-til þai undre-stande bi-forn Of youre thornes of hewe-thorn [1398 Wyclif theue thorn, Vulg. rhamnus]. 13.. Heber MS. 8336 in Promp. Parv. 490 note, Nym the floures of theoue-thorn. a 1340 Hampole Psalter lvii. 9 Rammyn, þat þai call thefthorne, has swilke a kynd, þat it is first soft, and sithen turnes it in till thornes. a 1387 Sinon. Barthol. (Anecd. Oxon.) 36 Ramnus est frutex spinosus ferens rubeos fructus, i. thethorne. 1388 Wyclif Judg. ix. 14 And alle trees seiden to the ramne [gloss either theue thorn; or bramble, rammum] 1582 to the thorn], Come thou, and be lord on vs. 14.. Metr. Voc. in Wr.-Wülcker 629/6 Morus, theue-thornys. 14.. Nom. Ibid. 715/35 Hec rammus, ..a thethornte. c 1450 Medulla in Cath. Angl. 382 note, Ramnus, a whyte thorne or a thepe [? theve] bushe. 1483 Cath. Angl. 382/2 A Thethorne, rampnus.

b. Sometimes applied to the gooseberry.

In Ps. lvii. 9, the two 12th c. Anglo-Norman Psalters (ed. Fr. Michel, 1860, 1876) render rhamnus by groseiller, groseier, gooseberry, and this identification is found in some ME. glossaries, and was also adopted by Theodore Gaza, c 1450. Cf. also Fraberry, Dayberry, possibly dialectal alterations of thefthorn.

c 1265 Voc. in Wr.-Wülcker 558/29 Ramni, i. [Fr.] groseiler, i. [Eng.] þefeþorn. c 1450 Alphita (Anecd. Oxon.) 56 Rampnus, gallice grisiler, anglice, threwthorn. [1862 Wright Hist. Domest. Mann. 296 In the dialect of Norfolk, gooseberries are still called theabes.] Cf. Thepes, thepes gooseberries (Eng. Dial. Dict.).

†The·vis ne·k. Sc. Obs. = 'Thief's neck', one fit for the gallows: a term of opprobrium.

In quots. represented as the cry of the tewhit or lapwing.

c 1450 Holland Howlat 823 The Tuchet and the gukkit Golk..Callis him (the Rook) thrys thevisnek, to thrawe in a widdy. c 1549 Compl. Scot. vi. 39 The tuechitis cryit theuis nek, quhen the piettis clattrit.

Thew (þiu), sb.[1] Forms: 1–3 þeaw, þeau, (1 Seow), 2–3 þew, 2–5 þew, þewe, 3 þeauw, þeuw, þeæw, þeu, 4 theaw, 4–5 theu, thue, 4–9 thewe, (5 thegh), 4– thew. [OE. þeaw = OS. thau usage, custom, habit, OHG. thau (dau) discipline. Not recorded outside WGer. langs. Ulterior etymology uncertain.]

†1. A custom, usage, general practice (e. g. of a people, community, or class). Obs.

Beowulf 360 Cube he bugude þeaw. c 893 K. Ælfred Oros. v. 1 Siþþan was hiera þeaw. c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. John xix. 40 Sua Seau Iuðeum [Rushw. Seow Iudea, Ags. Gosp. iudea þ[eaw, Hatton G. iudea þæw] is þyþyrfe. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 47 Wich þeau was on þe olde lage. Ibid., Swich þeu wes bi þan dagen.

†b. pl. Customs ordained; ordinances. Obs.

13.. E. E. Allit. P. B. 544 In de-voydynge þe vylanye þat venkquyst his þewez. Ibid. 755. 1624 Quarles Job vii. 7 Thy sacred Thewes, and sweet Instructions, did Helpe those were falling, rays'd up such as slid.

†2. A custom or habit of an individual; manner of behaving or acting; hence, a personal quality (mental or moral); a characteristic, attribute, trait. Chiefly in pl. Obs.

c 888 K. Ælfred Boeth. xxvii. § 2 Wisdom..selces godes þeawes he þeffyllð þone þe hine lufað. c 893 — Oros. vi. xiv. § 1 He wæs swiþe yfel monn ealra þeawa. 971 Blickl. Hom. 217 Wæs he swiðe geþungen on his þeawum. c 1000 Ælfric Gen. xxxi. 5 Ic geseo on eowres fader þeawum, þat he nys swa wel wið me geworht. c 1200 Ormin 7328, I dæme unnclene þohht & þæw. c 1205 Lay. 5361 Morpidus .. Monnene strengest of maine and of þeauwe. c 1230 Hali Meidd. 3 Euch meiden þat hauedð meidene þeawes. a 1300 Cursor M. 1947 (Cott.) To doghty thues lok þou þe gif. 1382 Wyclif 1 Cor. xv. 33 Forsoth yuele spechis corumpen (or distroyen) goode thewis (or vertues). 1422 tr. Secreta Secret., Priv. Priv. 211 A man may not fynde in no beste, custume ne thegh, wyche is noght in a man. 1456 Sir G. Have Law Arms (S.T.S.) 120 The vertues cardinalis..reule of all vertues and gude thewis as kingis. 1508 Dunbar Twa Marit Wemen 119 Full of eldnyng..and anger, and all euill thewis. 1559 Mirr. Mag., Dk. Clarence xviii, In vertuous thewes. 1590 Spenser F. Q. II. x. 59 Helena..in all goodly thewes and goodly praise Did far excell. 1829 Southey Madoc ix. xviii, In martial thewes and manly discipline, To train the sons of Owen.

†b. Without qualification: A good quality or habit; a virtue; courteous or gracious action. Obs.

c 1205 Lay. 300 þis child leuede & wel þei, & þeweas (c 1275 þeuwes) hit luuede. a 1225 Ancr. R. 278 þes þeau [humility] is alre þeauwene moder. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 2757 Hu a junge man, at te welle[n] Deawe and wursipe hem dede. 13.. Cursor M. 20996 (Cott.) A man o mekenes and o theu. 1357 Lay Folks Catech. 406 The third vertu or thewe is charite. c 1400 Emaré 58 She thawgth [= taught] hir curtesye and thewe, Golde and sylke for to sewe. 1575 Gascoigne Notes Instr. in Steele Gl. etc. (Arb.) 37 This poeticall license..turkeneth all things at pleasure, for example, yatone for done..thewes for good partes or good qualities.

3. pl. Physical good qualities, features, or personal endowments. † a. generally (e. g. the fair features or lineaments of a woman). Obs.

1567 Turbervy. Ovid's Epist. xv. N iv b, Doost thou thinke ..that dollish silly man, The thewes of Helens passing forme, may indge, or throughly sees Ibid. xviii. O vj, I leane her thewes vntouch't, Wherein she may compare With heauenly peeres, such feature fals On earthlie creatures rare.

b. The bodily powers or forces of a man (L. vires), might, strength, vigour; in Shaks., bodily proportions, lineaments, or parts, as indicating physical strength; in modern use after Scott, muscular development, associated with sinews, and hence materialized as if = muscles or tendons.

1566 Euch tr. Seneca's Octavia i. v. B iii b, Ere while thilke wretch recoyleth backe againe, And to my thews for ayde retyres anaine. 1597 Shaks. 2 Hen. IV, iii. ii. 276 Care I for the Limbes, the Thewes, the stature, bulke, and big assemblance of a man? giue mee the spirit. 1601 — Jul. C. i. iii. 82 Romans now Haue Thewes, and Limbes, like to their Ancestors. 1602 — Ham. i. iii. 12 Nature crescant does not grow alone, In thewes and Bulke. 1791 Cowper Odyss. xvii. 271 He should on bulkier thewes Supported stand (Cf. Pope Iliad xv. 264 Your labour those big joints could learn). 1818 Scott Rob Roy iii, My fellow-traveller, to judge by his thewes and sinews, was a man who might have set danger at defiance. 1843 Lytton Last Bar. i. vi, A man who values his kind mainly by the thews and their sinews. 1850 Tennyson In Mem. ciii, 31, I felt the thews of Anakim, The pulses of a Titan's heart. 1887 Miss Braddon Like & Unlike i, Nature has been kinder to your brother in the matter of thew and sinew.

c. fig. Applied to cords or ropes.

1851 Melville The Whale xvi. I. 111 (Descr. of a ship), Bulwarks..garnished .. with the long, sharp teeth of the sperm whale...to fasten her old hempen thews and tendons to. Those thews ran not through hole and eye of land wood, but deftly travelled through sheaves of sea-ivory.

†Thew (þiu), sb.[2] Obs. Also 3–4 theu, 3–6 thewe. [Known before 1250: etymology obscure; app. from Thew v., in sense 'chastise'; but OE. þȳwan, þēowan 'to press, squeeze, compress' is also a possible source. The forms are entirely with contemporary ones of Thew sb.[1]]

Name of an instrument or apparatus of punishment ordained, instead of the pillory, for women; often identified with the Cucking-stool. Also in comb. thewpenny (cf. Burghal-penny).

The med.L. equivalent was collistrigium, i. e. an iron collar compressing and confining the neck.

1275 Rot. Hundred. (1818) II. 300/2 (Bassetlaw, Notts) Tempore domini Walteri de Gray [a 1256]..levatum fuit le theu primo in villis ejusdem Archiepiscopi..jam xxx annis elapsis. 1287 Plac. de Quo Warranto (1818) 17/1 Iii habet tantumodo tumberellum et theu. Ibid. 11/2 Cum soca et saka ..boruhapeny et theupeny. 1290–1 Ipswich Domesday lxxiv. in Blk. Bk. Admir. (Rolls) II. 164 Femmes qe sunt communis tenceresses..seyent eles chastiez par la juyse qe [est] apele le theu. 1364 Lett. Bk. G. London ff. 237 Consideratum fuit..quod præfata Alicia subhiat judicium cullistr' pro mulieribus inde ordinat' vocata la Thewe (tr. Riley Mem. (1868) 319 That the said Alice should undergo the punishment of the pillory for women ordained, called the thewe.] 1391 Ibid. H. lf. 258 b, Quod eadem Isabella ponatur super le Thewe pro mulieribus ordinat'..ibidem moratura per unam horam diei [tr. ibid. 526, that she should be put upon the thewe, for women ordained, for one hour of the day]. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 490/2 Thewe, or pylory, collistrigium. c 1450 Surtees Misc. (1888) 60 Yᵉ sayd Burgese schall ..ordan a pelory and a thewe, lawfull and strange. 1483 Cath. Angl. 382/2 A Thewe, tripetheum (A. Collistrigium, et cetera). 15.. in MS. Harl. 2115 lf. 77 Punire per iudicium de Thewe, hoc est ponere eas super Scabellum vocatum Cokestolle. 1533 Surtees Misc. (1888) 34 She shalnot chyde ne flyte, ..oppen ridyng of the leden, of thew, aboute the towne. 1597 Henry Harrison England ii. xxx. (1877) I. 310 It is not lawfull for anie subiect..to..set vp furels, tumbrell, thew, or pillorie. 1656 Phillips (ed. 5), Thew, an old Word for a Cucking Stool.

Thew, sb.[3] and v.[1] ME. form of Thew sb. and v.

†Thew, v.[2] Obs. In early ME. þeawen, pa. pple. i-þeawed, i-þeuwed. [app. f. OE. þēaw, Thew sb.[1]] trans. To instruct in morals or manners; to discipline, train, instruct, chastise.

(In quots. a 1225 and c 1305 it may possibly represent or be influenced by OE. þȳwan, þȳgan, þēowan to press, oppress, repress, threaten, rebuke, which otherwise does not appear to have come down into ME.)

c 1200 ORMIN 6217, & þunne birrþ nimenn mikell gom To þewenn wunnkerr childlire. a 1225 Ancr. R. 268 (MS. T.) Tu ne schuldest nout tuhten, ne chasten þi meiden uor hire gultes, ne þeawe pine servanz. c 1305 Pilat 57 in E. E. P. (1862) 172 Po þ'emperour iiurde þat he miȝte þat lifere folc so þewe, He ne huld non so queynte man as he huld pe schrewe. c 1422 HOCCLEVE Learn to Die 83 And thee the betre for to thewe, The misterie of my lore y shal the shewe. 1625 GILL Sacr. Philos. iv. 53 Although some Fathers were no better Cosmographers then to think this; yet for the most part they were better thewed [Pinstructed, or mannered].

Thewed (þiūd), ppl. a. Also 2 þeauud, 3–4 þeu(e)d, 3 i-þeewed, i-þeuwed. [Orig. pa. pple. of THEW v., but app. often treated as f. THEW *sb.*1 + -ED 2.]

†1. Trained, instructed in morals or manners; having qualities or manners (of a specified kind). Chiefly in compounds, as ill-thewed, WELL-THEWED, etc., -mannered, -conditioned, -natured.

c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 41 þe wise man and þat wel þeauud child habbeð boðe on lage. c 1205 LAY. 6556 He wes swiðe soðfest and swiðe wel iþeewed (c 1275 i-þeuwed). c 1374 CHAUCER Compl. Mars 180 My lady is..so wel fortuned and thewed That thorow the worlde her goodnesse is yshewed. c 1440 Pallad. on Husb. iv. 895 [Foals] So thewed that from high quyete & reste Anon they mse be teered forto prike. 1456 SIR G. HAYE Law Arms (S.T.S.) 150 Men-fold of vicis, ryotous and evil thewit. 1590 SPENSER F. Q. II. vi. 26 Yet would not seeme so rude, and thewed ill As to despise so curteous seeming part. 1596 — Hymne in Hon. Beautie 138 A beauteous soule, with faire conditions thewed.

†b. spec. Having good qualities or manners.

a 1300 Cursor M. 8425 [Þe child es theud [v. rr. theued, þewed] and mild o mode, Lok þat he hal maister god. 13.. Ibid. 7632 (Fairf.) If þou be þewed and also curtaise, Þen sitte first I wille be praise. 13.. E. E. Allit. P. B. 733 Aa.1 blessed be þow,..so boner & þewed. [a 1601 ? MARSTON Pasquil & Kath. III. 26 Nay, good Thewte hart: good kind lacke, stay.]

2. Having thews or muscles (of a specified kind).

1864 WEBSTER s. v., A well-thewed limb. 1865 SWINBURNE Chastelard i. ii. 34 Do you know that lord With sharp-set eyes? and him with huge thewed throat? Ibid. iv. 1. 216 You have a heart thewed harder than my heart. 1888 C. DE KAY Vis. Nimrod iv. 71 A fearful beast..Amazing thewed, with fourfold plate-like horns.

†Thew·edly, adv. Obs. rare—1. [f. prec. + -LY 2.] In a well-mannered way; virtuously.

13.. Cursor M. 28663 (Cott.) Charite..bidides us bath in gode and ill Theudli to serwi blow wiðouten ill.

†Thew·ful, a. Obs. [f. THEW *sb.*1 + -FUL.] Full of or characterized by good qualities; good, virtuous, moral.

c 1205 LAY. 1797 Heo godd thonkeden mid þeu-fulle worden. a 1225 Ancr. R. 422 Talkeð mid uuer meidenes and mid beaufule talen schurteð ou to-gederes. c 1230 Hali Meid. 45 Wiðute oðer god & þawfulle niðhines. 13.. Cursor M. 2337 (Cott.) For [Abram] was theufull [F. curtays, Gr. Tr. meke] bath and hiud. Ibid. 2665 A theuful [G., Tr. holy] takynyng for to ken At tuin yow wit fra oper men.

Thewless (þiū·lès), a. Now only Sc. [f. THEW *sb.*1 + -LESS. Cf. THOWLESS.]

†1. Destitute of morals or virtue; vicious, immoral: = THOWLESS 1. Obs.

a 1327 Pol. Songs (Camden) 255 For lust hath leve, the lond is thewless. 1512 DOUGLAS Æneid IV. Prol. 163 Sic thewless lustis [sall returne] in bittir pane and wo.

2. Without energy, inert, spiritless: = THOWLESS 2.

1895 CROCKETT Men of Moss-Hags 1, He was a quiet, thewless, pleasantly conforming man. 1896 SNOWDEN Web of Weaver vi. 72, I seemed to stand thewless. 1900 C. MURRAY Hamewith 85 Like some puir dwinin' thewless wicht Wi' death in view. 1904 Dundee Advertiser 13 June 8/1 That the 'thewless' and 'wastrel' class be relegated to labour colonies there to work out their own salvation.

Thewness. rare. [f. THEW *sb.*1 + -NESS.]

†a. Virtue. Obs. b. Vigour, robustness.

c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 177 Wunderful is ure louerd on þeunesse. 1860 W. J. C. MUIR Pagan or Christian 274 Real wealth lies in the sinewy force of moral thewness.

Thewtill, obs. variant of THWITTLE.

Thewy (þiū·i), a. rare. [f. THEW *sb.*1 3 + -Y.] Having well-developed thews; muscular, brawny.

1845 St. John Manchester 1. 1. There were..broad, hard hands in kid gloves; thewy, red elbows..in lace ruffles.

They (ðēi), pers. pron. Forms: see below. [Early ME. þei (in Ormin þeȝȝ), a. ON. þei-r, nom. pl. masc. of the simple demonstrative sá, sú, þat (= OE. þá, ME. þā, þō), which in ON. filled the place of the lost plural of the 3rd pers. pron.: cf. Norw., MSw., Sw., MDa., Da. de, 'they'. In OE. the 3rd pers. pron. had its own plural hi, hie, hig, heo, which continued in extreme southern dialect to about 1400, and in the oblique cases a century longer: see HI 2, HEM pron., HER *poss. pron.*2 But even in OE. the function of hi was largely shared by the pl. demonstrative þá 'those', ME. northern þāi, midl. and south. þō: see THO dem. pron. 1. The Trin. Coll. Homilies, c 1200, have both hie and þei, but only hem, her(e for 'them, their'. Ormin, c 1200, has always þeȝȝ in the nom., but often henmm and heore, here, beside þeȝȝm and þeȝȝre. Between 1200 and 1500 the Norse forms gradually displaced the original pronominal: in Caxton's earlier works we find thei, hem, hir, and in the later thei, theim, their. See HE, HI 2, THO dem. pron.]

A. Illustration of Forms.

3 (Orm.) þeȝȝ, (teȝȝ), 3 ðei, 3–5 þei, þai (tai), þey, 4 (þi, þy), 4–6 thei, thai (unstressed þe, the), 4–7 (Sc. -9) they, 5 (þeȝe, dey, 5–6 yei, 6–7 thee), 4- they.

c 1200 ORMIN 125–7, & swa þeȝȝ leddenn heore lif Till þatt þeȝ wæren alde, Þatt nafdenn þeȝȝ þurrh þeȝȝre strenn Nê sunne child ne dohhterr. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 189 For þan þe þei nehsie wunien. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 573 Mete quorbi þei miȝten liuen. a 1300 Cursor M. 19044 (Edin.) Ilkane als tai sais mistir haue. c 1300 Havelok 414 In þe castel..per þei sperd wore; þer he greenen ofte sore. c 1300 E. E. Psalter xxi. 5 Oure fadres in þe hoped þai. c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. Wace (Rolls) 2745 Þey zede spiande her & ber. Ibid. 9147 þoy weyse alle at ones. c 1375 Cursor M. 2225 (Fairf.) Quen thay..had fest þe gronde, þe werke thai raised. 1382 WYCLIF Matt. vi. 5 Thei han resseyued her meede. c 1386 CHAUCER Prol. 40 To telle yow al the condicion Of ech of hem..whiche they were and of what degree. c 1400 Rule St. Benet 10 Yeme þaim, þat tay folȝ þe wordis of god. c 1400 Brut 83 Thei of Normandye, Gascoigne & Spaigne. c 1400 Destr. Troy 8008 When the knewen all the cause, þo kynges lydene, All denyede it anon. a 1425 Cursor M. 5042 (Trin.) Into egipte soone coom þey. 14.. in Hist. Coll. Citizen London (Camden) 213 To set the pavys where the lykyd. c 1440 Generydes 2633 So fought ye still. c 1550 CHEKE Matt. xxvi. 15 Yei appointed him so silverlinges. 1559 BECON in Strype Ann. Ref. (1709) I. App. vii. 12 Thei be joyned as in one. c 1560 A. SCOTT Poems (S. T. S.) ii. 101 Than to Dalkeith thai maid thame boun. a 1584 MONTGOMERIE Cherrie & Slae 541 Thay gue na credit quhair we come.

B. Signification.

I. As pronoun of the third person plural, nom. case; the plural of he, she, or it: The persons or things in question, or last mentioned.

c 1200– (see A.). c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 39 Here orf þe þei leswuedʒ on halie larspelle. c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. Wace (Rolls) 4990 Pritty oper wyb hym þey went. 13.. Cursor M. 800 (G.) For scham þay stode bath and quaki. c 1489 CAXTON Sonnes of Aymon xii. 301 Lete theym shyfte hardely, they two togyder. c 1550—a 1584 (see A.). 1707 E. WARD Hud. Rediv. II. v. 27 They're Rogues, as sure as Lights in Heaven. 1838 BUSHNELL Exc. Mind. & Paint. § 24 Wks. 1903 I. 285 If others do not follow their example, —the more fools they. 1846 GROTE Greece I. xxi. II. 175 They two were the framers of all Grecian theogony. 1909 J. W. JENKINSON Experim. Embryol. 28 The plane in which they all lie.

b. Sometimes used where literary Eng. has the objective THEM. Now only dial. or illiterate.

(c 1380 WYCLIF Wks. (1880) 391 No man lawfully may.. minystre hem save þai. Cf. SAVE prep. 1 b.) 1681 T. FLATMAN Heraclitus Ridens No. 37 (1713) I. 239 An Officer, who is sworn not to permit any Person to speak with them, or they with any Body. 1688 LD. DELAMER Wks. (1694) 27 That will only tend to render both you and they uneasie. 1890 A. GISSING Vill. Champion I. iv. 102, I don't understand anything about they. 1890 A. C. BICKLEY Surrey Hills I. i. 12 It 'ud be a sight better if 'ee kept they to hissen.

†c. They are (or were) was formerly used (instead of the earlier it are, it were, mod. it is, it was: see IT B. 2) to introduce a plural sb. about which some statement is made by a relative clause following.

a 1716 SOUTH Serm. (1823) I. 437 The scripture vouches Solomon for the wisest of men: and they are his Proverbs that prove him so. Ibid. IV. 420 They were the sins and apostasies of their souls, for the reformation of which he plagued them. 1748 RICHARDSON Clarissa (1811) IV. 375 They are the abundoned people in the house who keep thee up to a resolution against her. a 1838 PUSEY Paroch. Serm. (1883) III. 223 They are our own self-chosen employments, ..which hinder prayer.

2. Often used in reference to a singular noun made universal by every, any, no, etc., or applicable to one of either sex (= 'he or she').

See Jespersen Progress in Lang. § 24.

1526 Pilgr. Perf. (W. de W. 1531) 163 b, Yf..a psalme scape ony personne, or a lesson, or else yt' they omyt one verse or twayne. 1535 FISHER Ways perf. Relig. ix. Wks. (1876) 383 He neuer forsaketh any creature vnlesse they before hande forsaken them selues. 1749 FIELDING Tom Jones viii. xi, Every Body fell a laughing, as how could they help it. 1759 CHESTERF. Lett. IV. ccclv. 170 If a person is born of a gloomy temper..they cannot help it. 1885 WEMYSS Ch. (1887) 173 Nobody can depart from the Church, if they would. 1898 BAGEHOT Lit. Stud. (1879) II. 206 Nobody fancies for a moment that they are reading about anything beyond the pale of ordinary propriety. 1896 RUSKIN Cronos Wild Olives § 38 (1899) 44 Now, nobody does anything well that they cannot help doing. 1874 [see THEMSELVES 5].

3. As indefinite pronoun: People in general; any persons, not including the speaker; people. (Cf. ONE pron. 21, and OE. man, ME. men, me, G. man, F. on.) Often in phrase they say = people say, it is said.

Much used colloquially and dialectally instead of the passive voice.

1415 Sir T. Grey in 43 Dep. Kpr.'s Rep. 583 A man..yay calle Skranby toke me a lettre. 1565 COOPER Thesaurus s. v. Basis, Suche a foote as they set chafing disshes on. 1582 ALLEN Martyrd. Campion (1908) 111 Sent to prison upon suspition of Papistry, as they terme the Catholike faith. 1599 SHAKS. Much Ado iv. i. 254 To strange sores strangely they straine the cure. a 1637 B. JONSON Goodwife's Ale (Athenæum 1 Oct. 1904), My pock-hold Face, they say, appeard to some Just like a dry and burning hony combe. 1671 LADY MARY BETTIE in 12th Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm. App. v. 23 They say the King hath put out a Proclamation to forbid masterades. 1756–7 tr. Keysler's Travs. (1760) II. 64 They visit where there the three cells in which Sismo..used frequently to retire. 1884 Munch. Exam. 17 May 5/1 In India and in Holland they 'cure' tobacco fairly well. 1896 M. FIELD Attila II. 49 He shall be scourged With the hundred-knotted lash they use for slaves. Mod. They do the passage to America now in 5 days.

II. 4. As demonstrative pronoun, chiefly as antecedent: = THOSE I. 2, 4. Somewhat arch.

1382 WYCLIF Matt. v. 10 Blessid be thei that suffren persecuucion for rijtwisnesse, for the kyngdam of heuenes is herum. c 1400 Brut lxxiii. 69 þai whiþ kepte þe toune. 1490–85 MALORY Arthur xvii. 1, 689 They within were pute to the werse. 1539 BIBLE (Great) 2 Kings vi. 16 For they that be with vs, are moo then they that be with them. 1630 R. Johnson's Kingd. & Commw. 130 The shops..nothing so full of wares, nor so rich, as they of London. 1691 tr. Emilianne's Observ. Journ. Naples 290 They are they that have all the Nobility at command. 1893 WORDSW. Rob Roy's Grave 39 The good old rule Sufficeth them, the simple plan, That they should take, who have the power, And they should keep who can. 1847 TENNYSON Princess I. 143 And they that know such things..would call them masterpieces.

b. Also obj., instead of them: cf. 1 b. (Now dial.)

c 1489 CAXTON Sonnes of Aymon iii. 90 Reynawde..made all they that were wyth hym..to be hanged. a 1553 UDALL Royster D. III. v. (Arb.) 57 And as for all they that woulde do you wrong. 1900 NORWAY Parson Peter iv. 108 The devil damns them that keeps me here.

5. As demonstrative adj. = THOSE II. 2, 4; but often in weaker sense, = THE (pl.). Now dial. (In the Sc. quots. perh. meant for þa, tha, mod.Sc. THAE.)

a. Qualifying a sb. in the nominative case.

1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 2091 So þei [v.r. þe] sprewe rebeoures abie hor wille. 13.. Cursor M. 1423 (Cott.) Stil ai stod þai [G. þa, T. þo] wandes thre. c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints v. (Johannes) 180 Þai men..þat as sed þar appetyte in Riches. 1567 Satir. Poems Reform. iv. 76 How that thay bucheouris blew me in the air. 1877 L. J. JENNINGS Field Paths iii. 45 They rooks as you see on bärson's place.

b. Qualifying a sb. in the objective case.

c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints iv. (Jacobus) 1 Ane and folow þai bese [oxen]; till þai blyne Of þar awne wil. c 1400 Destr. Troy 1024 Pen he leackes his leue and þai lordes þonkit. 1422 tr. Secreta Secret., Priv. Priv. 160 Fare thay thre cauuis, I leue of that maiters. 1456 SIR G. HAYE Law Arms (S.T.S.) 82 For the occasioun of thai weris. c 1470 HENRY Wallace I. 57 Thai landis thane he clamde as heretage. 1552a Reg. Privy Council Scot. I. 136 He suld be Commissar in they pairtis. 1596 DALRYMPLE tr. Leslie's Hist. Scot. (S.T.S.) I. 10 The inhabitours of thay pairtes. 1885 G. M. FENN Patience Wins (1886) 130 A set o' fullish boys as plays they tricks. 1905 F. YOUNG Sands Pleas. I. iii, Some o' they Cockney labourers began grumbling.

They, obs. f. THIGH, THOUGH. Theyf, obs. f. THIEF. Theyfage, error for theyfish, THIEVISH.

†Theyght, i.e. the eighth; see THE, TH' I. 1536 Cal. Inc. Rec. Dublin (1889) 400 Kyng Henri theyght.

Theyn(e, theynne, obs. ff. THANE, THEN.

Theynt, p-, obs. 3rd pers. sing. of THINK *v.*1

Theyrd, Theyves: see THIRD, THEAVE.

Thi, pi, obs. form of THE, THEY, THIGH, THY.

Thiacetate to Thiamine: see THIO-.

‖Thiasus, thiasos (þoi·ăsŭs, -ǫs). Gr. Antiq. [L. thiasus, a. Gr. θίασος the Bacchic dance.] A company assembled to celebrate the festival of one of the gods (esp. of Bacchus) with dancing and singing. So Thiasarch (þoi·ăsăik) [ad. Gr. θιασάρχης], the leader of the thiasus; Thi·asite (-ăit), Thi·asote (-ŏut) [ad. Gr. θιασώτης, θιασώτης], a member of the thiasus.

1820 W. TOOKE tr. Lucian I. 569 note, The president of it was styled a thiasarch. 1830 LEITCH tr. C. O. Müller's Anc. Art § 390 (ed. 2) 507 Representations of Dionysus and his thiasotes..were got up. Ibid. § 367. 460 Dionysus bringing back Hephæstus in the thiasus (at which are also Marsyas and Comœdia). 1873 Contemp. Rev. XXI. 568 The 'eranists' are termed 'thiasotes' or 'thiasites'.

Thibet, Thibetan: see TIBET, etc.

Thible, dial. variant of THEBEL.

Thic, obs. form of THICK; dial. var. of THILK.

Thick, Thicht, Sc. forms of THIGH, THIGHT.

Thick (þik), a. (sb.) Forms: 1 ðicce, (3 þikk), ðikke, þeok, (9 dial. theck), 3–5 þ-, thikke, 3–6 þ-, thycke, 3–7 þ-, thicke, 4 thic, thikc, 4–5 þ, thyk(e, thykke, þik, 4–6 thik, thikke, 5 thek, þ-, thike, 5–6 thyck, (7 thiggey), 4– thick. [OE. þicce = OS. thikkē (Du. dik), OHG. dicchi (G. dick), ON. þykkr, beside þjokki (Da. tyk, Sw. tjok, tjock), Goth. þiqus*:—O Teut. þik(k)uz*, fem. þik(k)wī-; cf. Ir., Gael. tiugh (< tigu-*); ulterior etymology uncertain.]

I. 1. Having relatively great extension between the opposite surfaces or sides; of comparatively large measurement through: as a thick wall, board, or plank, a thick stem, post, or stick; a thick stratum or seam of coal, a thick layer of fat or coating of paint, thick cloth, etc. Opposed to thin; distinct from long and broad: cf. sense 2.

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. XXXV. § 4 Hi woldon witan hu heah hit wære to dæm heofone, & hu þicce se hefon wære & hu fæst. c 1000 Sax. Leechd. II. 200 Lege on þone þicceстan claþ oþþe on fel. c 1000 Rule St. Benet iv. (Logeman) 91 Culam [= cowl] on wintre þicce on sumere þinne. a 1225 Ancr. R. 50 Þe blake cloð..is þiccure aþein þe wind. c 1375

Sc. Leg. Saints vii. (Jacobus) 753 He saw a wal wes fow thykes. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 490/2 Thykke, clothe. 1535 COVERDALE 1 Kings xii. 10 My litle fynger shall be thicker then my fathers loynes. 1552 HULOET, Thickke leafe, caranosum folium. 1687 A. LOVELL tr. Thevenot's Trav. 1. 6 The Grapes that grow there have a thick skin. 1776 WITHERING Brit. Plants (1796) III. 206 Stems several, the central one thickest; leafy. 1809 Med. Jrnl. XXI. 335 The individuals belonging to the Austrian branch have thick lips. 1845 Western Rev. Reader's I. 174 The dull gleam through the thick glass of my small round peep-hole.

fig. a 1571 JEWEL Sacram. in Serm. etc. (1583) Xvb, I neede not speake more hereof, the errour is so grosse, so thicke, so sensible and palpable.

†b. Extending far down from the surface; deep. c 893 [see sense 2]. 1676 W. ROW Contn. Blair's Autobiog. ix. (1848) 138 Riding the water of Belfast, it being thicker than he apprehended. 1693 EVELYN De la Quinit. Compt. Gard. II. 58 A thick Frost would kill the Roots, as well as the Head.

c. Of a person or animal: Thickset, stout, burly. Obs. exc. dial.

a 1250 Owl & Night. 580 Ne þu nart þikke ne þu nart long. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 8270 Þikke mon he was yuou, round & nout wel long. c 1385 CHAUCER L. G. W. 2198 (Dido) Yo on a thikke palfrey. Sit Dido. 1486 Bk. St. Albans a vij b, A longe hawke, a short thike hawke. 1570 FOXE A. & M. (ed. 2) 2252/1 She was..of a very litle and short stature, somwhat thicke. 1643 BAKER Chron., Will. II 49 He was but meane of stature, thike and square bodied. 1819 W. TENNANT Papistry Storm'd ii. (1827) 69 Thick Jamie Bud, lang Sandy Kay.

†d. transf. Having substance all through; solid, not hollow. Obs. rare—1.

a 1400-50 Alexander 4073 Imagis..He made his pepill þaim to perse, to prouе þam with-in, Quethire þai ware hologhe or hale, & hale he þam fyndis, Says þaim thike þurge-out.

2. Used (with words of measurement, or in the comparative or superlative) to express the third dimension of a solid, which has a direction at right angles at once to the length and the breadth: Having a (specified) thickness. (Sometimes equivalent to deep, but not now said of a body of water or other fluid.) Commonly following the words stating the measure, as ten feet thick, paper $\frac{1}{10}$ of a millimeter thick.

In this sense not opposed to thin; for the thinnest substance has some thickness, as the shortest line has some length, and the narrowest surface some breadth or width.

c 893 K. ÆLFRED Oros. 1. iii. § 1 Ælce geare þæt land middeweard oferflеow mid fotes þicce flode. Ibid. iv. xiii. § 2 Se weall wæs xx fota þicce, & xt. elna heah. c 1384 CHAUCER H Fame iii. 245 Men myght make of hem a hille xxti foote thykke. 1493 Lett. Red Bk. Bristol (1900) II. 134 Whiche wall we fynde xxij yenchis thycke by the growinde. 1602 SHAKS. Ham. v. 1. 214 Let her paint an inch thicke, to this fauour she must come. 1682 WHELER Journ. Greece 1. 70 The Point is thick Fourteen foot. 1703 MOXON Mech. Exerc. 88 One Inch thick, and three Inches broad. 1812 New Bot. Gard. I. 61 Some very rotten dung put in the bottom six inches thick. 1825 J. NICHOLSON Operat. Mechanic 69 When a sufficient water is not a quarter of an inch thick before it meets the float [of a mill-wheel].

†b. Standing one behind the other; = DEEP a. 2 b. Obs.

1604 R. GRIMSTONE Hist. Siege Ostend 26 They discouered their Gabions nine thicke. 1609 B. JONSON Volpone I. i. 3d fin., There is a guard of spies ten thick upon her. 1650 RUDD Geom. Questions 130 The Pikes are invironed with shot four men thick, round about.

3. fig. Excessive in some disagreeable quality; too much to manage or to stand; spec. too gross, indecent, or indelicate. Often in phrase 'a bit thick'. Cf. 'to lay it on thick'. slang.

1884 Standard 6 June 6/3, I know it is thick in Brum. [Birmingham] for you, so that we must meet in London. 1901 Daily Chron. 9 Sept. 7/3 Guardsmen who have been drinking are a thick lot,..and gentle methods will not always prevail with them. 1907 H. WALES The Yoke xii, They hinted more than once that Christopher was 'a bit thick'. 1907 H. WYNDHAM Flare of Footlights x, 'By the way, what's the piece like?'..'A bit thick, my dear? I should just think it was! It's an adaptation from the French, you know'. Ibid. xxii, 'It's a bit thick', he said indignantly, 'when a man of my position is passed over for a beginner like young Merrick'.

II. In general sense of dense.

4. Closely occupied, filled, or set with objects or individuals; composed of numerous individuals or parts densely arranged; dense, crowded. Of hair: Bushy, luxuriant.

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xxxv. § 5 Þu..lædst me hidres & þidres on swa þicne wudu. a 900 O. E. Martyrol. 148 Þa gewat he in þone þiccestan wudu. c 1000 Sax. Leechd. II. 296 Sif heo þicce sie, genim [etc.]. c 1205 LAY. 27525 Amidden þan þrunge þer heo þikkest weoren. a 1250 Owl & Night. 17 In ore vaste þikke hegge. 13.. K. Alis. 4067 (Bodl. MS.) Of þe draweyng of bowȝes & stykke, þe eyre þicom trouble & þicke. c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. Wace 13095 Mikel was þe pres, ful þykke þe þro. c 1400 Destr. Troy 12496 A thonner and a thicke rayne þrubbet in the skewes. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 490/2 Thykke, as wodys, gresse, or corne, or other lyke, densus. 1500-20 DUNBAR Poems xxxiii. 69 Thik was the chaff and kayis and crawis. 1612 Proc. Virginia 61 in Capt. Smith's Wks. (Arb.) 421 He had a thicke blacke bush beard. 1620 T. GRANGER Div. Logike 166 A thick multitude of people. 1658 DRYDEN Stanzas to O. Cromwell xiv, Thick as the galaxy with stars is sown. 1711 ADDISON Spect. No. 56 ¶ 3 A thick Forest made up of Bushes, Brambles, and pointed Thorns. 1855 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. xii. 109 The women..were seen amidst the thickest fire serving out water and ammunition to their husbands and brothers. 1872 TENNYSON Last Tourn. 213 Then fell thick rain. 1899 Westm. Gaz. 24 Nov. 8/2 After..the high grass and thick country is entered.

fig. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) I. 355 þey makeþ.. melody wiþ wel þicke tuns, werbeles, and rootes. 1645 FULLER Ch. Hist. III. iv. § 24 His reign was not onely long.. but also thick for remarkable mutations happening therein.

b. Const. with, † of.

c 1386 CHAUCER Knt.'s T. 217 A wyndow thikke of many a barre Of iron. 1535 COVERDALE Ps. lxiv. [lxv.] 13 The valleys stonde so thicke wythe corne, they laugh and synge. 1558 PHAER Æneid VII. S iij, This Laurel bushe full thick of browse. 1666 F. BROOKE tr. Le Blanc's Trav. 22 The Red Seas coast towards Aden is thick of good towns. 1700 DRYDEN Virgil, Georgics iv. 100 A mount of rough ascent, and thick with wood. 1871 FREEMAN Norm. Conq. IV. xviii. 254 The whole range of walls and towers was thick with defenders.

5. Of the individual things collectively: Existing or occurring in large numbers in a relatively small space, or at short intervals; densely arranged, crowded; hence, numerous, abundant, plentiful. (Usually predicative, rarely attrib.)

c 893 K. ÆLFRED Oros. I. i. § 9 Heo ȝeðeð mid þæm flode swiþe þicce eorþwæstmas on Ægyptia lande. c 1386 CHAUCER Wife's T. 12 Hooly freres..As thikke as motes in the sonne beem. c 1400 MAUNDEV. (Roxb.) xxxiv, 152 Gode toutes er þare so thikke þat þei ȝa. c 1440 Destr. Troy 6668 He raȝt þe troiens so tore, & turnyt so þik, All pyght in a place on a playn field. 1560 DAUS tr. Sleidane's Comm. 136 Rotman ..running amonges his enemies where they were thickest was slayne. 1667 MILTON P. L. I. 303 His Legions, Thick as autumnal leaves that strow the brooks In Vallombrosa. 1726 LEONI tr. Palladio's Archit. (1742) I. 97 Thick columns ..distant from each other ..at the most two diameters. c 1813 MARY SHERWOOD Stories Ch. Catech. xxvi. (1826) 93 We are pretty thick..in this berth. 1836 BROWNING Paracelsus v. 369 Lay me..within some narrow grave..But where such graves are thickest. 1849 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. v. I. 629 Among the thick graves of unquiet and aspiring statesmen, lie more delicate sufferers.

†b. Of actions: Occurring in quick succession; rapid, frequent. Also transf. of an agent. Obs.

c 1450 St. Cuthbert (Surtees) 8319 Þe bischops prayers þik Made him to take þe bischoprylk. 1552 HULOET, Thycke speaker, loluttiloquus. Ibid., Thycke speakynge, loluttiloquentia. 1580 BARET Alv. 1 A Thicke speaker. 1608 Bearing of the bulle. 1612 SHAKS. Cymb. i. vi. 67 He furnaces The thicke sighes from him. a 1631 DONNE Lett. (1652) 149 If you make not so thick goings as you used. 1665 DRYDEN Feud. Brother I. ii, Thick breath, quick Pulse and heaving of my Heart.

6. Having great or considerable density, either from natural consistence or from containing much solid matter; dense, viscid; stiff. (Said of liquids, semi-liquids, and plastic or easily liquefiable solids; formerly sometimes of solids generally.)

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xxxiii. § 5 Sio eorþe þon is hefigre & þiccre þon oðra ȝesceafta. c 897 Gregory's Past. C. xiv. 399 Þonne ðæt mon gadriȝe ðæt þicce fenn on hiene. c 1000 Sax. Leechd. II. 74 Wæter..swa þicce swa huniges tear. Ibid. 374 Hrer on bleðe oþ þ hit sie þicce swa þynne briw. 1377 LANGL. P. Pl. B. xix. 398 I can..drawe..at on hole Þikke ale and stronge. 1398 TREVISA Barth. De P. R. xix. [xiii. [xiviii.] (Bodl. MS.), þe more þik melke is þe more chese is þerin. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 490/2 Thykke, as lycure, spissus. 1552 HULOET, Thicke as dregges, fæculus. 1605 SHAKS. Mach. iv. I. 52 Make the Grewell thicke, and slab. 1671 N. FAIRFAX Bulk & Selv. 86 So as the sunbeams might not be some airsom body, but all such thick or fast body. 1875 DARWIN Insectiv. Pl. v. 78 A mixture about as thick as cream. 1897 HUXLEY Physiogr. x. 161 Not..a clear bright green but a thick green, laden with Detritus. 1893 HODGES Elem. Photogr. (1907) 106 It should solidify into a thick jelly.

fig. 1596 SHAKS. Tam. Shr. v. iii. 143 A woman mou'd, is like a fountaine troubled, Muddie, ill seeming, thicke, bereft of beautie. 1602 — Ham. iv. v. 82 The people muddied, Thicke and vnwholsome in their thoughts.

b. Of air: Foul from admixture of fumes, vapours, etc., stuffy, close; also, dense, not rare or thin. Now rare or Obs. (Cf. 7.)

1626 BACON Sylva § 143 When the Aire is more Thin,.. the Sound pierceth better; But when the Aire is more Thicke, (as in the Night) the Sound spendeth and spreadeth abroad lesse. 1756-7 tr. Keysler's Trav. (1760) I. 330 Thick fogs..continually rising from the Po, and other waters, by which the air is rendered thick and moist, and consequently unhealthy. 1819 SHELLEY Peter Bell the Third III. xxiii, They breathe an air Thick, infected, joy-dispelling.

7. Of mist, fog, smoke, etc.: Having the component particles densely aggregated, so as to intercept or hinder vision. Hence of the weather, etc.: Characterized by mist or haze; foggy, misty.

a 1000 Boeth. Metr. v. 6 Se þicca mist þynna weorðe. Ibid. xx. 264 Todrif þone þiccan [mist]. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Exod. xix. 16 Ligeðon & þunor & þicce þeȝn [rubbe denskinne] oferwreh þone munt. c 1250 St. Michael 621 in S. Eng. Leg. 317 Panne freost þe þicke Myst, and cleouȝe an heiȝ on þe treo. c 1384 CHAUCER H. Fame ii. 400 Or ellis was the aire so thicke That y ne myght not discerne. c 1400 Song Roland 848 Thik, and clowdy, and evyll wedur thene. 1594 T. B. La Primaud. Fr. Acad. II. 211 Like to a thick smoke ascending out of a great fire which would dim the eies. 1654 WHITELOCKE Jrnl. Swed. Emb. (1772) II. 328 The fogge.. was so thicke, that we could not see two ships length before us. 1745 P. THOMAS Voy. S. Seas 28 The Weather proving thick and hazy. 1836 MARRYAT Midsh. Easy xxvi, The horizon was so thick that the vessels ahead were no longer to be seen. 1884 Q. VICTORIA More Leaves 128 A very dull, dark thick morning..Still, no rain.

b. transf., esp. of darkness: Difficult to penetrate; dense, deep, profound.

a 900 tr. Bede's Hist. v. xiii. [xii.] (1890) 406 Ða beostre.. swa micel & swa þicco weoron, þæt ic noht ȝesæon mealhte. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Hom. II. 194 Þicce þeostru and eȝeslice. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 3102 Þikhike þherknesse cam on ðat lond. 1340 HAMPOLE Pr. Conse. 6566 Swa mykel myrknes, þat it may be graped, swa thik it es. 1605 SHAKS. Mach. i. v. 51 Come thick Night, And pall thee in the dunnest smoake of Hell. 1611 BIBLE Exod. xx. 21 Moses drew neere vnto the thicke darknes, where God was. 1781 Sc. Paraphrases I. iii, Thick darkness broded over the deep.

III. In transferred senses.

8. Of the voice, etc.: Not clear; hoarse; having a confused or husky sound; indistinct, inarticulate; also, of low pitch; deep; guttural; throaty.

1398 TREVISA Barth. De P. R. XIX. cxxxi. (1495) 942 The voyces ben fatte and thycke wianne moche spyrytе comyth out as the voys of a man. 1556, etc. [implied in THICK adv. 4]. 1748 J. MASON Elocut. 17 To cure a thick confused cluttering Voice. 1844 MRS. CARLYLE Lett. (1883) I. 283 His speech is..so thick that I have great difficulty in catching what he says. 1881 ROSSETTI Ballads & Sonn. (1882) 328 The young rooks cheep 'mid the thick caw o' the old. 1887 HALL CAINE Deemster xxxiii, The thick boom of the sea that came up from the rocks. 1889 MORFILL Gram. Russian Lang. 4 The sound of the vowel Ы is a thick guttural e.

9. a. Of or in reference to hearing: Dull of perception; not quick or acute. Also of sight. (See also thick-eyed in 12 b, THICK-SIGHTED.) Now dial.

1526 TINDALE Acts xxviii. 27 The heart of this people is waxed grose and their eares wexe thycke of hearinge. 1594 T. B. La Primaud. Fr. Acad. II. 81 Many become deafe by hearing ouergreat soundes, whereof wee haue experience in Smithes, amongest whome many are thicke of hearing. 1597 SHAKS. 2 Hen. IV, III. ii. 336 His Dimensions (to any thicke sight) were inuincible. 1601 — Jul. C. v. iii. 21 My sight was ever thicke. 1720 Col. Rec. Pennsylv. III. 97 But we find their Ears are thick. 1888 ELWORTHY W. Somerset Glos. s.v., 'Thick o' yearin' (hearing).

b. Of mental faculties or actions, or of persons: Slow (or characterized by slowness) of apprehension; dense, crass, thick-headed; stupid, obtuse. Now dial.

(In quot. 1597 with play on sense 6.)

1597 SHAKS. 2 Hen. IV, II. iv. 262 Hang him Baboone, his Wit is as thicke as Tewksburie Mustard. 1603 HAYWARD Answ. to Doleman iv. M 3, I omit your thicke error in putting no difference betweene a magistrate and a king. 1670 PENN Liberty of Consc. v. 32 What if you think our Reasons thick, and our ground of Separation mistaken? a 1800 PEGGE Suppl. Grose, Thick. Also stupid. North. 1824 BYRON Juan XVI. lxxxiii, To hammer a horse laugh from the thick throng.

IV. 10. (fig. from 5.) Close in confidence and association; intimate, familiar; often in similes (with allusion to other senses), e.g. as thick as glue, as inkle-weavers, as peas in a shell, as (two) thieves, as three in a bed, etc. colloq.

c 1756 BP. LAW in J. Nichols Lit. Anecd. 18th C. (1812) II. 20 'Yes', said he, 'we begin now, though contrary to my expectation, and without my seeking, to be pretty thick; and I thank God who reconciles me to my adversaries'. 1781 TWINING in Select. Papers T. Family (1887) 100 He and I were not quite thick'. We rode together frequently. 1803 LAMB Let. to Manning Feb., Are you and the first consul thick? 1820 SCOTT Monast. Introd. Ep., That's right, Captain,..you twa will be as thick as three in a bed an anne ye forgatten. 1823 T. HOOK Parson's Daus. ii, She and my wife are as thick as thieves, as the proverb goes. 1836 LADY GRANVILLE Lett. (1894) II. 199 He is thick with all the new Ministers. 1869 Routledge's Ev. Boy's Ann. 593 We soon grew as thick as inkle-weavers.

V. 11. Phrases. Thick and threefold: see THICK adv. 6; THICK AND THIN, q. v.

12. Combinations. Chiefly parasynthetic adjectives; these can be formed at pleasure; the following are specimens: thick-ankled (having thick ankles), -barred (having thick bars), thick-billed, -blooded, -bodied, -bottomed, -brained (in sense 9 b), -coated, -fleeced, -foliaged, -haired, -hided (hence -hidedness), -knobbed, -legged, -necked, -ribbed, -rinded, -shelled, -soled, -stemmed, -topped, -voiced, -walled. Also thick-looking (looking or seeming thick). See also THICK-HEADED, -SKINNED, -SKULLED, etc.

1853 TENNYSON in Ld. Tennyson Mem. (1897) II. 505 [In these, he would say] 'Wordsworth seemed to him "thick-ankled'. 1753 YOUNG Brothers v. i, Ye thick-barr'd sunless passages for air. 1885 J. R. REIFSNEIDER Cornwall Mines 96 Slate abounding in tin is uniformly of a thick-bedded, deep-blue colour. 1783 LATHAM Gen. Syn. III. 148 Thick-billed Grosbeak. Size of a Bullfinch: length five inches three quarters. 1890 W. R. OGILVIE-GRANT Game-Birds II. 151 The Thick-billed Partridges. Genus Odontophorus. 1888 DOUGHTY Arabia Deserta I. 471 A little of that thick-bloodied unforbearing, which was in her family, with her own elder son. 1758 J. HILL Hist. Anim. 110 The long-legged and thick-bodied, small, green Lacerta. 1868 Rep. U. S. Commission. Agric. (1869) 314 Small, thick-bodied butterflies. 1844 MRS. BROWNING Duchess May Cond. v, Though in passion ye would clash, Up against the thick-hossed shield of God's judgment in the field. 1619 DRAYTON Sacr. Apollo vii, The thick-brained audience lively to awake. 1620 VENNER Via Recta vi. 106 It..is for them that be short and thicke breathed, the.. greatest remedy. 1626 BACON Sylva § 318 A Pomegranate or some such thick-coated fruit. 1828 P. CUNNINGHAM N. S. Wales (ed. 3) II. 170 Clumps of thick-foliaged trees. c 1386 CHAUCER Knt.'s T. 1660 Somme beiden with hym with thikke hered, Somme with the balled, somme with the thikke hered. c 1611 CHAPMAN Iliad II. 40 The thick-hair'd Greeks. 1861 KINGSLEY in Lett., etc. (1877) II. 132 But the mass will not have —'s courage or thick-hidedness. 1689 Loud. Gaz. No. 2415/4 A Young Sleiden Horse 3 years old... *thick Jawed. 1861 DICKENS Gt. Expect. xxviii, Their keeper...carried a *thick-knobbed bludgeon. 1849 Sk. Nat. Hist., Mammalia III. 137 Forster's Sea-Lion...everywhere equally *thick-limbed, as Buffon describes it, like a great cylinder. 1591 PERCIVAL Sp. Dict.: Cervigudo, *thicke necked. 1840 CARLYLE Heroes v. (1872) 176 There is the same burly thick-necked strength of body as of soul. 1693 SHAKS. Hens. for M. III 1. 129 To recide I'th' Limbing Region of *thicke-ribbed Ice. 1590 GREENE Orl. Fur. Wks. (Rtldg) 95/2 And *thickest-shadow'd groves. 1649 G. DANIEL Trinarch. The Author 8 To stoope at the *thick-Shell'd Doors of Oblection. 1804 BEWICK Brit. Birds (1849) II. 272 The female...lays..six or seven thick-shelled white eggs. 1815 SCOTT Guy M. I, His rough coat and *thick-soled boots. 1851 MANTELL Petrif. I. § 3. 70 *Thick-toed tridactylous birds. 1558 HUDSON, Thyrd To whole, or stronge tothed, dentatus. 1859 CORNWALLIS New Wend I. 63 A very stout, thick-set, *thick-voiced Yorkshireman. 1875 BENNETT & DYER Sachs' Bot. 484 The very *thick-walled mother-cells do not become isolated.

b. Special combinations and collocations: thick-back, a species of sole, Solea variegata (Cent. Dict. 1891); thick-bill, a local name of the bullfinch; thick coal: see quot.; hence thick-coalman; thick end, the greater part of anything (dial.); thick-eyed a., having obscure vision, dim-sighted; thick intestine, Entoin., in some insects, a dilatation of the posterior end of the ileum, forming a large blind sac turned back towards the vesicules; thick-leaf, a name of plants of the genus Crassula; † thick letter Typogr., type cast too thick: see quot.; † thick listed a. [LISP sb.], hard of hearing; thick register, the lowest register of the voice; thick seam, a seam of 'thick coal'; also attrib.; thick-stamen (see quot.), a small genus of prostrate euphorbiaceous plants, the Alleghany Mountain Spurge; thick-stuff: see quot. c 1850; thick tea, high tea (local); thick-tongued a., speaking thickly; thick wind, in Farriery, laborious breathing, usually due to previous inflammation; hence thick-winded adj. Also THICK-HEAD, THICK-KNEE, etc.

1847–78 HALLIWELL, Thick-bill*, the bullfinch. Lanc. 1883 GRESLEY Coal Mining Gloss., Thick Coals* or Thick Seams, coal seams of greater thickness than (say) 8 or 10 feet... *The thick coal of South Staffordshire is about 28 or 30 feet thick. 1894 Daily News 7 May 8/4 The new scale will give 1d per ton rise in *thick-coalmen's wages for every 1½d advance in the price of thick coal. 1847–78 HALLIWELL s. v. 'The *thick-end of a mile'. Linc. 1865 W. WHITE E. Eng. II. 66 When he spoke of the thick end of a mile, it reminded me of the 'thick league of a certain rustic whom I once accosted on the sandy wastes of Friesland. 1877 N. W. Lincs. Gloss. s. v., I've gotten th' thick end o' th' job finished wi'. 1596 SHAKS. I Hen. IV. ii. iii. 49 *Thickey'd musing, and curst melancholly. 1684 Loud. Gaz. No. 1976/4 A gray Horse, Milk white about the Mouth and Tail, all his Paces, thickeyed. 1884 MILLER Plant-n., Thick-leaf*, the genus Crassula. 1683 MOXON Mech. Exerc., Printing 392 A Fount of Letter that Rubs not high enough into the Neck is called 'Thick Letter'; and consequently will Drive out the Letter. [c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 229 Deue we ben, oðer *þicke lisse, þanne we ben speke godes word and nimeð þer to liteł geme.] 1579 TWYNE Phisicke agst. Fort. II. xcvii. 289 They that are thicke listed, seeme in a maner to be out of their wittes. 1905 J. HAWKES Music in Churches iv Strange choirs cannot recite on a low note without being liable to use the thick register or chest voice instead of the medium register, and the use of their lower mechanism is usually accompanied with ...coarseness of tone. 1882 Thick seam [see thick coal]. 1892 Daily News 25 Jan. 2/6 The leading thick-seam pits are sending a large tonnage to Hull and Grimsby. 1878 T. MERHAN Native Fl. & Ferns U. S. I. 30 The stamens have remarkably thick filaments, and this suggested its botanical name Pachysandra, which is the Greek for 'thick-stamen'. 1884 MILLER Plant-n., American Thick-stamen, Pachysandra procumbens. 1769 FALCONER Dict. Marine (1789) II, 'Tis, The thick stuff, or strong planks of the bottom withinboard. c 1850 Rudim. Navig. (Weale) 155 Thickstuff, a name for sided timber exceeding 4 inches, but not being more than 12 inches, in thickness. 1893 Daily News 1 June 5/2 Perhaps something might have been said for the compromise of a thick tea. 1896 Ibid. 18 Dec. 3/6 The 'thick teas' of Lancashire have long been celebrated for their eccentricity. 1887 Poor Nellie (1888) 370 Though *thick-tongued still, she spoke more clearly. 1831 [YOUATT] Horse iv. 192 Thick-winded consists in short, frequent, and laborious breathing, especially when the animal is in exercise. a 1694 Life M. Robinson (1856) 35 He was *thickwinded and ungovernable. 1704 Lond. Gaz. No. 3981/4 A...Mare, *Thick Winded. 1831 [YOUATT] Horse x. 193 Heavy draught-horses are...thick-winded.

B. absolute use of adj., passing into sb.: That which (rarely, one who) is thick, in any sense.

I. Only in sing. 1. The most densely occupied or crowded part (of a wood, an assemblage, etc.).

a 1250 Owl & Night. 1626 Me may vppe smale sticke Me sette a wude ine þe þikke. c 1400 MAUNDEV. (1839) xxi. 226 Sif ony of hem had ben hid in the thikke of the wodes. c 1548 HALL Chron., Hen. IV 221 Some fledde for succor in the thyck of the parke. a 1610 KNOLLES (J.), In the thick of the dust and smoke presently entered his men. 1637 RUTHERFORD Lett. (1671) 28 If I could yoke in amongst the thick of Angels, and Seraphims. 1714 Spect. No. 625 ¶ 22 In the Anti-chamber, where I thrust my Head into the thick of the Press. 1857 LADY CANNING in Hare Two Noble Lives (1893) II. 328 The Residency buildings and its gardens are in the thick of the town. 1890 C. MARTYN W. Phillips 192 Mr. Phillips was constantly out in the thick and throng of the world.

b. fig. The position, time, stage, or state in which activity is most intense; the midst, the height (of an action). Always in the thick of.

1681 FLAVEL Meth. Grace x. 214 Something they enjoy... in the very thick of troubles. c 1682 BYRON Sardan. III. 1. Where a soldier should be. In the thick of the fight. 1849 C. BRONTE Shirley I, They are in the thick of a revival. 1870 BURTON Hist. Scot. (1873) V. lv. 105 The bishop was in the thick of these splendid projects. 1885 DUNCAN in Manch. Exam. 15 June 6/2 We are now in the thick of a Cabinet crisis.

2. The more turbid or viscid part of a liquid, which usually subsides to the bottom. rare.

c 1400 LYDG. Æsop's Fab. ii. 39 He was wont my water here trouble, To meue þe thyk, þat lay low doune. 1707 MORTIMER Husb. (1721) I. 78 This he dissolved in Water, and poured off the thick into another Bason, till all was gone but the Sand.

3. The thick part of a limb or of the body.

c 1400 Destr. Troy 5921 He.. braid out a big sword,..& derit hym full euyll through the thicke of the thegh. 1470–85 MALORY Arthur viii. xxii. 248 He smote hym with a foyne thorou the thycke of the thyȝ. 1880 TENNYSON Northern Cobbler xv, An' blacksmith 's strips me the thick o' 'e arm, an' 'e shaves it to me.

4. So thi ckest (the superl. adj. used absol. as sb.): the thickest part (in any of prec. senses).

c 1470 HENRY Wallace II. 56 Throuch oute the thikest of the pres he seid. 1548 UDALL Erasm. Par. Luke iii. 37 Puttyng himself In coumpaignie among the thickest of the people. 1697 MORYSON Itin. II. 24 Valiantly fighting among the thickest of the Rebels. 1868 FREEMAN Norm. Conq. II. viii. 259 Henry was...soon again in the thickest of the fight.

II. sb. with pl. 5. (from 1) = THICKET. Now rare.

c 895 Vesp. Psalter xviii (xxix). 9 Stefn drýhtnes gearwie-þeðen heorotas & hiwrah. þe þicean [Vulg. revelavit condensa]. c 1430 Pilgr. Lyf Manhode ii. cxxxii. (1869) 126 He may not sette the wacches in the thikke ther thei ben. a 1547 SURREY Æneid iv. 708 Among the bushy thickes of bryars. 1612 DRAYTON Poly-olb. iii. 118 Where mists and rotten fogs Hang in the gloomie thicks, and make vnstedfast bogs. 1812 Sporting Mag. XXXIX. 200 A fox...made good his retreat to Sir Thos. Beauchamp's thicks. 1856 L. HUNT in New Monthly Mag. XLVII. 20 The lusty bee...dances in the bloomy thicks with darksome antheming.

6. School slang. A thick-headed or stupid person.

1857 HUGHES Tom Brown I. vii, What a thick I was to come! Ibid. II. viii, I'm such a thick, I never should have had time for both. 1891 WERNICH Winchester Word-b. s. v., He is not a thick, but he won't mug.

Thick (þik), adv. Forms: see the adj. [OE. þicce = OS. thikko, OHG. dicco: see THICK a.] In a thick manner, thickly. (After many verbs as come, fall, lie, stand, sow, etc., when thick expresses the accompanying or resulting condition, it is often rather an adj. than an adv.; cf. L. pinus prona cadit; supinus cadere.)

1. So as to be thick; to a great depth.

c 1000 ÆLFRIC Voc. in WR.-Wülcker 151/22 Pauidensis, þicce geweben heow. a 1300 Cursor M. 3377 (Cott.) Suilk er in þis liue ful thikc, Forgetes þe deid for þe quick. 1670 H. STUBBE Plus Ultra 136 We found the passage crusted very thick. 1713 ADDISON Cato i. iii, Cato has piercing eyes, and will discover Our frauds, unless they're cover'd thick with art. 1860 TYNDALL Glac. I. x. 67 The snow...lay thick upon the glacier.

† b. fig. Deeply, severely. Obs. rare.

13... E. E. Allit. P. C. 6 Quo for þro may nogt þole, þe þicker he suffres.

c. To be thick in or thick, (fig.) to do something with vehemence or excess. Cf. LAY $v.^1$ 55 f.

1806–7 J. BERESFORD Miseries Hum. Life (1826) I. Introd., Lay it on thick, I beg, while your hand is in. 1828 SCOTT Br. Lammm. xi, Lay it on thick, and never mind expenses. 1888 MRS. H. WARD R. Elsmere xviii, Hensiowe lays it on thick papaina with a will.

† d. After a sum of money: To the extent of (so much), 'deep'. Obs.

1570 FOXE A. & M. (ed. 2) 2142/2 Within this court the Universitie an hundreth pound thicke. 1592 GREENE Blacke Bks. Messinger Wks. (Grosart) XI. 31 My coustous maister is cheated forthe or fiftie pound thick at one clap. 1592 — Repentance ibid. XII. 177.

2. In a thick, dense, or crowded state; closely, densely, compactly; in crowds or throngs; numerously, abundantly. (See also thick and threefold in 6.)

971 Blickl. Hom. 203 Þa fluzon þa leȝeta swyþe fyrene strælas..toðæm þicce þæt [etc.]. c 1000 Sax. Leechd. I. 234 Eall swa þicce is þes heofon mid steorrum afylled on deȝ swa on niht. a 1175 Cott. Hom. 237 Of þe folce we siggeð þat hit..eloe deȝie þicce þringeð. c 1250 S. Eng. Leg. I. 26/92 Þut folk a-boute heom cam ase þicke ase huy mistron go. c 1305 St. Lucy 22 in E. E. P. (1862) 101 Þat folc wende þider þicke. c 1400 Brut lxxviii. 79 Þai deide wonder þik wiþin the citee for hunger. c 1500 Melusine 289 Quarelles & arowes, that flewh so thyk. 1523 FITZHERBERT Husb. § 12 The beste propertie is, to sowe all maner of corne thycke ynough. a 1687 PETTY Pol. Arith. (1690) 73 When England shall be thicker peopled. 1772–84 Cook's Voy. (1790) V. 1683 The woods in many places..so thick interlaced with boughs and matted with leaves. 1858 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. xiv. III. 454 Doubts came thick upon him.

3. In close or rapid succession; frequently; quickly; fast. Often thick and fast. (See also thick and threefold in 6.)

a 1000 Cædmon's Gen. 682 (Gr.) Hio spræc þæm þicce to. c 1385 CHAUCER L. G. W. 655 (Cleopatras) Ffor strokys whiche that wente as thikke as hayl. c 1450 in Aungier Syon (1840) 255 She schal nothing say buite 'Mea culpa, I wylle amende', whiche sche schal reherse thykke and many tymes.

1540 Act 32 Hen. VIII, c. 43 The sayd apparaunce & attendaunce commeth so often and thicke together. 1573 TUSSER Husb. (1878) 165 Cock crowth at midnight, times few aboue six. ... At three a clock thicker. 1642 JEREMY Holy & Prof. St. III. xxi. 210 Great talkers discharge too thick to take always true aim. 1706 E. WARD Wooden World Disc. (1708) 98 He and his Brother-Jacks...toss Jests and Oaths about as thick and fast as Boys do Squills. 1730 LAW Serious C. xx. (1732) 378 It will perhaps be thought... that these hours of prayer come too thick. 1869 FREEMAN Norm. Conq. III. xi. 66 Thick and fast indeed came the events.

4. With confused and indistinct articulation; also, with a husky or hoarse voice.

1556 W. TOWRSON in Hakluyt Voy. (1589) 102 These wordes they speake very thicke. 1597 SHAKS. 2 Hen. IV, ii. iii. 24 Speaking thicke (which Nature made his blemish) became the Accents of the Valiant. 1686 Lond. Gaz. No. 2143/4 He speaks so thick that he is scarce to be understood. a 1791 Tom Line xiii. in Child Ballads (1884) II. 343/2 Out then spak her father dear, He spak baith thick and nille.

5. With density or thick consistence; densely.

a 1721, 1746 [implied in thick-clouded, -streaming in 7]. Mod. colloq. The syrup runs thick. The porridge stirs thick.

6. Phrases. To lay it on thick: see 1 c. Thick and fast: see 3. Thick and threefold, advb. (sb., adj.) phr. a. In large numbers; in quick succession; with rapid iteration. arch. and dial.

a 1548 HALL Chron., Hen. VIII 186 When mo newe Testamentes were Imprinted thei came thicke and threfold into Englande. 1560 DAUS tr. Sleidane's Comm. 134 There dwell deuylles thycke and threfolde. a 1592 GREENE Alphonsus I. Wks. (Rtldg.) 225/2 How that such clients clusterd to thy court, By thick and threefold. 1623 DAY Dyall ix. (1624) 218 Our Anticipators do so much boast of the Fathers, and how they are theirs, thicke and threefold. 1710 tr. Werenfels's Disc. Logom. 3 Scoffs and Reproaches come thick and threefold. 1872 DE MORGAN Budget of Paradoxes 169, I...who threw aspersions on his opponents thick and threefold.

† b. With vehemence; fervently, ardently, impetuously. Obs. rare$^{-1}$.

1627 W. SCLATER Exp. 2 Thess. (1629) 295 So thicke and threefold he falls vpon his deuotion.

† c. as adj. Abundant and frequent. Obs.

1614 DAY Festivals xvi. (1630) 90 The attendaunces given Anna here are thicke and threefold. 1899 MALKIN Gil Blas v. i. ¶ 4 This thick and threefold companionship with [the] birch was not the only rub.

7. In combination with participles (with hyphen, or as single words); forming adjs., usually of obvious meaning, unlimited in number; as a. in sense 1, as thick-blown, -plied, -spread, -woven, -wrought; b. in senses 2 and 3, as thick-beating, -coming, -drawn, -flaming, -growing, -jewelled, -laid, -packed, -rustling, -spreading, -starred, etc.; c. in sense 4, as thick-speaking; d. in sense 5, as thick-clouded, -streaming.

1690 DRYDEN Don Sebast. iv. i, The trampling of *thick-beating feet. 1725 RAMSAY Gentle Shepherd i. ii, The *thick-blawn wreaths of snaw. a 1721 KEN Edmund Poet. Wks. 1721 II. 355 Your now *thick-clouded Mind. 1605 SHAKS. Mach. v. iii. 38 Troubled with *thicke-comming Fancies. 1715–20 POPE Iliad xiii. 6 With *piercing frosts, or *thick-descending rain. 1777 J. MOUNTAIN Poet. Reveries (ed. 2) 6 His children watch his *thick-drawn breath. 1757 DYER Fleece iv. Poems (1761) 184 While flames, *thick-flashing in the gloom. 1869 COLLIER Bacon Ess. xxxvi. 1 Thick and *thick-growing woods. 1593 SHAKS. 3 Hen. VI, iii. i. 1 Vnder this *thicke growne brake. 1833 TENNYSON Lady of Shalott III. iii, All in the blue unclouded weather *Thick-jewell'd shone the saddle-leather. 1698 NORRIS Pract. Disc. (1707) IV. 191 So *thick-laid are the Temptations of the World. 1599 SHAKS. Much Ado i. ii. 10 Walking in a *thick pleached alley. 1840 CARLYLE Heroes vi. (1872) 204 The *thick-plied perversions which distort our image of Cromwell. 1861 J. F. COLLIER Hist. Eng. Lit. 114 The *thick-speaking, shambling,..pedant. 1740 SOMERVILLE Hobbinol i. 9 On the large Bough Of a *thick-spreading Elm. 1676 DRYDEN Aurengzebe i. 1, Of *thick-sprung Lances in a waving Field. 1730 CHAUCER Astrolab. ii. § 23 In some wynters nyht, whan the firmament is clere & *thikke-sterred. 1860 EMERSON Cond. Life, Worship Wks. (Bohn) II. 408 Thick-starred Orion was my only companion. 1746 FRANCIS tr. Hor., Sat. I. viii. 47 They...fill'd a magic Trench profound With a black Lamb's *thick-streaming Gore. 1738 WESLEY Psalms cxviii. iv, Hosts of Enemies Vexatious as *thick-swarming Bees. 1595 Locrine ii. v. 29 Amongst the dangers of the *thick-strong Pikes. a 1640 Jonson's Masques (MS. Digby 182) ii, Whan þe heed is of greet beemes and is wele afected and *thike tynded. 1671 MILTON P. R. iv. 246 Where the Attic Bird Trills her *thick-warbl'd notes. 1805 Q. Rev. Apr. 249 The *thick-wove paper, and the brilliant type. 1667 MILTON P. L. IX. 437 Now hid, now seen Among *thick-wov'n Arborets and Flours. 1743 FRANCIS tr. Hor., Odes I. vii. 28 Whether..Tibur holds there in its *thick-wrought Shade.

Thick (þik), v. Now rare or Obs. (In the current senses THICKEN is the usual verb.) [OE. þiccian, f. þicce, THICK a. (cf. OHG. dicchên, MHG. dicken).]

1. trans. To make dense in consistence. arch.

c 1000 ÆLFRIC Gram. xxxvii. (Z.) 220 Denso..and denseo..is ðiccize. 1398 TREVISA Barth. De P. R. iv. ii. (Tollem. MS.), It [melancholy] þikkeþ þe blood, þat it fleteþ nouht from digestion by clernesse and pinnesse. c 1440 Anc. Cookery in Household Ord. (1790) 430 Let hit boyle and þick hit with floure of ryse. 1526 Grete Herball cxliv. (1529) I ij b, A moysture that by the heet of the sonne is thycked, ..and torned to a gommy substaunce. 1611 SHAKS. Wint. T. ii. 171 Thoughts, that would thick my blood. 1642 H. MORE Song Soul I. i. xxvii, You thick that veil, and so your selves array With visibility. 1798 COLERIDGE Anc. Mar.

III. xi, The Night-Mare Life-in-Death was she, Who thicks man's blood with cold.

† 2. To make (cloth, etc.) close in texture by fulling; = THICKEN 5. Obs.

1482 Rolls of Parlt. VI. 223/2 Made, wrought, fulled and thikked, by the myghte and strengh of men. 1511-12 Act 3 Hen. VIII, c. 6 § 1 The Walker and Fuller shall truely walke fulle thikke and werke every welthe of wollen yerne. 1566 Act 8 Eliz. c. 11 § 2 That no person..shall thicke or full in any Mytl..any Cappe vntyll suche tyme as the same Cappe be first..half thicked..in the Footestocke. 1597 D'Ewes Pills VI. 92 The Water..over-thicks my Cloth.

3. intr. To become thick, in various senses; = THICKEN intr. Now dial. or arch.

a 1000 Gloss. in Wr.-Wülcker 219/7 Densescit, spissat, þicnaþ. c 1290 St. Nicholas in S. Eng. Leg. 320 Hit þicker to Nye dawes..þanne it tornes formest to flesch. 13.. K. Alis. 384 (Bodl. MS.) þe erþe quaked of her rydyng: þe weder þicked of her crieyng. c 1450 Two Cookery-bks. 91 Lete hit not boyle til hit thicke. 1579 Spenser Sheph. Cal. Mar. 125 But see the Welkin thicke apace. 1878 Mid-Yorks. Gloss. s. v., T'day's thicking (getting cloudy). 1879 J. D. Long Æneid II. 374 The sounds grow clear, The noise of battle thicks.

† b. ? To become frequent or prevalent. Obs.

13.. Cursor M. 17476 (Cott.) Pat wa þam was þaa wreches wicke, Quen þis tijdand bigan to thik.

† 4. intr. To move thickly or in crowds; to flock, crowd. Obs. rare.

c 1000 in Cockayne Shrine (1864) 38 þa þiccodan þiðer semninga þa ismaheli. 1513 Douglas Æneis VI. v. 30 Als gret number thiddir thikkit in feir Ar..Levis of treis. Ibid. xi. 18. 31 Quhar pocht to gret of men thikkis in a rout.

† 5. refl. [f. THICK sb. 5.] To get into the thick of any place; to hide. Obs. rare—1.

1574 Hellowes Guevara's Fam. Ep. (1584) 144 Hauing past three daies and three nightes, forsaking al high wayes, thicked myself in the great desart, and being vtterly tyred with great and extreame heat.

Hence Thicked (þikt) ppl. a., thickened; †fulled; Thi·cking vbl. sb., thickening; † fulling.

c 1440 Anc. Cookery in Household. Ord. (1790) 435 Stere hit tyl hit be thyk, and in the thikkynge do the rosted feletes therto. 1482 Rolls of Parlt. VI. 223/2 To forfaite and lose xl s., as ofte as any such persone shall put to fullyng or thikkyng, or to sale, eny suche Huers, Bonettes or Cappes. 1552-3 Act 7 Edwd. VI, c. 8 (title) An Acte for the true fulling and thicking of Cappes. 1604 Compt Bk. D. Westderbyne (S.H.S.) 45 xvij ells & a quarter bred thickit blewe worzet clayth. 1759 Compl. Letter-writer (ed. 6) 53 The thicking or fulling-mill.

Thick, Sc. var. Theek, to thatch; dial. var. Thilk.

Thick and thin, thi·ck-and-thi·n, phr. Also thick or thin, (neither) thick nor thin.

Cf., for the mere collocation, a 1000 O.E. Riddles xii. 36 Eal is under heofones hwearfte recce..þicce and þynne.

A. as sb.

1. Phr. Through thick and thin († in thick and thin): through everything that is in the way; without regard to or in spite of obstacles or difficulties; under any circumstances. lit. and fig. (app. orig. with reference to 'thicket and thin wood').

c 1386 Chaucer Reeve's T. 145 The hors..gynneth gon.. Forth with wehe, thurgh thikke and thurgh thenne (v. r. thurgh thikke and thenne). 1426 Lydg. De Guil. Pilgr. 2268 A mande postoure I wey pace, thurgh thykke and thynne trace. c 1450 J. Metham Wks. 41/1201 Forth yn thyk and thyn He gan lepe. 1543 Grafton Contin. Harding 544 Kyng Richard..purposed to goo thorow thicke and thinne in this matter. 1590 Spenser F. Q. III. i. 17 His tyreling Jade he fiersly forth did push Through thicke and thin, both over banck and bush. 1627 Drayton Moon-calf 1317 And tag and rag through thick and thin came running. 1681 Dryden Span. Friar v. ii, A thorough-paced liar, that will swear through thick and thin. 1782 Cowper Gilpin 40 Six precious souls, and all agog To dash through thick and thin. 1894 Hall Caine Manxman v. vi, There's five hundred men here to back you up through thick and thin.

2. sb. Adherence to some course, principle, or party, under all circumstances. b. attrib. or adj. (usually hyphened): That adheres or is ready to follow in all circumstances; constant, steadfast, unwavering. c. Hence thick-and-thinnite (nonce-wd.), one who supports a 'thick-and-thin' or resolute policy regardless of consequences. (Political and journalistic slang.)

1884 Pall Mall G. 14 Feb. 1/1 He would have been denounced as a traitor by the hidebound partisans of thick and thin. 1886 J. Payn Heir of Injes xxxv, It would have been difficult to find a more thick-and-thin admirer of its excellences. 1890 Spectator 18 Oct. 515/2 In his thick-and-thin advocacy of the democratic policy. 1898 Dr. Farquharson Sp. Ho. Com. 9 May, [On these matters he was a] thick and thin-ite. 1900 A. J. Balfour Sp. Manchester 9 Jan., I felt as if I was before this speech tarred with the brush of being a 'thick-and-thinnite'. 1900 Westm. Gaz. 11 Jan. 2/2 There does not exist a thick-and-thinner party man than Mr. Balfour.

† B. as adv. Either thick or thin: in any case, under any circumstances; neither thick nor thin, in no circumstances. Obs. rare.

1486 Bk. St. Albans e vij b, Thyk nor thynne [see Gargilon]. 1546 St. Papers Hen. VIII, XI. 254 The Dolphyn spared not, thyck nor thynne.

C. as adj. 1. Naut. Of a tackle-block: Having one sheave larger than the other; cf. Fiddle-block.

1815 Burney Falconer's Dict. Marine s. v. Block, Thick and thin, or, Quarter-Block, is a double block with one sheave thicker than the other, and is used to lead down the topsail-sheets and clew-lines. 1841 Dana Seaman's Man. Gloss., Thick-and-thin Block, a block having one sheave larger than the other. Sometimes used for quarter-blocks.

2. See A. 2 b.

Thicke, obs. form of Theek, Thick, Thilk.

Thicken (þi·k'n), v. [f. Thick a. + -en 5. Cf. ON. þykkn-a, f. þykk adj. Thick.] To make or become thick or thicker.

1. trans. To make dense in consistence; to coagulate, inspissate. Also fig.

c 1425 tr. Arderne's Treat. Fistula 30 Vnto þat pe water be luyse be somewhat þikned. 1550 Bullokar, Thycken or congeele, congela. 1616 Surfl. & Markh. Country Farme 64 Heat doth safegard and thicken the milke. 1698 Fryer Acc. E. India & P. 353 By indulging his Body he thickens his Understanding. 1771 Mrs. Fenwood New Present 44 It is a very good thing to thicken gravy with. 1801 C. Dibdin Tour I. 356 The illuminati, who generally thicken in the clear, so as to confound the business, that a man of plain sense can make nothing out of them. 1866 Roberts Agric. & Prices I. xiii. 221 Oatmeal was used scantily, but generally for thickening soup.

b. intr. To increase in density or consistence; also, to become turbid or cloudy. Also fig.

1598 Ejulario I j b, Set it all night to thicken..in a cold place. 1660 F. Bhooke tr Le Blanc's Trav. 19 A liequor, or gumme, which thickens of it selfe. 1728 Prior Solomon I. 355 Water stopt gives birth To grass and plants, and thickens into earth. 1888 Besant 50 Years Ago vii. 121 There comes a time when the brow clouds, and the speech thickens, and the tongue refuses to act.

2. intr. To become dark, obscure, or opaque; of the weather: to become misty.

1605 Shaks. Macb. III. ii. 50 Light thickens,..Good things of Day begin to droope, and drowse. 1606 — Ant. & Cl. II. iii. 27 Thy Luster thickens, When he shines by. 1870 Dawes Pt. Congo, Granada II. i, I'll face this Storm that thickens in the Wind. 1784 Cook's Voy. Pacific vi. iii. III. 239 The weather still thickening, and preventing a nearer approach to the land. 1860 Tyndall Glac. I. xxv. 189 As we approached the summit the air thickened more and more.

3. trans. To make close or dense in disposition of parts or in texture; to fill up the interstices or intervals of. ? Obs.

1575 Lankham Let. (1871) 8 Seauen posts on a side, that stood a twelue foot a sunder, thikned betweene with well proportionable quickset. 1611 T. Granger Divn. Logthe 30 The clouds are not thickned in the skie: therfore it will not be raine. 1755 Johnson Dict., Thicken, v., ..to make frequent, to make close or numerous. 1812 Brackenridge Views Louisiana II. 141 It is perhaps good policy in our government, to thicken the frontier, and to suffer the intermediate space to fill up gradually.

4. intr. To become crowded, numerous, or frequent; to gather thickly. Also † To move in great numbers, to flock, troop (obs. poet.).

1726 Pope Odyss. xviii. 49 Well pleased they spring Swift from their seats, and thickening form a ring. 1771 Junius Lett. liv. (1820) 286 Honours shall..thicken over him. 1789 Mme. D'Arblay Diary 19 Nov., The crowd every instant thickening. 1838 Dickens Nich. Nick. liv, Misfortune and discovery are thickening about your head.

5. a. trans. To increase the substance between opposite surfaces of; to make thicker in measure.

c 1621 Chapman Iliad XIII. 123 Lance was lin'd with lance; Shields thickned with opposed shields. 1777 Sheridan Trip to Scarborough I. iii, The calves of these stockings are thicken'd a little too much. 1898 Glenny Gard. Everyday 87, Sow the earth in the alleys [is to be] thrown up to thicken the soil above them a little. 1884 Bower & Scott De Bary's Phaner. 229 In most cases the walls are thickened by spiral fibres.

b. intr. To become thicker in measurement; to increase in girth or bulk.

1763 Mills Syst. Pract. Husb. IV. 35 That their roots.. may have full room to thicken and run downward. 1805 Pike Sources Mississ. (1810) 42 Ice in the river thickening. 1872 R. B. Smyth Mining Statist. 21 The seams..thicken in one place and thin out in another.

c. trans. fig. To make more substantial; to strengthen, confirm.

1604 Shaks. Oth. III. iii. 430 This may helpe to thicken other proofes, That do demonstrate thinly. 1893 C. W. Wendte in Reasonable Relig. 73 The philosophers..are thickening up their systems..with scientific facts.

6. intr. fig. To become more complex or intricate (esp. said of a plot); to increase in intensity.

1671 Villiers (Dk. Buckhm.) Rehearsal III. ii. (Arb.) 81 Ay, now the Plot thickens very much upon us. 1697 Dryden Æneid IV. 908 The combat thickens, like the storm that flies. 1810 Scott Lady of L. I. ii, The cry, That thickened as the chase drew nigh. 1859 Kingsley Misc. I. i. 16 As the quarrel thickened and neared.

Hence Thickened (þi·k'nd) ppl. a., that is made thick or thicker, in various senses.

c 1621 Chapman Iliad XIX. 368 A bright thickned bush of golden haire. 1667 Milton P. L. XI. 749 The thick'nd Skie Like a dark Ceeling stood. 1697 Dryden Virg. Georg. IV. 386 Mix it with thicken'd Juice of sodden Wines. 1861 Bentley Man. Bot. 401 Plants with succulent or thickened leaves. 1900 Daily News 17 Apr. 7/4 With solids and pneumatics [tyres], both of the wired-on and thickened-edge varieties.

Thickener (þi·k'nər). [f. prec. vb. + -er 1.] That which (or one who) thickens; in Dyeing, a substance used to increase the consistence of the colours or mordants.

1652 French Yorksh. Spa iv. 46 The body is to be annointed with oyle, with spissaments or thickeners. 1732 Arbuthnot Rules of Diet in Aliments, etc. 261 Thickeners of the Humours. 1883 R. Haldane Workshop Receipts Ser. II. 206/2 The next step..is the removal of the thickeners.

Thickening (þi·k'nin), vbl. sb. [f. as prec. + -ing 1.] The action of the verb Thicken; the process of making or becoming thick or thicker; concr. the result of this action or process; a thickened substance or part.

1580 Hollyband Treas. Fr. Tong, Espaississement, a thickening. 1603 Holland Plutarch's Mor. 998 Mists, fogs, and clouds are no congealations, but onely gatherings, and thickenings of a moist and vapourous aire. 1822 J. Parkinson Outl. Oryctol. 159 A subglobose univalve; the opening longer than wide; no thickening of the left lip. 1893 Tuckey tr. Hatschek's Amphioxus 154 He was misled by a thickening of the alimentary canal in front of the gland. 1899 Abbott's Syst. Med. VIII. 511 Eczema palms very frequently leads..to great thickening of the epidermis. c 1900 Beeton's Everyday Cookery Bk. 209/2 By the addition of various store sauces, thickening and flavouring, good stock may be converted into good gravies.

b. A substance used to thicken something; spec. in Dyeing. = Thickener.

1839 Ure Dict Arts, etc. 222 Several circumstances may require the consistence of the thickening to be varied. 1874 W. Crookes Dyeing & Calico-print. ii. 17 Only two mineral thickenings are at present employed, namely, kaolin and pipe-clay.

c. Foundry = Thickness 8.

1872 Ellacombe Bells of Ch. i. 200 When thoroughly dried, the outer mould is removed, and the thickening (the fac-simile of the bell) destroyed.

d. Bot. Thickening layer, mass, ring (Ger. verdickungsring): see quots.

1875 Bennett & Dyer tr. Sachs's Bot. 27 A wider cavity, which is bounded on the sides by the narrow part of the thickening-masses, on the outside by the primary cell-wall. Ibid. 108 Generating ring of tissue, corresponding to Sanio's thickening ring. 1900 B. D. Jackson Gloss Bot. Terms 270/2 Thickening Layer, an apparent layer of cellulose on the inner face of a cell-wall; Thickening Ring, Sanio's term for a ring of meristem in which the first fibro-vascular bundles originate.

Thickening (þi·k'nin), ppl. a. [f. as prec. + -ing 2.] That thickens: a. That grows thicker; b. That makes something thick or thicker.

1721 J. Dart Westminster Abbey 57 When Learning was with thick'ning Mists o'erspread. 1784 Cowper Task IV. 330 Earth receives Gladly the thickening mantle [snow]. 1860 Tyndall Glac. I. xiii. 88 At the close of the day thickening clouds warned me off. 1880 Browning Dram. Idyls, Pan & Luna 10 Fast-thickening poppy-juice. 1895 Model Steam Engine 69 The thickening piece is soldered to the boiler.

† Thicker. Obs. [f. Thick v. + -er 1.] One who 'thicks' or fulls cloth; a fuller. Also as second element in comb., as cap-thicker, say-thicker.

1520 Whittinton Vulg. (1527) 76 b, In the strete vpon the backe halfe, be drapers..cappers, thyckers of cappes. 1570 Foxe A. & M. (ed. 2) 944/2 One Walker a thicker of S. Clementes. 1641 Saye-Thickers [see Say sb.] 3].

Thicket (þi·k'et). Also † piccet, 6 thyckette, 7 thickett. [OE. þicett, neut., f. þicce thick + -ett, denominative suffix (as in emm-ett plain, rýmet space).] A dense growth of shrubs, underwood, and small trees; a place where low trees or bushes grow thickly together; a brake. Cf. Thick sb. 5.

a 1000 Ps. (Spelm.) xxviii[i], 9 Stefn drihtnes awriþþ þicettu [Lamb. piccetu]. 1530 Tindale Gen. xxii. 13 A ram caught by the hornes in a thykette. 1530 Palsgr. 280/1 Thicket or a forest, boscage. 1555 Eden Decades 57 They founde a greate thicket of bushes. 1593 Shaks. 3 Hen. VI, IV. v. 3 Leaue off to wonder why I drew you hither, Into this cheefest Thicket of the Parke. 1667 Milton P. L. IV. 682 How often from the steep Of echoing Hill or Thicket have we heard Celestial voices to the midnight air, Singing. 1711 Addison Spect. No. 56 ¶ 3 This huge Thicket of Thorns and Brakes was designed as a Kind of Fence. 1855 Kingsley Heroes III. (1868) 32 They sang like nightingales among the thickets.

b. transf. and fig.

1582 Stanyhurst Æneis II. (Arb.) 54, I run forward too rush through thicket of armoure. 1612 Webster White Devil II. i. 79 He meete thee Even in a thicket of thy ablest men. 1667 S. Purchas Pol. Flying-Ins. xvii. 111 They are quickly be-wilded in a thicket of errors. 1698 Fryer Acc. E. India & P. 45 A Thicket of twenty Sail of our Enemies were discovered. 1821 Scott Kenilw. xiii, His wild and overgrown thicket of beard was now restrained to two small mustachios. 1866 J. Martineau Ess. I. 52 We entangle ourselves in a thicket of ever-growing problems.

c. attrib. and Comb., as thicket-maze, -haunting.

1813 Scott Rokeby IV. ii, Where the thicket-groupes recede. 1837 Stanley Gipsies 156 Or track old Jordan through his thicket maze. 1880 Allingham Poems, Music-master ii. xv, The thicket-tangling, tenderest briar-rose. 1892 Guardian 11 May 706/2 Along the courtly mere of thicket isles.

Hence Thi·cketed a., occupied or covered by thickets; Thi·cketful, as many or as much as fills a thicket; Thi·ckety a., abounding in thickets.

c 1624 Chapman Homer, Hymn to Bacchus 140 In ivies and in baies All over 'thicketed. 1835 W. Irving Tour Prairies xxxiii, The same kind of rough, hilly, thicketed country. 1887 J. Service Dr. Duguid 270 Sweet sounds.. From out the 'thicketful of singing throats. 1846 Mrs. Marsh Emilia Wyndham (1848) 249 Very fine timber and 'thicketty woods. 1865 W. C. Palgrave Arabia I. 238 Broken and thickety ground in front.

† Thi·ckfold, adv. (adj.) Obs. Chiefly north. [f. Thick a.: see -fold.] Thickly together; in great numbers, in crowds.

a 1300 Cursor M. 11958 Pas o[per [angels] lighted dun thic-fald. c 1400 Rauland & O. 1108 Full thikke folde gan Saraznes dy. c 1440 Bone Flor. 871 Many myrakyls for hur he wroght, Many a oon and thyck folde 1513 Douglas Æneis XIII. ii. 68 O 3e my feris..Throu mony hard perrellis and thikfald..Hiddir nor careit to this cost with me. 1535 Stewart Cron. Scot. (Rolls) III. 98 Thikfald to him all in the tyme tha drew.

Thi·ck-head. One who or that which has a thick head.

1. One who is dull of intellect; a blockhead.

1871 Carlyle in Mrs. Carlyle's Lett. (1883) I. 103 note, Ambitious thickhead. 1882 H. Seebohm Siberia in Asia 32 One of the greatest thickheads that I have ever met with.

b attrib. or adj. = Thick-headed b.

1893 Browning Red Cott. Nt.-cap II. 235 Who ever has his speech in readiness For thick-head juvenility at fault. 1894 F. S. Ellis Reynard Fox 187 I'll shortly sow strife among Those thick-head folks.

2. A name given in different localities to various birds: e. g. a. Any bird of the subfamily Pachycephalinæ, the Thick-headed Shrikes of the Australian region. b. A scansorial barbet of the subfamily Capitoninæ (Cent. Dict. 1891).

1837 Swainson Nat. Hist. Birds II. 250 Vireoninæ .. Pachycephala..Thickhead. 1890 Victorian Stat., Game Act Sched. iii. (Morris), Thick-heads. [Close season] From the first day of August to the twentieth day of December. 1894 Newton Dict. Birds 661 Native Thrush, Pachycephala olivacea (Thickhead). 1896 Ibid. 98 The name Thickhead is..given in other parts of the world to very different birds, and in South Africa especially to Œdicnemus capensis.., the Stone Curlew of that country.

Thi·ck-he·aded, a. [Parasynthetic f. prec. + -ED 2.] Having a thick head. a. lit.; esp. in names of animals, as Thick-headed Mullet, Mugilostoma congesta; Thick-headed Shrike = Thick-head 2 a.

1707 Mortimer Husb. (1721) I. 314 Make a Trail..so as to bring it near some thick-headed Tree. 1752 J. Hill Hist. Anim. 569 The thick-headed Hippopotamus, with no tail. The Copy-Barn.

b. fig. Dull of intellect; slow-witted, obtuse.

1801 Mar. Edgeworth Gd. French Gov. (1893) 7 He was so 'thick-headed at his book', that Mrs. Grace. affirmed that he never would learn to read. 1860 Gen. P. Thompson Audi Alt. III. cxxv. 80 A thick-headed idea of law is, that it is a machine for getting men hanged. 1891 Lounsbury Stud. Chaucer II. vi. 481 Something of the feeling..which represents the members of the nobility as being good-hearted but also thick-headed.

Hence Thickhead·edness, obtuseness, crassness.

1889 Voice (N. Y.) 14 Feb., He..failed to estimate the thickheadedness of the party addressed. 1894 Spectator 23 Jan. 126/2 Bumptious, bullying thickheadedness.

Thicking, vbl. sb.: see Thick v.

Thickish (pi·kisl), a. [f. Thick a. + -ish 1.] Somewhat thick.

1545 Raynold Byrth Mankynde 141 Also her vryne waxeth sypyse and thyckysshe. 1713 Lond. Gaz. No. 5178/4 Thickish of Hearing. 1737 Bracken Farriery Impr. (1757) II. 23 Horses that are a little thickish about the Shoulders. 1894 Comh. Mag. Mar. 269 Two thickish quarto volumes.

Thick-knee (pi·knī). Also thicknee. A name for any bird of the genus Œdicnemus, esp. the Stone Curlew, Norfolk or Great Plover, Œ. scolopax (Œ. crepitans, Temminck); so called from the enlargement of the tibio-tarsal joint.

1816 Leach Cat. Mamm. & B. in Brit. Mus. 28 Fedoa Œdicnemus Common thicknee, Wiltshire. 1840 Penny Cycl. XVI. 402/1 The..Thick-knee, Thick-kneed Bustard. 1866 Owen Vertebr. Anim. xiv. II. 26 The 'Thick-knees'..and Bustards..have the four-notched sternum. 1896 List Anim. Zool. Soc. 320 Œdicnemus grallarius, Australian Thicknee. ..Œ. superciliaris, Peruvian Thicknee.

So Thi·ck-knee·d a., having thick knees; esp. in thick-kneed bustard or plover, the Stone Curlew.

1776 Pennant Zool. (ed. 4) I. 244 Bustard, thick-kneed. 1840 [see Thick-knee]. 1893 Newton Dict. Birds 129 The Curlew of islanders, or Stone-Curlew—called also..most wrongly..the Thick-knee or Thick-kneed Bustard.

Thi·ck-leaved (-līvd), -leafed (-lēft), a. [See Leaved, Leafed.] a. Having or covered with dense foliage; thickly set with leaves.

1982 Stanyhurst Æneis I. (Arb.) 28 Shaded with thick-leaued arbours. 1660 Blount Boscobel 32 The colonel made choice of a thick-leafed oak. 1847 Tennyson Princess III. 159 The thick-leaved platans of the vale.

b. Having thick fleshy leaves.

1707 Mortimer Husb. (1721) I. 31 Where thick-leav'd Weeds are amongst the Grass, they will need more drying than ordinary Grass doth. 1860 Merc. Marine Mag. VII. 199 A thick leafed..plant.

Thick-lipped (pi·klip·t: stress var.), a. Having thick or full lips.

a 1529 Skelton E. Rummyng 467 She was vgly hypped, And vgly thycke lypped. 1588 Shaks. Tit. A. IV. ii. 175 Come on you thick-lipt slaue. 1682 Lond. Gaz. No. 1685/4 John Wilmote, .. of a pretty Ruddy Complexion, and something thick Lipped. 1838 Johnston in Proc. Berw. Nat. Club I. No. 6. 171 Mugil cheilo, .. the Thick-lipped Grey Mullet. 1867 Baker Nile Tribut. xx. (1872) 352 A real thick-lipped flat-nosed nigger.

So Thi·ck-lips, one who has thick lips; a contemptuous appellation for a negro.

1604 Shaks. Oth. I. i. 66 What a full Fortune do's the Thicks-lips owe If he can carry't thus?

Thickly (pi·kli), adv. [f. Thick a. + -ly 2.] In a thick manner; so as to be thick, in various senses; densely; closely; abundantly; frequently; deeply; obscurely, indistinctly.

c 1400 Laud Troy Bk. 5672 Thei died thanne thikly. c 1430 Pilgr. Lyf Manhode II. lviii. (1869) 98 Sum time thou shalt see me thikkelliche and derkeliche. 1573–80 Baret Alv. T 151 Thicklie; grosslie; clubbishlie, or blockishlie. c 1611 Chapman Iliad xv. 440 His helmet, thickly plum'd. 1630 Drayton Noah's Flood 83 Your sins..so thickly strewing. 1770 Cook Voy. round World iii. ii. (1773) 59 Lofty hills, all thickly clothed with wood. 1860 Tyndall Glac. i. xviii. 123 Mont Cervin gathered the clouds more thickly round him. 1883 Lib. R. Gower My Reminis. I. iii. 35 The walls of the principal apartments are thickly hung with paintings.

b. In comb. with ppl. or other adjs.

1797 T. Park Sonn. 7 Clouds, thickly-driving, veil the face of day. 1832 Motherwell Poet. Wks. (1847) 8 Those thickly-timbered shores. 1900 Westm. Gaz. 7 Sept. 4/1 A thickly-inhabited district.

Thicknee, variant of Thick-knee.

Thickness (pi·knes). [OE. þicness = OHG. dikniswa, f. Thick a. + -ness.]

I. The quality or condition of being thick.

1. Relatively large measurement through, or between opposite surfaces; stoutness, bulkiness; the opposite of thinness or slenderness. Also fig.

c 1000 Ags. Gloss. in Haupt's Zeitschr. (1853) IX. 519 Elephantina callositate, hreoflicre þicnesse. 1538 Elyot, Crassamentum, thycknesse. .. Crassities & crassitudo, fatnesse, thickness, grossenes. 1577 B. Googe Heresbach's Husb. II. (1586) 80 b, The equall medley of .. thicknesse and thinnes. 1613 Hayward Norm. Kings 23 As he grew in yeeres, so did he in thicknesse and fatnesse of body. 1642 Evelyn Diary 7 Aug., Walls..of prodigious thicknesse. 1882 J. Parr Luck of Darrelle xx, His companion's astounding thickness of skin [cf. Thick-skinned 2].

2. Measurement or extension of anything between its opposite surfaces; the third (and commonly least) dimension, distinct from length and breadth.

a 900 Wærferth Gregory's Dial. (1900) 44 He gewæande þæs weteres þecynd on eles þicnesse. 1387 Trevisa Higden (Rolls) V. 45 þe þicnesse of þe erþe þorw oute is almest sexe þousand and fyue hondred myle. 14.. Tundale's Vis. (Wagner) 1314 Fourti cubytes on brede he hadde And nine on thekness was he made. a 1548 Hall Chron., Hen. VIII 33 The Frenchmen came in, in like thicknes, xxxvii. mens thickenes [i. e. thirty-six deep]. 1570 Billingsley Euclid i. def. ii. 2 A point..neither hath length, breadth, nor thickenes. 1683 Moxon Mech. Exerc., Printing xxiv, It is Quarter high, of seven Thicknesses, viz. a Nonpareil, Brevier, Long-primmer, Pica, etc. 1735 Johnson Lobo's Abyssinia, Descr. x. 103 The Crocodile is very ugly, having no Proportion between his Length and Thickness. 1825 J. Smith Panorama Sc. & Art I. 72 In half an hour it will scarcely be the thickness of a sixpence. 1854 Pereira's Polaris. Light 134 The resulting tint depends on the difference of the thicknesses. 1884 Bower & Scott De Bary's Phanerog. 411 They there attain a thickness which amounts to $\frac{1}{6}$ or even more than $\frac{5}{6}$ of the entire thickness of the leaf.

3. The quality or condition of being consistent or viscous (also, degree of consistence); of the air, the condition of being laden with impurities.

c 1000 Sax. Leechd. I. 126 Cnuca mid wine on hunizes þicnysse. 1398 Trevisa Barth. De P. R. III. xvii. (W. de W. 1495) d iiv b/1, If it is all clere & w'out thyknesse as the ayere is, thenne yt is not aton. c 1425 tr. Arderne's Treat. Fistula 36 Medled togidre in suche þiknes þat it may be getted in by a nastare of tree. 1663 Gerbier Counsel ay Morter..tunequall in thicknesse. 1737 Whiston Josephus, Antiq. xiv. 3 § 2 Whereby their breath was hindered, and their breathing hindered by the thickness of the air, they died miserably. 1747 Wesley Prim. Physick (1762) 109 Mix Juice of Celandine with Honey to the Thickness of Cream.

4. Of the air, etc.: Misty or hazy condition; obscurity, opacity.

c 1000 Ags. Ps. (Spelm.) xcvi. 2 ȝenipu and þicnæs, nubes et caligo. c 1000 Sax. Leechd. III. 232 We ne magon for þære fyrlynan heahnysse & þæra wolcna ðicnysse .. hi næfre geseoon. 1446 Lydg. De Guil. Pilgr. 11036 And off the owgly ffoul thyknesse, .. Thow shalt lese the syht off me.

5. Dense or crowded condition; closeness of collocation or growth.

1398 Trevisa Barth. De P. R. v. xv. (Bodl. MS.), Þiknes of berd is signe and tokenne of heste and of substancial humour and of strenghe. 1433 Lydg. St. Edmund II. 898 A couert, shrowded with thyknesse Of thornys sharpe. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 491/1 Thykkenesse, as of wodys, gresse, corne, or other lyke, densitas. 1825 Scott Talism. vi, His hair in thickness might have resembled that of Samson.

6. Want of clearness in breathing, hearing, or utterance; indistinct articulation.

1538 Elyot Dict. Addit., Dasein, thyckenes of brethe. 1659 Holder Elem. Speech 168 Being at sometimes subject to thickness of Hearing. 1686 Burnet Lett. (1708) 249 Her Nurse had an extraordinary Thickness of Hearing. 1863 A. M. Bell Prim. Speech 183 The inarticulate confusion of speech which results is commonly called 'thickness'. 1908 R. Bagot A. Cuthbert iii. 84 few observations being characterised by a decided thickness of utterance.

II. That which is thick or has thickness.

7. That which is thick, in any sense; the part (of anything) which is thick; the thick (of anything); the space between opposite surfaces (e. g. of a wall).

c 1000 Ags. Gloss. in Haupt's Zeitschr. (1853) IX. 499 Sulphureis flammarum globis, sweflenum þicynessum. a 1000 Lambeth Ps. cxviii[ii]. 27 On þyccetum vel on ðicnessum, in condensis. 1382 Wyclif Isa. ix. 18 It shal be brend vp in the thicknes of the wilde wode. 1560 Bible (Genev.) Ezek. xlii. 10 The chambres were in the thickenes of the wall of the court. 1687 A. Lovell tr. Thevenot's Trav. II. 82 They go down..by steps made in the thickness of the Walls. 1796 Morse Amer. Geog. II. 477 Incumbered with unwholesome marshes..and impenetrable thicknesses. 1829 Jephson Brittany vii. 93 The wall is here about five yards thick, and in its thickness are stone benches. 1905 R. Bagot Passport iii. 19 There was only the thickness of a Bloor between them.

8. A layer (of cloth, paper, etc.). In Foundry, A layer of loam in a mould which represents the object to be cast (e. g. a pipe, bell), and is broken away from the completed mould to make room for the molten metal.

1815 J. Smith Panorama Sc. & Art II. 807 Place several thicknesses of paper upon the glass. 1853 Sir H. Douglas Milit. Bridges (ed. 3) 325 The whole of thicknesses of planks..are then well drawn together, and fastened to each other, by the trenails. 1884 N. E. Spretson Casting & Founding 215 In the absence of patterns, however, for these and for other varieties of short piping, they are swept up in loam, the core within the 'thickness'. 1889 Anthony's Photogr. Bull. II. 237 On top..a single thickness of common felt cloth is placed.

Hence Thi·cknessing vbl. sb., the action of reducing (boards, etc.) to a given thickness.

1890 Eng. Mech. 4 Feb. 491/1 The whole of the machine employed for tenoning, planing, thicknessing, or moulding. 1901 Daily Chron. 9 May 1/6 Planing and Thicknessing Machine, 20in.

Thicksell, dial. variant of Thixil, an adz.

Thick-set, a. and sb. [f. Thick adv. + set, pa. pple. of Set v.]

A. adj. (Stress variable, ´—´, ´—, ´—; cf. note under Ill adv. 3.)

1. Composed of individuals or parts arranged in close order; thickly studded or planted (with something).

7*a* 1366 Chaucer Rom. Rose 1419 By the stremes..Sprang up the gras, as thikke sette And soffte as ony velvet. 1610 Holland Camden's Brit. (1637) 627 Thicker set with high Hills. c 1665 Mss. Hutchinson Mem. Col. Hutchinson (1846) 22 His hair of light brown, very thick set in his youth. 1697 Dryden Æneid i. 617 Thick-set with trees, a venerable wood. 1869 Tozer Highl. Turkey II. 220 A wild hilly country..thick-set with bushes of prickly palluria.

c 1410 Master of Game (MS. Digby 182) xxiv. He is hart] bereth a thykesette heede [Head sb. 6]. 1638–48 G. Daniel Eclog. ii. 2 The Covert of yond' thicket Thorne. a 1700 Dryden Ovid's Met. xiii. Acis, etc. 156 A thick-set underwood of bristling hair. 1829 Crabbe T. of Hall vi. 132 That thickset alley by the arbour closed.

2. Set or placed close together; closely arranged.

1570–6 Lambarde Peramb. Kent (1826) 181 The place hath in it sundry villages, although not thicke set, nor much inhabited. 1796 Museum Rust. V. xxiv. 128 Its flowers are yellow, and thick-set.

1612 Drayton Poly-olb. i. 447 Where Corineus ran With slaughter through the thick-set squadrons of the foes. 1848 Buckley Iliad 457 They made a great fence around, with thick-set stakes.

3. Having a dense or close-grained nap: cf. B. 2.

b. Thick-set wheat: see quot. 1808.

1709 Lond. Gaz. No. 4608/4 A pair of thickset Fustian Breeches. 1769 Public Advertiser 25 Sept. 3/1 Dressed in Fustian or Thick Cleaths. 1808 Bartholos Agric. 362 Velvet-eared wheat, which is called in this county whitechaffed led wheat, and thick-set wheat.

4. Of close compact build; esp. short and strongly made; square-built; stocky.

1724 Lond. Gaz. No. 6251/3 He is a thick-set Boy. 1777 Chronicl. in Ann. Reg. 43/1 A short thick-set man, with a very honest ingenuous countenance. 1844 L. M. Hawkins Annaline I. 86 Distinguished by thickset limbs. 1830 Markyat King's Own xix, He was short and thick-set.

B. sb. (pi·kset).

1. A thicket; a thick-set plantation.

1766 Amory Bunclé (1825) III. 108 The first spring of this water is, in the middle of a thick-set of alders. 1844 P. Parley's Ann. V. 191 Tungee had more than once threaded this maze of wood and thickset.

2. A stout twilled cotton cloth with a short very close nap; a kind of fustian; also, a garment of this material. ? Obs.

1756 Toldervy Hist. a Orphans II. 105 The latter having on his back his common grey frock, and the former a Manchester thickset. 1795 Morse Amer. Geog. I. 440 Jeans, fustians, denims, thicksets, velvets. 1822 Galt Sir A. Wylie i, His breeches, of olive thickset, were..carefully preserved from stains. 1882 Beck Draper's Dict. 141 Corduroy and thickset are also coarser varieties of fustian.

b. Short for thick-set wheat (see A. 3 b).

1875 Encycl. Brit. I. 354/1 The red-straw white [wheat] and Piper's thick-set have properties similar to the Fenton.

Thi·ck-sighted (stress var.), a. ? Obs. Not seeing clearly; having obscure or dim vision.

1512 Skelton Ware, Hawe & Ald. 1 Thick-sighted, barren, leane, and lacking iuyce. 1628 Feltham Resolves II. [1.] xcii. 269 She is thick-sighted, and cannot see them. 1775 Sheridan St. Patr. Day II. iii, We are but blind guessers. ..Thick-sighted mortals. 1863 Mss. Gaskell Sylvia's Lovers xxi, Too thick sighted to see through a board.

Thickskin (pi·kskin). One who has a thick skin; a person dull or slow of feeling. Also attrib.

1582 Stanyhurst Æneis Ded. (Arb.) 9 What thinck you of thee thick skyn, that made this for a fare wel for this mystresse? 1597 Br. Hall Sat. I. i. 8 Nor can I bide to pen some hungry Scene For thick-skin eares, and vindicentring eyne. 1611 Cotgr., Cerueille à double rebrais, a.. iouithead, thicke-skinne, dull fellow. 1893 H. M. Doughty Wherry in Wendish L. 53 We..should have made a fair distance but for those slugs and thickskins of bridge-keepers.

Thi·ck-skinned (-skind : stress var.), a.

1. Having a thick skin; of plants, fruits, etc., having a thick outer coat or peel.

1545 Elyot, Callosus, thicke skynned. 1601 Holland Pliny I. xi. xxxix. 346 Men..who are thicke skinned..be more grosse of sence and understanding. 1813 Sir H. Davy Agric. Chem. (1814) 152 In the South of Europe, hard or thin-skinned wheat is in higher estimation than soft or thick-skinned wheat. 1831 CARLYLE Sart. Res. II. ii, Did not these bristly thick-skinned beings [hogs] have manifest intelligence? 1884 BOWER & SCOTT De Bary's Phaner. 38 The superficial position of the stomata is the rule for herbaceous less thick-skinned parts.

2. fig. Dull of sensation or feeling; obtuse, stolid; now esp. not sensitive to criticism or rebuff; the opposite of thin-skinned.

1602 2nd Pt. Return fr. Parnass. III. iv. 1383 The Scrule current of my slyding verse, Gently shal runne into his thick skinld eares. 1658 SIR H. BROWNE Hydriot. Introd. (1736) 8 They who are so Thick-skinned as still to believe the Story of the Phœnix. 1828 SCOTT Jrnl. 26 June, He would be thick-skinned if he stands the clamour. 1885 American IX. 387 He is too thick-skinned to mind eloquent and indignant criticism.

Thi·ck-sku·lled (-skʊld : stress var.), a. Having a thick skull; hence fig. slow or dull of apprehension; dense, dull-witted; = THICK-HEADED.

a 1653 G. DANIEL Idyll. v. 140 As the thick-Skull'd Turke ..It baffles vs, with our owne Instrument. 1673 Ess. Educ. Gentlewom. 32 Every thick-skull'd Fellow that babbles this out, thinks no Billingsgate Woman can Answer it. 1755 SMOLLETT Quix. I. iv. xxi. (1805) II. 258 Is it possible that your worship can be so thick-skulled and brainless, as not to perceive the truth of what I alledge? 1821 SCOTT Let. to Cunninghame 27 Apr., The common class of readers..are thick-skulled enough. 1860 EMERSON Cond. Life, Fate Wks. II. 317 Thick-skulled, small-brained, fishy..quadruped.

So Thi·ck-skull, a thick-skulled person.

1755 JOHNSON, Doll, a heavy stupid fellow; a blockhead; a thickscull; a logerhead. 1838 JAS. GRANT Sk. Lond. 223 Says I, 'You lie, you stupid thickskull!' 1894 CROCKETT Raiders 346 Such a thick-skull was I.

Thi·ck-sow·n, a. Also 8 thick-sowed. Sown thickly or within little interval between the seeds. Also fig. So Thick-sow v. (rare), to sow thickly.

1683 NORRIS Coll. Misc. (1687) 429 A little Plot of ground thick-sown. 1712 ADDISON Spect. No. 285 ¶ 8 Metaphors are not so thick sown in Milton. 1728 MORGAN Algiers I. Pref. 14 Many were more inclined to fall on the well-laden thick-sowed English than any others. 1742 YOUNG Nt. Th. IX. 1231 To count The thick-sown glories in this field of fire. 1896 Harper's Mag. Apr. 671 The distances, thick-sown with the faint yellow candle-flames. 1898 Westm. Gaz. 7 Oct. 3/1 It is useless to thick-sow your dialogue with 'ess fas' and 'pretty witty', ..and omit the breath of life and expression of character.

†Thi·ckways, adv. Obs. rare. [f. THICK a. + -WAYS.] In the direction of the thickness.

1644 DIGBY Nat. Bodies xviii. § 1. 158 The ayre..not ..admitting to be diuided thickeways so much as is necessary to fill the first growing distance, between the two stones. Ibid. xxv. § 2. 297 If the extreme corners had pressed vpon this droppe, only broadways and thickeways..then it would haue proued a cylinder.

Thi·ck-witted (stress var.), a. Having ' thick ' wits; dull of intellect, stupid.

1634 W. WOOD New Eng. Prosp. To Rdr., I decline this sort of thick-witted readers. 1642 MILTON Apol. Smect. Wks. 1851 III. 236 The conceit that all who are not Prelaticall, are grosse headed, thick-witted, illiterat, shallow. 1821 SCOTT Kenilw xxxv, He is..thick-witted enough to adopt any belief that thrust on him.

So Thi·ckwit, a thick-witted person.

1904 M. HEWLETT Queen's Quair III. ii. 376 She cheapened herself in Love's honour and was held cheap by Scotch thickwits.

†Thi·cky, a. Obs. [f. THICK a. + -Y.] Of a thick nature; inclined to be thick.

1587 A. DAV Daphnis & Chloe (1890) 112 Since Ceres first these thickie groues pursued. 1590 GREENE Mourn. Garm. Wks. (Rldg.) 304/2 It was near a thicky shade, That broad leaves of beech had made. 1598 Q. ELIZ. Plutarch iv. 26 Fly thou this darke and thikky mysty folded Cloude.

Thicky, dem. adj. (dial.): see THILK.

Thidder, -ir, etc., obs. ff. THITHER.

Thie, obs. form of THIGH.

Thief (θīf). Pl. thieves (θīvz). Forms: 1 þeb, þief, þéof, (þéaf, þæf), 2 þof (dat. þove), 2–5 þeof, (3 dat. þeve), 3–4 þief, 3–5 þef, þeef, 4 þyef, þefe, 4–5 þef, -ff, thif, theyf, 4–6 thefe, 4–7 theif, theef, -ffe, 5 (þeue), thife, thyf(e, 5–6 theyff, 5–7 theefe, 6 theaf, theiff, thieffe, 6–7 thiefe, 6- thief. Pl. also 4 þewes; þeifs, þeifs, theffes, 4–6 thefes. [OE. þief, þēof (North. þēaf). Com. Teut.; in OFris. thiaf, OS. thiof (MDu., Du. dief, MLG. dief, dēf, LG. dēf, pl. dēven), OHG. diob, diuob (MHG. diep, Ger. dieb); ON þiófr (Sw tiuf, Da. tyv), Goth. þiufs, þiuþ- :— OTeut. þeubō*, pointing to an Indo-Eur. ablautseries teup-, toup-, tup-*: cf. Lith. tupėti to crouch down.

The final consonant represents an unvoicing of the stem consonant, which appears in the inflected forms and the derivative as, thieves, thievery, etc.

1. One who takes portable property from another without the knowledge or consent of the latter, converting it to his own use; one who steals.

a. spec. One who does this by stealth, esp. from the person; one who commits theft or larceny.

688–95 Laws of Ine c. 12 gif ceof sie gefongen. ?a 900 Durh. Adm. in O. E. T. 176 Wiđ netena ungetinu & ðiofum. c 975 Rushw. Gosp. Matt. vi. 19 Ne hydeþ eow hord..þær ðiofes [Lindisf. ðeafas, Ager. Gosp. ðeofas, Vulg. fures] adelfaþ ne forstelaþ. c 1000 Ager. Gosp. John x. 1 Se þe ne gæð at þam gate into sceapa faldæ, ac styhþ elles oðer he is þeof [Lindf. ðeaf, Rush. ðæf] & sceaða [Vulg. fur et latro]. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 29 Rubberes and þa reueres and þa þeoues. a 1200 Moral Ode 43 (Lamb. MS.) For per ne berf he bon of-dred of fure ne of þoue [v. r. þeue]. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 62 Oþer þurh fur, oþer þurh þiefes, oþer þurh roberie. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 1773 Þis me ransakes als an þief. a 1300 St. Gregory 997 in Herrig's Archiv LVII. 69 Þou þeefes fere, þou ne dust bute make men of þe speke. a 1300 Cursor M. 4801–2 (Cott.) Yon er theues wel-lemen wend, And thief [v. rr. thif, thefe, þeof] es he þam hider send. Ibid. 15970 Iudas was iesu aumere, Bath thief [v. r. þeef] and traitur bald. c 1386 CHAUCER Doctor's T. 83 A theef [v. rr. thefe, þeef, þef, þeof] of venyson..Kan kepe a forest best of alle. 1390 GOWER Conf. I. 3 So that ech yhe is as a thief To love, and doth ful gret meschief. c 1420 Chron. Vilod. 2923 Bot þe laylardes folowedone þis theff fulle fast. a 1425 Cursor M. 7234 (Trin.) Per is noon so myche mary greue As traitour deme & priue þeues. 14.. Nom. in Wr.-Wülcker 694/2 Hic, fur, a theffe. c 1470 HENRY Wallace II. 392, I trow thow be sum spy, Or ellis a theyff. 1532–3 Act 24 Hen. VIII, c. 5 An Acte where a Man Sylynge a Theffe shall not Imprayte his Goodes. 1596 SHAKS. Merch. V. III. i. 97 The theefe gone with so much, and so much to finde the theefe, and no satisfaction, no reuenge. 1605 CAMDEN Rem. 229 When thou commest into a strange place, thinke all men there to be theeves. 1643 SIR T. BROWNE Relig. Med. I. § 46 How comes He then like a theefe in the night? 1678 BUNYAN Pilgr. I. 163 Thou art a Theif and a Robber. Ibid. 165 He did hang his head like a Thief. 1769 COOK Voy. round World I. x. (1773) 100 The people of this country [Otaheite]..are the errantest thieves upon the face of the earth. 1878 STUBBS Const. Hist. III. xviii. 243 There is more spirit and a better heart in a robber than in a thief. 1879 JEFFERIES Wild Life in S. C. 160 The robin is accused of being a terrible thief of currants.

b. In more general sense, comprehending such as rob with violence; e. g. robbers, freebooters, pirates, etc.; now rare exc. as a general designation of those who obtains goods by fraudulent means, over-reaching, deceit, etc.

Border thieves, the freebooters of the Scottish Border, whose depredations were so notorious in the 16th century.

† Thief of the sea, a pirate, Sea-thief.

In the Revised Version of the N. T., in all cases where thief in the 1611 version renders λῃστής, Vulg. latro, it is changed to robber, and thief only retained where it renders κλέπτης, Vulg. fur.

a 700 Epinal Gloss. (O.E.T.) 630 Mimeparo, thebscih. c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. xxi. 13 Sie worhton ða ilca cofa (vel graefe) deafana [Vulg. latronum; c 975 Rushw. Gosp. ibid., gescræfe ðiofas (vel scaþena), c 1000 Ager. Gosp. þeofa cote]. 1000 Ager. Gosp. Luke xxvi. 52 Eall swa to þeofe [Lindisf. mor-sceaþe, Rushw. scaþe, Vulg. latronem] ge synt cumene mid swurdum. — John xviii. 40 Witodlice barrabbas wæs þeof [Lindisf. morsceaþe, Rushw. sceaða, Vulg. latro, Gr. λῃστής, WYCLIF, Rhem. theef, theuis, TINDALE, 1611 robber]. c 1200 Vices & Virt. 51 Betwenen twa þieues. a 1300 Cursor M. 10297 (Cott.) Stalworth men..pat moght again þe theues [v. r. thefes] fight. c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. Wace (Rolls) 6631 þise Sarsynes þeues þey drof awey. 1340 Ayenb. 77 þre ys a þyef open and a þyef yweȝe, a þief priue and a þyef uelȝe. 13.. E. E. Allit. P. B. 1142 Hit were rafte wyth vnryȝt & robbed wyth þewes. 1382 WYCLIF Matt. xxvii. 38 Thanne two theueses [Vulg. latrones] ben crucified with him. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) I. 329 Þe men of þat lond beþ schipmen and þeues of þe see. 1436 Libel Eng. Policy in Pol. Poems (Rolls) II. 164 The grettest rovers and the grettest theevys That have bene in the sea many one yere. 1533 Gest Hist Vay (S.T.S.) 93 The tirannis and oppressours and theyffis. 1567 SIR R. MAITLAND Complaynt i, Of Liddisdaill the common theifis Sa perilie steillis now and reifis, That nane may keip Hors, nolt, nor scheip; Nor yit dar ablig, for thair mischeifis. Ibid. iv, Thay thiefis have neirhand herreit haill Ettrickie forest and Lawderdaill. 1651 HOBBES Leviath. I. x. 45 Till there were constituted great Commonwealths, it was thought no dishonour to be..a Highwayman. 1678 R. L'ESTRANGE Seneca's Mor. II. vii. (1705) 150 Nothing is more Common, than for Great Thieves to ride in Triumph, when the Little ones are punish'd. 1712 tr. Arab. Nights (1788) 56/2 The Story of Ali Baba, and the Forty Thieves. 1898 KIPLING Ballad of East & W. 24 Who rides at the tail of a Border thief, he sits not long at his meat.

c. In proverbial expressions.

c 1230 Hali Meid. 17 Man seldþ þat eise makeð beof. 1539 TAVERNER Erasm. Prov. (1552) 65 Aske my felowe if I be a theefe. 1546 J. HEYWOOD Prov. (1867) 20 A wyse man is as a rope for a theefe. 1562 Ibid. 151 When theeues fall out, trewe men come to their goode. 1670 RAY Prov. 129 Opportunity makes the thief. Ibid. 148 Set a thief to take a thief. 1792 BENTLEY Phalaris (1843) IV. 225 A sort of honour may be found (according to a proverbial saying) even among thieves. 1833 [see THICK a. 10].

d. fig. That which steals or furtively takes away.

1742 YOUNG Nt. Th. I. 393 Procrastination is the thief of time. 1798 L. HUNT Rosamund 1 Time, you thief, who love to get Sweets into your list, put that in.

2. As a general term of reproach or opprobrium: Evil man, villain, scoundrel. (Still dial.)

1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 5621 þis þef hat ay beh nepe..smot þen king..in þe brust. a 1300 K. Horn 323 Hennes þu go, þu fule beof. 13.. Cursor M. 986 (Fairf.) He sayde þaire ioy walde be myed þis fals þefe þat was so fikel. c 1400 Destr. of Troy Bk. 15271 This wicked theff Achilles Thi bretheren hath sclayn with-oute les. c 1425 Cast. Persev. 1137 in Macro Plays 111 For ile man callyth oper 'hore & thefe'. a 1548 HALL Chron., Hen. IV 12 b, Thou trayter thefe, thou hast bene a traitour to kyng Richard. 1653 HOLCROFT Procopius, Goth. Wars III. 207 These theeves alledge, to provoke you to a War, our holding Syrmium, and some other places in Dacia. a 1660 Suppl. Grose, Thief, a general term of reproach, not confined to stealing. 1893 STEVENSON Catriona ix. 102 Yon thief of the black midnight, Simon Fraser.

b. Old (auld), ill thief: the Devil. Sc. dial.

1789 BURNS To Dr. Blacklock ii, The ill-thief blaw the Heron south! 1822 HOGG Perils of Man III. 38 Cuffed about by the 'auld thief' as they styled him. 1893 Westm. Gaz. 21 Feb. 9/2 What does D stand for?—The first letter o' the Auld Thief's name.

3. transf. † a. Applied to a goshawk (obs.). † b. A kind of wild bee said to rob hives (obs.). c. A shoot from the root of a vine, rose-bush, or other trained shrub, which robs the main stem of its strength. d. Mod. slang. A horse that does not run up to form in a race.

1486 Bk. St. Albans d ij, A Goshawke shulde not flie to any fowle of the Ryuer with bellis in no wise, and therfore a Goshawke is calde a theef. 1608 TOPSELL Serpents (1658) 650 Some have thought that Theeves are one proper sort of Bees, although they be very great, and black, having a larger belly or bulk then the true Bee, and yet lesser then the drones. 1658 ROWLAND Moufet's Theat. Ins. 920 The Theeves being naturally odious to the Bees, steal upon their labours when they are absent, wasting and spoyling their provision of honey. 1669 J. ROSE Eng. Vineyard (1675) 28 Rubbing off the thieves which sprung from the roots of the plant. 1896 J. FOSTER Kingsclere 127 Gay Hampton..turned out a terrible 'thief', and a savage.

4. ' An excrescence in the snuff of a candle' (J.) which causes it to gutter and waste.

1628 MAY Virg. Georg. I. 436 Theeues about the snuffe doe grow. a 1633 FLETCHER & SHIRLEY Night-Walker II. i, Methinks the light burns blew, I prethee snuff it, There's a thief in't I think. 1642 HOWELL Fam. Trans. (Arb.) 77 If there bee a theefe in the Candle, (as wee use to say commonly) there is a way to pull it out. 1665 BOYLE Occas. Reflect. ii. x, Upon a Thief in a Candle. 1796 MRS. D'ARBLAY Cecilia I. 400 [He] perceived a thief in the candle, which made it run down..over his hand and the sleeve of his coat. 1824 LAMB Let. to Barton 9 Jan., My wick hath a thief in it, but I can't muster courage to snuff it.

5. attrib. and Comb., as thief-catching, -colony, -craft, -detector, -maker; thief-proof, -resisting, -stolen adjs.; thief and reever bell: see quots.; thief-bote: see THEEFT-BOOT; thief-catcher, (a) one who catches thieves; = THIEF-TAKER; (b) a device used formerly in apprehending thieves; thief-key, a skeleton key; † thief-land, a name for Botany Bay; † thief-leader, a thief-taker; thief-tube: see quot.; † thef-wyke: see quot. Also with thieves', as thieves' cat: see quots.; thieves' hole, a dungeon reserved for thieves; thieves' Latin, cant used by thieves; thieves' vinegar, an infusion of rosemary tops, sage leaves, etc. in vinegar, formerly esteemed as an antidote against the plague. Also THIEF-LIKE, -TAKER.

1777 BRAND Pop. Antiq. 17 A Bell, usually called the Thief and Reever Bell, proclaims our two annual Fairs. 1825 BROCKETT N. C. Words, Thief and Reever-Bell, the name given to the tolling of the great bell of Saint Nicholas, Newcastle, which is rung at 8 o'clock of the evening preceding every fair. 1732 Hist. Litteraria IV. 89 The Draper, to engage the Thief-catcher to his Interests, made him a Present of a Suit of Clothes. 1891 Daily News 6 Nov. 3/1 The thief-catcher..is a shrewd piece of work, from which no head, leg, or arm could extricate itself once caught. 1737 Gentl. Mag. VII. 592/1, I do not know that the Army has ever been employed in any sort of Thief-catching, except with respect to those Thieves called Smugglers. 1786 A. DALYMPLE Plans 17, Serious Admonition to the Publick, on the Intended Thief-Colony at Botany Bay. 1859 W. ANDERSON Disc. (1860) 291 Adepts in the fashionable thief-craft. 1909 Cent. Dict. Supply, Key-detector*..a delicate microphone designed for seismological studies, but so arranged by Milne that it gives notice of tremors produced by the gentlest footstep in its neighborhood. 1820 Examiner No. 614, 39/9 Inauspicious unliterary Thieffland*. 1692 R. L'ESTRANGE Colloquies xvii. 441 A Wolf had the Fortune to pass by, as the Thief-Leaders* were Dragging a .. Fox to the Place of Execution. 1856 G. PRICE (title) A Treatise on Fire & Thief-proof* Depositories. 1904 Daily Chron. 29 Sept. 5/3 Safes..fire and thief-resisting*. 1552 ROBINSON tr. More's Utop. I. (1895) 66 The Kynge; whome they thynke to haue no more rygthte to the thiefe stolen* thynge than the thieffe himselfe hath. 1611 SHAKS. Cymb. I. vi. 5 Had I bin Theefe-stolne. 1897 KNIGHT Dict. Mech., Thief-tube*, a tube for withdrawing of liquids from casks, etc. A sampling-tube; a ve-linche. c 1350 in Eng. Gilds (1870) 350 Þer sholde be twey baylyues y-swore in þe Citee, and treweleche þe þefwyke* wytye.

1869 SWYN Sailor's Word-bk., Thieves' Cat*, a cat-o'-nine-tails having knots upon it..used for the punishment of theft. 1899 Daily News 19 Sept. 6/3 The 'cat' used at Macquarie Harbour..was called 'the thief's cat', or 'double cat o' nine-tails'. 1598 Bergk Rec. Eddel. (1882) IV. 56 For..dichting of the new wall, clenging of the *thevis hoill, and the vther the common affaris. 1864 A. MCKAY Hist. Kilmarnock (1880) 45 A loathsome dungeon called the 'Thieves'-hole. 1821 SCOTT Kenilw. xxiv, A very learned man .. and can vent Greek and Hebrew as fast as I can 'thieves'-Latin. 1840 Comic Lat. Gram. 16 Thieves' Latin, more commonly known by the name of slang...Examples, to prig a wipe—to steal a handkerchief [etc.]. 1862 MAS. J. WEST Infidel Father III. 5 Conversation was for some days confined to ipecacuanha, *thieves' vinegar, and smoked tobacco.

Thiefdom, thievedom (θī·fdəm, θī·vdəm). [f. THIEF + -DOM.]

1. The practice of theft; thieving, robbery. rare.

a 1548 HOOPER Declar. Commandm. xi. 280 The grettist thyfffdomme of all is Sacrilege, in robbing of the goodes appointtd to an holye vse.

β. 1562 PHAER Æneid x. Dd iij, Who did their league by theuedom breke? 1887 P. M'NEILL Blawearie 153 A' we made by our thievedom, was—I lost a tooth and had my dowg's tail destroyed.

2. The realm or domain of thieves.

a. 1864 Sat. Rev. 27 Aug. 272/1 A narrative illustrative of London thiefdom. 1888 A. WARDROP Poems & Sk. 193 Literary thiefdom and Yankeedom are now synonymous.

β. 1862 Cornh. Mag. Nov. 645 A fiddler to play at the thievedom carnivals. 1870 H. W. Holland in Gd. Words 1 June 391/2 In the interior of thievedom they have public-houses, beer-houses, shops, and lodging-houses, almost entirely to themselves.

Thief-like (þīfˈlaik), a. and adv. [f. Thief + Like a. and adv.] a. adj. Like or resembling a thief. b. adv. In the manner of a thief.

1621 Fletcher Pilgrim II. ii, But since thou stealst upon me like a spie, And thief-like thinkst that holy case shall carry thee Through all my purposes. 1760–72 H. Brooke Fool of Qual. (1809) IV. 25 Each of them, thief-like, wished to steal an unobserved gaze at the other. 1847 Emerson Poems (1857) 143 And thief-like step of liberal hours Thawing snow-drift into flowers.

†Thie·fly, a. and adv. Obs. [ME. þeoflich(e, þeuelich:—OE. þeoflic, -lice*: see Thief and -ly 1, 2.]

A. adj. Thief-like, stealthy, underhand.

1395 Purvey Remonstr. (1851) 12 It is theefli, fals and symouiient. c 1440 Hoccleve Learn to Die 115 Ful vnwaar was Y of thy theefly breid.

B. adv. In a thievish or thief-like manner; by stealth; stealthily, furtively.

c 1290 St. Brandan 284 in S. Eng. Leg. I. 227 Þwan it is ov I-brouȝt, þane se it þeofliche nomen. 1377 Langl. P. Pl. B. xviii. 336 Theuelich þow me robbedest. 1382 Wyclif Gen. xl. 15 Theuelich [1388 theefli] Y am had a wey fro the lond of Hebrew. 1387 Trevisa Higden (Rolls) VI. 63 (MS. a Seynt Oswald his arm…was þeofliche [b, rr. þeuelich, þueflicke; Caxton theefly] I-stole out of þe olde restynge place. 1568 Skeyne The Pest A ij b, Ane feuir most wikit quietlie and thieflie strikis the patient.

Thieft, thiefthe, obs. forms of Theft.

Thie·f-ta·ker. One who detects and captures a thief; spec. one of a company who undertook the detection and arrest of thieves.

1535 Stewart Cron. Scot. (Rolls) I. 87 The theif takar suld half the forther spald. 1700 T. Brown Amusem. Ser. & Com. viii. (1709) 84 Serv'd the State in the Quality of Marshal's Men, and Thief-Takers. 1718 C. Hitchin (title) A True Discovery of the Robberies of Receivers and Thief-takers in and about the City of London. 1761 Geron. in Ann. Reg. 76/2 Two thief-takers, in hopes of entrapping the high waymen…set out…like travellers. 1840 Dickens Barn. Rudge lxi, A body of thief-takers had been keeping watch in the house all night.

So Thief-taking (in quot. attrib.).

1771 Smollett Humph. Cl. (1815) 188 He had been for some time in the snares of the thief-taking society.

Thieftecously, obs. form of Thieftuously.

Thien, Pien, var. Thyne adv. Obs., thence.

Thier, obs. form of Their, Their (these).

Thiethe, obs. erron. form of Tuthe.

Thieve (þīv), v. [In OE. þeofian, i. þeof, Thief. The verb is rare in OE., after which it does not appear till the 17th c. The vbl. sb. thieving occurs from 1530. (For the e see note to Thief.)]

1. intr. To act as a thief, commit theft, steal.

[a 901 Laws of Ælfred c. 6 ȝif hwa on cirican hwæt þeofoþ-fiȝe.] c 920 in Thorpe Charters (1865) 177 Se ðe…ðæ are þænce to þeofiȝenne. 1530, 1598 [see Thieving vbl. sb. and ppl. a.]. 1627 Drayton Moonecal! 1067 And there this mouser sat him down to thieve. 1656 Ely Cold Law 11 Thus to Traytorize, Murther, and Thieve it. 1691–2 Wood Life 13 Jan. (O. H. S.) III. 380 Foot-soldiers…rob and theeve in Oxon. 1848 Dickens Dombey xxii, I never did such a thing as thieve.

2. trans. To steal (a thing).

a 1695 Wood Oxford (O. H. S.) III. 172 A brass plate having been theeved away. 1760–72 H. Brooke Fool of Qual. (1809) IV. 7 He endeavoured to thieve from me the only friend I had. 1867 Pall Mall G. 27 July 9 The prisoner…said it was the first time he had 'thieved' anything. 1901 Academy 23 Mar. 243 Goods to the value of a quarter of a million…were annually thieved out of ships in the Pool.

Hence Thie·vable a., that may be stolen; Thie·ver, one who thieves, a thief.

1615 J. Stephens Ess. & Char. Wanwever, Where he hath many night-spels, to the hazard of much Pullen, and indicted all things thieve-able. 1899 Lumsden Edinburgh Poems & Songs 105 Wha hack'd an' hash'd an' stole, Like reivers an' thieves.

Thievedom: see Thievedom.

Thieve-friend. nonce-wd. A friend of thieves. So Thie·veland, a land of thieves; a district full of thieves; whence Thie·velander [-er 1 1].

1599 Porter Angry Wom. Abingd. I iij, Let not this theefe friend misty vale of night, Incroach on day. 1642 Shirley Sisters I. i, Ye are all valiant, honest Thievelanders, And I will be your prince again.

Thieveless (þīˈvlés), a. Sc. [Of uncertain origin; first in Ramsay, ? misreading of earlier theueles, Thewless, to which it answers in sense.] Void of energy, ineffectual, aimless; spiritless, not serious; cold, without warmth of manner.

1728 Ramsay Gentle Sheph. I. i, She cam wi a right thieveless errand back. 1786 Burns Brigs of Ayr 89 Wi' thieveless sneer to see his modish mien, He, down the water, gies him this gourd-e'en. 1835 Carrick Laird of Logan 289 (E.D.D.) She answered in a thieveless-like way. 1897 R. M. Ferguson Vill. Poet xiii. 80 He..appeared listless, or, as he himself expressed it, 'rale thieveless'.

b. ‘Applied to weather in a sort of intermediate or uncertain state. Thus, a thieveless day is one that has no decided character, neither properly good nor bad' (Jamieson, s. v. Theweles).

Thievely, variant of Thieflv Obs.

Thievery (þīˈvori). [f. Thief, thiev- (see note in etym. s. v.), or Thieve v. + -ery.]

1. The committing or practice of theft; stealing. With a and pl., An act of thieving.

1568 Fulwell Like Will to Like E j b, Yet better it is to beg moste shamefully, Then to be hanged and to theeuery our selves frame. 1580 Apol. Pr. Orange in Phenix (1721) I. 479 Their Thieveries and Sackings. 1623 T. Scott Highw. God 21 But the Theefe proceedes in his theevery till he brings himselfe to the gallowes. 1722 De Foe Col. Jack vii, They were whipped, so for picking pockets, and other petty thieveries. 1840 Carlyle Heroes iv. (1872) 138 We do not ‘tolerate' Falsehoods, Thieveries, Iniquities. 1871 R. Ellis Catullus xlvii. 2 The greedy Piso's Tools of thievery, rogues to famish ages.

2. The result or produce of thieving; stolen property. Cf. Pilfery 3.

1583 Stocker Civ. Wars in Lowe C. iv. 23 b, The Spaniardes departed Mastright, with their butin and theeuerie. 1606 Shaks. Tr. & Cr. iv. iv. 45 Now with a robbers haste Crams his rich theeuerie vp his horse vnto her. 1873 Browning Red Cotton. Nt.-cap ii, 720 A veriest trap of twigs On tree-top, every straw a thievery.

Thieving (þīˈviŋ), vbl. sb. [app. f. Thieve v. + -ing 1; but perh. f. Thief sb.]

1. The action of a thief; the committing of theft; stealing. Also attrib.

1530 Palsgr. 609/2 A nyghtes he gothe a theevyng. 1571 Golding Calvin on Ps. x. 8 They made royall palaces theyr theeuing-places, too cur sille mens throtes in. 1634 Sir T. Herbert Trav. 185 These Mallabars..excell in theeuing. 1892 Symonds Michel Angelo (1899) II. xi. 54 Your failure to discharge your obligations is regarded as an act of thieving.

2. concr. A thing obtained by theft.

1861 Thornbury Turner (1862) I. 228 The Louvre, at that time full of Napoleon's magnificent thievings.

Thie·ving, ppl. a. [f. as prec. + -ing 2.] That thieves or acts like a thief.

1598 Marston Pygmal. v 157 Theeuing Mercury That euen in his new borne infancy Stole fatte Apollos quiner. 1823 Scott Quentin D. vi, I will teach these misbelieving, thieving sorcerers, to interfere with the King's justice. 1897 Mary Kingsley W. Africa vi. 107 Canoes..drawn up out of the reach of the ever-mischievous, thieving sun.

†b. Thieving nutmeg: see quots. Obs.

1668 Phil. Trans. III. 863 The Nutmeg called Theeving; because that being put among a whole room full of good Nutmegs, though it be but one, it will corrupt them all. 1681 Grew Museum iv. iii. 376 The Fruit..of..the Thieving-Nutmeg, because it infects and spoils the good ones where it lies. 1693 Sir T. P. Blount Nat. Hist. 45.

Hence Thie·vingly adv., by way of thieving, theftnously.

1880 Ruskin Fors Clav. lxxxix. 144 Every pleasure got..cheaply, thievingly, and swiftly.

Thievish (þīˈvis), a. Forms: a. 5 thef-, 6 theaflish. β. 5-6 theu-, 6 thev-, 6-7 theeu-, 6-8 theev-, 7- thievish. [f. Thief, thiev- (see note in etym. s. v.) + -ish 1.]

†1. Infested or frequented by thieves. Obs.

1483 Cath. Angl. 382/2 Thefyische (A. A Thefis place), crebrifurus, spoliatorium. 1535 Coverdale 1 Macc. i. 35 Thus became it a theuysh castell. 1542 Bible (Cranmer) Ps. x. 8 He syteth lurkyng in ye thevish corners of the stretes. 1559 Ship Rom. & Jul. iv. 1 Thy walke in theeuish waies. 1632 Lithgow Trav. VII. 335 Three French murderers set vppon me in a theeuish Wood.

2. Inclined or given to thieving; dishonest.

1538 Elyot, Furax, acis, theuyshe, a great picker. 1552 Huloet, Theafyshe and thieuyshe, furax, ax. 1555 Eden Decades 300 A theeuyysshe kynd of men. 1575 Gamm. Gurton v. ii, A theeuisher knaue is not on liue. 1634 Sir T. Herbert Trav. 236 Rashboots a theeuish but valiant people in India under the Mogul. 1748 Anson's Voy. III. x. 414 Their Magistrates are corrupt their people thievish. 1883 J. Gilmour Mongols xxxi. 369 The Mongol is despised as ignorant, dirty, stupid, and thievish.

3. Of, pertaining to, or characteristic of a thief or thieves; thief-like; furtive, stealthy.

c 1450, c 1460 [implied in Thievishly, -ness]. 1587 Turbervy Tvag. T. (1837) 152 Yet wrought it not so well, For all their theevish pace. 1600 Shaks. A. Y. L. II. iii. 33 Enforce A theeuish liuing on the common rode. c 1600 — Sonn. lxxvii, Times theuish progresse to eternitie. 1691 Hartcliffe Virtues 95 According to the manner of Thievish War, the Conqueror by Proclamation gave away the Houses and Possessions of such as were vanquished. 1735 Thomson Liberty III. 392 Corn. Addison's Thievish Arts. 1837 W. Irving Capt. Bonneville III. 8 Their extortion, and their thievish propensities.

Thievishly (þīˈvisli), adv. [f. prec. + -ly 2.] In a thievish manner; as a thief; furtively, by stealth.

c 1450 in Aungier Syon (1840) 265 Any instrumente,..by the which sche myghte escape theueschely out of prison. 1628 Wither Brit. Remeym iv. 664 Some, theevishly, purloyned from the sick. 1708 Brit. Apollo No 64. 2/2 A Woman so thievishly inclined. 1825 Singleton Virgil I. 128 Fire..thievishly beneath the fatty bark At first concealed, hath on the timber seized.

Thievishness (þīˈvisnés). [f. as prec. + -ness.] The quality or condition of being thievish.

c 1460 Metham Wks. 94 Yt sygnyfyth onstabylnes and ontrwth and theuyschnes. 1727 Bailey Vol. II, Thievishness, Addictedness to Stealing. 1907 19th Cent. Apr. 567 Attacking the spite, trivolity, vanity,..thievishness and insincerdnaring qualities of the sex.

†Thie·vously, adv. Obs. = Thievishly.

1658 Bromhall Treat. Specters I. 92 [They] thievously stole to the shore through rough and hard rocks.

Thif(e, Thiff(e, -th(e, obs. ff. Thief, Theft.

Thife-thorn, variant of Threve-thorn Obs.

Thig (þig), v. Now Sc. Forms: 1 þicg(e)an, 2 þigg(i)en, 3-5 thigge, 3-8 thigg, 4-5 thyg, 5-6 thyg, (6 thige), 4- thig. [OE. þicg(e)an, þeah, þāh-, þēgon, þegen to take, esp. as food; also as a weak vb., pa. t. þiġ(e de. ME. thiggan. ON. þiggja, þá-, þēgum, þāgum, þegen to receive (Sw. tigga, Da. tigge to beg); cf. OS. thiggian to beg, OHG. dihken, etc. (MHG. digen) to Leg; ? —OTeut. þiġjan* (with j suffix as in sitjan* Sit v.), f. root þiġ-* : þag- : þēg- :—Indo-Eur. tegh-* : togh- : tegh-.

The OE. vb., which would have given thiġe or perh. thie, thy in mod. Eng. (cf. Lie, Say), was lost a 1150, and its place was taken in the north by the Norse form, with modification of sense.]

†1. trans. To take, receive, accept; esp. to take (food), to consume by eating or drinking.

a 864 O. E. Chron. an. 855 (Parker MS.) And hiera se æþeling gehwelcum feoh and feorh gebead and hiera nænig hit þæþigean [Laud MS.c 1100 þigean] nolde. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Mark vii. 5 Hwi..þine leorning-cnihtas..besmitenum handum hyra hlaf hleȝeð [c 1160 Hatton Gosp., þiggeð]. c 1000 Sax. Leechd. III. 92 Þiġe þar of anne cuppan fulle on ærne morȝe and oþerne an niht. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 105 Temperantia þet is metnesse on englise, þet mon beo imete on alle þing and to muchel ne þiġge on ete and on wete.

2. To receive by begging; to beg (alms, one's food, etc.); in mod. Sc., to solicit gifts on special occasions, esp. on setting up housekeeping, etc.: cf. Thigging vbl. sb. quots. 1827, 1872.

c 1300 Havelok 1373 He haueth me do[n] mi wete to thigge, And oute in sorwe and pine ligge. c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints xxiv. (Alexis) 169 [He] like day thiġyt his lyf-led. c 1400 Destr. Troy 13510 Now me buis as a beggar, nye bred for to thigge. 1561 Mattl. Club Misc. III. 282 My brother is and salbe Vicar of Cryyll quhen thow sal thyg thy mayt fals smayk. 1889 J. Service Dr. Dugald III. iv. 262 He gaed to the gaits' hoose to thig 'oo'; — would. 1892 P. H. Hunter J. Inwick xi. 145 Syne thig a' they can get aff the pairish.

b. intr. To beg, cadge.

a 1300 E. E. Psalter cviii. [c.ix.] 10 Dreccham his sones be outborne awai, And thigg mote pai, night and dai. c 1470 Henryson Mor. Fab. iv. (Poet's Cong.) xiv, I eschame to thiġ, I can not wirk. 1665 J. Fraser Polichron. (S.H.S.) 281, I will not goe begg nor thigg amongst my friends. 1818 Scott Rob Roy xxvi, Lang-legged Hieland gillies that..mean gang thigging and sowning about on their acquaintance. Note. Thigging and sowning were a kind of genteel begging, or rather something between begging and robbing, by which the needy in Scotland used to extort cattle, or the means of subsistence, from those who had any to give. 1895 Crockett Men of Moss-Hags 166 Ye see it's treason to hae sic a thing, and rank conspiracy to thig and barter to get it back.

c. trans. To take, borrow (as a quotation).

1728 Ramsay Epist. to D. Forbes xi, I'll frae a Frenchman thiġ a fable, And busk it in a plaid. 1728 — Adv. to Mr. —— on his Marriage 22 And blow ye up with windy fancies, That he has thiġit frae romances.

†3. To crave, request, ask (a boon, a favour, leave); in quot. c 1470 2 with the person as obj. Obs.

c 1450 St. Cuthbert (Surtees) 3565 Bot of thi grace we thyg To vouche safe with us to ligg. c 1470 Henry Wallace II. 260 Scho..thyggyt leiff away with him to fayr. c 1470 Henryson Mor. Fab. IX. (Wolf & Fox) xiii, Thocht we wald thig sone verray Chuttische chuf, He will not gif vs ane hering of his Creill. 1513 Douglas Æneis VII. x. 75 Thay thyg vengeance at the cockis. a 1568 Bannatyne in Bannatyne Poems (Hunter. Cl.) 391 To tar and tig, syne grace to thig, That is ane petouss preiss.

†b. intr. Obs.

c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints I. (Katerine) 1114 Graunt þaim þar bown, I thig at þe. a 1568 Lindsay of Pitscottie Chron. Scot. (S.T.S.) I. 125 They war faine to thige and cry for peace.

Hence Thig sb., begging, mendicancy.

1898 Blackw. Mag. July 82/1 Master Brown sat..studying through horn specks the tale of thig and theft which the town officer had made up a report on.

Thigger (þiˈgəi). Sc. [f. Thig v. + -er 1.] One who thigs; a beggar, a cadger; an exactor of contributions; one who plants himself on others for assistance; ‘one who draws on others for subsistence in a genteel sort of way' (Jamieson); a gaberlunzie or licensed beggar who went his regular rounds, and received a night's lodging and food at particular houses; also, any one who begged or solicited presents on certain recognized occasions, e. g. wedding-presents.

1424 Sc. Acts Jas. I (1879) II. 8 Þat na thiggar be thollyt to thyg noper in burghe nor to land. a 1723 Shetland Acts 4 in Proc. Soc. Ant. Scot. (1892) XXVI. 196 That all thiggers of wool, corn, fish and others be apprehended wherever they come. 1822 Scott Pirate v, Ye wadna have me waste our substance on every thigger or sorner that has the luck to come by the door in a wet day? 1824 Macaggart Gallowd. Encycl. Thiggers, are those who beg in a genteel way; we have heard those thieves they call at in certain seasons, and get corn, and other little things. 1828 Scott F. M. Perth ix, Such exaction, which more resembles the masterful license of Highland thiggers and sorners.

So Thi·gster [-ster] in same sense.

1710 Dict. Feudal Law 152 Thigsters, are a sort of gentle Beggars.

Thigging (þiˈgiŋ), vbl. sb. [f. Thig v. + -ing 1.] The action of the verb Thig; begging.

1332 Chester Plea Roll 4 & 5 Edw. III m. 25 (P.R.O.) Bedelli non debent habere offinges thiggynges fulcenale nec aliquod aliud proficuum nisi tantummodo putturam de illis certis tenementis que vocantur warelondes. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 490/2 Thyggynge, or beggynge, mendicacio. 1513 Douglas Æneis VIII. Prol. 74 Scho..waistis hir tym in thiggin, as it thrift war. 1827 J. Anderson St. Soc. & Knowl. in Highlands 73 note, Sometimes the young people [about to be married] made the round of their relatives and neighbours to try fortune's smiles. This was called thigging. 1872 MICHIE Deeside T. xv. 132 The bridegroom gaed a thiggan' among the friends, an got presents o' corn an' ither gear in token o' their weil wishes.

So Thigging ppl. a., that thigs.

a 1300 E. E. Psalter xxxix. 18 [xl. 17] And thiggand and pouer am I [WYCLIF, I forsothe a beggere am and pore].

Thigh (þəi), sb. Forms: see below. [OE. þōh, þeoh, Anglian þēh = OFris. thiach, neuter, OLG. thioh*, ODu. thio (MDu. dīē, diege, dieghe, dijge, Du. dij), ON. þjó, OHG. dioh (MHG. diech) :—OTeut. peuh-o, from Indo-Eur. ablaut-series teuk-*, tauk-, tuk-; cf. Lith. taukas, OSlav. tuchŭ, Russ. *tuk fat of animals, Lith. tukti to become fat. The regular representative of OE. þōh was ME. þeh, þeȝ, þee, which still remains as thee in Sc. and north. dialect; but in the 12–13th c. þeȝ became narrowed to þiȝ, thigh (as heȝ, neȝ, deȝen became hiȝ, niȝ, diȝen, high, nigh, die).]

1. The upper part of the leg, from the hip to the knee (in man).

a. 1 þēoh, þēoh, þīoh (Ōeōh, þyoh), Angl. thegh, 1–3 þeh, þeo, 3 þeȝ, 3–5 þe, 4–5 þee, thegh, 4–6 they, the, 5 þeie, theȝe, theiȝe; 4–7 (Sc. and north. -þ) thee, thigh. Pl. 1 þēoh, 2–3 þeȝ, 2–þeos, etc.

c 725 Corpus Gloss. (O.E.T.) 556 Coxa, þīoh. c 800 Erfurt Gloss. 295 Theoh. c 893 K. ÆLFRED Oros. i. vii. § 1 Hy cruron þæm mannum betuh þa þeoh. c 897 — Gregory's Past. C. lvi. 433 Be his ðīo. a 900 O. E. Martyrol. 130 Wund on oðrum þeo. c 1000 Lorica Gl. in Sax. Leechd. i. Pref. 70 Þeoh, þeíhhum. Ibid. 74 Þyoh. Ibid. i. 98 gif mon his ðeoh acen. c 1200 ORMIN 8079 Fet & þeos Tobollenn. c 1250 Hymn to God 24 in Trin. Coll. Hom. 258 Bind him houden, fet, & þeȝ. c 1275 LAY. 30981 He outte his owe þeh. a 1300 Havelok 1903 His bones shaken, he broken thes. a 1300 Cursor M. 3941 Pe maister sinu of his the. a 1340 HAMPOLE Ps. xliv. 4 With þi sweȝ abouen þi thes. c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints xxviii. (Margaret) 430 Vpwart til his this. 1422 tr. Secreta Secret., Prin. Prin. 74 Woundid in the thegh. c 1450 St. Cuthbert (Surtees) 15 15 In his the þar was a byle. c 1475 Pict. Voc. in Wr.-Wülcker 750/28 Hoc femur, a they. 1513 DOUGLAS Æneis II. viii. [vii.] 56 Ane Gregioun swerd doun by his thies. 1688 Lutteuon Green (1817) 168 The miller..stands Wi' his unthesied thies. a 1850 C. SPENCE Fr. Braes of Carse (1898) 71, I wade the ditches to the traces.

β. 2–3 þih, 2–4 þi, þy, 4–5 þiȝ, þiȝe, þigh(e), þyghe, þyhe, thyȝe, 4–6 þie, þye, thie, 5–6 thy, thyghe, 5–7 thye, 6 thighe, Sc. thich, 6– thigh. Pl. 2–3 þih; 3–6 þyes, etc.; 6– thighs.

1 1. Fragm. Ælfric's Gram. (1838) 2 Femur vel coxa, þih. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 211 þih and shonkes and fet. c 1275 Passion Our Lord 490 in O. E. Misc. 51 Þat heore þyes beon to-broken. 13.. Minor Poems fr. Vernon MS. xxv. 337 þi hope þihges. c 1380 WYCLIF Serm. Sel. Wks. I. 143 þe knyȝtis broken not Cristis þies. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) I. 295 As hit were a manis hyghe. Ibid. VI. 303 Somme hauep highes with oute hammes. a 1400 R. Gloucester's Chron. 4921 + 210 (Harl. MS.) A great pece of ys owe by [v. rr. þiȝ, þiȝe, thyȝe, þye] he kerf out wyþ a knyf. 1484 CAXTON Fables of Aviere xiii, He..hyte hym on the thye. c 1532 DU WES Introd. Fr. in Palsgr. 903 The thighe, la cuisse. 1545 T. SCALON Treat. Astron. (MS. Ashm. 391), Mars the hed, Sol the thyg[h]es or hamme. a 1584 MONTGOMERIE Cherrie & Slaa 174 By his naked thyghis. 1590 SPENSER F. Q. III. v. 20 The wicked steele stayd not till it did light In his left thigh. 1596 DALRYMPLE tr. Leslie's Hist. Scot. VIII. (S.T.S.) 125 His thich bane is brokne. 1615 CHAPMAN Odyss. XVIII. 105 Through his thin Garment, what a Thigh he showes. 1865 KINGSLEY Herew. x, Hereward..owned..no mistress save the sword on his thigh.

†b. The part of a garment covering the thigh. 1533 Acc. Ld. High Treas. Scot. VI. 284 To draw the theis of the saidis gray hois. 1550 Ibid. IX. 409 Theis of hose.

2. In lower vertebrate animals, The part of the hind leg which is homologous with the human thigh, or which is popularly regarded as corresponding to it in position or shape; in certain quadrupeds, as the horse, applied to the tibia; in birds to the tarsus; hence in insects, etc., the third section of the leg.

a 1300 Thrush & Night. 68 in Hazl. E. P. P. I. 53 Fowel, me thinketh thou art les, They thou be milde and softe of thes. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) V. 325 Liche to mares wip white legges up to be þies. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 490/2 Thy, lymme of a beeste, femur. 1604 DRAYTON Ovule 121 Each Bee with Honey on her laden thye. 1737 Ochtertyre House Bks. (1907) 66 For a thigh of beefe for the hawks £0. 1. 1. 1834 M'MURTRIE Cuvier's Anim. Kingd. 374 The posterior thighs are strongly inflated in one of the sexes, where the antennæ are usually long and smaller at the extremity. 1856 B. W. HAWKINS Anat. Horse 23 The bones of the leg ('thigh' of horsemen) are the tibia and fibula.

3. transf. e.g. the stem of a plant, the lower trunk of a tree, the lower slope of a mountain.

c 1440 Pallad. on Husb. III. 255 About his thegh let no thyng growyng be, But if hit axe to be reuocate. 1758 Phil. Trans. L. 632 Ribs, like what we call the thighs of certain trees. 1889 C. EDWARDES Sardinia 232 The burly thighs of [mount] Gennargentu as an impenetrable barrier between us and the south.

4. attrib. and Comb., as thigh-ache, -joint, -muscle, -percussion-sound, -socket, -wound; thigh-born, -deep, -fraughted, -high, -long, adjs.; †thigh-belly-less a., having neither thighs nor belly (nonce-wd.); thigh-boot, a boot with uppers reaching to the thigh; thigh-hole, †(a) the groin (obs.); (b) a hole for the thigh in bathing-drawers or the like; thigh-piece († the-pess), a piece of armour for the thigh; thigh-tongue: see quot.

c 1000 Sax. Leechd. II. 6 Lædcedomas wiþ þeohece. 1579 LANGHAM Gard. Health (1633) 655 Thighache, anoint with sheepes doung and vineger often. a 1649 DRUMM. OF HAWTH. Shadow Fordgem. Wks. (1711) 34 †Thigh-bellyless, most gasaly to the sight. 1840 DICKENS Barn. Rudge lxiv, Great †thigh-boots smoked hot with grease and blood. 1630 J. TAYLOR (Water P.) Triumphall Verses Wks. III. 129/2 His intended Daughter, and his †thigh-borne Sonne. 1655 tr. Com. Hist. Francion v. 7 Bacchus the thigh-born Infant. 1851 MAYNE REID Scalp Hunt. xii, We fought †thigh-deep in the gathering flood. 1615 BRATHWAIT Strappado (1878) 87 When the †thigh-fraughted Bee gathered her thyme. 1891 Scribner's Mag. June 734/1 Bamboo grass, †thigh-high. c 1425 tr. Arderne's Treat. Fistula 11 Þe armeholes, þe *þeholes, þe chawellez, &c. 1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VII. 191 The knee-jerk is uniformly absent when the *thigh-muscles are paralysed. 1853 MARSHAM Shoale's Auxcull. 10 The completely empty percussion-sound—the *thigh-percussion-sound—heard at any yielding part of the walls of the thorax, or the abdomen. c 1470 HENRY Wallace VIII. 265 On the *the press a fellon strak him gaff. 1828 TYTLER Hist. Scot. (1864) I. 322 Arm-plates, thigh-pieces, greaves for the legs. 1812 A. PLUMTRE Lichtenstein's S. Afr. I. 97 The great muscle of the thigh [of the eland] smoked..These..from the resemblance they then bear to bullocks' tongues, are called *thigh tongues.

† Thigh (þəi), v. Obs. [f. THIGH sb.]

1. trans. To carve (a small bird): see quots.

c 1470 in Horn, Shepe, & G. etc. (Caxton 1479 Roxb. repr.) 33 Alle smale birdes thyed. 1508 Bk. Keruing A3, in Babees Bk. 265 Thye that pegyon..thye that wodcocke, thye all manner of smale fowle. 1695 HAM. WOOLEY Gentlewom. Comp. 123 In cutting up all manner of small Bird., it is proper to say, Thigh them. 1796 MRS. GLASSE Cookery xxvi. 382 So you thigh curlews, plover, or snipe.

2. intr. To cower down, squat. rare—0.

1611 FLORIO Acconciare, to thigh, to coure down [1598 to ioyne thighes].

Thi·gh-bone. Also § north. the-bane. The bone of the thigh; the femur; in quot. 1825 as an emblem of death: cf. cross-bones.

c 1450 St. Cuthbert (Surtees) 15 15 Men wend his the bane had bryst. 1615 CROOKE Body of Man 999 On the foreside at the roote of the neck the thighbone is large and rough. 1825 J. NEAL Tro. Jonathan III. 295, I begin to see a thighbone or two, now. 1889 MIVART On Truth 148 The girdle to which the thigh-bones are articulated.

Thighed (þəid), a. Also ? thyght. [f. THIGH sb. + -ED 2.] Having thighs (of a specified kind); often in parasynthetic combinations.

c 1600 HARINGTON Nugæ Ant. (1779) II. 181 To seeme.. smaller wrists, and fuller thyghts, then wee are. 1737 BRACKEN Farriery Impr. (1757) II. 38 If he [a horse] is Thigh'd down to the Hough, as the Expression is. 1860 RUSKIN Mod. Paint. V. IX. iii. 200 Thighed and shouldered like the billows. 1882 R. BUCHANAN God & Man I. 160 Bee-hives, with gold thighed swarms hovering near them.

transf. c 1440 Pallad. on Husb. III. 226 Diuerse kynde of vynys: The best is lyke a bosh ythied breef [cf. THIGH sb. 3 quot. c 1440].

Thight (þəit), a. Now dial. Forms: 4 thyght (Sc.), 5 thyght, thyht, 6 thicht (Sc.), (theight), 7 (o dial.) thite, thyte, 7–8 (o dial.) thight, (9 dial. theet, theat). [Found c 1375: the earlier form of the word TIGHT. App. a. early ON. þéhtr*, in later ON. þéttr tight, water-tight, close in texture, solid (Norw. tjett, tett, Sw. tät, Da. tæt tight, compact, close). Corresponding in form and meaning to WFris. ticht, MDu. and MLG. dicht (whence also mod. Ger. dicht in same sense), also to MHG. dīhte close (whence mod. Ger. dial. deicht in Livonia and Esthonia). Not known in the earlier stage of any WGer. lang., but would be in OHG. dīhte*, OS. and OFris. thicht*, OE. þīht*, Goth. þeihts* :—OTeut. þīhto from earlier þiyxto, f. verbal root þiyx-* to grow: see THEB 2.] Though not evidenced before 1375, the word was doubtless in use in the Danelaw from early times. See also TIGHT.]

1. Set or growing closely together; thick-set, dense: said of rain, growing crops, reeds in a marsh, etc. Now dial.

c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints xl. (Ninian) 574 Þare-with fel þe rane sa thycht, þat [etc.]. 1787 W. MARSHALL Norfolk Gloss., Thicht, applied to turneps or other crops,—close, thickset. [Ibid. I. 27 There are men who are fully aware that the 'proof' of their turnep-crop depends more on its thightness than on the size of the plant.] 1895 EMERSON Birds, etc. Norfolk Broadland I. xx. 56 The happy pair [of reed-pheasants] fly about the thyte (thick) reed, plucking reed-feathers.

† 2. Solid, not hollow, whole. Obs.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 491/2 Thyht, hool fro brekynge, not brokyn.., integer. Thyht, not hool wythe-in, solidus. Ibid., Thyhtyn, or make thyht, integro, consolido, solido.

† 3. Close, compact, or dense in structure or texture, as a membrane. Obs.

In quot. 1539 the sense differs little from 1. In some uses also with the notion of being impermeable to moisture, as in 4.

1539 Will T. Samson (Somerset Ho.), A thyght nett. 1615 CROOKE Body of Man 86 It is harder then the true skin and more thight. [Ibid. 88 Wherefore they referre the cause of the concretion or congealing with Aristotle, to the fastnesse and thightnesse of the Membranes.] Ibid. 387 The coates of the veines are thicke and thight, that nothing but that which is very thinne may sweate out. 1678 PHILLIPS (ed. 4), Thight, (old word) well compacted or knit together.

4. So close in texture or structure as to keep water out; esp. of a ship or boat, so closely compacted and well caulked as to be water-tight. Now dial.

1501 Acc. Ld. High Treas. Scot. II. 24 Item, for vij pund of rosait o mak the cloth thicht..xiiij d. 1587 GREENE Penelope's Web Wks. (Grosart) V. 250 Causing his weather beaten shippes to be warped out of the Hauen as soone as they were made theight. a 1645 Northcote's Nautalis (Harl. MS. 2301) s. v., When the Shipp is staunch and makes but little water, she is thight. 1628 DIGBY Voy. Medit. (Camden) 27 Shee was so leakie as was a great cumber..till shee were vnladen and meuided thyte. Ibid. 37 The boate seemed to be a fine one and thite, but with long driuing was haife full of water. a 1825 FORBY Voc. E. Anglia, Thite, compact, not leaky, water-tight. 1866 EDMONDSTON Gloss. Shetl. & Orkney, Thight, close, so as not to admit water. 1877 Holderness Gloss. s. v. A theet roof, a theet cask.

†5. Tight, close-fitting, as apparel. dial.

a 1825 in FORBY Voc. E. Anglia.

Hence † Thi·ght v., trans. to make 'thight'; Thi·ghtness, closeness, denseness, tightness.

c 1440 Thyhtyn [see 2]. 1615, 1787 Thightness [see 3, 1].

‖ Thigmotaxis (þigmœ·ksis). Biol. [mod. L. f. Gr. θίγμα touch + τάξις arrangement, disposition.] The way in which an organism moves or disposes itself in response to a touch stimulus, i. e. by being attracted (positive thigmotaxis) or repelled (negative thigmotaxis).

1900 B. D. JACKSON Gloss. Bot. Terms 270/2 Thigmotaxis: s. a synonym [of Thigmotropism]. 1902 Nature 31 Aug. 426/2 The 'Thigmotaxis' exhibited by an oxytrocha moving round a spherical egg, unable to leave its surface. 1909 J. W. JENKINSON Experim. Embryol. 272 Thus we have positive and negative heliotropism, galvanotaxis, geotropism, galvanotropism, thigmotaxis, and so on.

So Thigmota·ctic a. [Gr. τακτικ-ός pertaining to arrangement], of, pertaining to, or exhibiting thigmotaxis; hence Thigmota·tically adv.

1900 in Amer. Jrnl. Psychol. XII. 141 One is the thigmotactic reaction. Starting with the moving infusorian, we find that it reacts to contact with solid bodies of a certain physical texture by suspending part of the usual ciliary motion. 1901 Ibid. 229 A definite rat-hole consciousness that acts, as it were, thigmotactically. 1903 Science 8 May 738 The ventral surface of planarians is strongly positively thigmotactic, whereas the dorsal surface is negatively thigmotactic.

Thigmotropism (þigmp·tōpiz'm). Biol. [f. Gr. θίγμα touch + τρόπη a turning + -ISM.] The movement of some part of any organism in response to a touch stimulus; the habit of turning towards or away from a foreign body on coming into contact with it. See Thigmotro·pic a., of, pertaining to, resulting from, or exhibiting thigmotropism.

1900 B. D. JACKSON Gloss. Bot. Terms 270/2 Thigmotropism, curvature induced in climbing plants by the stimulus of a rough surface. 1908 M. F. WASHBURN Animal Mind iii. § 12. 57. 1909 J. W. JENKINSON Experim. Embryol. 275 The outgrowth of the ciliated ring into the arms is due to a stimulus—thigmotropic, perhaps,—exerted by the tip of the spicule.

Thilk, var. THEEK, THILK; obs. form of THICK.

Thilo, p-, variant of THELLICH Obs.

† Thild. Obs. [ONorthumb. þyld (= general OE. geþyld) = OHG. dult, :—OTeut. þul-di-, nominal derivative of verb-stem þul- in Goth. þulan to endure: see THOLE v.] Patience, endurance.

c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Luke xxi. 19 On ðyld [Rushw. ðylde] iuera gie hyeð sauelo iuero. c 1200 ORMIN 2613 For þild birrþ ben wiþ þwhille nahht To beoldenn itt & strengenn. a 1300 E. E. Psalter ix. 19 Þild ode power (WYCLIF the pacience of pore men) ouer alle Noght in ende forworth salle.

Hence † Thi·ldi (OE. þyldig, early ME. þuldi(ii)) a., patient; whence † Thi·ldiliche adv., patiently.

a 950 Ritualе Dunelm. (Surtees) 102 Crist' ðv ðe arð doeme soðliest strong and *ðyldig. a 1225 Leg. Kath. 177 Ha wes þuldi and þolemod. c 1200 ORMIN 1286 Ure Laferd Jesu Crist..Toc *þildilliȝ wiþ þutenn bracc, þatt mann hiddenn hand wiþþ wopke. a 1225 Ancr. R. 106 He þolede þuldiliche þet te Giws dutten..his deorewurde muð mid hore dreori þisse.

a 1225 Juliana 28 Þuldeliche heo hit þolede.

Thilk (ðilk), dem. adj. and pron. arch. or dial. Forms: a. 3–5 þilke, 3–7 thilke, 4–5 pylke, pilk, 4–7 thylke, 5 thylk, (6 thailk), 4– thilk. β. 3–5 þulke(ii), 5 þulk, 4–5 pelke. γ. 3–5 pike, 4 pyke, peke, puke, 4–5 thike, thyke, theke, 5 thik, 6 pieke; 9 dial. thik, thic, thick, thek, thuck, thicky. [ME. þilke, known a 1300; app. f. þe, THE + ilce, ILK same, meaning the or that same; in some of the quots. þe ilke or þet ilke occurs as a MS. variant.

This analysis suits the form þilke, but does not explain the early southern þilke and the Kentish þelke, which naturally indicate an OE. þylce*. Can there have been a confusion in the south between þilke and late OE. þyle for þyllic, THELLICH?

(Thick (ðik) is in dialect use from Cornwall and Hants to Worcester and Hereford; and also in Pembroke, Glamorgan, and Wexford. In many parts it has also the form thicky, thickee, or thicka. It generally means 'that', but in some parts 'this', in which case it is contrasted with thuck, thock, or thack = that. It is sometimes indefinite, and has to be made definite, as thick here, this, thick there, that. In Somerset and Dorset, thick and thekse are used only of individual shaped things, as a man or tree, while that and this are used of formless substances in the mass, as flour, milk, marble. See Eng. Dial. Dict.)

A. adj. The very (thing, person, etc.) mentioned or indicated; the same; that; this.

a 1225 Ancr. R. 68 Iðen ilke huse [MS. C. in ilke hus]. a 1300 Floris & Bl. 54 So blisful hun þuste þilke steuene. c 1330 R. Brunne Chron. Wace (Rolls) 381 Ascaneus..gat a child Cycilius; þylke Cycylli gat þat man Brutus. c 1372 Chaucer Boeth. III. pr. x. 73 (Camb. MS.) It semeth þat þilke same thing be most desyred. a 1425 Cursor M. 11386 (Trin.) And comen to crist þilke day [C., G. þat ilk dai]. c 1449 Pecock Repr. 235 Neither in thilk hil neither in Jeru-salem. 1513 Douglas Æneis I. Prol. 134 Thilk werk tuelf geris first was in making elk. 1579 Spenser Sheph. Cal. Jan. 61, I loue thilke lasse, (alas why doe I loue?). a 1643 Cartwright Ordinary II. i. Dis Cupido Sure seruit thylkes sweven to mine heed. 1724 De Foe Mem. Cavalier (1840) 236 Says he, in a broad north-country tone, 'whar hast thou thilk horse?'

c 1290 St. Brandan 519 in S. Eng. Leg. 234 þo tornede þe wynd in-to þe North... In þulke side stronge Iuous. a 1300 Floris & Bl. 432 Þulke terme him þuste long. c 1315 Shoreham vii. 133 And þelke sone yet naþeles Ryst ase þe fader hys endeles. 1387 Trevisa Higden (Rolls) V. 83 (MS. y) Pulke Decius. Ibid. VI. 303 Þulawtul wedlok... with þelke Iuditha. c 1400 R. Gloucester's Chron. (Rolls) 3771 þe men of norweye..adde ymade anoþer mon king of þe [MS. a þelke] londe. a 1425 Cursor M. 11417 (Trin.) Pulke [Land thilk, Cott.& Gött. þis ilk] sterne hem coon to warn.

γ. 1303 R. Brunne Handl. Synne 6151 Syn þat þyke pore ermyte was yn drede for so lyte. c 1320 Cast. Love (Halliw.) 747 Ne never wes but thyke [sic, pulke] oone. c 1410 Master of Game (MS. Digby 182) xxxv. Hemp shulde make pure sarte of þike deere. 1432–50 tr. Higden (Rolls) II. 449 Theke parte scholde haue þe victory. 1439 in Ancestor July (1904) 16 That every day in thik mouth the vij tapres brenne. c 1440 Lovelich Merlin 12104 The tothyne..hindiram hyghte at thyke tyme tho. 1552 Respublica III. iii, Þieke same waie goeth the hare. 1820 Cobbett Gram. Eng. Lang. xvii. (1847) 109 When we hear a Hampshire plough-boy say '(sic) have givd I thick haudkercher'. 1894 T. Hardy Nat. Pr. Readings (1896) 18 Ally To an and thicker after thik woman in the way a do. 1898 E. Phillpotts Child. of Mist I. iii. 28 'Tis thicky auld Muscovite duck, roostin' on his ill island. 1909 Westm. Gaz. 7 Aug. 4/2 Do 'e mind thic tune, Daddy, when yuz an' an cavtrel gat fo'ksteers?

†b. With plural sb.: These; those. Obs.

c 1275 Lay. 1284 þe strengest þe weren in þilke daies [c 1205 o þon dawen]. 1387 Trevisa Higden (Rolls) I. 49 Of þilke moubes þe see of myddel erþe bryynneþ. c 1420 Chron. Vilod. 3000 Þat þulke relekes nolde neuer go ȝen a-way. c 1489 Caxton Sonnes of Aymon xxviii. 577 Wythoute ye had more helpe than thilke knaves.

B. pron. That (or this) person, or thing.

c 1275 Passion our Lord 110 in O. E. Misc. 40 Mayster am ich þilke þat ȝe solde sythe. c 1300 Harrow. Hell 135 Þilke þat nuliep ȝeue hem blonde. c 1386 Chaucer Pars. T. ¶ 32 Pryuee penaunce is thilke that men doon alday for priuee synnes. 1413 Pilgr. Soule (Caxton) I. xix. (1859) 19 Ful ofiymes haue I warned the..as thyk that loueth the. c 1449 Pecock Repr. II. xx. 271 Therfore chese the reder..whether this or thilk or bothe he wole holde. 1867 Rock Yim & Nell vii, Britting o' thick an' crazing thack. 1888 Jefferins Gt. Estate x. 188 Thuck's our feyther's. 1898 Hously. Words 20 June 141/2, I cowd ha' told thee thilk.

†b. pl. Those. Obs.

c 1330 R. Brunne Chron. Wace (Rolls) 7341 Þulke of twenty wynter elde. 1370–80 XI Plains of Hell 113 in O. E. Misc. 226 þo þat weren vp to þe brigge In þat flod.. þulke weore glade of þe missoure In a mynute In Ellis Orig. Lett. Ser. II. I. 20 To all thilke that ye suppose wol take this matter to hert. a 1450 Myrc Par. Pr. 687 Al thilk that with hold eny fredomes.

Thill 1 (pil). Also 5 pylle, thyl, 6 thyll. Cf. also Fill *sb.*2 [Of uncertain origin: the 14th c. pille, pylle is identical in form with OE. pille, glossed tabulāta, tabulēnen, tabulēmentum, i.e. 'board, deal, boarding, flooring', but the sense 'pole or shaft' is so different that, without further evidence, it seems unsafe to connect them.

For the OE. pille see Thealʒ: none of the cognate words there cited show any approach to the mod. sense of thill]

The pole or shaft by which a wagon, cart, or other vehicle is attached to the animal drawing it, esp. one of the pair of shafts between which a single draught animal is placed. Applied (a) in sing. to the single pole, rarely to the pair of shafts (obs.); (b) in pl. to the pair of shafts.

(a) 14.. Voc. in Wr.-Wülcker 615/35 Temo, a thylle. 14.. Metrical Voc. ibid. 628/20 Reda, thylle. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 491/1 Thylle, of a carte, temo. 1530 Palsgr. 280/2 Thyll of a carte, le lymon. 1611 Cotgr., Alimonier, to put into..the thill of a cart. Ibid., Limon,..the Thill of a waine, wagon, &c; In which sense (because a Thill consists of two beames: it is most used in the Plurall number. 1688 R. Holme Armoury III. xviii. (Roxb) 139/1 The two side shafts make one thill. 1770 Langhorne Plutarch (1879) I. 256/2 That piece of wood with which they supported the thill of a waggon.

(b) c 1325 Gloss. W. de Bibbesw. in Wright Voc. 168 Les lymouns, the thilles. c 1400 Laud Troy Bk. 12820 Fals fortune of him now tilles, He put him rist In hir thilles. c 1425 Voc. in Wr.-Wülcker 663/30 Hic limo, thyllys. 1707 Mortimer Husb. (1721) I. 360 If the fore Wheels were as high as the hinder Wheels, and if the Thills were fixed under the Axis. 1890 O. Crawfurd Round the Cal. in Portugal 104 The mule and the horse work between the thills of the cart and of the plough.

b. attrib. and Comb., as thill hame, harness, pin; thill-coupling, -jack, -tug: see quot. 1877; thill-saddle = Saddle sb. 3. Also Thill-horse.

14.. Nom. in Wr.-Wülcker 727/33 Hic limaritum, a thylpyn. 1549 Rutland MSS. (1905) IV. 570 Thill hames, xl pare. 1776 in Hughes Scour. White Horse v, The same time a Thill harness will be run for by Cart-horses, &c. 1807 A. Young Agric. Essex (1813) I. 107, 3 thill saddles, breechins, cruppers, &c. 1859 Hughes Scour. White Horse v, Varmer Miffin's mare..won a new Cart-saddle and thill-tugs. Ibid. vi. The great horses in their thill harness. 1877 Knight Dict. Mech., Thill-coupling, a device for fastening the shafts to the fore-axle. Ibid., Thill-jack, a tool for attaching the thills of a carriage to the clips of the axle. Ibid., Thill-tug, a leathern loop depending from the hames of a collar to hold the shaft of a carriage.

Thill 2 (pil). [A local term of unknown origin; cf. Till sb., boulder-clay.] The thin stratum of fire-clay, etc. usually underlying a coal-seam; underclay; the floor or bottom of a seam of coal.

1329–30 Durham Acc. Rolls (Surtees) 515 Quatuor bryardours portantibus Thill et focale in abbathiam per x septimanas, xxiij s. vj d. 1454–5 Ibid. 634 Operarii circa le ryddyng ac adquisicione de le Thill pro eodem furno. 1500–1 Ibid. 657 Pro iiij$^{or}$ plaustr. de lez thillstone, xvjd. 1708 J. C. Compl. Collier (1845) 39 Sometimes a Pit may happen to have a Hitch or Dipping of the Thill or Bottom of the way. 1851 Greenwell Coal-trade Terms Northumb. & Durh. 54 Thill, the floor of a seam of coal. 1867 W. W. Smyth Coal 25 The floor, thill, or seat..; of the coal is an underlay. 1898 Lebour Geol. Northumberland & Durh. (1886) iii. 12 There is a strict analogy between these peat-marls and clays and the 'thills' or 'underclays' of many coals. 1881 Borings & Sinkings II. 4 (E.D.D.) Grey thill with water. 1889 Woodward Geol. Eng. & Wales (ed. 2) 179 The underclay is known as 'Seatearth' in Yorkshire, as 'Thill' in Durham; as 'Warrant' or 'Seat-earth' in Lancashire; and as 'Bottomstone' or 'Pouncin' in South Wales. 1894 Hislop Northumb. Gloss. s.v., The underlayer of a coal seam frequently consists of a thin bed of fireclay; hence thin strata of that material are called thill, irrespective of their position with regard to a seam of coal.

Thiller (pi·lər). Also 9 dial. tiller: see also Filler 2. [f. Thill 1 + -er 1.] = next. Also attrib.

1552 Huloet, Thyller of a carte, veredia, di. 1573 Tusser Husb. (1878) 36 Hobbles and saddle, whit leither and nall, With collers and harneis, for thiller and all. 1607 Topsell Four-f. Beasts (1658) 330 His Thiller fell and put his shoulder clean out of joint. 1640 Hexham Princ. Art Milit. II. v. 5 Half a bottom..vpon its carriage, drawne with seven couple of horse, and a Thiller horse. 1733 Tull Horse-Hoeing Husb. xxiii. 363 Limbers,..also called Shafts, Sharps, and Thills; from whence the Horse that goes in them is called a Thiller. 1893 Stratford-on-Avon Herald 24 Feb. 4/2, 3 Sets of Harness, Thilters' and Trace Gears.

Thill-horse (pi·lˌhɔ̃ˑs). See also fill-horse s. v. Fill *sb.*2 [f. Thill 1 + Horse.] The shaft-horse or wheeler in a team.

c 1325 Gloss. W. de Bibbesw. in Wright Voc. 168 En lymouns [gl.] thilles va le limounere [gl.] the thillo-hors. c 1425 Voc. in Wr.-Wülcker 665/39 Hic wereha, thylhors. 1483 Funeral Edw. IV in Lett. & Pap. Rich. III, etc. (Rolls) I. 7 Upon the fore horse, and the thill horse sat ij chariot men. 1543 Will S. England (Somerset Ho.), On Carte, a Tyll horse & foure Oxen. 1708 Defoe in Phil. Trans. XXIV. 1583 The Thill-Horse in Charles's Wain, called Alioth. 1876 Browning Pacchiarotto xxi, A Spare-Horse? Be rather a thill-horse.

Thi·lly, a. [f. Thill 2.] Of the nature of thill. 1894 Hesle Northumbld. Gloss. s.v. Thill, Any stone containing the nature of indurated clay is called thilly.

Thimble (pi·mbˈl), sb. Forms: α. 1 þȳmel, 5–6 thymelle, -yl(le, thymle, themel, -elle, -yl(le, (5 thomelle, timmele), 9 dial. thimmel. β. 5 thymbyl(l, thomble, 6 thymble, -bel(l, -bil(l, thumble, (tymble), 6–7 thimbell, 6– thimble. [OE. þȳmel, f. þūma Thumb + -el, -le, suffix forming names of instruments: cf. handle. The later Eng. form has developed a b after m, as in humble, nimble, etc. ON., þumall meant the thumb of a glove; perh. a leather thumbstall was the earliest form of thimble; metal thimbles were app. introduced in the 17th c.]

†1. A sheath or covering for the thumb or finger; a fingerstall. Obs. (Only OE.)

c 1000 Sax. Leechd. II. 150 Wyrc þonne þymel to.

2. A bell-shaped sheath of metal (formerly of leather) worn on the end of the finger to push the needle in sewing.

Tailor's, upholsterer's, etc. thimble, a similar metal sheath open at both ends; sail-maker's thimble = Palm *sb.*2 5. Knight of the thimble, a tailor: see Knight sb. 12 c.

a. c 1412 Hoccleve De Reg. Princ. 682 Look whedir In þis purs ber be any croyse or crouche, Sauf nedel and prede, & thimbel. 1483 Cath. Angl. 383/2 A Themelle (A. Thymbylle, Thymle). 1488 Acc. Ld. High Treas. Scot. I. 80 A thing of gold with a top like a timmele. a 1568 in Dunmaglyne Poems (Hunter. Cl.) 396 With eiwand, scheir and thymmill.

β. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 491/1 Thymbyl, theca,..digita. 14.. Debate Carpenter's Tools 18 in Hazl. E. P. P. I. 80 Sis, sis, seyd wymbylle, I ame als rounde as a thymbyll. 1530 Palsgr. 280/2 Thymble to sowe with, deyl. 1591 Florio and Frutes 5, I haue neither needle, thred, nor thimble. 1664 Power Exp. Philos. I. 5 The Common Fly.. her eyes are..most neatly dimpled with innumerable little cavities like a small grater or thimble. 1700 Congreve Way of World III. iii, Hast thou ne'er a brass thimble clinking in thy pocket? 1793 Girlhood M. Y. Holroyd (1896) 253, I have worked with my Thimble, and like it extremely. 1812 [see Knight sb. 12 c]. 1841 Moore Young Jessica I, The safest shield against the darts Of Cupid, is Minerva's thimble.

b. Thimble and Bodkin Army (Eng. Hist.): a nickname of the Parliamentary Army of the Civil War: see quots.

1647 May Hist. Parl. II. vi. 97 The poorer sort, like that Widow in the Gospel, presented their Mites also; insomuch that it was a common Jeer of men disaffected to the Cause, to call it the Thimble- and Bodkin-Army. 1884 Dowell Taxes in Eng. II. i. 3 On the parliamentary side the subscriptions of silver offerings included even such little personal articles as those that suggested the term, the 'Thimble and Bodkin' army.

c. A thimble or similar article as used by a thimblerigger: see Thimblerig 1.

1726 Gay Trivia II. 166 Nor try the Thimble's Cheats. 1742 Fielding Jos. Andrews II. iii, A person travelling to a neighbouring fair with the thimble and button. 1838 Dickens Nich. Nick. I, Gathered round a pea and thimble table. 1909 Q. Rev. July 173 A conjuror..astonishing a simple audience with the pea-and-thimble trick.

3. The ring or socket in the heel of a gate which turns on the hook or pin in the gate-post. local.

1550 Hawkhurst Ch. Acc. in Archæol. Cantiana V. 64 For a thymble to the churche gate ij s. 1627 MS. Acc. St. John's Hosp., Canterb., For ij thimbles for the beane garden gate xvj d. 1804 Trans. Soc. Arts XXII. 83 The upper thimble should be fixed..nearer the further side of the foot than the lower thimble. 1881 Leicestersh. Gloss.

4. Naut. A broad ring of metal, having a concave outer surface, around which the end of a rope is spliced, so that the thimble forms an eye to the rope.

1711 W. Sutherland Shipbuild. Assist. 132 Thimbles, large, 34 Ordinary, 28. 1779 Universal Dictionary Vessel 50 Each cable has a large thimble spliced in one end, through which each alternate cable is reeved. 1860 Merc. M. Mag. VII. 123 A leach-line is..carried through thimbles.

5. In various technical applications. a. Mech. A ring, tube, or similar part, e. g. a sleeve, bushing, ferrule, etc.; often in comb., as thimble-coupling, joint, etc.: see 9. b. The outer casing of a rifle-ball. c. Pottery: A rest for placing the ware during glost-firing. d. Dentistry: see quot. e. A cone of fat-free paper used in a fat-extraction apparatus. f. = thimble-rubber in 9. g. See quot.

a. 1789 Trans. Soc. Arts VII. 279 Thimbles made of wire, twisted in the slit of the harpoon. 1831 J. Holland Manuf. Metal I. 184 Fitting into the holes bushes or thimbles to give them the greater strength. 1877 Knight Dict. Mech., Thimble,..3. (Machinery) a. A sleeve or tube through which a bolt passes, and which may act as a stay. b. A ferrule to expand a tube; specifically, a ferrule for boiler-tubes. 4. A sleeve around a stove-pipe when it passes through a wall or ceiling. 1888 Gardener's Gaz. 84 The charge is put in a small steel thimble. b. c 1850 H. Stuart Seaman's Catech. II The thimble expands and rifles the ball. 1900 Brit. Med. Jrnl. No. 2053, 1756 The thimble or shell of the Mauser and Lee-Metford. Ibid., The core is of hardened lead, and the thimble composed of copper and nickel. c. 1901 [see thimble-picker in 9]. 1910 Rep. Lead Comm. (Parl. Pap. Eng.), Placing the ware on rests with pointed projections..'Thimbles' similar in shape to a sewing thimble,..provided with a single horn. d. 1877 Knight Dict. Mech. 2554/1 The extension thimble of the dentist is a prong on the end of the thimble, used to reach into the mouth to hold the foil or a compress, while operating on the teeth. e. 1901 Jrnl. Exper. Med. 25 Mar. 515 This residue was then ground up with sand, placed in a fat-extraction thimble and extracted again. f. 1909 Cust. Dict. Suppl., Thimble,..pl., a trade-name for crude india-rubber from the lower Congo and Loanda in small balls of a gray color, darker outside. g. 1541 R. Copland Guydon's Quest. Chirurg. I. iij, Thyrdly a seame incarnatyfe is made with egal themylles made of lowe well wrytten & sikkedenly.

6. Applied (usually in pl.) to certain flowers and plants, or parts of them, e. g. (a) the Foxglove, also known as Fairy or Witches' Thimbles; (b) the Sea Campion; (c) the Harebell; (d) the cup of an acorn. See also Lady's Thimble, Lady sb. 17 b.

1873 Browning Red Cott. Nt.-cap I. 150 Nor its fine thimble fits the acorn top. 1878 Britten & Holland Plant-n., Fairy Thimbles, digitalis purpurea. 1881 J. A. Sibbald in Mod. Scot. Poets 306 Whaur the witch thummles bloom. 1886 Britten & H. Plant-n., Thimble, (1) Digitalis purpurea..(2) Silene maritima. 1894 Daily News 28 Apr. 6/5 The tall foxglove, with its graduated 'thimbles'.

7. Thieves' slang. A watch.

1812 in J. H. Vaux Flash Dict. 1834 W. H. Ainsworth Rookwood III. v, My thimble of ridge. 1901 W. S. Walker In the Blood xiii. 138 Silver money, and a watch and chain, or, in thieves' language, 'white-lot' and 'thimble and slang'.

8. = Thimblepuff.

1841 Hood Tale of Trumpet xii, [They] never swallowed a thimble the less Of something the Reader is left to guess. 1865 Bushnell Vicar. Sacr. Introd. (1868) 24 Such thimbles of meaning as can be confidently managed.

9. attrib. and Comb., as thimble-case, -finger, -maker, -top; thimble-crowned, -like, -sealed, -shaped, -sized adjs.; thimble-belt, a kind of cartridge-belt; thimble-berry (thimble blackberry), the black raspberry of America, Rubus occidentalis, so called from the shape of its receptacle; thimble-coupling: see quot.; thimble-grater, a species of gastropod shell; thimble-joint: see quot.; thimble lily, a name of the Australian liliaceous plant Blandfordia nobilis, with flowers in racemes; thimble-limpet, a West Indian species of limpet, so called from its shape; thimble - man = Thimblerigger; thimble-picker, a young person employed in a pottery to pick from among the used thimbles (see sense 5 c) those that can be used a second time: so thimble-picking; thimble-pie: see quots.; thimble-plating, the formation of a cylindrical boiler-shell or a flue by successive slightly overlapping rings of plate; thimble-rubber: see quots.; thimble-shift, -shifting, the shifting of the pea from one thimble to another by a thimblerigger; also fig.; thimble-skein, a skein for an axle made in tubular form; thimble-surface, Ceramics, a surface of raised dots produced by closely pitting the interior of the mould; thimble-weed: see quot.

1901 N. Amer. Rev. Feb. 231 The Public belt, used only by the Americans, is still preferred to the cartridge pouches of the others. 1854 THOREAU Walden xiv. (1886) 262 Strawberries, raspberries, thimble-berries. 1883 STEVENSON Silverado Sq. iii, A bower of green and tangled thicket ..where thimbleberry played the part of our English hawthorn. 1715 LADY M. W. MONTAGU Basset-Table 34 A myrtle foliage round the thimble-case. 1882 OGILVIE, †Thimble-coupling...In mach. a kind of permanent coupling, of which the coupling-box consists of a plain ring of metal, supposed to resemble a tailor's thimble. 1876 H. GARDNER Sunflowers, Dream of Noon 48 Then she Raising a slender finger, thimble-crowned, Beckoned him onwards. 1796 BURNEY Hum. Rhododendro III. 27 A whitlow in the stitching or thimble finger. c 1721 PETIVER Gazophyl. vi. liv, Borneo Thimble Grater... The outside is rough like a Grater, and hollow like a Cap or Thimble. 1877 KNIGHT Dict. Mech., †Thimble-joint, a sleeve-joint, with an interior packing to keep the joints of pipes tight during expansion and contraction. 1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VIII. 602 The minutte honey-combed, thimble-like appearance of its surface. 1883 TRIMEN Catal. Plants Melbourne Bot. Gard. 22 Blandfordia nobilis..Thimble Lily. c 1721 PETIVER Gazophyl. Dec. viii. Tab. 80 Barbadoes Thimble Limpet. 1654 Nicholas Papers (Camden) II. 216 For either his understanding or his [sic] is a thimble-maker...a mere cheat that rumples up and down, not worth on farthing. 1830 GEN. P. THOMPSON Exerc. (1842) I. 192 The army of thimble-men from Doncaster is upon you. 1901 Scotsman 28 Mar. 9/1 Persons are warned ..as thimble-pickers, without mentioning that they are directly engaged in making..earthenware. 1828 Craven Gloss., *†Thimble-pi, a fillip with the thimble. 1882 MOZLEY Remin. II. cviii. 245, I had to sit under the lady's three-legged work table, receiving 'thimble-pie', that is a sharp rap with a thimble on the crown of my head. 1881 Rep. Kew Gardens 39/2 W. African rubber..appears as ..agglutinated masses of small cubes of which there are specimens in the Kew Museum under the name of †Thimble rubber. 1840 THACKERAY Catherine i, The dirty scrap of paper, †thimble-sealed. 1867 †Thimble-shaped [see THIMBLE-EYE]. 1905 Daily News 1 Aug. 4 (A bee's) thimble-shaped cell. 1891 Times 11 Jan. 7/2 Not more than twenty per cent. was to be deducted from the tithe-owner [etc.]. This was †thimble-shift the first. 1834 STANLEY in Hansard's Parl. Deb. 4 July XXIV. 1134 How was this deficiency to be made good to the tithe-owner, then, was an instance of his right hon. friend's †thimble-shifting. 1895 CLIVE HOLLAND Jap. Wife (ed. 11) 121 The little silver pipe with its †thimble-sized bowl. 1874 KNIGHT Dict. Mech. 144/2 Arm..the axle-spindle. When cotton-wool is strengthened by metallic straps called skeins, and sometimes by a conical sheath called a †thimble-skein. 1879 H. DRUMMOND in Life vii. (1899) 166 The spurts come up in little domes, some only the size of a †thimble-top. 1860 BARTLETT Dict. Amer., †Thimble-weed. (Rutheckia.)...Like the Thimble-berry, its receptacle resembles a thimble.

Hence Thimble v., intr. to use a thimble, to sew; Thimbling vbl. sb. and ppl. a., using a thimble in sewing; also = thimblerigging.

1669 H. M. Pair Spectacles Nation 4 Cobling Hewson, Cooper, thimbling Barkstead, Boyl, Scandal, the rest of their Confederates. 1780 BECKFORD Italy (1834) I. v. 38 Pretty sempstresses, warbling melodious hymns as they sat needling and thimbling at their windows above. 1856 J. BALLANTYNE Poem, War & Raggit Laddie xiv, Ilk thimblin' thievin' gamblin' diddler...Chase thee like fire. 1857 BORROW Rom. Rye xliv, If you have not sufficient capital, why do you engage in so deep a trade as thimbling?

Thimbled (pi·mb'ld), a. [f. THIMBLE + -ED ².] Having, or furnished with, a thimble; in thieves' slang wearing a watch.

1812 J. H. VAUX Flash Dict., Thimbled, having or wearing a watch. 1851 HAWTHORNE Snow Image (1879) 21 With her thimbled finger. 1884 Pall Mall G. 10 Dec. 3/2 Long before either Dutch or English thought of thimbles Chinese ladies were thimbled when they worked at their embroidery.

Thimble-eye (pi·mb'l-ei). [f. THIMBLE + EYE.] a. Naut. See quots. 1867, 1877. b. A fish, the Chub Mackerel, Scomber colias. So Thimble-eyed a., having eyes like thimbles, as this fish.

1867 SMYTH Sailor's Word-bk., Thimble-eyes, are thimble-shaped apertures in iron-plates where sheaves are not required; frequently used instead of dead-eyes for the top-mast-rigging, furrock-plates, and backstays in the merchant-vessels. 1877 KNIGHT Dict. Mech., Thimble-eye,..an eye in a plate through which a rope is rove without a sheave. A dead-eye. 1888 GOODE Amer. Fishes 196 The only other spotted fish which has been known to frequent our coast is the 'chub mackerel' or 'thimble eye'. 1891 Cent. Dict., Thimble-eyed,..used of the chub-mackerel.

Thimbleful (pi·mb'l,ful). [..THIMBLE + -FUL.] As much as a thimble will hold; hence, a small quantity, esp. of wine or spirits; a dram; also fig. of something immaterial.

1697 MARKHAM Cavval. ii. (1617) 120 Take halfe a thimbleful of Gunpowder. 1844 SIBBERN A. Alemann's Grammar d'Alf. i. 23 By eating by ounces, and drinking by thimblefuls, they live by drams. 1760 FOOTE Minor i. Wks. 1799 I. 248 Wou'd you take another thimbleful, Mrs. Cole? 1789 WOLCOTT (P. Pindar) Expect. Odes xi, Now can't I give a thimbleful of Praise. 1889 JESSOPP Coming of Friars ii. 93 Cordials were..on special occasions dealt out in thimblefuls. 1894 HELEN M. GOUGAR in Voice (N.Y.) 31 May, Anybody with a thimbleful of political or reform sense known.

Thimblerig (pi·mb'l,rig), sb. [f. THIMBLE + RIG *sb.*⁶ 2; lit., 'thimble-trick'.]

1. A swindling game usually played with three thimbles (see THIMBLE 2 c) and a pea which was ostensibly placed under one of them; the sharper then challenging the bystanders to guess under which the pea had been placed, and to bet on their choice; a cheat similar to the three-card trick.

1825 HONE Every-day Bk. I. 768 An unfair game known among the frequenters of races and fairs by the name of 'the thimble rig'. 1836 T. HOOK G. Gurney vii, I will start alone, and appear to know no more of you, than one of the cads of the thimble-rig knows of the pea-holder. 1856 J. D. CHAMBERS Strictures on Judgm. in Western c. Liddell 130 note, The mutations of a sharper with cups and balls on his gambling table, commonly called thimblerig. 1893 LELAND Mem. I. 13.

attrib. and Comb. 1834 LITTLETON in Hansard's Parl. Deb. 4 July, XXIV. 1296 His right hon. friend (Mr. Stanley) ..had chosen to describe him (Mr. Littleton) as a thimble-rig player, in consequence of the changes that he had made in the classes of that bill. 1856 T. A. TROLLOPE Girlhd. Cath. de Med. Notes 322 A good deal of confusion as to the dates of these thimblerig-like transactions exists in the narratives of the historians. 1886 C. E. PASCOE London of To-day xviii. (ed. 3) 157 Epsom Downs..There are .. tumblers, jugglers, boxers, thimble-rig men.

2. = THIMBLERIGGER.

1839 Fraser's Mag. XX. 355 Greatly applauded by all the thimblerigs of the faux-bourgs.

Thimblerig, v. [f. prec.: app. first used in vbl. sb. and pr. pple.] intr. To practise the cheat of the thimblerig; also fig. to cheat in a juggling manner or as with sleight of hand. b. trans. To manipulate (a matter or thing) in this manner.

So Thimblerigged (-rigd) ppl. a., duped by the game or thimblerig; disturbed or affected by thimblerigging, as a market; = RIGGED *ppl. a.*²; Thimblerigging vbl. sb. and ppl. a.

1839 THACKERAY Catherine i, Don't let us have any juggling and thimblerigging with virtue and vice. 1840 — Cruikshank Wks. 1900 XII. 310 The different degrees of rascality, as exhibited in each face of the thimblerigging trio. Ibid., Is any man so blind that he cannot see the exact face that is writhing under the thimblerigged hero's hat? 1889 PATER Marius I. xxii. 271 Gambling tents and thimble-rigging..had not then been stopped by the police. 1889 MIVART Orig. Hum. Reason 92 That 'intellectual thimble-rigging' which all men of the sensiest school..must perform. 1892 Lubbock's Quotation Gloss., Thimblerigged, an expression in general use descriptive of speculative operations in the stock, produce, or other markets by combination for other than legitimate trade or market requirements. 1899 Daily News 31 Jan. 5/3 M. Lebret passes quickly over the legal aspect of the case—thimblerigs it so to speak.

Thimblerigger (pi·mb'l,ri·gə1). [f. THIMBLERIG sb. + -ER ¹.] A professional sharper who cheats by thimblerigging; also transf. one who cheats by means of tricks, or juggles with phrases, etc.

1831 Lincoln Herald 7 Oct. 4/4 An altercation took place between some countrymen and the thimble-riggers, on a charge of cheating. 1871 L. STEPHEN Playgr. Eur. ix. (1894) 202 A cross between a prizefighter and a thimble-rigger. 1891 T. HARDY Tess xviii, A firm believer—not as the phrase is now elusively construed by theological thimble-riggers in the Church and out of it.

Hence Thimblerigger, thimblerigging.

1841 Blackw. Mag. L. 178 Lying and thimblerigger assume high privilege. 1841 R. CASTLER Fleet Papers I. I. 399 The noble art of 'thimble-rigger'.

Thimbling, vbl. sb. and ppl. a.: see THIMBLE v.

Thime, obs. form of THYME.

Thin (pin), a. (sb.) and adv. Forms: 1 þynne, þinne, þyn, þin, 3–5 þunne, 3–6 þyn, 4 þenne, 4–6 þynne, (4 þyne, 5 þynn), 4–7 thinn(e, (4–5 thine), 6- thin. [OE. þynne = OFris. †thenne, †thinne (WFris. ten, tên, tin); OLG. †þunnī (MLG. dunne, MDu. dunne, dinne, Du. dun), OHG. dunni (MHG. dünne, G. dünn), in Gothic †þunnu-s, ON. þunnr (Sw. tunn, Da. tynd) :—OTeut. †þunnu-z, fem. †þunnī, with nu from new, in Indo-Eur. †tnūs, fem. †tnwī, from weak grade of ablaut stem ten-, ton-, tn- to stretch (cf. Skr. tanūs, L. tenuis).]

A. adj.

I. 1. Having relatively little extension between opposite surfaces; of little thickness or depth. Opposed to THICK a. 1.

a 900 Cædmon's Paraphr. v. vi. (1890) 400 Stan..mid þinre tyrf bewrixen. c 1000 Saxc. Leechd. I. 288 Þeos wyrt..hafaþ þynne leaf. c 1020 Rule St. Benet lv. (Logeman) 91 Culum on winre þicce on sumere þinne. a 1300 Cursor M. 1673 (Cott.) Wit pike þine it be noght thyn (Fr. ver. pinne, thinne, pynne). a 1310 in Wright Lyric P. x. 37 Betere is were thynne boute laste, Þen syde robes and synke into synne. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) I. 405 Brood cakes, round and þynne. 1398 DUNBAR Two Merrit Women 23 With cuches, of kirsp cleir and thin. 1530 PALSGR. 280/2 Thyn skynne, tenue peau. 1638 JUNIUS Paint. Ancients 227 We doe not make our plate so thinne as to break it. 1710 J. CLARKE Esther 160 Nat. Phil. (1729) I. 215 A Glass that is thinner in the Middle than at the Edges. 1802 PLAYFAIR Illustr. Hutton. Th. 294 The thinnest part of that rock ..is still covered by the strata. 1887 B. V. HEAD Hist. Numorum 607 The coins of the Sassanian monarchs are thin, flat, and neatly executed.

b. Of small cross section in proportion to length; slender, tenuous, attenuated. (Usually said of a thing more or less cylindrical, as a wire, rod, branch, stem, stock, trunk, limb.)

a 1425 tr. Arderne's Treat. Fistula 59 If it be bi reson of þe membre, þat is for þe membre is to ouer þinne. 1570 LEVINS Manip. 133/24 Thinne, gracilis, tenuis. 1665 SIR T. HERBERT Trav. (1677) 303 Their Harquebus is longer than ours, but thinner. 1776 WITHERING Brit. Plants (1796) IV. 118 Branches..of equal thickness, nay rather thinner at their origin. 1884 BOWER & SCOTT De Bary's Phanerg. 426 In the cortex of the thin stem. 1889 WATSON & BURBURY Math. Th. Electr. & Magn. I. 95 The connection between them being a very thin wire.

c. spec. Having little flesh; lean, spare, not fat or plump. Also of our cattle.

c 1000 Saxc. Leechd. II. 206 Ne mæg him se lichoma baðian ac he þiñ blac & þynne & acolod. c 1050 Gloss. in Wr.-Wülcker 415/27 Gallus, þynne. a 1327 Glouc. Maximon iv. Rel. Ant. I. 120 Care and knaue of elde Maketh mi body felde..Ant mi body thunne Such is worldes wunne. 1382 WYCLIF Gen. xli. 6 Seuene eerys..thinne and smytun with meldew, weren growun. 1535 COVERDALE Gen. xli. 3 Seuen kyne,..thynne, euell fauoured, and leenfleshed. 1617 MORYSON Itin. II. 46 His face grew thinne, his ruddy colour failed. 1697 DRYDEN Virg. Past. III. 156 My Flocks..yet look so thin, Their Bones are barely cover'd with their Skin. 1794 MRS. RADCLIFFE Myst. Udolpho xlix, You look so pale now, and so thin, too. 1805-6 COLERIDGE Three Graves iv. xi, Oft she said, I'm not grown thin! And then her wrist she spanned. 1865 MISS BRADDON Sir Tasper iv. 37 To have long thin white hands, all eglitter with diamond rings.

d. Penetrable by light or vision, like a thin veil; fig. easily 'seen through', transparent, flimsy, as a pretext or excuse. (Cf. some uses in 4 a.)

1613 SHAKS. Hen. VIII, v. iii. 125, I come not To heare such flattery now, and in my presence They [commendations] are too thin. 1662 HIBBERT Body Div. I. 252 A lie is of a thin and transparent nature. 1882 BRIMLEY Ess., Wordsw. 103 Under a thin disguise of name. 1860 TYNDALL Glac. I. xiv. 94 Over the glacier hung a thin veil of fog. a 1904 A. ADAMS Log Cowboy xviii, He put up a thin excuse just like the rest. Anyone could see through it.

II. 2. Consisting of or characterized by individual constituents or parts placed at relatively large intervals; not thick, dense, or bushy. Opposed to THICK a. 4.

849 in Birch Cart. Sax. II. 40 In..sceazan ðær he ðynnest is. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Hom. II. 466 Oft of þinnum renscurum flewð seo eorðe. c 1290 S. Eng. Leg. I. 48/44 Rote þynne and þunne bookes. c 1400 MAUNDEV. (Rowb.) xxvi. 126 þe Tartarenes haue..lytill beardes and thynne. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 491/1 Thynne, as gresse, corne, wodys, ..rarus. 1573–80 BARET Alv. T 166 Thinne,..not thicke growen, or set...rarus. 1617 MORYSON Itin. II. 45 [Lord Montjoy's] aire was..thinne on his head. c 1796 MOORE Amer. Geog. I. 77 Indian population is thin; vast tracts.. are uninhabited. 1894 DOYLE Mem. S. Holmes 49 A thin rain began to fall.

†b. Of the members of a collective group or class: Not numerous or abundant; scarce, rare, few, scanty. Opposed to THICK a. 5. Obs.

1508 KENNEDY Flyting w. Dunbar 350 Corspatrik..Thy forefader maid Irisch and Irisch men thin. 1573–80 BARET Alv. T 166 Thinne..seld and not often, rarus: to waxe thin, to wane a small number. 1638 JUNIUS Paint. Ancients 188 Artificers also grew thinner and thinner, till none at length were left. c 1645 HOWELL Lett. (1650) I. 95 Gentry amongst them is very thin,..and coming to dwell in towns, they soon mingle with the merchants, and so degenerate. 1793 T. THOMAS in Portland Papers VI. (Hist. MSS. Comm.) 129 Churches are very thin in this part of the World. [1863 W. C. BALDWIN Afr. Hunting ix. 405 Game of all sorts is as thin as deal boards.]

†c. Of a place: Sparsely occupied or peopled; with of, sparsely furnished or supplied with; thinly occupied or attended by. Obs.

1621 BURTON Anat. Mel. Democr. to Rdr. (1628) 32 Many Kingdomes are fertile, but thin of inhabitants. 1673 Essex Papers (Camden) I. 65 How thinn of Solde[rs] are y^e Few Garrisons we keepe. 1693 Humours Town 51 You must be content with such as your thin Neighbourhood affords. 1727 SWIFT Jrnl. to Stella 24 Aug., The town being thin, I am less pestered with company. 1733 TULL Horse-Hoeing Husb. xi. 124 Both these Rows were Thin of Plants. 1797 Encycl. Brit. (ed. 3) VII. 528/2 Galicia..is but thin of people. 1800 HT. LEE Canterb. T. (ed. 2) III. 89 Summer was now fast approaching, and the town was thin.

d. Of an assembly or body of people: Scantily furnished with members; thinly attended; not full.

1647 CLARENDON Hist. Reb. v. § 361 What had been..in a full House, rejected, was many times in a thin House.. resumed, and determined contrary to former conclusions. 1660 PEPYS Diary 2 Oct., There I found but a thin congregation already. 1703 Lond. Gaz. No. 3904/1 Their Battalions are thin and sickly. 1713 S. SEWALL Diary (1878) 7 Oct., Buried with a very thin Bearer. 1746 FIELDING Horace's Art Poetry 297 The little Theatre..To which a thin and pious Audience came. 1860–70 STUBBS Lect. Europ. Hist. i. ix. (1904) 119 In a very thin meeting, Ferdinand stated his view.

13. Of a liquid or a pasty substance: Of slight density or consistence; fluid; of air or vapour: not dense; rare, tenuous, subtile. Opp. to THICK a. 6.

a 900 tr. Bæda's Hist. III. xix. [xxvii.] (1890) 244 Nemne medmicel hlafes mid þinre meolc. a 1000 Boeth. Metr. v. 6 Ær se þicca mist þynra weorðe. c 1000 Saxc. Leechd. II. 314 Hrer on bleðe oþ þ hit sie þicce swa þynne þriw. c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints xxxiii (Andrew) 735 Vndit a fyre gert ma Til þat mater [pitch and brimstone] wes molyne thyne. c 1430 Two Cookery-bks. 12 Late it be nowt to þikke ne to þynne, but as potage shulde be. 1530 PALSGR. 280/2 Thyn cloude in the ayre. 1621 BURTON Anat. Mel. II. iii. 1. i. (1651) 232 Pure, thin, light water. 1667 MILTON P. L. VIII. 348 Fish..cannot change Thir Element to draw the thinner Aire. 1744 BERKELEY Siris § 121 An exceeding thin volatile oil. 1850 Young's Patent in Lond Times Rep. V. 862/2 Chalk, ground up with a little water and then thin paste.

b. transf. and fig. Wanting body or substance; unsubstantial; intangible.

1610 Shaks. Temp. iv. i. 150 These our actors..were all Spirits, and Are melted into Ayre, into thin Ayre. 1705 Addison Italy 3 The labring Plowman oft wide Furrows spies Thin airy Shapes that o'er the Furrows rise. 1724 R. Welton Chr. Faith & Pract. 120 All the thin and airy delights of the world. 1892 Westcott Gospel of Life 108 Man cannot live in the thin atmosphere of abstractions. 1907 Edin. Rev. Oct. 402 Logic is too thin and bloodless a thing to govern life.

c. Wanting depth or intensity; faint, weak, dim, pale. Formerly of light (arch.): in mod. use, of colours, painting, or the like.

1649 Lovelace Poems 90 Yet its Glory did appeare But thinne, because her eyes were neere. 1655 Stanley Hist. Philos. ii. (1701) 61/2 The Moon hath a light of her own: but very thin. 1875 Fortnum Maiolica xiv. 156 The use of a bright yellow..in imitations of the golden lustre, and a thin green. 1893 Hopkins Elem. Photogr. (1907) 100 Thin and rather weak negatives. 1894 Athenæum 3 Mar. 285/3 The figures are half-lengths, and executed in a thin, hard, and laborious manner.

d. Of sound: Wanting fullness, volume, or depth; weak and high-pitched; shrill and feeble.

1 Dryden (J.) I hear the groans of ghosts; Thin, hollow sounds, and lamentable screams. 1726 Pope Odyss. xxiv. 8 Trembling the Spectres glide, and plaintive vent Thin, hollow screams. 1824 Lamb Elia Ser. ii. Capt. Jackson, the dumb, thou thin accompanier of her thinner warble! a 1895 W. Morris in Mackail Life (1899) II. 314. I heard..the trowels fall Upon the stone, a thin noise far away. 1901 Scotsman 15 Mar. 7/4 The possessor of the thinnest treble in the Irish quarter..piped tremulously.

4. fig. Deficient in substance or quality; poor; unsubstantial. a. Of immaterial things: Wanting in fullness, breadth, force, or vigour; scanty, insufficient; weak, feeble; slight; of little worth.

[a 900 tr. Bæda's Hist. v. xvii. [xix.] (1890) 462 Nemne ðynre ednge anre ætywde þæt he lifes wæs. c 1000 Sax. Leechd. II. 84 Hwilc þ mægen sie & sio geeynd þæs lichoman, hwæþer hio sie strang.., þe hio sie hneasc & mearwe & þynne.] a 1225 Ancr. R. 144 Vre god þet is þunne—vre sunnen þet beoð so monie. c 1315 Shoreham iii. 272 Hare wyst [= wit] hys al to þenne. c 1330 R. Brunne Chron. Wace (Rolls) 113 My witte was oure thynne So strange speche to trauyle in. c 1374 Chaucer Boeth. ii. Met. vii. 47 (Camb. MS.) The thynne fame yit lastynge of hir ydel names, is marked with a fewe letterys. c 1425 † Lydg. Assembly of Gods 1591 My brayne ys so thynne. 1545 Ascham Toxoph. (Arb.) 28 Some thinne inventions, as other poore men. 1580 H. Gifford Posie Gillowflowers, Merrie Jest, Yet was her wit but thin. 1658–9 Burton's Diary (1828) IV. 65 They are gallant in their persons, but thin in relations. 1844 Kingslake Eothen vii. (1878) 96 Engaged in very thin conversation. 1888 Daily News 9 July 4/8 The apology is a very lame one—what our American cousins call 'thin'. 1890 Spectator 16 Aug. 221/2 This is about the thinnest travel-book we have ever read. 1894 Westm. Gaz. 5 Feb. 1/2 Really, has not this laudation of the old at the expense of the new become a little too thin?

b. Of diet or supplies: Scanty, meagre, spare; not full or rich; poor, low. Now rare.

c 1374 Chaucer Parmer Age 56 Ther as vitayle is ek so skars and thinne [v. r. thynne]. c 1400 O. Chaucer (Surtees) 5264 Bot vytayls were ful thynne. c 1485 Digby Myst. iii. 1733 Yower spendyng is thyn. 1535 Stewart Cron. Scot. (Rolls) II. 678 Becaus he wes in his substance so thyn. 1596 Shaks. Tam. Shr. iv. iii. 62 At our wonder warning, You are like to haue a thin and slender pittance. 1648 Crashaw Steps to Temple Wks. (1904) 82 Nor hath God a thinner Share. 1707 Floyer Physic. Pulse-Watch 156 In these Fasting is necessary, or a thin Diet. 1826 Disraeli Vivian Grey vi. i. Thin entertainment here, kind Sir.

c. spec. Of liquor: Without body; not strong or rich; of low alcoholic strength; weak. (Cf. 3.)

[1377 Langl. P. Pl. B. xix. 398, I can selle Bothe dregges & draffe, and drawe it out of the hole, þikke ale and þinne ale.] c 1440 Alphabet of Tales 170 I may not drynk swyr thyn ale. 1560 Pilkington Expos. Aggeus (1562) 96 Lobe honye many of youre poore neighbours..drinke thin drink. 1597 Shaks. 2 Hen. IV, iv. iii. 134 To forswere thinne Potations, and to addict themselues to Sacke. 1692 Ray M. C. Words 138 Thin drink, small Beer. Cerevisia tenuis. 1859 Dickens T. Two Cities ii. xv, Monsieur Defarge sold a very thin wine at the best of times.

B. absol. as sb.: mostly elliptical or nonce-uses. Thin and thick: see THICK AND THIN.

c 1350 St. Jacob 173 (Ist.) Horstmann Altengl. Leg. (1881) 93/1 Þai suld noght leue for thin ne thik Till þai war brought bath ded or quik. 1426 Lydg. De Guil. Pilgr. 11135, I [Youth] passe bothe thorgh thynne & thykke. 1895 G. Allen Woman who did (1906) 184 This very fact that she had always lived in the Thick of Things made a change to the Thin of Things only the more enchanting.

C. adv. 1. = Thinly 1. † To go thin: to wear thin clothing, to be thinly clad (obs.).

a 1250 Owl & Night. 1529 Wel þunne isrud & iwel wrohe. a 1610 Healey Theophrastus (1636) 11 Why hee goes so thinne, and why hee will not go better cloth'd? a 1631 Donne Serm. xiv. 450 Spread we this a little thinner, and we shall better see through it. 1633 Herbert Temple, Praise vii, My heart, Though press'd, runnes thin. 1682–62 Hevlin Cosmogr. iv. (1668) 31 The people go extreme thin in the sharpest Winter. 1738 Swift Pol. Conversat. p. xliii, They ought to be husbanded better, and spread much thinner. 1805 A. Hunter Culina (ed. 2) 194 Cut the chops very thin.

† b. In a poor or sparing manner. Obs.

1607 Topsell Fourfo. Beasts (1658) 325 Let the Horse be thin dieted, during his curing time.

2. = Thinly 2.

1375 Barbour Bruce iv. 685 Bot þai prophetis so thyn ar sawin, þat [etc.]. c 1386 Chaucer Knt.'s Prol. 679 But thinne it lay, by colpons oon and oon. 1573–80 Baret Adv. T 167 Seldome; not oft; thinne: not thicke, rare. 1649 Blithe Eng. Improv. Impr. (1653) To Husbandm., The earlier thou sowest, the thinner thou maiest sow thy winter corn. 1707 Mortimer Husb. (1721) L 34 To sow something thinner than ordinary. 1886 Scott Sheep-Farming 37 The thinner sheep are pastured the healthier they are.

D. Combinations. 1. Of the adj.

a. Chiefly parasynthetic adjectives, as thin-bedded, -bladed, -brained (in sense A. 4 a), -cheeked, -faced, -flanked, † -gaskined (Gaskin 1 2), -haired, -leaved, -lipped, -rinded († rined), -soled, -stemmed, etc. See also Thin-gutted, -skinned, -walled.

1889 Murchison Siluria iv. (ed. 3) 75 We reach the thin-bedded flags. 1895 Wilyie Marsh 3 Nor, indeed, is a thin-bladed knife and two-pronged fork. 1598 Marston Sco. Villanie iii. x, Thin-brain'd Idiots, dull, vncapable. 1596 R. L[inche] Diella (1877) 74 In my thin-cheeke face thou well mais me. 1633 U. Adams Exp. 2 Peter 11 Away with that thin-faced profession. 1601 Shaks. Twel. N. v. i. 213 A thin fac'd knaue, a gull. 1899 Crockett Kit Kennedy xii. 88 A thin-faced..woman, with an air of being perpetually tired. 1649 D. Daniel Trinarch., Hen. V clxiv, The thin-flint's Bladder breakes. 1737 Bracken Farriery Impr. (1757) II. 102 Some Horses are so thin Gascoign'd, that they will never look plump. 1398 Trevisa Bartth. De P. R. xviii. xv. (Bodl. MS.), Hir Bugle is.. þynne hered. 1670 Dryden Virg. Georg. ii. 96 This thin-leav'd Arbute Hazle Graffs receives. 1897 Daily News 2 Oct. 2/3 Cranes and herons and ibis and other thin-legged water fowl. 1681 Grew Museum i. vi. i. 130 The Thin-Lip'd Wilk. 1907 H. Wyndham Rare Poetlights vii, An unpleasant smile playing about the corners of his thin-lipped mouth. 1677 Yarranton Eng. Improv. 120 Our Wheat is large, full-bressed, and thin-rined. 1809 Dickson Pract. Agricu. i. 372 The most plump and thinnest-rinded grain. 1682 Otway Venice Preserved iii. ii, Cathars and Tooth Ach got By thin-sol'd shoes. 1869 Tozer Highl. Turkey I. 325 An Albanian with his long thin-stocked gun.

b. Special combinations with adverbs and locutions: thin-belly, one who has a thin belly; in quot. attrib.; so thin-bellied a., lean, hungry-looking; thin coal, coal found in shallow beds or seams: cf. thick coal s. v. Thick a. 12 b; thin-headed a., having a thin or narrow head; fig. shallow-pated, silly; thin miner, thin seam (also attrib.), see quots.; thin-worn a., made thin by wear.

1588 Shaks. L. L. L. iii. i. 19 Your armes crost on your thinbellie doublet. 1591 Percival Span. Dict., Trasijado, lanke, thinne bellied. 1855 J. Phillips Man. Geol. 88 Strata and thin coals. 1900 Engineering Mag. XIX. 77 In days gone by thin seams were worked by special thin coal miners. 1603 Dekker Wonderfull Yeare A iij b, Thin-headed fellows that liue vpon the scraps of inuention. 1864 Shaw Gen. Zool. V. 237 Thin-headed Carp, Cyprinus Leptocephalus. 1892 Labour Commission Gloss., Thin miners*, miners who get coal out of thin seams. 1883 Gresley Gloss. Coal-mining, Thin Seams*,..coal seams (say) less than 5 feet in thickness. 1889 Pall Mall G. 5 Sept. 12/1 The coal-mining industry in the thin-seam districts. 1823 Mrs. Grant Mem. & Corr. (1844) III. 31 Easily she threw off the thin-worn robe of mortality.

II. Of the adverb: with participles or adjectives, to which thin is now joined by a hyphen, or as a single word; forming adjs., usually of obvious meaning, unlimited in number, as, in sense 1, thin-clad, -cut, -frozen, -laid, -lined, -pervading, -veiled, -wrought; in sense 2, † thin-bred, -descending, -flowing, -grown, -officered, -peopled, -set, -shot, etc. See also Thin-sown, Thin-spun.

c 1400–50 Alexander 320 A herd as a beasn with thyn* bred haris. 1690 Locke Hum. Und. iv. xvii. § 4 'Tis not safe..to go abroad thin clad*. 1851 Carlyle J. Sterling i. ii. (1872) 11 A light thin*-flowing style of mirth. 1865 W. J. Lawson Eighthmen, Alfred, He..breaks a way through the thin*-frozen sludge. 1908 Westm. Gaz. 29 Sept. 4/2 Prices that have not stand in the way of the thinnest*-lined of purses. a 1687 Petty Pol. Arith. i. (1690) 11 In thin peopled places. 1694–9 G. Daniel Poems Wks. (Grosart) II. 130 Hes, poore swaine, in bare And thin*-Set Shades did Sing. 1812 Crabbe Tales x. 351 The burning sand, the fields of thin-set rye. 1642 H. More Song of Soul ii. iii. 1. xxiii, Their thin*-shot shadowings And lightned sides. 1538 Elyot Dict., Leuidensis, thynne* wrought, and of small substance.

Thin (þin), v.[1] [OE. þynnian, f. þynne, Thin a. Cf. OHG. dunnên, Ger. dünnen, MLG. dunnen, MDu. dunnen, dinnen, Du. dunnen, ON. þynna to thin.]

1. trans. To make thin; to reduce in thickness or depth; to spread or draw out in a thin layer or thread. To thin off, down: to diminish gradually to vanishing point.

c 900 Bede Glosses 80 in O. E. Texts 182 Oðtenuerat (i), Synnade. c 1000 Ælfric Saints' Lives xxxiii. 466 And ne oncneow hi na for-þam heo wæs swiðe geþynnod. 1482 Monk of Evesham (Arb.) 41 For the stature and forme of some of them was as hyt had be lessyd or thynnyde by tormentys. 1668 Torshell Serpents (1658) 616 To smooth and thin the skin. 1684 R. Waller Nat. Exper. 117 The battered Silver (which being so little Ductile did not at all thin, and distend it selfe). 1727 Philos Quarll (1816) 56 Having resolved, as he summer approached, to thin his Beard by degrees. 1793 Trans. Soc. Arts V. 204 The two ends are to be thinned off in form of a wedge. 1891 G. Meredith One of our Cong. III. iv. 66 She..had thinned her lips for utterance of a desperate thing.

b. fig. (In quot. 1382 a literalism of translation.)

1382 Wyclif Jer. xxx. 19, Y shal glorifie them, and thei shuln not be thynned [Vulg. non attenuabuntur]. 1670 Eachard Cont. Clergy 33 By this means he has usually so thinn'd his judgment. 1787 Jefferson Writ. (1859) II. 117 Real friends, whose affections are not thinned to cob-web. 1874 H. R. Reynolds John Bapt. viii. 497 To thin down the distinction between the mission, character, education, and position of John and those of Christ.

2. intr. To become thin or thinner; to decrease in thickness or depth. To thin out (off, away): to become gradually thinner until it disappears, as a layer or stratum. Also fig.

1804 Coleridge Lett., to D. Stuart (1895) 475 A rock which thins as it rises up. 1830 Lyell Princ. Geol. I. 341 When a number of beds thin out gradually, and at different points. 1833 Herschel Astron. viii. 256 The half-moon becomes a crescent, which thins off. 1851 Trans. R. Agric. Soc. XII. ii. 473 In which direction the boulder clay appears to thin off. 1874 Hardy Far fr. Madding Crowd xxii, Men thin away to insignificance and oblivion. 1899 J. Hutchinson in Arch. Surg. X. 155 Their usual course is to cause the nail over them to thin and break down.

b. spec. To lose flesh; to become spare or lean.

1870 Fall Mall G. 7 Sept. 11 During this troubled period he had thinned so as to seem a different man. 1893 Chamb. Jrnl. 19 Aug. 523/2 Her fresh comeliness left her; her face thinned down.

3. trans. To render less crowded or close by removing individuals; hence, to reduce in number.

a. With an assemblage of individuals as object.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 491/2 Thynnyn, or make thynne, as wodys, cornys, gresse. 1687 Dryden Hind & P. II. 243 As when the cause goes hard, the guilty party Excepts, and thins his jury all he can. 1699 S. Sewall Diary 28 Dec., Our Meeting was pretty much thin'd by it. 1832 Ht. Martineau Homes Abroad i. 12 Our population. 1855 Macaulay Hist. Eng. xxi. III. 681 The malady which had thinned the ranks of Schomberg's army at Dundalk.

b. With the individuals as object.

1697 Dryden Virg. Georg. ii. 554 T'unload the Branches, or the Leaves to thin, That suck the Vital Moisture of the Vine. 1786 Abercrombie Gard. Assist. 257 Hoe and thin turnepes. 1829 Worcest. Aug., Thin out superfluous shoots. 1856 Dickens Lett. (1880) I. 439 Your friend..has thinned the trees. 1890 Spectator 19 Apr., For reducing the new expenditure on drink, and for thinning-off the public-houses in the rural districts.

c. To render (a place) less closely or numerously occupied by the removal of occupants.

1743 Blair Grave 213 Who..in a cruel wantonness of power Thinn'd states of half their people. 1774 Goldsm. Nat. Hist. (1776) III. 400 It would soon thin the forest of every other living creature. 1898 Masefield Ron. Jungl. IV. xlv 507 The Forum and other public places were deliberately thinned of their overgrowths of sculpture. 1905 Daily Chron. 24 Aug. 4/7 A lead already thinned of hair.

4. intr. Of a place: To become less full or crowded; of a crowd: to become less numerous.

1779 Earl Carlisle in Jnl. & Corresp. (1842) IV. 180 The town begins to thin, though Parliament is still sitting. 1805 Han. More in Roberts Mem. (1835) III. 240 No resident minister;..the church of course thins. 1828 Examiner 199/1 The band..is steadily thinning. 1848 Dickens Dombey iv, "There's thieves that thinned', as Mr. Gills says, 'very much'. c 1860 Faber Hymn, 'After a Death' xvii, My world of friends thins round me fast. 1897 H. Drummond Ideal Life 101 The crowd thinned.

5. trans. To make less thick, dense, or viscid; to dilute. Also fig.

c 1000 Sax. Leechd. II. 194 Þæt ofstandene biccæ slipige horh þu scealt..wyrman & þynnian. a 1340 Hampole Psalter, Cant. 497 Myn eghyn ere thynyd, that is..purgid of vile lustis..and made suth. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 491/2 Thynnyn, or make thynne, lycuys, tenuo. 1609 Dimme Guevara, iii. 182 This water..cutteth and thinneth grosse matters. 1796 Mrs. Glasse Cookery xxi. 336 Mix half a pound of best flour, and this it with damask-rose-water. 1880 J. Caird Philos. Relig. ii. 60 By thinning down the idea of God to an abstraction which would embrace under a common head the rudest fetishism and the spiritual theism of Christianity. 1890 Abney Photogr. (ed. 6) 76 The..liquid is..thinned down to proper fluidity.

6. intr. To become less dense or consistent; to grow fluid, tenuous, or rare.

1834 M. Scott in Blackw. Mag. XXXV. 900 Gradually the figure, without changing its position, thinned, and anon ..the stars were seen through it. 1884 S. Cox Miracles 63 The haze of difficulty which enshrouds them thins.

† Thin, v.[2] Obs. rare. [f. OE. þynnan (þwnnan) and þynian = OS. thynnian, OHG. dynnen, denen (G. dehnen), ON. þenja, Goth. uf-þanjan = O Teut. þanjan-, factitive vb. from Indo-Eur. root ten- to stretch.] trans. To stretch out, extend.

The existence of this in ME. is doubtful; the OE. form would properly give ME. þenne or þene; þinne is perh. an error.

c 1000 Ags. Ps. (Th.) cxliii[i]. 6 Ic mine hande to þe holde þenede. c 1000 Sax. Leechd. III. 22 Þænne þone swiðran earm swa he swiþast mæge..a 1000 Psalter cvii. 10 [cviii. 9] In Wuone sal i þinne [Wyclif streechen] mi scho.

Thin, obs. f. Thine; var. Thyne, Obs., thence.

Thine (ðain), poss. pron. Forms: 1–4 ðin, þin, 4–5 þyn, þine, þyne, thin, thyn, 4–6 thyne, (2, 4 tin, 3 ten, 3–4 tine, 5 tyn), 4– thine. [OE. ðin, þin, used as genitive case of ðū, Thou, and as possess. adj. = OFris., OS thīn (MDu. dīn, MLG., LG. dīn), OHG. dīn (MHG. dīn, G. dein), ON. þin (þin-n, etc.) (Norw., Sw., Da. din), Goth. gen. þeina, poss. pron. þeins, etc.:—OTeut. þīno-*, deriv. of stem þe-: see Thee.]

For restriction of use see note to Thou pron. 1.

† 1. Genitive case of the pronoun Thou: = of thee, thee. Obs.

972 Blickl. Hom. 233 Hie woldon to earþan astigan, & þin þær onbidian. c 1300 Havelok 1128 Ye sholen ben weddeth, And, maugre þin, to-gidere bedde.th. Ibid. 1789. c 1300 Lancelot 115 Al magre thine a seruand schal yow bee.

II. The possessive adjective or pronoun of the second person sing.: Þīn, Þīne, Þīn, with strong inflexions, remains of which survived in Early ME., as sing. masc. acc. Þīne (Þīne), dat. Þīnum(t-an, -en, -e), gen. Þīnes; I. nom. Þīne, gen. and dat. Þīnre (Þīre, Þīne); pl. nom., acc. Þīne, dat. Þīnum (-on, -en, -e), gen. Þīnra (-re, Þīre). The final n of Þīn began to be dropped before a cons. a 1200, leaving Þī, later written Þy, Thy, q.v. At last thin, thine, was restricted to the position in which the possessive is not followed by a sb. Cf. Mine.

2. Attributively (= Ger. dein, F. ton). Now arch. or poet. before a vowel or h, or when following the sb.: otherwise superseded by Thy.

*c*825 Vesp. Psalter (ci). 29 Bearn þīowa þīnra ineardlāð ðer. Ibid. cxvii(ii). 125 Þīow ðīn ic eam. c 1000 Ags. Ps. (Th.) xlix. 21 [L. 20] Þis sæte onsæan þinne brōþor, and tēaðest þīne. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. vi. 10 Gewurþe þīn willia on eorþan. Ibid. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 13 Þenne beoð þīne dæges ilenged.. in eorðan. c 1200 Ormin 6727 þurrh þinne godē þæwess. c 1205 Lay. 3093 þīne sustren sculen hābben mi kineloond. a 1240 Wreitnun 149 in Coll. Hom. 159 Þūr þīne mild-heortnesse. a 1250 Owl & Night. 429 Al so þu dest on þīre side. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 3556 Go þu nu dun ðīn folc to sen. a 1300 Cursor M. 923 (Cott.) Al þe dais on þīn eild. Ibid. 12340 (Göttl.) Þo me to rest na seruand þīne. Ibid. 24675 (Edin.) For qui his moder was tin ant. 1382 Wyclif Matt. vi. 22 Þif þīn eige be symple, al þīl body shal be lijtful. 14.. Chaucer's Astrol. ii. § 2-3 (MS. L.) To knowe the degre of thyn sonne in thyn nōtū. a 1425 Prick of Conc. Hoch. v. 56 No doute is in thi watir ner thyn aier. 15.. Hunnis Psalms vi. 59 Yet, O Lord, in rigour thine Forbeare thy heauie stroke. 1615 Browell Malcam. Inep. ii. § 47, I am amazed at this thine answer. 1616 B. Jonson Forest, To Celia i. Drink to me only with thine eyes. 1784 Cowper Task v. 782 Thine eye shall be instructed, and thine heart, Made pure, shall relish [etc.]. 1864 Plumptre Hymn, Thine arm, O Lord, in days of old Was strong to heal and save.

3. Predicatively. (= Ger. der deinige, F. le tien.)

c 1000 Ags. Gosp. John xvii. 6 Hīg wæron þīne [Lind. ðīno ueron]. a 1240 Wohunge in Coll. Hom. 272 Al is tin mi sweting. a 1300 Floris & Bl. 4 Whil he is þīn ne dute nothing. 13.. Cursor M. 9601 If anī barn o hir war þīne. 13.. Hampole Medit. Passion Wks. 189 I sy Swete Thesu, I diseche þee to..make me al þīn. 1390 Gower Conf. I. 74 Fro this day forth I am al thin. c 1475 Rauf Coilgear 56 Sum part salbe thyne. 1534 Tindale Matt. vi. 13 For thyne is the kynggdome and the power, and the glorye. 1605 Shaks. Lear i. 1. 265 Let her be thine. 1667 Milton P. L. v. 154 Almightie, thine this universal Frame. 1707 Watts Hymn, 'Come let us join' iii, And blessings more than we can give Thee, Lord, for ever thine. 1869 Tennyson Grail 449 'Take thou my robe', she said, 'for all is thine'.

4. Elliptically, equivalent to Thy with a sb. to be supplied from the previous context.

c 1430 Freemasonry 328 Ny by thy felows concuhyne [lie], No more thou woldest he dede by thyne. c 1440 Alphabet of Tales 325, I thank þe at þou hase gifein me my son agayn, & behold, lo, I bryng þe thyne agayn. 1601 Lily Love's Met. i. ii, Of what colours or flowers is thine made of, Niobe? 1749 Chesterf. Lett. (1792) II. 220 S. Tastes are different, you know....E. That's true; but thine's a devilish odd one.

5. absol. a. That which is thine; thy property. (= Ger. Deines, das deinige, F. le tien.)

a 1000 Cædmon's Gen. 2144 Gr.) Nis..sceat ne scilling, þæs ic..þines ahredde. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 79 Þīf þu mare spenest of þine, þonne þu sæn oðerre þīl ic þe selde. 13.. Cursor M. 2428 (Cott.) O þine wil i not leade. Ibid. (Göttl.) Of þin wil i neuer a dele. 1555 Eden Decades 17 b, That amongs them [Cubans], the lande is as common as the sonne water: And that Mine and Thyne (the seedes of all mischeefe) haue no place with them.

b. (pl.) Those who are thine; thy people, family, or kindred. (= Ger. die deinigen, F. les tiens.)

c 1000 Ags. Gosp. John xvii. 10 Ealle mine synt þīne & þīne synt mine. c 1000 Sax. Leechd. I. 328 þonne þu & þīne beoð alysde. a 1300 Cursor M. 2386 (Cott.) Abram þis es þī land þar þou and tine [v.r. þine] sal be weldand. c 1440 Jacob's Well 201 To restoryn as myche as was don harme þe or be hine. 1593 Shaks. Lucr. 1630 Lasting shame On thee and thine this night I will inflict. 1776 Toplady in Sacr. Poetry (1868) 109 Thou Feeder and Guardian of Thine.

c. Of thine: that is (or are) thine; belonging to thee: see Of prep. 44.

1390 Gower Conf. I. 47 Ma dame, I am a man of thine, That in thi Court have longe served. 1596 Pilgr. Perf. (W. de W. 1531) 300 b, Spyttynge in that blessed face of thyne. 1605 Shaks. Mach. v. iii. 16 Those Linnen cheekes of thine Are Counsellers to feare. 1877 Tennyson Harold ii. iii, Thou hast misread this merry dream of thine.

Thine, pinę, var. Thyne adv. Dilence.

Thing (þiŋ), sb.[1] Forms: 1–3 þing, 1–5 þing, 3–4 þyng, 4–5 þinge, þynge, (thynge), 4–6 thyng, 5–6 thinge, thynge; 4– thing. (β. 1 þinge, þing, 3 þinc, 3–4 þynk, 4–6 think, 5–6 thynk(e.) Pl. 1–3 þing, þing, 3–5 þinges (3 þingues), 5–7 thinges, 5– things. [OE. þing (see below), Com. Teut.: cf. OFris. thing, ting assembly, council, suit, matter, thing (WFris., NFris. ting assembly); OS. thing assembly for judicial or deliberative purposes, conference, transaction, matter, affair, thing, object (MDu. dinc court-day, suit, plea, concern, affair, thing, Du. ding thing; MLG. ding, dink, LG. ding affair, thing, object); OHG. ding, dinc public assembly for judgement and transaction of business, law-court, lawsuit, plea, cause, matter, affair, thing, mod.G. ding affair, matter, thing; ON. þing public assembly, meeting, parliament, council; also in pl. objects, articles, valuable things, Norw. ting neut. public assembly, creature, being; masc. affair, thing, object, Sw. ting assize, thing; Da. ting court, court of justice, thing. Gothic had the cognate þeiha n. :–$^{}$þiŋχ-s* fixed time, time appointed for something, whence it is thought by some that the original sense of N. and WGer. þing was 'day of assembly'. With the sense-history, as shown in OE. and more fully in the cognate langs., cf. that of Ger. sache, Du. zaak affair, thing, orig. strife, dispute, lawsuit, cause, charge, crime, and F. chose, It., Sp. cosa thing, from L. causa judicial process, lawsuit, cause; also L. rēs affair, thing, also a case in law, lawsuit, cause.]

I. †1. (Only in OE.) A meeting, assembly, esp. a deliberative or judicial assembly, a court, a council. Phr. þing geþēgan, to hold a meeting.

685–6 Laws of Hlothær & Eadric c. 8 ȝif man oþerne sace þīne and he þane mannan mote ār medle o þāre þīnge. Beowulf 446 [Ic] nu wīt Grendel scūal ānu gehēgan ðīng wiþ þyrse. a 800 Cynewulf Christ 296 þonne he frean ȝesīhð ealra ȝesceafta andweardne faran mid mæȝen-wundrum mongum to þinge. a 1000 Andreas 157 Swa hie symble ymb þrīðig þīng ȝeþēodon nihtȝerimes. a 1000 Genesis Vercel. 28 þīng scēal ȝeþēagan frēd wīð frodne, þēd hyra ferð ȝēlic.

† 2. A matter brought before a court of law; a legal process; a charge brought, a suit or cause pleaded before a court. Obs. or passing into 3.

a 1000 Ags. Psalms (Th.) xxxiv. 22 [xxxv. 23] Drihten, min God, arīs to minum þinge. Ibid. cviii. 30 [cix. 31] Þær he heardnu þinga tēoloðde. c 1122 O.E. Chron. an. 1002 (Laud MS.) [He] hine þær æfces þinges ȝeclensode þe him mann on sæde. [1534 Cromwell in Merriman Life & Lett. (1902) I. 387 Ye..shall prepayre hither to answer unto suche thinges as then shalle leyed and obiected to you. c 1548 Hall Chron., Hen. VI 151 The duke..sufficiently answered to all thynges to hym obiected.]

† b. Hence, Cause, reason, account; sake. Obs.

c 1000 Ælfric Saints' Lives xxxiii. 199 þonne mīnē þe me treadinga þinon for mines þryd-guman þinga. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Luke viii. 47 For hwylcum þinge heo hit ætfōng. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 67 Luue him for godes þinge. a 1250 Owl & Night. 434 Ech wīhī is glad for mine þinge. 13.. Gow & Warn. (Ad.) 2 st. 86 Wiltow fīȝt for mi þing?. c 1386 Chaucer Prol. 276 He wolde the see were kept for any thyng Bitwixe Middelburgh and Orewelle. c 1425 Eng. Conq. Ireld. 8 R. bert was a trew man, & for no tynge wold do thynge wher of he myght be per-after I-wyted of wntrowth. 1582 [see Nothing A. 9 a].

3. That with which one is concerned (in action, speech, or thought); an affair, business, concern, matter, subject; pl. affairs, concerns, matters. (In early use sometimes sing. in collective sense.)

c 897 K. Ælfred Gregory's Past. C. xviii. 128 Sīo ȝeorfulnes eorðlīca þinga ablisca þæt ondȝit. 971 Blickl. Hom. 13 Þū on ȝesundum þingum sunne, ac..on wīdernæmum þingum. c 975 Rushw. Gosp. Matt. xviii. 19 ; if twegen eower þæfaðlæp on eorþan be ȝengum þinge. c 1200 Ormin 3600 All þīs middellæresc þing Aȝȝ turnedþ her & wharrfedþ Nu upp, nū down. Ibid. 8954 Alle þīrrþ þeon þīnghefull Abutenn þīnne þingess. 1375 Barbour Bruce xx. 142 Quhill [=till] thai had wit to steir thar thing. c 1400 Laud Troy Bk. 2724 That thei with Paris to Grece schulde wende, To bryng this thyng to an ende. 1550 Acts Privy Counc. (1890) III. 18 The Lord Admirall desired licence to go into Lincolnshire for a moneth to see his thinges that he had not seen of a long tyme. 1598 Shaks. Merry W. iv. v. 126 You shall heare how things goe. 1622 Mabbe tr. Aleman's Guzmann d'Alf. i. 1 These thinges (I meane your Law-suites) will require a great deale of care. 1743 Bulkeley & Cummins Voy. S. Seas 190 He acquainted us, that the Brigadier had order'd Things in another Manner. 1844 Dickens Mart. Chuzz. xiii How have things gone on our absence? 1867 Freeman Norm. Conq. I. iv. 252 note, Things changed greatly in the course of a year.

4. That which is done or to be done; a doing, act, deed, transaction; an event, occurrence, incident; a fact, circumstance, experience. (The first thing (adv.): as that which is first done or to be done; in the first place, firstly: see First A. 1 f. So (the) next thing, in the next place, next; (the) last thing, in the last place, lastly.

c 1000 Ælfric Exod. ix. 5 Þōmorȝenes deȝ Drihten þas þing on eorþan. c 1000 Sax. Leechd. I. 112 Drince þonne fastende nigon dagas, binnan þam fæce þu ongyst on ðam wundorlic þinge. c 1205 Lay. 265 Vnder-tetene weren þe þinges þat þeo wimon was mid childe. Ibid. 16042 Seide me of þan þinge þe me to cumen sonden. 1382 Wyclif 1 Cor. xvi. 14 Be alle youre thingis don in charite. 1449 in Calr. Proc. Chanc. Q. Eliz. (1830) II. Pref. 55 In witnes of which thyng the forseid parties to these endentures chaungeable haue sette her seales. 1535 Lo. Berners Froiss. (1812) II. cciv, The fyrst thynge he dyd he wente to the Churche of sayynt Peter. 1651 Hobbes Leviath. iii. xl. 252 When two of them Prophecyed in the Camp, it was thought a new and unlawfull thing. 1712 Steele Spect. No. 284 ¶ 4, I have writing, of all Things in the World. 1809 Malkin Gil Blas i. xvii. ¶ 9 Have not I done the thing genteelly? 1841 Helps Ess., Pract. Wisd. (1842) 4 Men who have done great things in the world. 1872 Kingsley's Ex. Boy's Ann. June 370 He often goes round the last thing..to make sure that all is right. 1875 Jowett Plato (ed. 2) V. 512 Theft is a mean, and robbery a shameless thing. 1902 Munsey's Mag. XXVII. 605/1 The great thing was to get there. Ibid. A pretty thing to have your own children rounding on you!

5. That which is said; a saying, utterance, expression, statement; with various connotations, e. g.: a charge or accusation made against a person (see 2); † a form of prayer (pl. prayers, devotions); a story, tale; a part or section of an argument or discourse; a witty saying, a jest (usu. good thing).

13.. Cursor M. 17288 + 32396 (Cott.) In alle thinker þat þe prophetz han spoken. c 1386 Chaucer Yeom. Prol. 39 Last hym telle vs of no ribaudye Telle vs som moral thyng. — Shipm. T. 91 Dann Iohn .. hath hise thynges [prayers, offices] seyd ful curteisly. 1551 T. Wilson Logike (1580) 40 This manne is no Rhetoricien, because he can not place his thynges in good order. 1686 tr. Chardin's Trav. Persia 122 The first thing she said to me. 1738 Swift Pol. Conversat. i. 34, I never heard a better Thing. 1766 Goldsm. Vic. W. xvi, All the good things of this life are thine. 1771 Misc. Ess. in Ann. Reg. 184/2 This Greek spoke many handsome things of Marseilles, and of our colonies. 1859 Sala Tw. round Clock (1861) 132 The people who went about saying things. 1909 Nation 3 Apr. 1/2 The right thing will say itself—and will say itself with awful precision.

b. That which is thought; an opinion; a notion; an idea.

1765 A. Dickson Treat. Agric. (ed. 2) 76 With equal reason we may infer the same thing of earth. 1842 Tennyson Dora 56 Many sat..and thought Hard things of Dora. 1885 Anstey Tinted Venus i. 8 Putting things in the poor girl's head.

† 6. Formerly used absol. (without article or qualifying word), also a thing, in indefinite sense: = anything, something. (With various meanings: see prec. senses.) Obs.

a 1300 Cursor M. 14952 Þai wil me neuer luue, i-wiss, For thing i mai þam tell. 1382 Wyclif 1 Sam. xiv. 12 Stieth vp to vs, and we shulen shewe you a thing. 1413 Pilgr. Sowle (Caxton 1483) iv. xxv. 70 Neuer ne dyde the body thyng whiouchen thyn assent. c 1500 Melusine 24, I pray you to telle it to me, yf it is thinge that I may knowe. 1515 Lo. Berners Froiss. II. lxxxvii [lxxxii], 255 They neuer dyd thynge that they wolde haue ben gladdes. 1588 Shaks. L. L. L. v. i. 152 Shall I tell you a thing? 1678 Bunyan Pilgr. I. 142 Ho, turn aside hither, and I will shew you a thing.

II. An entity of any kind.

7. That which exists individually (in the most general sense, in fact or in idea); that which is or may be in any way an object of perception, knowledge, or thought; a being, an entity. (Including persons, when personality is not considered, as in quots. c 888, 1380, 1539, 1597, 1732.) a. In unemphatic use: mostly with adj. or other defining word or phrase (the tone together corresponding to the absol. use of a neuter adj. in Latin or Greek).

Cf. also anything, nothing, something, in 17.

c 888 K. Ælfred Boeth. xxxiii. § 1 Þonne þa fif þing..eall ȝegaderede bīoð, þonne bīð hit eall an þing, & þæt an þing bīð God. 1024–7 Charter of Æthelred in Kemble Cod. Dipl. IV. 115 On ealweldendes drihtnes naman ðe ealle þing ȝewrohte. c 1200 Ormin 1839 Niss nani þing batt mushe ben Wiþþ Godd off efenn mahhte. c 1250 O. Kentish Serm. in O.E. Misc. 28 Wer-bī we noue hare-bī leiche þinges þet he hatedh, .. and huie þo liek þinkes þat he luued. c 1300 Cursor M. 695 Ilkin thing, on serekin wise ȝeld til Adam þar seuiuse. 1380 Lay Folks Catech. 530 Per ys but a God in trinite. This god is most mystȝ þyng þat may be. 1388 Wyclif Ps. cxlviii. 5 For he seide, & þingis weren maad; he comaundide, & þingis weren maad of nouȝt. 1539 Tonstall Serm. Palme Sunde. (1823) 8 He said in the tenth chapter of John, I and my father are one thynge, that is to say, one substance. 1549 Latimer 5th Serm. Edw. VI (Arb.) 147 All thynges are solde for mony at rome. 1594 Greene Selimus i. A iij b, He knowes not what it is to be a King, That thinks a scepter is a pleasant thing. 1597 Shaks. 1 Hen. IV, v. v. 60 Presume not, that I am the thing I was. 1667 Milton P. L. ii. 922 To compare Great things with small. 1732 Berkeley Alciphr. i. § 12 A man of parts is one thing, and a pedant another. 1788 J. Milner in Life & Letters iv. (1842) 44 Regencies are generally turbulent things. 1828 Keats Endym. i. 1 A thing of beauty is a joy for ever. 1843 Mill Logic v. iii. § 5 What is an action? Not one thing but a series of two things: the state of mind called a volition, followed by an effect. 1879 Geo. Eliot Theo. Such xiii. 266 The latest thing in tattooing.

b. Applied to an attribute, quality, or property of an actual being or entity; hence sometimes (in such phrases as in all things) = point, respect.

971 Blickl. Hom. 13 Þa wæs heo on eallum þingum þe eahmoddre. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 15 Þre þing þen hat elchman habben mot: hat on is illes bleun, þat oðer is fulohtinge, þe þridde þe faire lifode. a 1300 Cursor M. 295 In þe sune þat schines clere Es a thing and thre thinges sere; A bodi rond, and here and light. 1340 Ayenb. 194 þe oþer þing þet behouep þe elmesse is þet me hit do zone and hastelīche. c 1500 Barclay tr. Sallust (ed. 2) 47 Their enmities myght lytell thynge preuayle agaynst them. 1558 Knox First Blast (Arb.) 26 Augustine defineth ordre to be that thing, by the whiche God hath appointed and ordeined all thinges. 1644 Juvenilia Diary 20 Nov., The whitenesse and smoothnesse of the pargeting was a thing I much observ'd. 1705 Berkeley Commonplace Bk. Wks. 1871 IV. 420, I side in all things with the mob. 1838–9 Fr. A. Kemble Resid. in Georgia (1863) 132 Ignorance is an odious thing.

c. Used indefinitely to denote something which the speaker is not able or does not choose to particularize, or which is incapable of being precisely described; a something, a somewhat.

1602 Shaks. Ham. i. i. 21 What, ha's this thing appear'd againe to night? 1804 Wordsw. To Cuckoo iv, No Bird, but an invisible thing, A voice, a mystery. 1822 Byron Heaven & Earth i. iii, Thou..awful Thing of Shadows, speak to me! 1842 Tennyson Walking to the Mail 36 'Yes, we're fitting,' says the ghost (For they had pack'd the thing among the beds). 1893 Stevenson Catriona xv, Wi' the bang and the skirl the thing fleed clean disappeared.

d. In emphatic use: That which has separate or individual existence (e. g. as distinct on the one hand from the totality of being, on the other from attributes or qualities). See also 8.

1817 COLERIDGE Biog. Lit. xii. 167 An infinite independent thing, is no less a contradiction, than an infinite circle or a sideless triangle. 1820 BYRON Marr. Doul. v. 1 288 True words are things, And dying men's are things which long outlive, And often times avenge them. 1862 H. SPENCER First Princ. i. iii. § 15 (1875) 47 While, on the hypothesis of their objectivity, Space and Time must be classed as things, we find, on experiment, that to represent them in thought as things is impossible. 1884 tr. Lotze's Logic 58 The doctrine of Kant, who represented the relation of a thing to its property, or of substance to its accident, as the model upon which the mind connects S and P in the categorical judgment. 1910 CHRISTIE in Contemp. Rev. Feb. 194 'Things'..are, as LOTZE tried to show, but the activities of the One everlasting Spirit.

8. spec. a. That which is signified, as distinguished from a word, symbol, or idea by which it is represented; the actual being or entity as opposed to a symbol of it. † In thing, in reality, really, actually (opposed to in name = nominally).

*c*1450 Bk. Curtesye 343 (Oriel MS.) His [Chaucer's] longage was so feyre and pertinent, That semed vnto menys heryng, Not only the worde, but verrely the thing. 1482 Rolls of Parl. VI. 208/2 That the Deane..and Chanons..be oon body corporat in thyng and name. *a*1533 FRITH Antim. Mor. (1548) G iij, But the thinge is selfe, whose sacrament thys is, is receyued. 1534 MORE Trent. Passion Wks. 1332/2 The thyng of a sacrament is properly called that holye thinge that the sacrament betokeneth. 1689 BUTLER Hud. i. 1. 804 Bear-baiting is an Antichristian Game Unlawful both in thing and name. 1705 BERKELEY Commonplace Bk. Wks. 1871 IV. 440 The supposition that things are distinct from ideas takes away all real truth. 1725 WATTS Logic i. iv. § 2 The World is fruitful in the Invention of Utensils of Life, and new Characters and Offices of Men, yet Names entirely new are seldom invented; therefore old Names are almost necessarily us'd to signify new Things. 1837 ROBINSON Aristot. Greater x. (ed. 2) 51 Still, the philosophy of Aristotle is rather the philosophy of words than of things. 1850 TENNYSON In Mem. lxxv. 6 What practice howsoe'er expert In fitting aptest words to things. Hath power to give thee as thou wert? 1896 JEVONS Logic Prim. vi. 22 The meaning of a word is that thing which we think about when we use the word.

b. esp. A being without life or consciousness; an inanimate object, as distinguished from a person or living creature. (See also 11. 12.)

1689-99 TEMPLE Est. Learn. Wks. 1731 I. 302 Things.. such as have been either of general Use or Pleasure to Mankind. 1799 LAW Serious C. iv. (1732) 47 Things..are all to be used according to the Will of God. 1765 [see 12 b]. 1840 DICKENS Barn. Rudge iii, Consideration of persons, thing-s, times and places. 1850 LYNCH Theo. Prin. viii. 149 'He thinl getteth a wife getteth a good thing'; that is at least, if his wife be more than a thing. 1853 MAURICE Proph. & Kings xvi. 279 The human being was sacrificed; the person was given up for the thing.

9. Applied (usually with qualifying word) to a living being or creature; occasionally to a plant.

*a*1200 Sax. Leechd. II. 128 Þor þon þonne salle þeterno þing fleogaþ. *c*1000 ÆLFRIC Gen. vii. 22 Ælc þing, þe lif hæfde. *c*1275 LAY. 25656 He saide þat þar was icome A luper þing to londe..A wel lopliche feond. *a*1300 Cursor M. 385 Alkin things ground sens..in hegh self þare stedd bere. *c*1440 Pallad. on Husb. i. 935 For eddris, spritis, monstris, thyng of drede. 1580 FRAMPTON Monardes' Med. agst. Venome 138 Least any venomous thing fall therein, as spyders. 1667 MILTON P. L. ix. 1 When all things that breath..send up silent praise To the Creator. 1819 SHELLEY Prometh. Unb. i. 305, I wish no living thing to suffer pain. 1888 GLENNY Gard. Every-day Bk. 120/1 Nemophila, Convopsis, and other free-growing things.

10. Applied to a person, now only in contempt, reproach, pity, or affection (esp. to a woman or child); formerly also in commendation or honour. Cf. CREATURE 3 b, c. a. with qualifying word.

*c*1290 St. Lucy 150 in S. Eng. Leg. I. 105 Swan he ne mijte þis clene þing [St. Lucy] ouer-come mid al is lore. *a*1300 Cursor M. 2077 Fle me fra, þou wared thing. Ibid. 7285 Samuel..was a seleuth dughti thing, Þe first þat emerild man to king. *c*1330 Arth. & Merl. 6482 Þe kinges steward ..wedded þat swete þing. *c*1450 Guy Warw. (C.) 26 A may syngc, The Erlys doghtur, a swete thynge. 1533 J. HEYWOOD Play Weather (1903) 1007 A goodly dame, an yddyll thynge iwys. 1542 UDALL Erasm. Apoph. 220 b, Augustus beeynge yet a young thyng vnder mannes state. *a*1568 ASCHAM Scholem. 1. (Arb.) 53 If he be bashefull, and will soone blushe, they call him a babishe and ill brought vp thyng. 1607 SHAKS. Cor. iv. v. 122 But that I see these here Thou noble thing, more dances my rapt heart [etc.]. 1689 MRS. BEHN Novels (1871) I. 70 The worst-natur'd, incorrigible, thing in the world. 1711 STEELE Spect. No. 4 P 5 At a Play.. looking..at a young thing in a Box before us. 1738 JOHNSON Idler No. 13 P 3 My wife often tells me that boys are dirty things. 1838 DICKENS Nick. Nickl. xxvii, Why don't you go and ask them to walk up, you stupid thing? 1898 FLOR. MONTGOMERY Tony 12 The very smallest and youngest thing that had ever worn an Eton jacket. Mod. Poor thing! I pity her.

b. without qualification, in contempt or reproach, implying unworthiness to be called a person: cf. 8 b.

1610 SHAKS. Temp. III. iii. 63 Revenge it on him, (for I know Thou dar'st) But this Thing dare not. 1611 — Wint. T. II. i. 82 O Thou Thing. 1633 BP. HALL Occas. Medit. (1851) 143 What can we make of this thing? man, I cannot call him. 1756 LADY M. W. MONTAGU Let. to C'tess of Bute 8 Nov., By what accident they have hitherto escaped this of that thing Dodsley I know not. 1860 MOTLEY Netherl. ii. I. 37 To accept the sovereignty of a thing like Henry of Valois.

11. A material object, a body; a being or entity consisting of matter, or occupying space. (Often, a vague designation for an object which it is difficult to denominate more exactly.)

971 Blickl. Hom. 91 Heofon & eorþe, & sæ, & ealle þa þing þe on þem syndon. *c*1200 ORMIN 18825 Patt arrke patt his wrohht off tre..iss whilwendlike þing. *a*1300 Signa ante Iudicium 102 in E. E. Poems (1862) 2 Þe iren sall blede..Þe þing þat bodi no flesse nab non. *a*1300 Cursor M. 9383 Al-king thing was þan..Wel pitiher þan þui ar now. *c*1400 Laufranc's Cyrurg. 141 Woundis..mand wiþ a sword or wiþ sum dinge elliß þat woundiß. 1547 HOOPER Declar. Christe viii. H vij, Mens yeyes be obedient unto the creatour that they may se on think and yet not a nother. 1570 BILLINGSLEY Euclid i. post. 1. 7 Things equall to one and the same thyng are equall also the one to the other. *c*1595 CAPT. WYATT R. Dudley's Voy. W. Ind. (Hakl. Soc.) 16 Leavinge behinde us certaine letters inclosed in a thinge of wood provided of purpose. 1709 BERKELEY Est. Vision § 135 Things perceivable by touch. 1719 DE FOE Crusoe (1840) I. xvi. 273 A three-cornered..thing, like..a shoulder-of-mutton sail. 1842 TENNYSON Vis. Sin. iv. vii, Callest thou that thing a leg? 1875 JOWETT Plato (ed. 2) III. 509 Stones and earth and things of earth and rude.

b. A material substance (usually of a specified kind); stuff, material; in mod. use chiefly applied to substances used as food, drink, or medicine.

*c*1000 Sax. Leechd. II. 210 Eal þa wæstan þing..& eall swete þing..ge þa scearpan afran þing sint to flesonne. 13.. E. E. Allit. P. B. 819 Loth þennne..his men amonesiges mete for to dyȝe, Bot wel lo hit be þerfte what þynk so se make, For wyth no sour ne no salt seruez hym neuer. *c*1400 Destr. Troy 2856 þai wold stuf hom full stiffly..with mete, & mony othir thinges. *a*1500 in Arnolde Chron. (1811) 91 Yf any persone caste or put ony vnkynde thynge..or ony other noyse thynge in Thamys at Walbrok. 1589 J. CHILTON in Hakluyt Voy. 590 Annele..is a kinde of thing to dye blew withall. 1631 R. BYFIELD Doctr. Sabb. 204 We drinke some warme thing. 1694 SALMON Bate's Dispens. (1713) 38 It is a most excellent Thing in Fevers. 1737 WHISTON Josephus, Antiq. xi. viii. § 7 Accused by those at Jerusalem of having eaten things common. Mod. Sour things are bad for the stomach.

c. euphem. Privy member, private parts.

*c*1386 CHAUCER Wife's Prol. 121. *c*1440 Voc. in Wr.-Wülcker 632/12. 1508 DUNBAR Tua Maryit Women 389. 1610 B. JONSON Alch. v. i. 1700 FARQUHAR Constant Couple iv. iii. 1762 BRIDGES Burlesque Homer (1772) 62.

12. † a. A collective term for that which one possesses; property, wealth, substance. Obs.

*c*1000 ÆLFRIC Hom. II. 506 Him eallum weorcon heora ðing gemene. *a*1200 Moral Ode 263 þer inne boð..Þe þet is others monnes þing loure. *c*1200 ORMIN 4520 þatt tu nan oþerr manness þing Ne þorrnie nohht to winnenn. *c*1250 Gen. & Ex. 3376 He ne mihte nan ðing, Ne ðat he ne hadde ðing al wel. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 10136 Persones þing he solde men þat mest wolde beruore sine. 13.. Minor Poems fr. Vernon MS. xxxvii. 719 For he wolde haue offryng And hit bi-for menies þing. 1432-50 tr. Higden (Rolls) I. 35 Composicion of a commoun mynage, the disposicion of a thynge familier. 1513 DOUGLAS Æneis vi. xiv. 93 That eat full mychty bot of lytle thing.

b. A piece of property, an individual possession; usually in pl., possessions, belongings, goods; esp. (colloq.) those which one has or carries with one at the time, e. g. on a journey; impedimenta.

Things real, things personal (in Law) = real property, personal property: see REAL a. 6, PERSONAL a. 6 b.

*c*1250 S. Eng. Leg. I. 14/459 Mid þat gold and þe riche þingues þat he fond al-so þere þe churchene..þare-with he liet a-rere. *c*1460 Towneley Myst. vi. 83 Where ar oure thyngis, ar they not lostin? 1481 CAXTON Godeffroy xiv. 85 They had born theder alle theyr thynges. 1560 DAUS tr. Sleidane's Comm. 119 b, The parson and vicar wyll haue for a mortuary..the best thynge that is about the house. 1585 T. WASHINGTON tr. Nicholay's Fox. I. v, [They] lost the most part of theyr apparrel, & things. 1603 KNOLLES Hist. Turks (1621) 599 Husie in packing vp his things against his departure. 1662 J. DAVIES Mandelslo's Trav. 17 We.. went to the Customs House to have our things search'd by the Officers there. 1759 JOHNSON Let. to Miss Porter 23 Mar., in Boswell, I have this day moved my things, and you are now to direct to me at Staple-inn. 1766 BLACKSTONE Comm. II. ii. 16 The objects of dominion or property are things, as contradistinguished from persons: and things are by the law of England distributed into two kinds; things real, and things personal. 1865 TROLLOPE Belton Est. xxvi, She packed up all her things.

c. spec. (pl.) Articles of apparel; clothes, garments; esp. such as women put on to go out in, in addition to the indoor dress. colloq.

1634 W. WOOD New Eng. Prosp. (1865) 56 A long coarse coate, to keepe better things from the pitched ropes and plankes. 1713 STEELE Guardian No. 10 P 5, I know every part of their dress, and can name all their things by their names. 1748 RICHARDSON Clarissa (1811) V. xxiv. 257 But having her things on, (as the women call every thing)..she thought it best to go. 1774 FOOTE Cheaters i. Wks. 1799 II. 157, I have had but just time to buckle on my things. 1833 T. HOOK Parson's Daus. (1847) 2 9 Take off your things—and we will order..tea. 1885 ANSTEY Tinted Venus vi. 66, 'I haven't bought my winter things yet', said Matilda. 1902 R. BAGOT Donna Diana viii. 100 Diana left the room to put on her things for driving.

d. pl. Implements or equipment for some special use; utensils. Chiefly colloq.

1698 VANBRUGH Prov. Wife iii. i, Here, take away the things; I expect company. 1738 Ochterlyre House Bks. (1909) 154 For mending the Kitchen things. 1844 Mem. Bulphinsin Princess I. 304 With the breakfast things the waiter brought the morning paper. 1891 C. JAMES Rom. Rignarole 156, I hadn't any proper hunting things. 1898 G. B. SHAW Plays 11. Man of Destiny 160 Clearing the table and removing the things to a tray on the sideboard.

13. An individual work of literature or art, a composition; a writing; piece of music, etc.

*c*1386 CHAUCER Prol. 325 Ther-to he [the Sergeant of the Law] koude endite and make a thyng. — Sqr's T. 70 Herknynge hise Mynstrals hir thynges pleye. 1582 PETTIE Guazzo's Civ. Conv. i. (1586) 17 b, Y' they haue imploied all their time in reading some good thing or other. 1589 PUTTENHAM Eng. Poesie iii. xxii. (Arb.) 265 One of our late makers who in the most of his things wrote very well. 1591 SHAKS. Two Gent. iv. ii. 71 You would haue them alwaies play but one thing. 1732 SWIFT Let. to Pope 12 June, I have a thing in prose, begun above twenty-eight years ago, and almost finished. 1832 Examiner 213/2 A dozen things of Handel's;..some things of Avison's, one of the poorest of musicians. 1902 BESANT Prs. Tryst 26 You'll pass your exams with distinction; you'll get appointments; you'll write things.

III. Phrases, special collocations, and combinations.

14. a. ... and things (colloq., unstressed): and other things of the same kind; and the like, et cetera. b. For one thing: as one point to be noted; in the first place. So for another thing. c. To make a good thing of: to turn to profit, make gain out of. d. No great things (used predicatively, usually of a person or thing): nothing great, nothing much, of ordinary quality or character. colloq. or dial. (Cf. no great shakes.) e. Thing in itself (rendering Ger. ding an sich (Kant)), Metaph.: a thing regarded apart from its attributes; a noumenon. f. To know a thing or two: see KNOW v. 15; so to learn, to show (a person) a thing or two.

a. 1596 SHAKS. Tam. Shr. iv. iii. 56 With Ruffles and Cuffes, and Fardingales, and things. 1841 S. C. HALL Ireland I. 30 Grace would mend her father's nets and things. 1894 To-day 13 Jan. 14 The Japanese supper with the Japanese room and mats and things. 1896 Spectator 139 For one thing, he [Garrick] knew that in delivering the text of an author, if he endeavoured to give his meaning a new colouring,..it would be considered as pedantic. 18.. KEBLE [see For prep. 19d]. 1898 BLOMFIELD Dickens I. v. 173 For one thing, physical science had in the interval taken immense strides. Mod. I didn't care much for his speech; for one thing, his delivery was very bad; for another thing, the subject was not particularly interesting. c. 1819 SHELLEY P. Bell the Third vi. xxxv, I have found the way To make a better thing of metre Than e'er was made. 1873 GREENWOOD in St. Paul's Mag. XII. 657 These dealers in ragged merchandise make a good thing of it. d. 1826 ('QUIZ' Grand Master vii. 184 Now I shall give,—'the Governor,'—He's no great things, between us, Sir. 1842 THACKERAY Mike Tickletoby's Lect. vi, His scholarship..I take it, was no great things. 1890 'R. BOLDREWOOD' Col. Reformer (1891) 352 That old place at Bowning..I don't believe it was any great things. e. [1659 H. MORE Immort. Soul. ii. § 2. 6 What ever things are in themselves, they are nothing to us, but so far forth as they become known to our..Cognitive powers.] 1867 [see NOUMENON]. 1871 FRASER Life Berkeley ii. 41 He recognises substance, or, as we might say, the thing-in-itself. *a*1881 A. BARRATT Phys. Metaphysics (1882) 99 We have had to conclude that the doctrine of Realism of Things-in-themselves cannot be proved. 1891 E. B. EAX Outlooks fr. New Stand. iii. 182 This is the truth at the bottom of the 'thing-in-itself', so much decried by the orthodox Hegelians. f. 1792, 1817 [see KNOW v. 15]. 1896 READE Never too late iii, Jackey showed Robinson a thing or two. 1889 THACKERAY Virgin. xviii, I think I have shown him that we in Virginia know a thing or two. 1897 MAW KINGSLEY W. Africa 673 Does any one..feel inclined to tell me that those old palm-oil chiefs have not learnt a thing or two during their lives?

15. The thing (colloq., emphatic). a. (predicatively) The correct thing; what is proper, befitting, or fashionable; also of a person, in good condition or 'form', 'up to the mark', fit (physically or otherwise).

1752 GOLDSM. Cit. W. lxxvii, [The silk] is at once rich, tasty, and quite the thing. 1775 MRS. D'ARBLAY Early Diary 2 Apr., Mr. Bruce was quite the thing; he addressed himself with great gallantry to us all alternately. 1781 JOHNSON 12 Apr., in Boswell, Why, Sir, a Bishop's calling company together in this week [Passion Week] is, to use the vulgar phrase, not the thing. 1802 MRS. J. WEST Infidel Father II. 123 This behaviour was certainly the very thing. 1842 THACKERAY Gl. Hoggarty Diamond ii, He really looked quite the genteel thing. 1864 MEREDITH Sandra Belloni xix, Wilfrid took his arm and put it gently down on the chair, saying: 'You're not quite the thing to-day, sir.' 1897 Boston (Mass.) Jrnl. 12 Jan. 5/1 They are used in the long gold chains which are so pre-eminently the thing. 1901 L. MALET' Sir R. Calmady v. vii, I am not quite the thing this morning.

b. The special, important, or notable point; esp. what is specially required.

1850 THACKERAY Pendennis lxxv, But he has got the rowdy, which is the thing. 1873 M. ARNOLD Lit. & Dogma Pref. 11 The question [of a state church]..is..so absolutely unimportant! The thing is, to recast religion. 1892 SYMONDS Michel Angelo (1899) I. vi. x. 290 The thing about Michel Angelo is this; he is not..at the head of a class, he stands apart by himself.

16. † a. All thing (obs.): everything, all things; also advb. altogether, wholly: see ALL A. 3, C. 2 b. b. That (this, what, etc.) kind (or sort) of thing: see KIND sb. 14. SORT sb. c. A thing of nothing or of naught: see NOTHING A. 3 b, NOUGHT A. 4 c. d. Public thing, thing public (obs.) = L. res publica: see PUBLIC a. 2 a. e. Such a thing, no such thing: see SUCH.

17. Any thing, every thing, no thing, some thing (in which thing is an unemphatic stressless use of sense 7 or 11), are now written each as one word (see ANYTHING, EVERYTHING, NOTHING, SOMETHING).

18. attrib. and Comb., as thing-aspect, -element;

thing-creating adj.; thing-like adj., like a material or impersonal thing (hence thing-likeness).

1663 Boyle Usef. Exp. Nat. Philos. I. 123 Matter cannot move it self, but requires to be mov'd by a Teotonic thing-creating Power. c 1854 Farer Old Labourer iii, Such a thing-like person. 1895 Pollock & Maitland Hist. Eng. Law II. iv. § 6 II. 123 Annuities..in course of time..assumed the guise of merely contractual rights; but in the earlier Year Books their thingligkness is visible. 1909 G. Terrell in Q. Rev. July 108 Those..who, as priests..are interested in the 'thing-aspect' of religion. Ibid., His tendency to cleave to this 'thing-element' in religion.

Hence (all rare or nonce-wds.) Thingal (pi·ŋăl) a., pertaining to things (= Real *a.*² 7 b); in first quot. absol.; Thingdhood, the state or character of being a thing (in quot. 1888, as distinct from a person); existence as a thing, reality, substantiality; Thinginess (pi·ŋinès), the quality of being thingy (see below); (a) reality, actuality, objectivity; (b) devotion to things, practical or matter-of-fact character; Thingish (pi·ŋiʃ) a., having the nature of a thing: = thingy (a); Thingless (pi·ŋlès) a., destitute of the character of a thing, insubstantial (whence Thinglessness); Thinglet (pi·ŋlèt), a little thing, a diminutive object or creature; Thingliness (pi·ŋlinès), the quality of being thingly; existence as a thing, essence; Thingling (pi·ŋliŋ) = thinglet; Thingly (pi·ŋli a., having the nature of a thing: = thingy (a); Thingness, the fact or character of being a thing (in quot. 1902, as distinct from a person); reality; so † Thingship, † Thingsomeness; Thingy (pi·ŋi sb. Sc. [-y, dim. suff.; cf. -ie], a little thing; Thingy a., (a) having the nature or character of a thing; real, actual, objective, substantial; in quot. 1894, ? consisting of separate, independent, or unconnected things; (b) devoting oneself to or concerned with actual things, practical, matter-of-fact.

1857 J. Hinton in Life vii. (1888) 132 This love might lead us away from thoughts of the real or 'thingal. 1884 Mind July 398 What he [James Hinton] would probably call 'thingal beauty'. 1865 J. Grote Moral Ideals ii. (18.6) 28 Any form of 'thinghood or reality. 1872 Contemp. Rev. XX. 76 The conception of an external thinghood, and..of a permanent substantiality as basis of the qualities. 1880 Mind V. 141 Thinghood, Substantiality, Existence, are synonymous terms. 1888 L. Abbott in Century Mag. Aug. 621/1 The materialism that puts thinghood above manhood. 1891 Cent. Dict., † Thingness. 1892 Open Court (U. S.) 5 June 2316/2 Yet is space no *thingish entity, no tangible object. 1599 T. M[ouffet] Silkwormes 1 What breth embreath'd these almost *thingles things. 1874 F. H. Laing in Ex. Ritl. & Lit. Set. iii. 270 How thingly came out of *thingless-mess. 1890 Australian Girl I. xv. 203 Creatures on foot and on wing—*thingless that fly one moment and fall down helplessly the next. 1662 J. Chandler Van Helmont's Oriatri. 69 That man was ignorant of the *thingliness of a Gas..and..of the properties of cold in the Air. Ibid. 343 The essential thingliness of a thing. 1652 Benlowes Theoph. v. xxiv. Poor *thingling Man! 1900 Westm. Gaz. 25 Jly 3/3 The words 'real presence' (he adds) meant originally the presence of (rez) a thing—if one may say so, a '*thingly' presence—i. e., presence as a thing. 1896 Fraser Philos. Theism Ser. II. vi. 150 Personality instead of *thingness is the highest form under which man..can conceive of God. 1902 Goodwin & Kittredge Works 35 note, A New-England philosopher was much ridiculed for using the 'thing-ness of the here' for 'the actuality of the present'. 1697 J. Smugerat Solid Philos. 239 We can have..a Notion of the Thing..precisely according to its *Thingship (as we may say) or Reality. 1674 N. Fairfax Bulk & Selv. 19 He that gives it a little reality or *thingsomeness, cannot..be so sparing as to..give it no more. 1888 Barrie When a Man's Single (1900) 17/2 A sweetly bit *thingy she was. 1891 Cent. Dict., *Thingy, adj. 1894 M. Schuyler in Forum (N. Y.) July 617 The government buildings have become more and more 'thingy', more and more complications of features that fail to make up a physiognomy.

Thing (piŋ), *sb.*² Also ting. [a. ON. þing (mod.Scand. ting); the same word as Thing *sb.*¹, but taken independently from ONorse.]

1. In Scandinavian countries (or settlements, as in parts of England before the Conquest): A public meeting or assembly; esp. a legislative council, a parliament; a court of law. Cf. Althing, Storthing. (Usually with capital T.)

1840 Iceland, Greenland, etc. 99 They had been accustomed to assemble at the Thing, near the idol temples. 1857 Dufferin Lett. High Lat. xii. (ed. 9) 387 These landed proprietors were called the Bonders..On stated occasions they met together, in a solemn assembly, or Thing, (i.e. Parliament,) for the transaction of public business. 1860 Longf. Wayside Inn, Saga X. Olaf xvii. vi, The Swedish King Summoned in haste a Thing, Weapons and men to bring In aid of Denmark. 1861 Pearson Early & Mid. Ages Eng. 159 Next year, 1014 A.D., while Sweyn, in the midst of his ting, was blaspheming St. Edmund, the saint appeared armed. 1865 Kingsley Herew. xxvii, We shall see what thou sayest to all this, in full Thing at home in Denmark. 1886 Corbett Fall of Asgard I. xi. 137 He was proclaimed King of Norway by the Thing. Ibid. II. vii. 90 The judges went out to try the causes..It was the greatest suit of which notice had been given for that Thing.

transf. 1888 Pall Mall G. 3 Oct. 11/1 This morning..the twenty-eighth Church Congress began work...Those who remember..the third Congress..are remarking how the great Thing of the Church-folk has grown in popularity.

‖ 2. (See quot.)

1874 Stubbs Const. Hist. I. iii. 426 Iceland is divided into four fordungs [ON. fjórðungar] or quarters...Each fordung was divided into three things, and each thing into three godords or lordships.

3. attrib. and Comb.: thing-day, a day on which a Thing is held; thing-dues, fees payable to a chief who presides at a Thing; thing-field, -hill, -stead, a field, hill, hill, or place where a Thing meets. See also Thingman.

c 1895 Denham Tracts (1895) II. 207 The thingstead for determining the controversies among the rude tribes. 1886 Corbett Fall of Asgard I. xiii. 168 They skirted the Thingfield. Ibid. II. i. 7 All that were gathered that day upon the Thing-hill. Ibid. vii. 98 Till the end of the Thing-days. Ibid. ix. 127 Thorkel found himself rich. Nor was it from the Thing-dues alone. Ibid. xiv. 195 To Olaf's great Thing-hall went Thorkel,..on the day appointed.

Thing, v. [OE. þingian, as sense 1 below, also to make terms, come to terms, settle, determine, speak, discourse, address; Com. Teut. = OFris. thingja to plead (WFris. tingen, NFris. tingje), OS. thingôn to confer, transact business, deal (MDu. dinghen, Du. and LG. dingen to bargain, etc.), OHG. dingôn to hold a court, conduct a process or suit, negotiate, come to an agreement, arrange a compromise or terms of peace, to stipulate, etc. (Ger. dingen to discuss, bargain, hire, engage on terms), ON. þingja to hold a (public) meeting, confer, consult, discuss terms (Sw. tinga to agree as to terms, engage, Da. tinge to bargain, etc.): = OTeut. þingôjan, i. þingô[n] Thing *sb.*¹, the original sense being more distinctly retained in the vb.]

† 1. intr. To plead a cause, supplicate, intercede, make intercession (with dative = for); trans. to bring to reconciliation. Obs.

a 1200 Ecgberti Poenitentiale iv. c. 62 Gif he wyle..him sylfum þingian [L. supplicare]. c 1000 Cædmon's Satan 510 Ic [Christ] eow þingade, þa me on beame beornas stícedon. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 15 Þe lateard sainte poul..þingle us to þe holie fader of heuene, þat he geue us mihte. Ibid. 43 Do we ec mid ure wel dede þingen us wiþ ure helende. c 1200 Ormin 8997 To þingenn us wiþþ ure Godd þurrh bedess & þurrh lakess. Ibid. 18214 Ure Laferd Jesu Crist Iss Preost..Iliss follesc to þingenn wel inoh Toward Drihhtin off Heffne.

2. To represent by things, i.e. concrete objects. Hence Thinger (piˑŋər).

1883 G. Massey Nat. Genesis I. i. 16 Symbolism was not a conscious creation of the human mind; man..did not begin by thinging his thoughts in intentional enigmas of expression. Ibid., Things were pourtrayed before thoughts by those who were thingers rather than thinkers.

Thing, obs. form of Think *v.*¹ and ².

Thingal to Thingly: see after Thing *sb.*¹

Thinger: see Thing v. 2.

Thingman (piˑŋmæn). Pl. -men. [ad. ON. þingmaðr, in pl. þingmenn.] A member of a Scandinavian Thing; spec. = Housecarl.

[1864 Ld. Brougham Brit. Const. x. 137 The Danish Princes..keeping on foot a guard called Thingmaun or Thingiate, of 3,000 men.] 1870 Freeman Norm. Conq. (ed. 2) I. vi. 440 Cnut now organized a regular paid force...These were the famous Thingmen, the Housecarls. 1886 Corbett Fall of Asgard II. x. 130 The bonders came and laid their hands in Thorkel's, swearing themselves his Thingmen. 1890 Hall Caine Bondman iii. iv, Who were these men? They were Thingmen..the law-makers.

Thingness to Thingsomeness: see after Thing *sb.*¹

Thingum (piˑŋəm). colloq. ? Obs. exc. dial. Also 9 thing'em. [f. Thing *sb.*¹, with meaningless suffix.] = Thingummy. (In first quot. in reduplicated form thingum thangum; cf. Crinkum-crankum.)

1680 Otway Atheist iv. i, With a deep Point Thingum Thangum over her Shoulders. 1681 T. Flatman Heraclitus Ridens No. 45 (1713) II. 38 Is there no News from the Thingum in the Old Bailey? 1741 Chesterf. Let. to Son 6 Aug., To speak of Mr. What-d'ye-call-him, or Mrs. Thingum, or How-d'ye-call-her, is excessively awkward and ordinary. 1793 Fitzgerald in Europ. Mag. XXIII. 387 All your bunch of thingums. 1808 Mrs. C. Kemble Day after Wedding 11 What were you saying, Mr. Thing'em?

So in extended forms Thingumaxy (piˑŋəmæksi), (thingummarie, thing-a-merry), Thingumajig (piˑŋəmədʒig), (thingymyjig, etc.). See also next two words.

1819 'R. Rabelais' Abelitard & Heloisa 146 Deep pond'ring—in a reverie On some dubious thingummarie. 1827 Hone Every-day Bk. II. 58 That clever fellow, 'Thing-a-merry', or that stupid dog, 'What-d'ye-call-um'. 1876 'L. Carroll' Hunting of Snark 1. ix. He would answer, 'To 'What-you-may-call-um?' or 'What-was-his-name!' But especially 'Thingum-a-jig!' 1889 Century Mag. Apr. 913/1 He got her critter propped up an' ther thingermajig stropped on ter 'im. 1902 Eliz. L. Banks Newspaper Girl 149, I would drive through Hyde Park in a victoria,..and everybody would say, 'There goes the editress of the Thingymajig Magazine!'

Thingumbob (piˑŋəmbɒb). colloq. Also 8–9 thing(-)em(-)bob, 9 thing'em bob, thingamabob, thingumebob. [Arbitrary extension of prec., the last syllable now meaningless.] = next.

1751 Smollett Per. Pic. ii, In a laced doublet and thingumbobs at the wrists. 1778 Miss Burney Evelina (1791) II. xxxvii. 240 Pray, is one Miss Anville in any of them thingembobs? 1788 Bertham Mem. & Corr. Wks. 1843 X. 181 One is composed of the thingumbobs called Cinq-folis, which you will find in your seal. 1832 Lytton Eugene A. I. ii, A lonely grey house with a thingumebob at the eye's service, to try they call it. 1870 Miss Bridgman Rob. Lynne II. v. 107 We're going to try him for thingumbob—bigamy.

Thingummy (piˑŋəmi). colloq. Also 8 thing-o-me, thing-o'-me, 9 thing-o-my, thingamy, -ammy, -ummie, -umy. [f. Thingum + -y (? dim.).] Used (in undignified speech) to indicate vaguely a thing (or person) of which the speaker cannot at the moment recall the name, or which he is at a loss or does not care to specify precisely; a 'what-you-may-call-it'.

1796 Mme. D'Arblay Camilla III. 259 Poor miss thing-o'-me's hat is spoilt already. 1803 Fessenden Terr. Tractor. iv. (ed. 2) 174 note, The little whalebone thingamy which the Duke of Queensbury run at New Market. 1807 W. Irving Salmag. (1824) 38, I mean only to tune up those little thing-o-mys, who represent nobody but themselves. 1819 'R. Rabelais' Abelitard & Heloisa 101 A passport to a brilliant court Where all great thingummies resort. 1869 Thackeray Philip viii, What a bloated aristocrat Thingamy has become! 1904 Times 12 Jan. 12/2 Mr. So-and-so has..'entrusted' its little carcase to Mr. Thingummy, birdstuffer.

† Thin-gut. Now Obs. or vulgar. [f. Thin a. + Gut sb.] One who has a thin belly; a lean starved-looking person; a starveling.

1562 Middleton Blurt, Master Constable ii, Sirrah thingut, what's thy name? 1607 Rowlands Diog. Lanth. 6 'Tis Mounsieur Vsury, what a leane lanke thin-gut it is. 1631 Massinger Believe as You List III. ii, Does it sooe, you thinnegut? Thou thinge without moysture.

So † Thin-gutted a., thin-bellied, lank, lean.

1625 Massinger New Way I. ii. I am out of charity With none so much as the thin-gutted squire. 1735 R. Gale in Mem. W. Stukeley (Surtees) III. 111 A thin-gutted dog, like a grey-hound. 1745 Francis tr. Hor., Sat. I. v. 93 Methinks, a single Pound of Bread a day Might such a sleek thin-gutted Rogue content.

Thingy: see after Thing *sb.*¹

† Thinhead. Obs. rare—°. [f. Thin a. + -hede, -head.] = Thinness.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 491/1 Thynnesse, or thynshede of licurys, as ale, water, and oper lyke, tenuitas.

† Think, *v.*¹ Obs. (exc. in Methinks, q. v.) Forms: see below. [OE. þync(e)an, þíhte, gepíht = OS. thunkian, thûhta (Du. dunken), OHG. dunchan, dâhta (MHG. dunken, G. dünken, däuchte), ON. þykkja, þótta (:—þunkja, þúhta*) (Sw. tycka, Da. tykkes), Goth. þugkjan, þûhta, :—OTeut. þunkjan*, þunxta* to seem, appear. Although in Gothic and all the Teutonic langs. þugkjan is inflected as a weak verb, with forms parallel to those of þaykjan (Think *v.*²), it is generally held to have been originally a strong vb., the present stem of which was formed with -ja suffix, like tigjan*, sitjan*, etc., on the weak grade of an original ablaut series þiyk-, þunk-, þunk-* (see Think *v.*²), which subseq. passed into the first class of weak vbs. (cf. brûkjan, brûhte, bugjan, bauhte, etc.). In OE., as in the cognate langs., the forms of this vb. and Think *v.*² remained quite distinct; but in ME., owing to the fact that þync- and þenc- gave ME. þink-, and both þûht and þôht appeared in ME. as þought, thought, they became confused and finally left together. The contiguity of sense also helped: see Think *v.*²]

A. Illustration of Forms.

1. Inf. and Pres. t. α. 1 þynean, -oean; 3rd pers. sing. 1 ðynceþ, ðynceþ, 4 thunceth(ii); 3 þuncþ (þunþ).

a 800 Cynewulf Elene 541 (Gr.) Do swa þe þynce. c 897 K. Ælfred Gregory's Past. C. xxxvi. 255 Hwelc wite scal us ðonne to hefiġ ðyncan [q. v. ðyncean]? a 1250 Owl & Night. 1592 Eie steape hire þunc[þ] a mile. Ibid. 1649 Me þunch, 1672 þunch [Vesp. MS.: þinkþ].

β. 1 þincan, þincean, 3–5 þink(e, 4 þynke, thine, 4–6 thynk(e, 4–7 thinke, 5 thynck, 6 thincke, 4–6 (7–9 arch. in Methinks) think; 3rd pers. sing. 1 þinþ. 1–3 þincþ, 3 þinkp, 4 thinkt; 3 (Orm.) þinnkepp.

c 888 K. Ælfred Boeth. xxxiii. § 2 gif he hine þonne bezit, þonne þincð him þæt he næbbe ġenoġ. c 1000 Sax. Leechd. II. 74 Swa micel swa þe þince. c 1200 Ormin 11807 Nę þinnke þuw nan wunnderr. c 1325 Spec. Gy Warw. 588 Þouh þe þinke, hit greue þe. c 1350 Will. Palerne 384 Lordes, lusteneþ her-to, sif þou let þinkes. 13.. Cursor M. 18966 (Gött.) Gret selcuth here-of thinces vus. Ibid. 2602 (Fairf.) Me walde þink þat hit ware myne. a 1400 Hylton Scala Perf. (W. de W. 1494) I. xxxiv, Hym shall thynke that his synnes are..so fowle. c 1400 Maundev. (1839) xxvii. 278 Þanne wolde hem thinken greiter delyt. 1531 Dial. on Laws Eng. I. xxiii. 70 It thynketh more reasonable. 1577 Harrison England II. i. (1877) I. 18 Adding what him thinketh good of his owne knowledge.

γ. 13.. Cursor M. 225 (Cott.) Notful me thinc it ware to man. Ibid. 16580 Selcuth vs thinc o þe. c 1400 Maundev. (Roxb.) xxi. 56 Þis thinke me are of þe grettest meruailes. 1530 Crome in Strype Eccl. Mem. (1721) III. App. x. 20 But my thynk theye hurt purgatorye sore. c 1572 Gascoigne Rewles Warre Wks. (1831) 212 Me thinke if then their cause be rightly scande.

γ. 2–3 þinche(n, 2–4 þunche(n; 3 þenche(n, 4 thynche(n.

c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 33 Nalde hit þe þinchen na mare bute þat i. Ibid. 35 Þet hit wald me þunchen þet softeste beð.. þat ic efre ibad. Ibid. 69 Þet þunche þ gode swiðe god. a 1200 Moral Ode 62 Eiðer to luted and to muchel scal þunchen [v.r. þunche] eft hom þaþe. c 1250 Halt Meid. 7 Tah hit þunche oðre men þat ha drehen harde. c 1250 A Iutel soth Sermun 80 in O. E. Misc. 190 An eute to go mid him Ne þunchet [v.r. þinchep] hire no schome. c 1300 Harrow. Hell (Harl. MS.) 140 Me þunchep he is a coward. 1399 Pol. Poems (Rolls) I. 397, I say ffor my self, and schewe, as me thynchith.

δ. 3–4 þenke(n, 4–5 þenck; 5 þenck; 3rd pers. sing. 4 þenkth. (Belonging in form to THINK v.[2]) c 1330 [See B. 3]. c 1374 CHAUCER Anel. & Arc. 105 But no thing thenkith pe fals as doth the trewe. 1390 GOWER Conf. II. 8 So that him thenketh of a day A thousand yer, til he mai se The visage of Penolope. 1419 in Prve. Privy Council (1834) II. 247 pus us þenkip þer was grete negligence in sum persone.

ε. 3rd pers. sing. 3–4 þingþ, 4 thingth; 5 thyngyt; thing.

a 1300 Fragm. Pop. Sc. (Wright) 96 The sonne is more than the mone... The mone thinth the more, for heo so neȝ ous is. 1340 Ayenb. 166 Suo dede þe martires ase hit þingþ ine hare liue. c 1420 Anturs of Arth. xxv, Vs thing [v.r. thynke] a masse als squete, As any spyce that euyr thou ete.

2. Pa. t. α. 1–3 þuȝte, þhuȝte, (Orm.) þuhhte, 4 þuȝt, 5 thought.

a 800 CYNEWULF Christ 1494 Lytel þuhte is leoda bearnum. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 119 Hit þuhte here ech sunderlepes þat it was his landes speche. c 1200 ORMIN 15324 Iit himm þuhhte swibe good. c 1250 Death 286 in O. E. Misc. 180 Hit þuȝte [v. r. þuhte] þe ful good. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 1840 To sen de werld þhuȝte hire good. 13.. Cursor M. 750 (Fairf.) If ham gode þuȝt [v.rr. thought, þouȝt].

β. 3 þohte, 3–4 þoȝte, 3–5 þouȝte, 4 thoȝte, þoȝt, þoht, thouht, (þouȝth), 4–5 þouȝt, thoght, 4–6 Sc. thocht, 5 thoghte, thoȝt, powht, Sc. thoucht, 5–7 (8–9 arch. in methought) thought; 3–4 þoute, 4 thout, (thouth), 4–5 þout, 5 thowt. (Coinciding in form with THINK v.[2]) c 1290 St. Kenelm 123 in S. Eng. Leg. I. 348 Him þouȝte he clam op-on þat treo. a 1300 Cursor M. 19040 (Fairfax) þar of to don quat sum god þoȝte [C, G. thoght, L. thoȝt, Tr. þouȝt]. Ibid. 1339 (Cott.) Him thought [Gött. thout, F. þoȝt, Tr. þouȝt]...þat to þe sky it raȝt þe toppe. 13.. E. E. Allit. P. B. 562 Hard hit hym þoȝt. 1375 BARBOUR Bruce I. 79 Þis ordynance þaim thocht þe best. c 1430 Hymns Virg. 83 Al þat y dide, it þouȝte me swete. 1513 DOUGLAS Æneis XI. vi. 25 The Goddis wraik, hym thoht, Schew that by fait Eneas was thair ordynit. 1690 HOLLAND Cymbeline 205 Him thought that one came unto him.

B. Signification. intr. To seem, to appear.

1. With expressed subject (sometimes it) and complement; often also with dat. pron.

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xxxii. § 2 Þonne ne þuhte he him no innon swa fæȝer swa he utan þuhte. c 897 [See A. 1 a]. c 975 Rushw. Gosp. Matt. xvii. 25 Hwæt þynceþ þe simon þetre? a 1000 Boeth. Metr. xxvi. 6 Þe þincep þæt wundor micel monna ænegum. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 119 Monie þewas beoþ...þe monnen þunchen rihte. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 109 þe sunne þinkeþ ful of lihtˈ...þe sunne þinchep ful of hete. c 1275 Woman of Samaria 19 in O. E. Misc. 84 Hwat artu þat drynke me byst, þu þinchest of iude-londe. c 1386 CHAUCER Knt.'s T. 2183 Thanne is it wysdom, as it thynketh me To maken vertu of necessitee. 1437 EARL WARWICK in Wars Eng. in France (Rolls) Pref. 67 Such as shall think unto youre lordship necessarie and sufficient. a 1450 Le Morte Arth. 3829 That lyffe hym thought no-thyng longe.

2. Impersonal, i.e. without expressed subject, or with following clause as implicit subject: It seems. (Always with dat. pron., me, him, her, etc.)

After c 1300 sometimes irreg. put into the person or number of the dative pron., by confusion with THINK v.[2]: thus methink, for methinks, after I think. Cf. A. 1 β. irreg.

a. With complement, as in 1; also with following inf. clause as implicit subject.

Beowulf 1748 Þincep him tolytel þæt he lange heold. c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xiv. § 2 Ac þincep him ȝenoȝ on þam þe hi binnan hoora ȝeȝenre hyrde healdon. c 1000 ORMIN 5030 Siff hinn þinkeþ ȝod, he mosȝ þe sifenn heoffness blisse. a 1300 Cursor M. 636 (Cott.) Þar for thoght þam þen na scham. Ibid. 868 Vs thoght scam þe to bide. c 1425 Ibid. 16837 (Laud) Dothe hym doune as you thenckyth best. c 1460 Towneley Myst. ii. 158 Cry on, cry, whyls the thynk good. c 1520 BARCLAY Ywgurth (1557) 28 b, Whan he had... such compani as him thought competent for an army. 1556 Aurelio & Isab. (1608) D iv, Take that noubre of men and women as shall thinche you good.

b. Followed by a sb. clause (constituting the logical subject), or parenthetic. See also METHINKS.

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xxix. § 1 Him selfum ȝinceð þæt he mænne næbbe. c 1200 ORMIN 10299 Hemm þuhhte þatt he mihhte ben Helysew þe profete. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 7507 To bete þulke gulteȝe, þat him þoȝte he adde ydo. c 1386 CHAUCER Knt.'s T. 100 Hym thoughte þat his herte wolde breke. c 1470 HENRY Wallace v. 998 Say quhat ye will, this is the best, think me. 1530 TINDALE Pract. Prelates I vij, The marynage of the brother with the sister is not so greuouse agenst the lawe of nature (thinketh me) as the degrees above rehersed. 1635 HEYWOOD Hierarch. IV. 198 Him thought that in his depth of sleepe he saw A Souldier arm'd.

c. With adverb (as, how, so, thus), usually representing a clause.

[Beowulf 1341 ȝe feor hafaȝ fiehðe gestæled þæs þe þincean mæȝ þegne monegum.] c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. xxi. 28 Hu þincð eow? a 1300 Cursor M. 639 (Cott.) 'Adam', he said, 'how think (v.r. thinkes, þinkeþ) þe, In þis stede es fair to be?' c 1385 CHAUCER L. G. W. Prol. 248 Therfore may I seyn, as thynketh me, This longe in preysyng of this lady fre. c 1440 Alphabet of Tales 175 We hard a grete noyse of armyd men, & as vs thoght, of harnessid hors.

1570–6 LAMBARDE Peramb. Kent (1826) 333 The which may (as me thinketh) be broken in-to fouere seuerall portions.

3. Phr. Think long, to seem long, to be weari-some (to one): cf. THINK v.[2] 10 c.

a 1000 Boeth. Metr. x. 66 Þeah hit lang þince. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 183 Hire þunchedˈ lang, þat hie on him bileuedˈ. c 1330 Assump. Virg. (B. M. MS.) 121 Alle him þenkeþ swiþe longe 'I'il þou comest hem amonge. c 1430 Hymns Virg. 9/49 After his love me þenkip long.

Think (þiŋk), v.[2] Pa. t. and pple. thought (þȝt). Forms: see below. [OE. þenc(e)an, þóhte, (ge)þóht, = OFris. thinka (WFris. tinkje, tinze); OS. thenkian, thâhta (Du., LG. denken), OHG. dencken, dâhta (MHG., Ger. denken, dachte), ON. þekkja, þátta (þeyhja*, þáhta*), (Sw. tänka, Da. tænka), Goth. þagkjan, þáhta (=þayxta*). In form, a factitive vb. f. þanȝ-, strong grade of ablaut series þinȝ-, þanȝ-, þunȝk-:—pre-Teut. teng-, tong-, ting-*: cf. THINK v.[1] The original meaning may thus have been 'to cause (something) to seem or appear (to oneself)'. In ME., þenk (as was normal with the groups -eng, -enk) became þink, with the result of confusing this in the present stem with the prec. vb., of which the pa. t. þóhte was also from 13th c. written þought, thought(e, so that the forms of the two verbs became completely identical. The practical equivalence of sense between me thinks, him thought, etc., and I think, he thought, etc., also contributed to this result, there being no difference of import between 'such compani as him thought [= OE. him þóhte] competent' (see THINK v.[2] B. 2 a) and 'such company as he thought [= OE. he þóhte] competent'.]

A. Illustration of Forms.

1. Inf. and Pres. t. α. 1 þencan, 2 þence, 2–4 þenken, (3 Orm. þennkenn, 5 ȝenke(n, 4 þengke), 4–5 þenche, thenke, þenk, 4–5 thenk.

c 888 Hwæt he þencð [see B. 1]. a 1100 O. E. Chron. an. 995 (MS. F) Nan mann ne mihte þencan enbe naht elles butan. a 1175 þence [see B. 8 b]. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 49 Þe man þe...he þencð no þing. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 2072 Of me ðis þhenkan it sal ben. Ibid. 3563 And þenke, louerd, quat ben bi-foren Abram, and ysaac, and iacob sworen. c 1290 St. Gregory 50 in S. Eng. Leg. I. 357 Þou þencest...wih þi conseil al rome to bi-traige. 1382 WYCLIF [See B. 3]. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 490/2 Thenkyn, cogito.

β. 2–3 þenchen, 3–4 þenche, 4 thenche.

c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 61 Þet we ne þenchen nefel to don. c 1200 Moral Ode 118 (Trin. Coll. MS.) He sal hit þenche þanne. c 1205, c 1275 þench, þinche [see B. 2 b (δ)]. c 1330 Arth. & Merl. (Kölbing) 6534 Ken & drink men schal on benche And after mete in chaumber þenche. c 1386 Thenche [see B. 4].

γ. 4 þink-, þinc-, thinc-, 4–5 þinke, 5 þynke; 4–6 thynk, thynke, (thincke), 4–7 thinke, (thinck, 6 thyncke), 4– think.

13.. Cursor M. 14187 (Cott.) Sir quat thinckes þou? Ibid. 21630 (Edin.) Than ani man mai þinc [Gött. thing] in thoght. c 1400 HAVELOK Psalter cxlv. 1 Þe purere þait of mannys saule, þat thynkis þe wisdom of god. c 1425 Eng. Conq. Irel. 22 Other, that wors is...vs tynken vndo that god shild. 1552 HULOET, Thyncke often, reputo, ex. 1648 tr. Somnill's Farmyhr. 306 To thinke...on their domesticke affaires. 1653 Thinck [see B. 2 b (δ)].

δ. 3–4 imper. þeng, 4 inf. thing.

a 1275 Prov. Ælfred 318 in O. E. Misc. 133 Ne þeng þu neuere þi lif. 13.. Thing [see γ]. a 1400 [peng [see B. 5a].

2. Pa. t. 1–4 α. þóhte, 3 þoȝte, (þoehte, þouhte, Orm. þohhte), 3–5 þouȝte, þouȝt, 4 houhte, þoughte, þoȝt, þoght, (þout, þouȝt), thoȝte, thoȝt, thoȝte, Sc. thowcht, 4–5 þouȝte, Sc. thought, 4–6 thoȝt, 4–Sc. thocht, 5 powȝte, (powȝth), 4 thouȝt, thowght(e, (thought), 6 thoughte, (dial. 8–9 thoȝt, 9 thowt), 4– thought.

971 Bóhte [see B. 2 b]. c 1200 ORMIN 7312 Herode... þohhte þohh to cwellenn himm. c 1205 LAY. 1255 He þoute [c 1275 þohte] of his sweȝne. Ibid. 24150 Þuhte [see B. 10]. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 2652 Hengist þoȝte be king & is priraye. 13.. Cursor M. 3352 (Cott.) He...thoȝht on thing he had to done. Ibid. 2039 (Fairf.) Þe ȝonger broher þuȝt ful wa. c 1350 Will. Palerne 855 Sche þouȝ proly in herte þat leuer hire were. 13.. Gaw. & Gr. Knt. 848 Wel hym semed for sobe, as he seȝȝe þuȝt. c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints iii. (Andreas) 928 Fore-þi I thowcht I wald nocht dwell. 1375 BARBOUR Bruce II. 69 He Thought that sald pass one athir way. c 1400 Destr. Troy 3189 Fele of þe folke febull it thughten. 1450 W. LOMNER in Foun. O. Eng. Lett. (1880) 4 He thoghte he was desseyvyd. 1535 STEWART Cron. Scot. (Rolls) I. 90 Tha thocht it greit folie. 1604 E. G[IMSTONE] D'Acosta's Hist. Indies III. ix. 146, I thought good to speak this. 1749 FIELDING Tom Jones VII. xiii, I thoft he had been an officer himself. 1884 MRS. LLOYD Ladies Pelo. 100 I thoft, if so be you would be so handsome as to spake a word for me. 1854 TENNYSON Northern Farmer, Old Style V, I niver knaw'd whoat a meänd'd but I thowt a 'ad summat to say.

3. Pa. pple. 3 þoht, -e, (ypout), þoht, (Orm. þohht), 3–4 þoȝt, 4 i-þouȝt, þouȝt, i-thought, þoȝt, -e, þouȝte, Sc. thowcht, thocht, 4–5 thoght, 5 pouȝt, pought, 5–6 thowght, 6–7 Sc. thocht(e, 7 thoughte, (5–9 dial. thoft(e), 5– thought.

c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 71 Ure ateliche sinnes þe we hauen don and queðen and þoht. c 1200 ORMIN 2364 Wel haffde þohht to libbenn. c 1205 LAY. 13468 Þat he hæfde iþoht ær. 13.. Cursor M. 20092 (Edin.) Quat hauis tu þoȝte [v. r. thoght]? c 1330 Arth. & Merl. 513 Ich haue y-þoht. c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints ii. (Paulus) 380 To do his hate I thowcht. Ibid. x. (Mathow) 135 As men. thocht had. 1377 LANGL. P. Pl. B. XIII. 268 þis wil be þouȝte longe. 1387–8 T. USK Test. Love i. iii. (Skeat) I. 162 If I coud haue made chere to one, and thought an other. 1482 Ord. Gild Exeter in Eng. Gilds (1870) 314 To have a sustennans...as cane be thofte...resounabyll. 1560 DAUS tr. Sleidane's Comm. 276 This was thought to be done for this intent.

B. Signification. 1. To conceive in the mind, exercise the mind, etc.

1. trans. To form in the mind, conceive (a thought, etc.); to have in the mind as a notion, an idea, etc.; to do in the way of mental action.

a. with simple obj. (sb. or pron.).

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xxxix. § 9 Þeah hwa mæȝe oncuðan hwæt ofer ðo, þe ne mæȝ witan hwæt he þencð. a 1200 Moral Ode 79 He wat wet þenkeð and hwet doð alle quike wihte. 13.. Cursor M. 27021 (Cott.) Vr thoghtes ar þai be thoght. c 1400 Rom. Rose 2541 They in herte cunne thenke a thing And seyn another, in hir speking. a 1548 HALL Chron., Edw. IV 224 Whatsoever he thought in his Imaginacion. 1596 SHAKS. Merch. V. II. vii. 50 To thinke so base a thought. 1651 HOBBES Leviath. II. xxx. 180 Any man that sees what I am doing, may easily perceive what I think. 1871 SMILES Charac. I. (1876) 22 They think great thoughts. 1895 Cornh. Mag. Mar. 300 Don't begin to think hard things now.

b. with a direct statement, question, or exclamation as obj. (For constructions with indirect statement, etc., see 2 b, 4 a, 5 a, 8 a, 9.)

971 Blickl. Hom. 21 Þæt mæȝ þeon þæt sume men þencan oþþe cweþan, 'hu mæȝ ic swa gastlice leoht [etc.]?' c 1386 CHAUCER Man of Law's T. 939 Parfay, thoghte he, fantome is in myn heed. c 1440 Gesta Rom. XXXI. 112 (Harl. MS.) And he thought to him selfe 'how may this be..?' 1611 BIBLE 2 Kings V. 11, I thought, He will surely come out to me. 1634 MILTON Comus 566 O poor hapless Nightingale thought I. 1692 BENTLEY Confut. Atheism III. (1693) 16 If any one shall think with himself, How then can any thing live in Mercury and Saturn? 1832 TENNYSON Miller's Dau. 93 My mother thought, What ails the boy? 1842 — Dora 4 He...often thought, 'I'll make them man and wife'.

c. To conceive, feel (some emotion): as, † to think wonder (feyly), to wonder (obs.); to think scorn (of, or to do something), to scorn (arch.); to think shame, to be ashamed (now dial.). See also SCORN sb. 4, SHAME sb.

a 1250 Cursor M. 10620 (Cott.) Hir freindes...Thoght ferli hou soo hider wan. c 1425 Eng. Conq. Irel. 16 Many hadden gret enuy, and mych wonder of Robert de barr. c 1430 [see SCORN sb. 4]. c 1440 Alphabet of Tales 85 When þe preste hard þis, onone he thoght shame. a 1533 LD. BERNERS Huon lxxxiii. 259 He thinkes scorne to repeled to me. 1681 R. KNOX Hist. Ceylon 49 These gifts..he thinks scorn to receive. a 1791 GROSE Olio (1796) 108 He thought to think shame of himself for such treatment. 1886 STEVENSON Kidnapped i, Can you forget...old friends..? Fie, fie; I think shame!

†2. (with simple obj.) To meditate on, turn over in the mind, ponder over, consider. Obs.

c 1000 Ags. Ps. (Th.) cxviii. [cxix.] 117 And ic þine soðfæstnysse symle þence. c 1200 Moral Ode 118 (Trin. Coll. MS.) Al þat a fri man þaneð iden..he sal hit þenche þanne. c 1300 O. E. Psalter 1. 2 And his lagh þinche he night and dai. 13.. Cursor M. 24064 (Cott.) I thinc it euer and ai. 1382 WYCLIF 1 Tim. iv. 15 Thenk thou thes thingis. 1486 Bk. St. Albans e ij b, Thynke what I say my sonne nyght and day. 1605 SHAKS. Mach. II. ii. 33 These deeds must not be thought After these ways.

b. with indirect question as obj.: (For const. with direct question see 1 b.) (a) in reference to a fact or possibility.

971 Blickl. Hom. 7 Maria...þohte hwæt seo halettung wære. a 1300 Cursor M. 1323 (Cott.) Seth bigan to thinc for-qui, þat þis tre bicom sua dri. 1881 DICKLOPE Dr. Worvile's School IV iv, Mrs. Worvile began to think whether the visitor could have known of her intended absence.

(b) In reference to something to be done, with implication of purpose or design. (Cf. 7, 8.)

971 Blickl. Hom. 241 And hie þohton hu hie hine acwellan meahton. c 1205 LAY. 8555 And þench [c 1275 þinche] mid wulche deðen þu hatt weren i-þolet leoðen. c 1386 CHAUCER Melib. P 761 Thinkinge how she wrapte brynge this nede vnto a good conclusion. 1474 CAXTON Chesse IV. viii. (1883) 184 He began to thynke in what maner he mȝyht escape the deth. 1653 HOLCROFT Procopius I. 10 Thinck Sir! how you may avenge us and the Persians. 1778 MISS BURNEY Evelina (1791) I. xxxiii. 178 A-thinking what he should do. Mod. I am thinking what to do next.

c. To have one's thoughts full of, imbued with, or influenced by; to think in terms of.

1821 BYRON Diary 29 Jan., They..think and dream Dante. 1859 Habits Gd. Soc. Pref., A horse-dealer..if he thinks nothing but horses, he cannot be good society. 1865 KINGSLEY Herew. II, Unless thou hast been drinking beer and thinking beer. 1889 Pall Mall G. 24 Oct. 7/6 The present generation of Greeks talks French but thinks German.

3. intr. To exercise the mind, esp. the understanding, in any active way; to form connected ideas of any kind; to have, or make, a train of ideas pass through the mind; to meditate, cogitate. (The most general verb to express internal mental activity, excluding mere perception of external things or passive reception of ideas.)

Think aloud: to express one's thoughts by audible speech as they pass through the mind.

c 1000 ÆLFRIC Gen. xxiv. 63 Þe eode ut on þæt land þencende. c 1320 Cast. Love 17 He leue vs þenche and worchen so, þat he vs schylde from vre fo. 1382 WYCLIF 1 Cor. xiii. 11 Whanne I was a litil child..I thoughte as a litil child. 1552 HULOET, Thinke muche, reputo. 1603 SHAKS. Meas.

for M. tr. iv. 1 When I would pray, and think, I thinke, and pray To seuerall subiects. 1673 Dryden State Innocence ii. 1, That I am I know, because I think. 1690 Locke Hum. Und. ii. I. § 10 There is something in us, that has a Power to think. c 1754 Pope Lett. (1735) I. 151 The Freedom I shall use in this Manner of Thinking aloud. 1764 Goldsm. Traav. 372 Those who think must governe those that toil. 1864 Bowen Logic i. 10 To think is to make clear through Concepts something already otherwise represented or known to consciousness.

b. with about, of, (on, upon arch.), over, † to (obs. rare): To exercise the mind upon, or have the mind occupied with; to meditate on: to consider, attend to mentally, apply the mind to.

971 Blickl. Hom. 57 Mycle swiðor we scealan þencan þæm gastlicum þingum. c 1000 Ags. Ps. (Ps.) cxvii[i]. 8 God ys on Dryhten þonne to þencanne. c 1000 Institutes of Polity c. 14 Riht is þæt munecas..a to Gode þencan and geornlice clypian. c 1200 Vices & Virt. 17 Ac þu..holdest þenchen of þine for[ð]siðe. a 1300 Floriz & Bl. 32 Ac floriz þenchet al on oþer. c 1340 Hampole Prose Tr. 36 Þow may .. thynke ouer thy synnes be-fore donne. 13.. Cursor M. 15612 (Gött.) To thinc apon his care. a 1380 Minor Poems fr. Vernon MS. xxxix. 138 Nou is deþ a wonder þing And grislich for to þenken on. a 1425 Cursor M. 9977 (Trin.) [She] þouste neuer to wicked dede. 1477 Earl Rivers (Caxton) Dictes 11 Think & loke wele vpon your werkis without hasting you. 1642 Evelyn Diary 2 Jan., Who now thought of nothing but the pursuite of vanity. 1765 E. Ward Wonden World Dies. (1708) 100 It makes him think upon Pay-Day. 1782 Miss Burney Cecilia viii. vi, Think of it well ere you proceed. 1804-6 Syd. Smith Mor. Philos. (1850) 89 He began thinking about lances. Mod. I'll think over the matter, and let you know my decision in a day or two. [Cf. 16.]

4. To form or have an idea of (a thing, action, or circumstance, real or imaginary) in one's mind; to imagine, conceive, fancy, picture. a. trans. with simple obj. or obj. cl.; also absol. in colloq. phrases only thinke! you can't think!

c 1200 Ormin 1761 Unnæsæendlikre þinke þann anȝ wihht þæȝȝ þenkenn. c 1300 Cursor M. 647 Ha man..wit hee mai think,..þe mikel luv þat þam lets. c 1386 Chaucer Miller's T. 67 There nes no man so wys þat koude thenche So gay a popelote, or swich a wenche. 1415 Rolls of Parlt. IV. 85/1 As free..as hert may thynk, or eygh may see. 1590 Shaks. Mids. N. v. i. 431 Thinke but this..That you haue but slumbred here. 1656 Stanley Hist. Philos. viii. (1701) 303/1 Thou seest not what thou thinkst before thy eye. 1782 Mme. D'Arblay Diary 8 Dec., You can't think how I'm encumbered with these ruffles! 1884 Mrs. Carlyle Lett. III. 220 Only think! I get my new milk again, at eight.

b. intr. with of (on obs. or arch.), in same sense. (Often imperative in colloq. phrases.)

a 1300 Cursor M. 12802 (Cott.) Quat hert mai thine o suilk honur. c 1400 Maundev. (1839) xxvii. 278 He had.. all maner of foules & of bestes that ony man myghte thenke on. 1598 Shaks. Merry W. iii. v. 116 And then to be stopt in like a strong distillation with stinking Cloathes, that fretted in their owne grease: thinke of that, a man of my Kidney: thinke of that. 1653 Walton Angler ii. 41 The gloves of an Otter are the best fortification for your hands against wet weather that can be thought of. 1741 H. Walpole Lett. to Mann (1834) I. vi. 22 Do but think on a duel between Winnington and Sandwich Townshend. 1842 Tennyson Locksley Hall 73 Can I think of her as dead? 1844 E. FitzGerald Lett. (1889) I. 125 Think of the rococoicity of a gentleman studying Seneca in the middle of February 1844 in a remarkably damp cottage. 1861 J. Pycroft Agony Point xivi, Think of me ever being rich! 1875 Jowett Plato (ed. 2) IV. 264 The ancient philosophers ..thought of science only as pure abstraction. 1885 J. Payn Talk of Town I. 7 She always thought of him..as a very young man.

c. trans. with simple obj. To form a definite conception of (something real) by a conscious mental act; to picture in one's mind, apprehend clearly, cognize (with or without direct perception).

1864 Bowen Logic i. 5 We..are thus enabled to think the landscape as a whole. 1885 J. Martineau Types Eth. Th. (ed. 2) I. i. xi. § 8. 212 When you think this opinion [surface of a sphere = area of circle of twice its diameter]. 1890 W. James Princ. Psychol. II. xx. 203 We think the ocean as a whole by multiplying mentally the impression we get at any moment when at sea.

II. To call to mind, take into consideration.

5. a. trans. (with obj. clause, often indirect interrogative): To call to mind; to consider, reflect upon; to recollect, remember, bear in mind.

c 1020 Rule St. Benet lxiii. (Logeman) 104 Ac he þænce simle þæt he be eallum his domum & weorcum be his is gildanne. c 1230 Hali Meid. 3, & maken þe to þenchen hwuch delit were þrin. a 1400 Pol. Rel. & L. Poems (1903) 258 Þeng wat þou art, & wat þou was. 1474 Caxton Chesse i. iii. (1883) 15 Yf thou be a man thinke that thou shalt dye. 1605 Shaks. Mach. iv. iii. 51, I am afraid, to thinke what I have done. 1667 Milton P. L. vi. 135 Fool, not to think how vain Against th' Omnipotent to rise in Arms. 1818 Shelley Rosalind & Helen 188 Helen smiled..To think that a boy as fair as he..The like sweet fancies had pursued.

b. intr. To consider the matter; to reflect.

Beowulf 290 Æg hwæþere secaþ scearp scyld-wiga gescad wiðan wordu & worca sepe wel þenceð. a 1800 Cowper Inscr. Tomb Hamilton 1 Pause here, and think. 1842 Tennyson Dora 27 Consider, William; take a month to think. 1862 E. FitzGerald Lett. (1889) I. 286, I somehow fancy a line of nonsense will catch you at Ely: and yet, now I come to think, you will have left Ely, probably. 1910 G. F. Hill in Archæologia LXII. 140, I confess that had I come across this MS. at the beginning of my search, I should have thought twice before going on.

c. intr. with of (arch. on, upon), or inf.: To call to mind, remember, bethink oneself (of), hit upon mentally. (See also 7 b.)

c 1175 Pater Noster 96 in Lamb. Hom. 59 He walde þet he of him þohte. a 1300 Cursor M. 1800 (Cott.) Our lauerd þan on noe thoght. c 1400 Emare 951 The emperour.. þowȝt on hys syne; Of hys powȝyr Emare, That was putte yn-to trawes. a 1536 Tindale Declar. Sacraments v b, God ..promysed that thei shuld be thoght vpon before the lord yir god & saued from their enemies. 1552 Huloet, Thynke vpon me, memento mei. 1612 Shaks. Wint. T. iv. iv. 547 Haue you thought on a place whereto you'l go? 1623 — Hen. VIII, iii. ii. 138 The most contentient place, that I can thinke of..is Black-Friyers. 1712 Arbuthnot John Bull ii. iv, There is a small concern of a thousand pounds; I hope you think on it. 1844 Macaulay Ess., Lord Chatham (1887) 838 In his distress, he thought on Pitt. Mod. Did you think to ask him how his father is? No, I didn't think of it.

d. intr. with on (adv.), To remember. Now dial.

1671 H. M. tr. Erasm. Colloq. 226, I much wonder that now thou thinkest on at last to ask me that. a 1800 Pigge Suppl. Grose, Think-on, I will if I think on.

1828 Craven Gloss., Think-on, to remember. 'He sure to mind to think-on'.

e. refl. To bethink oneself. rare.

1856 Aurelio & Isab. (1608) G j, I thinckes me never the lesse that you haueuaide an exemple of the peacock. 1890 W. A. Wallace Only a Sister 325, I thought me at last of the vestry window.

f. To think better of: see Better adv. 6.

6. To take into consideration, have regard to, consider. † b. trans. with simple obj. Obs. rare.

c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 15 Þet we sculden þenchen þu þef we weren þeoll. 1382 Wyclif Prov. iii. 6 In alle thi weies thynk (1388 thenke on) hym. c 1450 tr. De Imitatione i. xxiv. 32 Þenke no þinge but þi soule hel,e; charge onely þo þinges þat longip to þi soule.

b. intr. with of, arch. on (upon).

a 1300 Cursor M. 19435 (Cott.) Qui ie wil þou on þi seluen thinc, þat þou wil noȝ see no dinc? 1340 Hampole Pr. Conse. 2652 And whyles he lyffes..Thynk he sulde ay of his lyfes hende. c 1380 Wyclif Serm. Sel. Wks. I. 65 Wolde God þat preestis wolde þenke on þis now. 1387 Trevisa Higden (Rolls) V. 181 To þinke [v.r. þeigke] on þe comyn profit. 1532 Tindale Expos. Matt. v-vii vii. 11. 89 If thou repente..he promyseth that he will not thynke on thy synnes. 1735 Johnson Lobo's Abyssinia, Descr. xii. 112 Nothing was thought of, but how to save ourselves, and the little goods we had. 1827 Scott Surg. Dan. x, I think it the last matter to be thought on', said Hartley. 1875 Jowett Plato (ed. 2) IV. 35 If..we begin by thinking of ourselves first, we are easily led on to think of others.

7. To bethink oneself of something in the way of a plan or purpose; to find out or hit upon (a way to do something) by mental effort; to contrive, devise, plan, plot. (Cf. think out, 15. See also 8.) a. trans. with simple obj. or inf.

c 1330 R. Brunne Chron. Wace (Rolls) 1075 Brutus bypoughte hym of queintise: Queynatise bihouede [v.r. behoues] hym neuly benke, þat his enemy schold waite a blenk. 1483 Caxton Gold. Leg. 181/1 Thou cursyd wretche now thynke to saue thy lyf. 1602 Marston Antonio's Rev. iv. v, Let's thinke a plot. 1852 Thackeray Esmond i. ix, It was this lady's disposition to think kindnesses..and to scheme benevolence.

b. intr. with of (on, upon, obs. or arch.).

1598 Shaks. Merry W. iv. iv 46 What shall be done with him? What is your plot? Mist. Pa. That likewise haue we thought vpon. 1630 in Picton L'pool Munic. Rec. (1883) I. 158 His Majesty..hath thought of a way. 1699 Lister Journ. Paris 49 Tis, their Misfortune not to have Thought of an Alphabet. a 1715 Burnet Own Time (1766) II. 31 She..took all the ways she could think on to ruin him. a 1774 Goldsm. Surv. Exp. Philos. (1776) II. 121 Dorham ..was the first who thought upon this method of measuring the heights..by the barometer.

8. To conceive or entertain the notion of doing something; to meditate, contemplate, intend, purpose, design, mean, 'have a mind', 'have thoughts (of)'. In early use often not distinguishable from 7; in later use mostly denoting an imperfect, temporary, or ineffective intention: cf. Thought sb. 3 d. a. trans. with inf. or obj. cl.

Beowulf 1356 Swa sceal man don þonne he set guðe þegan þencea long-sumne lof. 971 Blickl. Hom. 151 Þa ludeas.. þohton þæt hie woldan oblesan ha apostulas. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 61 Þet we ne þenchen nifel to dom. c 1220 Bestiary 455 He..ðoȝte he wulde him fordon. 1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 1281 Iulius þe emperour..þoȝte to sle al þat folc. 1325 Barbour Bruce xi. 422 To the castell thai thought to fair. c 1400 Brut xii. 16 Ferst he þought assaye whiche of ham louede him most and best. 1535 Coverdale 2 Chron. ii. 1 Salomon thoughte to buylde an house vnto the name of the Lorde. 1580 Arn. Whitgift in Lett. Lib. Men (Camden) 44 This Paper..which I had thought to have delivered unto you my self yesterday. 1681 Dryden Abs. & Achit. 510 With them joined all the haranguers of the throng, That thought to get preferment by the tongue. 1833 Tennyson Lady Clare V. de Vere i, You thought to break a country heart For pastime. 1878 T. Hardy Ret. Native iv. ii, He..thought he would send for his mother; and then he thought he would not.

b. trans. With simple obj. (usually an action).

a 1175 Cott. Hom. 221 Ne yfel to þence, ne to donne. c 1230 Bestiary 449 We so seieð oðer god, & þenkeð iuel on his mod, Fox he is & fend iwis. a 1300 Cursor M. 4124 To stint wald he..þe foly þat his breþer thoght. c 1320 Cast. Love 1 Pat good þenkeþ, good may do. a 1450 Le Morte Arth. 1655 How in an Appelle he dede the galle And hadde it thought to syr gawayne. 1553 Ascham in Lett. Lit. Men (Camden) 14 To whom you never intended to think any harm. 1667 Milton P. L. ix 661 Peace is despaird, For who can think Submission? 1819 Shelley Cenci i. i. 97 While yet Manhood remained to act the thing I thought.

c. intr. with of (also upon, † arch. or dial.).

1698 Fryer Acc. E. India & P. 9 We began to think of returning. 1749 Fielding Tom Jones Ded., It was by your Desire that I first thought of such a Composition. 1760-72 H. Brooke Fool of Qual. (1800) III. 138 You must not think of going till you take..dinner with us. 1812 Chabse Tales xviii, Each thought of taking to himself a wife. 1861 Kingsley in Lett. & Mem. (1877) II. 133, I hear you think of getting into Parliament. 1894 J. T. Fowler Adamnan Introd. 60 He thought of going to Rome and Jerusalem, and did go to Tours.

d. spec. with of: To consider (a person) in view of some vacancy, or esp. of marriage; to cherish the notion or intention of marrying.

1670 Lady Chaworth in 12th Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm. App. v. 17 Lady Exeter..could heartily wish that you thought of her niece Lady Betty. 1832 Mrs. Edgeworth Moral T. (1816) I. xx. 169, I trust to your prudence, not to think of Flora..; for you can't..marry a girl with so small a fortune. 1896 Patmore Angel in Ho. II. ii. iii, You, with your looks and catching air, To think of Vaughan!

† e. intr. or refl. To purpose or intend to go; to direct one's course. Obs.

c 893 K. Ælfred Oros. iv. ix. § 2 He þara ælces ethend wolde þeon,..þe þæs wordes weare þæt from Romebyrȝ þohte. a 1023 Wulfstan Hom. xlii. (Napier) 200 On ða wi-ran, þe man hors geweapnah, þonne man to wige þenceð. c 1330 R. Brunne Chron. Wace (Rolls) 12501 [Arthur] passed Burgoyne..Vntil Hostum, þyder he þought. 1377 Langl. P. Pl. B. xvi. 175, I frayned hym..of whennes he were, and whider þat he þoughte. a 1400-50 Alexander 1121 Now niris he futhe with his ost, to Egist he thinkes.

† f. fig. To seem likely (to do something): thought to = 'was like to', was on the point of, nearly did... Cf. F. penser à. Obs.

1578 N. Baxter Catwin on Jonah 9 The shyppe thought to be broken. 1585 T. Washington tr. Nicholay's Voy. ii. xii. 43 b, A Northerly wynde..thought to haue made vs turne backe agayne. 1599 Nashe Lenten Stuffe 46 With so ill a will hee went, that hee had thought to haue topled his burning carre..into the sea(as Phaeton did).

III. To be of opinion, deem, judge, etc.

9. trans. with obj. cl. (or pronoun substitute), or parenthetic: To be of opinion, hold the opinion, believe, deem, judge, apprehend, consider; usually, to believe without any great assurance, to regard it as likely, to have the idea, to suppose; in reference to a future event, to expect (coinciding partly in sense with 12).

Who do you think? What do you think? (colloq.) phrases used, esp. parenthetically, to introduce a surprising statement.

Beowulf 691 Nænig heora þohte þæt he þanon scolde eft eard leafan eðre gesecean. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 67 Þos ilke bude, wisliche þing, of oðre is ful festning. a 1300 Cursor M. 950 Þou sal thinc þou lues to lang. c 1386 Chaucer Sompn. T. 322 Thanne thoughte they it was the beste reed To lede hem bothe to the luge agayn. 1450 W. Lomnek in Four C. Eng. Lett. (1880) 4 He thowghte he was desseyvyd. a 1548 Hall Chron., Hen. VIII 170 Who would haue thought that our Vncle of Englande would haue made warre on vs? 1592 Morvson Let. in Hist. (1617) I. 25 Each of vs went to our taske, he (as I thought) to goe, I to sleepe. 1601 Holland Pliny (1634) I. 188 Thrason was the first builder of towne walls: of towers & fortresses, the Cyclops, as Aristotle thinketh. 1610 Shaks. Temp. I. ii. 40 Canst thou remember..? I doe not thinke thou canst. 1615 G. Sandys Trav. 38 Fresh water, some say brought thither by art, I rather think from a naturall fountain. 1616 B. Jonson Epigr., Voyage itself 135 But 'mongst these Tiberts, who do you think there were? Old Banks the juggler. 1726 Swift Gulliver i. vii, A country, governed, as I thought, by very different maxims from those in Europe. 1849 Macaulay Hist. Eng. vi. 11. 15 It was thought that the flocks, thus separated from the evil shepherds, would soon return to the true fold. 1875 Jowett Plato (ed. 2) I. 97, I think that I understand him. Nursery Rime, There was an old woman; and what do you think? She lived upon nothing but victuals and drink.

b. I don't think (slang): used after an ironical statement, to indicate that the reverse is intended.

1837 Dickens Pickw. xxxviii, 'You're a amiably-disposed young man, sir, I don't think', resumed Mr. Weller, in a tone of moral reproof. 1853 'C. Bede' Verdant Green iii. iv, 'Well! you're a graceful bird, I don't think!' said Mr. Bouncer. 1857 Hughes Tom Brown ii. ii, Hark how he sweats, Tom. Nicely brought-up young man, ain't he, I don't think. 1911 Kenna Howard Cheerful Knave xvi, Breakfast? Yer a credit to yer calling, I don't think.

c. intr. To hold the opinion (indicated by context). To think so, to be of that opinion; to think from (quot. 1625), to dissent from, to disagree with; to think with, to be of the same opinion as.

a 1200 Moral Ode 149 Al þa walde and oðerluker don and o'erluker þenchen Wenne he bi-þohte on helle fur. 1552 Huloet, Thynckes contrarye, adsentio, ex. 1560 Daus tr. Sleidane's Comm. 425 b, He said he spake as he thought. 1591 Shaks. Two Gent. ii. vii 62, I feare me it will make me scandalis'd. Luc. If you thinke so, then stay at home. 1645 F. Markham Th. Hon. i. vii § 2 The Holy Ghost (from whose rule we dare not thinke) mentioneth but two Sonnes. 1820 Byron Mar. Fal. ii. i. 302, I did not Think with him, but would not oppose the thought. 1877 Smith & Wace's Dict. Chr. Biog. s. v. Aithen, Those who thought with him found in him a warm friend.

10. trans. with complement (with or more often without inf.): To believe, consider, or suppose (to be..); to look upon as.

† Also (quot. 1607) with for (cf. take for, and 12 d).

c 1205 Lay. 24190 Ȝef he heom þuhte wurðe. a 1250 Prov. Alfred 60 in O. E. Misc. 106 We [read be] hine her on worlde wrþe þenceþ [c 1275 þenkeþ]. 1340 Hampole Pr. Conse. 4250 He sal thynk hym loverd of alle. c 1450 Regist. de Aberbrothe (Bann. Cl.) II. 107 Thynkand it onkyndie tyll thole ane nominationis of lard-schipe of sic ane man. a 1548 Hall Chron., Hen. VII 7 They were thought to haue been confederates. 1593 Shakes. Rich. II, v. ii. 26 Thinking his prattle to be tedious. 1607 — Cor. IV. v. 62 If...not yet thou know'st me, and..dost not thinke me for the man I am. 1610 — Temp. IV. i. 120 May I be bold To thinke these spirits? 1651 Hobbes Leviath. II. xxv. 135 Some, that have the ambition to be thought eloquent. 1728 Young Love of Fame VI. 205 Think nought a trifle, tho' it small appear. 1834 James F. Marston Hall vii, Lord Masterton thought himself bound to act the part of an elder brother. 1865 Ruskin Sesame ii. § 94 You think that only a lover's fancy.

b. with complement immediately following (with ellipsis of obj. it, or with inf. or clause as obj. placed after the complement). Now chiefly in think fit (see Fit a. 2 b), think proper.

c 1375 Cursor M. 14096 (Fairf.) Martha þut it ho [Mary] ne help hir walde. c 1400 Laud Troy Bk. 3426 Wherefore I rede, if ye thenke right, That we sende som messanger To Delos. c 1460 Sir R. Ross La Belle Dame 190 Whan he bought tyme to dauunce with her. a 1500 Debate Carpenter's Tools 208 in Hazl. E. P. P. I. 85 Alle the yerne that I myy spynne, To spend at ale he thinkes no tynne. 1560 in Feuillerat Revels Q. Eliz. (1908) 51 As the said Edmunde.. shall thinke behoofefull & expedient. 1611-1875 [see Fit a. 2 b]. 1692 Sir T. P. Blount Ess. 37, I thought good to go to the Philosophers. 1831 Scott Chron. Canongate Introd., The little narrative which I thought proper to put forth in October, 1827.

c. Think (it) long: to grow weary with waiting; to wearied, to be impatient; to long, yearn. In quot. c 1380 think long by = to weary of. See also Long a.[1] 9 b. Obs. exc. dial.

A perversion of the earlier think long (Think v.[1] B. 3) 'to seem or appear long to', by substituting the nom. for the (uninflected) dative. In the first quot. 'þat Crist þouȝte longe' may be = that to Christ seemed long (cf. 'þat him thoughte long').

c 1380 Wyclif Serm. Sel. Wks. II. 50 Þe Jewis bousten þat Crist þouȝte longe bi his liif, and wolde..slee himsilf. 1450 Marg. Paston in P. Lett. I. 178, I thynk ryth longe tyll I have some god tydyngys fro yow. a 1533 Ld. Berners Huon xciii. 303 My wyfe..thynketh longe for my comynge. 1592 G. Harvey Four Lett., etc. Sonn. xviii, These hungry wormes thinke longe for their repast. 1631 Rutherford Lett. (1862) I. 75 Behold I come..; think not long. I shall be with you at once. 1650 Trapp Comm. Exod. x. 3 God think's long of the time that most mispend ..in wicked courses. 1788 Clara Reeve Exiles I. 195 We think long till we see you. 1895 Fraser Whaups xi. 132 Ye maunna bide lang away, for I'll be thinkin' lang till I see ye again.

†d. Think (it) much: to think it a great or serious matter; to make objection, object, grudge; to be shy, hesitate (to do something, or of something); to be surprised, wonder (that ...). See also Much B. 2 g, and cf. 11. Obs.

Perh. altered from 'it thinks me much' (Think v.[1]).

1610 Shakes. Temp. I. ii. 252 Thou..thinkst it much to tread ye Ooze Of the salt deepe. 1656 Earl Monm. tr. Boccalini's Advts. fr. Parnass. I. i. (1674) 1 Mavius thinks not much to acquaint you here with the chiefest of them. 1669 R. Montagu in Buccleuch MSS. (Hist. MSS. Comm.) I. 465 Mr. Grey nor Mr. Treasurer will not think much of my sharing with them. 1678 Tillotson Serm., 1 John v. 3 I. 221 If we consider our infinite obligations to God, we have no reason to think much to sacrifice to him our dearest interests.

†e. pass. To seem, appear (to a person): = Think v.[1]; also ellipt. to seem good. Obs.

Perh. originally for Think v.[1]: 'it thinks (= appears) to the king' being changed by way of correction to 'it is thought to the king'; hence the retention of to.

1425 Rolls of Parth. IV. 290/2 Hit is thought to the Kyng.. that there is provision made, 1447 Ibid. 326/2 Alleggyng..such groundes..as it was bought to youre discreon. 1598 Q. Mary in J. M. Stone Life (1901) 512 As to hys godly wysdome shall be thowght mete and convenyent. 1577 J. Knewstub Confutation (1579) 86 It was thought good vnto almighty God, that the Scriptures should be penned.

11. intr. To have a (good, bad, or other) opinion with regard to a person or thing; to value or esteem something (highly or otherwise). Const. with adv. (much, little, well, ill, etc.), or adverbial accusative (in fig. phrases, as to think the world of, small beer of, etc.: see also the sbs.); and with of (†by, †on, †at, dial. to) before the name of the person or thing.

c 1375 Cursor M. 14669 (Fairf.) Þai loked on him & loured grim & heþeli þai buȝt be him. c 1489 Caxton Sonnes of Aymon xii. 298 'What thynke you by hym?' 'Certes', sayd rowlande, 'reynaud is a sage knyght'. 1535 Coverdale Haggai ii. 3 But what thinke ye now by it? 1579 Tomson Calvin's Serm. Tim. 111/1 To constraine vs to thinke better on our selues. 1581 Mulcaster Positions iii. (1887) 11 This man wrote thus, and was verie well thought of. 1598 Shakes. Merry W. ii. 1 85 What doth he thinke of vs? 1601 — Twel. N. iv. ii. 59, I thinke nobly of the soule. 1711 Steele Spect. No. 104 P 2 To be negligent of what any one thinks of you, does not only shew you arrogant but abandoned. 1813 Sk. Character (ed. 2) I. 55, I didn't think much of her. 1902 O. Wister Virginian ix, Mrs. Taylor..thought the world of her. [Midl. dial. I don't think much to him. What do you think to the book?]

b. Think nothing of: (a) to have a very low opinion of, set no value upon, esteem as worthless; (b) to make light of, make no difficulty or scruple about (cf. make nothing of, Nothing 11 a); so to think no more of ..than.

[1640 Dk. Newcastle Country Capt. ii. i, Betweene, us too, what thinke you of a wench? Court. Nothinge.] 1802 Beddoes Hygeia viii. 76 A pint of wine in two hours is nothing thought of. 1872 O. W. Holmes Poet Breakf.-t. v, The Lady thanked him..but said she thought nothing of the walk. 1888 Harper's Mag. Mar. 565/2 The Western people..think no more of throwing down a railroad..than a conservative Easterner does of taking an unaccustomed walk across country.

12. To believe possible or likely; to suspect; to expect, anticipate. a. trans. with simple obj.

c 1400 Destr. Troy 12837 Priam..& his prise knightes, Sweryn all swiftly, & no swyke thoghtyn. 1604 Shakes. Oth. III. iii. 339, I saw't not, thought it not; it harm'd not me. 1719 Dr Foe Crusoe (1840) I. ii. 25 He, thinking no harm, agreed.

b. with inf. To expect.

c 1400 Pwaine & Gaw. 549 He thoght to be wele on hys way Or it war passed the thryd day. 1597 Shakes. 2 Hen. IV, IV. v. 92, I neuer thought to heare you speake againe. 1613 — Hen. VIII, III. ii. 429 Cromwel, I did not thinke to shed a teare In all my Miseries. 1768 G. Colman Terence, Step-Mother iv. vi, And do you think To find a woman without any faith? 1769 Richardson Dr. Last III. xi. O, don't think to humbug me so. 1823 Southey Lett. (1856) III. 392, I thought to have seen you ere this. Mod. I little thought to find you here!

c. intr. with of, †on (upon), †to: To have a notion, anticipation, or expectation; to suspect; to expect, look for.

1483 Caxton G. de la Tour div b, She..answerd without remembrynge her ne thynkyng to no harme. 1594 Shakes. Rich. III, I. iv. 244 When that our Princely Father..Blest his three Sonnes..; He little thought of this diuided Friendship. 1650 Gewillis Considerations 254 He studies at some evill which hee did not think upon. 1706 E. Ward Wooden World Diss. (1708) 98 He may meet with both when he least thinks on't. fig. 1868 Morris Earthly Par., Man born to be King 298 Staring out into the night Where yet the woods thought not of light.

d. intr. with for (†of, †on), after as or than, and with the preposition at the end of the clause: To expect, suppose. (Cf. look for, Look 15 a.)

c 1530 Ld. Berners Arth. Lyt. Bryt. 239, I thinke ye should not reioyse her so easily as ye thynke of. 1596 Shakes. Merch. of Ven. III. iv. 58 Oh sir, the conceit is deeper than you think for. 1658 Gurnall Chr. in Arm. verse 14. ix. (1669) 93/2 A godly Servant is a greater blessing than we think on. 1751 R. Paltock P. Wilkins (1884) I. 141, I have not made so bad a hand of my time as I thought for. 1821 Scott Kenilw. xv, They hear farther than you think of. 1852 Lytton My Novel xii. xiv, It is of more importance to him than I even thought for.

13. trans. To judge or consider to exist; to believe in the existence of. rare.

1532 Cromwell in Merriman Life & Lett. (1902) I. 251 He..percase might thinke sum unkyndeness and also presumpcyon in yow so to handell hym. 1671 Milton Samson 295 Unless there be who think not God at all. 1872 Contemp. Rev. XX. 93 Whatever its limits in a given percept be, there must be thought corresponding limits in its external sphere.

IV. With adverbial extension.

14. trans. To bring by thinking, or in thought, into or out of some specified condition.

1599 Shakes. Much Ado III. iv. 84 Indeed I cannot thinke, if I would thinke my hart out of thinking, that you are in loue. 1661 South Serm., Tit. ii. 13 (1715) I. 199 He that thinks a Man to the Ground, will quickly endeavour to lay him there. 1784 Cowper Task VI. 85 Meditation here May think down hours to moments. 1849 Tait's Mag. XVI. 376/2 He thinks away every proposition he has been taught to believe. 1865 Pusey Minor Proph. II. iv. (1868) 187 We hardly dare think them into our finite molds.

15. Think out: (a) To find out, devise, or elaborate by thinking, to construct intellectually; (b) to arrive at a clear understanding of by continued thinking; to solve by a process of thought; (c) to think to the end, finish or complete in thought.

1382 Wyclif Eccles. xvii. 21 Or what wers than flesh thoȝte out and blod? [Vulg. quid nequius quam quod excogitavit caro et sanguis?] 1874 Helps Friends in C. I. iii. 40 Too mean a subject for despair, or, at least, unworthy of having any remedy..thought out for it. 1849 Macaulay Hist. Eng. iv. I 510 He meditated deeply on the philosophy of trade, and thought out by degrees a complete..theory. 1862 Miss Braddon Lady Audley xxxiii, She did not finish the thought in words. She did not even think out the sentence. 1888 Anstey Tinted Venus ii. 25 Oh, don't bother me..! I don't want to be uncivil, but I've got to think this out.

16. Think (a thing) over: to give continued thought to (it); to apply the mind steadily to, with the view of coming to a decision.

1847 Marryat Childr. New Forest ix, He would think the matter over. 1873 Black Pr. Thule xxii, She had thought it well over beforehand. 1884 [see Over adv. 12].

17. Think up: to make up or compose by thinking. ? U. S. colloq.

1885 Century Mag. XXIX. 350/1, I believe she is thinking up another poem.

Think, sb. dial. or colloq. [f. Think v.[2]]

1. An act of (continued) thinking; a meditation.

1834 Tait's Mag. I. 406/1 We lie down yonder..and have time for our ain think. 1870 Mrs. Whitney We Girls ix, Ruth did talk..when she came out of one of her thinks. 1891 Fenn Mahme Nousie II. v. 73 Let's have a cigar and a quiet think.

b. nonce-use. An idea, a thought.

1886 Maudsley Nat. Causes & Supernat. Seemings 33 To every one a thing is..what he thinks it—in effect, a think. 1887 G. Macdonald Home Again iv, A thing must be a think before it be a thing.

2. What one thinks about something; an opinion.

1835 Lady Granville Lett. (1894) II. 287 My own private think is that he will execute another voluntary. 1861 J. Brown Horæ Subs. Ser. II. 355 The cobbler..dispenses his 'think'..to all comers on all subjects.

3. attrib. and Comb. (nonce-wds.), as think-ache, pain of thought, mental suffering; think-room, a room or apartment for meditation.

1892 Bridger Depression p. v, Each separate thinkache enumerated by my depressed patients. 1906 Month July 72 Castle, work-room, think-room.

Think, pink, obs. form of Thing.

Thinkable (pi·nkăb'l), a. [f. Think v.[2] + -able. Cf. Unthinkable c 1430, etc.]

1. Capable of being thought; such as one can form a notion or idea of; cogitable.

1891 H. Spencer in Brit. Q. Rev. July 137 A corresponding progress in language, by which greater varieties of objects are thinkable and expressible. 1883 H. Drummond Nat. Law in Spir. W. Introd. (1884) 3 To marshal the discrete materials..into thinkable form.

2. That can be deemed real or actual; conceivable or imaginable as an existing fact.

1805 Carlyle Fredk. Gt. xx. vi. (1872) IX. 109 How charming that you should make thinkable to us..what we were all inclined to think. 1908 Times 10 Sept. 8/4 It is thinkable that considerate driving may render legal enactments unnecessary.

Hence Thinkableness.

1895 A. J. Balfour Found. Belief 286 'Ultimate' scientific ideas may be unthinkable without prejudice to the 'thinkableness' of proximate 'scientific' ideas.

†Thinkative, a. Obs. [f. Think v.[2] + -ative: cf. talkative.] Consisting in mere thinking, speculative.

1652 J. Chandler Van Helmont's Oriat. 343 The knowledge of Observation, doth not introduce an understanding into the essential thingliness of a thing, but erecteth only a thinkative knowledge.

Thinker (pi·nkəɹ). [f. Think v.[2] + -er 1.]

1. One who thinks. a. gen. A person or being engaged in thinking, or having the power to think; also, one who thinks out or devises something.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 490/2 Thenkere, cogitator, pensator. 1548 Udall, etc. Erasm. Par. Matt. xii. 73 Noysome onely vnto the thynker. 1678 Cudworth Intell. Syst. I. v. § 2. 761 The Democritick Epicureans did indeed suppose all humane cogitations to be ensued, by the incursion of corporeal atoms upon the thinker. 1841 Spalding Italy & It. Isl. III. 208 He stands forth..as the thinker, the inventor, the actor of the scene. 1891 J. Cook Lect. Conscience vi, The universe exhibits thought. There cannot be thought without a thinker.

b. with qualifying adj.: One who thinks in the way expressed by the adj.; with commendatory words (e. g. able, deep, original, etc.) often practically coinciding with next sense.

c 1698 Locke Cond. Underst. § 4 You may as well hope to make a good..Musician..by a Lecture..in the Arts of Musick..as a coherent Thinker, or strict Reasoner, by a Set of Rules. 1703 Atterbury Serm. (1734) IV. iv. 114 He was able..to delude a superficial Thinker with his new Terms and Reasonings. 1807 G. Chalmers Caledonia I. ii. I. 227 Lloyd ..was an original thinker, rather than the collector of the opinions of others. 1874 L. Stephen Hours in Library (1892) I. ix. 300 Two of the ablest thinkers whom America has yet produced. 1903 Church Times 11 Dec. 749/3 Mr. Spencer showed another weakness of the abstract Thinker.

c. spec. One who has special or well-trained powers of thought, esp. abstract thought; a person of skilled or powerful mind; also, one who devotes himself to thinking, as distinguished from action or practical affairs.

1830 Carlyle in Froude Life (1882) II. 128 Neither is his [Jeffrey's] arguing like that of a thinker, but of the advocate. 1849 Macaulay Hist. Eng. I. i. 50 English thinkers aspired to know, or dared to doubt, where bigotin had been content to wonder and to believe. 1880 E. White Cert. Relig. 30 Not one of them makes the slightest pretension to be a scholar or a thinker.

2. Theatr. colloq. An actor who plays in 'thinking parts' (see Thinking vbl. sb. 3).

1886 Stage Gossip 70 The gentlemen who play the most subordinate parts are..called 'thinkers' on account of their having little or nothing to say and lots of time wherein to think.

3. nonce-use. That which thinks; thinking organ or faculty; mind.

1835 Ann F. Tytler Mary & Fl. I. 6 What should we do about our thinkers? would one thinker do for two Tongues? 1883 J. Parker Tyne Ch. 279 'If God did not intend I should think, why did He give me a "thinker"?' Probably a more childish inquiry was never made by a full-grown man. 1899 Miss A. Robertson in Educat. Rev. Aug., So this unnecessary 'finger accuracy' is really the result of a sluggish unwillingness to use one's 'thinker'.

Thinkful (pi·nkfŭl), a. rare. [f. Think v.[2] + -ful; cf. wakeful.] Full of or given to thinking; thoughtful. Hence Thi·nkfulness, quality or faculty of thinking.

1674 N. Fairfax Bulk & Selv. 16 As sure, as I am of my own thinkfulness. 1910 Weekly Westm. Gaz. 23 Apr. 6/3 A thinkful man, and one of eloquent silences.

Thinking (pi·nkiŋ), vbl. sb. [f. Think v.[2] + -ing 1.] The action of Think v.[2]

1. Thought, cogitation, meditation, mental action or activity, etc.: see various senses of the verb.

a 1300 E. E. Psalter xviii. 15 [xix. 14] And thinginge of herte mine, Ever mare in sight þine. 1382 Wyclif ibid. The sweete thenking of myn herte in thi siȝte euermore. c 1460 Ashby Dicta Philos. 16 Bethink in the nyght of goode ordenance, And in the day execute thy thynkyng. 1598 Shakes. Merry W. III. ii. 31 Has Page any braines? Hath he any eies? Hath he any thinking? 1690 Locke Hum. Und. II. ix. § 1 Thinking..signifies that sort of operation of the Mind about its Ideas, wherein the Mind is active. 1802 Wordsw. Sonn., 'O Friend! I know not', etc., Plain living and high thinking are no more. 1885 J. Martineau Types Eth. Th. I. § 3. 159 Thinking is the very essence of mind, as extension is of matter.

b. pl. Thoughts; meditations, courses of thought.

1382 Wyclif Isa. lxv. 2 A puple..that goth in a wei not good, after ther thenkingis. 1491x Caxton Vitas Patr. (W. de W. 1495) ii. 192 b/a So oryson with fastyng casteth out..the foule thoughtes & vayne thynkynges. 1548 Udall Erasm. Par. Luke v. 70 The secrete thinkynges of theyr hertes. 1601 Shaks. All's Well v. iii. 128, I am wrap'd in dismall thinkings. 1812 Southey Lett. (1856) II. 283 Put together all scyoul recollections and thinkings. I will put together my gleanings and thinkings. 1840 Dickens Old C. Shop viii, All these sayings and doings and thinkings.. affected him not in the least.

† c. spec. Imagination, fancy; idle fancy. rare.

c 1420 Chron. Vilod. 1792 þe sweuene Of þe tweyn appullon þat fellon from þe tre in to þe water in his thenkyng. 1502 Ord. Crysten Men (W. de W. 1506) 1. iii. 23 These wordes..be not made for no thynge and with thynkynge.

d. With various constructions: see the verb.

There is no thinking, one cannot or need not think.

1638 Baker tr. Balzac's Lett. (vol. II.) 111 There is no thinking therefore to deceive you by a shew of good. 1669 R. Montagu in Buccleuch MSS. (Hist. MSS. Comm.) I. 436 Without her ever thinking of it. 1849 Cloughs Dipsychus II. ii. 105 My pleasure of thought is the pleasure of thinking How pleasant it is to have money.

2. The holding of an opinion or opinions; judging, mental viewing; opinion, judgement, belief; phr. to († after, in) my thinking = in my opinion.

c 1410 Master of Game (Digby MS. 182) Prol. 13 What shulbe in every seyson more durable and, to my thinkynge, ..oftenest most desporthull of all games. 1490 J. Kay tr. Caoursin's Siege of Rhodes (1870) P 10 That hyt was impossible, after hys thynkyng, to fynde in all the world such instruments of werre. 1597 Shaks. 2 Hen. I will yv. v. 114, I heare a Bird so sing, Whose Musicke (to my thinking) pleas'd the King. 1599 Dallam in Early Voy. Levant (Hakl. Soc.) 11 In my thinkinge it seemed not to be above 3 miles. c 1791 Burke Addr. to King's Wks. IX. 177 In.. opposition to the .. confirmed sentiments and habits of thinking of an whole people. 1879 B. Taylor Stud. Germ. Lit. 143 Frauenlob, the last, and, to my thinking, the poorest of the Minnesingers.

3. attrib. and Comb., as thinking-party, -place, process, -room, -substance; thinking-cap (see CAP *sb.*1 9, and cf. considering-cap, CONSIDERING vbl. sb. 2 b); thinking part (Theatr. colloq.), a part in which the actor has no words to speak, a silent part; thinking-shop (humorous), a building or institution for study, as a university; thinking-time, -while, time to think, a short space of time.

1874 Couss Birds N. W. 527 Startled in his retreat while his thinking-cap is on, he [the bittern] seems dazed, like one suddenly aroused from a deep sleep. 1903 Daily Citron. 21 Jan. 5/4 It is satisfactory to know that the Post Office Department has its 'thinking-cap' on. 1898 Daily News 12 Mar. 6/3 The great Benefit which is to be given to Nellie Farren next week at Drury Lane...Some of the most famous lettersonly are connected with what are humorously called good 'thinking' parts. 1908 Greenroom Bk. 65 He made his professional debut in 1867 in a 'thinking part'. 1897 Q. Rev. Apr. 348 That remarkable series of reading-parties (or more truly of thinking-parties). 1883 Jefferies Story of my Heart 74 This..was a favourite thinking-place. 1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VII. 423 These kinæsthetic images..play only a small part in thinking processes. 1862 Thoreau Walden (1886) 13 When every house..will have not only its sleeping-rooms, and dining-room, and talking-room or parlor, but its thinking-room also. 1836-48 B. D. Walsh Aristoph., Clouds I. ii, I am come To be a scholar in the Thinking-shop. 1890 Spectator 19 Apr., It turned Oxford into an aristocratic boarding-school from a democratic thinking-shop. 1884 J. Tait Mind in Matter (1892) 99 The etherialised medium of force, which probably connects the brain with the thinking-substance. 1667 Dryden & Dr. Newcastle Sir Martin Mar-all v. i, I'll put you upon something, give me but a thinking time. Ibid. iii. 1, As a whiff of tobacco ..[used] in the midst of a discourse for a thinking-while.

Thinking, ppl. a. [f. as prec. + -ING 2.]

1. That thinks; having, or exercising, the faculty of thought; cogitative.

1678 Dryden & Lee Œdipus III. i, A thinking soul is punishment enough. 1709 Steele & Addison Tatler No. 111 P 1 What was the proper Employment of a thinking Being? 1800 Mod. Trvl. III. 282 According to the laws of the thinking faculty, the understanding, and reason. 1864 Bowen Logic i. 2 The Thinking or Elaborative faculty,—i.e. the Understanding.

2. Given to thinking; habitually exercising one's mind; having special or well-trained powers of thought; thoughtful, reflective, intellectual. (Cf. THINKER 1 c.)

1681 Let. to Person of Hon. in Select. Harl. Misc. (1793) 461 To have an account of the sense of the thinking-men about the town concerning it. 1779 Mirror No. 16 P 3 Those moments of deeper pensiveness to which every thinking mind is liable. 1837 W. Irving Capt. Bonneville III. 225 The senior chief..was a thinking man, and a man of observation.

3. fig. Said of very life-like sculpture: cf. BREATHING ppl. a. b.

1732 M. Green Grotto 57 The thinking sculpture helps to raise Deep thoughts, the genii of the place.

Hence Thinkingdom (nonce-wd.), a realm of thinking persons; Thinkingly adv., in a thinking manner, in the way of thought; with thought, consciously, deliberately; in (one's own) thought or supposition (quot. 1894); Thinkingness, thinking quality; thoughtfulness, intellectuality; the essence of a thinking being (quot. 1865).

1880 Q. Rev. Oct. 415 Christendom..is far enough as yet from having been replaced by the Utopian *Thinkingdom (Cogitationthum), to which one of the modern German apostles of materialism..looks forward. 1847 Webster, Thinkingly*, by thought. 1887 Mary Linskill In Exchange for Soul xlviii, Quite thinkingly he sent the message in his wife's name. 1673 O. Walker Educ. v. 43 Contrary to that seriousness and thinkingness requisite to prudence and gallantry of spirit. 1838 New Monthly Mag. LIII. 118 All men say..good things of the courage of Englishmen, the chastity of English women, the thinkingness of both sexes. 1865 J. Grote Explor. Philos. I. 140, I recognise two manners of existence,..thinkingness and thoughtness.

Thinking (pi·nkliŋ). nonce-wd. [f. Think *v.*2 + -ling.] A petty or inferior thinker.

1815 J. Gilchrist Cakyrinth Demolished 22. 1816 — Philos. Etym. 247 A proper Etymological Dictionary, which petty thinklings—quackish pretenders affect to despise.

Thi·nk-so. nonce-wd. [The phr. (I) think so (Think *v.*2 9 c) used as a sb.] A mere opinion.

1666 Bunyan Grace Ab. § 97 How if all our Faith, and Christ, and Scriptures, should be but a Think-so too? 1675 — Saved by Grace Wks. (1692) I. 568/1 He thinks former encouragements were Fancies, Delusions or mere Think-so's. 1887 Hall Caine Deemster xxxix, All the dread I had felt hitherto..was no more than a thinkso.

Thin-laid, -leaved, etc.: see Thin a. D.

Thinly (pi·nli), adv. [f. Thin a. + -ly 2.] In a thin manner.

1. With little thickness or depth; with thin clothing. Also fig.

13.. R. Alis. 5906 (Bodl. MS.) Thynnelich hy beþ y-klatered. 1745 Francis tr. Hor., Sat. II. vi. 94 This Morning Air is very bad For them, who go but thinly clad. 1770 Phil. Trans. LXI. 234, I covered the bottom with it thinly. 1855 Macaulay Hist. Eng. xxi. IV. 570 The scheme of assassination, thus thinly veiled, was communicated to James. 1859 Gullick & Timbs Paint. 229 Pictures in oil ..may, of course, be thinly painted throughout.

b. fig. Poorly, meagrely. † Obs. rare.

1537 Cromwell in Merriman Life & Lett. (1902) II. 75 Your neighbours, without whom..all the rest of you would live full thynnely.

2. With large intervals of space or time; sparsely; not closely or thickly.

c 1545 in Dugdale Monast. (1821) III. 283, v. acrez di. thinly growyne with olde bechez and some oke. 1667–8 Sir T. Browne Brampton Urns Wks. 1835 III. 500 Great ones were but thinly found. a 1727 Newton Chronol. Amended i. (1728) 178 He found that country..peopled but thinly. 1827 Hone Every-day Bk. II. 106 The market was..thinly attended.

3. In combination with pa. pples. or adjs. used attributively: now usually hyphened.

1757 Dyer Fleece I. Wks. (1761) 60 The thinly-scatter'd meal. 1797 Gentleman's Enquirer II. xii. 454 'Ten thinly printed pages. 1862 Ansted Channel Isl. I. ii. (ed. 2) 26 'thinly-bedded grey rocks. 1890 'R. Boldrewood' Col. Reformer (1891) 70 An open, thinly-timbered, well-grassed country. 1902 Daily Citron. 25 Jan. 3/2 He makes thinly-veiled love to the young lady.

+Thi·nmost, a. Obs. rare—1. [f. Thin a.: see -most.] Thinnest.

1644 Nye Gunnery (1670) 83 If this Peece were fortified..onely so much, as the thinmost part of the metall is.

Thinned (pind), ppl. a. [f. Thin *v.*1 + -ed 1.] Made thin or less thick, in senses of Thin *v.*1; reduced in thickness, density, frequency, number, etc.

1710 J. Clarke Robault's Nat. Phil. I. xxvii. (1729) I. 210 The Superficies of the thinned Body, when it is thin' any one Thickness. 1887 Ld. Dufferin Lett. High Lat. xiii. (ed. 3) 359 'The thinned ranks on board the 'Iron Beard' are constantly replenished. 1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VIII. 695 Pigment is irregularly accumulated in the thinned epidermis.

Thi·nner. [agent-n. from Thin *v.*1 : see -er 1.] One who thins.

1832 Plantine 63 in Libr. Usef. Knowl., Husb. III, Leaving them to press upon each other more severely than vigorous thinners would permit. 1889 Pall Mall G. 2 July 2/2 The case of the little turnip-thinners in Saxony.

Thinness (pi·nnes). [f. Thin a. + -ness.] The quality or condition of being thin.

1. Narrowness of dimension between opposite surfaces; absence of thickness or depth.

1577 B. Goodge Heresbach's Husb. II. (1586) 60 b, Fulnesse and emptinesse, or thicknesse and thinnes. 1617 Moryson Itin. III. 175 Cotton cloth..for thinnesse not vnlike our boulting cloths. 1725 Desaguliers Fires Impr. 123 Where you cannot dig in the Back-Wall of a Chimney by reason of its thinness. 1807 Vancouver Agric. Devon (1813) 54 The thinness of the seam [of coal]. 1863 Lyell Antiq. Man iii. 34 The extreme thinness of the film of matter.

b. Lean or spare habit of body; spareness.

1827–35 Willis Loper 65 There, alone, Wasted to ghastly thinness, Helen knelt.

c. fig. Deficiency, poverty, meagreness, feebleness; lack of depth or fullness.

c 1000 Sax. Leechd. I. 134 Hit þehælð þa þynnysse þære þeslihðe. 1623 W. Balcanqual Serm. St. Maries Spittle 98 The thinnesse of our Ioy, because we did sowe our teares too thin. 1902 Daily Citron. 20 Feb. 3/6 That there was much 'intellectual thinness' among young men.

2. The condition of being thinly arranged, occupied, or attended; want of fullness; sparseness.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 491/1 Thynnesse, of wodys, cornys, and oper lyke, raritas. 1573–80 Baret Alv. T 166 Thinnesse: seldomnesse, rarità. 1690 Locke Govt. II. vii. § 74 The Thinness of People gives Families Leave to separate into unpossessed Quarters. 1774 A. Gib Pres. Truth II. 40 None of these brethren opened a mouth about the thinness of the meeting. 1846 F. Reynolds Life & Times II. 200 Expressing my surprise at the..thinness of the house.

3. Absence or lack of density, consistence, or viscosity; fluidity, tenuity, rarity.

c 1000 Sax. Leechd. II. 199 Þonne þara metta meltung biþ & þynnes. 1398 Trevisa Barth. De P. R. xi. i. (Bodl. MS.), Eyer haþ more þinnesse and clerenesse þan oþer elementis. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 491/1 Thynnesse, or thynhede of licurys. 1582 Stanyhurst Æneis i. (Arb.) 37 From earthly thicknesse, too thinnesse vannished ayerie. 1684–5 Boyle Mim. Waters 26 Of the thinness or viscosity of the Mineral Water. a 1854 Carlyle R. Southey Poet. Wks. (1869) 67 Milk..tempered down To wholesome thinness.

+Thi·nnify, v. Obs. rare—1. [f. Thin a. + -ify, -fy.] trans. To make thin; = Thin *v.*1 5.

a 1693 Urquhart's Rabelais III. iv. 49 The Heart doth in its left side Ventricle so thinnifie the Blood.

Thi·nning, vbl. sb. [f. Thin *v.*1 + -ing 1.] The action of Thin *v.*1, in various senses; reduction or decrease in thickness, closeness, number, density, etc. Also with out, off, away, up, etc.

c 1000 Sax. Leechd. II. 260 Lacedomas þa þe þynnunge maegen habben. 1398 Trevisa Barth. De P. R. xix. xii. (Bodl. MS.), White mater is igendred of thynnynge and spredinge of aier. 1799 J. Robertson Agric. Perth 257 Weeded down by various thinnings. 1839 Ure Dict. Arts 1269 The thinning up, or quantity of turpentine required to bring it to its proper consistence. 1851 Carpenter Man. Phys. (ed. 2) 268 By the thinning-away of its wall at its most projecting part. 1868 Rep. U. S. Commissioner Agric. (1869) 423 Upon thinning out, enough plants were cast away to have run at least twelve miles.

b. concr. usually pl. That which is removed in the process of thinning. (Cf. sweepings.)

1771 Usef. Proj. in Ann. Reg. 115/2 Sir John..never receives less than a guinea an acre in thinnings throughout his plantations. 1802 R. W. Dickson Fourn. Agric. I. Pl. xxx. 110 A fir paling of the horizontal kind, made from the thinning of trees of the kind. 1893 Trnl. R. Agric. Soc. Dec. 826 Thinnings and rubbish should be immediately removed and burnt.

Thi·nning, ppl. a. [f. Thin *v.*1 + -ing 2.] That thins, in various senses of the verb.

1550 Bale Eng. Votaries ii. 81 To confirme the thynynge shewe of hypocresye. 1790 Wolcott (P. Pindar) Rowland for Oliver 92 Art thou a Doctor? Yes, of thinning skill. 1888 Punch Court. 31 Oct. 5/2 His gradually thinning hair. 1899 Macrail Life Morris I. 154 mere thinning remnant between two divergent and increasing camps.

Thinnish (pi·nnij), a. [f. Thin a. + -ish 1.] Somewhat thin; tending to thinness.

1545 Raynold Byrth Mankynde 139 Her vryne shall appeare whyte and thynnyssh. 1780 C. A. Burney in Hist. D'Arblay's Early Diary (1889) II. 289 The Masquerade at the Pantheon was rather thinnish. 1827 F. Cooper Prairie I. ii. 30 They told us..we should find settlers something thinnish hereaway. 1884 Century Mag. XXIX. 738/1 My somewhat slight figure and thinnish legs.

Thinnye, obs. form of Tunny.

Thinocorine (þaiṇgkōrain), a. Ornith. [f. mod.L. Thinocorus (properly -ys), f. Gr. θίς, θῖν- beach, sea-shore + κόρυς lark: see -ine 1.] Of, pertaining to, or characteristic of the Thinocoridæ or quail-snipes, a family of South American wading birds, typified by the genus Thinocorus.

1885 Stand. Nat. Hist. IV. 92 The Thinocorine palate, in which the vomer is connected with the nasal cartilages in a manner recalling that of the Ægithognathæ.

Thinolite (þai·nōlait). Min. [f. Gr. θίς, θῖν- (see prec.) + λίθος stone: see -lite.] 'A variety of calcite, occurring in pseudomorphous crystals, the original mineral being still in doubt' (Chester Dict. Min. 1896).

1879 C. Kingsley Good. 40th Parallel I. 508 (Chester).

Thin-skinned (-skind: stress var.), a.

1. Having a thin skin or rind.

1598 Chapman Blinde Begger of Alexandria Wks. 1873 I. 11 Round faces and thinne skinde are happiest still. 1707 Mortimer Husb. (1721) II. 155 Chuse the large, round, white, and thin-skinned ones. 1825 Bennett & Dyer Sachs' Bot. 239 A stony endocarp surrounding the thin-skinned seed.

2. fig. Sensitive to criticism, ridicule, or abuse; easily hurt or offended; touchy.

1680 Baxter Answ. Stillingfl. lxxviii. 99, I..never was so thin Skin'd as to be unable to bear a Cholerick breath. 1771 Smollett Humph. Cl. 8 June 75 My apothecary, who is a proud Scotchman, very thin skinned. 1828 Corbett Pol. Reg. XXXIII. 311 The professional gentlemen in Pennsylvania are..extremely thin-skinned, when they are the party attacked. 1894 Froude Life & Lett. Erasmus xvii. 328 Erasmus..was thin-skinned as ever.

Hence Thi·n-ski·nnedness, the condition or quality of being thin-skinned; sensitiveness.

1882 Sala Amer. Revis. (1883) I. iii. 43 note, A very gratifying proof of the diminution of what may be termed 'thin-skinnedness'. 1897 Spectator 23 Oct. 559/1 This thin-skinnedness among experienced public men.

Thin-sown (þinṇsōun : stress var.), a. Also 7 thin-sowed. Sown or planted thinly; lit. said of plants, or a crop; fig. scattered at wide intervals, scarce; also, of a field or territory: scantily furnished with († of).

1589 R. Harvey Pl. Perc. (1590) 18 Good deeds, which are now both thin sowne..,and thinner growne. a 1631 Donne Lett. (1651) 159 This Countrie is so thin sowed with such persons, as he comes to seek; that he will scarce know, where to find a corn to peck at. 1698 Norris Pract. Disc. IV. 60 Very good Men..were always very thin sown. a 1846 in J. Baxter Libr. Pract. Agric. (ed. 4) II. 398 In the early stages..the appearance of thick-sown corn is much superior to that of the thin-sown.

Thi'n-spu'n, a. (stress var.) Spun thinly; drawn out in spinning to a slender thread. Also fig. 1637 MILTON Lycidas 76 Comes the blind Fury with th' abhorred shears, And slits the thin spun life. 1642 H. MORE Song of Soul ii. iii. iv. ix, Thin-spun reason and exile discourse. 1821 CLARE Vill. Minstr. I. 93 How thin-spun clouds glide swiftly by. Ibid. 120 Nor broken seam, nor thin-spun screen.

Thi'n-walled (-wōld), a. Having thin walls. 1854 OWEN Skel. & Teeth (1855) 7 The thinnest-walled and widest air-bone of the bird of flight was first solid. 1875 BENNETT & DYER Sachs' Bot. 90 Alternate layers of narrow thick-walled and broad thin-walled cork-cells are formed. 1875 HUXLEY & MARTIN Elem. Biol. (1877) 184 Posteriorly, the oviducts dilate into capacious thin-walled chambers.

Thio- (θαι,ο), also before a vowel thi-, repr. Gr. θεῖον sulphur; a formative element in names of things containing or connected with sulphur.

1. in Chem. (See also THIOL-, THION-.) In names of compounds containing sulphur = sulpho-.

In systematic nomenclature restricted to those in which one or more atoms of sulphur take the place of one or more of oxygen in the substance designated by the rest of the name; e.g. thiacetic acid $C_2H_3O.SH$, from acetic acid $C_2H_3O.OH$, tri-thiocarbonic acid $H_2CS_3$, from carbonic acid $H_2CO_3$. So thio-acid, -alcohol, -aldehyde, -ether, -unit; also thio-antimo'nic, -antimo'nious, -arse'nic, -arse'nious, -lactic, -phosphoric, -phosphoryl, -stannic, -tungstic, etc. But many names do not conform exactly to this systematic use.

The following are the chief combinations of thio-.

Thia'cetate, a salt of thiacetic acid. Thiace'tic a., in thiacetic acid ($C_2H_3O.SH$), a colourless liquid boiling at 93° C. Thi'a-cid = thio-acid. Thia'dine [ALDEHYDE + -INE 5], a crystalline substance, $NH:2(CHCH_3.S)$; $CHCH_3$, produced by passing hydrogen sulphide into a solution of aldehyde ammonia. Thi'alol [AL(COHOL + -OL 3], a name for diethyl disulphide, $(C_2H_5)_2S_2$, a colourless oily compound, having an odour like garlic. Thi'amide, generic name for substances formed by replacing the oxygen of an amide by sulphur, as thiacetamide, $CH_3CS.NH_2$, from acetamide, $CH_3CO.NH_2$. Thi'amine, generic name for amines containing the group NHSH, as ethylthiamine, $C_2H_5.NHSH$. Thiazole [AZO- + -ole, -OL 3], $N\begin{matrix}/CH.S\\ \backslash CH:CH'\end{matrix}$ a liquid boiling at 117° C.

Thi'enyl [contr. of thiophenyl, proposed 1883 by V. Meyer], the radical $C_4H_3S$ contained in thiophene, $C_4H_4S$. Thi'o-a'cid, thi'-a'cid, an acid in which oxygen is replaced by sulphur. Thioa'lbumose, a deutero-albumose containing a large amount of sulphur. Thio-a'lcohol, a compound of the nature of an alcohol in which sulphur takes the place of oxygen, as mercaptan, $C_2H_5.SH$, analogous to ethyl alcohol, $C_2H_5.OH$. Thioca'rbamate, a salt of thiocarbamic acid. Thiocarba'mic a., in t. acid, $NH_2.CO.SH$ and $NH_2.CS.OH$: now distinguished as thiolcarbamic and thioncarbamic acids: see THIOL-, THION-. Thioca'rbamide, CS(NH$_2$)$_2$ or HS.C(NH$_2$):NH, a crystalline substance melting at 170° C. Thioca'rbonate, a salt of thiocarbonic acid. Thiocarbo'nic a., in t. acid: in derivatives, as mono-, di-, tri-thiocarbonic acid: the last, $H_2CS_3$, is a dark yellow strongly smelling oil, very easily decomposed by heating into $CS_2$ and $H_2S$; esters of dithiocarbonic acid, $H_2COS_2$, and of monothiocarbonic acid, $H_2CO_2S$, are known. Thioca'rbonyl, the radical (CS)'', in which the oxygen of carbonyl (CO)' is replaced by sulphur. Thioca'rbylamine = iso-thiocyanic acid, CHNS, = C≡N.SH. Thiocresol (θαι,ο,κre'σῆl), a compound with the formula $CH_3:C_6H_4SH$, of which there are three modifications, two crystalline and one liquid. Thiocy'anate, a salt of thiocyanic acid. Thiocya'nic a., in t. acid, N:C.SH, cyanic acid, N:C.OH, in which oxygen is replaced by sulphur; a liquid with a penetrating odour. Thiocya'nogen, the radical CNS of thiocyanic acid; in comb. thiocyano-. Thiofo'rmic a., in t. acid, $H_2COS$, a crystalline substance melting at 120° C. Thiona'phthene, a colourless crystalline compound, $C_8H_6S$, consisting of benzene, $C_6H_6$, of which two atoms of H are replaced by CH:CH.S. Thionic (θαι,ο'nik) a., in t. acids, group name for the acids represented by the formula $H_2S_nO_6$, where n = 2, 3, 4, 5, and perhaps 6. These acids are called dithionic, trithionic, tetrathionic, pentathionic, and hexathionic acid. Thi'onine, a brown-ish-black dye, $SC_{12}H_9N_3$, crystallizing in plates, called phenylene violet, or Lauth's v., and largely used to stain microscopic objects. Thionu'rate, a salt of thionuric acid. Thionuric (θαι,ο'nūū-rik) a. [f. Gr. θεῖον + URIC], in thionuric acid, CO:2(NH.CO):CH.NH.SO$_3$H, formed by the action of ammonia and sulphurous acid on alloxan in aqueous solution. Thi'onyl [-YL], the radical (SO)'': so named in 1857 by Schiff (Annalen der Chem. und Pharm. CII. 113). Thi'ophene, $C_4H_4S$, a colourless liquid with an odour like benzene, occurring in benzene from coal-tar to the extent of about 0·5 per cent.; hence Thiophe'nic a., in thiophenic acid, $C_4H_3S.CO_2H$, derived from thiophene. Thiophe'nol, a colourless liquid, $C_6H_5SH$ (= PHENOL with S in place of O), with the odour of garlic. Thio'phthene [NA)PHTHENE], a colourless oily compound, $C_8H_6S_2$, obtained by the distillation of citric acid with $P_2S_5$. Thi'oreso'rcin, also Thioreso'rcinol, $C_6H_4(SH)_2$, a yellowish-grey substance, used medicinally as a substitute for iodoform. Thi'osalicy'lic a., in t. acid, $HOC_6H_4CO(SH)$, a brownish-yellow amorphous substance, used in medicine as an antiseptic. Thio-salt, a salt of a thio-acid, as a thiosulphate. Thiosi'namine [L. sinapis mustard + AMINE] = allyl-thio-urea, $C_3H_5NH.CS.NH_2$, a crystalline substance produced by the action of ammonia on allyl mustard oil. Thiosu'lphate, a salt of thiosulphuric acid; formerly called hyposulphite. Thiosulphu'ric a., in t. acid, $H_2S_2O_3$, an acid only known in solution and soon decomposing, the salts of which are stable, and are applied in bleaching and photography; it is sulphuric acid, $H_2SO_4$, in which one atom of oxygen is replaced by sulphur; formerly called hyposulphurous acid. Thioto'luene [TOLUENE] = methylthiophene, $C_4H_3(CH_3)S$, a colourless oily compound, found as an impurity in crude toluene; two isomeric forms are known. Thio-urea (θαι,ο,ῡū-rī'ā), CS(NH$_2$)$_2$ or HS.C(NH$_2$):NH = thiocarbamide. Thioxa'nthone [XANTHONE], $C_{13}H_8OS$, crystallizing in yellow needles. Thiozene (θαι,ο'ksēn), Thioxylene (θαι,ο'ksīlēn) [named thiozene by Victor Meyer (Ber. Deut. Chem. Ges. 1884, XVII. 789)] = dimethylthiophene, $C_4H_2(CH_3)_2S$, found as an impurity in xylene; there are several isomeric forms.

1854 KEKULÉ in Proc. Roy. Soc. VII. 38 Thiacetic Acid, —Sulphuretted Acetic Acid—has been obtained by me by acting on monohydrated nacetic acid with tersulphide of phosphorus. 1874 WOHLER & LIEBIG in Mem. Chem. Soc. III. 303 A new organic alkali free from oxygen..which we call thialdine..contracted from θεῖον and aldehyde. 1881 WATTS Dict. Chem. VIII. 1952 Thiamides..may be conveniently prepared by the action of phosphorus sulphide ..on amides. 1888 HANTZSCH & WEBER in Jrnl. Chem. Soc. LIV. 256 Thiazole is the name given to [these] isomeric compounds. 1885 PETER Ibid. XLVIII. 141 Thiohydroxyphenylacetoxine $C_6H_4S.CM_2:NOH$, forms a white crystalline mass. 1882 WILL Ibid. XLII. 1088 Thiocarbamates...A continuation of the author's researches. 1878 GUARESCHI Ibid. XXXIV. 860 Thiocarbanilide CS (NH$_2$)$_2$ [etc.] when oxidised by permanganate likewise yield sulphur in the state of sulphuric acid. 1891 Anthony's Photogr. Bull. IV. 397 Prof. J. E. Reynolds, who was the original discoverer of the ringing sulphur urea, now known as thio-carbamide. 1883 Jrnl. Chem. Soc. XLIV. 405 The use of potassium thiocarbonate as a remedy against phylloxera. 1887 Ibid. LI. 272 The conversion of *thiocarbonyl chloride into thiocarbonyl tetrachloride by the assimilation of two atoms of chlorine takes place at ordinary temperatures. 1897 Ibid. XXXII. 869 *Thiocyanates of the acid radicles are prepared by the action of acid chlorides on dry lead thiocyanate. 1877 Ibid. XXXII. 423 Action of Nascent *Thiocyanic Acid on Alcohol. 1857 Ibid. IX. 185 *Thioformic acid crystallizes from formic acid, on prolonged boiling alcohol, in slender needles. 1880 Ibid. XXXVII. 593 A qualitative reaction, by which pentathionic acid is clearly distinguished from any other of the *thionic acids. 1891 THOMSON British Assn. 377 *Thionurate of zinc. Ibid., *Thionuric acid. 1874 WATTS Dict. Chem. V. 779 Thionuric acid..forms a crystalline mass, consisting of fine needles. Ibid. 780 *Thionyl. SO.—The radicle of the sulphurous compounds; e.g., sulphurous chloride, $(SO)'Cl_2$ = chloride of thionyl. 1883 MEYER in Jrnl. Chem. Soc. XLIV. 1091 A substance contained in Coal-tar Benzene..to which the author has given the name of thiophene. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Thiophenol..phenyl mercaptan. Ibid., Thioresorcin,..a popular substitute of resorcin..Used as a dusting powder. 1883 URE Dict. Arts I. 32 *Thiosinnamine. 1881 PIESSE & STANSELL in Jrnl. Chem. Soc. XL. 207 Thiosinamine is an oily substance at 100°, but gradually solidifies when cold. 1873 WATTS Fownes' Chem. 108 The solution of a *thiosulphate. 1874 Jrnl. Chem. Soc. XXVII. 771 The close relation between the thiosulphates and sulphates is shown by the formulæ—$SO_2\begin{matrix}SNa\\ ONa\end{matrix}$ and $SO_2\begin{matrix}ONa\\ ONa\end{matrix}$. 1873 WATTS Fownes' Chem. 204 *Thiosulphuric Acid is scarcely known. 1874 Jrnl. Chem. Soc. XXVII. 770 On the Constitution of Hyposulphurous (Thiosulphuric) Acid. 1885 Ibid. XLVIII. 251 A Simple Method of obtaining *Thiotolene. 1894 MUIR & MORLEY Watts' Dict. Chem. IV. 710 Formed by adding Br to an alcoholic or cold aqueous solution of *thio-urea. 1888 Jrnl. Chem. Soc. XLVIII. 251 A simple method of obtaining. *thioxylene.

2. In pharmaceutical and other terms.

Thiobacte'ria, name proposed by Migula for sulphur and iron bacteria mostly found in seawater and soils. Thi'ocamph [CAMPH(OR)], a fluid disinfectant, used for fumigation, formed by the action of sulphur dioxide on camphor. Thi'ocol [GUAIA)-COL], a preparation of guaiacol, used in lung diseases. Thi'oform [after chloroform], trade-name of a basic bismuth di-thiosalicylate, as an antiseptic for wounds.

Thioge'nic a. [-GEN I + -IC], producing sulphur, spec. applied to bacteria which produce free sulphur by the oxidization of sulphuretted hydrogen. Thio'genol, trade-name of a solution of sodium sulphonate as a medical wash. Thi'olin [L. linum flax], trade-name of a dark-green substance prepared from linseed oil by the action of sulphur; hence Thioli'nic acid. Thiosa'piol, -sapol [L. sapo soap], -sa'vonal, trade-names of soap containing sulphur in chemical combination. ‖ Thi'othrix [Gr. θρίξ hair], a genus of sulphur bacteria found in sulphur springs.

1900 A. C. JONES tr. Fischer's Str. & Funct. Bacteria 65 The sulphur bacteria, Thiothrichaceæ, whose cells are often crammed full of spherical refringent masses of pure sulphur, occur in nature in places where free sulphuretted hydrogen is present. Ibid., Thiobacteria can be found at any time of the year, but are more abundant in the early spring and late autumn. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Thiocamph...on exposure evolves sulphur dioxide in steady fumes. Ibid., Thioform ..a light yellowish powder, without odour or taste..has.. been introduced into surgery with promising success. 1902 BRICKDALE Guide Newer Remedies 60 A dithiosalicylate ..has been..named Thioform. 1894 REMINGTON Pract. Pharm. (ed. 3) 1433 *Thiolin. Salts of thiosulphonic acid. Salt of thiolinic acid. Sulphurated and sulphurated linseed oil. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Thiolin, thiolinic acids. Ibid. *Thiosoʼpiol, a sulphuretted soap, containing 10 per cent. of sulphur, obtained by heating sulphur and oleic acid together...A successful application to many skin diseases.

Thiol- (θαι'ῑl). Chem. [arbitrarily f. THIO-.] A name for the group SH in combination, analogous to hydroxyl, OH.

It indicates the presence of an -SH group (or an -SR group, where R is an alkyl radical), as in methyl-thiolcarbamate, $H_2N.CO.SCH_3$, as distinguished from methyl carbamate, $H_2N.CO.OCH_3$, and also from methyl-thiocarbamate, $H_2N.CS.OCH_3$: see THION-. Also, in those cases in which hydroxy- would mean the presence of an -OH group, thiol- indicates the presence of an -SH group; and where methoxy-, ethoxy-, etc., would indicate $CH_3O-$, $C_2H_5O-$, RO- groups, methylthiol, ethylthiol, R-thiol-, indicate $CH_3S-$, $C_2H_5S-$, RS- groups; thus, the sulphur compound corresponding to sodium ethoxyacetate $C_2H_5O.CH_2.CO_2Na$ is sodium ethylthioglycolate $C_2H_5S.CH_2.CO_2Na$. Cf. THION-.

1899 Jrnl. Chem. Soc. LXXVI. 1. 797 The authors adopt the Geneva nomenclature, thion being used to denote compounds containing the group .CS.OR, and thiol those containing the group .CO.SR, respectively. 1905 Ibid. LXXXVIII. 1. 626 α-Thiolbutyric acid, SH.CHEt.$CO_2H$, is an oil boiling at 118–122° under 19 mm. pressure.

Thion- (θαι'ῑn). Chem. [a. Gr. θεῖον sulphur: cf. THIO-.] A name for sulphur taking the place of oxygen in a compound and joined by two bonds to carbon.

e.g. in methyl thioncarbamate, $H_2N.CS.OCH_3$, as distinct from methyl carbamate and methyl-thiolcarbamate: see THIOL-. (Certain words beginning with thion- do not conform to this system: see THIONIC, etc. under THIO-.)

1899 Jrnl. Chem. Soc. LXXVI. 1. 797 [see THIOL-]. 1904 Ibid. LXXXVI. 1. 990 The crude ester. is best converted directly into thioncoxanilic acid. 1905 Ibid. LXXXVIII. 1.

Thir (θir, ðīr), dem. pron. and adj. Sc. and north. dial. Forms: 3 þ, 4 – thir; also 4 (peir, pier), per(e, þar(e, there, 4–5 þir(e, 4–7 ther, 5 thire, theire, thair, (8–9 north. dial. ther, thoor, thoor, thur). [Origin obscure. The introduction of the word app. coincided with the change of þās in the north from being plural of this to being synonymous with þā, pl. of that: see THESE, THOSE, THO. The earliest evidence is that of Cursor Mundi and the northern works of 1300–1350, in which þās and þā appear as plural of that, and thir in various spellings is the established plural of this, = southern thēs, midland thise, these. Some suggest its adoption from ON. þeir, þær 'those', pl. masc. and fem. of the simple demonstrative sá, sú, þat, of which the plural was used also as 3rd pers. pron. pl. 'they'. Others have suggested a combination of þe with hēr 'here', as if = the here, those here. Both suggestions present difficulties. See Note.]

A. pron. = THESE dem. pron.

13.. Cursor M. 6201 (Cott.) þeir [Gött. þir, Fr. þes, T. þese] be folk of israel. Ibid. 6481 (Cott.) Þir [F. þer, G. þis, T. þese] er þe cons[u]mentes men. Ibid. 23053 (Edin., Gött.) Gist luuerdschip sal þir [Cott. þar, F. hann] be lent. Ibid. 23643 (Edin., Gött.) þir sal worsip al creature. a 1340 HAMPOLE Psalter iii. 2 Þere ere leghers, and þai say to bigile þe. 13.. Evang. Nicod. 26 in Herrig's Archiv LIII. 392 Wo, whatkyn godes or þire [trismes syre, ire, desyre]? c 1450 St. Cuthbert (Surtees) 3521 Þir [live onions], he saide, has bene my mete. 1456 SIR G. HAYE Law Arms (S.T.S.) 85 Of all thir, thare is nane sa gude as..defens of gude rycht. 1555–3 Reg. Privy Council Scot. I. 137 Thir ar the artikills of the Lordis. 1637–50 Row Hist. Kirk (Wodr. S.) 197 Any one of thir requys a wholl man. 1825 BROCKETT N. C. Words, Thur, these. 1828 Craven Gloss., Thur, thir, these.

B. adj. = THESE dem. adj.

13.. Cursor M. 4085 (Cott.) þeir [Gött. þir, Fr. þes, T. þese] þrepen, þat i said of are. Ibid. 5938 'Yee þrai your lauerd', he said, 'þat he Wald do þier frosses [F. þere frosknis, G. þir froskis, T. þese frogges] a-wai fra me.' Ibid. 19921 Þir [F. þer, Tr. þese] seuen were Sett be-fore þe apostcles sere. 1340 HAMPOLE Pr. Conse. 1682 Als þir clerkes fyndes writen. c 1400 MANDEVILLE (Roxb.) Pref. 2 Þir werldly fyndes. c 1420 Antiurs of Arth. 575 Witurly ther weys [Douce MS. þes wighte mene] thayre weppuns thai weld. 1423 Jas. I Kingis Quair li, l..said thir versis sevin. c 1440 Alphabet of

Tales 53 He lukid evur when þir fendis suld com agayn. 1490 Exch. Rolls Scott. X. 663 To quhais knaueig thire our letter is salcum greting. 1553 KENNEDY Compend. Tract. in Wodrow Soc. Miscc. (1844) 109 Sen the tyme of the Apostolis to thir our dayis. 1678 Contract in Proc. Soc. Ant. Scot. (1896) XXX. 21 Both pairties are contentit that thier present(s) be insert. 1715 Wodrow Corr. (1843) II. 33 Thir two men have bred trouble enough. 1790 BURNS Tam o' Shanter 155 Thir breeks o' mine, my only pair. 1790 MRS. WHERLER Wetnild. Diat. Pref. 12 Thor Men hed been at a College, coad Cambridg.

[Note. Difficulties of derivation from ON. þeir, þár are: (1) The retention of inflexional -r, otherwise unexemplified, and the fact that þér-r had already been adopted in its pronominal sense as þeg, they, thei, in the north pai, ʒay, and was in full use in Cursor M. and other northern works: see THEY. Moreover, neither thir nor ther appears to represent þér phonetically, as Ormin's þeʒn and E. Midl. þei did. (2) The sense is quite different; the ON. word means 'those' or 'they', distinct from þesser, -ar 'these'; while thir has been from the beginning emphatically 'these', as distinct from þá, þás 'those'. The explanation 'the here', 'those here' suits the sense; but (1) no trace has been found of these in an uncombined form; and (2) the addition of here to a demonstrative, common in the midlands and south of England (see HERE 1 d), is not known as a northern idiom.]

Thir, obs. unstressed form of THEIR.

Third (þɜːd), a. (adv.), sb. Forms: see below. [OE. þridda, -e, þird(d)a, -e, Comm. Teut. and Indo-Eur.; = OFris. thredda, OS. thriddio (MLG. drudde, derde, Du. derde), OHG. dritto (MHG., G. dritte), ON. þriðe, -i (Sw. tredje, Da. tredie), Goth. þridja, :—OTeut. þriðjō-, :—Indo-Eur. tritjō-: cf. Gr. τρίτος, L. tertius, Skr. tṛtīyas.

The metathesis of third for third appears already in ONorthumb. c 950, but thrid was the prevalent type down to the 16th c.] a. 1 (3) pridda, 2–5 þridde, 3 þride, 4 þryd(e), threid, þred, 4–5 thrydde, thride, þrid, thridd, 4–6 thridde, thryd, threddde, 4–7 thred, 4–6, Sc. -8 thrid, 5 thrydde, thrudde, (tryd).

A. Illustration of Forms.

a 800 Cenewulf Christ 716 Wit þa þridan hlyn. c 1000 Sax. Leechd. II. 298 Þridde mæȝen is. c 1200 ORMIN Ded. 6 Broþer min i Godess hus, ȝet o þe þride [elsewhere þridde] wise. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 3316 Þe þridde moneþ in is cumen. c 1300 Cursor M. 8471 (Cott.) Þe þridde bokes efter ha tua. Ibid. 16892 To rise be third [Gött. thred] dai. Ibid. 18546 To be thrid [G. threid] morn. 13.. E. E. Allit. P. B. 300 The lolef lapheth watz gendered be þryd. 1381 WYCLIF Acts xx. 9 Ille ledil þy sleep fel down fro the thridde stage. c 1450 Two Cookery-bks. 113 (Laud MS.) Ye thrudde perty shal be sugar. 1588 A. KING tr. Canisius' Catech. Kalendar 1 Feb., S. Ignatius bischop of Antioch threid after S. Peter. 1606 Sc. Acts Jas. V (1816) IV. 279/2 The thrid day of this instant. a 1730 Thrid [see B. 1. 1].

β. 1 (Northumb.) ȝirda, ȝirdda, 2 þerdde, 4 þirde, 5–6 thyrd(e, 5–7 thirde, 6 theyrd, thurd, 5- third.

c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Luke xii. 38 ȝif on þæ ȝirdda wacan ȝe-cymeþ. a 1200 Moral Ode 238 (Lamb. MS.) Nolde he for al middenerd þe þerdde [v.r. þridde] [deil] þer abiden. 1393 LANGL. P. Pl. C. xxii. 264 And nedeth he þirde. 1446 LYDG. Nightingale Poems i. 299 Yet thare are in the third age Of your lyfe arde passed morow & prime. 1473 WARKW. Chron. (Camden) 3 In the thyrde yere of the reygne of Kynge Edward. 1532 HULOET, Thyrde fayre or market proclaymed.

B. Signification. 1. adj.

As with other ordinals, usually the third: see THE def. art. B. 18.

1. The ordinal numeral corresponding to the cardinal three: last of three; that comes next after the second. a. with sb. expressed.

a 800 [see A. a]. 971 Blickl. Hom. 15 Þy þriddan dæȝe he of deaþe arisseþ. a 1225 Ancr. R. 14 Þe þriddeȝe dole. 1340 HAMPOLE Pr. Conc. 7664 Here bigynnes þe thred part. 1497 Naval Acc. Hen. VII (1896) 141 The thryde day of Marche. 1533 BELLENDEN Livy III. xi. (S. T. S.) I. 292 To be haldin þe thrid day efttir þe nundinis. 1552 HULOET, Thyrde sillable, ante penultima. 1597 A. M. tr. Guillemeau's Fr. Chirurg. 30/1 The finger called Medicus, or thirde finger. c 1730 BURT Lett. N. Scotl. (1818) I. 20 Inquire for such a launde.., where the gentleman stayd, at the third stair, that is three stories high. 1847 HELPS Friends in C. I. vi. 92, I prefer real life..where there is no third volume [as in a novel] to make things straight.

b. Following the names of sovereigns, popes, etc.: cf. SECOND A. 1 b.

1414 Rolls of Parlt. IV. 59/2 Kyng Henry the Thirdde. 1550 BALE K. Johan (Camden) 42 Pope Innocent the thrid. 1735 JOHNSON Lobo's Abyssinia, Descr. v. 73 King John the Third [of Portugal].

c. with sb. understood.

c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. xxii. 26 gelic ȝe æftera..& ȝe ȝirda [Rushw. þridde]. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 133 Þreo þing.. þet oðer is godes word and þet þridde is weldede. a 1300 Cursor M. 558 (Cott.) Þe thrid es air, and fir þe ferth. 1382 WYCLIF Dan. v. 7 Shal be the thrid in my rewme. c 1440 Gesta Rom. xv. 51 (Harl. MS.) And so he wrote to the thrid, þat seid she lovid him. 1552-3 Inv. Ch. Goods, Staffs. in Asm. Lichfield (1863) IV. 70, iij vestements, one of whyte fustian, another of blacke chamblet, & the thryd of blewe sarsynet. 1662 PLAYFORD Skill Mus. ii. (1674) 92 Six strings, ..the first ..is called the Treble; the second, the Small Mean; the third, the Great Mean. 1821 SCOTT Kenilw. xxxviii, 'Hush! thou knawe!' said a third; 'how know'st thou who may be within hearing?'

d. Gram. In third person: see PERSON sb. 8. Also in third declension, conjugation, and in names of tenses, as third, future, preterite, where the reference is to a conventional order of enumeration adopted by grammarians.

1530 PALSGR. 93 In verbes of theyr thyrde conjugation I fynde a litell more difficultie. a 1586 SIDNEY Arcadia II. (Sommer) 137 He had..forgotten in speaking of him selfe to vse the third person. 1704 W. PRIMATT Accentus Rediv. 111 Provided they were third persons plural. 1848 J. T. WHITE Xenophon's Anab. II. iv. § 5 Notes (1872) 110 Sometimes..the third future is used, instead of the common future, to point out more forcibly all but immediate occurrence of some future action. 1889 WILLIAMS Sanskrit Gram. § 419 Fortunately..the third preterite occurs but rarely in the better specimens of Hindū composition.

2. Additional to and distinct from two others already known or mentioned. Third person (in Law) = THIRD PARTY. † Third place. a place which is neutral ground to two persons (obs.).

c 1290 Beket 415 in S. Eng. Leg. I. 218 Þat þridde þing seot mest of alle and sonest in wratlhe hem brouȝte. c 1400 Apol. Loll. 3 And he þrid, if he be moost obedient to God and to His lawe. 1579 W. WILKINSON Confut. Familye of Loue 17 b, Incorporall and immaterialll essences cannot be coupled in the same third matter. 1709 E. WARD tr. Cervantes 189 Any thing is easily believ'd that is to the Disreputation of a third Person. 1757 CHESTERF. Lett. 31 Dec., I could neither visit, nor be visited by, the Ministers of those two Crowns: but we met every day, or dined at third places. 1828 Crunse Digest tel. 21 I. 444 The clause.. extends..to third persons only; not to the persons conveying, or those to whom lands are conveyed to uses. 1865 KINGSLEY Herew. xvii, Martin Lightfoot..was as a third hand and foot to him all day long. 1898 STEWART & TAIT Unseen Dom. iv. § 122. 133 There can be no third thing besides body and void. [Cf. TERTIUM QUID.]

† b. Third tongue, a backbiter; a slanderer. Used by Wyclif and Coverdale to render lingua tertia of the Vulgate, in LXX. γλῶσσα τρίτη. Obs.

1382 WYCLIF Ecclus. xxviii. 16 The thridde tunge manye men strede. 1388 Ibid. 19 margin, The tunge of the preuey bachiere is clepid the thridde tunge..and the bachiere him silf hath the thridde tunge, for he, as the thridde, makith debate betwen a man and his neighore. 1535 COVERDALE Eccluis. xxviii. 14–15 The thirde tonge hath disquieted many one, and scatered them from one londe to another..The thirde tonge hath cast out many an honest woman, and robbed them of their labours.

Third part = B. 11. 1. Now rare: see PART sb. 5.

a 1300 Cursor M. 973 (Cott.) Þe hail parte gladli or be thrid We wil be giue. 1375 BARBOUR Bruce II. 308 Þe thrid part went to þe forray. 1483 Cath. Angl. 365/2 Þe Thryd parte of a halpeny, tristis. 1570-6 LAMBARDE Peramb. Kent 228 The Monkes should enioy the whole tongue, and two third parteis of the rest of the body. 1611 BIBLE Rev. viii. 8 The third part of the sea became blood.

4. The last of each successive group of three; one in every three, i. e. one third of the whole. Third penny: one third of the whole sum; spec. (see quot. 1706). Third sheaf and teind: see third and teind, II. 1.

c 1400 MAUNDEV. (Roxb.) xix. 87 Sum..at ilke a thridd passe knelis doune apon þe erthe. 1423 Cal. Letter Bk. I. Lond. (1909) 295 Have he, for his labour, the tryd peny that shal be recovered. a 1578 LINDESAY (Pitscottie) Chron. Scot. (S. T. S.) II. 315 Thair come in be sie sa meikill victuallis that it come downe the thrid penny. 1597 [see EVERY 1 e (c)]. 1627 Rep. Parishes Scott. (Bann. Cl.) 3 Ten merdis..poyes yearlie tithe the thrid scheiff and teind led. 1706 PHILLIPS (ed. Kersey), Third-penny, the third part of Fines and Profits, arising from Law-Processes, which in every County was heretofore allow'd to the Sheriff; the other two-third Parts being appointed for the King's Use. 1727 SWIFT Poisoning E. Curll Wks. 1755 III. 1. 152 You shall have your third share of the Court poems. 1904 [see QUARTAN A. 1, def. 1].

b. Third-day ague, tertian ague.

1817–18 COBBETT Resid. U. S. (1822) 319 You would frighten him into a third-day ague.

5. Combinations, collocations, or phrases with special meaning (some of which may be used attrib. or as adj.), as third base, cousin, cousinship, degree, form (hence third-former), heir, magnitude, person, story, term (hence third-termery): see the sbs.; third age, tertian ague; third best, third in point of quality, that is next inferior to the SECOND BEST; third-day, the Quaker name for Tuesday, as being the third day of the week; third estate, the Commons: see ESTATE sb. 6; third floor, (a) in England, the floor or story of a building separated by two from the ground floor; (b) in Sc., U. S., etc., the third story, counting the ground floor as the first; third hour, (a) among the Jews, the third of the twelve equal divisions of time between morning and evening; the hour between 8 and 9 a.m.; (b) in R.C.Ch., the hour of TIERCE; third house, (U.S. polit. slang): see quot.; third man, Cricket, a fielder placed between point and short slip, but further out; an additional short slip; also, the position occupied by him; third order: see TERTIARY A. 5; third penny: see 4 above; † third place: see 2 above; third point, Arch. = TIERCE point: see quot.; third rail, in some systems of electric railways, an additional rail which conveys the current; third rime, rhyme, = TERZA RIMA; third season man, = third year man; third staff, = third stave; † third state, = third estate; third stave: see quot.; † third tongue: see 2 b above; third ventricle, that portion of the central cavity of the brain that lies between the optic thalami; third year man, a student who has entered upon the third (often the last) year of a course of study.

1674 N. FAIRFAX Bulk & Selv. 131 In the very fit of a *Third Ague. 1375 BARBOUR Bruce XIII. 32 He was the *thrid best knycht, perfay, That men wist liifand in his day. 1829 Habits Gal. Soc. iii. 135, I am wondering whether everybody arranges his wardrobe as our ungrammatical nurses used to do ours, under the heads of 'best, second-best, third-best', and so on. 1901 Daily News 31 Jan. 7/3 The *third-cousinships of German Princes. 1677 in Penn Trav. Holland (1694) 9 A Monthly Meeting..upon the third *third day of the Month. 1901 Scotsman 5 Apr. 6/4 In the *th rd degree in [Free] Masonry a skull and cross-bones are employed. 1604 in Rymer Fœdera XVI. 562/1 Knightes and Burgesses..doe present the Bodie of the *Thirde Estate. 1855 F. B. WELLS tr. Thierry (title), The Formation and Progress of the Tiers État, or Third Estate in France. 1875 STUBBS Const. Hist. II. xv. 185 That portion of the third estate which was represented by the knights of the shire. 1908 Daily Chron. 14 Aug. 8/6 Immediately after the arrival of the *third-floor-back lodger a transformation takes place. 1637 SETTLE Refl. Parnass 63 So old a Phrase,..that it has been in twenty *third-Form School-Boys Exercises. 1869 BLACKMORE Lorna D. li, A *third-former nearly six feet high. c 1400 20 Pol. Poems XXVI. 208 Men seyen 'good geten vnirewly, The 'ijde' eyre browke hit ne may'. 1484 CAXTON Fables of Avian xviii, Of the thynge wrongfully and euylle gotten, the thyrd heyre shalle neuer be possessour of hit. 1382 WYCLIF Acts ii. 15 It is the *thridde our of the day. 1706 tr. Dupin's Eccl. Hist. 16th C. II. v. 43 Called Tierce, because it began at the Third Hour of the day. 1889 FARRER Dict. Amer. s. v. Lobby, The lobby is also called the '*Third House'. 1905 Westm. Gaz. 13 Feb. 10/1 In the constellation of the Twins, near the third-magnitude star Mu. 1871 HOPPE, Third man, einer der Feldern im Cricket. 1881 Standard 14 June 3/8 The catch that dismissed him was an easy one at third man. 1891 W. G. GRACE Cricket 260 Third man must ask the bowler whether he should stand rather fine or square. 1629 WADSWORTH Pilgr. vii. 72 There is besides another Nunnery of the *third Order of St. Francis. 1753 CHAMBERS Cyclo. Chr. Instr. 184 Besides these there are the..Nuns of the third Order of St. Francis. 1908 Westm. Gaz. 24 Dec. 6/3 The..version of the Rule of the Third Order found..in the Capistran Convent in the Abruzzi. 1728 CHAMBERS Cycl., Third Point*, or Tierce-point, in architecture, the point of section in the vertex of an equilateral triangle. Arches or vaults of the third point..are those consisting of two arches of a circle, meeting in an angle at top. 1901 Westm. Gaz. 23 July 4/3 A new electric railway..built on the *third rail system, which is believed to represent a great economy as compared with the overhead system. 1905 Daily Chron. 2 Feb. 3/4 Avoiding the dangers which had been experienced with the third-rail system. 1656 H. PHILLIPS Purch. Patt. (1676) A iv b, An house of the *third rate. 1820 BYRON Let. to Murray Wks. (1846) 505/1 You will find ..in *third rhyme (terza rima)..Fanny of Rimini. a 1860 ALB. SMITH Lond. Med. Stud. (1862) 97 His mentor is ready in the shape of a *third-season man. 1667 E. CHAMBERLAYNE Pres. St. Eng. I. xix. (1684) 322 Of the *Third State, or Commons of England. 1898 STAINER & BARRETT Dict. Mus. Terms, Third Stave*, a name given to the stave upon which pedal music is written for the organ. 1679 MOXON Mech. Exerc. vii. 130 Your Ground-plot, or second or *third Story. 1890 Cincinnati Commerc. Gaz. 30 June, There would be no *third term in it, as he [Pres. Cleveland] had not two consecutive terms.

II. sb.

1. A third part (B. I. 3) of anything; any one of three equal parts into which a whole may be divided.

Third and teind, one-third of the produce and one-tenth of the remainder (making two-fifths of the whole) paid as rent. 1382 WYCLIF 1 Mace. x. 29 Nowe Y assoile you..of tributis, and I forgeue to you the preiyd of the fruytis of grouns, and the thriddis [1388 thridde part] of seed. 1429 Act. Dom. Conc. (1839) 32/2 Þat þe schiref..deliuer þe said vmfra & his tennandis ane evinly thrid parof. 1621 SHARPS, Cymb. v. iv. 19 Men, Who of their broken Landlords take a third, A sixth, a tenth, letting them thrive again. 1705 ADDISON Italy 136 No Sentence can stand that is not confirm'd by Two Thirds of this Council. 1799 J. ROBERTSON Agric. Perth 139 In most parts of Strathalan, the land is kept in thirds, (i.e.) one third in tillage for three years, and two thirds always grass. 1852 R. F. BURTON Falconry in Vall. Indus vi. 72 One will require at least a third more breaking than another. 1884 J. TAIT in U. P. Mag. Apr. 156 The Master was to have the third and second shorn and set aside. 1893 Law Times XCIV. 504/1 Whether such a gift..would be divisible into moieties or thirds.

2. Law. (Mostly pl.) The third of the personal property of a deceased husband allowed to his widow. Also, the third of his real property to which his widow might be legally entitled for her life (obs. exc. Hist.). Cf. TERCE 2.

1396 in Scott. Antiq. XIV. 318 Swa mykyl as pertenys to the modyr of the forsaid Erle..be resone of hirr thryd. 1540 Test. Ebor. (Surtees) VI. 106 She [the wife] to be fulle content with hir thirds. 1596 BACON Use of Law Wks. 1879 I. 585/1 By this course of putting lands into use there were many inconveniences, as..The wife was defrauded of her thirds; the husband of being tenant by courtesy [etc.]. 1609 SKENE Reg. Maj. I. 113. 1636 in Crt. & Times Chas. I (1848) II. 239 Having renounced her jointure and thirds, she may be so utterly undone. 1664 Early Rec. Groton, Mass. (1880) 145 VNTO which alienation the wines of them both doe giue their consent to the giuing vp their thirds. 1709 S. SEWALL Diary 18 Nov., 30 l. more to Grace, and 12. to her Brother, to come out of their Mothers Thirds now to be divided. 1767 [see DOWER sb. † 1]. 1864 THOREAU Maine W. (1894) 207 There you are never reminded that the widowness which you are threading is, after all, some villager's familiar wood-lot, some widow's thirds.

† 3. A third of the proceeds of captures, or of certain fines, forfeitures, etc., of which two thirds were due to the king. Obs.

1429 in Rymer Fœdera X. 422 Eny Thriddes, or other Ganes of Werre. 1444 in Coll. Hist. Staff. (1891) XII. 319 The thrides of the thrides of all maner Prisoners, Prises, and wynynges. 1647 in Crt. & Times Chas. I (1848) I. 234 A commission to proceed against recusants for their thirds due to his majesty by law.

4. Sc. Leet. Hist. See quot. 1858.

1573 Satir. Poems Reform. xlii. 812 Thir thriddis, I say, but stopping ony, The Kirkis Collectouris suld vptane, Syne vnto the Exchekir gane. c 1575 Balfour's Practicks (1754) 143 The teindis, landis, maillis, fermis, and dewrris of landis assumit in the thriddis of benefices. 1586 in Dunfermline Regr. (Bann. Cl.) 449 The haill prelaceis of our reallme ar bund and obleissit to warrand their thriddis to ws fra thair awin deidis. 1838 W. Bell Dict. Law Scot., Thirds...Before the amission of the year 1587, the Kings, in order to prevent the entire abstraction of their provisions from the acting clergy,..assumed into his own hands a third of the revenues of all ecclesiastical benefices, which he intrusted to the Commissioners of Plat, who assigned to the ministers respectively sufficient provisions, and reserved the remainder for the King. [See Plat sb.[3] 6.]

†5. pl. The sum paid by an incoming freshman for the furniture, etc. of his college rooms, usually assessed at two thirds of the amount paid by the preceding tenant. Obs.

1687 Wilding in Collect. (O. H. S.) I. 255 Reced of my Chum for thirds. 1846 Wordsworth Lett. in Ann. Rar's Life I. 38 Tell my father that I expect he will hear some thing about 'the thirds' which we pay for furniture, &c. 1893 C. Beor' Verdant Green I. iv, Mr. Filcher then explained the system of thirds, by which the furniture was to be paid for. 1858 Hogg Shelley I. 69 Transferring the..movables to the successor on payment of thirds, that is, of two-thirds of the price last given.

6. Mus. A note three diatonic degrees above or below a given note (both notes being reckoned); also (usually) the interval between this and the given note, equivalent either to two tones (major third), or to one tone and one diatonic semitone (minor third); also, the harmonic combination of two such notes.

Diminished third, an interval equal to two diatonic semitones, being less by a chromatic semitone than a minor third.

1597 Morley Introd. Mus. 70 Which distances make a Concord or consonant Harmony?..A third, a Fift, a Sixt, and an eight. 1662 Playford Skill Mus. 1. v. (1674) 50 You will tune from Sol to Mi which is a Third. 1752 tr. Rameau's Treat. Musick 34 Those Notes, which are a Third above, are deemed Thirds. 1855 Browning Toccata of Galuppi's vii, Those lesser thirds so plaintive. 1855 — Lover's Quarrel xviii, We shall have the word In a minor third There is none but the cuckoo knows. 1884 Parry in Grove Dict. Mus. IV. 102 Third, one of the most important intervals in modern music...Three forms are met with in modern music—major, minor, and diminished.

7. The third of the subdivisions of any standard measure or dimension which is successively subdivided in a constant ratio; the subdivision next below seconds: see Prime sb.[2] 2. †Formerly, in Scotland, a weight of account = the 13,824th part ($1 \div 24^3$) of a grain (obs.).

1594 J. Davis Seaman's Secr. (1643) D j b, Euery degree.. doth contane 60 minutes, and euery minute 60 seconds, and euery second 60 thirds, &c. 1604 in Moryson Itin. 1. (1617) 262 (Table of Scottish Weights of Coine), xx. s. (sterling) = 96 pennyweights, 10 graines, 16 mites, 18 droits, 10 perlots, English Weight; 07 deniers, 21 graines, 07 primes, 02 seconds, 09 thirds, 19 fourths, Scottish Weight. 1694 Holder On Time ii. 32 To divide an Hour into 60' (Minutes), a Minute into 60" (Second Minutes), a Second Minute into 60''' (Thirds). 1840 Lardner Geom. 56 This system of division is sometimes carried even further, a second being divided into sixty equal parts called thirds; but it is more usual to express small angles or arcs in decimal parts of a second.

†b. In decimal fractions: see quots. Obs.

1660 J. Moore Arith. 10 Some call their Tenth part Primes, the Hundreth parts Seconds, the 1000 parts Thirds. 1766 Hutton School Master's Guide 55 The 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, &c. places of decimals..are denominated the places of primes, seconds, thirds, and fourths, &c. respectively.

8. Comm. pl. Goods of the third degree of quality.

1823 J. Badcock Dom. Amusem. 163 Flour or bread,..of the usual London manufacture, as seconds, thirds, and brownes. 1832 G. R. Porter Porcelain & Gl. 186 Crown glass is sold, according to its quality, under four different denominations —firsts, seconds, thirds, and fourths. 1888 Times (weekly ed.) 14 Sept. 797/2 Wools should be sorted into bests and seconds and in some cases into thirds. 1903 Daily Chron. 21 Apr. 2/6 Cork butter.—Firsts, 86s.; seconds, 80s.; thirds, 78s.

9. Elliptical uses of the adj. passing into sb.

a. Third of kin (Sc.): one related in the third degree of consanguinity.

1535 Stewart Cron. Scot. (Rolls) III. 260 The erle of Arrane, lord of Hammiltoun, Evin thrid and thrid to him [that] weiris the croun. 1569 Reg. Privy Council Scot. II. 39 The said Erll and the said umquhile Johnne Suthirland quha wes slane thrid and ferdis of kin [the Earl's father was cousin to John's grandmother]. 1583 Ibid. III. 622 Quha and he ar secundes and thriddes of kin. 1892 G. Stewart Shetland Fireside T. ix. (ed. 2) 71 Auld Ibbie Bartley, dat wis trids o' kin to my wife's foster midder, an' her oey.

b. Elliptical for third person (in Grammar); third day (of the month); third chapter (of a book of the Bible); third year (of a reign).

1530 Palsgr. Introd. 33 The thyrde syngular [endeth].. most commonly in T. 1536 Cromwell in Merriman Life & Lett. (1902) II. 1 From Bitham thridde of Janua[ry]. 1539 Tonstall Serm. Palm Sund. (1823) 86 It is written in the thirde of Matthewe. 1747 Gentl. Mag. May 247/1 On Sunday the 3d of May. 1887 Williams Sanskrit Gram. § 330 It is the only conjugation that rejects the nasal in the 3d. plur.

c. A card of the third size; also thirds card: see quots.

1891 Cent. Dict. s. v., Thirds card, a card 1½ by 3 inches, the size most used for a man's visiting-card. [Eng.]. 1892 Chiswick Press Calendar, Sizes of Cards..Extra Thirds 3 × 1½. Thirds 3 × 1½ in.

d. Third of exchange: the last of a set of three bills of exchange of even tenor and date: see Exchange sb. 5.

e. Generally, the word omitted being usually obvious from the context; esp. in familiar use.

a 1635 Sibbes Confer. Christ & Mary (1656) 204 He must be a friend or enemy; there is no third in God. 1859 Habits Gd. Soc. (new ed.) 44 In the third [class railway-carriage] he will have to sit next to an odoriferous ploughboy. 1864 Bowen Logic iii. 49 The Axiom which is usually called the Law of Excluded Third. 1889 Linskill Golf iii. (1895) 15 Odd No. 1. 'Stroke a hole'...Sometimes a 'third' is given, which means the application of Odd No. 1 at every third hole. 1891 Cent. Dict., Third..In base-ball, same as third base. 1900 Monthly Rev. I. 46 The Russian peasant who travels third is not accustomed to luxuries. 1903 Westm. Gaz. 30 Dec. 11/1 It is of course the Third Preference stock which is directly affected...Some operators are anticipating that the Thirds will get a half per cent. more than for last year. Mod. Mr. A. did badly; he only got a third in green.

Third, v. [f. prec.]

1. trans. To divide (anything) into three equal parts; to reduce to one third of the number or bulk.

1455 Sc. Acts Jas. II (1814) II. 44/2 Þe man gang away wt na maner of gudis quhill it be thriddyt, and partyt befor þe chiftane. 1612 Two Noble K. I. ii. What man Thirds his owne worth? 1747 Franklin Lett. Wks. 1887 II. 97 That celerity doubled, tripled, &c., or halved, thirded, &c. 1874 Furnivall in 10th Rep. Committee E. E. T. S. 16 Such a course would have halved or thirded the number of our subscribers.

†b. To buy or sell (college furniture, etc.) at two thirds of its last selling price: see Third sb. 5. Obs.

1821 [R. Fenton] Tour Genealogy 157 The same..tale..is always worse told by him that tells it last; till like college furniture, too often thirded, it becomes too threadbare for credit.

2. To speak in favour of (a motion, proposition, etc.) as third speaker; to support the seconder.

1656 Burton's Diary (1828) I. 90 It has been firsted, seconded, and thirded. 1707 Luttrell Brief Rel. (1857) VI. 423 A motion of the lord Wharton, seconded and thirded by the lords Somers and Hallifax. 1893 E. H. Baker in King's Business (New Haven, Conn.) 174 That resolution ..was seconded by a theological professor..It was thirded by a pastor in the Episcopal Church.

†b. To support or back up in the third place: cf. Second v. 2. Obs.

1602 Carew Cornwall 84 b, The next Captains should forthwith put themselves with their companies into their assigned sea coast townes, whom the adjoyning land-forces were appointed to second and third.

†3. To hoe (turnips), clean (wheat), etc., the third time. Obs.

1683 J. Erskine Jrnl. 20 Sept. (1893) 17, I was winding and thirding some corn. 18.. Moor's Suffolk MS. (Halliw.), 'Ar them there tahnups done woth?' 'No, we are thirding 'em'.

Thir'dborough, thri'dborow. Obs. exc. Hist. Also 5–6 (7–8) third-, 6 thred-, thur-, thar-, 6–7 therd-; 5 borro, 6 bourogh(e, -borow(e, 6–7 -barow(e, -barrow, 7 -borrow, -bearer. [In 15th c. thridborro, 16th c. thridborowe, later third-borow; and with both elements variously corrupted. Early evidence of origin scanty; but, as pointed out by Professor Skeat, prob. a ME. corruption of fridborgh :—OE. friðborg peace-pledge, peace-surety: see Frithborh, Frank-pledge. The corruption may have been due to Norman scribes, but not necessarily so: cf. Th (6). See Note below, and cf. Borrowhead, Borsholder, Headborough.]

Formerly, The head man of a frithborh or frankpledge; hence, the conservator of peace or peace-officer of a tithing, the petty constable of a township or manor.

?c 1475 Hunt. Have 199 Jac of Bonam he was constabull. ..Hobb Andrw he was thridborro; He had hom, 'Pesse! God gyft hom sorro! For I may arrest your best'. 1512 Act 4 Hen. VIII, c. 19 § 6 Preceptes to the Constables Hedbouroughes Thirdbouroghes Subconstables Tythingmen Borsalders. 1523 Fitzherb. Surv. 20 b, The othe of all maner of Officers generally...I shall true constable be, trewe thirdborowe, trewe reue, trewe frankelege [etc]..and truely and duely do and kepe all thynges that belongeth to myne offyce to do. 1536 Act 28 Hen. VIII, c. 10 § 6 Iuery ..Hedborowe, Thredborough, Borsolder, and euery other Lay Officer. 1549 in J. H. Glover Kingsthorpiana (1883) 84 If any customery tenant or suter..do rebuke, reyyle, or dysobey the constables, thurborowes, ale-tasters, hayward, or other officers sworne in doyinge their offyce. 1581 Lambarde Eiren. I. iii. (1588) 15 Where each third Borow only hath a Constable, there the officers of the other two Borowes, be called Third-borowes. 1588 Shaks. L. L. L. I. i. 285 I my selfe reprehend his own person, for I am his graces Thardborough. 1596 — Tam. Shr. Induct. I. 12 Host. I know my remedie, I must go fetch the Head-borough. Beg. Third, or fift Borough, Ile answere him by Law. 1607 Cowell Interpr., Thirdborow, is vsed for a constable..which seemeth to be corruptly vsed for the Saxon freoborh i. ingenuus fideiussor. 1610 Norden Spec. Brit., Cornw. (1728) 30 The hundreds haue Constables, Tythinges haue Third-barows, in some places Hedborows, in some Borowsheds, and in the weste parte a tythingman. a 1625 Sir H. Finch Law (1636) 336 The conservator of peace..is called..In a Tything, a petie Constable, Borsholder, Headborough, Thirdborough, Boroughhead, Tything-man, or Chiefe pledge. 1634–5 Alkorp MS. in Simpkinson Washingtons (1860) App. p. lxix, March 5. To the third bearers of Birington for cryeing and prayseing a baye straye nagg taken up. 1645 MS. Rec. Court Leet Castle Donington, Leicester. 25 Apr., They present R. R., J. B., R. W. and T. T. to serve the kinge and the lord of this manor in the office of Thirdborow for one whole year which they refused. 1658 Phillips, Thirdborough or Thirborough, a word used in some old Acts, for a Headborough or Constable. 1755 Johnson, Thirdborough,..an under-constable. 1831 Carlyle Sart. Res. III. i, Some prospect of..an honourable Mastership in Cordwainery, and perhaps the post of Thirdborough in his Hundred.

[Note. The frithborh or frithborgh was orig. the 'association of ten men in common responsibility' to prevent crime and breach of the peace. In ME. legal use the word was worn down to fridborgh, friborg, and freoborg, and, the first element being associated with free 'free', was rendered in Anglo-Fr., franke-plege, Anglo-L., francum plegium. The head man of the frithborh was in the 14th c. called frithborghewed or frithborges hewed, 'head of the frithborh' (Laws of Edw. Conf. 20 (or 19), § 3), and was later known as bor(ʒ)ewhead, head bor(ough, bor(h)s-holder, and burrow-elder (—borh-ealdor), also in Anglo-L., plegitor capitalis 'head or chief pledge'. In Fleta I. xlvii. § 10, it is said, 'frithborgh [printed frich-] est laudabilis homo astrarius testimonii . . . per quem omnes iuxta ipsum commorantes firmiori pace sustententur sub hac illicita conditione quod si aliquis per denarium numerum, unde quilibet est quasi plegius alterius'. In this we see the transition of frithborh from the association to its individual members, and esp. to the headborough. In certain cases the latter acted with two of his fellows, 'duos de melioribus suorum frithborgorum' (Laws of Edw. 20 (or 19), § 3), and this association of three may have contributed to the change of name from fridborgh to thridborgh and thirdborough. The probable connection of frithborw with freoborh was suggested by Cowell: see quot. 1607.]

Third class, third-class, phr. (sb. and a.)

1. sb. phr. The class next below the second; esp. of railway carriages; also in an examination list; hence, a place in the third class in an examination.

1845 Bradshaw's Railway Guide Aug. 5 Fares between London and Brighton..by..third class, 5*s.* Mod. Mr. A. got a third class in Greats.

2. attrib. or adj. Of or belonging to the class next below the second.

1839 Bradshaw's Railway Time Table 19 Oct., Children under seven years of age..for Second Class Carriages [charged] Third Class price. 1840 Bradshaw's Railway Comp. Third class passengers are conveyed by the 6 a.m. and 8 p.m. Down Trains. 1858 R. S. Surtees Sponge's Sp. Tour (1893) 76 The introduction of railways, whose worst third-class accommodation is far better than the old coaches' best. 1859 All Year Round No. 30. 78 The third-class carriages, as a rule, were the mere nestless and unsheltered cattle-trucks that still linger on the road from London to Greenwich. 1871 M. Collins Marg. & Merch. III. iv. 127 The train was third class. 1886 C. E. Pascoe London of To-day xiv. (ed. 3) 56 The economical traveller will find many a worse resting-place than its third-class carriages provide. 1891 Cent. Dict., Third-class matter, in the postal system of the United States, printed matter other than newspapers or periodicals, sent through the mails by the publishers.

3. quasi-adv. By a third-class conveyance.

1864 Trevelyan Compet. Wallah (1866) 24 Natives almost invariably travel third-class.

†Thir'del. Obs. Forms: 3 thriddedel, 4 pridde deel, 5 thryddele, 6 thirdle, thirdel. [ME. thriddeldel :—OE. þridda dǽl third part: see Deal sb.[1] Cf. Ger. drittel.] A third part (of anything); = next.

1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 283 þe þriddedel mi kinedom ich siue þe to be mi fere. 1387 Trevisa Higden (Rolls) III. 169 þe quene hadde i-sent hire yong sone wiþ þe þridde deel [MS. þ. thriddel, Caxton thryddele] of heere oost azenst Cirus. 1542 Recorde Gr. Artes (1596) b vj b, There bee tertians (that is to say thirdles) of pypes, of hogges heddes, and of barels. Ibid. L iij, Take awaye 2 thyrdeles frome any summe, and you muste needes graunt, that that whyche remayneth, is 1 thyrdele of the summe taken before.

†Thir'dendeal. Obs. Forms: 1 þriddan dǽl; 4 þridden-, 4–5 thridden-, 5 threden-, thredden-, thryden-, thrydyn-, 6 thirdin-, thyrden-, (thirding-, 7 thurron-). 6–8 thirden-, 4–5 -del, 5–7 -dele, 6 -deale, deall, 7 -dell, 7–8 -deal; 4–6 (9 dial.) -dale. [OE. (þone) þriddan dǽl, accus. case of (se) þridda dǽl the third part (see Thirdel, Deal sb.[1], Dale [2]). Cf. Halfendeal, Farthingdeal.]

1. The third part of anything; a third.

c 1000 Sax. Leechd. I. 98 Seoþe on wætere to þriddan dǽle. Ibid. II. 120 Bewyl oþ þriddan dǽl. 13.. Guy Warw. (A.) 7306 + st. 65 Þriddendel his lond haue he schold. 14.. E. E. Misc. (Warton Cl.) 74 With the thrydyndyne of gume, and twyse so mych of water. a 1500 in Arnolde Chron. (1811) 147 Euery Sonday a soule out of purgatory and the thredden dele of al synnes releced. 1528 Warde in Wizard Secr. 1. 1. (1580) 37 b, Drinke thereof two thirdendales of a glassefull. 1581 J. Bell Haddon's Answ. Osor. 459 b, A thyrdendeale of the Crowne of Thornes is shewed at Paris in the Holy Chappell there.

2. A third of a tun; = Tertian B. 2.

1423 Rolls of Parlt. IV. 256/2 Thredendels and hoggeshedes so aftur lesse mesure. 14.. MS. Cantab. Ff. 5. 48, lf. 55 b (Hartshorne Anc. Metr. T. (1829) 54), Hit holdis a gode thrydendele Ful of wyne euery mele.

3. (See quots.)

1571 in Shaks. Jahrbuch (1896) 142 The hooped pot commonly called a thirdindeale and a half yhirdinete. 1590 [TARLTON] News Purgat. (1844) 114 When Tapsters..Fill thirdingdeall pots till the drinke run ouer. 1620 MELTON Astrolog. 32 Many of them drinke not goe to bed without a Thurrondell Pot of six shillings Beere. 1698 PHILLIPS (ed. 4), Thirdendeal, a Liquid Measure used in Salisbury containing three Pints. 1721 in BAILEY.

Thirder. rare—1. [f. THIRD sb. + -ER 1.] In thirder and teinder, one who pays by way of rent the ' third and teind ' (see THIRD B. II. 1).

1884 J. TAIT in U. P. Mag. Apr. 156/2 Another case resembles the arrangement of thirders and teinders described by Arthur Young as existing in some parts of France.

Third hand, third-hand. [THIRD B. 1 and HAND sb. 10 c, after SECOND-HAND.]

1. In adv.b. phrase at (†the) third hand: from a second middleman or intermediary; at the second remove from the original source.

1553 Reg. Privy Council Scot. I. 141 Na maner of gudis can be sold nor coft bot at the third hand. a 1655 SIBBES Confer. Christ & Mary (1656) 67 We have it at the third hand. 1895 in Bookman Oct. 23/2 The illustrations..were reproduced from inferior German copies at third-hand.

2. attrib. or as adj. Obtained, copied, or imitated from a second-hand source; further away from the original source, and so more stale, less authoritative, etc., than the second-hand.

1599 MARSTON Sco. Villanie v. iv, Laboring with third-hand texts, and Apish skips. 1862 LATHAM Channel Isl. III. xiv. (ed. 2) 348 The second-hand and third-hand text-books. 1866 Macm. Mag. Apr. 521 Resting on mere second-hand, nay, often third-hand information.

b. Third-hand dealer, one who deals in third-hand articles.

1854 TREVELYAN Compet. Wallah (1866) 104 Cheated in the purchase of his first buggy by a third-hand dealer in Calcutta.

†Thirding, sb. Obs. rare—0. [f. THIRD sb. + -ING 3.] = RIDING sb.: cf. TRITHING.

1847–78 HALLIWELL, Thirdings, the Ridings. This word is given by Urry, in his MS. Additions to Ray.

Thirding, vbl. sb. [f. THIRD v. + -ING 1.] (See quots.)

1670 BLOUNT Law Dict., Thirdings, the third part of the Corn or Grain growing on the Ground at the Tenants death, due to the Lord for an Heriot within a certain Manour, ..belonging to the Chappel of Turfat in Com. Heref. [So 1706 in PHILLIPS; 1721 in BAILEY; and in mod. dicts.] 1847–78 HALLIWELL, Thirding..(2) A custom practised at the universities, where two thirds of the original price is allowed by the upholsterers to the students for household goods returned to them within the year.

Thirdling (þə·dlĭŋ). nonce-wd. [f. THIRD a. + -LING.] Something that comes third.

1884 BROWNING Ferishtah Prol. 18 First, food—then, pigancy—and last of all Follows the thirdling.

Thirdly (þɜ·dlɪ), adv. [f. THIRD a. + -LY 2.] In the third place.

1509 HAWES Past. Pleas. viii. (Percy Soc.) 30 Thyrdly, they had suche a fantasy In this hyghe arte to be intelligible. 1662 STILLINGFL. Orig. Sacra. I. ii. § 12. 1877 A. MACEWEN Serm. xviii. 217 Thirdly, we need a firm conviction of the sufficiency of Divine grace.

Third pa·rty. A party or person besides the two primarily concerned, as in a law case or the like. Also attrib.

1818 SCOTT Rob Roy xiii, Speak as you would to an unconcerned third party. 1853 MAURICE Proph. & Kings xx. 343 It appears to be a narrative written by a third party. 1883 Wharton's Law Lex. s.v., 'A Third party' may be introduced into an action by a defendant claiming an indemnity, or any other remedy over against him, under Jud. Act, 1873, s. 24 sub. 3, and Order XVI. Rules 17, 19. 1883 Law Times 20 Oct. 407/2 The rules relating to third-party procedure..are a great improvement upon the former rules. 1905 Daily Chron. 12 Sept. 3/2 The largest third-party vote, with one exception, since the Civil War.

Third-ra·te, a. and sb. [See RATE *sb.*1 9, 9 b.]

A. adj.

†1. Of the third ' rate ' (esp. of ships). Obs.

1649 CROMWELL Let. 14 Nov. in Carlyle, The Garland, one of your third-rate ships, coming happily into Waterford Bay. 1668 PEPYS Diary 9 Mar., Mr. Castle's new third-rate ship, which is to be called The Defyance. 1693 Lond. Gaz. No. 2857/3 This day was Launched a New Third Rate Ship of 80 Guns, called the Norfolk.

2. Of the third class in point of quality; usually depreciative, below ' second-rate '; of decidedly poor or inferior quality.

1838 THIRLWALL Greece V. xliv. 227 An actor of third-rate parts. 1850 GROTE Greece II. lxi. VII. 491 A town of second-rate or third-rate magnitude. 1885 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. xix. IV. 354 The poor thoughts and poor words of a third-rate pamphleteer.

B. sb. Naut. A war-vessel of the third rate.

1665 PEPYS Diary 4 July, Ten great ships..none to be under third-rates. 1695 Lond. Gaz. No. 3061/1 A Third Rate of 62 Guns. 1790 BRATSON Nav. & Mil. Mem. I. 65 The fleet..; consisting of but one third rate, five fourth rates, and one sixth rate.

Hence Third-ra·teling, Thi·rd-ra·ter, a third-rate person or thing.

1816 SOUTHEY Ess. I. 245 The second and third-ratelings compose works of perishable stuff. 1820 Blackw. Mag. VIII. 89 Where is there a Whig in England..that, as a literary man, is fairly out of the class of third raters?

Thirdsman (þə·dzmĕn). A third person or party; esp. one called in as an intermediary, mediator, or arbiter.

1828 SCOTT Hrt. Midl. xxiv. There was risk of Andro Ferrara coming in thirdsman. Ibid. xlviii, If I come in thirdsman among you at the kirk-sessions, you will be all in a tamn'd pad posture indeed. 1887 SAINTSBURY Hist. Elizab. Lit. x. (1890) 386 Herrick and Carew..with Crashaw as a great thirdsman, called themselves 'sons' of Ben Jonson.

†Thi·rdsome, a. Obs. rare. In 5 thryd-, pridde-, thyrd(e)-. [f. THIRD a. + -SOME.] Being one of three; accompanied by two others.

c 1425 Eng. Cong. Irel. 14 Othere thwey cantredes he yaf herny of Mountmorthy,..a knyghtt pat com in that same flote, hym þriddesum [v. r. thyrdesum] of knyghtes. Ibid. 32 Herny of Mountmorthy, that to him was ycome, hym thyrdsome [v. r. thyrdsome] of knyghtes.

†Thi·rkin, a. Obs. [f. THIR + KIN *sb.*1 6 b. Cf. THAKIN: which is the antithetic word.] These kind of; of this kind.

13.. Cursor M. 28576 Man þat o þirkin sinn es existence, on seuen maners ar þat for-gluen.

Thirl (þɜl), *sb.*1 Now dial. Forms: 1 þyrel, -il, þyrl, 3 þirl, þurl, 4 therl, 9 thurl, 4–thirl. See also THRILL *sb.*1 [OE. þýrel, for older þyrhil*, þurh-il*, f. þurh THROUGH + -EL 1. Cf. OHG. durc(h)hîsl, MHG. dürchel, dirkel, OE. þýrel adjs., pierced, perforated.]

1. A hole, bore, perforation; an aperture.

a 900 tr. Bæda's Hist. iv. iii. (1890) 272 þonne is on þæm medmicel þyrel þæworht. c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. xix. 24 Þeah þyril nedles. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Voc. in Wr.-Wülcker 113/29 Orificium, ælces kynnes muð vel þyrl. a 1225 Ancr. R. 292 Sibballe þe lette mikleun swuche þurles in hiin þorte hueden us inne. a 1300 Cursor M. 528 Mans hefd has thirls seuen. 1513 DOUGLAS Æneis VII. x. 59 A thyrll or aynding stede Of terribyle Pluto. a 1540 JACKSON Creed XI. xxxviii. § 10 They could not peck the least hole in the mitre, or make the least thirl in the surplice, without working [etc.]. 1866 BROGDEN Provinc. Wds. Lincoln. s. v., Fetch a nail passer and make a thirl through this board.

b. Each of the two holes or orifices of the nose; a nostril: see NOSE-THIRL.

a 1350 St. Barthol. 89 in Horstm. Altengl. Leg. (1881) 120 His nese es eyyn, with thirles smalle. 1382 WYCLIF Iob xli. 11 Of his nose therlis goth forth smoke. 1513 DOUGLAS Æneis XII. Prol. 29 The flambe owtbrastyng at his neys thyrlys. 1560 DAUS tr. Sleidane's Comm. 222 b, With her wyde mouthe and nose thirlles. 1828 Craven Gloss., Thirl, the orifice of the nose; nose-thirl, alias nostril.

2. An aperture or opening in a wall or the like; e.g. a door or window in a house (obs.), a sheep-hole in a wall, etc. Also fig.

a 1050 Liber Scintill. xxxviii. 140 Hwæt framaþ þæt onæan feonda searwa eal ceaster byþ gehealden gif an þyrl open byþ forlæten. a 1225 Ancr. R. 60 þe kermesun of þe castel beoð hire huses þurles. Ibid. 96 Gif eni..worpe his hond forð touward he þurl cloð, swiftliche anonriht, schutteð al þet þurl [MS. T. windohle] to, & letteð hine iwurden. 1340 Ayenb. 204 Hueriby þe dieuel geþ in ofte ine þe vif berles of þe house. 14.. MS. Lincoln A. i. 17, lf. 241 (Halliw.) If..alle the thirles, dores and wyndows wave stokyne that na sone myght enter. 1794 W. HUTCHINSON Hist. Cumbld. I. 64 Thirl..of common acceptation in the north, for an opening left in moor fences, for sheep to pass to and from the commons adjacent to inclosed grounds. 1904 Eng. Dial. Dict. s. v. (n. Yorks.), A lot o' sheep..wantin' to gro threw a thirl in yance.

†3. A small cavity or recess: in quot. a closet.

a 1300 E. E. Psalter civ. [xv.] 30 He forth-broght froskes þe land of þa, In thirles [L. in cubiliibus] of þar kinges ma.

4. See quots. and cf. THIRLING *vbl. sb.*1 2.

1847–78 HALLIWELL, Thurl, a long adit in a coal-pit. 1871 Trans. Amer. Inst. Mining Engin. I. 304 These would be thurled (crossed) at every forty or sixty feet, or at such a distance as the air could be induced to pass the last thurl made. 1899 PARVOST Cumbld. Gloss., Thirls, openings made between a pair of exploring places or drifts, for the purpose of ventilation.

5. = THIRLE *sb.*3 1.

1879 J. WHITE Jottings 226 (E. D. D.) Ver sang..gied me a thirl. 1897 W. BEATTY Secretar xiii. 343 'I kend that', she said with a thirl of gladness in the words.

Thirl (þɜl), *sb.*2 Sc. Also 6 thyrile, thyrll, 6–8 thirle. [f. THIRL *v.*2]

1. a. Astriction (usually to a particular mill; in quot. 1564 to a smithy): see THIRLAGE 2. b. The duty and liability of tenants in thirlage. c. The astricted lands or district, = SUCKEN.

1564 in Reg. Mag. Sig. Scot. (1586) 301/2 Cum astrictione fabricandi et molendi infra terras suas de Angus (the baile thirle of the trine week of ourre landis of Angus suit and wont). 1582 Cale. Laing Charters (1899) 258 In primis, The thyrile, the baile toun..to half twa chaldyr of schilling. Ibid. 259 This is the just thyrll that we fermorarris of Crumy are to oun mile. 1681 STAIR Inst. Law Scot. xvii. § 19. 351 A Clause of thirlage granted by a Town to a Miln ..found to be extended to all Corns Kilned or Steeped within the Thirl. 1754 RUTHERFURDHALL Decis. (1759) I. 276 That the building a mill within his thirle could be interpreted to be done with no other design but in aemulationem vicini. 1773 ERSKINE Inst. Law Scot. II. ix. § 20 The astricted lands are called the thirl, or the sucken; and the persons subjected to the astriction get the name of suckeners. 1821 SCOTT Pirate xi, Plaguing themselves about baron's mills, and thirls.

2. A bondsman, a thrall. rare.

1871 WADDELL Pn. lxxix. xi Lat the sigh o' the weary thirl win ben afore yer sight.

3. Comb. thirl-band, chain or bond of servitude; thirl-folk, bondmen; thirl-man, bondman, serf; thirl-service (see THIRL *v.*2 2; quot. 1609).

1871 WADDELL Ps. ii. 3 Lat's rive their thirlbans syndry, Ibid. lxxxix. 50 O Lord, hae min' o' yer thirlfolk's pine. Ibid. lxxvii. 70 He lighnit on David his thirlman.

Thirl (þɜl), a. Sc. [? attrib. use of THIRL *sb.*2 1.] Bound in thirlage to.

1582 Calr. Laing Charters (1899) 258 Quir mile that we ar thyrll to. 1897 SARAH TYTLER Witch-wife vi. 82 Malt and meal from the mill to which he was 'bound thirl'.

Thirl (þɜl), *v.*1 Obs. exc. dial. and local. Forms: 1 þyrlian, þirlian, 2–4 þurle(n (it), 3–4 þorle, 4 þerle, thirl, 4–5 therle, þirle, thurle, 4–7 thyrl(e, 4–8 thirle, 5 thorle, 5–6 thyrll, 7–9 thirl, 4–9 thirl. See also THRILL *v.*1 [OE. þyrlian, f. þýr(e)l THIRL *sb.*1: cf. MHG. dürkeln.]

1. trans. To pierce, to run through or into (a body) as a sharp-pointed instrument does; to pierce (anything) with such an instrument; to bore a hole in or through; to perforate.

c 1000 ÆLFRIC Exod. xxi. 6 Þilie his eare mid anum æle. c 1205 LAY. 4541 Þer wes moni breoste mid brade spere i-þurled [c 1275 þorled]. c 1320 Cast. Love 1151 He lette boþe burlen his feet and honden. c 1386 CHAUCER Kntl.'s T. 1852 Namely oon That with a spere was thirled his brest boon. 1398 TREVISA Barth. De P. R. xviii. cvi. (Bodl. MS.), These wormes beþ icleped Terodenes for þey borleþ & eteþ trees. c 1440 Pallad. on Husb. i. 925 They thurle a mutte, and stuffe hit so with pynne With brymstoon, chaf, and cedria, this thre. 1578 in Scot. Poems 16th C. (1801) II. 127 Remember the speir that thirlit my hart. 1674 RAY N. C. Words, To Thirl, to bore a hole. 1706 SIBBALD Hist. Picts in Hist. Scot. I. 118 Being thirled or pierced in many places. 1825 BROCKETT N. C. Words, Thirl, to pierce, to perforate. 1878 Cumbld. Gloss., Thirl, Thurl, to bore through.

†b. With the weapon or instrument as object.

c 1400 Prymer (1891) 41 A spere in to his syde was thirled of a knyst. c 1400 Sirec. Menne 568 There is..A thorne thyrlyd in crystis hed, whiche he suffyrde for us.

c. To make (a hole) by piercing, to bore. Obs.

1609 HOLLAND Amm. Marcell. XXIV. ii. 244 The forcible and violent push of the Ram had thirled an hole through a corner-tower.

†d. To fix with a nail or the like; to transfix.

c 1450 Mirour Salnacioun 2506 That..thirlid thaym to the crosse with one naille cruwelly.

e. fig. To ' pierce '.

c 1325 SHOREHAM iv. 194 Hy beþ men,..Wuyl sennes al þorz berled. a 1340 HAMPOLE PrattER xliv. 7 Þi wordis ere sharpe þat thirlis mennys thoghtis. 1 Henry VI Wallace x. 394 The pytuous payn so sor thyrllyt his thocht. c 1560 A. SCOTT Poems (S. T. S.) xviii. 34 Throw langour of my sueit So thirlit is my spreit. 1742 R. FORBES Ajax xxix, Whose now thy groans in dowy dens The yerd-fast stanes do thirle.

†2. transf. To pass right through, penetrate, traverse (anything). Obs.

c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 85 Þet corn þet burleð þe wind, þet smal chef þet flih forð mid þe winde. a 1350 Peter & Paul 492 in Horstm. Altengl. Leg. (1881) 70 Goddes sun now hardily es he; He thyrles heuyn. 1456 Dives & Paup. (W. de W.) I. xv. 47/2 The prayer of hym that loweth hym in his prayer thyrleth the clowdes. 1541 R. COPLAND Guydon's Quest. Chirurg. B ij b, The Meri other wyse called Ysophagus..commeth out of the throte and thyrleth the mydryfe vnto ye bely or stomacke. c 1560 A. SCOTT Poems (S. T. S.) xiv. 1 Rycht as þe glass bene thirlit thrui wt bemis Of Phebus..vlisage hirlit.

†3. To make a hole (in the earth); to excavate.

a 1000 Voc. in Wr.-Wülcker 201/32 Cauantur, euacuantur, þyrliaþ. 1577 STANYHURST Descr. Irel. in Holinshed (1808) VI. 9 The toad..began to thirle and as it were to dig the earth, where finding an hole, it danke in vnto.

4. spec. Coal Mining. To cut through (a wall of coal, etc.). Also absol. or intr.

1686, 1797 (cf. THIRLING *vbl. sb.*1 2). 1839 URE Dict. Arts 987 The stenting walls 6 or 8 yards thick,..are holed or thirled at such a distance as may be most suitable for the state of the air. 1871 (see THIRL *sb.*1 4). 1882 MISS JACKSON Shropsh. Word-bk. s. v., We'n thirled out o' our 'lop-end into Smith's Level to-day. 1883 GRESLEY Coal Mining Gloss., Thirl, ..to cut away the last web of coals, etc., separating two headings or other workings.

†5. intr. or absol. To pierce, penetrate (as a sharp instrument). Also fig. Obs.

c 1374 CHAUCER Anel. & Arc. 214 So thirlleþe with be poynt of Remembrance þe swerde of sorowe. 1398 TREVISA Barth. De P. R. viii. xxviii. (Bodl. MS.), Light is a bodilich substaunce..moste meuable and passinglich borling. Ibid. IX. xix. 315 Mon moneth [Nouembre] for his coldenes borleþ inward and greueþ bodies wele sore. 1513 DOUGLAS Æneis x. viii. 114 Quhill throu the cost thyrlit the deidly pryk. Ibid. xi. xvii. 26 A wofull wyfly cry Went to the starnys and thyrlyt throw the sky. a 1600 MONTGOMERIE Misc. Poems xv. 26 Ten thousand dairts..Thirlis throu my hevy hart.

†6. intr. To pass through or penetrate (into or to a place or thing). Obs.

a 1300 Cursor M. 21098 (Cott.) Thomas..soght þat estrin thede, And thirlid intil halben-hede. 1398 TREVISA Barth. De P. R. IV. ii. (Tollem. MS.), Þat oon abideb wib blood, and þurleþ berwith in to be membris. Ibid. v. v. (Bodl. MS.) For þe spirite of sist may not burle and come bereto, for þe lette þat is bitwene. 1565 GOLDING Ovid's Met. III. (1567) 31 The piercing dart..Whereas the ioynts doe knit the backe it thirled through the skin.

7. = THRILL *v.*1 in various constructions. dial.

1725 RAMSAY Gentle Sheph. I. ii, His words they thirle like music thro' my heart. 1785 BURNS Epist. to J. Lapraik iii, It thirl'd the heart-strings thro' the breast, A' to the life. 1819 R. ANDERSON Cumbld. Ballads 60 A single luik will thirl ye thro'; A single word ensnare ye! 1868 J. SALMON Gowodean I. iv, 27 Von roof-tree, which had sae often dirled As Willie's gladsome voice around it thirled.

Hence Thirled *ppl. a.*1, pierced, perforated.

c 1200 Trin. Coll Hom. 199 Neddre..cumeð to ane hurlede ston, and criepeȝ nedlinge þureh nerewe hole, and bileuedȝ hire hude baften hire. 1398 Trevisa Barth. De P. R. xvii. cxcvi. (1495) Xiv b/1 Not thyrllyd nother hoolyd. *c*1440 Pallad. on Husb. iv. 821 Their nasis thorlid wide and patent be. *c*1560 A. Scott Poems (S. T. S.) xviii. 26 My thirlit hairt dois bleid. 1610 Holland Camden's Brit. i. 387 And now the pipes of thyrled box On euery side resound.

Thirl (þɜ̄l), v.[2] Chiefly Sc. Also 6 thirll, 6–7 thirle. [A metathetic variant of Thrill v.[2]]

†1. trans. To reduce to or hold in bondage or servitude; to enslave (a person, country, etc.).

1535 Stewart Cron. Scot. (Rolls) I. 538 This land...wes thirlit and outthrawin lie this tirrane that now is laitlie deid. 1536 Bellenden Cron. Scot. (1821) I. 109 That daye, behuffit thay othir to recouer thair liberte, or ellis be thirlit to perpetual servitude. 1567 Gude & Godlie B. (S. T. S.) 55 Father gif me my part of gein,..I will na mair be thirlit heir.

†b. To subject or bind to some condition. Obs.

1542 Bellenden Decres. Albion i. in Cron. Scot. II 3 b, All thynngis (quhilkis ar comprehendit within the speir of the mone) ar sa thirlit to deith & alteration, y[t] [etc.]. 1586 Reg. Priuy Council Scot. IV. 102 To..thirll him to the paument of certane ministeris stipendis to be modifeit be thame.

2. Sc. Law. To bind or astrict (lands or tenants) to a servitude, esp. to a particular mill (usually that of the landlord or superior) for the grinding of their corn: see Thirlage 2.

[1480: see Thirl v.[2] 4] 1574 Reg. Priuy Council Scot. II. 384 Quhilk haill lordschip is thirlit to the mylne of Mabroule. 1609 Skene Reg. Maj. i. 123 No..Fermour may thirle his Lord of his frie tenement, althought he within his time haue done thirle seruice [seruitium]..not aught be him...For the law sayes, that the deedes of the Fermour may not thirle, nor make prejudice to his Lords right. 1773 Erskine Inst. Law Scot. II. ix. § 21 Thirlage..may be constituted..by the proprietor thirlling his tenants to his own mill. 1805 G. Barry Orkney Isl. (1808) 356 Mills, to which almost all the lands are thirled or astricted.

fig. 1834 Tait's Mag. I. 428/2 Earnest-money given by the Church, in sign that he has thirled himself to her mill.

b. with the corn as object.

1881 J. Russell Haigs of Bemersyde v. 115 On the other part, Robert Haig [in contract of 1592]..'thirles' the whole of the corns of the lands of Bemersyde to the mill of Dryburgh,..the said corns to be thirled for all time coming.

†3. To mortgage (land, etc.). Obs.

1582 Reg. Priuy Council Scot. III. 91 Thay..have spendit and warit thair commoune gude and rentis that the samin ar yit thirlit and not fre. 1582–3 Ibid. 554 His saidis landes ..wilbe altogither thirlit and engadgit. 1587 Ibid. IV. 170 Thay have thirlilit ane uthir parte of thair common gude.

4. To bind or oblige (a person) to give his work, service, or custom to one particular party.

1891 A. S. Harvey in Gd. Words 631 This account is cleared off, the hapless knitter is hopelessly bound or 'thirled' to the merchant. 1890 H. Haliburton In Scot. Fields 125 The inhabitants were not, of course, 'thirled' to any particular tailor, as they used to be to a district mill.

b. fig. To bind, confine, or restrict in service or action to (some party or thing); to tie to.

1864 W. Arnot Parab. our Lord iv. (1874) 119 The serpent, as a metaphor, was in practice as completely thirled to the indication of evil, as leaven had been. 1888 Bryce Amer. Commw. iv. lxxix. (1889) II. 266 Great is their power, because they are deemed to be less 'thirled' to a party or leader, because they speak from a moral standpoint. 1902 Union Mag. June 246/2 We don't 'thirl' ourselves enough to our duties. 1903 W. Dickie Chr. Ethics Soc. Life 78 God does not encourage us to be thirled to this world and its material things.

Hence Thirled (þɜ̄ld) ppl. a.[2], bound in servitude, service, or duty.

1567 Gude & Godlie B. (S. T. S.) 59 Till Christ..I gif my thirlit hart in gouernance. *a*1722 Fountainhall Decisions (1759) I. 276 The defender ought not to have built a mill upon the thirled lands. 1898 Crockett Standard Bearer iv. 36 As a thirled labourer serves for his meat.

†Thirl, v.[3] Obs. [Chiefly of 16th c.: origin obscure. Sense 1 might possibly arise out of Thirl v.[1], and give origin to the intr. sense 2. But sense 3 appears to have some connexion with whirl: cf. note in etym. of Thirlepoll.]

1. trans. To hurl (a missile, etc.), esp. with spinning or revolving motion. Hence Thirled ppl. a.[3]

1567 Turberv. Epitaphs, etc. C ij b, First shall you see the shiuering shafts and vewe the thirled darts. 1587 Mirr. Mag. (1960) 287 These..who deem'd themselues in skies to dwell, She [Fortune] thirleth downe to dread the gulfes of gastly hell. 1603 Florio Montaigne i. iv. (1632) 9 On whom a Moore hath thirl'd his slinged speare. Ibid. xlviii. 157 With monstrous buzzing came a fire-dart thirled, As if a thunder-bolt had there beene whirled.

2. intr. To pass or fly with darting or spinning motion.

1565 Golding Ovid's Met. viii. 98 b, He tooke the Chaplet from hir head, and vp to Heauen it threw, The Chaplet thirled through the Aire [l. 179 tenuisque illa per auras] and as it gliding flew [etc.]. 1567–*c*1593 [see Thirling ppl. a.[2]].

3. trans. To whirl, twirl, roll or wind round.

1582 Stanyhurst Æneis ii. (Arb.) 59 [The adder] hym self now youthfulye bleachyng, His tayle smoog thirling, slyke breast to Titan vpheasing [Lubrica convolvit sublato pectore terga]. 1594 Nashe Unfort. Trav. 116 Like a countrie huswiues banskin, which she thirles her spindle on.

†Thirl, v.[4] Sc. Obs. [Dialectal form of Furl v.; see Th initial (6).] trans. = Furl v. 1.

1549 Compl. Scot. vi. 41 Tak in your top sails, and thirl them. 1632 Lithgow Trav. vii. 328 [We] thirle our Sailes, if Pirats but appeare.

†Thirlable, a. Obs. rare–°. [f. Thirl v.[1] + -able.] That may be thirled or pierced; penetrable.

1483 Cath. Angl. 383/2 Thirleable, penetrabilis.

Thirlage (þɜ̄rlidʒ). Sc. [A metathetic variant of Thrillage. Cf. Thirl v.[2]]

†1. Thraldom, bondage, servitude; also, thirlservice. Obs.

1513 Douglas Æneis xi. iv. 61 This mysfortoun is myne ofald thirlage. 1536 Bellenden Cron. Scot. (1821) I. 170 The Romanis contending to saif thaim fra thirlage of barbar pepill. 1549 Compl. Scot. xi. 93 Ze sal byf in maist thirlage nor brutal bestia. 1560 Rolland Crt. Venus Prol. 171 Do hild thair Realme and land out of thirlage. 1578 Gude & Godlie B. (S. T. S.) App. 236, I haue the fred from all thirlage. 1609 Skene Reg. Maj. i. 123 Gif any frie haldier..does to that ilk Ladie any service..or for her liflayes does any thirlage.

†b. A lien on land or property; mortgage. Obs.

1578 Sc. Acts Jas. VI (1814) III. 100/2 The said vmquhile Mill of Mar..spendit and deburst.., besydis the thirlage of his awin Leving, and the rentis of his proper dependance for the advancement of our souerane Lordis seruice.

2. Sc. Law. A condition of servitude or state of obligation, in which the tenants of certain lands, or dwellers in certain districts, are bound to restrict their custom to a particular mill, forge, or the like. In later times, spec. the obligation to grind their corn at a particular mill (orig. that of the lord or his assignee), and pay the recognized consideration (multure), or at least to pay the dues in lieu thereof.

In early times there were other forms of thirlage, e.g. the obligation on tenants to get all their tuneste done at a particular forge or smithy: see Thirl sb.[2] 1, quot. 1564.

1682 Stair Inst. Law Scot. xvii. § 15. 348 The chief and most frequent Servitude in Scotland is Thirlage, or a restriction of Lands to Mills, wherein Mills is Dominant, and the Lands astricted are servient. 1773 Erskine Inst. Law Scot. II. ix. § 18 Thirlage is that servitude by which lands are astricted or thirled to a particular mill, to which the possessors must carry the grain of the growth of the astricted lands to be grinded. 1799 J. Robertson Agric. Perth 396 Thirlage is a grievous bondage; and its pernicious influence on the improvement of the country is severely felt, in every place where it prevails. 1812 Sir J. Sinclair Syst. Husb. Scot. I. 5 A recent law, by which the servitude of thirlage, or bondage to any particular mill, may be legally commuted. 1820 Scott Monast. xiii, Those of the Sucken, or enthralled ground, were liable in penalties, if, desirous of freedom from thirlage,..they carried their grain to another mill.

b. The multure exacted under this system.

1799 J. Robertson Agric. Perth 396 At every mill, the present amount of the thirlage is by far more than an adequate value for the labour, to which it is supposed to be the price. 1898 Crockett Red Axe (ed. 4) 235 The smile of a shrewd miller casting up his thirlage upon the mill door when he sees the fields of his parish ripe to the harvest.

†Thirldom. Sc. Obs. [A metathetic variant of Thrildom: cf. Thirl v.[2], Thirlage.] Thraldom, bondage, servitude.

1489 Barbour's Bruce i. 226 (MS. E.) The angyr, na the wrechyt dome, That is cowplyt to foule thyrldome [Ibid. 265 threldome; 269 thryldome]. 1552 Abp. Hamilton Catech. (1884) 23 Thair..miserable thirldome in Babylone [Ibid. 38 thrildome]. 1567 Gude & Godlie B. (S. T. S) 114 On the sauch treis our harpis we hang, Quhrin thay requyrit vs ane sang, That held vs in sic thirldome. 1609 Skene Reg. Maj. i. 24 Gif he be made one professed Monke, he sall be made frie from bondage and thirldome.

†Thirle, ppl. a.[1], v.[2], v.[3] = Thirl v.[1], etc.

†Thirlepoll, -pole, -poole. Obs. Forms: α. 5 thorle-, thurlepolle, 6 thurle-, thyrlepole, thirlepolle, -poole. β. 6 thir-, thorpole. γ. 7 thorn(e)pole, thornpool. See also Whirlpool. [perh. f. Thirl sb.[1] + Poll sb.[1], from the blowholes or nostrils in the head: cf. quot. 1603.

If this was the etymology the name would be applicable to the Cetacea generally, although from the quots. it was, at least often, specifically applied. But the etymology is itself rendered doubtful by the synonyms Whirlpool (1552: see quot. 1538) and Hurlpool (1556), which show that in the 16th c. the first element was sometimes taken as Thirl v.[2] to hurl, whirl, and the name thus apr. identified with Whirlpool, a vortex, from the commotion caused by its spouting or blowing. See however Thurlhead.]

A whale, or some species or kind of whale.

*c*1460 J. Russell Bk. Nurture 837 Salt Thurlepolle, salt whale, is good with egre wyne. 1513 Bk. Keruynge in Babees Book (1868) 281 Samon, congre, sturgyon, turbot, thorpole, thornebacke, hounde-fysshe, & halybut. 1533 Elyot Cast. Helthe (1541) 67 b, Greatte fyshes of the sea, as thurlepole, porpyse, and sturgeon. 1538 — Dict., Balæna, a greate fishe, whiche I suppose to be a thurlepoll [ibid. 1545, 1548 thirlepole; 1552 whirlepoole]. 1550 Bale Eng. Votaries ii. 105 By the sea coast a she fish was founde of a wonderfull greatnesse, called a thirlepole. 1570 Levins Manip. 160/41 A Thirlepoole, balæna. A Hurlepoole, idem. 1577–87 Holinshed Chron. (1807) II. 390 There were eleuen whales or thirlepooles cast on land. 1591 Harington Orl. Fur. vi. xxxvi, The Dolphin strong, the Tunny good of tast..With Porpose, Seales, and Thornpooles. 1603 Owen Pembrokeshire (1892) 127 The thornepole is of like forme.. to the Porpisse..having a great round hole in the pole of his head, thoroughe the wch he vseth to spoute out water.

†Thirler. Sc. Obs. [f. Thirl v.[2] + -er[1].] A person under thirlage.

1656 Burgh Rec. Cupross 18 Aug., They war his thirleris his hundrethe and halfe yeir.

Thirling (þɜ̄rliŋ), vbl. sb.[1] Forms: see Thirl v.[1] [f. Thirl v.[1] + -ing[1].]

1. The action of Thirl v.[1]; piercing, boring.

*a*1225 Ancr. R. 166 Þet, þif se meien iðe wordes þrunge, mid a luttel hurlunge [MS. T. þurlinge; MS. C. þurlunge] se muhten al uor leosen. 1443 Durham Acc. Rolls (Surtees) 723 Cum thirlyng unius shafte, ut patet per bill. 10 d.

2. Coal Mining. See quots. and cf. Thirl[4] 4.

1686 Plot Staffordsh. 148 Between the wallings there were ribbs left, and passages through them called thurlings. 1797 Encycl. Brit. (ed. 3) V. 101/1 The workings called rooms, turned off at right angles from the others,..the workings called throughers or thirlings, 9 feet wide, wrought through at right angles from one room to another. 1839 Ure Dict. Arts 976 Let fig. 840 be a small portion of the pillars, rooms, and thirlings formed in a coal-field.

Thirling (þɜ̄rliŋ), vbl. sb.[2] [f. Thirl v.[2] + -ing[1].] A bringing into subjection or bondage.

1535 Stewart Cron. Scot. (Rolls) II. 444 Rycht hevelie he buir into his hart The grit outrihaw and thirling of his ring [= realm]. 1872 A. S. Harvey in Gd. Words 615 As in the hosiery trade, so in the fishery, the 'thirling' begins with the boy, and is never subsequently thrown off.

b. Thirling mill, a mill to which certain lands, etc. are astricted in thirlage.

1773 Ferguisson Farmer's Ingle xi, How big a birn maun lie on bassie's back, For meal and multure to the thirling mill. 1824 Macfaggart Gallovid. Encycl. s. v. Thirlage, All [mills] erected by such compactions are thirling mills.

Thirling (þɜ̄rliŋ), ppl. a.[1] [f. Thirl v.[1] + -ing[2].] That thirls; piercing.

*c*1380 Wyclif Sel. Wks. III. 27 Þoru list of þin arrowis, þat is, of þi þurlinge words. 1398 [see Thirl v.[1] 5]. *a*1547 Surrey Æneid iv. 91 [The hind which] the Shepheard smiteth at unwares And leaves unwist in her the thirling head. 1566 Drant Horace, Sat. iii. F vij, What thirlinge thrawes doth twitche thee? hast? *a*1618 Davies Epigrams Poems (1772) 116 To let in thirling notes of noted laies. 1801 W. Beattie Parings (1873) 28 Really this night's thinin'; I never maist fan sic a frost.

†Thirling, ppl. a.[2] Obs. [f. Thirl v.[3] 2 + -ing[2].] Flying like something hurled; darting; whirling.

1567 Turberv. Ovid's Epist. 22 Where thou with thy nymble arme a thyrling launce doth cast. 1579 Remedy agst. Love B iij b, To hunt, to hawke, to throwe the thyrling darte. *a*1593 Marlowe Hero & Leander I. 108 Nor that night-wandering, pale, and watery star (When yawning dragons draw her [Diana's] thirling car From Latmus' mount up to the gloomy sky).

†Thirl-multure. Sc. Law. Obs. Also 5 thrill-, thryl-, threll-. [See Thirl sb.[2], Thrill sb.[3], and Multure.] The insucken multure paid by tenants of astricted lands to the mill having the right of thirlage; also, the right to exact this multure.

a. 1423 Charters, &c. of Kelso (1871) 55 With the suckins, thryl multuris, and al fredomes langand thairto. 1472 Acta Audit. (1839) 21/1 The actioune..twiching be thrill multer of be landis of Carnfyne & Carnebro. 1488 Ibid. 224/2 Be wrangwis wthalding of be threll multure & sukkin awing to be said Alexandris mylne.

β. 1537 Reg. Mag. Sig. Scot. 374/2 Astricta multura, vulgariter thirle multuer. 1617 Sc. Acts Jas. VI (1816) IV. 579/2 His Maiestie..dissolvis fra the Croun..the said Burgh of Aldrdene with all and sindrie thair landis, ..salmond fischingis..milnes, thirle multeris [etc.]. 1882 J. Walker Scot. Poems 122 Quoth the man o' dust an' thirl-mouter.

Thirs, thirse, var. Thurse Obs., goblin.

Thirse, obs. form of Thyrse.

Thirsill, obs. Sc. form of Thistle.

Thirst (þɜ̄st), sb. Forms: α. 1–4 purst, 3–5 porst, 4–5 thurste, 4–6 thurst; 3 (Orm.) pirrst, 3–5 pirst, 4 perst(e, 5 pirste, 5–6 thyrst(e, 6 thirste, 4– thirst. β. 3 (Orm.) þrisst, 3–5 þrist, 4 threist, threste, þrust(e, þrest (þrast), 4–5 threst, thryst, 4–6 thriste, thrust, thruste, 4–7 thrist, 5 preste, 5–6 thryste. γ. 4 first, ferst, furst, furste. [OE. þurst = OFris. thurst*, thorst* (mod.Fris. torst, toarst), EFris. thurst), OS. thurst (Du. dorst), OHG. (G.) durst.—OTeut. þurs-taz*; cf. ON. þorsti masc. (Sw., Da. törst), Goth. þaurstei fem.: all formed, with nominal suffix, from a verbal stem þurs-* (cf. Gothic þaursnejþ mik I thirst) :—Indo-Eur. tṛs*, weak grade of ters* : tors* : trs*. Cf. L. torrēre to dry, Skr. tṛš to thirst.

The change from thurst to thirst was prob. an assimilation of the sb. to the form of the vb. The metathetic thrist, thrust, was in use from *c*1200 to 1590.]

1. The uneasy or painful sensation caused by want of drink; also, the physical condition resulting from this want.

a. *c*1200 Ancr. R. 166 Ne Ancrenewisse 11. 192 Do þis wiȝ magan bryne & þurste. *c*1050 Byrhtferth's Handboc in Anglia (1885) VIII. 336 Win & beor eall to ecum þurste awend. *c*1175 Lamb. Hom. 79 He hefde þurst and hunger. *c*1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 75 He ne mai þolen hunger ne þirst ne ofher pine. *c*1200 Ormin 14608 Þatt maȝ þe slekkenn wiþ þin þirst. *a*1225 Ancr. R. 114 He..mende him ase t. *c*1330 R. Brunne Chron. Wace (Rolls) 10176 Þey deyde for hunger & þirst. 1340 Ayenb. 139 He soffreþ and hunger an þorst. 1377 Langl. P. Pl. B. xv. 19 He drouke at eche diche þat he for thurste deyde. *c*1380 Sir Ferumb. 2810 Feynt & pal for hunge & for perst. *c*1440 Promp. Parv. 491/2 Thyrste, or thyste, sitis. 1489 Caxton Faytes of A. I. xiii. 34 They overcome theyre enemyes more by thurst than by armes. 1508 Fisher Penit. Ps. cii. Wks. (1876) 179 That may suffre & endure grete labours, watchynge, pouerte, thurst, hunge, colde, & hete. 1697 Dryden Virg. Georg. III. 470 Let thy Goats..be..led to living Streams, to quench their Thirst. 1738 Gray Propertius III. 89 The long thirst of Tantalus alloy. 1858 O. W. Holmes Aut. Breakf.-t. ix. 79 Thirst belongs to humanity, everywhere, in all ages.

β. c 1200 ORMIN 2615, & pinenn þær þi bodiz a Wlþ þiche & þrisst & hungger. c 1230 Bestiary 40 Ich hauie þrist. c 1300 Harrow. Hell 50 (MS. E.) Seþþen haue y fond & wist Hot & cold, hunger & þrest. 13.. Sir Beues (A.) 2791 Beues hadde panne swich þrust. a 1340 HAMPOLE Psalter cxlii. 7 Sikoyn my þrest. c 1375 Sc. Leg. of Hol. 156 in O. E. Misc. 215 þai schil haue hongir and þrust wereuer þai gon. c 1400 MAUNDEV. (Roxb.) viii. 30 þai made murmuracion agaynes him by cause of þirste. c 1440 Jacob's Well 147 Be yeȝe thurghward, he haue þrist. 1530 PALSGR. 163 Soyf, thrust. 1535 STEWART Cron. Scot. (Rolls) II. 219 Wier drank for to cuill his thrist. 1590 SPENSER F. Q. II. vi. 17 Him...that...Will die for thirst, and water doth refuse.

γ. 13.. S. Eng. Leg. in Herrig's Archiv LXXXII. 395/68 For drede of gret hongir & þrist. c 1395 Song of Hawyis 53 in E. E. P. (1862) 120 Ne neuer my furst ne woldestou slake. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) VI. 269 He brende for first [v. r. vurste].

† b. (See quot.) dial. Obs.

1741 Compl. Fam.-Piece III. (ed. 3) 504 Swine...are subject to a Distemper which is called the Thirst, or Lungs, according to some Farmers.

c. Short for thirstland: see 3.

1906 Bioskop. Mag. Sept. 394/2 Getting a span of oxen through the long 'thirsts'; as the waterless stretches of road are expressively called.

2. fig. A vehement desire (of (arch.), for after something, to do something).

c 1200 ORMIN 5588 All hiss hungger & hiss þrist Shall ben þurrh Drihhtin sleckedd. c 1374 CHAUCER Boeth. II. met. ii, Thilke more ay breneth in Hem the thirst of hauynge. c 1450 Mirour Saluacionis 219 Thi thrust to shedde mans blode was neuer wery. a 1541 WYATT Penit. Ps. CXXX. 27 To quench of sleep the thrust. 1554 KNOX Forthy. Admon. D vj, desyre & earnest thirst...of your salvacion. 1607 SHAKS. Cor. I. i. 25 Not in thirst for Revenge. 1669 GALE Crt. Gentiles I. i. 1. 2 Those infinite thirsts after truth. 1751 JOHNSON Rambler No. 83 P 1 That thirst after curiosities, which often draws contempt and ridicule upon itself. 1812 CARY Dante, Paradise IV. 122 Our mind can satisfy her thirst to know. 1831 SCOTT Ct. Robt. xiii, The more lofty-minded...despise the thirst of gold. 1849 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. v. 557 It may be distinctly traced...either to thirst for money or to thirst for blood. 1851 DIXON W. Penn xxxi. (1872) 296 In his thirst for knowledge he was in the habit of studying every sect.

3. attrib. and Comb., as thirst-fever, -longing, -quencher; thirst-abating, -creating, -inducing, -quenching, -scorched, -tormented adjs.; thirst-country, -land, a waterless tract of country, spec. in S. Africa; thirst-serpent (see quot.).

1. PHILIPS Cyder I. 63 The Root For *Thirst-abating Sweetness prais'd. 1891 G. MCCALLUM Breath fr. Veldt (1899) 170 If you are in a *Thirst' country, you take, of course, a water-bottle. 1781 COWPER Conversat. 262 The riotous abuse Thy *thirst-creating stems at length produce. 1829 T. HOOK Bank to Barner 49 These cows had just finished their *thirst-inducing meal. 1895 J. G. MILLAIS Breath fr. Veldt (1899) 184 We entered the great forest *Thirstland...In this expanse of some hundred square miles there is but one waterhole. 1901 J. WELLS Stewart of Lovedale xviii. 182 Without crossing the Karoo and great Thirst-land of Unbelief. c 1614 CAMPION Wks. (1909) 179 A little I finde, Like *thirst-longing, that doth bide Where they say no heart doth move. 1908 Daily Chron. 3 Jan. 3/6 He prefers pure water as a *thirst-quencher. 1895 Westm. Gaz. 19 Mar. 8/2 This orange wine is most refreshing and *thirst-quenching. 1861 W. F. COLLIER Hist. Eng. Lit. 443 in view of the *thirst-scorched seamen. 1731 MEDLEY tr. Kolben's Cape G. Hope II. 165 The Dipsas or *Thirst-Serpent is so call'd from its bite causing a burning thirst.

Thirst (þɜːst), v. Forms: a. 1 *Ð-, þyrst-, 2-4 þirst-, 3-4 purst- (i), (4 furst-), 4-6 thurst-, 5-6 thyrst-, 5- thirst. β. 4 þryst-, prist-, prest-, 4-5 thrist-, 5-6 threst-, thrist-. [OE. þyrsian, f. þurst THIRST sb. Cf. OS. thurstian (Du. dorsten), OHG. dursten (G. dürsten), ON. þyrsta (Sw. törsta, Da. törste).]

†1. impers. as in me thirsteth, 'it thirsts me', I am thirsty. (In OE. with accus. of person and gen. of thing, or with dat. of person.)

c 897 K. ÆLFRED Gregory's Past. C. ii. 30 Þeah þæt folc þyrste þære lare. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. John xix. 28 þa cwæð he, me þyrst. c 1000 Sax. Leechd. II. 104 Þa men ne þyrst. c 1200 ORMIN 14603 Þiff þatt iss þatt te þirstebþ. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 199 Þirte þurst swiþe. a 1300 Cursor M. 23085 Me thristed sare, drinc yee me broght. c 1386 CHAUCER Monk's T. 49 So thursted hym, that he Was wel ny lorn. c 1440 York Myst. xxxvi. 221 A! me thristis sare.

2. intr. To feel or suffer thirst; to be thirsty. Also transf., e.g. of parched ground or plants. Somewhat arch.

c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. John xix. 28 Cuoð ic þyrsta. c 975 Rushw. Gosp. John iv. 14 Swelle wutudlice drincefð of wæte dæt ic selo him se ðyrstet in ecnisse. 1340 HAMPOLE Pr. Consc. 5771 I thrested, and yhe me na drynk bedde. 1382 WYCLIF 1 Cor. iv. 11 We hungren, and thirsten, and ben nakid. 1398 TREVISA Barth. De P. R. v. xliv. (Bodl. MS.) Euerich beeste with lunges þrustep moche. 14.. Lybeaus Disc. (1890) 1426 Sir Libeaus þursted sore And seide..To drinke let me go. 1530 PALSGR. 757/2, I Thrust, I want drinke. 1577 B. GOOGE Heresbach's Husb. III. (1586) 146 You shall gyuue them water as oft as they thirst. 1611 BIBLE Isa. lv. 1 Ho, euery one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters. 1649, 1770, 1840 [see THIRSTING pbl. a.]. 1872 R. ELLIS Catullus lxviii. 73 Bloodless of high sacrifice, Now thirsts each desolate altar! 1875 [see THIRSTY 1].

3. fig. To have a longing, craving, or strong desire. Const. in OE. with gen., = ot; later after, for († to) something, to do something.

c893 K. ÆLFRED Oros. II. ix. 5 10 þu þe þyrstende wære monnes blodes. c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints xlii (Agatha) 67 Scho thirstyt...for tilcumet hi newynnis kyng. 1388 WYCLIF Ps. lxii 5 (Kxiii.) Mi soul thirstide to thee; my fleisch thirstide to thee ful many tool. 1419 in Sharpe Lond. & Kingd. (1894-5) III. 363 Your poure lieges þat have long thrusted after knowlech of your prosperite. a 1548 HALL Chron., Hen. VII 25 b, The Frenche nacion...thrusted for the blood...of the poore Brytones. 1601 R. JOHNSON Kingd. & Common. (1603) 157 The Turkish Emperor...thirsting to open a way into Moscouie. 1791 BURKE App. Whigs Wks. VI. 203 It is not necessary to teach men to thirst after power. 1898 G. MACDONALD Phantastes iv. (1858) 75 I entered, thirsting for the shade which it promised.

†4. trans. To desire vehemently; to long for. Obs.

c950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. v. 6 Eadge þiðon ða þe hungrad & ðyrstas soðfæstinisse. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. ibid., Eadige synt þa þe rihtwisnesse hingriaþ & þyrstaþ. c 1290 Liber Scintill. x. 49. a 1340 HAMPOLE Psalter, Cant. 506 Erthly kyngis hat threstis mannys blode. 1382 WYCLIF Matt. v. 6 Blessid be thei that hungren and thirsten rightwisnesse, for thei schuln ben fulfilled. 1450-50 tr. Lydgate (Rolls) III. 471 Ye thruste golde..and couette honoure. 1527 TINDALE Obed. Chr. Man To Rdr. 20 b, Sufficient vnto them that thirst the truth. 1593 Q. ELIZ. Boeth. I. iv. 11 Wicked men, that thursted the blud of all the senate. 1718 PRIOR Solomon I. 203 He seeks his keeper's flesh, and thirsts his blood.

Hence † Thirsted ppl. a., longed for.

c 1611 CHAPMAN Iliad XXII. 277 His bright and sparkling eyes...sought wrongfully the thirsted for prise The next way to his thirsted life.

Thirster (þɜːstəɹ). [f. THIRST v. + -ER 1.] One who thirsts; fig. one who craves or longs (for, after something).

1382 WYCLIF Isa. XXXII. 6 Drinc to the thirstere he shal don awei. a 1398 LINDESAY (Pitscottie) Chron. Scot. (S.T.S.) I. 100 Ane false wyqedlie thirster of innocent blode. 1622 F. WHITE Repl. Fisher 112 The Pope was...an insatiable...thirster after monie. 1779-81 JOHNSON L. P., Prior Wks. III. 230 He was by nature no thirster for blood. 1883 Cambridge Student II. 28 The thirster after knowledge.

Thirstful (þɜːstfʊl), a. rare. [f. THIRST sb. + -FUL.] Full of thirst; thirsty.

1865 Reader No. 151. 568/1 A dry, arid, thirstful land. 1871 G. MEREDITH H. Richmond xxix, My other eager thirstful self I shook off like a thing worn out.

Thirstily (þɜːstɪlɪ), adv. [f. THIRSTY + -LY 2.] In a thirsty manner; with thirst. Also fig.

1549 COVERDALE, etc. Erasmus. Par. 1 Peter 7 Not to be stupyd lothesomly but greedily, yea and thursttly. a 1586 SIDNEY Arcadia III. Wks. 1724 II. 427 Which she..had drunk up thirstily. c 1665 MRS. HUTCHINSON Mem. Col. Hutchinson (1846) 468 A kinsman of his who thirstily aspired thereto preferment. 1892 CARLYLE Sart. Res. II. iii, From such Fountain he draws, diligently, thirstily.

Thirstiness (þɜːstɪnɛs). [f. THIRSTY + -NESS.] The quality or condition of being thirsty; thirst.

1583 GOLDING Calvin on Deut. clxvii. 1035 There is no man but he is vexed with diuerse chaunges and sortes of thirstinesse. 1619 R. HARRIS Drunkard's Cr. 19 ...causes a dropsie and..thirstinesse. 1649 BLITHE Eng. Improv. Impr. (1652) 107 That Thirstiness in me after the Common good. 1872 Daily News 15 July, Streams of sightseers, whose curiosity is accompanied by a general thirstiness. 1897 Ibid. 19 July 3/1 The terrible and undoubted thirstiness of the season.

Thirsting (þɜːstɪŋ), vbl. sb. [f. THIRST v. + -ING 1.] The condition denoted by the verb THIRST; thirst; fig. longing, craving.

c 1500 KENNEDY Passion of Christ 739 Bitter wyne myxt with gall thirstesis my gud to slocht the thirsting. 1653 CROMWELL Sp. 14 July in Carlyle, We have had many desires, and thirstings in our spirits, to find out ways and means. 1701 STANHOPE Augustine's Medit. XXXV. 82 What impatient thirstings ought I to bring! 1861 Times 22 Aug., A thirsting for political liberty.

Thirsting, ppl. a. [f. as prec. + -ING 2.] That thirsts, thirsty; fig. longing.

1382 WYCLIF Prov. XXV. 25 Cold watir to the threstende soule. 1552 HULOET, Thyrstynge, or beynge a thyrste, sitiens. 1649 BLITHE Eng. Improv. Impr. (1652) 95 Keep thy Land raised in a thirsting condition. 1770 WESLEY Jrnl. 26 June, They drank in the words of life, just as the thirsting earth the showers. 1820 SHELLEY Cloud 1, I bring fresh showers for the thirsting flowers. 1857-8 SEARS Athan. II. 181, 195 His marvellous tale..has fallen into thirsting ears.

Hence Thirstingly adv., longingly.

1619 W. SCLATER Exp. 1 Thess. (1630) 570 The will..so thirstingly inclined to wickednesse.

Thirstless (þɜːstlɛs), a. [f. THIRST sb. + -LESS.] Having no thirst; not thirsty.

1591 SYLVESTER Du Bartas I. vii. 648 Th' officious Kids..sit (self thirstless) by Rivet's brink, Which in their mouthes they bring them [their Parents old] home to drink. 1856 DOBELL Lyrics in War Time, Home Wounded, Among the thirstless dead. 1883 Halfehours in Many Lands 1 In great thirstless tropical abstainer (the camel).

b. Not impelled by thirst. nonce-use.

1706 BAYNARD in Sir J. Floyer Hot & Cold Bath. II. 330 Unnecessary and thirstless Epotations.

Hence Thirstlessness.

1822-34 Good's Study Med. (ed. 4) I. 102 Cases of thirstlessness are not by any means frequent.

†Thirswelw, a. [f. THIRST sb. + -LEWE.] Thirsty.

c 1425 Orolog. Sapient. I. in Anglia X. 327/9 Þe whiche qwenchede not fullye here thirste, but hit..made hem more thristlewe. c 1430 LYDG. Min. Poems (Percy Soc.) 75 Dryye in the see, and wete upon the stronde;..In reuens thurstlew, and moyst upon the londe. 1430-40 — Bochas I. xv. (MS. Bodl. 263) 16 69/2 He was..wonder thrustleuh affiir trauailyng.

Thirsty (þɜːstɪ), a. Forms: see THIRST sb. [OE. þurstig, þyrstig, f. þurst, THIRST sb. + -ig, -Y. Cf. OS. thurstig, OHG. durstag.]

1. Having the sensation of thirst; feeling desire or craving for drink.

c950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. xxv. 35 Ic wæs ðyrstig and ge sadon me dringe. c 1000 Ags. Ps. (Thu.) lxiii[i]. 4 Wide uemon þurstige mude. c 1200 ORMIN 5163 Forr þe birrþ fedenn hunngrig mann & þrisstig þifenn drinnke. a 1300 Cursor M. 1020 (Cott.) Suld he neuer threst! [F. pristy, G. thristi, Tr. furstl] be. 1426 AUDELAY Poems 7 The thorste yif dryng. c 1440 Alphabet of Tales 460 Hym thought in his slepe þat hym was passand thrustie. a 1533 LD. BERNERS Huon xxii. 66, I fele my selfe nother hungry nor thrusty. 1549 Compl. Scot. v. 34 Quhen we are thirsty, ve seik drynk. 1590 SPENSER F. Q. I. x. 38 His office was the hungry for to feed, And thirsty give to drinke. 1697 DRYDEN Virg. Past. v. 38 The thirsty Cattel..abstain'd From Water. 1703 MAUNDRELL Journ. Jerus. 79 The Pilgrims being..very inviting to the thirsty Passenger. 1785 JOWETT Hist. (ed. 2) II. 319 The thirsty one, in that he thirsts, desires only drink.

b. transf. Of earth or plants: Greatly wanting moisture; dry, parched, arid.

1388 WYCLIF Isa. XXXV. 7 That that was drie, is maad in to a poond, and the thirsti..in to wellis of watris. 1471 RIPLEY Comp. Alch. III. iv. in Ashm. Theat. Chem. Brit. (1652) 140 Dry up thyne Erth tyll hyt be thrysty. 1577 B. GOOGE Heresbach's Husb. II. (1586) 80 b, The salte, bitter, and thirstie ground. c 1586 C'TESS PEMBROKE Ps. LXXIV. xiv, Thou wondrously didst cause...From thirsty flynt a fresh riuyere flow. 1743 FRANCIS tr. Hor., Odes I. xxii. 16 The tawny lion reigns Fierce on his native Africk's thirsty plains. 1878 BOSW. SMITH Carthage 254 The country was parched and thirsty.

2. fig. Having or characterized by a vehement desire or craving; eager, greedy.

c888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xii, Swæ swylcð seo gitsung þa droesendan welan..forþam hio hiora simle bið þurstegu. c 1400 tr. Secreta Secret., Gov. Lordsh. 56 It semys bettir þat þe eres of þe folk be vnto þe prouerbe of þe kyng. 1577 HARRISON England II. i. (1877) 11 The thirstie desire of the people..to heare the words of God. 1697 DRYDEN Virg. Georg. III. 727 When the thirsty Fire had drunk Their vital Blood. 1760 FRANKLIN Lett. Wks. 1840 VI. 230 She has a mind thirsty after knowledge. 1832 LAMB Elia, Newspapers 35 Pro. ago, Refreshing the thirsty appetites of the multitude.

3. transf. That causes thirst. (Now colloq.)

1599 SANDYS Europe Spec. (1632) 152 Troubled with the dropsie..caused..or accompanied with a thirstie infirmitie. 1603 SHAKS. Meas. for M. I. ii. 134 Our Natures doe pursue Like Rats that rauyn downe their proper Bane, A thirsty euill, and when we drinke, we die. 1812 W. TENNANT Anster F. iv. xlviii, Slices of the thirsty ham. 1897 F. T. JANE Lordship, etc. i. 2 A thirsty walk up and down terrible hard roads. Mod. Thirsty weather and thirsty work.

4. Comb., as thirsty-cupped, thirsty-looking adjs.; thirsty frog, thirsty snake: see quots.

1567 MAPLET Gr. Forest 70 b, There is..fue kinds of Aspis. The first named Dipsas in Greeke, in Latine Situla, Thirstie Snake. 1802 SHAW Gen. Zool. III. 115 Thirsty Frog, Rana Sitibunda..Native of desert places about the river Ural: has the habit of a toad. 1875 LAURIE Poems, Symphony 132 Marsh-plants, thirsty-cupped for rains. Mod. A thirsty-looking man standing outside a public-house.

Thirteen (þɜːtiːn, þɜːtiːn: see -TEEN). Forms: α. 1 preotiene, -tene, -tyne, preottene, -tyne, 1-4 prettyne, 2-5 prit-, 3 þre-, preat-, 4 that-, prot-, thrittene, pritten, 4-7 thret-, 5 throt-, (thred-), thryttene, thretten, 6 thretene, 7 threteen(e, threttein. β. 5 pirt-, 5-6 thyr-, thurtene, 6 thirtene, -tine, thurteyn, 6-7 thirteene, 8 thirteen, 7- thirteen. [OE. þrēotīene, -tēne = OS. thriutein, thrutein, OFris. thretten (MLG. druttein, Du. dertien), OHG. drīzehan (G. dreizehn), ON. þrettin (Da. tretten, Sw. tretton); f. þrēo, THREE + tīene, tēne, pl. -TEEN, TEN.] The cardinal number composed of ten and three, represented by the symbols 13 or XIII.

A. adj. 1. In concord with a sb. expressed.

α. c 900 tr. Bede's Hist. iv. xxiii. (1890) 348 Preottene ger & syx monaþ & tyn daȝas. Ibid. iv. xxiv. [xxiii.] 342 Þær seondon betweoh þæm mynstrum twæm preottyne mila ametene. c 1200 ORMIN 11071 Se mushenn uppo þure ȝer þrittene monebþ findenn. c 1205 LAY. 7771 Preottene monðes wunedde Julius in Oðeres. a 1225 Ancr. R. 234 Seinte Sare, nes heo fulle þreattene ȝer itented of hire vlesche. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 652 Brut is sone king was þrettene [v. r?. prottene, thrytene] ȝer. 13.. Gesp Warw. (A.) 7305 + 8. 279 For fritten poure men & ȝette mo. 1610 Mem. St. Giles's Durham 39 Everie housholder shall pay to the bakehouse man for everie thretenene cakes one cake and no more. 1661 Reg. Privy Counc. Scotl. I. 26 Threteen.

β. c 1230 R. Gloucester's Chron. (Rolls) 8666 (MS. c) He adde be kyng þirttene ȝer. 1531 in Sel. Cases Crt. Requests (1898) 34 To haue for his wages only thurteyn shillings and foure pence by the yere. 1538 ELYOT, Pritelum, thyrteene. 1561 DAVIES Epigr. on Apo. Pref. (1593) 14 Thirtine yeares past. 1588 Holy Bull, etc. (title-p.), Pardon and Indulgence of their Sinnes: and that for..two Spanish Reals, viz. Thirteen Pence. 1659 BAXTER Key Cath. xxxii. 209 One Kingdom hath thirteen Arch-bishops. 1901 N. Amer. Rev. Feb. 162 Fines amounting to thirteen times the amount of the indemnity.

2. Absolutely (or sb. implied in context).

α 1000 Menologium (Gr.) 116 Ymb preotyne [tida lange]..tyn mihtum eac. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 10237 In þe ȝer of grace ywh Tuelf hundred & þretene ido was al þis. 1362 LANGL. P. Pl. A. v. 128, I..putte hem in a pressour.. Til ten ȝerdes oher twelue tolden out þrettene. 1562 in W. H. Turner Select. Rec. Oxford (1880) 289 Called before the Mayre and the thirteene. 1725 in Warden Burgh Laws Dundee, etc. (1872) 356 Non shall give no more butt thertteen for the duson of bread, except that it be to Baxteris or Baxters wifs. 1869 S. EVANS Irv. Fabliaux M.S., Charm v, If thirteen sit down to sup And thou first have risen up, Goodman, turn thy money! 1884 Harper's Mag. Nov. 889/1, I do not know as to their feelings regarding thirteen at table.

†3. As ordinal: = THIRTEENTH. Obs.

c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints ii. (Paulus) 72 [He] precht bare.. till of nere þe thrittene ȝere. c 1430 Freemasonry 239 The thretene artycul.. Ys [etc.]. 1593 Jolis of Fyrtl. VI. 527/2 The thretene day of March. 1551 RECORDE Pathw. Knowl. 1. Defin., In the thirtene conclusion. 1603 KNOLLES Hist. Turks (1638) 30 He..died the thirteen of November, Anno 1142. 1620-2 Kirkcudbr. War-Comm. Min. Bk. (1855) 60 The thirteene day of October, 1640.

4. Comb., forming attrib. phrases, as thirteen-day, -inch, -stone; thirteen-ringed, -square adjs.; †thirteen-penny sb. = B. 2.

1517 TORKINGTON Pilgr. (1884) 30 A fayer Tower xiij Sqware. 1798 Hull Advertiser 6 Oct. 2/1 The two thirteen-inch mortars. 1828 LANDOR Imag. Conv. Wks. 1846 I. 305/2 A half crown contents me..and, just for the pegs-polisher, a thirteen-penny. 1897 MARY KINGSLEY W. Africa 263 Getting these twelve to thirteen-stone gentlemen up. 1898 P. MANSON Trop. Diseases xxxvii. 589 A thirteen-ringed larva is hatched out from each egg. 1904 Westm. Gaz. 8 Feb. 5/2 The thirteen-story Continental Trust building.

†b. Thirteen-pence-halfpenny, alleged to have been the wage of a hangman. Thirteen-pence-halfpenny piece, the name of the Scottish merk (= 13*s.* 4*d.* Scots money) current during the 17th century. Obs.

[c 1470 Miners' Laws in C. Walters Bygone Somerset (1897) 41 If any..doth pick or steal any lead or Oare to the value of thirteen pence halfpenny the lord or his Officers may Arrest all his Lead-works.] 1604 DEKKER 2nd Pt. Honest Wh. Wks. 1873 II. 171 Why should I eate hempe-seed at the Hangmans thirteene-pence halfe-penny Ordinary? 1608 DAY Ham. and of Ch. iv. F iij, He could not hang me for't; tis not worth thirteen pence halfe penny. 1722 DE FOE Col. Jack (1840) 46 A paper of old thirteen-pence-halfpenny pieces, half and quarter pieces, with nine-pences, and four-pence-halfpenny, and all crooked money, Scotch and Irish coin. 1796 PEGGE Anonym. (1809) 460 Thirteen-pence halfpenny is Hangman's wages, because there was a piece of money of this sort, as likewise six-pence three-farthings, the half of it; both of them Scotch pieces, brought to us by James the First. I have seen them both.

B. sb. (With plural thirteens.)

1. The abstract number; also, a symbol or the figures representing this.

That the number is unlucky is a widespread superstition (cf. quots. 1865, 1884 in A. 2); hence such applications as thirteen club; see quots. 1883, 1905.

c 1400 in Halliwell Nursery Rhymes (1841) 30 Nombrys ..componyd of a digyt and of an articule as fourtene fyftene thirtene and suche other. 1599 MINSHEU Span. Dict. s. v. Treze, Katdrse en sus Treze, to be in his thirteenes, to be obstinate, to stand still in his purpose. 1883 St. James's Gaz. 26 Oct., The social crusade against the venerable superstition respecting the number 13...Last year, a Thirteen Club was established [in America]. 1905 Daily News 6 Feb. 9 Where is the Thirteen Club and its campaign to shame the superstitious public out of their dread of the number 13?

b. A thing distinguished by the number thirteen, as an article of a certain size so called.

1799 Hull Advertiser 20 Apr. 2/3 Wine bottles, thirteens, fourteens, and fifteens, at 2*s.* 6*d.* per dozen. Mod. This gentleman takes a thirteen in books.

†2. The name formerly current in Ireland for a silver shilling, as being worth thirteen pence of Irish copper currency. Obs.

c 1720 SWIFT Dean's Answ. 8 Restore..My twelve thirteens and sixpence ha'penny. 1762 FOOTE Orators ii. (1780) 57 I'll wager you three thirteens to a rap, that it is no such matter at all, at all. 1820 Naval Chron. XXIV. 151 Oft was his hand pocket without a thirteen. 1830 MARRYAT King's Own xxi, 'He says that it's two thirteens that must be paid for it'... 'Have you two shillings?'

Thirteener (θə̄ːtĭˈnəɹ). [f. prec. sb. + -ER 1.]

1. A silver shilling; = THIRTEEN B. 2. Thirteener and a baubee; see prec. A. 4 b.

1762 Naval Chron. XXIV. 369 Chest the sheriff out of his thirteener and a baubee! 1811 Henry & Isabella I. 289, I have scraped together a few thirteeners honestly, for my old age. 1836 T. HOOK G. Gurney ii, Says the padré, 'tip us the thirteeners, and you are as clean as a whistle for the next twelve months'.

2. a. Cricket. A hit for thirteen runs. b. See quot. 1891.

1893 Black & White 29 July 139/2 Of cricket there are anecdotes galore; how a 'thirteener' was once run out on the Marlborough ground. 1900 Westm. Gaz. 5 July 3/2 But E. P. Miller once hit a 'thirteener' at single wicket, which is considered a record. 1891 Cent. Dict. Thirteener, ..the thirteenth one of any number of things; specifically, in whist, the last card of a suit left in the hands of a player after the other twelve have been played.

Thirteenth (θə̄ːtĭˈnθ, θə̄ːtĭˈnθ): see -TEEN), a., sb. (adv.). Forms: see below. [Of this there have been many forms, the earlier reflecting the various types of TENTH, the later the two types of THIRTEEN. In OE. (Anglian þrīteoǫēba*, -e, -teǫēba) WSax. þrīte-, þrītoǫōba, etc., whence early southern ME. þrittepe. Northern ME. had þrett-, þrittind(e from ON. þrettánde. From these arose a 1400 þrett-, þrittenþ(e, and by metathesis (as in thirteen), ther-, thyr-, thirtenth, and finally in 16th c. thirteenth, as if formed at once from thirteen + -TH 2. Cf. in the cognate langs. OFris. thrittinde (Du. dertiende), OHG. drittzehanto (Ger. dreizehnte), ON. þrettánde (Sw. trettonde, Da. trettende).]

A. adj. in concord with sb. expressed or implied. 1. The ordinal numeral belonging to the cardinal thirteen: the last of thirteen.

α. 1 þreotεǭba, þrie-, þreo-, þryteoba, 1–3 þreott-, þrytteoba, 3 þrett-, þrittepe.

a 900 O. E. Martyrol. 13 Mar. 38 On þone þreotεǭban dæȝ þæs monðes. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. xi. 20 marginal. On þære þrytteoban wucan ofer pentecosten. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Hom. II. 520 Paulus is se ȝreotteoba ðyses heapes. c 1275 Shires & Hundreds in O. E. Misc. 146 þe þreotteoþe on lyncholne. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 5933 In þe þritte,e [MS. e þrettepe] ȝet.

β. 3 (Orm.) prittennde, 4 thritt-, threttend(e, thritteind, thritend, 4–5 prettend(e.

c 1200 ORMIN 11062 Itt iss þe þrittennde dæȝȝ. a 1300 Cursor M. 12373 (Cott.) Fra he was born þe dai thritteind. Ibid. 29330 (Cott. Galba) þe thirtend case. 1449 BOKENHAM Seynys (Roxb.) 34 Of Octobyr the threttend day.

γ. 4 prett-, prittenþe, prittenep, 4–5 threttenethe; 6 threttent.

c 1380 WYCLIF Serm. Sel. Wks. II. 268 þe þrittenþe concilioun. c 1420 Chron. Vilod. 2395 þe threttenethe ȝere. a 1425 Cursor M. 24811 (Trin.) þe prettenepe day shal he snelle. 1581 N. BURNE Disput. in Cath. Tractates (S. T. S.) 142 Gregorius the threttent quha is nou bischop of Rome.

δ. 5 þirttenth (þirdtenth), thertenth (-tenst), 6 thyrd-, thyr-, thirtenth, 6- thirteenth.

1483 CAXTON Gold. Leg. 78 b/2 The thertenst day. 1530 PALSGR. 370/1 Treiziesme, thyrteenth. 1538 ELYOT, Tertiunus, na, num, the thyrdtenth. 1552 HULOET, Thyrteenth. 1579 FULKE Heskins' Parl. 180 The thirteenth Chapter. 1624 BEDELL Lett. i. 42 This thirteenth Article, of the thirteenth Apostle...it seemes you have learned. 1711 Lond. Gaz. No. 4903/2 On the Thirteenth the Artillery..was discharg'd. 1759 Walton's Angler ii. (ed. 7) 38 The wise Statutes made in the 13th of Edward the First. 1898 VILLARI Machiavelli (1898) II. ii. 73 The literature of the thirteenth century.

2. Thirteenth part: one of thirteen equal parts into which anything may be divided.

1790 BURKE Fr. Rev. 178 About a thourteenth part of their clear income. 1897 MILLER Elem. Chem. (1862) III. 157 Exactly twelve thirteenth parts of an equal measure of distilled water.

B. sb. 1. A thirteenth part.

1611 COTGR., Treziesme, a thirteenth. Mod. A lunar month is very nearly a thirteenth of a year.

b. Eng. Hist. A thirteenth part of the value of movables, or of the rent of the year, formerly granted or levied as a tax.

[1206-7 Patent Roll 8 John m. 3 dorso in Lanc. & Chesh. Rec. Soc. (1893) XXVII. 35 M. CC. vij, Hoc anno assisa de terciodecimo facta est ad opus regis universaliter a clericis et laicis et per vim laicorum.] 1893 J. A. C. VINCENT Ibid. 36 The method of collecting this thirteenth is laid down in the king's letters patent. Every layman to give 12-pence out of every mark's (13*s.* 4*d.*) worth of annual rent, or out of such moveable chattels of like value as he had on the Octaves of the Purification (9 February), being the date of the council. 1874 STUBBS Const. Hist. I. xiii. 586 The assessment of the thirteenth in A.D. 1207 was..not made by juries, but by the oath of the individual payer taken before the justices; the contribution of the clergy being a matter of special arrangement made by the archdeacons.

2. Music. A note thirteen diatonic degrees above or below a given note (both notes being counted); the interval between, or consonance of, two notes thirteen diatonic degrees apart; a chord containing this interval.

1597 MORLEY Introd. Mus. 72 Which distances do make imperfect consonies, A third, a sixt, and their eightes: a tenth, a thirteenth [etc.]. 1609 DOWLAND Ornith. Microl. 79 An eight doth agree in sound with an vnison,..and a thirteenth with a sixt. 1880 STAINER Composition § 14 The third degree of the scale..also forms part of the well-known cadential [ chord, and dominant thirteenth.

C. adv. Thirteenthly.

1526 Pilgr. Perf. (W. de W. 1531) 292 b, Thyrtenth, they be mortifyed from all property of wyll.

Hence Thirteenthly adv., in the thirteenth place; also as sb. (nonce use) the thirteenth head or section of a discourse, etc.

a 1642 SIR W. MONSON Naval Tracts III. (1704) 322/1 Thirtenthly, They ought to take a yearly account. 1887 J. SERVICE Life & Recoll. Dugald III. 22 Mr. M'Clumpha ..was toilin' on to his thirteenthly. 1893 STEVENSON Catriona xvi, Thirteenthly, my brethren,..the law itself must be regarded as a means of grace.

Thirtieth (θə̄ːtĭəθ), a. (sb.) Forms: a. 1 ðrītiǫōba, þrittiǫōba, þrítεǫōba, þrittεoǫōba, þreotteoǫapa, þrieǫōba, 2–3 þrittupe, 3–4 prittipe, (3 -tεpe), 4 prittype, thretyd, (Ayenb.) prittaȝie, 4–5 thrittyde, threttithe, -yth, 5 thrydtythe, thrydyp. β. (5 thyrttyeet), 6 thyrtoth, -ieth, thirtieth, -ith, therttieth, 6- thirtieth. [OE. þrītiǫōba, -e, f. þrītig + -oǫba, -oǫe (see -TH 2), becoming in ME. þrittýþe, threttýth, in 16th c., by assimilation to the current form of the cardinal, thirtith, thertieth, thirtieth. Cf. ON. þritugande, -tugunde, -tegunde, later þrítugti. The WGer. langs. have a form in -ēsta, -ēsta, OFris. thrítegesta, OHG. drīzugōsto, Ger. dreissigste; so modicel. þrítugasti: cf. Caxton's thyrtyest.]

A. adj. The ordinal numeral belonging to the cardinal thirty; the last of thirty. The thirtieth man, the last man, or any one man, of thirty. Thirtieth part, one of the thirty equal parts into which anything may be divided.

a 900 tr. Bede's Hist. v. xxii. [xxiii.] (1890) 482 Þy ðrittεǫōban [ȝere mines lifes]. a 900 Martyrol. 88 On þone an ond þrittεǫban dæȝ. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Gram. xlix. (Z.) 283 Tricesimus, se þrittεǫōba [ðrítεǫōba, þrítteoǫōba]. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 47 On þe two and þrittuðe dai. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 9129 In þe sixe & þrittiþe ser. c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. Wace (Rolls) 1412 Þe þrittyþe day, lesse ne mo. 1340 Ayenb. 234 Þo þet byeþ ine spousbod..habbeþ þet þrittaȝie fruit. c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints xxvi. (Nycholas) 560 He..syne þe thrydd psalme can say. c 1400 MAUNDEV. (Roxb.) xxxiv. 135 In þe fourtenne, thrydyde yere. c 1420 Chron. Vilod. 2182 In þe same thryddyp day. 1483 CAXTON Gold. Leg. 350 b/2 The monke that was dede appierid on the thyrtyest day. 1530 PALSGR. 372/2 Trentiesme, thyrteth. 1579 FULKE Heskins' Parl. 300 The thirtieth Chapter beginneth the exposition. 1587 GOLDING De Mornay xvi. (1592) 258 Which of all the beastes hath so much as the thirtieth part of them in his body? 1596 DALRYMPLE tr. Leslie's Hist. Scot. (S.T.S.) I. 167 The threttithi yeir of his regne. Mod. Term ends on the thirtieth of June.

B. sb. A thirtieth part; in Eng. Hist. a thirtieth part of movable goods payable as an aid.

1800 YOUNG in Phil. Trans. XCI. 59 A thirtieth of an inch. 1825 J. NICHOLSON Operat. Mech. 662 An addition of one-twentieth or one-thirtieth to the mass. 1893 J. A. VINCENT in Lanc. & Chesh. Rec. Soc. XXVII. 44 The great council, in which the king required a Thirtieth from the whole nation.

Thirtover, dial. form of THWARTOVER.

Thirty (θə̄ːti), a. and sb. Forms: a. 1 ðrītiz, þrittiz, ðrīt(e)ihi, ðrittihi, (2 þrihti), 2–3 prittiȝ, þrittti, 3 prittie, þrytti, þriȝti, 3–4 prytty, 3–5 þrytty, 4 pritte, prutty, thriti, 4–5 thritte, thritti, 4–6 thritty; also 4 pretti, pretty, threiti, 4–5 thretti, 5 threty, 6–7 threttie, 4–6 (-y dial.) thratty. β. 5 thirtiti (derty), 5–6 thyrty, 6 thurty, thyrtye, 6–7 thirtie, 6- thirty. [OE. þrītig, f. þrī, THREE + -tig (= Goth. þīgus* decade: see -TY); = OFris. thrītich; OS. thrītig (LG. dörtig, Du. dertig); OHG. drīzug (MHG. drīzec, G. dreissig); ON. þrítegr (-tigr), later þrítugr, þrjátíu (Sw. trettio, Da. tredive); Goth. þreis tiguus 'three tens'. The metathetic form thirty appears in literature in 13th c. and has prevailed since 16th c.

In the oldest Eng., þrītig was a neuter sb. sing. construed with a genitive pl., e. g. hę genam þritig þegna he took (a) thirty (of) thanes (Beowulf 123), hę wæs þritiges gearа eald he was of (a) thirty (of) years old (Past. C. xlix). Later it was construed as an adj., e. g. dat. þrittigum, gen. þrittig(r)a, e. g. þara þrittigra manna of those thirty men. Few traces of these inflexional forms remained in early ME.]

A. adj. 1. The cardinal number equal to three tens, represented by the symbols 30, or XXX, xxx. In concord with a sb. expressed or implied.

α. Beowulf 123 [He] genam þritig þegna. c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Luke iii. 23 Heleand wæs onginnende sueloc wintra þritihi (Rushw. ðritig). Ags. G. þritiȝig. Ibid. þrittigra. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Gen. vi. 15 Preohund fæðma..on lengę.. and þrittig on heahnisse. Ibid. xviii. 30 Hwæt, ȝif þær beoð þritig? a 1175 Cott. Hom. 225 þritti fedme [OE. þrittig fæðma] heah. c 1200 Ormin 3207 Hę lifedd þritti winnterr elde. c 1205 LAY. 26631 After þan þreom cnihten þritti þer comen; after þan þrittie heo iesęen þreo þusende. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 7055 He was fleme & fredles mo þan þritty [MS. B. þrutty; þretty]. 1300 Cursor M. 1216 (Fairf.) Vs telles of adam þis story of sones he had ful pretty [Cott. thirtti, G. thritti, Tr. pritti]. 1375 BARBOUR Bruce IX. 640 Quhar ay for ane thai war thritty. c 1400 Apol. Loll. 53 Hadde hęm oolt, Him onis, thritte mone. a 1450 MYRC Festial 22 And duret 500 þrytty wyntyr. c 1489 CAXTON Blanchardyn xxi. 71 Hath he not taken this daye..threty courses? 1579 SPENSER Sheph. Cal. Feb. 17 Selfe hane I worne out thise threttie yeares. 1828 SCOTT Hrt. Midl. xii, 'Ye may ca' the twenty punds thretty' said Dumbiedikes.

β. 1413 Pilgr. Soule (Caxton) v. v. (1859) 76 The sterres.. were sette by thirty by thyrty, in suche a maner wyse, that in every thyrty was setye a grete sonne. 1526 TYNDALE Luke iii. 23 And Iesus..was about thirty yere of age when he began. 1530 PALSGR. 367/2 Trente, thurty, xxx. 1552 HULOET, Thyrtye tynes, triginta. 1671 MILTON Samson 1297 Your ill-meaning Politician Lords..Appointed to await me thirty spies. 1837 HT. MARTINEAU Soc. Amer. II. 33 Lenders of money into Vermont received thirty per cent. interest from farmers.

b. In comb. with the numerals one to nine, to express numbers between thirty and forty, as thirty-one, thirty-six, also (now less commonly) one-and-thirty, six-and-thirty, etc., and the ordinals thirty-first, thirty-second, thirty-ninth, etc., now less usually one-and-thirtieth, five-and-thirtieth, etc. Also as a multiple of higher numbers, as thirty thousand, thirty-six millions.

971 Blickl. Hom. 35 Ne biþ þara fæstendaȝa na ma þonne syx & þritig. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. John v. 5 Þær wæs sum man eahta and þritig [c 950 Lind. ðritih, c 975 Rushw. ðritiȝ] wintra on his untrumnysse. c 1200 Vices & Virt. 51 Þis and þritti mutre and an hundred. 13.. Sir Beues (A.) 4532 Þe nombre was, veraiment, To and preisti þosent. 13.. Cursor M. 2158 (Göth.) Thre hundrid and eyt and thriti sere. c 1425 Craft of Nombryng (E.E.T.S.) 5 Rede forth þus, 9 thousand sex hundryth thritty & foure. 1536 CROMWELL in Merriman Life & Lett. (1902) II. 26 In the yere of our Lorde god a thousande five hundreth syxt and thritty. 1610 HOLLAND Camden's Brit. (1637) 656 Thirty thousand Englishmen were that day left dead in the field. 1711 Lond. Gaz. No. 4903/2 On the Thirty-first of the last Month. 1731 MILLER Gard. Dict. s.v. Aloe, The fifth,..thirty-fourth, and thirty-fifth Sorts require a greater Share of Heat. 1797 Encycl. Brit. (ed. 3) XVIII. 659/1 In the 30th degree of latitude. 1837 SOUTHEY Let. 24 Nov., The difference of five and thirty years between me and Herbert. 1882 Harper's Mag. Feb. 471/2 One-thirty-sixth of their area.

c. Phrases. The Thirty (Tyrants): the thirty magistrates imposed by Sparta upon the Athenians at the end of the Peloponnesian war (403 B.C.). The Thirty Years' War: the religious wars of 1618–48 fought chiefly on German soil.

1842 Penny Cycl. XXIV. 382/1 This conquest was the last important event of the Thirty Years' War, which began and ended at Prague. 1875 JOWETT Thuc. (ed. 2) I. 266 Agyrrhius ..had joined Thrasybulus in the conflict with the Thirty.

2. spec. (ellipt.) a. The age of thirty; thirty years (of age, old, etc.). So thirty-one, etc.

c 1000 in Anglia XI. 3/77 Se hælend wæs þritig þa hine mann fullude. 1618 CHAPMAN Hesiod's Georg. ii. 486 Thy selfe, if well in years; thy wife take home, Not much past thirtie; nor haste much to come. a 1716 BURNET Own Time iii. (1724) I. 373 A cooler and elder man than I was, being then but thirty. 1780 MME. D'ARBLAY Diary 7 Apr., Conversable as he could have been at thirty-two. 1859 GEO. ELIOT A. Bede xxxi, She might well die o' th' inflammation afore she war thirty.

b. In stating the time of day, thirty minutes; as in six-thirty = 6.30 o'clock, half-past six; also attrib. as the 6.30 train.

1870 MISS BRIDGMAN Rob. Lynne xvi, Mr. Lynne had come down ..by the 7.30, and departed by the 9.45. 1899 Westm. Gaz. 23 Dec. 6/3 He who came a moment after eleven-thirty stood very small chance of getting anywhere near the carriage door.

†3. As ordinal: = THIRTIETH. So thirty-two for thirty-second, etc. Obs.

c 1380 WYCLIF Last Age of Chriche p. xxiv, þe þre and þritty sermon. 1340 HYMNE tu. Virg. Instr. Chr. Wom. (1922) Cevij, In the hundred and thirtie Psalme. 1594 Contention i. i. 50 Ere the thirty day of the next month. 1606 G. W[OODCOCKE] Lives Emperors in Hist. Iustine F ij, He died the thirty two year of his age. 1609 SKENE Reg. Maj., Stat. K. William 3 The sextene vesheil, or the tuentie or threttie.

B. sb.

1. The abstract number; also, a symbol representing this. So thirty-one, thirty-six, etc.

c 1050 Byrhtferth's Handboc in Anglia (1885) VIII. 302 Fif siðon seofon beoð fif & þritty. c 1425 Craft of Nourtyng (E.E.T.S.) 14 The figure of 3.. betokenes ten tymes more pen he schuld & he stode here þat þe figure of 4. stondes, þat is thretty. 1501 in Exch. Rolls Scotl. XII. 236 note, The nomir threttynyne. Mod. A Roman thirty is written thus: xxxx. Twice thirty are sixty.

2. The thirties: the years of which the numbers begin with 30; the fourth decade of a century.

1880 G. MEREDITH Tragic Com. xvi, His forty years.. matched the twenties and thirties of other men. 1883 SEELEY Expansion Eng. 288 Dating only from about the thirties of the present century. 1892 A. E. LEE Hist. Columbus, Ohio II. 73 The company ..maintained its primary organization until some time in the early thirties.

3. (See quot.)

1895 Funk's Standard Dict., Thirty..among printers and telegraphers, the last sheet, word, or line of copy or of a despatch; the last; the end.

4. Thirty and its compounds in elliptical uses: e.g. thirty-four, port-wine of the year 1834; thirty-two, a thirty-two-pound gun; a flower-pot of which there are 32 in a 'cast' (see CAST sb. 15): see also THIRTYTWOMO.

1802 W. FORSYTH Fruit-Trees viii. 114 note, [Flower] pots are denominated by the number contained in what the Potters call a Cast..[The] 18, 24, 32 is the Cast is called 'Thirty-two's. 1860 All Year Round No. 66, 378 'Toasts are almost out of date', I replied; 'but the thirty-four must pay for this'. 1870 Routledge's Ev. Boy's Ann. Feb. 85 They..could knock the thirty-twos about in the style characteristic of British sailors. 1903 D. McDONALD Gard. Companion Ser. II. 70 They choose pots of various sizes—those called thirty-twos (6 in.) seem to be most liked.

C. Comb. a. With sbs. forming attrib. phrases, as thirty-acre, -day, -foot, -hour, -knot, -pound, -ton, -word, -year; hence thirty-footer, -miler, -tonner, etc. (a . . . of thirty feet, miles, tons, etc.). So with the compounds thirty-one, thirty-nine, etc., as thirty-two-horse (power), -months-old; thirty-three-year; thirty-two-celled, thirty-four-sealed, thirty-eight-volumed adjs.; thirty-five-tonner, thirty-six-pounder, etc. (a . . . of thirty- . . . tons, pounds, etc.).

1666 J. DAVIES Hist. Caribby Isles 200 These French Servants, by reason of the three years service they are engaged to, are commonly called the Thirty-six-mouthsmen. 1733 TULL Horse-Hoeing Husb. xiv. 176 Drill Double Rows with Eight-Inch Partitions, and Thirty-Inch Intervals. 1775 Chron. in Ann. Reg. 169/2 They are about the size of a thirty-six shilling piece. 1825 J. NICHOLSON Operat. Mechanic 49 The great wheel..pulley on its axis, over which the cord goes (as in a common thirty-hour clock). 1876 BLACKMORE Cripps xxxv, A May cold is a thirty-day cold. 1890 W. J. GORDON Foundry 13 Where the mighty thirty-five-tonner is shaking the earth. 1907 Westm. Gaz. 21 Mar. 9/1 The working expenses of thirty-four-seated petrol motor-omnibuses. 1909 Ibid. 8 Mar. 12/2 A thirty-six holes match has been arranged between..one-armed golfers. 1909 Times, Lit. Suppl. 18 Mar. 101/2 This thirty-eight-volumed behemoth.

b. Special Combs.: †thirty-cross, one of the transverse bars of a cross staff, viz. that used for about 30°; thirty-penny nail, a size of nail; see PENNY 10; †thirty-perforce, name of an old card game: see quot.; thirty-pounder, a gun throwing a shot of thirty pounds: so thirty-six-pounder, etc.; †thirty-pound knight, one alleged to have obtained his knighthood for a payment of thirty pounds; thirty-second-note (Mus.), a note of the length of $\frac{1}{32}$ of a semibreve, a demisemiquaver.

1726 G. ROBERTS Four Yrs. Voy. 102 They left my Forestaff, with only the Thirty-cross, having as I suppose, flung the other Crosses over-board. c 1850 Rudim. Novig. (Weale) 135 Nails of sorts are ..30, and 40-penny nails. 1899 MINSHEU Sp. Dict. Dial. iii. 25 Behold here are the cards, let vs play at 'thirtie perforce, or Allurus [Sp. Juguemos treinta por fuerça, o los albures], for these are good plaies. 1812 R. HALL in Examiner 12 Oct. 648/1 Two batteries of..'thirty-six pounders commanded the beach. 1769 FALCONER Dict. Marine (1780) I iv, A thirty-two-pounder. 1605 CHAPMAN, etc. Eastward Hoe iv. i. F j b, I ken the man weel, hees one of my †thirty pound knights.

†Thirty-day. Obs. A commemoration of a deceased person thirty days after his death: = MONTH'S MIND 1.

1479 Bury Wills (Camden) 51, I will that euery poure man that cometh to my thirty day haue j d. 1537 Ibid. 129 A thyrty daye kepte wythe mete..money, and a yere daye kelwyyse. 1546 LANGLEY Pol. Verg. De Invent. vi. viii. 128 In England the custome is to kepe the thirty daie or monieth mynde with like Obites, as wer dooen on the buriall daies.

Thirtyfold, a. (adv.) [See -FOLD.] Thirty times as great or as much; increased thirty times.

c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. xiii. 8 Sume ..sealdon weastum sum hund-fealdne..sum þrittig-fealdne. c 1230 Hali Meid. 23 Wedlac haued hire fut þrittifald in heuene. 1382 WYCLIF Heath. xiii. 8 Sume an hundred fold, another sexti fold, another thritti fold. 1871 PROCTOR Light Sci. 132 An increase of width not less than thirtyfold. 1898 Allbutt's Syst. Med. V. 450 Mixing ..equal volumes of, say, thirty and forty-fold diluted normal acid and titrating with the resulting thirty-five-fold acid solution.

Thirty-one. The name of a game (or games) of cards. Also one-and-thirty: see ONE 2 b.

Cf. F. trente et un: 'il consiste à compléter 31 points qui passe pert' (Littré).

[1549 LATIMER 5th Serm. bef. Edw. VI (Arb.) 149 It is like he gaue one to his man for his laboure to make vp the game, and so ther was xxxi. 1596, 1632, 1654: see Pir *sb.*² 1 b.] 1834–43 SOUTHEY Doctor cxlii. (1848) 356/1 A Frenchman..published a Treatise upon the game of Thirty-One. 1903 in Hoffmann Cards & Table Games (ed. 3) 249 Thirty-one (the German Schnauzte)...The primary object of the game is to hold three cards of the same suit, which shall together make 'thirty-one'; the ace counting eleven, court cards ten each.

Thirtytwomo (-tū·mō). [English reading of the symbol 32mo or XXXIImo, for L. (in) tricesimo secundo: cf. twelvemo, sixteenmo.] The size of a book, or of a leaf of a book, formed of sheets each folded five times, making thirty-two leaves; hence, a book of this size. Also Thirty-two.

So Thirtysixmo (thirty-sixes).

1771 LUCKOMBE Hist. Print. 403 Sixteens, Twenty-fours, Thirty-two's, are but the Octavo's and Twelves doubled, or twice doubled and Imposed in Half Sheets. Ibid. 424 A half sheet of thirty-six's without cutting. 1787 Smith's Printer's Gram. 210 A Sheet of Thirty-twos, with Four Signatures. 1841 SAVAGE Dict. Printing 796 A sheet of paper folded into thirty-six leaves, seventy-two pages, is termed thirty-sixmo..; a sheet of paper folded into thirty-two leaves, sixty-four pages, is termed thirty-twomo.

This (ðis), dem. pron. and adj. Pl. THESE, q.v. [Orig. the sing. neuter, nom. and acc., now the sole singular form of the OE. demonstrative þes, þēos, þis, corresp. to OFris. this*, thius (thisse), thit, OS. these*, thius (thesu), thit, OHG. dese, -er (later diser, dirro), desiu (disiu), diz, ON. m. and f. þesse, þessi, neut. þetta; a Norse and WGer. formation, produced by adding se, si (prob. = Goth. sai 'see, behold') to the simple demonstrative represented by THE and THAT, as shown by the early ON. Runic forms sá-si, sú-si, þat-si, acc. sing. þan-si, þá-si, þat-si, dat. þaim-si, pl. neuter þau-si. Later the compound was felt as a single word and inflected at the end, the initial þ being also extended to the m. and f. nom. sing., making þá-si*, þú-si*, in ON. þesse, -i, in OE. þe-s, þio-s or þēo-s. Gothic expressed the sense differently, viz. by adding to the demonstrative sa, sō, þata, the strengthening particle -uh, making sah, sōh, þatuh, pl. m. þáih. The OE. nom. pl. was þás, less commonly þēs, ME. þēs; the former now represented by THOSE (which functions as pl. of that), the latter by THESE q.v. In OE. the word was thus inflected:

| SING. | MASC. | FEM. | NEUT. | PLURAL. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Nom. | þes | þēos, þīos | þis | þās, þēs |
| Acc. | þisne | þīs | þis | þās, þēs |
| Dat. | þis(s)um | þisse | þisum | þisum |
| Gen. | þis(s)es | þisse | þis(s)es | þissa |
| Inst. | þȳs, þīs | | þȳs, þīs | |

In ME. these forms were gradually eliminated or reduced, until by 1200 in some dialects, and by 15th c. in all, þis alone remained in the sing.]

A. Forms and Inflexions. (For plural see THESE.)

1. Sing. Nom. a. masc. 1–4 þes, (1 þees, þis), 2–3 (Orm.) þiss, -tiss, 3–5 (3 þus, 4 þeos); 4– this. β. neut. 1–3 þis, (1 þees), (Orm.) þiss, -tiss, 3–4 þes. γ. fem. 1 ðios, (ðius, ðyus), 1–4 þēos, 2 þies, þyos, 2–3 þas, 3–4 þis, 4 þues.

a, β. †670 Bewcastle Column in O. E. Texts 124 þis sigbecn þetton. c 800 Beowulf 1703 þæt ðes eorl wære zeboren betera. c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. John i. 30 Ðæs is of þæm ic cuæð. Ibid. vi. 42 Ahne is ðis se hælend? c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 49 þes þut bitacneð deopnesse of sunne. Ibid. 81 Nu is þes prest uorþe. c 1205 LAY. 16937 þa þus [c 1275 þes] dom wes iseid. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 1900 Ac þes signe. 1340 Ayenb. 41 þes boȝ heþ manie tuygges. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) III. 233 (MS. γ) Þeos Salon his lawes. γ. c 825 Vesp. Psalter cviii[i]. 27 Ðæt witen ðættte hond ðin ðeos is. c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. John xii. 30 Ne fore meg stefn ðius (Rushw. ðios) cuom. a 1000 Beoth. Metr. xx. 118 þios eorðe. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. John xii. 30 Þeos stefen. c 1160 Hatton Gosp. ibid., Þyos stefne. Ibid. vii. 36 Hwæt ys þies spræce þe he spreck? c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 35 Nis þas weorld nawiht. Ibid. 103 Þeos sunne forðeð eiðer se saule ȝe lichoma. c 1205 LAY. 261 þeos sunge wiman. Ibid. 2061 Þus is þas burh þuaren. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 5579 To wonye þer as in hor eȝe, & a þis alf [MS. a (c 1350) a þeos half] noȝt. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) III. 13 (MS. γ) Þeos quoene. Ibid. VI. 421 In presyinge of þis [γ þues] Elfleda.

2. Accus. a. masc. 1–4 þisne, (1 þysne, þeosne), 2–3 þesne, 3 þusne, 4 þerne. β. neut. as nom.; (also 3 þeȝe). γ. fem. 1–3 þās, 3 þes, (Orm.) þiss, a, β. c 825? K. Ælfred Gregory's Past. C. xiv. 324 ȝebiren men ðisne cwide. 971 Blickl. Hom. 11 He ȝefylde þysne middaneard. Ibid. 15 Eal þæt folc þe þis wundor ȝeseah. c 1000 Ælfric Saints' Lives (1890) II. 38 Ðp þeosne andweardan dæȝ. c 1122 O. E. Chron. an. 1012, Þet hi woldon þisne eard healdan. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 79 Al þe hebreisce folc..sungun þisne lofsong. Ibid. 27 Þesne mon ic habbe itaken. c 1205 LAY. 216 Ascanius heold þis strif[þlche lond. Ibid. 30 Þat he þesne king ladden mid me seoðan. Ibid. 4081 þis wes þe feirneste mon þe ȝeseȝe æhte ær þusne kinedom. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 5104 þis aulsyon þat þe aunȝel him sede. c 1325 SHORESHAM vii. 176 For þoi arereden þerne storm. 1340 Ayenb. 94 Þerne gardyn zetes þe greate gardyner þet ȝ god be uadre. γ. 1–2 R. Gloucester's Chron. (Rolls) App. H. 145 þe king.. þisne heiȝe man ȝirge.

a, β. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. xxi. 21 Eac þeh ȝe cweþan to þisum [Lindisf. t issum, Hatton þisen] munte, Ahefe þe upp. a 1131 O. E. Chron. an. 1124 Sende se papa of Rome to ðise lande. c 1205 LAY. 9912 Þ þisse londe.

γ. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. xii. 32 Ne on þisse worulde ne on þære toweardan. a 1175 Cott. Hom. 235 Wið-ute þeser laȝe. Ibid., Ærndraces of þisser laȝe. Ibid., An þesser laȝe. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 9 Heo is unbunden in þisse newe laȝe. Ibid. 91 On þissere tide. a 1200 Moral Ode 548 Fared bi þusse strete. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 59 On þese wise. c 1205 LAY. 5320, I þissere [c 1275 þisse] burh. c 1290 S. Eng. Leg. I. 292/148 Criede in þusse place. c 1315 SHOREHAM Poems i. 1149 Inne þe elde lawe þe ȝiue ȝe þis token of þyssere newe. a 1325 MS. Rawl. B. 520 ff. 48 On þusse manere ant in þilke forme sal þeir ben idressed.

4. Genitive. a, β. masc. and neut. 1 þisses, pys(s)es, 1–3 þisses, 3 þesses, 4 þisis. γ. fem. 1–2 þisse. 2–3 þissere.

a, β. c 893 K. ÆLFRED Oros. 1. 1. § 1 Þisne ymbhwyrft þises middangeardes. a 1000 Beowulf. Metr. Epilog. 3 Oer heane hrof heofones þisses. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 230 Wið þesses wreches woreldes luue. c 1205 LAY. 823 Ich habbe þisses (c 1275 þis) folkes king. a 1225 Ancr. R. 198 þisses þweȝlues murios. 1382 WYCLIF Luke vii. 5 Ðofte, of the whiche thou askest, is thisis fader [1388 the fadir of this man].

γ. c 975 Rushw. Gosp. Matt. xiii. 22 Be-hȳȝdnis woruldæ þisse. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. ibid., Eornfullness þisse worulde. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 21 For þisse weorlde lewnesse. Ibid. 105 Þa sorinessen þissere sterke worlde.

5. General uninflected form. 3 (Orm.) þiss, tiss, 3–5 þis, (3–4 tis, þes, 4–5 thus, 4–6 thys), 4–this.

c 1200 ORMIN Ded. 95, & whase wilenn shall þiss boc Efft oberr sibe writenn. Ibid. 303, & tohh þatt tiss Elysabæþ.. Wæs puss off Aaroness kinn. Ibid. 411, & þet tiss Goddspell seȝȝþ off henn [etc.]. c 1240 Bestiary 88 Al is man so is tis ern. Ibid. 276 Þis little wile ðe we on ðis werld wunen. a 1440 Sir Degrev. 387 Her is comen to thus walle,..Sire Degrevenant the gode knyȝt. 1478 PASTON in P. Lett. III. 210 To handyll well..thys matter now thys Lent. 1551 R. ROBINSON tr. More's Utopia Transl. Ep., This my poore present. 1552 HULOET, Thys, hic, hæc hoc.

B. Signification.

1. Demonstrative Pronoun.

1. Indicating a thing or person present or near (actually in space or time, or ideally in thought, esp. as having just been mentioned and thus being present to the mind); spec. as being nearer than some other (hence opposed to that, or in earlier and dial. use to yon): see 3, also THAT B. II. 2).

a. a thing (concrete or abstract).

Sometimes, for emphasis (in mod. use), placed (as subj.) after the noun (as pred.) with ellipsis of is: cf. THAT B. I. 1 a.

a 900 tr. Bæda's Hist. Pref. i. (1890) 2 For þinre ðearfe & for þinre ðeode ic þis awrat. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Mark i. 27 Hwæt ys þis? 1056–66 Inscr. on Dial Kirkdale Ch. Yorks., Þis is dæȝes sol merca. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 110 Al þis was ȝwile icluped þe march of wallis. a 1300 Cursor M. 22476 (Edin.) Þe toper day..it sal be wel wer þan þis. 1477 Paston Lett. III. 286 Thes beyng the vj. letter that I have send yow. a 1575 Wyfe lapped, etc. 1100 in Hazl. E. P. P. IV. 225 This yong man was glad, ye may be sure, That he had brought hys wyfe to this. 1610 Shaks. Temp. ii. 118 O Stephano, has't any more of this? 1622 Fletcher Beggar's Bush iii. 111. This is the word they live in. 1654–66 Earl Orrery Parthen. (1676) 131 The greatness of this horror had this of advantageous, that it made Death a Comparative Good. 1699 Vanbrugh False Friend ii. 1, A very humdrum marriage this. 1748 Richardson Clarissa (1811) VIII. lxxvi. 362 This of Bavaria is a gallant and polite court. 1809 Windham Let. 23 July, in Sp. (1812) I. 108 Terrible news this from Germany! 1837 Carlyle Fr. Rev. III. iii. v. It has grown to be our country for the Rich, this. 1864 Tennyson Aylmer's Field 490 A gracious gift to give a lady, this! Mod. This is what I like.

b. a person. Now indicating a person actually present, and always as subj. of the verb to be, with the person as predicate; in which position the neuter þis was used in OE. (so Ger. dies ist mein bruder). (Cf. That B. I. 1 b.)

† He this, she this, this man, this woman: see also 3. Obs. c825 Vesp. Psalter xxiii[ii]. 5 Þes onfoeð bledsunge from dryhtne. c950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. iii. 17 Þis is sunu min leof [c 975 Rushw. þis is min sune]. Ibid. xxi. 10–11 Hua is þis?..þis is þe hielend. *c*1000 Ags. Gosp. ibid., Hwæt is þes?..þis ys se hæleend. Ibid. xiv. 2 Þes [Lind., Rushw. þis, Hatton þes] is iohannes se fullihtere. c 1275 Passion our Lord 244 in O. E. Misc. 44 Per aryysen tweyne and bigunne to speke, Þes seyde hwat he wolde þe temple al to-breke. a 1300 Cursor M. 11351 Quen þat sco þis can iesus se. Ibid. 18209 A ded man suilk dis ne can. c 1394 Chaucer Troylus iii. 855 (904) This is so gentil and so tender of herte. *c*1380 Wyclif Serm. Sel. Wks. II. 52 More þan Jonas is he þis. *c*1400 Maundev. (Roxb.) vi. 19 He þis, by cause he was one alieny, was yute out of þe land. 1451 Capgrave Life St. Gilbert 77 And þis þat schuld be his successour he lerned for to do lich as he saide. 1588 Shaks. L. L. L. v. ii. 640 Hector was but a Troyan in respect of this. 1601 — Jul. C. i. ii. 99 What a blind fellow is this growne to be! c 1633 Milton Arcades 5 This, this is she To whom our vows and wishes bend. 1828 Scott Marm. I. xxiv, Here is a holy Palmer come..This were a guide o'er moor and dale. 1864 Tennyson En. Ard. 28 This is my house and this my little wife. Mod. This is our new inspector.

c. Referring to a fact, act, or occurrence, or a statement or question, mentioned or implied in the preceding context. (Cf. That B. I. 1 c.)

*c*893 K. Ælfred Oros. I. viii. § 1 þa þis xedon wæs. Ibid. ii. 1 § 3 On þæm lícan gæte þe þis wæs. a 1122 O. E. Chron. an. 1101, And þis þa mid aðe gefæstnodan. c 1200 Ormin 1340 All þiss wass don forr heore ned. a 1300 Cursor M. 14776 (Cott.) Quen iesus had said tis [other MSS. þis] and mare, He left all his disciples þar. c 1425 Wyntoun Cron. iv. xxv. 1030 Fore þis þane mis þe gret debaite. c 1500 Melusine 368 Euer thinking vpon this that Melyor had said to hym. 1591 Shaks. Two Gent. v. ii. 49 Why this it is, to be a peuish Girle. 1693 J. Edwards Author. O. & N. Test. 152 They said this as a jeer to the Jews. 1825 L. Murray Eng. Gram. (ed. 5) I. 325 Bodies which have no taste, and no power of affecting the skin, may, notwithstanding this, act upon organs which are more delicate. 1868 Browning King & Bk. iv. 234 This was years ago, Four hundred, full.

d. Pointing to a statement, proposal, or question which immediately follows. Cf. II. 1 b.

c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Luke viii. 11 Soðlice þis is þæt bigspell, þæt sued ys godes word. 1597 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 8719 He bihet god & þat folc an bihete þat was þys, To alegge alle luþer iawes. & þe betere make. c 1400 Gawayne 603 My reed is now this, Abide we no longer. 1451 Capgrave Life St. Aug. 42 The question disputed amongis hem was þis, Fro whens þat euel comith. 1592 Coverdale Dan. v. 25 This is the scripture, that is written vp: Mane, Thetel, Phares. 1602 Shaks. Ham. i. iii. 78 This above all; to thine owne selfe be true. 1654 Butler Hudi. II. ii. 255 Yet all of us hold this for true, No faith is to the Wicked due. 1868 M. Arnold Merope 895 I speak no word of boast, but this I say: A private loss here founds a nation's peace.

e. After various prepositions (after, before, by, ere, etc.), = 'this time'; i. e. either, the present time, the time of speaking or writing; or, in narrative, the time just mentioned. (Cf. That B. I. 1 d; also Now 13, Then 7.)

*c*897 K. Ælfred Gregory's Past. C. Pref. 6 Hu sio lar Leedengeðeodes ær ðyssum Hatt. MS. þissum) oðfeallen wæs. a 900 tr. Bæda's Hist. i. vii. (1890) 40 Ða wæs se dema æfter ðyssum ..ðredfeld. c 1000 Ags. Ps. (Th.) cxx. 7 Of þisson forð awa to worulde. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 925 After þis spac god to abram. a 1300 Floriz & Pl. 430 Inc wille fonde what I do may Bituene þis and þe þridde day. c 1300 [see By prep. 21 b]. 13.. Cursor M. 7252 (Fairf.) Be þis [Cott. wit þis] his bare was waxin new. 1390 Gower Conf. I. 21 For it hath proeved ofte er this. 1571–8 Reg. Privy Council Scot. III. 130 Frome this furth I sall and will beare fayth and trew allegeance. 1607 Shaks. Cor. iv. iii. 43, I shall betweene this and Supper, tell you most strange things. 1654–66 Earl Orrery Parthen. (1676) 63 My Soldiers having (during this Alarm) a little refreshment. 1719 De Foe Crusoe (1840) II. i. 17 Some time after this, ..they fired three muskets. 1818 Keats Endym. i. 988 By this the sun is setting.

f. After a preposition, or as obj. of a verb: = 'this place'. (Now (in colloq. use) more usually here: cf. Here adv. b.)

c 1460 [see Here adv. 1 d]. 1535 Lyndesay Satyre 2191 Betwixt this and Dumbartane. 1802 Jefferson Writ. (1830) III. 496, I shall leave this on the 21st. 1841 Lytton Money ii. v, The finest player..between this and the Pyramids. 1868 W. S. Gilbert Bab Ballads, Bob Politer xiv, You filthy beast, get out of this.

g. Strengthened by here immediately following (cf. II. 1. i): see Here adv. 1 d. dial. and vulgar.

†2. In OE. and early ME., used (like That) with the verb to be in the plural in reference to a plural predicate.

(This was a collective use of the singular neuter.)

c 888 K. Ælfred Boeth. iii. § 4 Sint þis nu þa god & þa ellenu þe þu ealne wes ðehete. c 893 — Oros. iii. 1. § 7 þiss weron. ealle Creca leode. c 1000 Ælfric Exod. i. 1 Thys synd Israela bearna naman. c 1205 Lay. 25387 þis weoren þa sixe.

3. In contrast to that: now almost always of things; esp. in phr. this and (or) that = one thing (or person) and (or) another. So † he this . . he that = (his (or the one) man . . that (or the other) man (quot. 1426). Also occas. this . . this = one thing (or person) . . and also this . . the other.

[a 825 Vesp. M. 8502 (Cott.) Þæt [the forbidden] tre was ded [v.r. deþ], þis sal be lijf.] 1320 Gower Conf. II. 210 In ech of hem he fant somwhat That pleseth him, in this or that. 1426 Lydg. De Guil. Pilger. 20110 He thys ys wroth, he that ys glad. 1526 Tindale Jas. iv. 15 For that ye ought to sayest: yff the lorde wild..let vs do this or that. 1581 E. Campion in Confer. ii. (1584) Liv, It shalbe reported that I sayd this and that, and my wordes shalbe depraued. 1629 Donne Serm. xxxi. (1640) 308 A Ruby will conduce bet-t o the Expressing of This & an Emerauld of This. 1693 Dryden Persius Sat. iv. 19 This is not fair; nor profitable that; Nor t'other Question proper for Debate. 1800 Mrs. Hervey Mourtray Fam. II. 227 Because one man did this, that truly I must do that. 18..M. Arnold Epil. to Lessing's Laocoon 116 This through the Ride upon his steed Goes slowly by, and this at speed. 1870 Morris Earthly Par. I. 1. 381 At their..feast they sat Thinking their thoughts, and spoke of this or that.

b. spec. (after Latin idiom.) The latter: in contrast to that = the former (That B. I. 3 b).

c 1440 Pallad. on Husb. iv. 21 Ffor sunne & wynde hem make a regument, Lest they in this be shake, in that to brent. 1591 Frauncis (title) The Countesse of Pembrokes Yuychurch. Conteining the affectionate life, and fortunate death of Phillis and Amyntas: That in a Pastorall; This in a Funerall. 1627–47 Feltham Resolves i. lxxxvii. 271 Travaile..makes a wise man better, and a foole worse. This gains nothing but the gay sights, vices, .. and the Apery of a Country. 1740 Berkeley Siris § 72 Warm water..mixed with hot and cold, will lessen the heat in that, and the cold in this. 1868 S. J. Stone Hymn, 'The old year's long campaigns o'er' iii, Goforth firm faith in every heart, Bright hope on every helm; Through that shall pierce no fiery dart, And this no fear o'erwhelm.

c. With That, as quasi-proper names (with capital T), indefinitely denoting one person and another. So 'No. [=number] This . . No. That'.

1824 Byron Juan xvi. xliv, Miss That or This, or Lady Tottle. 1864 F. Newman Apol. i. (1904) 9/2 He..placed me between Protest. Miss That and Principal That.

d. As quasi-sb.; a this or a that = one thing or another (in quot. 1656, one or other person of consequence); also nonce-pl. thises and thats.

1656 Cromwell Sp. 17 Sept., in Carlyle, A company of mean fellows, ..not a lord, nor a gentleman, nor a man of fortune, nor a this nor a that among them. 1865 Ruskin Ethics of Dust v. (1883) 100 You..begin to think that it is a chastisement or a warning, or a this or that or the other of profound significance. 1895 Harper's Mag. Nov. 952/2 There were many thises and thats put together.

4. Phrases. All this: cf. all that s. v. That B. I. 5 b; for all this, notwithstanding this: cf. for 23 a. Like this, of this kind; in this manner, thus: cf. like that (Like a. 1 ¶, adv. 1; That B. I. 5 b).

c 1122 O. E. Chron. an. 1001 (Laud MS.), Ac for eallum þissum se here ferde swa he sylf wolde. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 3791 For al þis, oðer day þor was nest, Agenes moyses and is prest Gan al ðis folc wiðˈ wreðe gon. a 3774 Goldsm. Surv. Exp. Philos. (1776) I. 288 Yet the friction shall not for all this become four times as great. 1858 J. H. Newman Sel. Est. 213 The monks were not so soft as all this, after all. 1881 Duffield Don Quixo. II. 548 To go like this..is like looking for..the bachelor in Salmanca. 1882 W. S. Gilbert Patience ii, You hold yourself like this, You hold yourself like that, By hook or crook, you try to look, both angular and flat. 1889 C. C. R. Up for Season 76 Of what could we talk on an evening like this?

II. Demonstrative Adjective.

1. Used in concord with a sb., to indicate a thing or person present or near (actually or in thought), esp. one just mentioned: cf. I. 1.

The use before a possessive pron. (e.g. this my son) is arch., the periphrasis with of being now substituted, as with that: cf. That B. II. 1.

This morning, this afternoon, this evening now always mean 'the morning (etc.) of to-day' (whether past, present, or future): cf. Morning sb. 3 d.

*c*893 K. Ælfred Oros. II. viii. § 1 Þysne nyttan cræft, þeh he ariic nære, funde heora tictator, Camillis hatte. c 897 — Gregory's Past. C. 3 (Hatton MS.) hearding, Þeos hoc scoal to wiogora ceastre. a 900 tr. Bæda's Hist. i. v. (1890) 32 Þes casere framlice rehte ða cynewisan. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. xiv. 15 Þeos stow ys weste. *c*1154 O. E. Chron. On þis gær weard þe king Stephne ded. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 141 Þes wimmannes name c 1200 Ormin 473, & he, þiss Zakaryas, wass Bitwennn þore prestess..to serrfenn sett. a 1240 Ureisun in Cott. Hom. 199 Ich habbe I-sungen þe Þesne englisseche lai. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 951 Al-lese þun is mistful der, So sal ðis folc ben mistful her. 1340 Ayenb. 12 þis article zette sayynt andreu. 1382 Wyclif Luke xv. 24 For this my sone was deed, and hath lyued agen. c 1400 Brut 100 þis Elfride hade a son þat hyte Edwyne. 1432–50 tr. Higden (Rolls) II. 285 Whiche consuetude peple of that cuntre vse to this tyme presente. 1518 in Peebles Burgh Rec. (1872) 46 This last Sonday he send his..men. 1554 J. Christopherson in Mainland Eccr. (1849) 200 He had bene better a great deale to have lived amonge Turkes & Saracenes then amonge this kind of folke. 1600 Shaks. A. Y. L. iv. i. 15 And this our life exempt from publike haunt. 1632 Sir T. Herbert Travels 157 Mathieu's Unhappy Prosperitie 163 This five yeares Consulship intoxicated him. a 1648 Ld. Herbert Hen. VIII (1683) 471 To omit the same for this present. 1711 Addison Spect. No. 18 ¶ 1 It is my Design in this Paper to deliver..a faithful Account of the Italian Opera. 1772 Sheridaniana (1826) 47, I have this moment heard Miss Sheridan is returned. 1829 Scott Ivanhoe xliv, To do battle for her in this her cause. 1851 Tennyson To the Queen v, Take, Madam, this poor book of song.

b. Referring to something which is mentioned immediately after. (Cf. the use of that for something mentioned before: see That B. II. 1.)

*c*897 K. Ælfred Gregory's Past. C. xliv. 224 gehieren men ðisne cwide: Hald ðine ælmessan, ðylæc ðu hie forweorpe. a 1175 Cott. Hom. 225 Ic wille sittan mi wed betwuxe me and eow þisan bahete, þat is þete.] a 1225 Ancr. R. 44 And sigge, stoutlinde, þesne swuge, 'Usita quesumus, Domine, habitationem istam'. c 1440 Alphabet of Tales 186 He began to syng þis antem, 'O! pastor eterne'. 1509 Hawes Past. Pleas. xxxv. (Percy Soc.) 180 In a trusset hanner..There was wyrtten this wordes, Destruction. 1681–6 J. Scott Chr. Life (1747) III. 48 Upon this account indeed they had great cause to rejoice, because now they knew they had a sure Friend in Heaven. 1703 Thoresby Let. to Ray (E.D.S.), This additional list of local words is larger than I expected. 1864 J. H. Newman Apol. 63, I..confine myself to this one consideration, viz. [etc.].

c. In phrases denoting or referring to the present state or stage of existence; esp. this life, This world (q. v.).

c 1000- [see Life sb. 12 b]. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 187 To forrenne þe ecnesseche of þis wreccche world. 1526 Tindale 1 Cor. xv. 53 For this corruptible must put on incorruptibilite: and this mortall must put on immortalite. 1709 Ken Hymn, 'All Praise to Thee my God this night' iii, That this vile body may Rise glorious at the awful day.

d. Referring to something as known, talked about, or (as in quot. 1610) inferred; esp. to something now in vogue or recently introduced. (Cf. That B. II. 1 b.)

1533 Bellenden Livy i. viii. (S.T.S.) I. 46 Numa, this civil and Illustar prince. 1582 Allen Martyrd. Campion (1908) 16 Raised and upholden by this new religion. 1585 T. Washington tr. Nicholay's Trav. ii. xiii. This lamentable losse of Constantinople. 1596 Shaks. Tam. Shr. i. ii. 160 Oh this learning, what a thing it is. 1599 — Much Ado iii. iv. 73 Get you some of this distill'd carduus benedictus. 1610 — Temp. v. i. 296 Where did they Finde this grand Liquor? Mod. colloq. What do you think of this wireless telegraphy? This railway strike is a serious business.

e. Used before a date, esp. (now only) in legal or formal documents.

1582 L. Kirby in Allen Martyrd. Campion (1908) 77, I bid you farewell, this e of Januarii, 1582. 1601 Bacon Let. 6 July, in Cath. Rec. Soc. Publ. (1906) II. 218 And with this I byd you most hartely farewell..this 6 of July 1603. 1648 Cromwell Proc. in Carlyle Lett. & Sp. (1871) II. 55 Given under my hand, this 20th Septembre, 1648. 1739 in J. O. Payne Rec. Eng. Cath. of 1715 (1889) 53, I, William Plowden, being this 31st March, 1739, full 70 years of age.

f. Used instead of These in concord with a plural sb. or numeral; esp. (now only) with a plural treated as a singular (e. g. means, odds), or with a numeral expression denoting a period of time taken as a whole (in this case usually = 'just past or completed', or more rarely 'just beginning'). So also this many a day (year, etc.) = these many days, this period of many days (etc.) just past.

The earlier evidence is often doubtful from the fact that this was long one of the forms of these: see These A. 1.

[c 1275 Lay. 26320 þis[c 1205 þeos] þreo cnihtes holde.] c 1420 Avow. Arth. lxix, Thoghe se sege this seuyn zere, Castelle gete ze none here. c 1450 Cov. Myst. xiv. (1841) 132 More ..Than eyyr ther was this thousand zeres. 1523 Ld. Berners Froiss. I. lx. 7 Whan the quene hard thys tidyngis. 1550 Cranmer Defence To Rdr., Where-with they haue this many yeares deluded and bewitched the world. 1578–1600 Scot. Poems 1508 (C.S.) I. 164 This lang and mony ane day. 1592 Shaks. Rom. & Jul. v. ii. 25 Within this three houres will faire Iuliet wake. 1596 Danett tr. Comines (1614) 206 Which will bleed this many a yeare. 1779 Mirror No. 55 ¶ 7 By this means, even the worthiest men..may be led into fatal errors. 1810 Southey Ess. (1832) I. 9 Unless there be something to weigh against this fearful odds. 1867 Ruskin Time & Tide xv. § 86 (1904) 109 The silence has kept my own heart happy this many a day. 1883 L. Oliphant Altiora Peto II. 261 This last six months.

† g. This bearer (bringer) = the bearer of this.

1493 Plumpton Corr. (Camden) 106, I pray you that I may be answered by my servant, this bearer. c 1495 (title), I desire..you to send me a gee be with my servant, this bringer. 1533 Cranmer Let. to Ld. Rochford in Misc. Writ. (Parker Soc.) II. 259 This bringer P. M. seuth unto me to write unto you in his favour. 1623 Ussher Lett. (1686) 91, I received your Letter brought by this Bearer. 1691 W. Bedell ibid. 440 These things I write now in exceeding post-haste, in respect that this Bearer goes away so presently.

h. This once; this same (ilk); this side: see Once 9 c, Same A. 5, B. 2, 4 (Ilk), Side sb. 13 b.

13.. Cursor M. 15908 (Cott.) Pis ilk an an of hi's felausedp for-soth. c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints xxxiii. (George) 931 Þis sammyne aray, þat now þou seis me haf. 1513 Douglas Æneis iv. vi. 36 This ilk cursit fame. c 1542 Udall in Flügel Neuengl. Lesebuch (1895) 52 Is there no time to me this cons. 1769 De Foe's Tour Gt. Brit. I. i. 4 A little on this Side the Whalebone, a Place so called, because [etc.].

i. Strengthened by here immediately following: see Here adv. 1 d. (Cf. that there, There B. 2 c.)

Now dial. or vulgar.

c 1380 Wyclif Sel. Wks. III. 203 God forbede þat ony Cristene man understonde, þat his bare synynge and criynge..be þe beste servyce of a prest. 1762– [see Here adv. 1 d].

†j. This other = 'the other' (OTHER A. 3 b).
1300–1596 [see OTHER A. 3 b (b), (c)].

2. In contrast to that: properly denoting the nearer of two things, but often vaguely indicating one thing as distinct from another, esp. in phr. this and (or) that .. = one and (or) another .. So also † this .. this .. (quots. c 1460, 1624); this .. the other .. (quot. 1717); this .. the next .. (quot. 1768). Cf. I. 3 above.

c 1460 Towneley Myst. ii. 251 Thou wold I graf hym this sheld, or this sheyfe. 1556 T. WILSON Logike (1580) 33 Shewyng it to be true in this substaunce, and that substance. 1560 DAUS tr. Sleidane's Comm. 40 b, The cause of this or that precept. 1588 SHAKS. L. L. L. v. ii. 902 You that way: we this way. 1597 A. M. tr. Guillemeau's Fr. Chirurg. c 3 b, Those turne this way and that way in the hande. 1624 DONNE Serm. ii. (1640) 16 How Rheubarb, or how Aloes came by this, or this vertue, to purge this, or this humour. 1691 DRYDEN Æneid i. 82 This way and that the impatient captives tend. 1717 PRIOR Alma iii. 494 This man pursues What if he gain'd he could not use: And t'other fondly hopes to see What never was, nor e'er shall be. 1732 BERKELEY Alciphr. i. § 16 Truth.. must not be measured by the convenience of this or that man. 1768 GOLDSM. Good-n. Man i. i, He laughs this minute with one, and cries the next with another. 1842 [see DIVINE v. 8 e]. 1869 FREEMAN Norm. Conq. I. iii. 128 The temporary.. superiority of this or that Bretwalda.

III. Combinations and special collocations.

† This gate, (in) this way, thus (cf. THUS-GATE); † this-half (obs.), this side (HALF sb. 1, 2); a (on) this half = on this side of (see also A-THIS-HALF); this-how adv. (nonce-wd. after somehow), in this manner, thus (in quot. as sb.); this-like a., like this, such as this, of this kind (cf. these-like, THESE, B. III); this-way-ward adv., towards this way, in this direction; † this while adv.b. phr. (also † this whiles), during this time, or the time in question; meanwhile; the while. See also THIS-KIN, THISWISE, THIS WORLD.

1513 DOUGLAS Æneis XII. xi. 28 Turnus, lat vs persew Troianys † this gayt. 1872, 1893 [see GATE sb.[2] 2]. c 1205 LAY. 14028 A † þas half [c 1275 a þis half] þere Humbre. 1387–8 R. USK Test. of Love i. ix. (Skeat) 13 Is not every thyng a thisshalfe God; Made buxome to mannes contemplacion? 1476 SIR J. PASTON in P. Lett. III. 162, xii myle on thysehalff Roome, the Lorde Ryverse was robbyd off alle yiowe jowellis. 1888 BROWNING Ring & Bk. i. 708 The somehow may be †thishow. 1880 W. WATSON Prince's Quest Poems 1905 II. 153 The passion..voiced itself in †this-like monotone. 1662 PEPYS Diary 7 May, He left the Queen and fleet in the Bay of Biscay, crossing †this way-ward. 1594 CAREW Huarte's Exam. Wits xiii. (1596) 236 A thousand inconueniences come into his fancie, which hold him in suspense, and †this-while the occasion of the remedie passeth away. 1644 DIGBY Nat. Soul Conq. 455 Making roome for this soule raiushing contemplation, by removing this whiles all other images of things farre from me. 1660 F. BROOKE tr. Le Blanc's Trav. 3 This while the greatest part of us perished on the shallowes.

This (ðĭs), adv. [In I. prob. OE. þýs, þís, instrumental case of THIS dem. pron.; in II. app. adv b. use of accus. sing. neuter (cf. THAT adv.). In some instances, perhaps an alteration of THUS adv.]

I. † 1. In this way or manner; like this; thus.

c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints i. (Petrus) 729 And þis he salde be spyrit. c 1420 Chron. Vilod. 3123 Whes þim lomb had þis yron þrye þe tomb aboust. a 1518 SKELTON Magnyf. 1043, I wyll not hane it so, I wyll hane it thus. a 1598 LINDESAY (Pitscottie) Chron. Scot. (S.T.S) I. 368 And this the King of Scottland depairtit out of France. 1592 SHAKS. Ven. & Ad. 205 What am I that thou shouldst contemne me this?

II. † 2. To this extent or degree; as much as this; thus. Obs. exc. as in b. (Cf. THAT adv.)

c 1460 Wisdom 936 in Macro Plays 66 To clense þe soull wyche ys þis fowll. † a 1500 Chester Pl. (Shaks. Soc.) 11 Elles this boulde durste he not be, To make such araye. 1523 LD. BERNERS Froiss. I. ccclxxvii. 631 Let vs go forwarde, let vs nat be this a colde to make warr. 1567 Guide & Godes (S. (S.T.S.) 60 This vnbiscet I am on eurie syde.

b. Qualifying an adj. or adv. of quantity, now chiefly in this much (where this is perh. felt as the pronoun = 'as much as this'). (Cf. THAT adv. b.)

c 1460 Wisdom 982 in Macro Plays 67, I be-gyn awake, I that þis longe hath slumberedye in syne. 1586 SIR F. WALSINGHAM in Leycester's Corr. (Camden) 230 This mycke hayes I receyved from his majestye. 1596 DALRYMPLE tr. Leslie's Hist. Scot. (S.T.S.) I. 8 And this far of the iles called Hebrides. 1675 BAXTER Cath. Theol. II. viii. 190 Having said this much preparatorily. 1763 C. JOHNSTON Reverie i. 23 He might have spared himself the trouble even of this much. 1897 RUSKIN Pore Claw. lxxxii. 324 Perhaps this much of Plato is enough for one letter. 1884 J. P. NORRIS in Shakespeariana May 181 None of the portraits mentioned by Walpole are dated this early. 1885 J. J. MURPHY in Brit. Q. Rev. July 102 The Agnostic argument..must go this far if it is to be valid.

Thisan(e, obs. var. PHISAN, barley-water, etc.

Thisen, this-en: see THISSEN.

† Thi·skin, a. Sc. Obs. Also thiskins. [f. THIS dem. a. + KIN sb.[1] b; repr. an OE. þises cynnes*, early ME. þis cunnes* = L. hujus generis.] Of this kind; on thiskin wise, on this wise, in this way.

a 1300 Cursor M. 3902 (Cott.) He..said til hir o þiskin wise. 1375 BARBOUR Bruce XVI. 49 Kyng robert, upon thiskyn wise, Intt-till Irland arivit is. c 1420 Sir Amadace (Camden) xxix, Qwen he was gone on this kin wise, Thenne iche mon sayd thayre deuise.

Thisne: OE. and ME. inflexion of THIS.

Thisness (ðĭ·snĕs). [f. THIS + -NESS: rendering med. (Scholastic) L. hæccĕitās.] The quality of being 'this' (as distinct from anything else): = HECCEITY.

1643 [see THATNESS]. 1837 WHEWELL Hist. Induct. Sc. (1857) I. 244 Which his school called Hæcceity or thisness. 1893 RASHDALL Universities II. 332 An individuating form called by the later Scotists its hæcceitas or 'thisness'.

Thissell-cock: see THROSTLE-COCK.

Thissen (ðĭ's'n), adv. dial. Also 9 this'ne, this(-)en, thisn, this'ns. [perh. reduced from THISKIN: cf. dial. siccan = swilk-kin, that'n what'n = WHATKIN.] In this way or manner. Usually a thissen or thissens, in this way, thus.

(Some so understand Bottom's Thisne in SHAKS. Mids. N. I. ii. 54.)

a 1642 BROME Eng. Moor III. ii, Ed. An Idiote is it. Bua. Yes: A very natural; and goes a thissen. 1707 MRS. CENTLIVRE Platonick Lady IV. i, If old Roger Dowdy were alive and zeen me thissen. 1790 MRS. WHEELER Westmld. Dial. 89 The gang on a Thisen is a fearful Thing! a 1825 FORBY Voc. E. Anglia, This'ns, thus'ns, that'ns .. in this or that manner.

Thister, pister, variant of THESTER Obs., dark.

Thistle (bĭ's'l), sb. Forms: 1 thistil, pistel, pystel, 4–6 thistel, thystle, 5 thestel, thystelle, 5–6 thistell, thystell, 6 thystel, thistyll, thessel, 7 thissel, 5– thistle. β. (chiefly Sc.) 5 thristelle, 5–7 thrissill(e, 6 thirsill, thyrsill, 6–9 thrissel, thrisle, 8–9 thrissle, 9 thristle. γ. 9 dial. fissle, fistle. [OE. þistil, -el m. = OHG. distil masc., distila fem. (MHG. distel m., f., Ger. distel f.), Du. distel, ON. þistell, -ill m. (Sw. tistel, Da. tidsel). Modern dialects point to an original long ī in the stem-syllable (cf. Somersetsh. dzis'l, desi'l, dāf'l; also LG. diestel, dīstel, dīssel, beside deistelo, deussl, duissl, in various German dialects. Of OTeut. þistil-ō m., þistil-a* f., the ulterior history is unknown.

Sc. thristell may have been influenced by thrist vb.]

1. The common name of the prickly herbaceous plants of the genus Carduus (N.O. Compositæ, suborder Cynarocephalæ) and several closely allied genera (Onicus, Cirsium, Onopordum, etc.), having the stems, leaves, and involucres thickly armed with prickles, the flower-heads usually globular, and the flowers most commonly purple; many species are abundant as weeds.

Formerly (and in scriptural or rhetorical language) applied vaguely, including various prickly plants: cf. a 2, 3.

c 725 Corpus Gloss. (O.E.T.) 384 Carduus, þistel. a 800 Erfurt Gloss. 271 Carduus, thistil. c 1050 Gloss. in WR.-Wülcker 379/43 Carduus orrens, se onscuniende þystel. a 1237 Ou Wrenne in Rel. Ant. I. 262 Þef thou etest of thystles þurne, Thy fomon the freteth on uche hurne. c 1400 Rom. Rose 1835 Thornes sharpe..Ther were, and also thistels thikke, And breres, brimme for to prikke. 1483 CAXTON Reynard xxxii. (Arb) 86, I haue nothyng but thystles and nettles. 1535 COVERDALE Gen. iii. 18 Cursed be y* earth for thy sake..Thornes and thistles shall it beare vnto the. 1562 TURNER Herbal II. 145 b, Spina in Latin is properly called a thistle. 1598 BAXTER Saint's R. I. vii, Doubts are like the Thistle, a bad weed, but growing in good ground. 1758 R. BROWN Compl. Farmer II. (1760) 37 Thistles, docks, and all sorts of rank weeds. 1890 A. R. WALLACE Darwinism 28 Hundreds of square miles of the plains of La Plata are now covered with..species of European thistle.

β. c 1400 MAUNDEV. (1839) xi. 130 A gode contree to sowen Inne thristelle & breres & broom & thornes. 1503 DUNBAR Thistle & Rose 129 Vpone the awfull Thrissill scho beheld. 1548 H. BALNAVES Conf. Faith (1584) 132 May yee gather grapes of thornes, or figges of thrisles? 1806 A. DOUGLAS Poems 145 (E.D.D) Nae thrisles here your thumbs to prick. 1825 SCOTT Guy M. iii, The thrisles by the road-side.

γ. 1809 T. BATCHELOR Orth. Anal. Eng. Lang. Bedford Words 123/2 Provincial Pronunciations, fistle. 1848 B. EVANS Leicestersh. Words, Fistle, var. pron. of 'thistle'. 1886 BRITTEN & HOLLAND Plant-n., Fistle, Fistle, a thistle.

b. As the heraldic emblem of Scotland; also, a figure of a thistle as such. Cf. ROSE sb. 6 b, 12 c.

1488 Acc. Ld. High Treas. Scot. I. 85 A cousing of purpiir tartair browdin with thrissillis and a vnicorne. 1507 Ibid. III. 261 Thre thrissilles of coppir gilt. 1562 A. SCOTT Poems (S.T.S.) i. 9 Welcum, oure thrissill with be Lorane grene. 1786 BURNS Earnest Cry & Prayer vii, Paint Scotland greeting owre her thrissle. 1821 SCOTT Cast. Dang. xiii, She seeks the Black Douglas, or some such hero of the Thistle. 1853 [see ROSE sb. 12 c].

c. As a part of the insignia of the Order of the Thistle, the distinctively Scottish order of knighthood (instituted by James II in 1687 and revived by Queen Anne in 1703) conferred on noblemen of that country; hence transf. the order itself, or membership in it.

1689 Lond. Gaz. No. 2251/2 His Majesty having been Graciously Pleased the 29th of May last, to Sign a Patent to be past under the Great Seal of Scotland, for Reviving and Restoring [sic] the most Ancient and most Noble Order of the Thistle. 1710 Ibid. No. 4694/3 The Earl of Stair was invested..with the most Noble Order of the Thistle. 1862 THACKERAY Esmond III. iv, Having the Thistle already originally bestowed on him by King James the Second, his Grace was now promoted to the honour of the Garter. 1898 Westm. Gaz. 10 Jan. 1/1 The Duke of Argyll..received his Thistle from Lord Palmerston in 1851.

d. transf. Something resembling a thistle in form or appearance.

1892 J. W. HARRISON Mackay of Uganda i. 2 Thistles of frost garnished the window-panes.

e. Her. or in figurative context, with reference to the thistle as a noxious or prickly weed.

1563 WINSET Vincent. Livin. xxviii. WKS. (S.T.S.) II. 59 God forbid that the rose plantis of the catholik sense be turnit in thirsillis and thornis! 1642 FULLER Holy & Prof. St. v. xiv. 415 He snatcheth at the little prickle, which first pricks his hands, and then breaks. 1797–1803 FOSTER in Life & Corr. (1846) I. 163 Adversity! thou thistle of life. 1840 CARLYLE Heroes ii, His knowledge is a pedantry, and dead thistle, otherwise.

† 2. Applied (definitely) to other prickly plants, as artichoke, sea-holly (Eryngium), teasel, etc.

1398 TREVISA Barth. De P. R. XVII. CXXVII. (Bodl. MS.), Paliurus is a þistel moste rowge & scharp with prikkes and growip..wip certeyne hedes ful of certeyne prickes. 14.. [see TEASEL sb. 1]. 1545 ELYOT (Scolymus, a thystell nowe called Artechoke, of some men is taken for the..cowe thystell. 1577 B. GOOGE Heresbach's Husb. II. (1586) 64 A Thistell is the Hartichoch; that euerie where dooth grow. 1578 LYTE Dodoens IV. lviii. 519 The first kinde of these Thistels is called..in Latine Eryngium:..in Englishe..Sea Holly. Ibid. IX. 522 Of the Teasel..This kinde of Thistel is called..in Englishe, Fullers Teasel, Carde Thistell.

b. = TEASEL sb. 2.

1839 URE Dict. Arts 1322 The large side [of the frame], against which the tops of the teasels rest, is hollowed out..: There are..cross-bars, which serve..to form short compartments for keeping the thistles compact.

3. With qualifying words, applied to various species of Carduus and allied genera, and to some prickly plants of other orders: as

Bull thistle, a local name (in Ireland and U.S.) for Carduus lanceolatus: Canada thistle (U.S.), Creeping thistle, Creeping thistle, Cursed thistle, Carduus arvensis (Cirsium arvense), a troublesome weed with creeping root-stocks; Dog thistle, 1 apparently Carduus arvensis (Britten & Holland); Dwarf thistle, Carduus acaulis; Gentle thistle, Carduus anglicus; Green thistle, Herring-bone thistle (also called fish-bone thistle: see FISH sb.[1] 7), Chamæpeuce (Cirsium) casabonæ; Holy thistle, (a) Centaurea benedicta (Cnicus benedictus), with yellow flowers and weak prickles on the leaves, formerly in repute as an antidote; also called blessed thistle; (b) erron. applied to Carduus Marianus, with white veins on the leaves; also called Our Lady's thistle or milk thistle; Hundred-headed thistle (abbrev. hundred thistle), Eryngium campestre (N.O. Umbelliferæ); Jersey thistle, Centaurea Isnardi (C. aspera); Mexican thistle, a prickly composite plant, Erythrolæna conspicua, cultivated in gardens, having yellow flowers surrounded by scarlet involucral scales; Russian thistle (U.S.), a species of saltwort, Salsola Tragus, with prickly stems, introduced from Russia into S. Dakota with flax-seed, and now abundant as a weed in that and neighbouring States; Scotch thistle, a name for the species supposed to be that figured as the emblem of Scotland, variously identified as the spear-thistle (Carduus lanceolatus), the musk thistle (C. nutans), the milk thistle (C. marianus), and the cotton-thistle (Onopordum Acanthium); Silver thistle, a name for the cotton-thistle; Smooth thistle, a name for SOW THISTLE (Sonchus); Syrian thistle, Notobasis Syriaca; Welted thistle, Carduus acanthoides; Wooly thistle, = cotton-thistle; Woolly-headed thistle, C. eriophorus; Yellow thistle, (a) a species of thistle with pale-yellow or purple flowers (Cnicus horridulus), found in the eastern U.S.; (b) a name for the prickly poppy (Argemone mexicana): see POPPY sb. 3. See also ARGENTINE thistle, ST. BARNABY's t., BLESSED t., BOAR t., BUR t., CARD t., CARLINE t., COTTON-THISTLE, DISTAFF t., FRIAR'S t., FULLERS' t., GLOBE t., GOLDEN t., GUM t., HARE'S t., HOLLOW t., LADY'S THISTLE, ST. MARY'S t., MELANCHOLY t., MELON t., MILK t., MUSK t., OAT t., PINE t., PLUME t., SAFFRON t., SEA-THISTLE, SOWTHISTLE, SPEAR t., STAR-THISTLE, SWINE'S t., NEWTHISTLE, TORCH t., WAY t., WOLF'S t.

1898 BRITTEN & HOLLAND Eng. Plant-n., *Bull Thistle, Carduus lanceolatus. Irel. (Belfast). 1884 MILLER Plant-n., Cirsium arvense, *Canada Thistle, Creeping Thistle, 'Cursed Thistle,' of N. America. 1898 BRITTEN & HOLLAND Eng. Plant-n., *Corn Thistle, Carduus arvensis. 1891 Gard. Chron. 20 Dec. 864/1 Will any of your correspondents inform me the most effectual way to eradicate the 'Dog Thistle'? 1846 SOWERBY Eng. Bot. (ed. 3), *Dwarf Thistle, Carduus acaulis. 1760 J. LEE Introd. Bot. App. 399 *Gentle Thistle. 1882 Garden 3 June 391/3 A large oval-shaped bed of Ricinus Gibsoni..edged with Chamæpeuce Casabonæ or *Green Thistle. 1884 MILLER Plant-n., Chamæpeuce Casabonæ, Fish-bone or *Herring-bone Thistle. 1587 MASCALL Govt. Cattle, Horses (1627) 190 Take the soft downe of the stalks of the hearb Cardus Benedictus, called the 'holy-thistle, and therewith fill the wounds. 1599 SHAKS. Much Ado III. iv. 80 Get you some oil of Hypericum, or *milk thistle, or, it is the only thing for a qualm.. I meant plaine holy thissell. 1793 A. D[ISANI] Pict. Tour Europe, etc. 52 Sciato..The hills..are covered with holy thistle, centaury, thyme, sage, and calamint. 1866 Treas. Bot. 422 The Holy Thistle (Carduus Marianus) is well marked by the white veins on its large shiny leaves. 1893 MCCARTHY Red Diamonds II. 42 Here was holy thistle, which of old its admirers called Benedictus for its supposed astonishing virtues. 1578 LYTE Dodoens I. xlviii. 519 The other kinde is called..the *Hundred headed Thistel...This without doubt is a kinde of Eringium. 1886 BRITTEN & HOLLAND Eng. Plant-n., Hundred Thistle, Eryngium campestre. 1866 Treas. Bot. 468 Erythrolæna conspicua..was introduced to English gardens about 1838, and is commonly known as the Scarlet *Mexican Thistle. 1705 tr. Cowley's Plants Wks. 1711 III. 367 Whilst the *Scotch Thistle, with audacious Pride, Taking Advantage, grows your bleeding Side. 1861 MISS PRATT Flower. Pl. III. 240 The handsome Cotton Thistle..is often cultivated under the name of the Scotch Thistle. 1888 Encycl. Brit. XXIII. 307/1 The common (Carduus) lanceolatus seems to be the most suitable prototype for the Scotch Thistle. 1578 LYTE Dodoens IV. lxix. 526 In Latine Acanthium:..in Englishe White Cotton Thistell, Wilde white Thistell, and Argentine, or *Silver Thistell. 1633 Gerrarde's Herbal II. xx. 292 The stalk of Hares Lettuce or *smooth-Thistle. 1866 Treas.

Bot. 794 The *Syrian Thistle, N[otobasis] syriaca, .. is distinguished from other thistles by the central florets of the flower-head only being fertile. 1846 Sowerby Eng. Bot. (ed. 3,) *Welted Thistle, Carduus crispus. 1884 Miller Plant-n., Thistle, Welted, Carduus acanthoides. 1760 J. Lee Introd. Bot. App. 329 Thistle, *Woolly, Onopordon. 1857 Babington Man. Brit. Bot. (ed. 6) 200 C[arduus] eriophorus. ..Heads very large; involucre covered with a dense white web...*Woolly-headed Thistle. 1866 Treas. Bot. 1145 Thistle...*Yellow, Argemone mexicana.

4. attrib. and Comb., as thistle-flower, thistle-topped adj.; thistle-ball, the globular head of feathery seeds of the thistle; thistle-beard = Thistle-down; thistle-bird, a bird that feeds on thistle-seeds (cf. Thistle-finch); spec. the American goldfinch, Chrysomitris (Spinus) tristis; thistle-butterfly, the 'painted lady', Vanessa (Pyrameis) cardui, whose larva feeds on the thistle; thistle-cock (dial.), the corn bunting, Emberiza miliaria; (see also Throstle-cock); thistle-cropper = thistle-eater (b); thistle-crown, (a) a name for a Scottish gold coin of James VI, bearing the figure of a thistle on the reverse, and worth about 4 shillings; cf. thistle noble; (b) the flower-head of the thistle; thistle-cutter, a machine for cutting down thistles or other weeds; thistle-digger, a tool for rooting up thistles; thistle dollar, (a) a name for a Scottish silver coin of James VI, also called double merk, bearing the figure of a thistle on the reverse, and worth 26*s.* 8*d.* Scotch (2*s.* 2⅔*d.* English); (b) a silver coin of the reign of Charles II; thistle-eater, thistle-feeder, (a) a bird that eats thistle-seeds (cf. Thistle-finch); (b) a beast that eats thistles, as a donkey; so thistle-feeding a.; thistle-fly, an insect (Urophora cardui) infesting a species of thistle; thistle funnel, a kind of funnel used in chemical operations, having a large bulb between the conical flaring part and the tube, so as to suggest the form of a thistle-head upon its stalk; thistle-gall, a gall produced by the thistle-fly or thistle-gall fly; thistle-head, the flower-head or capitulum of the thistle (in quot. 1839, that of the teasel = 2 b above); thistle-like a., resembling a thistle; also, of the thistle kind, of the suborder Cynarocephalæ of Compositæ, comprising the thistles and allied plants; thistle merk [Mark sb.[2]], collectors' name for a Scottish silver coin of James VI, bearing the figure of a thistle on the reverse, and worth 13*s.* 4*d.* Scotch (13⅓*d.* English); thistle noble, a Scottish gold half-merk of James VI, bearing the figure of a thistle on the reverse; thistle-plume [Plume sb. 5], U. S., 'a plume-moth, Pterophorus carduidactylus, whose larva feeds on thistle-heads' (Cent. Dict.); thistle-saffron, the safflower = saffron-thistle (see Saffron 6 c); thistle-seed, the feathery or pappose 'seed' or achene of the thistle; thistle-spud = thistle-digger; thistle-stamped a., stamped with the figure of a thistle; thistle-teasel = Teasel sb. 2; thistle-top, (a) = Thistle-down; (b) = thistle-head; thistle-tube = thistle funnel; thistle-tuft = Thistle-down; thistle-whipper (Hunting slang), a nickname for a hare-hunter.

1855 Browning Two in Campagna xi, Must I go Still like the *thistle-ball..Onward, whenever light winds blow? 1797 Coleridge Fosterfather's 1 Thy wrapt in mosses, lined With *thistle-beards, 1872 Coues N. Amer. Birds 131 American Goldfinch. Yellowbird. *Thistlebird. 1893 Scribner's Mag. June 763/1 The goldfinch or wild canary is seen, perched on a thistle-top..'Thistle bird' is another name that he bears, on account of his fondness for thistle-seeds as food, and thistle-down for the lining of his nest. 1836 Prichard Phys. Hist. Man. (ed. 3) I. 58 The *thistle-butterfly, termed 'La Belle Dame'. 1866 Edmonston Shetl. & Orkney Gloss. 127 *Thistle-cock, common bunting (Emberiza miliaria). 1726 Leake Numm Brit. Hist. 83 *'Thistle Crowns..4*s.* 4*d.* 1878 M. A. Brown Nadeschda 20 Plucked a thistle-crown and inserted it As a breast-knot. 1899 Daily News 12 July 8/3 To watch the goldfinch clinging to the silken thistle-crown. 1901 Dundee Advertiser 30 June 3 A capital di-play of the *thistle cutter's powers on a rank growth of bracken..., the rapidly whirling knives..made short...work of the bracken. 1897 Knight Dict. Mech. s.v. Spade, The *thistle-digger is a pronged tool, intended to catch the root below the crown, and then pry out the plant. 1562 Turner Herbal II. 145 b, Aristotel..wryteth ..τὰ δὲ τοῦ ἀκανθοβόσκου...That is to saye, these are spinisers, that is 'thistel eaters...Aristotell sayeth that Linetes and Goldfinches, and Grenefinches, are acanthophage. 1904 Daily News 20 June 5, I did not see either the bullfinch or the goldfinch,..either the dereated bud-plucker or the pretty *thistle-feeder. 1906 Outlook 24 Mar. 404/2 In Hertfordshire, a county notable for the high-farming that was supposed to have exiled the *thistle-feeding birds, goldfinches were singing about their nests. 1552 Huloet, *Thyrsle floure, scholymos. 1908 [Miss Fowler] Betw. Trent & Ancholme 107 No Thistle flowers as yet. 1753 Chambers Cycl. Supp., Thistle Fly*, a small fly produced from a fly-worm, hatching in the protuberances of the carduus hæmorrhoidalis. 1849 J. Campbell Inorg. Chem. 17 Sometimes a small funnel (called a thistle funnel) passes through the cork, and reaches nearly to the bottom of the bottle. 1753 Chambers Cycl. Supp., Thistle-Galls, a name given...to the protuberances on the stalks of a species of Thistle, called.. carduus hæmorrhoidalis, from these tubercles, which are supposed to resemble those of the hæmorrhoidal veins. 1864–5 Wood Homes without H. xxvi. (1868) 505 The Thistle-gall Fly (Urophora Cardui)..produces large and hard woody galls upon the thistle. 1839 Ure Dict. Arts 1322, 16 frames bearing the teasels which are to act upon the cloth,.. their breadth only large enough to contain two *thistle-heads set end to end. 1896 Spectator 31 Oct. 588/2 He (a bee) returned to the hovering thistle-head. 1857 Henfrey Bot. 320 The Cynarææ, or *thistle-like Compositæ. 1866 Trens. Bot. 225 Carlina, a genus..distinguished among the thistle-like group of compound flowers by having the inner leaves of the..involucre coloured. 1550–1 Reg. Privy Council Scot. IV. 574, [200 oz. weight of] utter fyne gold [shall be coined] in the *thrissill noblis. 1603 Ibid. VI. 529 Thrissill nobles of gold. 1782 Cowper Progr. Err. 555 They..Like *thistle-seeds, are sown by every wind. 1896 Mrs. Caffyn Quaker Grandm. 105 Why should Mr. Ince lag behind with the dogs, and his *thistle-spud? 1888 J. Walker Yanni Auld Reekie 41 *Thistle-stampit auld Scotch bodles. 1835 Ure Philos. Manuf. 202 Preparing *thistle-teasels for the workman. 1552 Huloet, *Thyrsle toppe, whych is lyke plume, pappus. 1606 [see Thistleware]. 1893 [see thistle-bird above]. 1903 Westm. Gaz. 29 Dec. 10/1 Carved thistles ornament his dining-room chairs; and a *thistle-topped ralling lends novelty to the front of the house. a 1847 Eliza Cook Song of Wind iii, I grasped an airy *thistle-tuft. 1801 Sporting Mag. XIX. 114 This North-Country *Thistle Whipper. 1846[1] Stonehenge Brit. Sports (ed. 2) ii 2 A brace of hares, or a single fox, will serve for the amusement of a large field of fox-hunters or thistle-whippers.

Hence Thi·stle v., trans. to clear of thistles, to weed out the thistles from (whence Thi·stling vbl. sb.); Thistled (pis·ld) a., covered or overgrown with thistles; adorned with figures of thistles; Thi·stlery (pi·s'lri), a plantation of thistles; Thi·stlish a., resembling or suggesting a thistle.

1766 Compl. Farmer s.v., In France, a farmer may see his neighbour who neglects to *thistle his land at the proper seasons. 1745 in Motherwell Harp of Renfrewshire (1819) 319 The *Thistled banners far were streaming. 1797 Mrs. M. Robinson Walsingham I. 72 The uplands meed, and thistled down. 1893 Chr. G. Rossetti Poems (1904) 123/2 Our thorned and thistled plot. 1889 Mary E. Bamford Up & Down Brooks 97 Do not his folk make such *'thisteries' In Paragwat that bees can hide among them? 1966 Compl. Farmer, Thistling, the action of cutting or pulling up thistles. 1898 Motley Corr. 17 June, Like his tongue and his mind, it [his visage] is eminently Scotch, sharp, caustic, rugged, *thistle-ish.

Thistle, obs. variant of Thixel, an adz.

Thistle-down (pis·l,dɑun). [f. Thistle sb. + Down sb.[2]] The down or pappus which crowns the 'seeds' or achenes of the thistle, and by means of which they are carried along by the wind: either collectively, or that of a single 'seed'.

1561 [see c). 1585 Higins Junius' Nomencl. 112/1 Pappus, the downe of flowers which the wind bloweth about: as thistle downe. 1591 Spenser M. Hubberd 634 As a thistle-downe in th' ayre doth flie. 1723 Mandeville Fab. Bees 277 If it were a hard Winter, they mingled some Thistle down with their Rushes to keep them warm. 1879 Jefferies Wild Life in S. Co. 206 Thistledown is sometimes gathered to fill pillow-cases. 1894 Miss F. Willard in Chicago Advance 4 Oct. One sees a thistledown borne on the breeze.

b. As a type of lightness, flimsiness, or instability; hence fig.

1868 W. Cory Lett. & Jrnls. (1897) 251 The thistle-down of sentiment hung about me all the time. 1904 R. Hichens Gard. Allah x, Forgive my malice...It was really a thing of thistledown. 1908 Outlook 27 Nov. 488/2 That is not to say that Christianity is to be a thistledown to be blown hither and thither at the breath of every fad and whim.

c. attrib. Of or like thistle-down (lit. and fig.).

1561 Will M. Langrygge (Somerset Ho.), Thesseldowne bed. 1889 Yorks. Post 2 Nov. The train was of thistle-down brocade, that being the design brocaded, or rather embossed, upon the snowy surface of the silk. 1897 Westm. Gaz. 12 Feb. 2/1 The thistle-down character of Miss Hart.

Thi·stle-finch, [f. as prec. + Finch; cf. G. distelfink, OHG. distilvinko, Du. distelvink.] Any one of several species of finches which feed on the seeds of the thistle; spec. the goldfinch, Carduelis elegans.

1589 Fleming Virg. Georg. III. 48 The singing thistle-finch. 1678 Ray Willughby's Ornith. 256 The Goldfinch, or thistle-finch. 1736 Ainsworth Lat. Dict. III. s.v. Acdon, She is feigned to have died for grief, and to be turned into a linnet, or thistlefinch. 1851 Broderip Leaves fr. Note Bk. Nat. (1852) 230 The goldfinch or thistlefinch passes much of its time among flowers.

† Thi·stle-tack. Obs. exc. Hist. [Origin obscure: connexion with Thistle sb. is doubtful; the second element is Tack sb.[2]] The name in some localities of a due levied upon the owners of pigs by the lord of the manor, as a charge for pannage. Cf. quot. 1523 for tack-swine, s.v. Tack sb.[2] 6.

1303–5 York Vac. Roll (Ministers Accts. 1144/1, P.R.O.), Et de xl. vijd. de operibus custumariorum..cum pannagio quod dicitur thistiltak. 1327 Inquis. Death Thomas Earl Lancaster (I. P. M. Edw. III, File 6 (m. 3), P. R. O.) (Yorks., Soureby), Et de quadam consuetudine porcorum ibidem vocata 'Thisteltack ad terminum Sancti Andree xviij d. 1377 Halgmote of Holton, etc. (Court Rolls 50 Edw. III, Bundle 2, No. 27), Et de iij s collectis de pannagio vocato Thisteltak pro porcis diversorum tenencium domini apud Runkorn. 1419 Excheq. Accts. 7 Hen. V, Bundle 132. No. 14 (Forest of Galtres, Yorks.) Sed de Thistiltak nichil quia nullum tale proficuum accidit hoc anno.

¶ The following accounts of the term are given by 17th c. writers:

1677 Thoroton Nottinghamshire 308/1 If any Native or Cottager [at Fiskerton, Nottinghamshire] having a Swine above a year old, should kill him, he was to give the Lord 3*d.* and it was called Thisteltak. 1691 Blount's Law Dict. (ed. 2), Thistle-take, .. a Custom in the honor of Halton, ..That if in driving Beasts over the Common, the Driver permits them to graze or take but a Thistle, he shall pay a half-penny a Beast to the Lord of the Fee. 1906 N. J. Hone Manor & Manor. Rec. 112 'Thistle-take' was claimed by the lords [of Manors] in Lancashire and Yorkshire, as an acknowledgment of the hasty crop taken by droves of beasts passing over a common, and similar payments.

(The statement in quot. 1691 (whence in 1906) was evidently 'popular etymology'.)

† Thi·stlewarp. Obs. [f. Thistle sb. + Warp v., to throw, turn, twist; cf. Mouldwarp.] The goldfinch: = Thistle-finch.

1606 Marlowe & Chapman Hero & Leander VI. 277 Neptune for pity..Flung them into the air, and did awake them Like two sweet birds, surnamed th' Acanthides, Which we call Thistle-warps, that..feed on thistle-tops. 1624 Burton Anat. Mel. II. iii. vii, An asse flung downe a Thistlewarpes nest, the little bird pecked his gall'd backe in revenge.

Thistly (pi·s'li), a. [f. Thistle sb. + -y.]

1. Of the nature of or resembling a thistle; spiny, prickly; consisting of or constituted by thistles. (In 1611, made of 'thistles', i. e. teasel-heads.)

1598 Sylvester Du Bartas II. ii. IV. Columnes 625 That shell [of the chestnut] incas't in a thick thistly fell. 1611 Cotgr., Applanseur de draps, the Cloathworker; who with his thistly cards doth smooth, and stroake down clothes. 1784 Cowper Task VI. 768 The land..Exults to see its thistly curse repealed. 1845 G. Struthers in Ess. Chr. Union vii. (1851) 416 The plant of schism has put forth its thistly spines wherever it has been carried.

2. Full of, abounding or overgrown with thistles.

1710 Tusser Redivivus in T.'s Husb. (1878) 129 note, Where the Wheat is thistly. 1727–46 Thomson Summer 1658 Wide o'er the thistly lawn, as swells the breeze, A whitening shower of vegetable down Amusive floats. 1900 Hudson Nat. in Downland 41 Thistly and weedy wastelands.

3. fig. (from 1 and 2).

1784 Cowper Task IV. 335 A world, so thorny,..where none Finds happiness..Without some thistly sorrow at it's side. 1866 Howells Venet. Life 340 Converted into a fortress..all thistly with bayonets. 1889 Harper's Mag. Mar. 661/1 Wandering..into thistly byways of dissent.

† Thi·stolow. Obs. rare. Altered form of fistolow, Fistula: see Th (6).

1684 Hannah Woolley Queen-like Closet (ed. 9) Supp. 25 When you dress any Wound or Thistolow with it, you must warm it very hot. Ibid., I did cure a Gentlewoman of a Thistolow in the Eye with it.

Thiswise (ði·s,wəiz), adv. Now rare. [Short for a (on) this wise.] In this manner, thus.

13..Cursor M. 11971 (Cott.) 'Sun', sco said, '[wirk] noght þis wise'. 1509 Barclay Shyp of Folys (1570) 244 Howe darest thou wretched men this wise abuse? 1530 Tindale Answ. More Wks. (1573) 254/2 Whiche text may this wise be vnderstand. 1846 H. W. Torrens Rem. Milit. Hist. 166 This-wise they slowly pursued their journey.

This world. The present world; the present state or stage of existence, as distinguished from another, esp. a future one. (Cf. Other world.)

c950 Lindisf. Gosp., Luke xvi. 8 Sune þisses worldes (c 1000 Agovs. Gosp. þisse worldes bearn). c 1175 Cott. Hom. 231 He cumð an ende þisser wild. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 7 Þeos world is whilende. 1382 Wyclif John xvi. 11 The prince of this world is now demyd. 1470–85 Malory Arthur xiii. 60 Hey alle shalle deue mete more in thys world. 1583 J. Munden in J. B. Wainwright Two Eng. Mart. (C.T.S.) 24 Biddinge you farewell for ever in this worlde. 1705 Stanhope Paraphr. III. 332 The perishing possessions of this World. 1882 Miss Braddon Gold. Calf xiv, What higher office can a man hold in this world than to form the minds of the rising generation?

b. attrib. Pertaining to this world; mundane.

1889 J. Tiswworth in Chicago Advance 7 Feb., [To] appreciate the this-world sphere of the Kingdom of Heaven.

Hence (nonce-words) This-worldian, a man of this world, a worldling; Thi·s-worldism, Thi·s-worldliness, devotion to the things of this world.

1830 Coleridge Ch. & Sh. (1839) 77 Those..that separate the Christian from the this-worldian. 1872 Howells Weld. Journ. (1892) 269 A spiritual-worldliness which was the clarified likeness of this-worldliness. 1883 W. M. Adamson in Essays (1900) 319 This-worldism ignored God, if it did not deny His existence. 1887 Pall Mall G. 19 Oct. 2/1 The Need of 'This-worldliness'...Evangelical Christians have been too often guilty of 'other-worldliness'.

Thite, obs. and (dial.) form of Thither.

Thither (ði·ðəɹ), adv. (a.) Forms: see below. [OE. þider, þiðer, earlier þæder (Lindisf. þadder): corresp. in form to ON. þaðra there; f. þa-, stem of That, The + suffix, denoting motion towards, Goth. -drē, Vedic -trā: cf. hither, OE. hider, Goth. hidrē, and whither, OE. hwider :—hwæder, Goth. hwadrē] a form corresp. to OE. þæder is wanting in Goth. (which uses jaindrē thither, yonder); cf. Vedic tatrā there, thither. The OE. þæder, hwæder became þider, hwider, app. under the influence of hider, Hither, in which the i was original. For the later ME. -ther for -der in all three words (first in MSS. of Cursor Mundi, but rare bef. 1525), as in gather, mother, etc., see Th (6), and Note s. v. Father. In Sc. thidder came down to 1600. The extended ME. þidere, þidre, was app. influenced by ordinary adverbs in -e.]

1. To or towards that place (with verb of motion expressed or implied). (Now almost exclusively literary; in ordinary speech superseded by THERE.)

a. 1 þidder, þædder.

a900 O. E. Martyrol. 190 On mergen com se biscop þædder. Ibid. 22 Þa Thome þædder ineode. c950 Lindisf. Gosp. John vii. 35 Eadher ðes farende is [mistr.]. c1000 ÆLFRIC Exod. xxxii. 34 Ga þu and lædæ þis folc þædder, þe ic þe ær sæde.

β. 1–3 ðider, (1 ðiæder), 1–4 þidder, 1–5 þider, (3 Orm.) þiderr (tiderr), 4 þidiur, þyder, -ir, (tyder), 4–5 þidur, -ir, thider, 5 thidir, -yr, thyd(d)ur, 5–6 thyder, 6 thidder, -ir.

a900 tr. Bæda's Eccl. Hist. iii. vii. [viii.] (1890) 274 þæt xylidne mynet.. þæræ þider of Cent cwom. c950 Lindisf. Gosp. John xi. 8 Eftersona ðis farenis ðidder (c978 Rushw. ðider). c1000 ÆLFRIC Deut. i. 37 Ne farest þu þider. c1175 Lamb. Hom. 61 Crist us sife þider to cumen. c1200 ORMIN 17924, & tider comm þe folc till himm. c1250 Gen. & Ex. 1959 Eðan ruben cam ðider a-gen. 13.. Cursor M. 746 (Fairf.) Seloup was how he þidder [v.r. þider] wan. c1375 Sc. Leg. Saints iii. (Andreas) 23 He knew nocht [þ]hydir þe way. Ibid. 1008 Þare-for had he þidder socht. c1386 CHAUCER Franklt. T. 763 They we wiste why she thider wente. 1388 WYCLIF John xviii. 3 He cam thidur with lanternys, and brondis, and armeris. 14.. Voc. in Wr.-Wülcker 588/46 Illuc, thydur. c1450 St. Cuthbert (Surtees) 347 How he kyng sent hir thidur. 1559 Mirr. Mag. (1563) H iv, Thyder they came with kynge Henry out of Skotlande. a1600 MONTGOMERIE Misc. Poems xi. 28 Thidder did I draw For to refresh my weryness.

γ. 1 þyder, 3–5 þuder(ii).

Bestiary 3086 Wæn þæt sifele te swiðe þe ðone þuder ontyhte. 971 Blickl. Hom. 29 Þæt he þyder come..mid his wyllan. 12.. Moral Ode 396 (Egerton MS.) Crist ȝeue us..þat we moten þuder [v.r. þider] come. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 2509 Þis kiȝng hadde þuder ycome. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) III. 455 Moche folk was iflowe þider [MS. ȝ. þuder]. Ibid. IV. 445 Men..com þuder [ȝ. þuder].

δ. 4–5 þedir, -yr, 4–6 þeder, 5 -ur, þeodur.

13.. Cursor M. 1700 (Cott.) Al þeir filth sal þedir [Gött. þeder] fall. c1425 Chronicle Pearce 2235 Whanne þei þeder come. c1400 R. Gloucester's Chron. 8078 (MS. a) Hii þeoder ne wende. c1400 Destr. Troy 13454 Thedur kynges wold come. 1447 BOKENHAM Seyntys (Roxb.) 165 Of hire thedyr goyng I was the enteme. 1464 Nottingham Rec. III. 375 Ay their first yiftyng thedir. 1536 WHITTINSLEY Chron. (Camden) I. 50 After dynner the Kinges grace came theder in a maske.

ε. 4 þepir, 5 thethur, 6–7 thether.

a1400 Cursor M. 17566 (Göttl.) Þat iesus be noght nauist þepir [Cott., Trin. þider]. c1400 Anturs of Arth. xxii, Wold ȝe thethur be bowne. 1526 Pilgr. Perf. (W. de W. 1531) 14 By bothe wayes man may come thether. 1560 DAUS tr. Sleidane's Comm. 207 b, Thether came none at all; and hether but very fewe. 1653 HOLME Armoury III. 256/1 A ship.. which I made use of for my transportacion thether.

ζ. 4 þiper, -ir, 6 thyther, 6- thither.

a1400 Cursor M. 13692 (Göttl.) Þiper [v. rr. þidder, þidur] þode he al..þar to prai. 1543 LD. BERNERS Froiss. I. cclii. 376 Thyther wyr Bustasse was ryght welcome to all the company. 1548–9 (Mar.) Bk. Com. Prayer, Collect Ascension Day, We may also in heart and mind thither ascende. 1588 T. WASHINGTON tr. Nicholay's Voy. i. iv, Merchauntes comming thither. 1592 SHAKS. Hamlet iv. iv. 36 Will you to Scone?..No, Cosin, ile to Fife..Well, I will thither. 1709 STEELE & ADDISON Tatler No. 88 P 12 The Gentlewoman of the next House begged me to step thither. 1872 JEBENSON Guide Dover 126 The road thither leaves the main road at right angles.

η. 3–4 þidere, þudere(ii), 4 þedirre, þid(d)ire, þeodre, 4–5 þ-, thedere, þ-, thidere, 5 thed(d)re, thidre, thidyre, 6 thiddre.

c1205 LAY. 8171 He wes þoudere icumen. 1340–70 Alex. & Dind. 4 Rydinge þedirre. Ibid. 256 Drawen hem þiddire. 1393 LANGL. P. Pl. C viii. 292 Now most ich þudere, To leke how me lykeþ hit. c1400 R. Gloucester's Chron. (Rolls) 827 (MS. a) Pur meseise him þeodre [v.r. theder] drof. Ibid. 5721 Þe monekes out of abendone went wese þedere yuet. c1400 MAUNDEV. (1839) ii. 13 Grete Kynges that come thidire. 1448 Lett. Marg. Anjou & Bp. Beckington (Camden) 101 To resorte thedre. 1473 WARKWORTH Chron. (Camden) 9 The Lorde Scales..was sent thedere. 1483 Cath. Angl. 363/2 Thidyre, illo, illuc. 1490 CAXTON Eneydos xiii. 8 Yf she went thidre. 1492 in 10*th Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm.* App. v. 323 Nor to goo theddre. 1507 in Leadam Sel. Cas. Star Chamber 252 He..resorted thiddre.

θ. (chiefly north.; perh. scribal errors.) 4 didir dydur, dedur, 5 -yr; 4 diþer, depir(e), -er, -ur.

c1400 Cursor M. 2383 (Göttl.) Als suith als þai diþer cam. Ibid. 14371 For didir ȝe wil nauȝt dere. Ibid. 14356 Depir. Ibid. 17352 Dedire. a1400 Stac. Rome 66 To alle þat wylle depur goo. 1482 Monk of Evesham (Arb.) 75 Al that.. whenne not dedyr.

ι. 4 ȝe. yd(d)ir, -yr(e, -ire. (app. for þdir, etc.)

c1375 Sc. Leg. Saints xvi. (Magdalene) 764, & yddir ewinely can hyr mark. (So xxxii. 352, xxxiii. 65, xl. 119; xxix. 347 ydir; xviii. 864 ydyr; vii. 616 ydyre; xvi. 384 yddire.)

† b. Followed by in, out: In or out thither.

971 Blickl. Hom. 207 Hie byder inweron to ðæm lofsangum ȝesammode. c1000 ÆLFRIC Saints' Lives xxiii B. 500 Þe become to sanctes lohannes cyrcan.. and ic me þyder inneode. c1205 LAY. 31509 Ah Penda ga þider ut anon. a1300 Cursor M. 22643 Ic sal..dump þe deals þider in.

c. Defined by a relative clause introduced by þe or þæt (see 2), whither, where, or equivalent.

The relative clause with whither, etc., often precedes.

[c897, 1393, 1496: see 2.] c1380 WYCLIF Serm. Sel. Wks. II. 37 Wherever he hodi be, þiþir shal he ȝe gideriid. For whidir ȝe comen Cristis bodi, hiȝ shal he ȝe gatis come. 1482 Monk of Evesham (Arb.) 35 They wondrid howe..he myght come thedyr to that place, where the couent was. 1548–9 (Mar.) Bk. Com. Prayer, Communion, That where he is, thither might we also ascende. 1680 T. B. Worcester's Apoph. 27 The meanes of bringing her thither, where now she had but little way to go. a1700 DRYDEN Cæsr & Alexone 440 She..thither by her destiny was brought, Where last he stood.

d. Hither and thither: see HITHER adv. 5.

† 2. With relative particle (þe, that, as) = WHITHER rel. adv. (See THE particle 2, THAT conj. 6, AS 27.)

c897 K. ÆLFRED Gregory's Past. C. xl. 65 (Hatch) Donne ne mæȝon ðider fullice becuman ðæ stæppas ðæs weorcas ðieder ðe he wilnað. 1393 LANGL. P. Pl. C. ix. 119 For bider as þe fend fleȝh, hus fote for to sette, Ther he falleþ & fal. 1495 Dicts & Sayings (W. de W.) vi. v. 237/1 Thieder that the hede ledeth thyder sholde the bodye folowe.

† 3. transf. a. Up to that time; until then. b. To or towards that end, purpose, result, or action.

13.. Cursor M. 5181 (Cott.) Yee sal ha lijf langer þen þider. 1600 SHAKS. A. V. L. i. i. 170 This wrastler shall clear all: nothing remmines, but that I kindle the boy thither.

B. adj. Lying on that side or in that direction, i.e. the side or direction away from this; the farther or more remote (of two things). A recent use, introduced as the opposite of HITHER a.

1830 LAMB Let. to Wordsworth 22 Jan., These all came in..on the thither side of innocence. 1857–8 SEARS Athan. 5 Death is not a transition to another existence on the thither side of nature. 1868 HAWTHORNE Amer. Note-Bks. (1879) II. 166 Between the hither and the thither row of houses. 1890 KIPLING in Fortn. Rev. XLVII. 165, I doubt that a double is to be found on the thither side of hell.

Thi·ther, v. Used in 'to hither and thither': see HITHER v.

1829 MRS. CARLYLE Let. to Carlyle 29 Aug. in Lett. & Mem. (1903) I. 62 Waiting for certainties; hithering and thithering being a condition under which I find it almost impossible to write. 1856, 1864 [see HITHER v.].

Thitherto (ðiðərtū', -ðĭ-ðərtū), adv. [f. THITHER adv. + To prep.: after hitherto.]

1. Up to that time; until then. Now rare.

c1449 PECOCK Repr. i. iv. 29 The Iewis weren chargid with alle the lawis, with which the peple fro Adam thidir to weren chargid. 1529 MORE Dyalogue iii. Wks. 205/2 All the men in effecte yt' any faith had from Adam thetherto. 1654–66 EARL ORRERY Parthen. (1676) 655 Usage..which thitherto I had considered as an Invitation. 1822 O'CONOR Chron. Eri I. p. vi, The thitherto one and only language. 1900 H. G. GRAHAM Soc. Life Scot. in 18th C. XIII. i. (1901) 476 Young men who had thitherto thronged to Holland.

† 2. To that condition, point, or result. Obs.

1659 WHICHCOTE Cudwl. to Ill. Aitrol. Wks. (1768) 208 Although it be indeed new, and hitherto unheard of, yet it is firmly established upon Physical Reasons, and..is thitherto reduced. 1662 J. CHANDLER Van Helmont's Oriat. 313 The manner of continuing thitherto..is moreover far remote.

Thitherward (ðĭ'ðərwĭd), adv. (a.) arch. [OE. þiderweard: see THITHER and -WARD.]

1. Towards that place; in that direction; thither.

Hitherward and thitherward: see HITHERWARD.

c893 K. ÆLFRED Oros. i. i. § 20 Ða he þiderweard seȝlode. c1000 ÆLFRIC Josh. x. 7 Iosue þa ferde mid his fyrde þiderweard. c1205 LAY. 16662 Swiðe he fusde þider ward þenne his ferde. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 9383 Anon he wende þuderward wiþ vair compainie. a1300 Cursor M. 9908 (Cott.) Þe man þat þider-werd [v.rr. þiþer-ward, thedirward] es fleled. 1340 HAMPOLE Pr. Consc. 979 Þider sal we com.. If we þiderward hald þe right way. 1393 LANGL. P. Pl. C. viii. 205 This ys þe heye weye þyderward. 1433 Rolls of Parli. IV. 425/1 His passage from hens thitherward. a1533 LD. BERNERS Huon lx. 208 Huon..saw a shyppe comyng thetherwards. 1560 BIBLE (Genev.) Ser. I. 5 They shal aske the waye to Zion, with their faces thetherward. 1624 CAPT. SMITH Virginia v. 196 He.. instantly made thitherward in person. 1823 SCOTT Quentin D. viii, Were they vocation in view thitherward? 1884 ROE Nat. Ser. Story viii, All eyes turned thitherward.

† 2. On the way thither; going thither. Obs.

c1000 ÆLFRIC Saints' Lives xxx. 200 Þa he þiderweard wæs, geseah he þæt an wulf ȝenam þæt [child]. c1175 Lamb. Hom. 23 Þa wes hit cuad, þæt þe helind wes þiderward, heo urnen on-ȝein him. a1300 Cursor M. 2056 (Cott.) Þiderward þair wonnyng was. a1400 Stac. Rome 242 Syþ þou dye dyduerward, Heuenne blys shalle be þy part. 1624 SIR J. HERBERT Travels. 28 He dared not to..plead his defence..in our Company and thitherward.

B. quasi-adj. Moving or directed thither. rare.

1795 SOUTHEY Joan of Arc VI. 49 The sentinel, soon as he heard Thitherward footsteps,..Challenged the darkling travellers.

Thi·therwards, adv. arch. [f. prec.: see -WARDS.] = prec. 1.

c888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xxxix. § 5 He..tiohhode hit ðeah þiderweardes. c1000 ÆLFRIC Saints' Lives xxiii B. 724 Heo..ofer þa hinescan þæra þæs wæteres eode swa swa heo ær dyde þyderweardes. 13.. Sir Beues (A.) 125 Þederwardes he gan goo Wiþ outen demere. 1484 Cely Papers (Camden) 149 On Tewysday next yche schall departe theder wardes. 1592 MARLOWE Edw. II, v. ii, So, now away! post thitherwards amain. 1756 Phil. Trans. LV. 189 The air of the lower regions is flowing thitherwards. a1850 ROSSETTI Dante & Circ. i. (1874) 40, I had occasion to..go thitherwards where she abode. 1886 Cornh. Mag. July 43 A number of rough labouring men..strolling thitherwards.

† Thi·therways, adv. Obs. rare. [f. THITHER + -WAYS: cf. sideways, etc.] On the way thither, in that direction, thitherwards.

1639 R. Johnson's Kingd. & Commw. 41 Suppose an enemie..be discovered at Sea upon the coast of Kent, thitherwayes presently make the Land forces.

[Thitling, spurious word; a misprint for TITHING, cited by Richardson from an ed. of Milton's Prose Wks., and thence in recent American Dictionaries.]

‖ Thitsi, thitsee (pĭ·tsī). East Ind. Also thet-, theet-, thietsee, thyt-si. [Burmese pitsi, pissī (written sachchē), f. pit tree, wood + asī, in comb. -sī gum: cf. sē to be sticky.] The black varnish tree, Melanorrhœa usitatissima, N.O. Anacardiaceæ, of Burma and Pegu; also applied to the varnish obtained from it.

1829 DON Gen. Syst. Gard. II. 67/1 Melanorrhœa usitata. ..Native of Hindostan..where it is called Theet-tree or Zitsi. 1839 ROYLE Bot. Himalayan Mts. I. 178 Melanorrhœa usitata of Dr. Wallich,..the theet-tree, or varnishing-tree of the Burmese,..abounds in a thick and viscid, greyish-brown fluid, which turns black soon after coming into contact with the air. 1858 HOGG Veg. Kingd. 244 The Black Varnish-Tree..grows..in the Burmese empire, on the banks of the Irrawadi, where it is called Theet-tsee, or Zit-si. 1858 SIMMONDS Dict. Trade, Thetsee, a varnish obtained from Melanorrhœa usitata, in Arracan, and used for lacquering. 1890 HALLETT 1000 Miles 284 A plain in which many great thyt-si (black-varnish trees) were growing.

Thiuret (þai·ŭret). Chem. [f. Gr. θε-ῖον sulphur (see THIO-) + -URET.] A light odourless crystalline powder, $C_6H_7N_5S_2$, used as a substitute for iodoform as an antiseptic.

1899 Syd. Soc. Lex. s.v., Sulphur separates out from thiuret in presence of alkalies, even at low temperatures. It owes its antiseptic properties to the separation of sulphur in a nascent state.

Thivel, thible (þiv'l, þaiv'l; þib'l, þai·b'l). Sc. and north. dial. Forms: α. 5 thyvelle, 6 thyvil, 7– thivel, (9 dial. thyvel, theevil, thieval, etc.); β. 7– thible, (9 dial. thibble, thybel, etc.); γ. 9 dial. thavel, thaivel, thabble, etc.; δ. 9 Sc. theedle; for other forms see E. D. D. [Of obscure origin and history. The forms with v are app. the original, being found two centuries earlier, and used both in Scotland and the north of England, while the later forms with b are confined to n. Engl. The stem vowel is found variously as i, ī, e, ē, a, ā, ō, and oi; the earliest spellings have y (?i or ī), but the phonological development is not easy to trace.

In form, thivel seems to correspond to OE. þyfel bush, leafy plant, but no links of connexion between this and the modern sense have been found. In its various current forms the word is in use from N. of Scotl. to S. Lincolnshire, W. and E. Yorksh.; this localization suggests a Norse origin, and it has been referred to OIcel. þefja (þe·vya); but this is a very rare word of doubtful standing, and in any case meant 'to thicken by beating or stamping' rather than 'to stir'. The actual ON. use name for a stirring-stick was þvara, between which and thivel there is of course no connexion.]

1. A stick for stirring porridge or anything cooked in a pot; a potstick. (See also quot. 1876, γ.)

α. 1483 Cath. Angl. 363/2 A Thyvelle, spatula, verticnella. 1570 LEVINS Manip. 126/17 A Thyuil, rubicula. 1768 ROSS Helenore 138 The thivel on the pottage pan, Shall strick my hour to rise. 1785 Spanish Rivals 8 He's a queer stick to make a thivel on. 1825 G. BEATTIE John o' Arnha (1826) 93 An' ay's they steer'd them wi' a thivel, They mummelt crowdy for the devil'. 1888 ROBERTS Wed. Guest. 7 yetts I. 362 Soup ladles and theevils. 1889 BARRIE Window in Thrums vi, Nearly a foot having been cut..from the original ..to make a porridge thieval. 1894 HESLOP Nthbld. Gloss., Thivel, Thyvel, a round stick, about fifteen inches long and three-quarters of an inch in diameter; used to stir porridge.

β. 1674 RAY N. C. Words, A Thible or Thivel, A Stick to stirre a Pot. 1764 ELIZ. MOXON Eng. Housew. (ed. 9) 109 With a paste-pin or thible stir in your flour to the butter. 1847 EMILY BRONTE Wuthering Heights xiii, The quicker the thible ran round..the faster the handfuls of meal fell into the water. 1863 E. WAUGH Lancash. Songs 54 Wi' th' edge o' th' porridge thibble (var. bibble).

γ. 1876 Whitby Gloss., Thabble, the plug in the leaden milk-trough, which draws out and lets off the milk, while the cream is left behind.

δ. 1864 A. LEGROS Myst Leg. Edinb. (1886) 68 The stirring utensil called a 'theedle'. 1884 C. ROGERS Soc. Life Scot. I. vii. 233 Stirred with a wooden spurtle or theedle.

† 2. = DIBBLE sb. Obs. (perh. an error in Ray).

1691 RAY N. C. Words, Thible, Thivel..Also a dibble, or setting-stick. Hence 1787 in GROSE Provinc. Gloss.

Thixel, thixle (þi·ksĭ'l). Now dial. Forms: 4 þixil, -eil, 5 thyxxyl, -le, -ill, -elle, -ell, (tyxhyl, tixil), thyxtyll, -ill, thistill, 7 thistle, 8–9 thi-, thyxhyl, 9 thixle, thickself. [ME. þixil, þixel, þixyl, c1300, not yet found in OE.] = MDu. dessel, dissel (Du. dissel, LG. dessel), OHG. dehsala, dehsla, MHG. dehsel, dichsel, Ger. deichsel, in Upper Ger. dialects dechsel, düchsel; from OTeut. root þiks-* (by-form þihs-), Indo-Eur. teks-: cf. OSlav. tes-ati to hew, tesla ax, Lith. tass-yti to hew or shape with the ax. See Kluge Etym. Wbch., and Schade.] An adz.

c 1300 E. E. Psalter lxxiii. 7 [lxxiv. 6] Als in wodes of trees ..In ax and in thixil [MS. E. þixel] þaiite douecaste. 1404 Durham Acc. Rolls (Surtees) 396, 3 thyxtyll..3 thyxtyll gong. 14.. Nom. in Wr.-Wülcker 726/37 Hec acia, a thyxylle. c1440 Promp. Parv. 491/2 Thyxyl, instrument (S. twyyele, P. thyxyll), ascia. 1468 Medulla Gram. (MS. Cant.), Ascia, a thyxelle..Celtes, a cheselle or a thyxelle [Harl. MS. tixil]. 1562 Wills & Inv. N. C. (Surtees) I. 207, 3 mattoche, 3 thistill, 3 woumbles. 1611–12 Kwarsch. Wills (Surtees) II. 34 One thistle, all my chissils. 1796 PEGGE Derbicisms (E.D.S.), Thixle, an adze. 1847–78 HALLIWELL, Thixelle, an axe, or hatchet. 1888 Sheffield Gloss., Thickself, an adze. ..It has a crooked handle, and is used by wheelwrights, and for making spouts hollow, etc. [E.D.D. gives the forms thixle, thickself, thixle, thyxle.]

‖ Thlaspi (plæspī). Bot. Also 7 thlaspe, 8 thlaspy. [mod.L., a. Gr. θλάσπι, -ιος, 'a sort of cress, the seed of which was bruised and used like mustard' (L. and Sc.).] A genus of cruciferous plants (tribe Thlaspideæ), containing about thirty species, chiefly annuals, bearing insignificant white, pink, or purplish flowers, succeeded by flattened orbicular seed-pods. T. arvense, Penny-cress, was formerly in repute for its medicinal qualities.

Formerly including Capsella or Shepherd's Purse, and loosely applied to Candytuft, etc.

1562 Turner Herbal ii. 152 Thlaspi is named..in English tracle mustard, bowes mustard, or dishe mustarde. 1579 Langham Gard. Health (1633) 634 Thlaspi seeds eaten, purge choller. 1597 Gerarde Herbal ii. xix. 207 The seede of Thlaspi..helpeth the scratica. 1640 Parkinson Theat. Bot. vii. xii. 839 That Thlaspi that like best do allow for the truest Thlaspi to be used in Treakle and Mithridate. 1725 Bradley's Fam. Dict. s. v. Shepherds Purse. Somewhat like the Leaves of Thlaspi. 1842 Penny Cycl. XXIV. 384/2 The genus Thlaspi is known by its silicles being emarginate at the apex with the valves winged at the back.

‖ Thlipsis (plī'psis). Path. [a. Gr. θλῖψις pressure, compression, from θλίβ-ειν to press, squeeze.] (See quots.)

1693 tr. Blancard's Phys. Dict., Thlipsis. 1704 J. Harris Lex. Techn. I. Thlipsis, is a Compression of the Vessels, in an Animal Body. 1857 Dunglison Med. Lex., Thlipsis, compression, and especially constriction of vessels by an external cause. Oppression. [Hence in mod. Dicts.]

So ‖ Thlipsencephalus (plīpsense'fălŭs) [Gr. ἐγκέφαλος brain]: see quot.; hence Thlipsence'phalous a., of or pertaining to a thlipsencephalus.

1857 Dunglison Med. Lex., Thlipsencephalus, . a monster in whom the skull is open, not merely in the frontal and parietal, but also in the occipital regions. 1860 Mayne Expos. Lex., Thlipsencephalous.

Thlummery, obs. variant of Flummery.

Thnetopsychism (pnĭtŏpsəi'kiz'm). [f. eccl. Gr. θνητόψυχος maintaining the mortality of the soul (f. θνητός mortal + ψυχή soul) + -ism.] The doctrine (based on 1 Tim. vi. 16, 'who only hath immortality') held by the Thnētopsychītes, a Christian sect which arose in Arabia in the third century, who believed that the soul dies with the body, and is recalled to life with it at the Day of Judgement.

[1625 Gill Sacr. Philos. iv. 63 The Thnatopsychitæ, which thought that the soule of man came to nought, as the soules of the beasts.] 1882-9 W. F. Tillett Schaff's Encycl. Relig. Knowl. III. 2218 The still grosser error of soul-death, or thnetopsychism.

† Tho, dem. pron. and adj. (rel. pron.), pl. Obs. Forms: see below. [OE. þá, nom. and acc. pl. of se, sēo, þæt, simple demonstrative, That, and definite article, The; = OFris. thâ, OS. thia (also m. thie, the, f. the, n. thiu, OHG. m. die, dia, dê, f. dio, dia, dê, n. diu, dei, ON. m. þeir, f. þær, n. þau, Goth. m. þai, f. þôs, n. þô. The original form þá, thâ remained in the northern dialect, where it still exists as Sc. thae, theae, N. Yorksh. theē: see That. In midl. and south of England þā became regularly þō (found in Kentish a 1200), and remained in use as tho (thoo, thoe) to c 1550. As early as 1300 it began to be supplanted in the north by þās, and later in the south by þōs, which finally took its place in Standard Engl. as Those, q. v.]

A. Illustration of Forms.

a. 1–3 þá, 1–5 þá, (3 þæ), 4 þaa, 4–6 tha, Sc. þai, thai, thay [6– Sc. Thae, q. v.]. Early inflexions: dat. 1 þǣm, þǣm, 2–3 þan, þon, 3 þen. gen. 1 þǽra, þǽra, 3 aara, 2–3 þare, þere.

c 825 Vesp. Psalter ii. 10 Alle ða ðe doemaðʒ eorðan. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matth. xxiii. 3 Ðæt ðu ðeawaðʒ hie. c 1200 Ormin 429 Swa ne didenn nohht ta twa þatt we nu mælenn unnnbe. Ibid. 2706 þa menn þatt wel himm follhenn. c 1205 Lay. 9180 Seoððe him comen þæ [c 1275 þe] riðinde of frist godes wilde. 1340 Hampole Pr. Conc. 6435 Aparty of þa paynes sere. 13.. Cursor M. 6448 (Cott.) To þaa þat gret birþin bar. c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints (iv. (Jacobus) 317 To þai discipulis þe kynge Had grantit.. þar askine. c 1560 A. Scott Poems (S. T. S.) ii. 26 Tha stalwart knychtis. [1583–: see Thae.]

dat. c 893 K. Ælfred Oros. i. i. § 7 Betux þæm twæm ean sindon þas land Arocasia & Parthia. Ibid. ii. vii. § 2 On þæm dagum. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. iii. 1 On þam [Rushw. In þæm] dagum com Iohannes se fullihtere. c 1160 Hatton Gosp. Matt. v. 44 Doð wel þan [Ags. G. þam] þe eow yfel doð. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 47 Swich þeu wes bi þan daȝen. c 1205 Lay. 747 Cuð he wes þen cnihten [c 1275 þeos cnihtes]. 1340 Ayenb. 11 To alle þon þet wyleþ by yborse. Ibid. 30 Of þan þet hi byeþ yhealde uor te amendi.

gen. c 825 Vesp. Psalter xiii. 3 Ðǽara [L. quorum] muð awergednisse & bitterniss ful bliðe. c 893 K. Ælfred Oros. i. i. § 16 þara wæronon nyx stæðlmæas. c 1200 Ags. Ps. (Th.) xlviii. (heading) Ælc þæra þe þysne sealm sincgð. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 135 On ðere monne heorte. c 1205 Lay. 1776 þere Freinsce monnen [c 1275 of þe Frense mennene]. Ibid. 3316 Heos ræðde..to þare cnihtene þine. a 1250 Owl & Night. 1584 (Cott.) On þare beire nede.

β. 2–3 þeo.

c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 47 Alle þeo þe ihere ȝ godes weordes. c 1205 Lay. 9056 Þeo cudden Kinbeline. a 1225 Leg. Kath. 360 Cleopest þeo [MS. C. þoa] hinges godes. c 1300 Beket 721 Namelicche theo for alle other.

γ. 2–4 þo, (3 to), 3 þoa, 4 poo, 4–6 tho, thoo, (5 thow), 6 thoe.

c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 79 þo þet weren imakede engles. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 139 And hi þo daȝes luuede herodes ..his broðer wif. 1388 Wyclif Prov. iv. 22 For tho ben lijf to men fyndynge thoo. c 1460 Wisdom 689 in Macro Plays 58 Now wyll we thre do make a dance Off thow þat longe to owur retenaunce. 1521 Fisher Wks. (1876) 316 In thoo causes that perteyne vnto god. 1526 Tindale Rev. ii. 10 Feare none off thoo [Coverd. tho; Gr. Bible those] thynges which thou shalt suffre. 1553 Becon Reliques of Rome (1563) 238 All thoo that fraunches of holye Churche breake.

B. Signification.

1. Dem. pron.: pl. of That B. 1; = Those I. (they, them).

Often indistinguishable from 3rd pers. pron. they. The ME. north. and Sc. þa often ran together with þai, þay, they.

1. In general sense.

c 893 K. Ælfred Oros. i. i. § 21 Þa habbað him sylf cyning. Ibid. i. § 11 Binnan þæm sindon monegа þeoda. c 1000 Sax. Leechd. I. 290 Heo hafaþ leaf sinewealte and þa bitteran on byrginge. (Cf. Those I. 2 b.) c 1205 Lay. 6403 Þeo [c 1275 hii] þilen wið þone diuble. a 1300 E. E. Psalter cxxiii[3]. 6 Þat noght gaf us swa In taking of tothe of þa. a 1310 in Wright Lyric P. vii. 29 Ne lete for non of tho. 13.. Cursor M. 8817 (Gött.) Þus þa [C., F. þai, Tr. þei] proued it thre dayes. 1388 Wyclif 1 Kings vi. 12 Thou.. kepiist alle my comandements, and goist in tho [1382 hem]. 1 Per ea]. 1390 Gower Conf. I. 52 Tho be proprely the gates, Thurgh whiche..Comth alle thing. 1434 Misyn Mending Life ii. vi. 116 Be þame þa wote endide lyfe to wynn. c 1440 Generydes 88 Fewe noure I wyght be on of thoo. c 1473 Satir. Poems Reform. xlii. 231 Quhair ar tha? 1596 Dalrymple tr. Leslie's Hist. Scot. x. (S. T. S.) II. 298 Sa tha facht that betueine thame was amissing a thousand or thairabouts. a 1600 Montgomerie Misc. Poems xiv. 9, I am not one of tho.

2. As antecedent pronoun followed by a relative clause or its equivalent: = Those B. I. 4.

c 825 Vesp. Psalter cxxxiv. 2 Ða ðe stondaðʒ in huse dryhtnes. c 1000 Ags. Ps. (Th.) v. 5 þa hatast eaðle þa þe unriht wyrcaðʒ. a 1175 Cott. Hom. 219 Heo ȝescop ȝesceafte þaðа þe wolde. c 1200 Ormin 53 Þa þatt wærenn gode menn. c 1205 Lay. 6420 Þeo [c 1275 þaie] þat hit iseȝen. a 1225 Ancr. R. 32 Habbeð reoupe of þeo þet beoð ine. c 1300 Auarous Well 82 Alle þo þat luefe heryen. c 1330 R. Brunne Chron. Wace (Rolls) 13903 Seide Arthur þen to þo þer ware. 13.. Cursor M. 1529 (Cott.) Þaa [G.rr. þai, þei] þat þa [her, þir] wonders werkes wroght. c 1385 Chaucer L. G. W. 1531 (Hypsipyle) Alle thoo that lyvyn be dead. c 1400 Rule St. Benet 12 Of þe þridde maner o mekenes spekys sain benet to þa in his reul wyl be. c 1400 Maundev. (Roxb.) lii. 10 Þa þat schafes þaire berdes. 1463 Bury Wills (Camden) 29 The chymes, as well tho that been in Seynt Marie stepill as tho that been [etc.]. c 1475 Rauf Coilȝear 802 The maist man of all tha That euer he had sene. 1509 Fisher Wks. (1876) 271 Blessyd are tho which haue not vertuous desyre. a 1553 Ld. Berners Froiss lvii. 193 All tho in your countrye. 1553 Becon Reliques of Rome (1563) 238 b, All thoe y^e be common robbers.

II. Dem. adj.

1. Plural of That B. II.; = Those II.

c 893 K. Ælfred Oros. i. i. § 16 Þa deor hi hatað hranas. Ibid. § 17 On þæm morum eardiaþ Finnas. a 1123 O. E. Chron. an. 1119, Þa twegen cyngas .. mid heora folcum. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 51 Þo word munegeð us. c 1330 R. Brunne Chron. Wace (Rolls) 4ȝc Custume was bi þo dawes. 13.. Cursor M. 2590 (Cott.) Als it was hight be-for þan [G.rr. þa, þaa] dais. c 1386 Chaucer Prol. 172 Of the Gospel he tho wordes caughte. 1412–20 Lydg. Chron. Troy i. 1755 Al-þei he were a paynym in þo dawes. 1520 Arnolde Chron. (1811) 146 Whoo kyseth thoo crosses hath v. C. yere of pardon. 1526 Tindale 1 Pet. ii. 12 Gallio cared for none of tho thynges. 1553 Kennedy Compend. Tract. in Wodrow Soc. Misc. (1844) 108 The juge that wes in tha dayes.

b. In concord with a sb. antecedent to a relative.

c 893 K. Ælfred Oros. i. i. § 22 Ealle ða menn ðe swyðoste hors habiaðʒ. Ibid. § 25 Þa land þe man hiht Gallia Bellica. c 1000 Ags. Ps. (Th.) iii. (heading), Ælc þæra manna þe þisne sealm singð. 1122 O. E. Chron., Ealle þa gersumes þe þæt binnen wæron. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 125 Ðis sonnes þa we na singeð. 1388 Wyclif Prov. i. 22 Tho thingus that ben noȝesum to them. 1418 Hen. V in Proc. Privy Counc. (1834) II. 244 Al þoo personnes þat been oure sugettes. c 1450 tr. De Imitatione iii. 1. 64 Blessid be he yes þat receyne of goddys rounynge. 1526 [see A. v.]. 1579 Spenser Sheph. Cal. Sept. 32 In tho countryes, whereas I haue been.

4. Plural of definite article The.

c 825 Vesp. Psalter v. 6 Ne ðorhwuniaðʒ ða unrehtwisan biforan ðinum eȝum. c 890 O. E. Chron. an. 2, And þa cild on Bethlem of slæȝene wæron for Cristes ehtnesse from Herode. c 893 K. Ælfred Oros. i. i. § 15 þa Finnas, him þuhte, and þa Beormas spræcon neah an þæpode. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. v. 5 Eadige sindon þa lilmedʒ, (Rushw. þa milde), forþan þe hi eorðan ȝæfun. a 1123 O. E. Chron. an. 1116, Ealle þa husas. Ibid. an. 1117, Þurh þa renas. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 11 Þa halie dages. c 1200 Moral Ode (Egerton MS.) 190 He scal deme þo quike and to deȝe. a 1300 Cursor M. 861 (Cott., Gött.) He wend to hide him amang þa [F., Tr. þe] tres.

III. 5. Relative pron., plural of That rel. pron.

c 825 Vesp. Psalter viii. 4 Steorran ða ðu gesteaðulades. c 1000 Ags. Ps. (Th.) cxliii. 9 Freimdra bearna, and freecsma, þara [L. quorum] muðas sprecaðʒ mon-ðeot-weord. c 1175 [see 3 b]. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 21 Us .. and alle þo nede habbeð. c 1205 Lay. 7121 For uncuðe leoden þeo þis londe habbeð bi-wunnen. Ibid. 6415 Alle þa [c 1275 þe] he funde. Ibid. 7989 He sette reuwen stronge & hæuen þo ȝrugen þa lond-gauel. 1422 tr. Secreta Secret., Priv. Priv. 160 His Sonnes tha wickyd men were. a 1425 Cursor M. 5237 (Trin.) Manassen and effraym þo [earlier MSS. þat] in egipte his wif him bare whiche [G.rr. þat, þe quilk] þe kyng had geten him þare.

Tho, adv. (conj.) Obs. exc. dial. Forms: 1–4 þá, (1 ðá, tha), 2–5 þo, (5 poo), 3 þeo, þeoa, (ta, to), 4 þaa, þae, 4–5 thoo, 4–7 (dial –9) tho, (5–6 thoe). [OE. ðá, þá = ON. þá (Norw. daa, Sw. då, Da. da) then, when; orig. a case-form of the demonstr. stem þa- of The, That; either the actual acc. sing. fem., OE. and ON. þá, or (as some think) a stressed form of the orig. acc. masc.; meaning 'that time', the sb. being omitted: cf. L. tum, tunc, from tom. (But cf. the sense-equivalent OS. thô, thuo, OHG. dô, duo.) In ME. þá remained in the north, but c 1200 regularly became þō, thō in midland and south. Tho, thoa still remains = then, at that time, in the south-west.]

1. As demonstrative adv.: Then. a. At that time; = Then adv. 1. Now dial. (In quot. c 1385 preceded by a prep.: = Then adv. 7.)

c 893 K. Ælfred Oros. i. i. § 14 Þa for he norþryhte be þæm lande. c 897 — Gregory's Past. C. 2 Hu ȝesæliglica tiða þa wæron ȝeond Angelcynn. c 1000 Ælfric Hom. II. 378 Hit mæȝ eow nu freniian swa hwæðer swa hit ða mihte. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 51 Nimeð forbisne efter þe olde men þe þo weren. a 1225 Juliana 9 As me luuede þa. a 1300 Cursor M. 6383 (Cott.) þis mete þat þai war fed of þoa [tr. rr. þo, þan] þai cald it manna. c 1330 R. Brunne Chron. Wace (Rolls) 7935 Þe kyng þankede God þo. Ibid. 16261 Þider cam nought þo Osewy. c 1385 Chaucer L. G. W. 1060 (Dido) The queene..had herde ofte of Enees er thoo. 1390 Gower Conf. I. 6 Tho was the lif of man in helne. 1420 Wyntoun, Tho was princesse, c 1440 Chron. Vilod. 46 Fiue maner of pepull here dwellyd þo. 1513 Douglas Æneis v. vi. 68 As was the maner tho. 1549–62 Sternhold & Hopkins Ps. lxxviii. 6 They and their posteritie, Which were not sprong up tha. 1600 Shesh. Slander in Eng. Helicon (1887) 222 In peascod time..I went to gather strawberries tho. 1888 Elworthy W. Som. Words, Tho, adv. of time, then. Still the usual form here.. 'Her told'n he should have his money, but he hadn a-got it tho.'

† b. (Next) after that, upon that, thereupon: = Then adv. 3. Obs.

c 700 Cædmon Hymn 7 He aerist scop..heben til hrofe.. Tha middunȝeard [etc.]. c 893 K. Ælfred Oros. i. ii. § 1 þa ætˢ nyhstan he wæs feohtende wiðˢ Sciððie. a 1000 Juliana 594 Þa wæron wearð hreoh & þygeȝrim. 1131 O. E. Chron. (Laud MS.), an. 1131 Siððen þa nam he þes kynges wife swuster of France to wife. a 1175 Cott. Hom. 225 Þo ȝarn þo wonder swiðe ȝegremed þurh manna mandede. c 1200 Ormin 223, & ta þeȝȝ wisstenn sone anan Forr whatt he dwelledd þæffde. a 1225 Leg. Kath. 1665 Mete mete word, oðer lut, & þeo beon stille. c 1275 Lay. 3616 Þo [c 1205 þon] nam Leir þe king his leofeste cnihtes. c 1386 Chaucer Somptn. T. Prol. 18 Vn-to this Angel spake the frere tho. 1470–80 Malory Arthur xxvi. 689 Whan Galahad had rescowed Percyual..he yede tho in to a waste foreste. 1579 Spenser Sheph. Cal. Jan. 11 For to a hill his paynting flocke he ledde. 1642 H. More Song Soul i. n. xxxv, Tho I gan closely on his person look.

† 2. As relative or conjunctive adv.: When, at the time that. (Often correlative to þa in sense 1.)

Beowulf (Z.) 462 Ða hine gara cyn,..habban ne mihte. c 893 K. Ælfred Oros. i. i. § 20 Ða he þiderweard sexlode..þa wæs him on þæt bæcbord Denamearc. 971 Blickl. Hom. 19 Hwæt he ðyde þa hine seo menego þræde. 1154 O. E. Chron., þa þe king was ride þa was he eorl beiȝnde sun. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 11 Þa ten laȝe þe þa israelisce folc sceolde halden þa heom ledde of egipte londe. a 1225 Ancr. R. 314 He was luteł child þeoa he hit dude. a 1250 Owl & Night. 1692 Ah hit was ȝeuel weder uuorpen, þo we come hiderward. c 1250 Death 20 in O. E. Misc. 168 We weren poure þa we hider come. 13.. K. Alis. 1648 (Bodl. MS.) Afterward þoo it was nigh, Hij founden [etc.]. 1377 Langl. P. Pl. B. Prol. 176 Ac þe rule was yborn..þerto ne was ratoun..þat dorst haue ybounden þe belle aboute þe cattis nekke. c 1425 Seven Sag. (P.) 283 Uppon morwen, tho it was day, The childe awakid.

† b. Also followed by ȝhe conj. (þa þe), in same sense: = When that, when. See The particle 2 a.

c 1000 Ags. Psalter (Surtees) xlviii. 21 Ðis ðe he in ȝere wes. a 1175 Cott. Hom. 219 Þaðe hi wolde mid modinesse beon betere þonne he ȝesceapen were. Ibid. 223 Þaðae he slep þa ȝename he ribb of his sidan. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 79 Þa þo he beuede ȝesceapenne þa he hefde þurst and hunger.

Tho, po, obs. inflexions of The.

Tho, tho', abbrev. forms of Though.

Thoan (pōwān), a. Zool. † Obs. [f. Tho-us + -an.] Of or pertaining to canine beasts of or akin to the subgenus Thous; in a restricted application including certain African jackals, but often extended as in Thooid.

1839 C. H. Smith Dogs I. iv. 193 The Thoan group represents in form the wolf on a reduced scale. 1842 Penny Cycl. XXIV. 240/2 A race of..dogs..in Arabia..of Thoan form.

Thooid, Thoo-, obs. Sc. forms of Thought.

Thoolt, Sc. f. Thought 1, and pple. of Think v.[1] and [2]; so Thoohtful, Thoohty.

† Thode. Obs. rare. Forms: 1 þoden, 3 þode, þodde, 7 thode, (9 thod). [OE. þoden str. masc., † f. stem þud- of OE. þyddan (= þudjan), pa. t. þudde, to strike, thrust, push, Thud.] A violent wind, a whirlwind. With quot. 1684 cf. Thud sb. 1.

c 725 Corpus Gloss. (O. E. T.) 136 Alcanus [† Altanus], þoden. c 897 K. Ælfred Gregory's Past. C. xviii, 128 Sio ȝeornfulnes..ablent ðæs modes eaȝan..swæ swæ dust deð ðæs lichoman eaȝan on sumum stedene [tr. r. ðodne]. a 1000 Ags. Voc. in Wr.-Wülcker 303/5 Cerulcis turbinibus, ȝaȝefloudum þodnum. c 1000 Ælfric Gram. ix. (Z.) 37 Turbo, ȝoden. c 1012 O. E. Chron. an. 793 (MS. D.) Her wæron reðe forebecna cumene oðer Norðhanbryhtes þæt þæst] wæron ormete þodenas & ligrescas. c 1205 Lay. 27545 He þraste to þan fihte swa þode [c 1275 þodde] doþ on felde. 1684 Bunyan Seasonable Counsel 206 Those thodes, gusts, blasts, or battering storms the beast against thy wall. [1857

SMYTH Sailor's Word-bk., Thoda, an old northern term for sudden gusts of wind.]

Thoe, var. The pron., adj., and adv. Obs.

Thoes, pl. of THOS, a canine beast; obs. f. THOSE.

Thof(e, thoff(e, obs. or dial. ff. THOUGH.

Thof, thoft, obs. dial. ff. THOUGHT [1]; see also THINK v.[2]

Thoft (pɔft). Now north. dial. Forms: 1 pofte, 4 thoffte, 4- thoft, 9 Sc. thaft (Shetl., J. of Man taft, taff). [OE. pofte (wk. fem.), = ON. þopta (Norw., Da. tofte), OHG. dofta; MLG., LG. ducht, whence Ger. ducht (duft), MDu. dofte, dochte, Du. dof: —OTeut. Jufto*:—Indo-Eur. tupto*, f. root tup* to squat, sit low. Also Gaelic tobhta from Lowland Sc. or Norse. See also THOUGHT [2].

þofta in quot. c 1000 is either a scribal error for þoftan, or pl. of a str. fem. þofi.

It is remarkable that this word, which must have lived on in the north, should appear only once between 1336 and the 19th c.]

A rower's bench; = THWART sb.[2]

c 1000 ÆLFRIC Voc. in Wr.-Wülcker 166/17 Transtra, scipsetl. Transtra, uel fuga, þofta. c 1050 Supplf. Ælfric's Voc. ibid. 289/5 Transtra, þoftan. 1307-8 Acc. Exch. K. R. Bd. 14 No. 14 (P. R. O). in C. bordis estricis empti..ad faciendum inde Thoftes, Hurdys, et cotes pro dicta Bargia ..xv. s..: In .vj. bordis emptis..ad ponendum sub Thoftis.. iij. s. 1336 Acc. Exch. K. R. Bundle 19. No. 31. m. 6 Et in xiiij li[ibris] emptis pro Thoftes inde faciendis precium cuiuslibet.vj.d. 1513 DOUGLAS Æneis v. iii. 63 (Camb. MS.) The remanent of ye rowaris.. Apon yair scyttis and thoftis all atanys Yair placis hynt. [Cf. Virg. v. 136 considunt transtris.] 1808-18 JAMIESON, Thaft, the benches of a boat, on which the rowers sit. 1827 Blackw. Mag. XXI. 859 This waterman on one 'thoft' presenting the breadth of his oar before the wind and with the stream. 1834 H. MILLER Scenes & Leg. xvii. (1857) 251 One of the poor fellows tumbled over the thaft. 1876 Whitby Gloss., Thofts, the thwarts, or plank-seats across a boat. 1885 RUNCIMAN Skippers & Sh. 21 Leapt lightly on the thoft. 1887 T. E. BROWN Doctor 18 (I. of Man) Sorrin them out On the taft. 1891 BURGESS Rasmie's Buddie 51 (Shetl.) Strik rouwin faider frae his taft. 1904 Eng. Dial. Dict. s.v. (Shetl.), In a boat the thoft where the mast stands is called the sailing thoft.

Comb. 1847-78 HALLIWELL, Thoft-fellow, a fellow oarsman. [Cf. 1874 VIGFUSSON Icel. Dict., þófti, a bench-fellow.]

Thoʒen, þoʒen, pa. pple. of THEE v.[1] Obs.

Thogh, þoʒ, þogh, thoght, obs. ff. THOUGH.

Thoght, þoʒt, etc., obs. ff. THOUGHT [1]; see also THINK v.[2] and [2].

Thoil(), obs. Sc. f. THOLE v.; erron. f. TOLL sb.

Thoke (þōuk), a. and sb. Now dial. [Late ME., ; origin unascertained.]

†A. adj. Not firm or solid; unsound. rare—o.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 491/2 Thoke, as onsadde fysche, humosus.

B. sb. †1. An unsound fish: see quots. Obs.

1482 Rolls of Parlt. VI. 222/1 That tale fish shuld not be pakked with the lesse fish called Grilles, nor there shuld be pakked therwith neither Thokes nor broken belied fish. [Cf. 1482-3 Act 22 Edw. IV, c. 2 § 3 Saunz mixture & paklcar dez chosez et [v. r. thokes ou] pessons rompez le ventre.] 1494-5 Act 11 Hen. VII, c. 23 Without medling and packing of Thokys or broken belied fisshe with the seld tale fisshe or small fisshe. 1738 Descr. Thames 259 Of barrelled Fish. Grills, Thokes, &c.

2. dial., School slang. (See quots.)

[a 1485 Promp. Parv. (Winch. MS., ed. 1908) 97 Cowerde, herteles, long choke [suggested reading 582 thoke], vecors.] 1891 WEEKS Winchester Word-bk., Thoke, .. a rest, a lying in bed, an idling.

Hence Thoke v. 'to lie late in bed, to be idle; thoke on, to look forward to'; Tho'kester, an idler' (Winchester Word-bk.); Tho'kish, Thoky adjs. dial.: see quots.

a 1682 SIR T. BROWNE Tracts viii. (1684) 146 Words..of common use in Norfolk..as, Thokish. 1691 RAY S. & E. C. Wds. Pref. ad fin., Corkish, morose, and thokish, slothful, sluggish, I have no account to give of. 1847-78 HALLIWELL, Thokish, slothful; sluggish. East. In Lincolnshire it is usually thoky.

†Tho'lance. Sc. Obs. [f. THOLE v. + -ANCE; cf. sufferance.] Sufferance, toleration; cf. THOLING vbl. sb. 2.

1456 SIR G. HAYE Law Armis (S. T. S.) 171 Throu the permissioun and tholiance of God. 1470 Regr. Aberbrothoc (Bann. Cl.) 162 Suppos the said abbot and conuent dois ws fauor in the sasyng of the said anwellis.., of thar gracious tholiance and pestance. 1499 Acts Jas. Conc. (1839) 39/1 Gife..his predecessouris occupit þe said acris..,and quhepir as maiaris, or tholance or proprite to þe chapellanery. 1535.. Breching Reg. ii. 92 (Jam.) Hed ony richt to the said tak bot allanerly off tholance.

Thole (þōul), sb.[1] Forms: 1 tholl, ȝoll, þol; 5-6 tholle, 6-8 thowle, 7-8 thowle, 8 thoul, 9 thowel(l, thowl, thawel, 7- thole. [OE. þol(l, corresp. to ON. þollr, Norw. toll, tulle, Sw. (dr) tull, Da. (aar) tol; MLG. dolle, dulle, dole, doule, LG. (Brem. Wbch.) dolle, dulle, EFris. dolle, dol, MDu. dolle, Du. dol(l. Ulterior etymology uncertain. In ON. þollr was also a 'fir-tree', poet. 'tree' generally: the connexion of sense is not clear. The history of the Eng. word also shows a hiatus during nearly the whole ME. period.

The late altered forms thowle, thowle, and 19th c. thowel, may be influenced by doule, dowle, DOWEL.]

1. A vertical pin or peg in the side of a boat against which in rowing the oar presses as the fulcrum of its action; esp. one of a pair between which the oar works; hence, a rowlock.

c 725 Corpus Gloss. (O. E. T.) 1820 Scalmus, thol. c 1000 Voc. in Wr.-Wülcker 289/9 Scalmus, ȝoll. 1611 COTGR., Scalme, a Thowle; the little peg whereby the oare of a Skiffe is staied. 1624 CAPT. SMITH Virginia 62 In stead of thowles wee made sticks like Bed-staues. 1697 DAMPIER Voy. round World (1699) 35 Straps.. through which they put their Oars in rowing, instead of tholes or pegs. 1769 FALCONER Dict. Marine (1789), Autarelles, the thoules or rowlock-pins of a galley. 1827 ROBERTS Voy. Centr. Amer. 178 These oars are secured to the thowel by straps of raw hide. 1847 LONGF. Evange. ii. 1 The sound of their oars on the tholes had died in the distance. 1887 P. COLQUHOUN Comp. Oarsman's Guide 29 The rowlock is composed of 3 parts; the thawel, against which you row [etc.]. 1892 WHITTIER Cry Lost Soul iv, The guide.. drops his oar against the gunwale's thole.

2. A pin or peg in general: spec. a. A pin by means of which the shafts are fastened to the carriage or axle of a cart, etc. b. The handle or 'nib' of a scythe-snathe.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 492/1 Tholle, carte pynne (or tolpyn, tiffra), cavilla. 1530 PALSGR. 280/b Thole a cartpynne, cheville de charette. 1707 GLOSAN Yannica I. p. iii. The use of..drums made of a piece of a hollow tree, covered on one end with any green skin, and stretch'd with Thouls or Pins. 1828 WEBSTER, Thole, 2. the pin or handle of a sythe-snath. 1880 A. S. CHARNOCK Essex Glass., Thole, the two pieces or handles of a scythe. 1901 H. BELLOC Mr. Clutterbuck's Election iv, The woodwork..was designed in the Cheshire fashion, with drawpins, tholes, and springheads tinctured to a sober brown.

†Thole, sb.[2] Obs. rare—[1]. [f. THOLE v.] Patience, forbearance, endurance.

c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 3496 Ic am god, gelus and strong, Min wreche is hard, min þole is long.

†Thole, sb.[3] Obs. rare. [Anglicized f. L. thol-us: see THOLUS.] See quot. 1656, and cf. THOLUS.

1633 [J. FISHER] True Trojans iii. ii. E ij, Let Altars smoake, and Tholes expect our spoiles. 1656 BLOUNT Glossogr., Thole (Greek), .. that place in Temples, where donaries and such gifts as were presented there, are hung up.

Thole (þōul), v. Now north. dial. or arch. Forms: 1 þolian, 2-3 -ien, (2 þale(n), 2-4 þolye, -ie, -en, 3 (Orm.) þolenn, 3-4 -yen, 4 poole, tholen, -y, 4-5 pole, tholie, 4- thole. (Also 4, 6 Sc. thol, 4 (5-6 Sc.) thoile, 4-6 Sc. thoill, 5 poliʒe, pol(l, thoole, thowle, tholl, 6 (7-8 Sc.) thoell, 8 n. dial. thoyl, 6- Sc. and n. dial. thoil.) [OE. þolian = OS. tholôn, tholian, OHG. dolôn, dolên (MHG. dolen, doln; cf. Ger. geduld-d), ON. þola (Da. taale, Sw. tåla), Goth. þulan, f. OTeut. stem þul-* :—weak grade of root tel* : tol* : tl* to bear, suffer: cf. L. tuli, tol-erare, toll-ere, Gr. τλᾶναι.]

1. trans. To be subjected or exposed to (something evil); to be afflicted with; to have to bear, suffer, endure, undergo.

Beowulf 832 Hie..þor þreanydum þolian scoldon torn un-lytel. c 897 K. ÆLFRED Gregory's Past. C. xxviii. 197 Dauid..lange ær his [Saulis] ehtnesse earfoðlice þolode. a 1000 Cædmon's Gen. 2240 (Gr.) Þeowdom þolian. 1154 O. E. Chron. (Laud MS.) an. 1137, Suile & mare þanne we cunnen seiin we þoleden xlix wintre for ure sinnes. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 75 Hais haile fif wunden þa he þolede for us ine þe halie rode. c 1200 ORMIN Ded. 201 He ȝaff hiss aþenn lif..To þolenn dæþ þo rodetre. c 1290 Beket 2316 in S. Eng. Leg. I. 173 Þis holi man..þolede martyrdom. c 1320 Cast. Love 40 He schuld enere þiuen deþ. 13.. Cursor M. 5636 (Cott.) Ded he aght to thole. 1375 BARBOUR Bruce iv. 659 Feill anoyis thoill she sall. c 1386 CHAUCER Friar's T. 248 So muche wo as I haue with yow tholed. c 1450 Mirour Saluacioun 112 All ȝ' oure lord I hid suffred in his passioune Oure ladie tholed in sawle. 1530 LYNDESAY Test. Papyngo 175 Off bitter deth now mon I thole the schouris. 1599 PORTER Angry Wom. Abingd. in Hazl. Dodsley VII. 370 What a winter of cold fear I thole. 1779 RAMSAY Elegy on Lucky Wood i, What loss, what crosses dost thou thole! 1884 FREEMAN in Stephens Life (1895) II. x. 322 They that believed nothing were to thole all revealed punishments. [Affected archaism.] absol. 1357 Law Folks Catech. 132 [Christ] tholed [v. r. suffryd] bodily for synful man kynd. c 1394 P. Pl. Crede 90 Þe cros þat crist upon þolede. c 1430 LYDG. Min. Poems (Percy Soc.) 227 How ever thou thole ore thryfe, Alwey thonk God of alle. 1728 RAMSAY Christ's Kirk Gr. iii. xvii, Ye's thole for this, ye scaul. 1880 A. FORBES in 19th Cent. Jan. 190 To be told how our countrymen..toil and thole.

b. To thole an assize, arraignment, the laws, etc., to undergo trial. Sc.

1425 Sc. Acts Jas. I (1814) II. 9/a Þe king..forbiddis þat onyman..be summit his assise þat shall thole þe law. 1508 DUNBAR Flyting 78 For quhilk, brybour, sit sall thow thoill a breif. a 1598 LINDESAY (Pitscottie) Chron. Scot. III. iv. (S. T. S.) I. 223 The lordis..quhilk was..thair to thoill ane syse conforme to thair dittis. 1609 SKENE Reg. Maj. I. 93 b. It is statute, that na man sould thoill judgement, or be judged, be ane man of inferiour estate then his awin peir. 1678 SIR G. MACKENZIE Crim. Laws Scot. x. xx. § 4 (1699) 108 The Receptor with us cannot be punished, or thole an Assize, till the principal Thief be first convict. 1886 St. James' Gaz. 16 Dec. 3 Mr.. would probably by this time have tholed an assize before the High Court of Justiciary.

2. To endure without resistance or complaint; to submit with patience to; to bear with, 'abide'; to put up with, tolerate. Also with inf. or subord. cl.

c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Mark ix. 19 Þa hulie mis iuh ic beom, þa huile iuih ic þolu. a 1000 Cædmon's Gen. 597 (Gr.) Þæt is micel wundor þæt hit eoc þor wære wolde, þeoden, þolian.

1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 9479 So luber & prout heo was, þat me ne mizte it þolie noȝt. c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. Wace (Rolls) 15976 Al ber trauaille & al ber ylle Þat þe ȝnd þoled wiþ gode wille. 1393 Rec. Elgin (New Spald. Cl.) I. 7 Þis as before wyt al men we wil nocht thole. c 1430 Syr Gener. (Roxb.) 8490 He might the bette thowle Thurgh gile to les a little ring, Whan [c. 1550 ABP. HAMILTON Catech. (1884) 81 Thai that tholis nocht thair father and mother, suppose thai do thame iniuris and be cummersum. 1584 HUDSON tr. Du Bartas' Judith iii. 179 For thee, we frankly shall pursue and thole Th'eternall heat and colde of either Pole. 1786 BURNS Twa Dogs 96 Poor tenant bodies, scant o' cash, How they maun thole a factor's sna-h. c 1800 Newcastle Prov. in Brockett N. C. Gloss. (1846) 11. 78 He thae has a good crop may thole some thistles. 1824, in Contemp. Rev. (1905) July 64 'I com' away,' said he, 'lest I shoulden thoil to see good food wasted.' 1889 BARRIE Window in Thrums 38, I canna thole 'im.

absol. 1154 O. E. Chron. an. 1140 § 6 (Laud MS.) þa hi ne leng ne muhten þolen, þa stali hi ut & flugen. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 79 Þe man..þe þoled & forbered and ne wile seche after wreche. a 1340 HAMPOLE Psalter ix. 41 Þaire bert redy to serue þe and to thole. c 1470 HENRY Wallace viii. 663 Þeit Wallace tholyt, and leit thairto stay thar will. 1560 ROLLAND Seven Sages 77 Better it is to thoill heir patientlie, Nor euer mair in hell condampnit be. 1880 A. FORBES in 19th Cent. Feb. 234 The British soldier can thole as well as can the Russian soldier.

†b. To endure or bear without giving way; to withstand; to stand. Obs.

c 1200 ORMIN 9399 Þa mæȝȝ it [the eye] sibbenn þolenn wel þe sunness brihhte leome. 13.. Cursor M. 7312 (Göttl.) It es wel worbi þat quo Mayi thole na wele, to thole þe wa. c 1400 Destr. Troy 9674 No bueme ȝeppon bent his buffettes might thowle. 14.. Songs Costume (Percy Soc.) 60 Her mantill of humilitie, To tholl bayth wind and weit.

c. To bear, stand, admit of, be capable of; to have room for; esp. in phrase to thole amends, to admit of improvement. dial.

1770 JAS. WATT Let. to Small 3 Jan., Health and spirits beyond what I commonly enjoy..; though they would still thole amends. a 1774 FERGUSSON Cauler Oysters Poems (1845) 7 Fling owre your craig sufficient doses; You'll thole a hunder. 1808 SCOTT Let. to G. Ellis 23 Feb., in Lockhart, Life, 'Much thole amends', i. e. admit of improvement. 1871 in N. & Q. 4th Ser. VIII. 356/2 It'll thole a drap mair watter.

†3. To allow, suffer, permit. (With obj. clause, obj. and inf., or equivalent pron.) Obs.

c 1070 Charter of Leofgifu in Kemble Cod. Dipl. IV. 269 Ic bidde mine leuedien for Godes luuen ȝæt hu þæ þolie ȝæt ani mine gifu ȝeuende. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 71 Þole us to bi-wepen ure sunne. c 1200 ORMIN 12089 ȝiff Crist itt nolde þolenn himm Naffde he þærto nan mahhte. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 1583 þe toun folc.. nolde namore þolie þan srewe among hem a wede. 13.. Gaw. & Gr. Knt. 1859 Þenne he þulged with hir þrepe, & þoled hir to speke. c 1400 Apok. Loll. 59 Þei be bold to minister presthy oiler sacraments. 1466 Dunfermline Regr. (Bann. Cl.) 356, I said nocht thole, graunt nocht ȝyff thaire.. to na man..to draw na drauchtis of wateris throu my landis. 1513 DOUGLAS Æneis ix. vii. 89 Thoil me to trubble this grot rout of men. 1552 ABP. HAMILTON Catech. (1884) 35 God will nocht thoile yone want your dailie sustentation. 1575 CHURCHYARD Chippes (1817) 193 God would not thoell, for one mans sake alone: That broyles should cause a million make their mone. 1721 RAMSAY Prospect of Plenty 83 They'll never thole this great design to tak.

4. intr. To be patient, have patience, wait patiently. dial.

1674 RAY N. C. Words 48 Thole a while, i. e. stay a while. 1766 A. NICOL Poems 58 (E. D. D.), I do bid them thole a while Till ance the spring come in again. 1896 [J. LUMSDEN] Poems (1898) Great is our drouth—but thole a wee.

5. trans. To bear to give; to afford or grant willingly. dial.

1703 THORESBY Let. to Ray Gloss. (E. D. S.), Thoyl, to afford. 1828 Craven Gloss. s.v., I could thole him t'meat out o' my mouth. 1863 MRS. TOOGOOD Yorksh. Dial. (MS.), He is so covetous he cannot thoil his servants enough food.

Thole, obs. erron. f. TOLL, in thole and theam, 'toll and team'.

†Tho'leburde, a. Obs. rare. Forms: 1 polebyrde, (poli-, polo-), 3 poleburde. [Late OE. polebyrde, f. stem of THOLE vb. + byrd bearing.] Bearing patiently; forbearing, submissive. Hence †Tho'leburdness Obs. rare, patience, submission.

a 1050 Liber Scintill. i. 3 To polibyrdnysse þrowunga strange, ad toleranitam passionum fortes. Ibid. ii. 13 Polobyrde mann, patiens homo. Ibid., Wer soðlice polebyrde, vir enim patiens. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 79 [To] ben swo poleburde to-genes his wissinge to forleten þat he forbet, and don þat he bit. Ibid. Tanta est virtus patientie..,swo holie mihte is þoleburdnesse. a 1250 Orison 31 in O. E. Misc. 140 Ibenuc ich be greie, For þe muchel poleburne [?-burnesse]..þat þu schawedest mon-kunne, þo þu poledest deþ.

†Tho'lemode, a. and sb. Obs. Forms: 1-4 polemod, polmod, (1 polo-), 2-4 polemode, 4 tholemod, tholmod, -moud, -mud, (-mound), 4-5 tholemode, tholmode; Sc. 5 tholemude, 6 thoilmude, -muide, (8 tholemoody). [OE. polemód, f. pole- (see prec.) + mód, MOOD sb.[1] Cf. ON. þolin-módr, Da. taal-modig.]

A. adj. Patient, submissive, meek.

c 1000 Ags. Hom. (Assmann) 127 (Gr.) Heo wæs þolemod and ȝesiðsælig on hire ȝeluæran. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Saints' Lives xvii. 56 And beo ȝesibsum, þeȝliðig and þolmod. a 1050 Liber Scintill. ii. 8 Þolomod, patiens. a 1100 O. E. Glosses (Napier) i. 7319 Longanimem, þolemod. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 105 Þet he mon beo þuldi and polemod. a 1200 Cursor M. 10187 (Cott.) Was neuer..nan tholmoder in chastite. *c*1450 Mirour Saluacioun 4607 In alle aduersites yt I so tholemode ay be. 1513 Douglas Æneis v. vii. 48 In vane that name thow beris, Gif thow, sa tholimude, sufferis leid away Sa greit a price. 1710 Ruddiman Gloss. to Douglas' Æneis, Tholimude, Scot. Bor. say tholemoody, i. e. patient.

B. sb. = Tholemodeness. rare.

c 1000 Ælfric Saints' Lives xvi. 334 (MS. D.) Se feorðe mihte is þatienta, þæt is þolmod þeowden. c 1175 Lambeaster 266 in Lamb. Hom. 69 Edmodnesse and þolemod þet þuncheð godæ swiðe god.

†Tho'lemodely, adv. Obs. [f. prec. + -ly 2.] Patiently, submissively, meekly.

a 1225 Ancr. R. 46 Nime hire sicnesse nout one þolemodliche, auch do swuð gledliche. a 1340 Hampole Prattenter xxiv. 2 All þat tholmodly þeris he birþin of tribulacioun. c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints iii. (Andreas) 402 Gyf þu wil her me tholmodly. c 1450 Mirour Saluacioun 3195 The swerde of sharpest tonges herd of crist tholemodely.

†Tho'lemodeness. Obs. [f. as prec. + -ness.] Patience, submissiveness, meekness.

c 1000 Ælfric Saints' Lives xvi. 334 (MS. J.) Patientia þæt is þeðylð and þolmodnys þeceweden. a 1225 Ancr. R. 276 Wreðednesse [is] þolemodnesse. 1303 R. Brunne Handl. Synne 5831 Moche he loueide þolmodnesse. c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints xxxvii. (Baptiste) 433 Of tholimodnes als sit wes he þat he with-stud in na degre Agane þame þat..til hyme mysdod. 1456 Sir G. Have Law Armys (S.T.S.) 285 The prince suld be..of gude tholemudenes, to suetely here the caus.

Tho'le-pin. Forms: see Thole sb.[1]; also tolpyn. [f. Thole sb.[1] + Pin sb.]

1. A peg used as a fastening; = Thole sb.[1] 2.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 496/1 Tolpyn, idem quod thole, supra. 1881 Isle of Wight Gloss., Thole-pin, the pin that goes into the shafts of the roller by which the horse draws. 1884 19th Cent. Feb. 292/1 A coffin..having a thong-hinged cover..fastened by a thole pin. 1891 Inglis Alix Folk vii, The thole-pin which kept the loft folding-door in position.

2. = Thole sb.[1] 1.

1598 Florio, Schelma..a peg in a boate wherest the rowers stay their oares when they row; called a thoule pin. 1795 Dudley in Phil. Trans. XXXVI. 264 An Oar..not so much as lifted up out of the Thole-Pin. 1859 W. H. Gregory Egypt I. 293 It scorched our hands to touch at midday the iron plates in which the thowl-pins were fastened.

Tholing (þō*u*·lin), vbl. sb. [f. Thole v. + -ing 1.]

1. The action of Thole v.; suffering, enduring.

c 1300 Cursor M. 15684 (Cott.) Thorui mi bedi most it pass þe tholing o þis pine. c 1400 Apol. Loll. 5 Petir..fillid be office of Crist, in liuing, and in teching, and in poling. 1562 Turner Baths 10b, According to the complexion of the sicke, and after the suffrance or tholing of the stomach. 1882 Freeman in Stephens Life & Lett. II. x. 322 But then that entitles me to the unrevealed tholings [affected archaism].

†2. Sufferance, permission, allowance, leave. Obs.

c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints xxx. (Theodora) 6 Þo þan-to he haf myght Thru godis tholyne & grct glyme. c 1450 Dunfermline Reg. (Bann. Cl.) 344 Rechaut be goddis tholyng Abbote of Donfermlyn. 1466 Ibid. 356, I giff and grauntis..full leifne and tholing and gude will to be saidis Abbot..to mak land stell and Dame forganis my said landis.

Tho'ling, ppl. a. [f. Thole v. + -ing 2.] That tholes; enduring; patient.

1340 Ayenb. 167 þe holy gost..him makeþ strang and þolyinde uor to polye huanne hi comeþ. c 1425 tr. Arderne's Treat. Fistula 58 Men now of daiez bene vnpacient and yuel tholyng.

Tholl, obs. erron. f. Toll sb.

Tholnie, tholoney, var. Tolne Sc. Obs., toll.

Tholobate (þɒ'lŏbēt). Arch. [f. Gr. θόλο-ος Tholos + -βατης one who goes, f. βαίνειν to go.] (See quots.)

1831 Hosking in Encycl. Brit. (ed. 7) I. 471/1 Tholobate, ..that on which a dome or cupola rests...A term not in general use..What is generally termed the attic above the peristyle under St. Paul's, would be correctly designated the tholobate. A tholobate of a different description..is the circular substructure to the cupola of the London University. 1838 Britton Dict. Archit. 457. 1845 Parker Gloss. Archit. (ed. 4), Tholobate, the substructure on which a dome or cupola rests.

Tholsel, -l, var. Tolsel, Tolzey. Obs.

‖ Tholos (þɒ'lŏs). Arch. Pl. tholi (-ōi). Also in Gr. form tholos (þɒ'lǫs), pl. tholoi (-oi). [L. tholus, a Gr. θόλος a round building with a conical or vaulted roof.] A circular domed building or structure; a dome, cupola; a lantern.

1644 Evelyn Diary 7 Nov., A pretty odd fabrig, with a Tribunal, or Tholus without. a 1668 Lassels Voy. Italy (1698) I. 188 On the top of it [the Dome of Florence] stands mounted a fair Cupola (or Tholus). 1730-6 Bailey (folio), Tholus, the Roof of a Temple or Church, the Centre, Scutcheon, or Knot in the middle of an arched Roof, the Lanthorn or Cupola of a publick Hall. 1832 Gell Pompeiana I. iv. 47 A circular or polygonal tholos. 1841 Civil Eng. & Arch. Jrnl. IV. 117/2 The tholus, or concave dome.

b. Gr. Antiq. An excavated circular tomb of the Mycenæan age, domed and lined with masonry.

1885 Athenæum 12 Dec. 773/2 Mr. Pullan..was astonished to find that the lower cell of the so-called prison of St. Peter at Rome was part of a tholus. 1896 Tholoi [see Dromos]. 1910 Edin. Rev. Apr. 479 Among the forms sepulchre are the great bee-hive tholos [etc.].

attrib. 1902 R. C. Bosanquet in Ann. Brit. Sch. at Athens VIII. 305 Tholos-burial was introduced in eastern Crete towards the close of the Minoan Age.

Thomæan (tomī'ăn), a. and sb. Also Thomean. [app. f. med.L. Thómæ-us (f. the name Thōmā-s) + -an.] A. adj. Of or pertaining to the Christian church traditionally said to have been founded by St. Thomas the Apostle, which has existed from early times on the Malabar coast.

B. sb. A member of this church. Also called Thomite, Christian of St. Thomas.

1727-41 Chambers Cycl., Thomæans, Thomeans, Thomites, or Christians of St. Thomas, a people of the East-Indians, who, according to tradition, received the gospel from the apostle St. Thomas. Ibid., A great part of the Thomæan church relapsed, and thus still continues partly Roman, partly Thomæan. 1842 Brande Dict. Sci., Lit., etc., Thomæans, or Thomites.

Thomaism, variant of Thomism, q. v.

Thoman, -and, obs. variants of Toman.

Thomas (tɒ'mǎs). [a. L. Thōmās, Gr. Θωμᾶς.]

1. A Greek, Latin, and common Christian name; well known as that of the 'doubting apostle' (see John xx. 25), and hence used allusively; also used as a representative proper name for one of the populace taken at random. Familiarly abbreviated to Tom, the dim. or pet form of which is Tommy.

c 1000 Ags. Gosp. John xx. 24 Thomas an of þam twelfon þe ys þeceweden didimus..næs mid him þa se haleend com. c 1275 O. E. Misc. 90 Haly thomas of heouel[n]riche. c 1412 Hoccleve De Reg. Princ. 3080 Se, so I dredie me, by seynt Thomas. c 1620 Robinson Mary Magd. 1519 O, that I might, with waueringe Thomas, dippe The finger of my faith within his side. 1656 Blount Glossogr., Thomas (Hebr.) signifies twin, or as some will have it, bottomless deep. 1848 Mrs. Gaskell M. Barton xii, Mary, don't let my being an unbelieving Thomas weaken your faith. 1883 Harper's Mag. June 93/1 Doubting Thomases, who will only believe what they see, must wait awhile.

2. Generic name for a footman or waiter.

1846 Mrs. Gore Eng. Char. (1852) 78 The gossip of one fashionable dinner-table alone, within ear-shot of three or four first-rate Thomases, is sufficient to disperse throughout the town mischief enough to set a hundred families of consideration into a ferment. 1901 Daily Graphic 23 Feb., The 'men' are not any less 'splendid' because they are known by this diminutive term [Tommy], any more than we are heroic because we give them their full title of 'Thomas'.

3. Thomas Atkins (also Thomas): a familiar name for the typical private soldier in the British Army; arising out of the casual use of this name in the specimen forms given in the official regulations from 1815 onward: see quots.

In some of the specimen forms other names are used; but 'Thomas Atkins' being that used in all the forms for privates in the cavalry or infantry, is by far the most frequent, and thus became the most familiar. Now more popularly Tommy Atkins or Tommy q. v.

1815 (Aug. 31) War Office, Collection of Orders, Regulations, etc. 75 (Form of a Soldier's Book in the Cavalry when filled up). Description, Service, &c. of Thomas Atkins, Private, No. 6 Troop, 6th Regt. of Dragoons. Where Born... Parish of Odiham, Hants...Bounty £6. Received, Thomas Atkins, his × mark. Ibid. 76 Clothing Account of Thomas Atkins, Private, No. 6 Troop, 6th Dragoons...Clothing Account of William Jones, Trumpeter, No. 2 Troop, 9th Light Dragoons...Clothing Account of John Thomas, Serjeant, No. 8 Troop, 15th Hussars. [So Forms on pp. 78-81 all Thomas Atkins, Private'.] Ibid. 82 Form of Soldier's Book in the Infantry, when filled up. Description, Service, etc. of Thomas Atkins, Private, No. 6 Company, 1st Batt. 23d Regt. Foot. Where born [etc.]...Bounty £7 7s. Received, Thomas Atkins, his × mark. [So Forms on pp. 83-87, all signed 'Thomas Atkins, his × mark'.] 1837 (June 1) King's Regulations & Orders for the Army 204, Form No. 2, No. 55 Thomas Atkins, Serjeant, Born in the Parish of St. Mary or near the Town of Portsmouth, in the County of Hants, by Trade a Labourer. Ibid. 206-9 [Various Forms, all filled up or subscribed 'Thomas Atkins' (who no longer signs by 'his mark'!). Ibid. 210 Character: Thomas Atkins has been a well-conducted Soldier; was wounded at —— and has distinguished himself by several acts of bravery. Signed ——, Commanding Officer. 1864 Stand. Orders Reg. Reg. Artill. 89 Thomas Atkins. Enlisted..on the 9th April, 1871. Ibid., We certify that the above is a correct Statement of the Services of Thomas Atkins, to the 10th June 1887. 1890 Times 6 Dec. 12/4 Mr. Thomas Atkins..can break it [a rifle] down in half-a-dozen ways in the course of his musketry instruction. 1897 Allahabad Pioneer in Westm. Gaz. 14 Dec. 7/1 'You take my advice, Bill', remarked one Thomas to another,..'don't you never stand near no white stone or yet near no horcifer'.

4. St. Thomas', in composition. St. Thomas' balsam = balsam of Tolu. † St. Thomas' coin (also St. Thomas), ? an East Indian coin. St. Thomas' tree, Bauhinia tomentosa or B. variegata of the E. Indies, the pale yellow petals of which are spotted with crimson, fabled to be the blood of St. Thomas. St. Thomas worsted: see Saint a. 4 c.

1599 in Marsden Court Adm. (Selden) II. 110 Nowen pecias aurij vulgo dictas 'Sainnte Thomas coyne. 1698 Fryer Acc. E. India & P. 53 Their Coins are of Gold; a St. Thomas, 10s. a Fanam, 7 and ½ of which go to a Dollar, or Petacha. 1866 Treas. Bot., "St. Thomas' Tree, Bauhinia tomentosa. 1887 Moloney Forestry W. Af. 332 St. Thomas' Tree...Shrub or small tree. 1918 N. C. Wills (Surtees 1908) 95 A jaket of tawny 'Saint Thomas worsted.

Thomasing (tɒ'māsiŋ). dial. [f. Thomas + -ing 1.] The begging of alms on St. Thomas's day (21 Dec.). Also called corning, doling, or gooding.

1847-78 Halliwell, Thomasing, a custom in Derbyshire, going from house to house on St. Thomas's day with a basket and can to beg milk, wheat, oatmeal, or flour. 1866 W. Henderson Folk Lore ii. 50 The widows ask and commonly receive at the farmers' houses a small measure of wheat, and they call it 'going a Thomasing'. 1900 Daily Chron. 3 Nov. 3 (Cass. Supp.) The maying, processioning, Thomasing, carolling, and other junketings.

Thomasite (tɒ'māsēit). [f. as prec. + -ite 1.] = Christadelphian, from the name of the founder, Dr. John Thomas. 1888 in Cassell's Encycl. Dict.

Thomb(e, thome, obs. forms of Thumb.

Thomble, thomelle, obs. forms of Thimble.

Thomble toe, etc.: see Thumble-toe.

Thomism (tō*u*·miz'm). Theol. [f. Thom-as + -ism. So F. thomisme (Roquefort, 1829).] The doctrines of Thomas Aquinas or of the Thomists.

1727-41 Chambers Cycl., Thomism, or Thomaism. Ibid., The Thomism..which Alvarez embraces, admits a physical premotion, or predetermination. 1732 Bailey vol. II, Thomism, the doctrine of Thomas Aquinas,..chiefly with respect to his opinions on predestination and grace. 1883 Schaff's Encycl. Relig. Knowl. III. 2354 The Jesuits opposed Thomism,..but it prevailed at the Spanish Universities of Salamanca, Coimbra, and Alcala.

Thomist (tō*u*·mist), sb. (a.) Eccl. [ad. med.L. Thōmista (Wyclif, 1359), f. Thōmā-s: see below. Cf. F. thomiste (Pascal).] A follower of Thomas Aquinas (known as 'The Angelical Doctor'), a scholastic philosopher and theologian of the 13th c. (Cf. Scotist.)

[1359 Wyclif Wks. (1909) 127 Thomiste qui sanctum Thomam secuntur.] 1533 Tindale Supper of Lord B iij margin, Thomistes be the schole doctors. 1669 T. Gale Tree idea Jansenione 58 No doubt there are such small Graces, as the Thomists call sufficient. 1709 Pope Ess. Crit. 444 Scotists and Thomists now in peace remain Amidst their kindred cobwebs in Duck-lane. 1842 Brande Dict. Sci., etc. s. v., The Thomists continued as a sect to the commencement of the 17th century. 1882-3 Schaff's Encycl. Relig. Knowl. I. 658 The controversy between Thomists and Scotists..concerning the exemption of Mary from hereditary sin.

b. attrib. or as adj.

1845 S. Austin Ranke's Hist. Ref. I. 485 She was that same thomist aristotelic church, with which he was engaged in a mortal struggle. 1884 Mind IX. 159 The Thomist philosophy, now again authoritatively proclaimed to be the sheet-anchor of Catholic doctrine.

Thomistic (tɒmi·stik), a. [f. prec. + -ic.] Of or pertaining to the Thomists or their doctrines.

1881 Nature XXIII. 235 On the recent restoration of the scholastic and tomistic philosophy. 1882-3 Schaff's Encycl. Relig. Knowl. I. 328 [Caietan] was generally considered the real head of the Thomistic school. 1889 E. H. Dering (title) On Universals: an Exposition of Thomistic Doctrine. By Father Matteo Liberatore, S.J.

So Thomistical a. = prec.; Thomi·sticate v. (nonce-wd.) intr. to argue or discourse in the manner of the Thomists; to 'split hairs', use over-refined arguments.

1533 Tindale Supper of Lord C v b, Howe farre lo, M. More is thys your straunge "thomystical sense from the flate letter? 1642 J. Eaton Honey-c. Free Justif. 120 The Thomisticall distinctions of the Schoolemen. 1715 M. Davies Athen. Brit. I. 171 The rigorous Calvinistical and Thomistical Opinion of Predestination. 1730 Lewis Life of Fisher (1855) I. 194 In defence of the mass's being a sacrifice, the king thus "Thomisticates.

Thomite (tō*u*·mēit). rare—°. [f. Thom-as + -ite 1.] = Thomæan sb. (q.v. quot. 1727-41).

Thomsenolite (tɒ'msĕnǫlēit). Min. [Named, 1868, after Dr. Julius Thomsen of Copenhagen: see -ite.] Hydrous fluoride of aluminium, calcium, and sodium, found with pachnolite on the cryolite of Greenland.

1868 Dana Min. 129 Thomsenolite..was first noticed by Dr. Julius Thomsen of Copenhagen, the originator of the cryolite industry, after whom it is here named. 1883 Science I. 231/2 It is distinguished from thomsenolite by its absence of water.

Thomsen's disease. Path. [Named after Dr. Thomsen of Schleswig-Holstein, who first described it, from his own case.] See quot. 1890.

So Tho·msen-like a.

1890 Billings Nat. Med. Dict., Thomsen's disease, Myotonia congenita, a peculiar congenital affection characterized by inability to relax the muscles immediately after contraction. 1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VI. 471 The Thomsen-like contractions are due to the action of phosphate of soda on the muscular fibres themselves.

Thomsonian (tɒmsō*u*·niăn), a. (sb.) [f. Thomson, proper name (see definitions) + -ian.]

1. Of or pertaining to the system of medicine practised by Dr. Samuel Thomson, of Massachusetts (1769–1843). Also as sb. One who follows this system. (Often erroneously spelt Thompsonian.)

1833 C. Thomson (title) A plain historical Statement of facts respecting the Thomsonian plan of medicine, as originated by Samuel Thomson. 1857 Dunglison Med. Lex., Thompsonian, one who practises or believes in Thompsonianism. Ibid. s.v., Thompsonianism, The Thompsonians are Botanical Doctors. 1860 Bartlett Dict. Americanisms, Thompsonian Doctor, a physician who follows the Thompsonian practice; also called Steam Doctor. Thompsonian Practice, a peculiar treatment of diseases.

2. Of, pertaining to, or characteristic of the poet James Thomson, author of the Seasons.

1890 Tennyson in Mem. (1897) I. i. 11, I covered two sides of a slate with Thomsonian blank verse in praise of flowers. 1908 Westm. Gaz. 5 Feb. 4/2 One is apt..to over-estimate the difference between the Wordsworthian 'Nature' and the Thomsonian 'Nature'.

Hence Thomsonianism, the Thomsonian medical system: see sense 1.

1897 [see sense 1 above]. 1890 Billings Nat. Med. Dict., Thomsonianism. 1894 Outing (U.S.) XXIV. 332/1 Do you believe in the mind cure—Thompsonianism—metallic tractors—Christian science? 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Thomsonianism..., a form of empiric medicine introduced by Samuel Thomson (1769–1843) of Massachusetts. Sweating, lobelia, and capsicum, were the principal agencies relied on.

Thomsonite (tɒ·msənəit). Min. [Named, 1820, after Dr. Thomas Thomson (1773–1852), professor of chemistry at Glasgow: see -ITE 1.] Hydrous silicate of aluminium, calcium, and sodium, found often in fibrous radiated masses, white to reddish-brown in colour; = COMPTONITE.

1820 H. J. BROOKE in Ann. Philos. Sept. 193, I shall call the Auvergne variety, Mesotype; that from Iceland and Feröe, Needlestone; and that from Dumbarton, Thomsonite, after the editor of this journal [Dr. T. Thomson]. 1843 PORTLOCK Geol. 215 Thomsonite..is rarely met in Irish trap. 1869 PHILLIPS Vesuv. x. 294 Thomsonite, or Comptonite [occurs] in ejected blocks of gray lava.

Thon (ðɒn), dem. pron. and a., dial. [app. a comparatively recent alteration of yon, the initial consonant being assimilated to this and that. (A suggestion that it arose from misreading the written y as the compendious form of th, as in *ye*², yis, yat, yem, yairof, etc., is, in view of the wide popular diffusion of thon and thonder, inadequate.)] = YON: the demonstrative pron. and adj., pointing to something more remote in place or time than that: = L. ille, Sp. aquello.

Used in Scotland, Ulster, and the four northern English counties. Written examples not found before 1800; app. not in Ramsay nor in Burns.

1804 THOMAS Poems 56 (Jam). Leuk down the gate, what squabble's thon, That cat's the thrang's attention? 1808 JAMIESON Sc. Dict., Thone, yonder, yon. 1818 MISS FERRIER Marriage I. ii. 18 'Hoose!' repeated the driver, 'ca' ye thon a hoose? Thon's gude Glenfern Castle'. 1886 R. L. STEVENSON Lett. (1900) II. vii. 39 Strange to conduct thon man Rankellor. 1893 — Catriona 136 I'll no forget thon of the cinnamon water. 1894 HESLOP Northumbld. Gloss. 727 Whe's thon? Whe's thon chep? De ye see thon hoose over there? 1904 in Eng. Dial. Dict. from Scotland (Aberdeen to Roxb.), Ulster, Northumberland, Durham.]

So Thonder (ðɒ·ndəɹ) adv. and a. dial. (also thander, thander, thender, thinder) = YONDER.

Used in Scotland, Ulster, England from north border to Hereford, Leicester, E. Anglia.

a 1825 FORBY Vocab. E. Anglia, Thinder, adv., v. Yinder. c 1847 [Common in Roxburghsh.] Thonder adv. 18.. ROBSON Bards of Tyne (1865) 44 Then at last, aw heard her say, O! thonder is the Gardens. 1854 MISS BAKER Northumb. Glos. s.v., He lives yonder, thender. 1896 BOUND Provinc. Herefordsh. (E.D.D.), Thander one is the man. 1879 MISS JACKSON Shropsh. Word-bk. Introd. 50 Yander, thander, adj. 1887 DARLINGTON Folk-sp. S. Cheshire 70 Yonder has the forms yonder, yonnder, and dhondur. 1899 Blackw. Mag. Feb. 168, (Sc.) I didna mak verra muckle o' the fairming up-bye thonder.

Thon, þon, obs. f. THAN, THEN; obs. inflexion of THE. Thonder, -dre, etc., obs. ff. THUNDER.

†Thone, coalesced form of the one, frequent in 16th c.: see Th-, Th'.

Chiefly used in contrast with THOTHER = the other.

1542 UDALL Erasm. Apoph. 6 b Pref., He had mingled the saiynges..thone with thother. c 1566 Merie Tales of Skelton in Wks. (1843) I. p. lix, If any scoler had fallen out thone with thother, the one woulde call thother Swanborn. 1594 WEST 2nd Pt. Symbolet. § 8 Whose thone hath trespassed more than thother, he shall pay to thother, ib. 8.

Thoner, Thonewonge, obs. forms of THUNDER, THUNWANG.

Thong (þɒŋ), sb. Forms: a. 1 þwong, þuong, þwangc, þweng, þuuenge, 1–3 þwang; 4 thuang, 4–5 (Sc. and north. –9) thwang (5 thwange, twange, 6 thwangue), 5–7 Sc. thwayng (dial. 7–9 (with hw, wh-, for pw-) whaing, whang). b. 3–4 þwong, þuong(e), 4–5 thwong(e (dial. twonge). γ. 3–5 þong, 4–thong, (4–5 þonge, thongh, 6–7 thonge, 6 thongue). δ. 5 thownge, thowyng; dial. 8–9 thung, thunk, thonk. [OE. þwang, þwong str. masc. (also fem.); also, ONorthumb. pl. þuuengu, N. Anglian þwengu, agreeing with ON. þvengr (=-þvangr?); all from ablaut stem þwing-, þwang-, þwung-, to restrain: —Indo-Eur. root twenk: cf. Ger. zwingen: see TWING, TWINGE v., and cf. the dial. form WHANG.]

1. A narrow strip of hide or leather, for use as a lace, cord, band, strap, or the like.

In early use, esp. the lace or 'latchet' of a shoe.

a. c 950 Lindisf. G. John i. 27 ne ic am wyrþe þæette ic undoe his þuong scoes [Rushw. þwong gisceos, Ags. Gosp. sceoþwang]. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Mk. i. 7 His sceona þwanga [Lindisf. þuongas scde his, Rushw. þwongas gescoas his]. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Gen. xiv. 23 (Gr.) Þæt ic ne underfo furðon anne þwang of eallum þisum þingum. c 1050 Gloss. in Wr.-Wülcker 379/32 Corrigie, olþwongas. a 1100 Ibid. 332/12 Corrigia, þwangc. c 1275 LAY. 22295 Somme makede þwanges. a 1300 Cursor M. 12832 (Cott.) To lese þe thuanges of his sco. c 1425 WYNTOUN Cron. VII. xxviii. 4599 A royne langhare..And schare a thwayng at all layere. 1513 DOUGLAS Æneis IX. xi. 5 Dartis..Quhilk thai with lyamis and thwangis lang owt threw. 1570 LEVINS Manip. 23/42 A Thwangue, lorum. 1641 Ferguson's Sc. Prov. No. 647 Mony ane tines the haff-merk whinger for the halfpenny whang. 1703 THORESBY Let. to Ray Gloss. (E.D.S.), 'A thwang for a shoe', the latchet. 1894 HESLOP Northumbld. Gloss. 779 The end..of a flail is lashed to the wood with a whang.

β. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 137 Ich nam noht ne for ðen wurðe þat ich un-cnutte his sho þuong. c 1205 LAY. 22295 Sum makede þwonges. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 2492 As moche place as mid a þuong ich may aboute tille. 13.. Gaw. & Gr. Knt. 194 Sybyn þrawen wyth a þwong a þwarle knot alofte. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) I. 369 Þey usede hite schone unto þe kne, i-lijste to fore, and i-laced wiþ þwonges. 1485 CAXTON Paris & V. 27 Henge a lytel keye by a thwonge.

γ. c 1205 LAY. 14221 þa al islit wes þe þong he wes wunder ane long. c 1350 Will. Palerne 1720 Sche..festened hire in þat fel wiþ ful gode þonges. 1480 CAXTON Chron. Eng. lxi. 40 Engyst prayd hym..of as moche place as he myght compasse with a thong of a skynne. 1563 GOLDING Cæsar v. (1565) 138 He adulsed him to tie the letter to the thong of a lauelin, & so to throw it into his cimp. 1570 LEVINS Manip. 161/2 A Thongue, lorum. 1610 HOLLAND Camden's Brit. (1637) 339 A beast's hide cut into thongs. 1649 G. DANIEL Trinarch., Hen. V clxxix, Another girds his Frock, with a sure Thonge [prime strong]. 1703 MOXON Mech. Exerc. 179 The Noose of a leather Thong. 1869 PARKMAN Jesuits N. Amer. xvii. (1875) 246 Subsisting on the bark of trees or the thongs of raw hide.

δ. c 1425 Eng. Voc. in Wr.-Wülcker 656/1 Hec corigia, thowyng. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 490/1 Thowngc, or luiere. a 1800 PEGGE Suppl. Grose, Thunk, Lancashire pronunciation of Thong. 1881 MISS JACKSON Shropsh. Word-bk. s.v. Thung, 'I give the cobbler a penny fur two thunks'. 1886 Cheshire Gloss., Thonk, a thong, a bootlace; also Thunk.

†b. A phylactery. Only O.E. rare.

c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. xxiii. 5 Ha gebrædas forðon ðuuengu hiora. c 975 Rushw. Gosp. ibid., þwænga.

c. Such a strip used as an instrument of flagellation; also as the lash of a whip; hence spec. a whip-lash of plaited hide.

1592 LYLY Midas IV. iii, A boy was beaten on the taile with a leathern thong. a 1746 THOMSON Spring 809 The trembling steed..Nor heeds the rein, nor hears the sounding thong. 1782 COWPER Progr. Err. 360 Man's coltish disposition asks the thong. 1832 LYTTON Eugene A. ii. vi, A gentleman..left the whip or thong to have a new thong put to it. 1876 GRANT Burgh Sch. Scot. ii. v. 105 Horace prayed for a settled standard of punishment, lest any one should be subjected to the horrible thong, who is only deserving of a slight reprimand.

d. transf. A similar strip of other material, as a tough pliant plant-stem, etc.

1665 HOOKE Microgr. 6 Bound together with thongs of Brambles. 1838 T. THOMSON Chem. Org. Bodies 696 Take a thong of this substance [india-rubber]. 1875 T. W. HIGGINSON Atlantic Essays (U.S.) iii. 17 The edges were sewed with thongs cut from the roots of the cedar.

e. fig.; esp. in phrase to cut a large thong (or large thongs) of another man's leather, thongs of other men's hides, to be lavish with that which is another's.

c 1380 WYCLIF Serm. Sel. Wks. I. 76 þis ordre is a þuonge to þynde menis willes togidere. 1465 MARG. PASTON in P. L. I. 266 Mete cut large thongs here of other mens lether. 1784 COWPER Task III. 26 What chance that I..Should speak to purpose, or with better hope Crack the satiric thong? 1869 KINGSLEY Herew. i, As long as I could cut long thongs out of other men's hides. 1898 Hesperia Poets 149 The silken tie became a thong Wherewith she pinioned him in bondage strong.

2. attrib. and Comb., as thong-point, -wearer; thong-hurled adj.; thong-drill, a drill rotated by means of a thong or cord wound round its stem; thong-man, a man who wields the thong or lash; in quot., a critic; thong-seal, a name sometimes given to the bearded seal, Erignathus barbatus, the hide of which is cut into a continuous strip for use as a line.

1865 TYLOR Early Hist. Man. ix. 242 The thong-drill with the mouthpiece. 1685 COTTON tr. Montaigne (1877) I. 23 The bear, made fiercer by the wound from the Lybian's thong-hurled dart. 1876 G. MEREDITH Beauch. Career xxxiv, Self-appointed thongmen who walk up and down our ranks flapping their leathern straps. 1897 Blackw. Mag. Nov. 593/2 A leather sporran tagged with thong points tied in knots. 1901 Athenæum 2 Nov. 589/1 It is the cord-weaver [Franciscan] rather than the 'thong-wearer [Dominican] who is the hero of the more scandalous anecdotes.

Hence Thongy (þɒ·ŋi) a. dial.: see quots.

1847–78 HALLIWELL, Thongy, ropy, viscid. Somerset. 1885 Peppin Provinc. (E. D. D.), Cider is often said 'to be thongy', when it gets into the peculiar state known as 'reamed' or 'ropy'.

Thong (þɒŋ), v. Forms: see prec. [f. THONG sb. Cf. ON. þvengja (skó) to furnish (shoes) with a thong.]

1. trans. To furnish with a thong; to fasten or secure with a thong or thongs; to bind with thongs.

a 1225 [implied in THONGED]. 1483 Cath. Angl. 388/1 To Thwange [p.r. Twange], corrigiare. 1723 R. MILLAR Hist. Propag. Chrn. II. viii. 302 Their Habits are Sheep Skins undressed thonged together. 1861 Life of Bacon xx. 414 He too is thonging the scourge for his own back.

2. To flog or lash with a thong. Also absol.

1746 Sermon Scolding 77 (E.D.S.) Cheil [=ich will] thong tha...chell pummel tha...chell lace tha. 1865 THACKERAY Newcomes I. ii, 23 MRS. Newcome thonged him with the lash of her indignation. 1866 Cornh. Mag. Dec. 743 'Stick to them, my lads', shouts Captain Blake, double-thonging with a hunting-whip like a maniac. 1890 'R. BOLDEREWOOD' Miner's Right vii, He..was quite capable of raising a wale upon that epidermis which it suited him to thong.

3. dial. (See quot.)

1888 Berksh. Gloss., Thong, to twine or twist together.

4. dial. intr. To become viscous or 'ropy'.

1847–78 HALLIWELL, Thong, to rope; to stretch out into viscous threads or filaments.

Hence Thonged (þɒŋd) ppl. a., furnished or fastened with thongs; Thonging vbl. sb., flogging with a thong.

a 1225 Ancr. R. 362 And me me nei nout..two þongede scheon habben, wiðuten buggunge. a 1847 J. T. HURLOCK in Essex Rev. XVII. 56 Scourge not with thonged whips. 1866 THACKERAY Round. Papers, Small-beer Chron., Is there no enemy who would be the better for a little thonging? 1880 BROWNING Drum. Idyls II. Echetlos 22 The large limbs thonged and brown.

Thonir, obs. l. THUNDER. Thonk(e, obs. ff. THANK. Thonne, þonne, obs. f. THEN, THENNE.

†Thonneliche, þ-, adv. Obs. rare—1. [f. ME. þonne, THEN + -liche, -LY 2. (The modern form, if the word had survived, would be thenly.)] In that case: = THEN 4.

1340 Ayenb. 31 Kueade anginnynge heþ þe sleuuolle be zix zennes. Þe uerste is þonneliche huanne þe man louep lite and lheucliche oure lhord.

Thonner, thonor, etc., obs. ff. THUNDER.

Thonwange, -wonge, var. THUNWANG Obs.

Thoo, þoo, variant of THO pron. and adv. Obs.

Thooid (þə·uɪd), a. (sb.) Zool. [f. Gr. θοώ-ός, THOUS + -OID.] Resembling in form, or related to, the sub-genus Thous; in an extended use applied to a division of the genus Canis including the wolf, dog, and jackal; as distinct from the alopecoid, typified by the fox. b. sb. A beast of this division.

1880 HUXLEY in Proc. Zool. Soc. 6 Apr. 278 Thooids and Alopecoids, similar to those which exist at present, inhabited Europe during the Quaternary epoch. Ibid. 286, I am disposed..to regard Otocyon and the Thooid and Alopecoid series respectively as genera, retaining the two latter the old names of Canis and Vulpes. 1891 FLOWER & LYDEKKER Mammals xi. 548 Thooid or Lupine Series [of Canines].

Thoole, poole, obs. forms of THOLE v.

Thoom, obs. and dial. form of THUMB.

Thor (þɑ̄). Mythol. [n. ON. þórr :—*punro thunder: see THURSDAY.] The proper name of the strongest and bravest of the Scandinavian deities, the god of thunder, whose weapon was a hammer; his belt doubled his strength; hence in allusive use.

a 1020 WULFSTAN Hom. xlii. (21 a) Napier 197 Þór and Oweðen, þe hæðene men herjaðˈswiðe. 1605 VERSTEGAN Dec. Intell. 74 [Description of the great Idol Thor.] 1821 Byron Beppo lxi, Crush'd was Napoleon by the northern Thor, Who knock'd his army down with icy hammer. 1841 EMERSON Ess. Ser. I. ii. (1876) 63 Let us enter into the state of war, and wake Thor and Woden, courage and constancy, in our Saxon breasts. 1898 Daily News 6 May 8/1 The din of a thousand Thors at their forges, the hubbub of the workshop.

b. attrib., as Thor-hammerer; Thor-like adj.

Thorbarley (see quot. 1755).

1755 tr. Pontoppidan's Nat. Hist. Norway I. iv. § 5. 105 This barley..the peasants term Thor-barley, possibly from the opinion of the ancients, who..imagined this corn to be fit for the banquets of the gods. 1865 DR MORGAN in Athenæum 14 Oct. 729/2 The Thor-hammerer does nothing but grumble. 1866 M. C. TYLER Glimpses Eng. (1898) 159 The splendor of his [John Bright's] Thor-like eloquence.

Thor, dial. variant of THEIR, and THIR, these.

Thora, variant of TORAH, the Mosaic law.

Thoracabdominal, etc.: see THORACO-.

Thoraci-(þoræ·si), combining form of L. thōrāx, -ācem, in sense as THORACO-. Thora·ciform a., having the form of a thorax, thorax-shaped.

Thora·cipod [Gr. ποῦς- foot] a., of or pertaining to the Thoracipoda, a division of crustaceans having ambulatory thoracic limbs; sb. a crustacean of this division; so Thoraci·podous a. (Cent. Dict. 1891).

Thora·cispinal a., pertaining to the thoracic portion of the spinal column.

1846 KIRBY & SP. Entomol. IV. xlvi. 231 Orismology... Mesothorax..β. Dorsolum. *Thoracifoviæ, when it forms the principal part of the upper surface of the trunk. 1887 COUES in Cent. Dict., *Thoracispinal. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Thoracispinal.

Thoracic (þoræ·sik), a. (sb.). Also 7 thorachique, -cique. [ad. med.L. thōrācic-us, a. Gr. θωρᾱκικ-ός, f. θώρᾱξ, θωρᾱκ-: see THORAX and -IC. In Blount from obs. F. thorachique (A. Paré in Cotgr.).]

1. Anat. Of, pertaining to, or contained in the thorax; pectoral.

Thoracic aorta (also called pectoral aorta), that part of the aorta which traverses the thorax. Thoracic artery, any one of the branches arising from the axillary artery. Thoracic cage, the skeleton of the thorax with its ligaments (Billings, 1890). Thoracic cavity, the space enclosed by the ribs, spine, and diaphragm, containing the heart, lungs, etc. Thoracic duct, the main trunk of the lymphatic system, through which the chyle and lymph are conveyed to the blood. Thoracic limb, in a vertebrate, a fore-limb; in man, the arm; in quadrupeds, the fore-leg; in birds, the wing; in fishes, a thoracic or pectoral fin; in invertebrates, a member appended to the thorax. Thoracic vertebra, a vertebra which articulates with a rib; a dorsal vertebra.

1656 BLOUNT Glossogr., Thorachique,..belonging to the breast or stomack. Ibid. s.v. Vein. 1658 PHILLIPS, Thoracique,..belonging to the stomack or breast. 1727–41 CHAMBERS Cycl. s.v., The thoracic arteries..Thoracic veins.. Thoracic duct..is..a continuation of the exit or mouth of the receptaculum chyli. 1793 BEDDOES Lett. Darwin 56 No sooner does it touch the lungs than..the functions of all the thoracic organs go on easily and pleasantly again. 1793 M. BAILLIE Morb. Anat. Pref. (1807) 10 The thoracic and abdominal viscera. 1876 Bristowe The. & Pract. Med. (1878) 13 In our own country, thoracic inflammations are most frequent during the cold seasons of the year.

b. Pertaining to, attached to, or forming part of the thorax (of an insect or crustacean).

1817 Kirby & Sp. Entomol. (1818) II. 413 The light emitted by the two thoracic tubercles alone is so considerable [etc.]. 1880 Huxley Crayfish i. 21 The crayfish..walks by means of the four hinder pairs of thoracic limbs.

2. Ichthyol. Having the ventral fins situated directly beneath the pectoral; belonging to the Thōrācicī, the third order of fishes in the Linnæan system. Cf. Abdominal a. 3.

1769 Pennant Zool. III. 216 That section of bony fish, termed Thoracic. 1774 Goldsm. Nat. Hist. (1862) II. iii. 1. 294 The ventral fins placed directly under the pectoral fins, ..and then it is called a Thoracic fish. 1864 Owen Skel. & Teeth in Orr's Circ. Sc. I. Org. Nat. 183 The fins called 'ventral'..indicate by their position the orders of fishes called 'abdominal', 'thoracic', and 'jugular', by Linnæus.

3. Having a thorax (as a distinguishing character); belonging to the Thoracica, a sub-order of cirripeds, in which the body consists of six thoracic segments, with a rudimentary abdomen. 1891 in Cent. Dict.

4. As a specific distinction in Nat. Hist.: Having the thorax conspicuously marked or coloured.

c 1812 Shaw Nature. Misc. XXII. 969 Thoracic Wagtail [Motacilla thoracica]. 1819 Stephens in Shaw Gen. Zool. XI. 322 Thoracic Francolin [Francolinus thoracicus].

5. Comb., as thoracic-abdominal a., of the combined thorax and abdomen.

1835-6 Todd's Cyel. of Anat. I. 214/1 A..band which commences at the thoracic-abdominal constriction. 1864 Owen Skel. & Teeth in Orr's Circ. Sc. I. Org. Nat. 191 The ribs ..do not encompass the thoracic-abdominal cavity.

B. sb. †1. A medicine acting on the thorax; a pectoral. Obs.

[1706 Phillips (ed. Kersey), Thoracica, medicines proper for Diseases of the Breast.] 1710 T. Fuller Pharm. Extemp. 249 In a word it is a most excellent Thoracic.

2. A thoracic fish: see 2 above.

1828 Webster, Thoracics,..an order of bony fishes,..the ventral fins are placed underneath the thorax, or beneath the pectoral fins.

3. A thoracic organ or structure.

1857 Dunglison Med. Lex. s.v., First of the Thoracics, mammary superior external artery.

† Thora·cical, a. Obs. [f. as prec. + -AL: see -ICAL.] = Thoracic.

1664 Power Exp. Philos. III. 191 We had yet never known the Mesenterical and Thoracical Lacteæ. 1669 W. Simpson Hydrol. Chym. 65 The thoracical vessels. 1830 Fraser's Mag. I. 354 Medicinal in all matters thoracical, if I may use the expression.

Thoracico- (pōrēˈsikō), combining form of Thoracic a., used to form adjs. in sense 'pertaining to the thorax and (some other part)', as thoracico-abdominal (also thoracicoabdominal: see also Thoracic 5), thoracicoacromial (also thoracicacromial), thoracico-humeral, thoracico-lumbar.

1870 Rolleston Anim. Life 30 The internal aspect of the *thoracico-abdominal cavity. 1891 Cent. Dict., *Thoracicacromial. 1895 Funk's Standard Dict., Thoracicoacromial. 1891 Cent. Dict., *Thoracicohumeral. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Thoracico-lumbar, pertaining to the thoracic and lumbar regions.

† Thora·cious, a. Obs. rare⁻¹. [irreg. f. L. thōrāx, thōrāci-, Thorax + -ous.] = Thoracic a. 1.

1682 tr. Willis' Rem. Med. Wks. Voc., Thoracious, belonging to the breast or thorax, or medicines good to help the diseases of the thorax.

‖ Thoraco- (pōrăˈko), before a vowel thorac-, combining form of Gr. θώρᾱξ, θωράκ-, Thorax; used in forming terms of anatomy, zoology, etc. Thoracabdo·minal a. = thoracico-abdominal. Thoracacro·mial a. = thoracico-acromial. Thoracente·sis = thoracocentesis. ‖ Thoracetron (-sĭˈtrŏn) [Gr. ἤτρον abdomen], Owen's name of the second division of the body in certain crustaceans, as the king-crab (cf. Pleon 1); hence Thorace·tral a., of or pertaining to the thoracetron. Thoracoacro·mial = Thoracico-acromial. ‖ Thoracocentesis (-sentĭˈsis) [Gr. κέντησις pricking], the perforation of the chest-wall to draw off morbid accumulations of fluid. ‖ Thoracocyllosis (-sĭlōˈsis) [Gr. κύλλωσις curvature], deformity of the thorax (Billings, 1890). ‖ Thoracocyrtosis (-sərtōˈsis) [Gr. κύρτωσις crookedness], abnormal curvature of the chest. ‖ Thoracodynia (-dĭnĭăˈ) [Gr. ὀδύνη pain], pain in the thorax; also in English form † Tho·racodyne. Thoracometer (-kŏmĭˈtər), an apparatus for measuring the movement of the chest-wall in respiration; a stethometer. Thoracopagus (-pŏˈpăgəs) a., pertaining to or of the nature of a thoracopagus. ‖ Thoraco·pagus [Gr. πάγος that which is fixed, f. πηγνύναι to fasten], a double or twin monster joined at the thorax. Thoracopathy (-pŏˈpăpĭ), disease in the thoracic region. Tho·racoplasty [-plasty]: see quot. Thora·coscope [-scope], an instrument for sounding the chest, a stethoscope. Thoraco·scopy, the sounding or exploration of the chest. Thoraco·strocus [Gr. ὄστρακον hard shell] a., of or pertaining to the Thoracostraca, a division of crustaceans, including the Decapoda and other series, having a cephalo-thoracic shield and (usually) stalked eyes. ‖ Thoracothe·ca Entom. [Theca], that part of the pupa-case which covers the thorax of the pupa (Cent. Dict. 1891). Thoraco·tomy [Gr. τομή cutting], incision into the thorax.

1891 Cent. Dict., *Thoracabdominal. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Thoracoabdominal, pertaining to, or common to, the thorax and abdomen. 1887 Cours in Cent. Dict., *Thoracoacromial. 1857 Dunglison Med. Lex., *Thoracentesis. 1866 A. Flint Princ. Med. (1880) 147 Thoracentesis..is admissible whenever the pleural cavity remains filled with liquid after a brief trial of the measures designed to promote absorption. 1872 Owen in Trans. Linnean Soc. XXVIII. 467 The succeeding 'thoracetral appendages are 4-articulate. Ibid. 465 'This segment..belongs to the category of 'thoracetral' plates: it is cephaletral only by confluence. Ibid. 469. I venture to hope that the term 'cephaletron' may meet with some acceptance.., and that the term '*thoracetron' may have the same fortune in relation to the second division of the body. Ibid. 470 The ventral surface of the thoracetron. 1857 Dunglison Med. Lex., *Thoracentesis. 1903 Westm. Gaz. 10 July 7/1 Professor Rossoni..and Dr. Mazzoni went to the Vatican at half-past eight this morning, and repeated the operation of thoraco-centesis. 1860 Mayne Thorax. 469 *Thoracocyrtosis. 1857 Dunglison Med. Lex., Thoracodyne, pleurodynia. 1860 Mayne, Thoracodyne, Thoracodynia. 1877 S. Gee Auscult. & Percuss. 1. ii. (ed. 2) 35 Instruments which have been invented for registering the respiratory movements and powers: stethographs, stethometers, *thoracometers, spirometers, pneumatometers. 1886 A. Gamgee in Encycl. Brit. XX. 477/1 Apparatuses for measuring the expansion of a given point of the chest wall during respiration are called thoracometers or stethometers. 1894 Bateson Variation xxiv. 560 Eichwald examined the evidence as to *thoracopagous double monsters. 1902 Brit. Med. Jrnl. 15 May, 972 The Greeks in their deity-construction seem to have made no use of..the various types of united twins—for example, the thoracopagous and dicephalic monstrosities. 1894 Bateson Variation xxiv. 560 There are..a few cases even of *thoracopagi where neither body exhibits any transposition. 1890 Billings Nat. Med. Dict., Thoracoplasty, plastic operation on the thorax, as excision of portions of ribs to close an abscess; Estlander's operation. [1857 Dunglison Med. Lex., Thoracoscopium, stethoscope.] 1895 Funk's Standard Dict., Thoracoscope. 1890 Billings Nat. Med. Dict., Thoracoscopy, exploration of the chest. 1902 Cassell's Encycl. Dict. Suppl., *Thoracostracous. 1857 Dunglison Med. Lex., Thoracotomy, thoracocentesis. 1890 Billings Nat. Med. Dict., Thoracotomy, cutting into the chest; Estlander's operation.

Thorah, variant of Torah, the Mosaic law.

† Thora·kial, a. Obs. rare⁻¹. [f. Gr. θωρακ-, Thorax + -ial.] = Thoracic a. 1. T. canal, the thoracic duct.

1716 M. Davies Athen. Brit. III. Diss. Physick 5 Speaking more at large of the Thorakial Canal, than a Roman Physician..was an Age before.

† Tho·ral, a. Obs. rare. [f. thor-us (cf. 'Thoral, thorāle, culcitra' in Du Cange), med. spelling of L. torus couch, marriage + -al.] Of or pertaining to the marriage-bed.

1696 Phillips (ed. 5), Thoral Line, otherwise call'd in Palmistry the Mensal Line, or the Line of Venus. 1726 Ayliffe Parergon 48 The second Punishment..is a Thoral Separation or a Dissolution of Matrimony

Thorax (pōˈrĕks), Pl. thoraxes (rare), or in L. form thoraces (pōrăˈsēz). [n. L. thōrax, n. Gr. θώρᾱξ breast-plate, cuirass, also breast, chest.]

1. Anat. and Zool. That part of the body of a mammal between the neck and the abdomen, comprising the cavity enclosed by the ribs, breastbone, and dorsal vertebræ, and containing the chief organs of circulation and respiration; the chest; also the corresponding part in the lower vertebrates, as birds, serpents, and fishes.

c 1400 Lanfranc's Cirurg. 161 Thorax is maad of .vij. boonys & eurey boon at be eende is cartilaginosum. 1548-77 Vicary Anat. vii. (1888) 54 The Breast or Thorax is the Arke or Chest of the spiritual members of man. 1653 H. More Antid. Ath. xii. § 5 Enlarging the Thorax, that the Lungs may have play. 1692 Locke Educ. (1693) 12 The Thorax, wherein is placed the Heart and Seat of Life. 1704 F. Fuller Med. Gymn. (1711) 7 Laughing..proves so beneficial by the playing of the Muscles of the Thorax. 1825 Holden Human Osteol. (1878) 228 The Thorax is the framework which contains the heart and lungs.

2. Zool. The middle region of the body of an arthropod, between the head and the abdomen.

In insects, the thorax consists of three somites, the prothorax, mesothorax, and metathorax, and bears the legs, and wings if any exist. In arachnids and some crustaceans, the thorax is joined to the head, forming the Cephalothorax.

1750 Phil. Trans. XLVII. viii. 40 The thorax drops its breast-plate, and then the legs quit their crustaceous coverings. 1842 Brande Dict. Sc., etc., Thorax, the second segment of insects is so called by Latreille and Audouin; the term is restricted to the upper surface of the trunk by Linné and Fabricius. 1868 Duncan tr. Pfeiffer's Insect World Introd. 7 The thorax, the second primary division of the body of insects, plays almost as important a part as the head. 1888 Rolleston & Jackson Anim. Life 491 A head region..either remains distinct..or becomes continuous with a part or whole of the thorax, forming a cephalo-thorax... A thorax is not marked off in the Myriapoda.

‖ 3. Gr. Antiq. A cuirass, corselet: see quots.

1842 Brande Dict. Sc., etc., Thorax, in Grecian Antiquities, a piece of defensive armour consisting of two parts, one defending the back, and the other the belly; called lorica by the Romans. 1845 C. H. Smith in Kitto's Cycl. Bibl. Lit. s.v. Arms, In Egypt..a more ancient national form [of cuirass] was a kind of thorax, tippet, שריון shereyon, or square, with an opening in it for the head, the four points covering the breast, back, and both upper arms. 1857 Birch Ann. Pottery (1858) I. 410 They wear Corinthian helmets, often crested; thoraces, or breast-plates, under which is a tunic, and greaves.

Hence Thoraxed (pōˈrĕkst) a., having a thorax (of a specified kind).

1907 Nation 24 Aug. 923/1 The yellow-thoraxed species [of insects].

† Thore. Obs. rare⁻¹. App. an anglicization of thorus, med. spelling of L. torus nuptial couch.

1649 Lovelace Lucasta Ded. 7 To the Taper of the Thore Which the God himselfe but bore; To the Sea of Chast Delight Let me cast the Drop I write.

Thore, obs. var. of Dare *v.*1 (A. 9).

Thore, pore, obs. 3 pl. indic. pres. of Thare v., to need; obs. f. There.

† Thores even, ene. Obs. [After Thores-day Thursday.] The eve of (Holy) Thursday (Ascension Day).

1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 394 Hii bygonne an holy Thore's ene pen toun asaly pere. Ibid. 8120 An hal[i] pores euen [v.rr. poys, pours, porsdai, Thursday eue].

Thorfe, inflexion of Thare v., to need. Thorgh, porgh, -3, thorght, Thorghoute, obs. f. Through, Throughout.

‖ Thoria (pōˈrĭă). Chem. [f. as Thorium + -a, after alumina, magnesia, silica, etc.] An oxide of thorium, $ThO_2$; a very heavy white substance discovered in the mineral thorite by Berzelius, 1828, and named by him in Swedish, Thorjord, Ger. Thorerde, lit. Thor-earth. Now important in the manufacture of incandescent gas mantles. Also attrib.

1847 in Webster. 1882 Watts Dict. Chem. VIII. 1967 Thorium Oxide, or Thoria, is insoluble in dilute acids. 1899 Westm. Gaz. 10 June 6/3 The expiry of the master patent this year, and the thoria patent next spring. 1904 Ibid. 16 Apr. 7/1 About [1888] experiments on incandescent mantles gave to thoria considerable commercial value. A mantle of pure thoria gives a very little light; but, on the other hand, it gives a stability to the fragile mantle which no other body yet discovered is able to do.

Thorianite (pōˈrĭănsīt). Min. [f. thorian* (f. Thoria) + -ite 1 2 b.] A mineral consisting chiefly of the oxides of thorium, uranium, and other rare metals, found in 1904 in the south-west of Ceylon, in small brownish-black crystals having a resinous lustre; a variety of pitch-blende.

1904 Dunstan in Nature 31 Mar. 510 This mineral appears to be new, and I suggest for it the name of thorianite. 1907 Daily Chron. 5 Jan. 2/5 The discovery of deposits of the very valuable mineral thorianite, containing something like 80 per cent. of the rare earth thoria, which is used in the manufacture of incandescent gas mantles.

Thoric (pōˈrĭk), a. Chem. [f. Thor(ium + -ic.] Of or derived from thorium. 1891 in Cent. Dict.

† Thorina (pōrəiˈnă). Chem. Obs. [ad. F. thorine, 1817, a bad representation of Berzelius's name Thorjord, Ger. Thorerde: see Thoria.

In the Annales de Chemie, etc. 1817, V. 5, the form thorine is erroneously attributed to Berzelius himself ('une nouvelle terre à laquelle M. Berzelius a donné le nom de thorine'). Misled by this, English chemists long used thorina and thorinum for thoria and thorium.]

1. The name given at first to a substance found by Berzelius in 1815 in various Swedish and Norwegian minerals, and named by him Thorjord, which afterwards proved to be yttrium phosphate.

1818 W. Phillips Outl. Min. & Geol. (ed. 3) 29 The discovery of a new Earth by Berzelius a Swedish Chemist, has lately been announced..'This earth has been named.., Thorina, from the Scandinavian deity Thor. 1826 Henry Elem. Chem. II. 695 A farther investigation by Berzelius of the substance to which, in 1815, he had given the name of Thorina [sight to be Thorjord]..has now satisfied him that it is merely a sub-phosphate of yttria.

2. The name formerly given to the earth or oxide to which Berzelius in 1828 transferred the name Thorjord, now called Thoria.

1831 T. P. Jones Convers. Chem. xvii. 180 Thorina [is found] in one mineral only, in Norway. 1836 Brande Chem. (ed. 4) 847 Thorina..after having been heated to redness, is white, and insoluble in the acids, with the exception of the sulphuric. 1839 Ure Dict. Arts, etc. 1239 Pure thorina is a white powder, without taste, smell, or alkaline reaction on litmus. 1877 Watts Fownes' Chem. (ed. 12) 397 Thorium Oxide or Thorina, $ThO_2$.

† Thori·nic, a. Chem. Obs. [f. next + -ic.] = Thoric.

1868 Watts Dict. Chem. V. 786 A precipitate of thorinic hyposulphite is then formed.

‖ Thorinum (pōrəiˈnŏm). Chem. Obs. [f. F. thorine and Eng. Thorina, in accordance with L. names of metals in -um, as aurum, cuprum, plumbum.]

1. The name originally given to a hypothetical metal of which Thorina (sense 1) was (erroneously) supposed by Berzelius, 1815, to be the oxide.

1819 Children Exs. Chem. Anal. § 76 Oxide of Thorinium, or Thorina. 1820 Ure Dict. Chem., Thorinum, the supposed metallic basis of the preceding earth [Thorina 1], not hitherto extracted. 1826 Henry Elem. Chem. I. 635 Thorinum. Nothing is known of the metallic base of this earth [thorina], and it is only from analogy that it is supposed to be constituted of such a base united with oxygen.

2. The name given in France and England, for several years after 1828, to the metallic element THORIUM, q. v.

1836 BRANDE Chem. (ed. 4) 847 Thorium..was discovered by Berzelius in 1828, in a rare and complex mineral, found in the Syenitic rock of the Isle of Lövon, near Brevig, in Norway. It consisted of about 58 per cent. of thorina. Ibid., By passing a current of dry Chlorine over a mixture of thorina and charcoal-powder, a crystalline chloride of thorinum is obtained, which is easily decomposed by potassium, and the product is thorium. It is of a gray colour, metallic lustre, and apparently malleable. 1872 WATTS Fownes' Chem. (1877) I. 397 Thorium forms but one class of compounds, in all of which it is quadrivalent.

Thorite[1] (pɔ̄ᵊrait). Min. [a. Swed. thorit (Berzelius, 1828–9), f. Thor (as in thoria, thorium) + -ITE[1] 2 b.] Hydrous silicate of thorium, occurring crystalline, massive, and compact, orange-yellow (ORANGITE) to brownish-black or black, with a vitreous or resinous lustre.

1832 [see THORIUM]. 1839 URE Dict. Arts 1239 It [thorina] was extracted from the mineral thorite, of which it constitutes 58 per cent. 1868 DANA Min. 413 The brownish-black and black variety, from Lövö, Norway, was the mineral from which Berzelius obtained the metal thorium, and which received the name thorite.

Thorite[2] (pɔ̄ᵊrait). [f. THOR + -ITE[1] 4.] An explosive of the ammonium nitrate class.

1899 Westm. Gaz. 13 July 7/2 Thorite, a new explosive invented by Dr. Tuttle, of Tacoma,..stood severe tests...A red-hot iron was plunged into a can of thorite, but it merely ignited the particles that touched the iron.

¶ Thorium (pɔ̄ᵊriə̆m). Chem. [f. THOR, the Norse deity + -IUM in other names of metals.

So named by its discoverer Berzelius 1828: see Kongl. Vetenskaps-Acad. Handlingar 1829, p. 1. The French having called the earth thorine (see THORINA) named the metal THORINUM, which prevailed also in England for many years.]

A rare metallic element discovered by Berzelius in the mineral thorite, and subsequently found in small quantities in some other rare minerals. Symbol Th. Also attrib.

Now noted as one of the radio-active elements.

1832 Encycl. Brit. (ed. 7) VI. 401/2 Thorina, which constitutes an oxide of thorium, has been hitherto found only in a black mineral..., thorite. Ibid. 402/1 The only known compound of thorium and oxygen is thorina. 1868 WATTS Dict. Chem. V. 785 Thorium, or Thorium. Atomic Weight, 115.72; Symbol, Th. 1881 Ibid. VIII. 1967 Thorium ..is not isomorphous with any other known element. Ibid., Thorium Oxide (ThO2)..Chloride [ThCl4]..Nitrate..Sulphate [etc.]. 1898 SIR W. CROOKES Addr. Brit. Assoc. 24 Rays..emitted by thorium and its compounds. The thorium rays affect photographic plates through screens of paper or aluminium, and are absorbed by metals and other dense bodies. 1903 Daily Chron. 27 Nov. 8/3 He [Sir W. Ramsay] pointed out that the thorium emanations were an ephemeral gas which in two minutes ceased to exist. 1907 Athenæum 31 Aug. 214/2 Thorium..gives no fever than seven radio-active products, in the following order: meso-thorium, radiothorium, thorium X, thorium emanation, and thorium A, B, and C.

Thorle, porle, obs. form of THIRL v.[1]

Thorlepolle, variant of THIRLEPOLL Obs.

Thorn (pɔ̄n), sb. Forms: 1–3 ̄orn, 1–5 porn, (2 peorn, 3 (Orm.) porrn, 4 thornu), 4–5 porne, 4–8 thorne, 4– thorn. [OE. porn = OS. thorn (Du. doorn), OHG. dorn (MHG., G. dorn), ON. þorn (Sw., Da. torn), Goth. þaurnus, :—OTeut. þurn-us*; :—Indo-Eur. trnus*: cf. OSlav. trinŭ thorn.]

I. 1. A stiff, sharp-pointed, straight or curved woody process on the stem or other part of a plant; a spine, a prickle.

a 800 CYNEWULF Crist 1445 þa hi hwæne beaȝ ymb min heafod heardne geþygdon...se wæs of þornum geworht. c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. xxvii. 29 Da gempo..ymborhton ðæ bege of ðornum, ȝesetton ofer heafod his. c 1000 Ælfric's Voc. in Wr.-Wülcker 139/21 Spina, porn. Ibid. 139/22 Tribulus, porn. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 207 He hadde..bornene helm, and þe bornes swiþe prikeden. a 1300 Cursor M. 17136 (Cott.) þe thornes o mi hede standes. Ibid. 17774 (Cott.) Wit thorns crund als was he. 1382 WYCLIF Prov. xxvi. 9 If a thorun [13.88 thorn] be growen in the hond of the drunken. c 1400 Lanfranc's Cirurg. 166 Of woundis of þornis. 1484 CAXTON Fables of Æsop iv. i. As he rauisshed, a thorne entred into his foote. 1593 SHAKS. 3 Hen. VI, iii. ii. 175 Like one lost in a Thornie Wood, That rents the Thornes, and is rent with the Thornes. 1667 MILTON P. L. iv. 256 Flours of all hue, and without thorn the Rose. 1671 GREW Anat. Plants iv. App. § 1 Thorns are of two kinds, Lignous and Cortical. 1776 WITHERING Brit. Plants (1796) II. 104 Capsules..awl-shaped, scored, tapering and ending in a double thorn or awn. Ibid. 359 Fruit-stalks forming bunches: thorns 3 together. 1867 J. HOGG Microsc. II. i. 324 Thorns, such as those of the rose, are aborted branches. 1880 GRAY Struct. Bot. iii. § 3 (ed. 6) 55 A Spine or Thorn is usually..the termination of a stem or branch, indurated, leafless, and attenuated to a point. Prov. There is no rose without a thorn.

2. fig. (or in fig. context): Anything that causes pain, grief, or trouble; in various metaphors, similes, and proverbial expressions, as a thorn in the flesh or side, a constant affliction, a source of continual grief, trouble, or annoyance; (to be, sit, stand, walk) on thorns, (to be, etc.) in a painful state of anxiety or suspense.

c 1320 Hali Meiðd. 9 Ha licke6 hunt of þornes: ha buggen al þat swete wiþ twa dale of bitterne. c 1374 CHAUCER Troylus III. 1055 (1109) Ye, Nece, wole ye pulle out þe þorn (v. r. thorne) That stiketh in his herte. 1500–20 DUNBAR Poems xii. 14 Welth, warldly gloir, and riche array, Ar all bot thornis hail in thay way. 1561 T. HOBY tr. Castiglione's Courtyer ii. (1900) 114 The poore gentilwoman stood vpon thornes, and thought an houre a thousande yeare, till she were got from him. a 1580 JEFFERIE Bugbears iii. iii. in Archiv Stud. Neu. Spr. (1897), I sytt all on thornes till that matter take effect. 1602 SHAKS. Ham. i. v. 87 Those Thornes that in her bosome lodge. 1611 BIBLE 2 Cor. xii. 7 Least I should bee exalted aboue measure..there was giuen to me a thorne in the flesh [1526 TYND. vnquietnes of, 1557 Geneva. a prickle in the flesche], the messenger of Sathan to buffet me. a 1698 TEMPLE Hist. Eng. 93 No Prince ever came so early into the Cares and Thorns of a Crown. 1768 EARL CARLISLE in Jesse Selwyn & Contemp. (1843) II. 316, I should have been upon thorns till you had wrote. 1775 SHERIDAN Rivals v. i. Virtuous love..shall pluck the thorn from compunction. 1822 GALT Provost xiv, The perverse views, of that Yankee thorn-in-the-side, Mr. Hickery. 1862 BRYCE Holy Rom. Emp. xii. (1875) 191 The Eastern Church was then, as she is to this day, a thorn in the side of the Papacy. 1886 C. E. PASCOE Lond. of To-day xxx. (ed. 3) 274 Not far from the grave of Elizabeth and Mary is that of the former's thorn in life, Mary of Scotland.

3. a. A spine or spiny process in an animal.

c 1300– [implied in THORNBACK 3]. c 1711–56 [implied in THORNY 1 b]. 1860 [see thorn oyster in 8].

b. Histology. [See quots.]

1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VI. 490 The dendrons are possessed of numerous minute lateral projections, gemmules, spines, and 'thorns' as they have been variously called. Ibid. VIII. 325 Dr. Alexander Hill believes the so-called 'thorns' to be organic structures, which are not shewn in their entirety by the chrome-silver method; and that a thorn is really the cell-end of an unstainable nerve filament, surrounded by a film of staining cell plasm.

c. pl. In Lace-making, Pointed projections used to decorate the cordonnet, etc., in point-lace.

1874 Queen Lace Bk. 1. 18 Little loops, knots, or knobs.. called Pearls, Thorns, or Picots. 1882 CAULFEILD & SAWARD Dict. Needlework, Thorns, used in Needlepoints to decorate the cordonnets and raised parts of the lace. See Spines.

II. 4. A plant which bears thorns or prickles; a bramble or briar; a prickly bush, shrub, or tree; a thorn-tree or thorn-bush; esp. any species of the genus Cratægus; in England, spec. the Hawthorn or White-thorn (C. Oxyacantha).

In early OE. þyrne wk. fem. :—ˈburnjōn.

c 700– [implied in HAWTHORN]. c 725 Corpus Gloss. (O.E. Tx) 1834 Sentes, þornas. c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xxiii. 6 Swa swa þæs wilde ceawestmabære land, ealle ðæ ðe þornas & þa fyrsas & þ fearn & eallæ þa weod. c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. xiii. 7 Oðro sutedlice gefeollon in ðornum..& woxon ða ðornas..& underdiifon þa. c 1000 Ælfric Gen. iii. 18 Þornas and bremelas þeo aspric þe. 1045 Charter Edward in Kemble Cod. Dipl. IV. 98 On ðane greatan þorn ðe stynt wiþ Grimes dic. c 1200 ORMIN 9219 Þurrh þorrness & þurrh breress þær shuleenn þeon ridiwaress nu. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 1334 Þate in ðornes he sæȝ a sep. 1382 WYCLIF Judg. ix. 14 And alle the trees seiden to the thorn, Com, and comaund thow vpon us. c 1450 Godstow Reg. 34 Fowre burdyns of thornys of her wood of Godstowe. 1545 BRUNSWICK Lamert. (1874) 92 Ins briers bringe forth figges, and thorns grapes? 1615 W. LAWSON Orch. & Gard. (1623) Pref., Curious conceits..inoculating Roses on Thornes, and such like. 1759 GRAY Elegy 116 Gray'd on the beneath yon aged thorn. 1820 WORDSW. Hart-leap Well 33 Dismounting, then, he leaned against a thorn. 1866 Treas. Bot. 344/2 The thorns [Cratægus] are natives of Europe, North America, and the temperate regions of Asia and Africa. 1882 Garden 24 June 449/1 Thorns, white, pink, and crimson..have been very beautiful.

b. (without article). Thorn bushes or branches collectively; also, the wood of a thorn-tree.

a 1300 Cursor M. 924 (Cott.) Brembel and thorn it sal te yeild. Ibid. 16437 Þai crond him wit porn. c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. (1810) 14 Sitirlitt,..þat a suynhird sloth vnder a bush of thorn. 1377 LANGL. P. Pl. B. xix. 228 Pe pyes..bere þe þorne is thikkest..buylden and brede. 1508 DUNBAR Tua Maritit Wemen 15 Throw pykis of the piet thorne I presandile hulkit. 1592 SHAKS. Rom. & Jul. i. iv. 36 It is too rough, Too rude, too boysterous, and it pricks like thorne. 1615 CHAPMAN Odyss. xiv. 17 The inner part..Which with an hedge of Thorn he fenc't about. 1712 POPE Messiah 73 Sandy vallies once perplexed with thorn. Mod. Thorn is a hard wood, and makes good sledgeis.

c. fig. (or in figurative language). Sometimes alluding to the parable of the sower, Matt. xiii. 7.

a 1340 HAMPOLE Psalter xxxii. 12 Full of thornes & breirs of synnes. 1735 JOHNSON Lobo's Abyssinia, Descr. i. 47 Little besides the Name of Christianity is to be found here, and the Thorns may be said to have choaked the Grain. 1819 SHELLEY Ode West Wind 54, I fall upon the thorns of life! I bleed! 1850 W. IRVING Goldsmith xxxvii. 358 The thorns which beset an author in the path of theatrical literature.

5. With qualifying words used to distinguish species and varieties of Cratægus, and to designate various other thorny plants: as Aronia thorn, Cratægus Aronia; Buffalo thorn, Acacia latronum, an Indian tree; Egyptian thorn, Acacia vera, one of the trees which produce gum-arabic; Elephant thorn, Acanthosaurus Treas. Bot. 1866]; Evergreen thorn, Cratægus Pyracantha, an ornamental evergreen bearing a profusion of red berries in clusters during winter; Jerusalem thorn, Parkinsonia aculeata, a spiny shrub found in tropical regions; Mysore thorn, Cæsalpinia sepiaria, a leguminous plant; Spanish hedgehog thorn, some species of the genus Anthyllis. See also BLACKHORN, BOX-t., BUCKTHORN, CAMEL'S-t., CHRIST'S-t., GLASTONBURY t., GOAT'S-t., HAWTHORN, LILY t., MOUSE-t., ORANGE t., PURGING t., SALLOW t., SCORPION'S t., WHITE-THORN.

Hali Meiðd. 9 Ha licke6 hunt of þornes: ha buggen al þat swete wiþ twa dale of bitterne.

Chaucer Troylus III. 1055 (1109) Ye, Nece, wole ye pulle out þe þorn (v. r. thorne) That stiketh in his herte.

Dunbar Poems xii. 14 Welth, warldly gloir, and riche array, Ar all bot thornis hail in thay way.

Hoby tr. Castiglione's Courtyer ii. (1900) 114 The poore gentilwoman stood vpon thornes, and thought an houre a thousande yeare, till she were got from him.

Jefferie Bugbears iii. iii. in Archiv Stud. Neu. Spr. (1897), I sytt all on thornes till that matter take effect.

Shaks. Ham. i. v. 87 Those Thornes that in her bosome lodge.

Bible 2 Cor. xii. 7 Least I should bee exalted aboue measure..there was giuen to me a thorne in the flesh [1526 TYND. vnquietnes of, 1557 Geneva. a prickle in the flesche], the messenger of Sathan to buffet me.

Temple Hist. Eng. 93 No Prince ever came so early into the Cares and Thorns of a Crown.

Carlisle in Jesse Selwyn & Contemp. (1843) II. 316, I should have been upon thorns till you had wrote.

Sheridan Rivals v. i. Virtuous love..shall pluck the thorn from compunction.

Galt Provost xiv, The perverse views, of that Yankee thorn-in-the-side, Mr. Hickery.

Bryce Holy Rom. Emp. xii. (1875) 191 The Eastern Church was then, as she is to this day, a thorn in the side of the Papacy.

Pascoe 1886 C. E. PASCOE Lond. of To-day xxx. (ed. 3) 274 Not far from the grave of Elizabeth and Mary is that of the former's thorn in life, Mary of Scotland.

Shaks. Rom. & Jul. i. iv. 36 It is too rough, Too rude, too boysterous, and it pricks like thorne.

Chapman Odyss. xiv. 17 The inner part..Which with an hedge of Thorn he fenc't about.

Pope Messiah 73 Sandy vallies once perplexed with thorn.

Mod. Thorn is a hard wood, and makes good sledgeis.

fig. (or in figurative language). Sometimes alluding to the parable of the sower, Matt. xiii. 7.

a 1340 Hampole Psalter xxxii. 12 Full of thornes & breirs of synnes.

Johnson Lobo's Abyssinia, Descr. i. 47 Little besides the Name of Christianity is to be found here, and the Thorns may be said to have choaked the Grain.

Shelley Ode West Wind 54, I fall upon the thorns of life! I bleed!

Irving Goldsmith xxxvii. 358 The thorns which beset an author in the path of theatrical literature.

Cratægus Aronia

Acacia latronum

Acacia vera

Elephant thorn

Acanthosaurus Treas. Bot. 1866

Cratægus Pyracantha

Parkinsonia aculeata

Cæsalpinia sepiaria

Anthyllis

Garden 12 Aug. 145/3 The *Aronia Thorn..is a moderate-growing tree. 1886 Ibid. 106 *Buffalo Thorn, Acacia latronum. 1731 MILLER Gard. Dict., Acacia, *Egyptian Thorn or Binding Bean Tree. 1860 MAYNE Expos. Lex., Egyptian Thorn,..Acacia vera, the gum-arabic tree. 1731 MILLER Gard. Dict. s. v. Mespilus, The Pyracantha or *Evergreen Thorn. 1866 Treas. Bot. 847/2 *I [arkinsonia] aculeata, called in Jamaica the *Jerusalem Thorn. 1814 ROXBURGH Hort. Bengal. 32 Cæsalpinia sepiaria, *Mysore Thorn. 1760 J. LEE Introd. Bot. App. 329 Thorn, *Spanish Hedgehog, Anthyllis.

6. (Short for thorn-moth.) Collectors' name for various geometrid moths.

Applied originally to species whose larvæ feed on the hawthorn or kindred plants.

1832 RENNIE Conspectus Butterfl. & Moths 105 Geometra (Lesch)...The September Thorn (G. erosaria). Ibid. 106 The Angled Thorn (G. angularia). 1869 NEWMAN Brit. Moths 57 The September Thorn (Ennomos erosaria).

III. 7. The name of the Old English and Icelandic runic letter Þ (= th); named, like other runes, from the word of which it was the initial.

c 1000 Runic Poem iii. (Gr.), þorn byð þearle scearp. c 1400 MAUNDEV. (Roxb.) xv. 71 þ and ȝ while er called þorn and ȝok. 1885 E. M. THOMPSON in Encycl. Brit. XVIII. 160/1 The English letter thorn, Þ, survived and continued in use down to the 15th century.

IV. 8. attrib. and Comb. a. Attributive, as thorn-acacia, avenue, -bed (BED sb. 8), -cover (COVER sb. 4), fence, -fire, forest, grove, -holt, jungle, kloof, -prick, -puncture, scrub, stick, -sting, thicket; objective, etc., as thorn-bearer, -eater; thorn-like, -proof, -resisting adjs.; instrumental, as thorn-bound, -covered, -encompassed, -marked, -pricked, -set, -strewn, -wounded, -wreathed adjs. b. Special combs.: † thorn-beak, the garfish, Belone vulgaris; thorn-bill, a humming-bird of the South American genus Rhamphomicron; thorn-bird, a South American bird, Anumbius acuticaudatus (allied to the OVEN-BIRD), which builds a large domed nest of thorny twigs (Webster, 1890); thorn-bit, † a bit with a sharp projection which pricks the horse's mouth; also fig.; † thorn-broom, (a) the petty whin, Genista anglica; (b) the common furze; † thorn-but [BUTT sb.[1]], ? = THORN-BACK 1; thorn-catcher, a device attached to a bicycle or motor-car, to extract thorns and the like from the tire as the wheel rotates; thorn-devil, name of an Australian lizard, Moloch horridus; = MOLOCH 2; thorn-fly (also hawthorn-fly, thorn-tree fly), a kind of artificial fly; † thorn-garth, an enclosure protected by a thorn-hedge; † thorn-grape, the gooseberry; thorn-headed (Webster, 1890), thorn-headed worm, one of the Acanthocephala, intestinal parasitic worms having the proboscis furnished with hooks or spines; † thorn-hog, a hedgehog; thorn-hopper, a tree-hopper, Thelia cratægi, which frequents thorny shrubs (Cent. Dict. 1891); thorn house, in salt-making by the graduation method, a structure in which weak brine is caused to trickle over piles or high walls of thorns and brushwood giving a large surface for evaporation; thorn-letter, the runic letter Þ: = sense 7; thorn-lizard = thorn-devil; thorn-louse, the common honey-locust tree of N. America, Gleditschia triacanthos; thorn-moth = sense 6; thorn-mussel, a pinna; thorn oyster, popular name of bivalves of the family Spondylidæ, in which the older specimens have the lower valve spiny; also thorny oyster; thorn-quick, a young thorn-plant for a hedge; † thorn-rone, a brake or undergrowth of thorns; thorn-shell, a spiny shellfish; thorn-stone, a concretion deposited on the faggots in a thorn house (see quot. 1848); thorn-swine, a porcupine (Cent. Dict. 1891); thorn-tail, popular name of the humming-birds of the South American genus Gouldia, distinguished by a long pointed tail; thorn-tailed a., having a tail resembling a thorn, or with thorn-like processes; thorn-tailed agama, an agamoid lizard of the genus Uromastix, having the tail cased with rings of spiny scales; thorn-wall, in salt-making: cf. thorn house; thorn-wood, (a) a wood of thorns; (b) (thornwood) a South African tree (perh. Acacia Natalitia, the South African Wattle); also attrib. See also THORN-APPLE, THORN-BUSH, etc.

1570 LEVINS Manip. 207/6 A Hornbeak, fish...A *Thornbeak. 1894 G. ALLEN in Westm. Gaz. 8 May 9/1 They [nuts] make a practice of sheltering themselves under..stouter and taller *thorn-bearers. 1844 STEPHENS Bk. Farm I. 374 The ditch is thus marked out ready for the formation of the *thorn-bed. 1861 GOULD Humming-Birds III. Pl. 188 Rhamphomicron Ruficeps—Red-capped *Thorn-Bill. 1870 GILLMORE tr. Figuier's Reptl. & Birds 471 The Thornbills..are American birds. 1886 KIPLING Departm. Ditties, etc. (1899) 90 The colt who is wise will abstain from the terrible *thorn-bit of Marriage. 1598 LYTE Dodoens VI. lx. 668 Genistilla, Furze or *Thorne Broome groweth in vntoyled places. 1597 GERARDE Herbal iii. xviii. 1140 In English Furze, Furzen bushes, Whinne, Gorsse, and Thorne Broome. 1668 Charleton Onomast. 149 Rhombus .. Qui est vel Aculeatus, the Thorn-but. 1736 Ainsworth Lat. Dict., The thornbut, Rhombus aculeatus. 1901 Daily Chron. 1 June 8/7 A great many punctures can be nipped in the bud, so to speak, by employing †thorn-catchers. 1890 R. G. Cumming Hunter's Life S. Afr. (1902) 158/2 We halted .beside several acres of thorn-cover. 1642 Milton Apol. Smect.-v. Wks. 1738 I. 119 This obscure thorn-eater of Malice and Detraction, as well as of Quodlibets and Sophisms. 1799 G. Smith Laboratory II. 310 †Thorn-fly, Dubbing of black lamb's wool (etc.). a 1340 Hampole Psalter lxxxviii. 39 Thou distroyd all his †thorne garthis. 1578 Lyte Dodoens vi. xix. 681 Vna spina, whiche may be Englished, †Thorne grape. 1886 Pagge & Pye-Smith Prim. Med. (ed. 9) II. 234 An acanthocephalous or †thorneheaded worm, Echinorrhynchus sp., has only once been certainly discovered in the human intestine. 1340 Ayenb. 66 [pe *†*porn-hog bet ys al ywryye myd prikynide eles. c 1450 Godstow Reg. 208 Half a rude of lond, lying in the †thornehotte in the feldes of halso. 1866 Tomlinson's Cycl. II. 552/1 [At Moutiers] There are four evaporating houses called Maisons d'Épines or †thorn-houses. 1879 G. Gladstone in Cassell's Techn. Educ. IV. 353/1 Thorn houses, are gigantic erections consisting of a skeleton of timber filled in with thorn bushes.. the water trickles down over the ends of the twigs. 1902 Skeat in Athenæum 22 Nov. 684/1 The words 'that' and 'this' and 'the' all begin, in the MS., with the usual 'thorn-letter.' 1899 Cagney Yakoski's Gitn. (1902) viii. 413 The resuling cultivation is marked with..thorn-like processes projecting from it. 1860 Wraxall Life in Sea vi. 143 The great *†*thorn-mussel (Pinna) of the Mediterranean. Ibid. viii. 208 They [species of Spondylus] are distinguished by bright colours, but more especially by the long thorns and spurs with which they are covered, and for this reason they are also called *†*Thorn Oysters. 1898 Cir. Rossetti Fr. House to House 63, I found a thorn-apple, †thorn-plucked a flower. 1565 Jewel Repl. Harding (1611) 417 That *†*Thorn-prickt, Nail-boared, Speare-pierced, and otherwise wounded, rent, and torne Bodie. 1908 Daily Chron. 25 Apr. 9/5 A Beeston Humber bicycle, fully equipped, cycle equipped with special †thorn-proof tyres and a metal gear-case. 1755 Forfeited Estates Papers (S.H.S.) 92 [He] has raised..since 1740 no less than 1,676,147 *†*Thorn Quickes. a 1400 St. Troyan Par n. 2437 And has bot one smale but bot doun In-to pat *†*thorne-rone, richt seere. 1797 Dyer Fleece I. 11 Haughty trees .. that weaken †thorn-set mounds. 1860 Wraxall Life in Sea viii. 209 A wondrously beautiful *†*Thorn Shell. 1857 Hughes Tom Brown I. ii, A stout †thorn stick in his hand. 1848 Knapp's Chem. Technol. I. 266 The thorns become gradually covered with a thick coating (†thorn-stone), consisting of carbonates of lime, magnesia, manganese, and protoxide of iron. 1889 C. G. W. Lock Workshop Receipts Ser. IV. 151/1 The [wire] has to be changed every 2 years or so, on account of a deposit of calcium carbonate ('thornston?') which coats them. 1783 Latham Gen. Syn. Birds IV. 463 *†*Thorn-tailed Warbler... Inhabits Terra del Fuego. 1888 Cassell's Encyclop. Dict. s. v. Uromastix, Thorn-tailed Agamas..from the south of Russia..and Central India. 1866 Tomlinson's Cycl. II. 554/1 The Saxon method of graduation by the use of *†*thorn-walls. 1890 R. G. Cumming Hunter's Life S. Afr. (1902) 147/1 Reducing with adzes a *†*thornwood tree, which was to serve as a beam. 1863 W. C. Baldwin Afr. Hunting vi. 148 A beautiful country of dense thornwood. 1819 Shelley Prometh. Unb. I. 598 Let that *†*thorn-wounded brow Stream not with blood.

Thorn (þɔ̃n), v. Now rare. [f. prec. sb.]

1. trans. To make thorny, to furnish with thorns; esp. to protect (a newly planted quick-set hedge or the like) with dead thorn-bushes. Also absol.

1483 Cath. Angl. 384/1 To Thorne, dumare, spinare, dumere esse vel heri, escere. 1541 Nottingham Rec. III. 382 For thorns and for thornyng of wylo setet. 1579 Mem. St. Giles, Durham (Surtees) Paydes for thornyng the wicke for saufeagyrde of the shepe. 1784 Robinson Let. in N. & Q. 3rd Ser. IV. 342/2, [I] set a man to hedge and thorn. 1875 Browning Aristophanes' Apol. 630 Vowel-buds thorned about with consonants.

2. To prick with or as with a thorn; to vex.

1590 C'tess Pembroke Antonie 226 And thousand thousand woes Our heau'nly soules now thorne. Ibid. 917 This grief, nay raze,..thornes me still. 1778 Sabrina 16 A ruffian he I..Who stabs the rose, and thorn'd the heart it bleed! 1811 Coleridge Let. in J. P. Collier Seven Lect. (1856) p. lvii, The perplexities with which..I have been thorned and embrangled. 1877 Tennyson Harold I. i. 243, I am the only rose of all the stock That never thorn'd a bee.

†3. To attach or join together with thorns. Obs.

1598 Sylvester Du Bartas II. i. iv. Handie-crafts 140 With their sundry locks, thorn'd each to other, Their tender limbs they hide.

Thorn-apple. The common name of Datura Stramonium, N.O. Solanaceæ (see Datura), a coarse annual plant bearing large funnel-shaped white flowers, succeeded by large four-celled capsules covered with prickly spines; also the capsule or fruit itself. Also formerly called thorny apple.

1578 Lyte Dodoens III. lxxxvii. 440 Fruite, round as an apple..beset round about with many prickley thornes, and therefore they call it Thorne apple. 1694 W. Salmon Bate's Dispens. (1713) 680/2 Fresh Leaves of Strammonium bearing Thorn Apples. 1846 Lindley Veg. Kingd. 619 The Thorn-apple..is a violent narcotic when taken internally. 1898 Allbutt's Syst. Med. V. 415 Crenation of the red-corpuscles, giving rise to the so-called mulberry and thorn-apple forms.

Thornback (þɔ̃nbæk). Forms: see Thorn sb. and Back sb.[1]; also 5 -bagge, 7 -bage, -bagg.

1. The common ray or skate (Raia clavata) of British seas, used as food, distinguished by having several rows of short sharp spines arranged along the back and tail. Also called †thorny-back (obs.).

c 1300 Havelok 750 pe Butte, be schulle, þe þornebake, Ibid. 832. 1392 Earl Derby's Exp. (Camden) 155 Pro vj thornebakkes, iiij d. c 1440 Anc. Cookery in Household. Ord. (1790) 469 A codlynge or whityngge, or thornbagge, or hadok. 1594 Nashe Unfort. Trav. 16 My cape cloake..ouer-spreading my backe like a thorne-backe. 1605 Shuttlewortha' Acc. (Chetham Soc.) 170 One thornbage and fyve flokes vj[d]. 1653 H. Cogan tr. Pinto's Trav. xxiv. (1663) 89 We saw Fishes in the Shape of Thornbacks, that were four fathoms about, and had a Muzzle like an Ox. 1889 Yarrell's Brit. Fishes II. 582 The Thornback and its female the Maid. 1861 Hulme tr. Moquin-Tandon II. iii. i. 106 The Thornback.., from the shores of the Mediterranean, is of a brown colour, spotted with white and black. The body attains a length of twelve feet.

b. As the name of other species of ray: see quots.

1731 Medley Kolben's Cape G. Hope II. 202 The Cape Thornback is a broad flat fish from three quarters of an inch to an inch thick. 1898 Morris Austral Engl., Thornback, Name for one of the Stingrays, Raia lemprieri, Richards.

† c. fig. Opprobriously applied to a person.

1599 Nashe Lenten Stuffe (1871) 101 To be held a flat thornback, or sharp pricking dog-fish to the public weal.

2. a. Short for thornback crab: see 4.

1892 in Cent. Dict.

b. Provincial name of the stickleback.

1889 Yarrell's Brit. Fishes (ed. 3) II. 75 Rough-tailed Stickleback. Pinkeen..Thornback. c 1904 E. Smith (MS.) Warwick. Glos. (E.D.D.), Thorn-back, a small fish with a strong back fin. It abounds in the Avon, but it is not the stickleback.

† 3. An old maid. slang. Obs.

The female young of the thornback is called maid (Maid sb.[1]), and maiden-skate (Sc.).

1694 Motteux Rabelais v. iv, Whether when they were Maids, or Thornbacks, in their Prime, or at their last Prayers. 1709 Brit. Apollo II. No. 70. 2/2 Meeting with three Thornbacks.., I treated them. 1898 Daily News 14 Mar. 4/7 After 25, young ladies were called 'thorn-backs' by the much marrying Puritans of New England.

4. attrib., as thornback crab, a species of spider-crab or sea-spider, Maia squinado, called also in U.S. king-crab; † thornback dog, a kind of dog-fish or shark of the genus Galeus; thornback ray = sense 1; thornback skate (see quot.).

1668 Wilkins Real Char. II. v. § 3. 132 Thornback Dog, [margin] Galeus spinax. 1862 Couch Brit. Fishes I. 99 Thornback Ray, Ray-maid...This is one of the commonest of the Rays, and the most valued. 1875 Melbourne Spectator 28 Aug. 201/3 A thornback skate [Raia rostrata].. weighing 109 lbs., has been caught..at North Arm.

Hence † Thornbackly a. Obs., of the nature of a thornback; adv. as above.

1605 Tryall Chev. v. ii. in Bullen Old Pl. (1884) III. 350 The Thornbackly slave!

Thorn-bush. Any bush that bears thorns; e. g. a hawthorn, a bramble. Also attrib.

c 1330 R. Brunne Chron. (1810) 9 A suynhird smote he to dede vnder a thorn bush. 1483 Cath. Angl. 384/1 A Thorne buske, spinetum. 1535 Coverdale Judg. ix. 15 Then sayde all the trees vnto the thorne busshe; Come thou, and be kynge ouer vs. 1590 Shaks. Mids. N. v. i. 263, I, the man in the Moone; this thorne bush, my thorne bush; and this dog, my dog. 1896 Eliza Powell, Matabele Campaign xi, I lay up during the heat of the day with a waterproof sheet spread over a thorn-bush as a shelter from the sun. 1902 Westm. Gaz. 3 Nov. 3/1 Crossing this thick thorn-bush country in the face of the opposition of a numerous army elated by recent success.

Thorn-crown. A crown or fillet of thorns; chiefly in reference to that placed in mockery on the head of Christ (Matt. xxvii. 29, etc.).

? c 1400 Warres of Jewes (Laud MS. 22) in Warton Hist. Engl. Poetry (1840) II. 206 A strange thorn crown was thrast on his hed. 1819 Ld. Lytton Wanderer (ed. 2) 400 The thorn-crown hath blossom'd on my brow. 1902 Lindsay Star 12 July 2/2 He wore the thorn-crown on His brow.

So Thorn-crowned a., crowned with thorns, wearing a crown of thorns.

1609 J. Davies Holy Roode G j, We learne..by his Thorne-crowned head, How to adorne vs. 1792 R. Cumberland Calvary (1803) II. 101 His thorn-crown'd head upon his breast reclin'd. 1903 Month Aug. 127 The thorn-crowned figure of the Redeemer.

Thorne, variant of Tharn v. Obs., to lack.

Thorned (þɔ̃md), a. [f. Thorn sb. + -ed.[2]] a. Having or provided with thorns. b. Overgrown with thorn-bushes.

1893 Cir. Rossetti Songs for Strangers, etc., Poems (1904) 123/2 Our crooked ground, our thorned and thistled plot. 1895 Pop. Sci. Monthly Feb. 499 The thorned plants that inhabit them. 1903 Daily Chron. 21 Mar. 8/4 Long trails of thorned rose stems.

† Thornel. Obs. rare[−1]. [Corruption of dial. German darndel = darrling, f. darr-en to dry, parch, roast.] Silver or copper ore which remains unreduced in smelting.

1683 Petty Fleta Min. I. xxviii. § 9. 75 Let the Silver be dry, and when the Thornels (if there be any) and the Silver hath taken hold on the Ashes, they must be beaten down with a Hammer. Ibid. II. 125 Thornels,..a term of Art, for that which remains of the roasted Oar, unmelted.

Thornen (þɔ̃rnẽn), a. Obs. exc. dial. Forms: 1 ðȣ-, þyrnen, 2 þernen; 2-4 þornen, 4 (9 dial.) thornen, 9 dial. tharnin. [In OE. þyrnen = OHG. durnîn, Goth. þaurneins, :—OTeut. þurnînoz*, f. þurn-us* Thorn: see -en suffix[4]. ME. þornen (without umlaut) was assimilated to the sb., so Ger. dornen.] Of thorns or thorn; thorny.

c 897 K. Ælfred Gregory's Past. C. xxxvi. 260 He gefadode ðæt him mon sette ðȣrnenne beag on ðæt hafod. c 1000 Ælfric Hom. II. 252 His cempan..mid þyrnenum helme his heafod befengon. c 1160 Hatton Gosp. Mark xv. 17 þa cempen..him on setten þernene helm awundene. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 121 Mid þornene crune his heaued wes icrumed. c 1400 Treatise of Higden (Rolls) VI. 437 He feng a party of þe holy crosse, and som of þe crowne of þorne [MSS. a, y, þornenecrowne; d, þornen corown]. 1859 Hughes Scour. Wk. Horse iv, The tharnin tree..As is called King Alfred's tharn. 1883 Barnes Poems III. 29, I pass'd the maid avore the spring, An' shepherd by the thornen tree.

Thorn-hedge. A hedge of thorny shrubs; spec. a hedge composed of hawthorn 'sets'. Hence Thorn-hedged a., furnished with or enclosed by a thorn-hedge.

1560 Bible (Genev.) Micah vii. 4 The most righteous of them is sharper then a thorne hedge. a 1732 T. Boston Crook in Lot (1805) 33 It is like a thorn-hedge..in the way which that bias inclines him to. 1894 Zoologist XII. 4265, I discovered in a thorn-hedge the first nest that I had seen that year. 1892 A. M. Clerke Fam. Stud. Homer iii. 73 Odysseus..approached the thorn-hedged enclosure.

Thornily (þɔ̃rnili), adv. [f. as next + -ly[2].] In a thorny manner; so as to be thorny.

1887 Blackmore Springhaven xvi, Thornily crested with good stout furze.

Thorniness (þɔ̃rninẽs). [f. Thorny + -ness.] Thorny quality or condition, prickliness; fig. acerbity of manner, roughness, ruggedness.

1674 R. Godfrey Inj. & Ab. Physic 87 The Thornyness, or bad Character imprinted on the stomach,..might be obliterated. 1721 Bailey, Spinosity, thorniness, difficulty. 1868 A. R. Wallace Malay Archip. 150 The most characteristic feature of the jungle was its thorniness. 1895 Current Hist. (Buffalo, N. Y.) V. 753 The historian's rude sallies and general thorniness. 1906 Athenæum 7 July 5/2 The thorniness of metre which this poet shares with Browning.

† Thornish, a. Obs. rare. [f. Thorn sb. + -ish[1].] Thorny, prickly.

1426 Lydg. De Guil. Pilgr. 11234 Me thouthe I sawh a florkyd weye Partyng at an heg on tweyne, Thykke and thornyssh in certeyne. 1577 Frampton Joyful News II. (1596) 79 This fruite of a tree very great, after the manner of Thornish Chestnuts.

Thornless (þɔ̃rnlẽs), a. [f. Thorn sb. + -less.] Having no thorns; free from thorns; without a thorn.

1776 Withering Brit. Plants (1796) II. 456 [Mespilus germanica] Thornless: leaves spear-shaped, cottony underneath: flowers solitary, sitting. 1803 Visct. Strangford Poems of Camoens, Nereid (1820) 58 Thornless, never yet been one of those Whose rose has prov'd a thornless rose! 1885 H. Alford in Life 17 Perennial and thornless flowers bloom only in the Paradise above.

Hence Thornlessness.

1897 Livingstone Trans. Roy. Soc. xvii. 345 The thornlessness of the vegetation is especially noticeable.

Thornlet (þɔ̃rnlẽt). [f. Thorn sb. + -let.] a. A diminutive thorn-bush. b. A minute thorn.

1865 E. Burritt Walk Land's End xii. 419 The Rifle Corps fired a volley over the consecrated thornlet. 1882 Sladen in Jrnl. Linn. Soc. XVI. 201 The spinelets..appear like well-developed thornlets.

Thornpole, -pool, var. thorlpoll, Thirlepoll.

Thorn-tree. A tree having or bearing thorns; in Great Britain, usually a hawthorn tree.

1483 Cath. Angl. 384/1 A Thorne tree, mespula, ramnus. 1890 R. G. Cumming Hunter's Life S. Afr. (1902) 60/1 A clump of tangled thorn-trees. 1896 Stanley Smit & Pat. x. 363 The 'Nala', or thorn-tree, here breaks out along the hill-sides in thick jungles. 1895 Atlantic Monthly July 61 The thorn-tree before me was perhaps fifteen feet high.

b. attrib. Thorn-tree fly, a March trout-fly, a thorn-fly or Hawthorn-fly, q. v.

1676 Cotton Walton's Angler II. vii. (1881) 285 There is also for this month [March], a fly, called the Thorn-tree fly; the dubbing is..black, mixed with eight or ten hairs of Isabella-coloured mohair. 1787 Best Angling 99 March. The Thorn or Hawthorn Tree fly. 1909 Westm. Gaz. 4 May 1/3 Scant herbage, and thorn-tree white sheep flock.

Thorny (þɔ̃rni), a. [OE. þornig, f. Thorn sb. + -ig, -y. Cf. MHG. dornic.]

1. Abounding in, characterized by, or consisting of thorns or spines; spiny, prickly.

a 1023 Wulfstan Hom. xlviii. (Napier) 246 þeheza þine earan mid þornigum heȝe. a 1225 Ancr. R. 134 Heo makieð frommard hore nest—soðe wiðuten, & þorni wiðinnen. 1398 Trevisa Bartho. De P. R. xviii. xcix. (Bodl. MS.) þe Camelus mete is þorny and harde. 1456 Coventry Leet Bk. 291 Weryng þe Thorny crowne yn worship of Jhesu. 1596 Shaks. Tam. Shr. Ind. ii. 59 Daphne roming through a thornie wood. 1697 Dryden Virg. Georg. III. 490 On Shrubs they browse, and..thorny Brambles eat. 1890 Tennyson In Mem. lxix. 6, I found a wood with thorny boughs.

b. Of an animal (or a part of one): Having thorn-like organs or appendages; spiny. See also 4.

c 1711 Petiver Gazophyl. vi. lx, Sea Porcupine...This thorny Fish is a sort of Sea Hedge-hog. 1743 Zollman tr. Phil. Trans. XLII. 465 Those Caterpillars which, from the Figure and the Stiffness of their Hairs, have been called the Thorny ones. 1756 Amory Buncle (1825) I. 250 The perch [with] the thorny fins on its back.

2. Abounding in thorn-bearing or prickly plants; overgrown with thorns or brambles. Also fig.

Thorny ground, fig. after the parable of the sower, Matt. xiii. 7, etc. Often attrib.

c 1000 Ælfric Hom. I. 342 Se yrðling lufað ȝone æcer, ðe æfter ðornum..wæstmas æxið, swiðor þonne he lufiȝe ðone ðe þornig mas, ne wæstmberne ne bliðe. c 1325 Metr. Hom. 52 This gat es stany and thornye. c 1440 Gesta Rom. viii. 19 (Harl. MS.) Pe wey toward þe Cite was stony, þorny, and scrogiye. 1593 Shaks. 3 Hen. VI, v. iv. 67 The thorny Wood, Which..Must by the Roots be hewne vp yet ere Night. 1697 J. Watts Dipper Sprinkled 93, I was a Hedge-hog way side Hearer, a Thorny-ground Auditor. 1735 Somerville Chace 1. 259 He..in the thorny Brake Torn and embarrass'd bleeds. 1799 Mary Therrington Diary in Life 13, I am but too much a thorny-ground hearer. 1863 W. C. Baldwin Afr. Hunting vi. 150 There are lots of game here, and a nice thorny country.

3. fig. a. Pricking or piercing to the mind; full of points painful or wounding to the feelings; painful, distressing; harassing, vexatious, irritating.

a 1340 Hampole Psalter xcii. 36 All þe thorny & þe hairy besynes of þis warld. a 1586 Sidney Arcadia III. (R.), It was easily seen it was a very thorny abode he made there. 1600 Shaks. A. V. L. II. vii. 94 The thorny point Of bare distresse, hath tane from me the shew Of smooth civility. 1728 Young Love Fame v. 252 Thorny care, and rank and stinging hate. 1868 Lynch Rivulet cxl. vi, That thorny cares may yield sweet fruits.

b. Full of points of contention or difficulty; difficult to handle; delicate, ticklish.

1653 tr. Hakes' Dissert. de Pace x. 48 In these so subtil and thorny explications, if they..chance to erre, shall they presently be termed the enemies of God and Christ? 1675 Traherne Chr. Ethics 25 Prudence is that knowledge, by which we guide our selves in thorny and uncertain affairs. 1793 Burke Corr. (1844) IV. 133 This American is an ugly and thorny affair. 1831 Scott Jrnl. 13 Mar., I have finally arranged a thorny transaction. 1907 Athenæum 25 May 638/1 Several of the thinnest conceivable points which have perplexed both ancient and modern logicians.

4. a. In the names of species or varieties of plants, animals, or shells, characterized by having thorns or spines: prickly, spiny; as thorny acacia, asparagus, clam, germander, lobster, rest-harrow.

Also thorny apple = Thorn-apple; thorny broom, (a) the petty whin, Genista anglica, (b) the common whin, furze, or gorse; thorny cow = thorn-jumper (Thorn sb. 8); thorny palm, the prickly palm of the W. Indies, Bactris Plumierana; thorny trefoil, a thorny shrub of the Mediterranean region, Fagonia Cretica; thorny woodcock, a shell of the Indian Ocean, Murex tenuispina, with long thin closely-set spines. (See also 5 b.)

1834 Pringle Afr. Sk. vii. 239 An open grassy meadow ..bordered by willow trees and groves of the *thorny acacia [*A. horrida, Dornboom]. 1598 Lyte Dodoens III. lxxxii. 441 The Names..*thorne apples, thicke apples, and Stramonia. 1832 Veg. Subst. Food Man 187 The *thorny asparagus,..basket with sharp spurs. 1597 Gerarde Herbal III. xviii. 1140 This *thorney Broome is taken for Theophrastus his Scorpius, which Gaza nameth Nepa. 1824 Hortus Anglicus II. 81 *T[eucrium] Spinosum, *Thorny Germander. 1833 Encycl. Brit. (ed. 7) VII. 502/1 The Palinurus vulgaris, or *thorny lobster, sometimes also termed cray-fish. 1666 J. Jones Hist. Curiosity Isles 35 The Prickly or *Thorny-Palm, having that name from the prickliness of it. 1822 Hortus Anglicus II. 233 *Q[uonia] Spinosa. *Thorny Rest Harrow. 1760 Lee Introd. Bot. App. 355/1 *Thorny Trefoil, of Candia, Fagonia. 1842 Penny Cycl. XXII. 55/1 Murex Tribulus (Common *Thorny Woodcock).

b. In other collocations, as † thorny marrow, the spinal marrow.

1662 J. Chandler Vam Helmont's Oriat. 195 It is made motive in the thorny marrow or Spina Medulla.

5. Comb. as thorny-edged, -pointed, -pricking, -thin, -twining adjs.

1594 Kyd Cornelia II. 269 Whose lofttie Towers (like thorny-pointed spears). 1596 Edw. III, I. i, Feruent desire, .. Is farre more thorne pricking than this blade. 1705 Pettiver in Phil. Trans. XXV. 1952 The Thorny-edged Carolina Crab. 1735 Somerville Chace II. 166 The thorny-twining Hedge. 1885 Hul. G. Cone in Atlantic Monthly Apr. 451 What lifeless laughter, crackling thorny-thin?

b. Special Combs.: thorny-back, (a) the thornback; (b) the stickleback; (c) the river perch; thorny-rib (see quot.); thorny-shell, a univalve mollusc, Volutella spinosa.

1810 P. Neill List Fishes 28 (Jam.) *Thorny-back (Raia clavata). 1869 Chater's Tyneside Alm. 13 (E.D.D.) Here may be fund the thorney-back, the Pobbend an' Tommy Lodjor. a 1711 Pettiver Gazophyl. VIII. lxxviii, Limington *Thorney-ribs..A sort of Fossil Murex. 1773 Pettiver Aquat. Anim. Amboinæ Tab. iii, Voluta spinosa..River *Thorney-shell.

Thoro, obs. form of Thorough.

Thoro- (θō'rō), combining form of Thorium, in names of compound salts, minerals, etc. e. g.

Thoroguummite Min. [Gummite: see quot. 1889], a hydrated thorosilicate of uranium; Thorosilicate Chem., a silicate in which part of the silicon is replaced by thorium.

1889 Amer. Jrn. Sc. & Art XXXVIII. 482 We name this mineral thoro-gummite, because it is a gummite in which the water has been replaced by the thorite molecule. Ibid. 480 It seems better to regard the mineral as a hydrated thoro-silicate of uranium, rather than as a urano-silicate of thorium. 1909 Cent. Dict. Supp., Thoroguummite..like other native compounds of thorium and uranium, has marked radio-active properties.

Thorough (θʌ'rō), prep. and adv. Chiefly archaic or Obs. Forms: see below. [A disyllabic development of OE. þurh, Through, when fully stressed, which appeared already in later OE. as þuruh (cf. OHG. duruh, durah, durih, OS. thuru), and has regularly become thorough, and Eng., as burh became buruh, borough, furh furrow, borh borrow, sorh sorrow, mearh marrow. Thorough is thus the direct representative of the full-stressed OE. þurh; and it is owing to the fact that þurh was chiefly a preposition, and thus usually proclitic and stressless, that it is now, in this use, represented by through (unstressed þru, new-stressed þrū). The stressed form was naturally used when þurh was a separate word, i. e. an adv., adj., or sb., or the stressed part of a compound, as in thoroughfare; and, as prepositions were sometimes emphatic and stressed, the þuruh, thorough form remained also as a prep. beside the unstressed þūrh, þūr, þrūh, þrū, etc.; on the other hand, the new-stressed form through (þrū) of the prep. has in more recent times been taken also by the adv., while thorough remains in both as an archaic form, and as that of the derived adj. and sb. In the adverb its function is largely taken over by its derivative thoroughly.

As both thorough and through are existing words, distinct in spelling and still more in pronunciation, it seems best to make two articles, placing under Through the various monosyllabic forms, including the obsolete þurh, thurgh, þurh, þurh, and the now dialectal throuff; and treating under Thorough the less numerous disyllabic variants. This entails some duplication of the definition, but appears preferable to treating thorough merely as a variant of through. It must be remembered however that both þruh, through, and þuruh, thorough, developed by insensible gradations out of þurh, thurgh, and that therefore the a-forms under Through belong, down to 1300 and 1400, really as much to the history of thorough.]

A. Illustration of Forms.

a. 1–3 þuruh, 3 þureh, þuregh, 3–5 þoruȝ, 4 þoruh, þoruhe, þoroȝ, þoroghh, thoroȝh, 4–5 þoroȝȝ, thoruȝ, 4–6 throuȝh, 5 thoruh, thorowh, -owgh, -ughe, -oughe, 5– thorough (8– thoro').

β. 3–4 þuru, þoru, 4 thoru, poron, 4–5 thoro, thorou, porowe, 4–6 throwe, 4–8 (9 in comb.) thorow, (5 thurowe, thurrowe, 5–6 dorow, 6 thurrou(ty), thorro, 6–7 thorrow); γ. 3–4 þorow, 4 þurw, pourw, thorw, 4–5 porwe; 4 poruth (in Joruthlihe, Thoroughly).

c 1000 Ags. Ps. (Th.) lxv. 11 We þuruh fyr farañ, and þuruh floda þrym. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 199 Oðer kinnes neddre ..criepeð nedlinge þureh nerewe hole. Ibid. 33 þuregh [see B. I. 6]. 1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 8513 þoru godes wrake. a 1300 Cursor M. 31 How crist com thoro [v.rr. borow, thoru, þourȝe] prophecí. 13.. Ibid. 20698 (B. M. Add. MS.) þorwe [v.rr. thoru, porou, þourȝe] þe toun. 1377 Langl. P. Pl. B. IX. 151 þus pourw curseed caym cam eare vppon eorthe. Ibid. xix. 300 Þorw þe pas of alloun Pouerte myste passe with-oute peril of robbynge. c 1380 Poroȝ [see B. I. 1 b]. c 1430 Hymns Virg. 123 Longeus hym stonge doron þe side. c 1449 Pecock Repr. I. i. 7 Weelnyȝ thoruȝ al the chapiter. 1538 Thurrowe [see B. I. 6]. 1467, 1482 Thorow [see B. II. 1]. 1474 Through [see B. II. 4]. 1484 Caxton Fables of Æsop I. xiv, Deceyued thoroughe fals counceylle. 1485 — Chas. Gt. I. ii. v. 30 Through hys mayyens. 1566 Chron. Gr. Friars (Camden) 40 Brought..to the tower thorow Smythfelde and in at Newgat, rydynge 800 thorow Chepe-syde. Ibid. 56 Prechyng thoro alle Ynglonde agayne the sacrament of the aulter. 1590 Shaks. Mids. N. iv. 1. 3 Over hill, over dale, Through [Folios Through] bush, through briar. 1671, a 1713 Thorow [see B. II. 1]. 1725 S. Sewall Diary 17 Mar., Much Water passes thorow the three Spaces left for that purpose. 1850, 1893 Thorough [see B. I. 1, 2].

B. Signification.

I. prep. (Still in poetic or archaic use.)

1. From side to side or end to end of; = Through prep. 1. arch.

c 1000, c 1200 [see A.]. 1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 4277 þe erl ..mid is launce þoru þe þrote smot on. a 1300 Cursor M. 7809 Thoru his lcam mi sueord i draif. 1377 [see A.]. c 1450 M.E. Med. Bk. (Heinrich) 204 Let hyt remne porow a fayre cloth. a 1540 Barnes Wks. (1573) 219/2 You ryde thorowe streetes, and townes. 1684 R. Waller Nat. Exper. 121 An hole thorough the bottom of the Vessel. 1712 tr. Pomet's Hist. Drugs I. 149 Such as will pass thorow an Iron Ring. 1829 Bracebridge Æsculap. 47 Thorough the heart, Through my liver, Keen as the cold ice Shot through the river.

b. Of transmission of light or sight. Obs. or arch.

c 1380 Wyclif Serm. Sel. Wks. I. 142 As þe sunne comeþ poroug þe glas. 1585 T. Washington tr. Nicholay's Voy. II. iii. 33, I saw these bathes thorow a great hole. a 1696 Lynde Case for Spect. (1698) 45 You begin to looke asquint thorow your Spectacles at the reformed Churches. 1705 Stanhope Paraphr. II. 599 The Truth never shines so bright, as when the Oppositions, that strive to darken it, are plainly seen thorow.

† c. In reference to the passage of the voice through the throat, etc.: = Through prep. 1 d.

1668 [see Through B. I. 1 d].

† d. Of passage between the individual things of a group; = Through prep. 1 e. Obs.

1535 Fisher Wks. (1876) 365 He must..creepe thorowe the thicke bushes. 1684 Bunyan Pilgr. II. 39 The man that cut his way thorough his Enemies.

† e. In phrase thorough one's hands = Through prep. 1 f. Obs.

1660 F. Brooke tr. Le Blanc's Trav. 19 The Jewes..are such cheates, they sophisticate all that comes thorough their hands. 1710 Pheidaux Orig. Tithes v. 268 Lawyers, whose hands it passed thorough.

† f. In various fig. applications: see Through prep. 1 g. Obs.

1543 [see Thick and Thin A. 1]. 1581 Pettie Guazzo's Civ. Conv. II. (1586) 58 b, Those of Piemount, who with the shrilnesse of their wordes goe thorow ones eares. 1629 Hieron Wks. II. 116 Good points of doctrine runne thorow vs as thorow a pipe. 1680 Burnet Rochester (1692) 127 Which the strength of his Mind would soon break thorough.

† g. Thorough and thorough = Through prep. 1 h. Obs.

13.. Cursor M. 24381 (Fairf.) A squorde sulde stike ouerthwert þorou and þorou [Gött. Toru and thoru] þine awen hert. c 1489 Caxton Sonnes of Aymon I. 56 He shoued hym thorughe and thorughe his body.

2. Along (to any distance) within. Without implication of traversing from end to end. arch.

c 1050, etc. [see Through B. I. 2]. c 1430 Chev. Assigne 95 He wente porow a foreste fowre longe myle. 1646 Sir T. Browne Pseud. Ep. v. xvi. 257 The Picture of St Christopher..with a staff in his hand, wading thorow the water. 1893 Symonds in H. T. Wharton Sappho (1895) 60 Pinion on pinion, thorough middle ether Down from heaven hurried.

3. Over the whole extent of, in or to all parts of; throughout; = Through prep. 3. Also b. sometimes following the sb. arch. and poet.

c 1000 [see Through B. I. 3]. ? a 1366 Chaucer Rom. Rose 1366 Fyges, and many a date tree There wexen.. Thorough the gardyn in length and brede. 1485 Caxton Chas. Gt. I. ii. v. 30 Charles..sente oueral thorugh hys empyre. 1535 Coverdale Acts xiv. 23 When they had ordeyned them Elders by eleccion thorow all the congregacions. a 1635 Br. Corbet Poems (1807) 12 Send of this stuffe thy territories thorough To Ireland, Wales and Scottish Eddenborough. 1678 Cudworth Intell. Syst. I. iv. § 18. 343 Which Supreme Incorporeal Deity, was..said to be All Things, because it diffused it self thorough All. 1803 Wordsw. Yarrow Unvisited v, O'er hilly path and open Strath We'll wander Scotland thorough.

† c. Phrase. Thorough all thing: see Through prep. 3 c. Obs.

1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 7549 þis noble duc willam him let crouny king At London amid winter day, nobliche þoru alle þing. c 1380 Sir Ferumb. 1926 Charlis, þat is of fraunce kyng..Hoteþ þe þorw alle þyng to leuen þyn erour.

4. From beginning to end of a space of time; = Through prep. 4. Also following the sb.

a 1000, etc. [see Through B. I. 4]. 1535 Coverdale Ps. lxxvii. 14 All the night thorow with a light of fyre. 1608 Dod & Cleaver Expos. Prov. ix-x. 7 Thorow the whole yeere. 1896 A. E. Housman Shropshire Lad xvii, Twice a week the witne thorough [rime sorrow] Here stood I.

† 5. From beginning to end of a process, action, writing, etc., esp. to the very end of; = Through prep. 5, 5 c. Obs.

c 1449 Pecock Repr. I. i. 7 Weelnyȝ thoruȝ al the chapiter, Poul meeneth [etc.]. c 1468 Wyther Brit. Remenib. 243 At the last God brought me thorow all My doubts and fears. 1632 Sanderson Serm. 61, I foresaw we should not have time to goe thorow all that was intended.

6. Indicating intermediation, means, agency, instrumentality; = Through prep. 7. arch. or Obs.

a 800–1154 [see Through B. I. 7]. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 33 Þe engel..seweð a whilche wise and þureh hwan þis bisse cunen sholde. a 1300 Cursor M. 1395 Thorw birth of a bliseful child. 1377 [see A.]. 1456 Coventry Leet Bk. 289 The blessyd babe..Thurrowe whom pece & tranquillite shall take his reme on hand. 1535 Coverdale Josh. xxiv. 12 Not thorow thy swerde, nor thorow thy bowe. 1671 Flavel Fount. Life xiii. 37 By Vertue of the Mediator and thorow the Benefit of his Death. 1847 Emerson Poems, Sphinx, Thorough a thousand voices Spoke the universal dame.

† b. Indicating the agent after a passive verb; = Through prep. 7 b. Obs.

a 900–c 1000 [see Through B. I. 7 b]. c 1290 Beket 374 in S. Eng. Leg. I. 117/374 Þe churche..þat..was..a-ord þoruȝ henri þe oþur kingue. a 1325 M.S. Rawl. B. 520 If. 32 b, Hit is icommanded þoru þe king þat eche man habbe in house weapne. 1392 Langl. P. Pl. C. iv. 2 Porw bedeles and bailifs brouht by-fore þe kynge.

† 7. Indicating cause, reason, or motive; = Through prep. 8. Obs.

a 1000–c 1460 [see Through B. I. 8]. 1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 11320 þe king hadde þer to gode wille þoru frerene rede. a 1374 Clariodus 1 Ed. 2 Hit swerde of swete byte My woufull harte þorowe your crewelitee. 1596 Danett tr. Comines (1614) 236 He ended his life thorow a sickenes. 1666 H. Stubbe Mirac. Conform. 3 His life seemed burthensome to him thorough the violence of the..temptation.

II. adverb. (Now arch. or dial.)

1. From side to side, from surface to surface, from end to end (of a body or space); = Through adv. 1.

a 1000–c 1400 [see Through B. II. 1]. a 1300, 1330 [see thorough-bear, -bore in Thorough- 1]. c 1493 Epitaffe, etc. in Skelton's Wks. (1843) II. 392 Thorow thrylled and persyd with payne. 1638 Junius Painti. Ancients 227 We doe not make our plate so thinne as to..cut it quite thorough with engraving. 1672 Marvell Reh. Transp. I. 42 If he meet them in the dark, he runs them thorow. a 1713 Ellwood Autobiog. (1765) 184, I walked it thorow in a Day. 1883 Swinburne Cent. Comedies, Sorrow 1, Thou hast disclose in her heart gnawn thorough [rime furrow] With pain.

† b. To the end of the journey, all the way; = Through adv. 1 b. Obs.

1684 Bunyan Pilgr. II. 73 You should have begged me of him to have gon quite thorough with you. Ibid. 176 How he got thorow to whither he intended.

2. From beginning to end of a time, process, action, work, book); = Through adv. 2. arch.

a 1225 [see thorough-fill in Thorough- 1]. 1513 More in Grafton Chron. (1568) II. 777 Sithence he had once begonne, he would stoutly go thorowe. 1548–9 (Mar.) Bk. Com. Prayer, Consecrn. Service, They were onely begun, and neuer read thorow. 1670–2 Marvell Corr. Wks. (Grosart) II. 371 The Committee of Conventicles have..gone thorow with their Bill. 1748 Chesterf. Lett. 26 July, They..never consider it in all its different views; and, in short, never think it thorough. 1843 Carlyle Past & Pr. III. xv. (tr. Goethe), The Future hides in it Gladness and sorrow; We press still thorow.

† 3. Predicatively, after the vb. to be, indicating settlement; = Through adv. 3 b. Obs.

1467 J. Paston in P. Lett. II. 209 He is owthawyd at Sir John Fastolfys swte..notwithstanding he is thorow with Sir T. Howys for Sir John Fastolf. 1482 Cely Papers

(Camden) 88, I gawhe the exchetter xls for wa bothe and so whe be thorow with hym for aull matters.

4. Qualifying pa. pple. or adj.; = THROUGH adv. 4 a. Obs. or dial.

Now usually expressed by THOROUGHLY, except when hyphened to a pa.pple., as thorough-bred; see THOROUGH- 1. In 17-18th c. also hyphened to adj. s.

a 1240 Urcisun 123 in Cott. Hom. 197 Mid swube hifere lasten mi soule is þuruh hunden. 1474 Coventry Leet Bk. 401 Pat it be thorowe tanned and throwe Coryed. 1532 TINDALE Exp. 1 John 1. 1 (5 38) 14 b, Yet is it neuer thorow whole vntyll the houre of death. 1594 PLAT Jewell-ho. II. 38 When it is thorough hot. 1620 VENNER Via Recta vii. 120 The sweet Grapes..being thorow ripe. 1622 MABBE tr. Alemán's Guzman d'Alf. I. 37 When he [the patient] saw that he was thorow well. 1640 FULLER Joseph's Coat, David's Punishm. (1897) 239 Thou art not yet so thorough worn with age. 1692 R. L'ESTRANGE Fables ccii. (1714) 219 The Lion himself was not Thorough-Proof against this Fantastical Alarum. 1702 C. MATHER Magn. Chr. III. III. (1852) 560 They had thorow-good reasons for doing so. 1710 PRIDEAUX Orig. Tithes iv. 208 A Veteran and thorough settled Constitution of this Kingdom. 1729 BUTLER Serm. Wks. 1874 II. 82 A thorough honest man would..have repeated his former answer. a 1774 GOLDSM. Hist. Greece II. 112 He had a thorough good opinion of himself. 1796 C. MARSHALL Garden. xiv. (ed. 3) 192 Till the earth is got thorough warm again. 1863 Miss YONGE Heir of Redclyffe xliv, He is a thorough great man.

†5. Thorough and thorough = through and through: see THROUGH adv. 5. Obs.

1470–85 MALORY Arthur I. xvi. 58 With his sword he brocheed the hors ..thorow and thorow. 1526 TINDALE John xix. 23 The coote was with out seme woven vppon thorowe and thorowe. 1658 CLEVELAND Rustick Ramp. Wks. (1687) 446 Richard might have been struck thorough and thorough.

†6. With ellipsis of go, get, pass, or other vb. of motion; = THROUGH adv. 6. Obs.

1573 TUSSER Husb. (1878) 37 Trench hedge and forrow, that water may thorow. 1670 COTTON Espernon II. vii. 339 We are now come too far..to return.., we must either thorow, or dye.

Thorough (pʌ'rō, pʌ'rə), adj. and sb. [attrib. use of prec. adv.]

A. adjective.

1. Used chiefly with sbs. of action or position, being a kind of elliptical use of the adv. = 'going, passing, or extending through', as thorough passage = passage through, thorough heat = heating through; cf. THROUGH a. 1. Obs. exc. in special applications. (See also THOROUGH- in comb. 2.)

c 1489 [see sense 2]. c 1566 SIR H. GILBERT in Hakluyt Voy. (1600) III. 20 He had heard a Fisherman..say..that he sayled very farre towards the Southeast, finding no end of the Sea: whereby he hoped a thorow passage to be that way. 1776 G. SEMPLE Building in Water 47 Very large Stones carefully bedded..; to guard the thorough Foundation between the Piers from..being displaced. 1799 G. SMITH Laboratory I. 186 Give it by degrees a thorough heat. 1843 R. J. GRAVES Syst. Clin. Med. v. 62 The bed-room..should be well aired, but without what is termed thorough air. Ibid. xxi. 251 The patient caught a fresh cold from being exposed to the thorough air of our too well ventilated ward. 1884 F. J. BRITTEN Watch & Clocks. 102 The holes for the train pivots are termed 'thorough holes'.

2. a. Of an action, etc.: Carried out through the whole of something; thoroughgoing; fully executed; applied to or affecting every part or detail. Hence, gen. That is fully what is expressed by the noun; thoroughgoing, complete, perfect, downright, entire. † In quot. 1581, Completely apt or suitable. (See also THROUGH a. 2.)

Formerly sometimes hyphened to the following sb., being treated as the adv. in combination (cf. THOROUGH-2, THROUGH-).

c 1489 SIR S. HAMERTON in Plumpton Corr. (Camden) 63 To make a thorow search for my matter. a 1500 in C. Trice-Martin Chanc. Pro. 15th C. 109/2 [To] make a thurgh ende with the said Piers Hous and pay hym .xx. marcs. 1581 SIDNEY Astr. & Stella lvii, He forc't them out to find The thorowest words, fit for woes selle to grone. 1615 LATHAM Falconry (1633) 92 To give her a thorough scowring. 1617 HIERON Wks. II. 210 To bring vs to this thorow and effectuall vnderstanding. 1678 BUTLER Hud. III. ii. 850 Those who laid the first Foundation Compleat the thorow Reformation. 1719 DE FOE Crusoe I. 214 In the Morning, even before it was thorow Day-light. 1766 GOLDSM. Vic. W. xxv, A thorough knowledge of the world. 1780 in Jesse Selwyn & Contemp. (1844) IV. 383 Mr. Mathews..proposed a thorough resolution..; seconded by you. 1862 BURTON Bk. Hunter 102 The thoroughest test of active scholarship. 1893 W. LEWIN in Bookman June 85/2 His knowledge of English literature is extensive and thorough.

b. Of a person in reference to his action or quality.

1655 GURNALL Chr. in Armor xxxv. viii. § 4 (1669) 144/1 The soul effectually brought out of the love of sin as sin, will never be thorow-friends with it again. a 1700 DRYDEN (J.), A thorough translator must be a thorough poet. 1725 LEONI Alberti's Archit. II. 96/2 He is a thorough master of those elements of Painting. 1842 LYTTON Disowned xiii, He was the finest and most thorough gentleman I ever saw. 1850 MRS. CARLYLE Lett. (1883) II. 129 Servants who give themselves out for 'thorough'. 1884 RITA Vivienne I. iii, Blanche de Verdreuil was a thorough coquette.

B. sb. [Elliptical or absolute uses of THOROUGH a. or adv.].

1. Thorough-going action or policy: in Eng. Hist. (with capital T) applied to that of Strafford and Laud in the reign of Charles I, and sometimes to that of Cromwell as Lord Protector.

c 1634 LAUD in Strafford Papers I. 111 And for the state, indeed, my lord, I am for Thorough. 1849 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. I. I. 09 And now Wentworth exulted in the near prospect of Thorough. 1894 GREEN Short Hist. viii. § 5 The dark gloomy countenance, the full heavy eye, which meet us in Strafford's portrait are the best commentary on his policy of 'Thorough'. 1900 MORLEY Cromwell IV. vi. 354 They had set up the Commonwealth without lords or monarch. They were deep in all the proceedings of Cromwellian Thorough.

†2. A channel artificially cut or dug; a trench, esp. Agric. one made for draining a field; = THROUGH sb.[2] 1. Obs.

a 1555 BRADFORD Wks. (Parker Soc.) I. 303 If any man would alter the natural course of any water to run a contrary way, he shall never be able to do it with dams...Therefore the alteration must be from the head, by making other thoroughs and devices. 1581 Coventry Leet Bk. 824 Vp a thorowe between two Landes in the middes of the feild by certain meare-stones there sett.

3. A furrow; water-thorough, a 'thorough' made for surface-draining; a water-furrow. Agric.

The Eng. Dial. Dict. has in sense 'furrow', thurrow, Yorksh. to Herts and Essex, also locally written thorough, thurough, thur-ur. Cf. Th, the initial, (6).

1733 W. ELLIS Chiltern & Vale Farm. 5 The Ignorance and Idleness of the Plowman, who either goes so shallow, or plows his Thoroughs so wide, or misses Part of the Ground. Ibid. 22 Sow them in four Thoroughs. 1794–99 — Husb. Husbandm. I. I. 76 The ploughman..goes on plowing throughout the field, without making any..water-thoroughs. 1766 Compl. Farmer s. v. Lucern. Then ploughing it very narrow and sharp, he made water thoroughs with the plough. 1796 W. MARSHALL Midl. Gloss., Thorough, an interfurrow, between two ridges. 1868 Sheffield Gloss., Thurrow, a furrow of land.

†Thorough, v.[1] Obs. rare–[1]. [f. THOROUGH adv.] trans. To pass through, pierce, penetrate.

1598 BANISTER Hist. Man I. 32 The superiour [part] is thorowed on each side, with a large & ample hole.

Thorough, v.[2] local. [f. THOROUGH sb.] trans. To make 'thoroughs' or furrows in; see THOROUGH sb. 3. Hence Thoroughed ppl. a.; Thoroughing vbl. sb.

1733 W. ELLIS Chiltern & Vale Farm. 28 Plough them in very shallow,..thorough and harrow well. Ibid. 106 The Ground may be so gathered into a four Thorough'd-stitch or Ridge. 1744–50 — Med. Husbandm. V. I. 87 The land ..should be back-bouted, or what we call thoroughed-down. 1759 — Pract. Farmer (ed. 5) Gloss. 5 Four-thoroughing of Land is not Clean Ploughing, but running up four Thoroughs close together with the Plough. Ibid., Thoroughing down is drawing the plough once through the bought, to lay it plain for wheat or barley.

Thorough- in combination. (See also THOROUGH a. 2, and THROUGH- in comb.).

1. Combinations of THOROUGH adv. with verbs, pples., or adjs.: † thorough-bear v. [BEAR v.[1] 35], trans. to 'bear' through, pierce, transfix, stab; thorough-bind v., trans. to bind or fasten (a wall, etc.) by a stone or iron, passing through from side to side (cf. thoroughband in 2); thorough-bore v. [OE. þurhborian], trans. to bore through, perforate; † thorough-cleansing a., cleansing throughout or thoroughly; † thorough-devilled ppl. adj. Obs., nonce-wd., completely possessed by a devil; thorough-dress v., trans. to dress or manure (ground) thoroughly; thorough-dry v., trans. to dry thoroughly; thorough-felt pa. pple., felt throughout; † thorough-fill (buruh fullen) v., to fill up, complete; thorough-fought ppl. a., fought through or to the end; thorough-gone (slang or dial.): see quots.; † thorough-humble v., trans. to humble thoroughly or completely; † thorough-lined ppl. a., lined throughout; † thorough-made ppl. a., thoroughly made, made with full determination; thorough-ripe (thorough-ripe) a., ripe throughout, thoroughly ripe; † thorough-run v. trans. to run through, pierce, penetrate; † thorough-seasoned ppl. a., seasoned throughout or thoroughly; † thorough-shot ppl. a., shot through, transfixed as with an arrow; † thorough-soaking ppl. a. [SOAK v.], oozing or trickling through; thorough-sped ppl. a. (? obs. exc. dial.), thoroughly accomplished or developed; perfect, thoroughgoing, thorough-paced; † thorough-stain v., trans. to stain thoroughly. See also THOROUGHBRED, etc.

(In early use the adv. was often written separately before a vb., as it still is when it follows the vb.)

a 1300 Cursor M. 7624 Pe king smat ill him wit a sper In breth he wald him ‡bore ber. c 1400 Laud Troy Bk. 16431 Ichon smat at to-bet, Schyr & wounded, & thorow-barc. 1884 L. OLIPHANT Haifa (1887) 189 The crusaders used them [granite pillars] to ‡thorough-bind their walls. 1900 Union Mag. Oct. 457/2 Ancient columns are built into the walls of later castles, to thoroughbind the masonry. c 1000 in Cockayne Narrat. (1861) 20 Het hie þa ‡þurhborian. c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. Wace (Rolls) 16184 Handes, armes, bey dide þorow bore. 1703 T. N. City & C. Purchaser 4 They then thorough bore their Foles. 1642 H. MORE Song Soul II. i. i. xxi, ‡Thorough-cleansing virtue. 1604 PARSONS 3rd Pt. Three Convers. Eng. 279 They were indenilled, superdeuilled, and ‡thoroweduilled. 1733 W. ELLIS Chiltern & Vale Farm. 31 Their vast Crops of Straws, and great Numbers of Cattle, make such Returns of Dung, as enables most of them to ‡thorough-dress their own Grounds. 1707 MORTIMER Husb. (1721) I. 284 Firing..must be long continued to ‡thorough-dry so many together. 1817 MOORE Lalla R., Fire-worsh. iv. 115 How deep, how ‡thorough-felt the glow Of rapture. a 1225 Ancr. R. 404 Heo..‡þuruh fulled, onont hire, Godes pine o rode. 1585–6 EARL LEICESTER Corr. (Camden) 427 A gallant and a ‡thorow-fought assault. 1822 SCOTT Pirate iv, The small beer of the college, commonly there termed ‡thorough-go-nimble'. 1825 BROCKETT N. C. Words, Thorough-gaimble, a diarrhœa. 1617 HIERON Wks. II. 77 To bring Dauid to these two specialties: first, of ‡thorow-humbling himselfe; secondly, of making an acknowledgement. 1695 SYLVESTER Du Bartas II. iii. iii. Lawe 1006 A cloak of clouds, all ‡thorough-lin'd with thunder. 1649 LOVELACE To Deare Sro. Col. R. L. v, One gallant ‡thorough-made Resolve Doth Starry Influence dissolve. 1669 WORLIDGE Syst. Agric. (1681) 153 They get more in the ‡thorough-ripe Hop by the weight, than they loose in the colour. 1707 MORTIMER Husb. (1721) II. 247 Cyder pressed from pulpy, or thorough-ripe, or mellow Fruit. 1698 A. FOX Works' Surg. I. iv. 18 If..sharper things should be used, they would ‡thorough-run the Wound. 1598 SYLVESTER Du Bartas II. i. 1. Eden 62 The ‡thorough-seasoned But Wherein the tears of dault-prest Grapes are put. 1624 LOVELACE Poems 50 Thee and thy wounds I would bemoane Faire ‡thorough-shot Religion. 1642 H. MORE Song Soul I. iii. xxiv, Here fifty Sisters in a sieve do draw ‡Thorough-siping water (Danaus is here. 1730 SWIFT Vind. Ld. Carlaret 7 28 Our ‡thorough-sped republic of Whigs. 1898 T. HARDY Wessex Poems 63 Never upon me Had she thrown look of love so thorough-sped. 1593 NASHE Christ's T. Wks. (Grosart) IV. 216 spotting and ‡thorow-stayning thy deere bought Spyrit.

2. Combinations with sbs. or derived adjs. (cf. THOROUGH a.): thorough-band (through-band), a stone, etc., extending through the breadth of a wall or dyke so as to bind the sides together (cf. band-stone, BAND sb.[1] 15); also attrib.; thorough-blood a., of pure breed (said of a horse); cf. FULL-BLOOD; thorough-door, a door leading through; the door of a passage; thorough-draught (through-draught), a draught or current of air passing through a room, etc. (in quot. 1866, a channel or passage for a draught of air); thorough-edged a., thoroughly or perfectly edged; keen-edged; thorough-foot, a disarrangement in a tackle caused by one or both of the blocks getting entangled in the fall (cf. thorough-put); thorough-hearted a., whole-hearted, entirely devoted; hence thorough-heartedness; thorough-joint (Anat.), a perfectly movable joint or articulation (cf. DIARTHROSIS); thorough-put, a knot or tangle upon a rope formed by putting one part of it through a loop in another (cf. thorough-foot); † thorough-road = THOROUGHFARE sb. (in quot. attrib.); thorough-shot, thorough-stem: see quots.; † thorough-touch († through-touch), a touch that penetrates the soul, a deep spiritual impression; thorough-winded a. (of a horse), sound in 'wind' or breathing; not broken-winded. See also THOROUGHBASS to THOROUGHWORT.

1805 DICKSON Pract. Agric. I. Pl. xxix, The ‡thorough band turf..being first lightly laid. 1810 S. SMITH Agric. Surv. Galloway vi. 88 It is essential to the durability of a dyke..that the two sides be well bound together by long stones laid across, termed thoroughbands. 1842 TENNYSON Bk. Farm III. 1007 It tends much to the stability of a dyke to have what is called a thorough-band stone..placed across it. 1829 Sporting Mag. XXIII. 271 Our nearly ‡thorough-blood hunter and carriage horses. 1822 G. BARLEY Spirit 32 But you may catch his sullen roar Most loud when opes the ‡thorough-door. 1866 HOWELLS Venet. Life iii, The narrow streets are bitter ‡thorough-drafts. 1868 Rep. U.S. Commissioner Agric. (1869) 438 The windows are closed and matted, and no thorough-draught is allowed. 1905 Daily Chron. 22 July 8/5 The drawing-room is..spared the desecrating thorough-draught. 1830 TENNYSON Isabel ii, The intuitive decision of a bright And ‡thorough-edged intellect to part Error from crime. 1889 ‡Thorough-foot [see thorough-put]. 1887 Athenæum 31 Dec. 893/3, The ‡thorough-heartedness with which Barnes threw himself into this. 18.. COUES (Cent. Dict.), ‡Thorough-joint. 1829 GEN. P. THOMPSON Exerc. (1842) I. 112 Knots, of different degrees of complexity, from a simple ‡thorow-put, to a complication of loops and twists [etc.]. 1867 SMYTH Sailor's Word-bk., Thorough-puts, or Thorough-foots, are kinks or tangles in a rope; or parts of a double net leading fair by reason of one of the blocks having been passed round part of the fall. a 1661 FULLER Worthies, Lond. (1662) II. 224 He built at Buntingford (a ‡thorow-road market..) a neat and strong Chappel. 1891 Cent. Dict. ‡Thorough-shot, same as thorough-pin. ‡Thorough-stem, same as thoroughwort. 1607 HIERON Wks. I. 459 Nothing which may argue a ‡through-touch, or a comfortable expectation of Gods favour. 1617 Ibid. II. 72 Whether we haue received any such thorow-touch as is the..fruit of true repentance. 1737 BRACKEN Farriery Improv. (1757) II. Pref. 11 You shall hear many a Horse praised for being a ‡thorow-winded one.

Through-band to -bore: see THROUGH-.

Thoroughbass (pʌ'rōbās). Mus. [f. THOROUGH prep. or adv. + BASS sb.[5]; cf. BASSO continuo.] A bass part extending through a piece of music, and written by itself, with figures indicating the chords or harmonies to be played with it; a figured bass, basso continuo; esp. (formerly) an accompaniment thus written or played; hence loosely, an accompaniment in general (also fig.). Also, the method of indicating harmonies by a figured bass, or the art of playing from it; loosely, the science of harmony in general.

1662 Pairfoord Skill Mus. 1. ii. (1674) 36 The Figures usually placed over Notes in the Thorough-Bass of Songs or Ayres. 1685 Evelyn Mem. 10 Mar., She had an excellent voice, to which she play'd a thorough bass on the harpsichord. 1731 Keller in Holder's Harmony 159 Rules for Playing a Thorow-bass. 1778 H. Walpole Let. to H. S. Conway 8 July, Tumults would be a dreadful thorough bass to speeches. 1845 E. Holmes Mozart 258 He..wrote a treatise on thorough bass. 1875 Stedman Vict. Poets i. 3 Full-throated, happy minstrels, like Bérnnger or Burns, need no knowledge of thorough-bass and the historical range of composition.

¶ b. erron. A loud or deep bass.

1749 Fielding Tom Jones v. ix, He found..his nurse snoring..at the bed's feet. He immediately took the only method of silencing this thorough bass, whose music he feared might disturb Mr. Allworthy. 1835 W. Irving Crayon Misc. (1849) 30 He..had..a whiffling double voice, shifting abruptly from a treble to a thorough-bass.

Thorough-bolt: see through-bolt, Through- 2.

Thoroughbrace (pʌ'rʌbrēˑs). U. S. [f. Thorough prep. or adv. + Brace *sb.*² 11.] Each of a pair of strong braces or bands of leather connecting the front and back C-springs and supporting the body of a coach or other vehicle. Hence Thoroughbraced (-brēˑst) a., suspended by thoroughbraces.

1837 Hr. Martineau Soc. Amer. II. 175 Half a mile before reaching the place..the thorough-brace broke, and we had to walk..to the inn. 1858 O. W. Holmes Deacon's Masterp. 22 In building of chaises..There is always somewhere a weakest spot,—in bolt, in bar, in tire, felloe, in spring or thill,...In screw, bolt, thoroughbrace. 1884 S. O. Jewett Country Doctor 19 The old-fashioned thorough-braced wagon.

Thoroughbred (pʌ'rʌbred), a. (sb.) Also 8 through-bred. [f. Thorough adv. + Bred ppl. a.]

1. Thoroughly educated or accomplished; hence, complete, thorough, out-and-out. (Now regarded as jig. from 2: cf. 2 b.)

1701 Grew Cosm. Sacra II. vii. 77 A through-bred Soldier weighs all present Circumstances, and all possible Contingents. 1741 Ambrose Tempe Fil. 1. 47 (1754) 123 Nothing can restrain a thorough-bred gamester. 1874 L. Stephen Hours in Library (1892) I. ix. 300 A thorough-bred utilitarian, full of sagacity. 1882 Miss Braddon Mt. Royal III. i. 20 He never handled a gun like a thoroughbred sportsman.

2. Of a horse: Of pure breed or stock; spec. applied to a race-horse whose pedigree for a given number of generations is recorded in the stud-book. Also of a dog, bull, etc.

1796 J. Lawrence Treat. Horses iv. 166 Thorough-bred hacks are the most docile and quiet, and the least liable to shy. 1845 N. H. Smith Breeding for Turf 5 The pedigree of Eclipse affords a singular illustration of the descent of our thorough-bred horses from pure Eastern blood. 1840–70 Blaine Encycl. Rur. Sports § 930 The term thorough-bred, as relating to a horse..is neither critically nor conventionally definite. 1876 Farmer's Mag. Jan. 29 There are some men who prefer the cross-bred animal—the best I believe to be between the Hampshire Down and Cotswold; but..I must give a decided preference to the thorough-bred. 1882 Sir R. H. Roberts In the Shires i. 28 Mounted upon a thoroughbred..bay mare.

b. transf. Applied to human beings or their attributes: sometimes implying characteristics like those of a thoroughbred horse, as gracefulness, energy, distinction, etc. (Cf. B. 2.)

1820 Byron Juan v. cvi, More thorough-bred or fairer fingers. 1864 Reverdy Ives Compat. Wallah (1866) 345 It is hardly possible for a man brought up amidst European..associations to realize the idea conceived of him..by a thorough-bred Hindoo.

Comb. 1882 Miss Braddon Mt. Royal ix, Who the deuce is that thoroughbred-looking girl?

B. sb. 1. A thoroughbred animal, esp. a horse.

1842 Thackeray Fitz-Boodle Pap. Pref., I can't afford a thorough-bred, and hate a cock-tail. 1887 'H. Smart' Cleverly Won I, Three or four thorough-breds that he had reared.

2. transf. and fig.: A well-born, well-bred, or thoroughly trained person. Also, a first-rate motor-car, bicycle, or other vehicle.

1894 H. Gardener Unofficial Patriot 15 There is rather a paucity of thoroughbreds among the Methodists. 1894 Outing (U.S.) XXIV. 281 An ordinary bicycle you feel sure that she could play tennis or sail a boat. In fact, she looked a thoroughbred. 1901 Pall Mall Mag. Sept. 67/2 A vehicle running a race must in some mysterious way be a thoroughbred. 1908 Daily Citron. 21 Nov. 5/4 This machine [bicycle] and all the thorough-breds, are now..treated before enamelling to the special Coolett non-rusting process, which preserves the metal from all corrosion.

Hence Thoroughbredness.

1894 Eliz. L. Banks Camp. Curiosity 127 As regards the thorough-bredness of my black poodle.

Thorough-cleansing, etc.: see Thorough-.

Thorough-drain, v. Agric. [f. Thorough adv. (or sb. 3) + Drain v.] trans. To drain (a field) by means of water-thoroughs or -furrows; also, to drain thoroughly.

1844 Stephens Bk. Farm I. 489 As by this kind of draining [surface-draining] the land is thoroughly or effectually drained, it has been most appropriately called thorough-draining. Ibid. 593 A farmer..thorough-drained one-half of a 4-acre field. Ibid. 662 The subsoil will afford a sufficient quantity of stones, to thorough-drain the ground. 1847 Rogers in Jrnl. R. Agric. Soc. VIII. ii. 311 The term thorough-draining is perhaps derived from the old word 'thorow', which Bradley mentions as 'a distinguishing character for a trench cut purposely for carrying off of water'.

Thoroughfare (pʌ'rʌfēˑə), sb. (a.) Forms: 4–5 thurghfare, 5 thurghe-; thoruȝ faar, thorughfare, 6 thorowe, thoroughe, thorough fare, 6–8 thorowfare, 7–8 thorow-, thorough-fare, (7 thorow-faire, thorough fair, 7–8 thorow-, thorough-fair, 8 thoroweair, 8–9 thorofare), 7– thoroughfare. β. 5 Sc. throchtfayr, 6 throwfare, Sc. throuchfair, throuche fair, 6–7 through fare, through-fare, 7–9 throughfare. [In ME. thurghfare, 15th c. thoruȝ faar, f. þurh, þuruh, Through + Fare *sb.*¹, OE. faru passage, way, track: cf. Thorough- 2. Cf. Du. doorvaart (deurvaerd, Kilian) passage, esp. passage for ships (cf. 1 d below), LG. dörfard, MHG. durchvart, G. durchfahrt.]

1. A passage or way through.

a. In general sense; also fig. Now usually merged in sense c, exc. in phr. No thoroughfare, no public way through or right of way here.

c 1386 Chaucer Knt.'s T. 2989 This world nys but a thurghfare ful of wo, And we been pilgrymes, passynge to and fro. 1430–40 Lydg. Bochas I. i. (MS. Bodl. 263) lf. 11/2 This world is a thorughfare [ed. 1554 throwfare] ful of wo. 1596 Spens. Merch. V. II. vii. 41 The Hircanion deserts, and the vaste wildes Of wide Arabia are as throughfares now For Princes to come view faire Portia. 1602 Weever Mirr. Mart. B iv, Yet makes the wood my throughfare into heauen. 1641 Hinde T. Brown lviii. 195 You..rather giory to have your house made a through-fare of profane persons. 1797–1802 G. Colman Br. Grins, Elder Bro. (1819) 117 Making their throats a thoroughfare for wine. 1822 Byron Juan VII. xi, To hint, at least, 'Here is no thoroughfare'. 1896 Emerson Eng. Traits, Ability Wks. (Bohn) II. 42 They have made the island a thoroughfare, and London a shop..inviting to strangers. 1893 Huxley Sci. & Chr. Tradit. Pref. (1894) 8 Before me stood the thorny barrier with its commintatory notice-board—' No Thoroughfare. By order. Moses'.

† b. spec. A town through which traffic passes; a town on a highway or line of traffic. Obs.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 493/2 Thurghfare, oppidum. c 1449 Pecock Repr. iv. 11 (Rolls) 521 Whi in a town which is a thorug faar toward London ben so many estries cleipid innes? 1475 Paston Let. 200/1 Borowe to thorowe fare, burc. Ibid. 281/1 Throwfare, bourgade, bourc. a 1552 Leland Itin. IV. 131 From Uxbridge to Southall a Village about 6 Miles. Thence to Acton a pretty Through-Fare a 4 Miles. 1669 Dalton Country Just. vii. (1690) 32 In Towns which are no thorow-fare the Justices shall..be sparing of allowing of any alehouse. 1769 De Foe's Tour Gt. Brit. I. 87 Newmarket..being a Through-fare, reaps no small Advantage by that Means, as well as from the Races. 1829 Scott Anne of G. vii, The little castle and town of Ferette..served as a thoroughfare to the traffic of Berne and Soleure.

c. A road, street, lane, or path forming a communication between two other roads or streets, or between two places; a public way unobstructed and open at both ends; esp. a main road or street, a highway.

1540 Act 32 Hen. VIII, c. 17 Chauncerie lane...And.. Fewter lane, being thorough fares and passages from Fletestrete into Holborne. 1628 Wither Brit. Rememb. iv. 251 The Strand, that goodly thorow-fare betweene The Court and City. 1658 W. Burton Itin. Anton. 2 Those publick Through-fares of Wales, which the Souldiers raised. 1796 W. Marshall W. England II. 54 It is a large inland Market Town; but has no thorofare to support it. 1843 Bethune Sc. Ryesilte Stor. 275 One of the thoroughfares to the metropolis passed through the place.

d. A piece of water, as a strait or river, affording passage for ships, etc.; an unobstructed channel. (In definite application to a particular channel, chiefly U.S.; otherwise a special case of the general sense.)

1699 Roberts Voy. Levant 32 There is a Thoroughfare between the Mainland..and this Isle. 1712 E. Cooke Voy. S. Sea 127 There is a Thorough-Fare in the Midst of it, where we rode with our Ships. 1739 Descr. Windward Passage (ed. 2) 6 A Thorough-fare or Shipping between some Islands, or other Land, as..the Gulf of Messina between the Island of Sicily and Italy. 1856 Stanley Sinai & Pal. II. 113 The Mediterranean was not yet the thoroughfare—it was rather the boundary..of the eastern nations.

(b) 1848 Thoreau Maine W. (1894) 46 After one mile of river, or what the boatmen call 'thoroughfare'—for the river becomes at length only the connecting link between the lakes,—..we entered the North Twin Lake. 1896 Trans. Roy. Soc. Canada II. ii. 210 Thoroughfare, a passage between lakes on the same level.

e. 'A strait of water, or neck of land connecting two bodies of water, habitually traversed by wild fowl in migrating or passing to and from their feeding-grounds' (Hallock Sportsman's Gazetteer 1883, Gloss.).

2. The action of going or passing through, or the condition of being passed through or traversed; passage. Now rare or Obs.

1569 Milton P. L. x. 393 Ye..have..made one Realm Hell and this World, one Realm, one Continent Of easie thorough-fare. 1668 Culpepper & Cole Barthol. Anat. I. x. 23 Made hard and callous, by the continual thoroughfare of the Chylus. 1810 Sporting Mag. XXXVI. 57 Till custom had grown into a right of thoroughfare. 1868 Stanley Westm. Abb. i. 4 The River Thames..here widening to an almost majestic size, yet not too wide for thoroughfare.

3. attrib. or adj. That is a thoroughfare; passed or travelled through by traffic; chiefly in thoroughfare town = sense 1 b.

[Cf. OE. þurhfere passable, in Ags. Hymnar. (Surtees) 119 (Bosw.-To) geat þurhfere.] 1674 N. Fairfax Bulk & Selv. 1553 Reg. Privy Council Scot. I. 143 All villages and throughfair towns of this realme. 1564 Yorks. Chantry Surv. (Surtees) 264 [Boroughridge] being one thoroughfare towne of the Kinges strete. 1594 Sc. Acts Jas. VI (1814) III. 576/1 At the principall throughe fair townis and paroche kirkis. a 1661 Fuller Worthies, Hartford. (1662) ii. 25 William of Ware born in that thorough fair Town twenty miles from London. 1673 Ray Journ. Low Countries 146 The two ends of the Earths throughfare line or diameter. 1841 Lane Arab. Nts. I. 76 Most of the great thoroughfare streets. 1908 Westm. Gaz. 10 June 2/1 How seldom must these ancient [Italian] walled villages communicate with the thoroughfare-valleys, or the railway, or distant Rome!

Tho·roughfare, v. rare. [In early use, OE. þurhfaran (also þurhfaran str. vb.) to pass through, traverse: cf. Du. doorvaren (deurvaeren, Kilian), LG. dorfaren; OHG. durahfaran, Ger. durchfahren. In 2 from (or after) prec. sb.]

1. trans. To go, pass, or travel through.

a 900 tr. Bæda's Hist. IV. ii. (1890) 258 He sona ðurhferde eall Breotone ealond. a 1225 Leg. Kath. 1147 Hu mei he helpen oðre, þe þurhferde deð as heo doo? [1674, 1895: see thoroughfaring below.]

2. To pass through or traverse, as a road; to form a thoroughfare in or across.

1886 Lowell Progr. World in Latest Lit. Ess. (1891) 163 Those..slits that thoroughfared the older town.

So † Tho·roughfared a. Obs. [i. prec. sb. + -ED².], having a thoroughfare or passage, perforated; † Tho·rough-farer (through-farer) Obs., one who goes or travels through, a wayfarer; Tho·roughfaring (thorughfaring), a going, passing, or travelling through; Tho·roughfaresome (through-faresome) a., (a) capable of being passed through, penetrable; (b) relating to passing through.

1668 Culpepper & Cole Barthol. Anat. I. vii. 111 When the Ventricles are dilated above the 'through-far'd Septum ..the little holes would be shut up. 1626 in 10th Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm. App. v. 474 [To] interlaine 'through-farers' and passengers. 1674 N. Fairfax Bulk & Selv. 90 There would be..no 'throughfarings of the least steams or reekings of bodies. 1895 A. Nutt Voy. Bran I. 301 A road worn with much thoroughfaring. 1674 N. Fairfax Bulk & Selv. 138 All body being as throughfaresom to ghost, as his stepping to body. 1883 De Morgan Lett. Intellect in Life (1882) 319, I feel helped by the word εὐέκνια, because it is a very thoroughfaresome word...It is used for going through a country, or for running a man through the body.

Through-felt to -fought: see Through-.

† Tho·roughgate. Obs. In 5 throgat, 6–7 thorowgate. [f. Thorough adv. + Gate *sb.*²] A passage through.

1475 Bury & Kc. Peebles (1892) 117 The throgat sal serf tham bath vp throu and don throu. 1598 R. Bernard tr. Terence, Adelphi iv. ii, That corner is no thorow gate [angiportum non pervium]. 1639 Horn & Rob. Gate Lang. Unl. lviii. § 617 Lanes most commonly are unpasseable, and have no thorow-gate.

Throughgoing (pʌ'rʌgōˑiŋ), a. [f. Thorough adv. + going, pr. pple. of Go v. See also Throughgoing.] Going the full length; doing things thoroughly; acting with completeness; uncompromising, thorough, extreme, out-and-out. (Of persons, actions, etc.)

1829 Scott Leg. Montrose xiii, A thoroughgoing friend that understands a hint is worth a million! 1838 Thirlwall Greece IV. xxxi. 194 They now proceeded to bolder and more thoroughgoing measures. 1856 A. Vaughan Mystics (1860) II. 18 What seems..the thorough-going madness of the fiery Persian. 1888 Bryce Amer. Commw. I. 120 Jefferson..was a thorough-going party leader.

Hence Tho·roughgoingly adv.; Tho·roughgo·ingness. So Thoroughgo·er, a thorough-going person or animal; Tho·roughgo·ing sb., the action or habit of doing things thoroughly.

1895 Outing (U.S.) 388/1 The horses [polo-ponies] are such 'thoroughgoers in the field that it is difficult to say this or the other is best. 1851 J. D. Burns Jrnl. in Mem. iv. (1869) 66 Much..is said about 'thoroughgoing and decision of character. 1886 New Eng. Dict. s.v. *Boot Hob*² 1 b, Like old boots: vigorously, 'thoroughgoingly. 1865 M. Arnold Ess. Crit. ii. 65 The newspaper, with its party spirit, its 'thorough-goingness. 1867 Pearson Hist. Eng. I. 35 The Romanswordidnotwork..with terrible thorough-goingness.

Thorough-go-nimble to Thorough-lined: see Thorough- in comb. 1, 2.

Tho·roughleaf. ? Obs. In 6 thorow-. [f. Thorough adv. + Leaf sb.] = Thoroughwax.

1578 Lyte Dodoens I. xcv. 136 Of Thorowwaxe, or Thoroweleafe. Thoroweleafe hath a round, slender stalke full of branches, y' branches passing, or going thorow the leaues. 1597 [see Thoroughwax]. 1866 Treas. Bot. 181 Bupleurum. Hare's-ear, Thorow-wax, or Thorow-leaf.

Tho·rough-light. Now rare or Obs. Also through-light.

a. pl. Windows on opposite sides of a room, so that the light passes right through.

1625 Bacon Ess., Building (Arb.) 551 And let all three Sides, be a double House, without Thorow Lights, on the Sides, that you may have Roomes from the Sunne, both for Fore-noone, and Afternoone. 1642 Fuller Holy & Prof. St. III. vii. 167 Thorow-lights are best for rooms of entertainment, and windows on one side for dormitories. 1697 Dryden Æneid VIII. 349 The doors, unbarr'd, receive the rushing day; And thorough lights disclose the ravish'd prey. 1745 P. Thomas Jrnl. Anson's Voy. 230 The Houses have thorough Lights.

b. fig. (sing. and pl.) in reference to the 'light' of knowledge or discovery.

1605 BACON Adv. Learn. II. ii. § 13 This great Building of the world had never through lights made in it till the age of vs and our fathers. 1642 FULLER Holy & Prof. St. II. xxi. 137 [Drake] returned safe into England, and landed at Plimouth, (being almost the first of those that made a thorow-light through the world). 1646 TRAPP Comm. John i. 5 The former [light of nature] is but a dim half-light...The latter [light of Scripture] is a clear thorough-light. 1698 NORRIS Pract. Disc. IV. 44 All shall be then open...every Man's Heart a thorough-light to every Man. 1841 EMERSON Lect. 'Times' Wks. (Bohn) II. 256 Paving the earth with eyes, destroying privacy, and making thorough-lights.

So Thorough-lighted (thurough-) a., having thorough-lights; having the light passing through.

1624 WOTTON Archit. in Relig. (1651) 286 Rooms windowed on both ends, which we call through-lighted. 1703 T. N. City & C. Purchaser 260 Rooms are said to be Throughlighted when they have Windows on both ends. 1842–76 GWILT Archit. Gloss., Thoroughlighted Rooms, such as have windows on opposite sides.

Thoroughly (*þʌ*rōli), adv. [f. THOROUGH adv. or adj. + -LY 2. See also THOUGHLY.]

†1. In a way that penetrates or goes through; right through, quite through. Obs. rare.

With quots. 1633, 1703 cf. THOUGHLY adv. 2.

c 1300 Havelok 680 Godard...lokede on him þorulh-like, with eyne grim. 1633 W. MUNRO in Buccleuch MSS. (Hist. MSS. Comm.) I. 273, I would have gone home (wet thoroughly). 1703 MAUNDRELL Journ. Jerus. (1732) 9 Thorowly soaked with the wet.

2. In a thorough manner or degree; in every part or detail; in all respects; with nothing left undone; fully, completely, wholly, entirely, perfectly.

1473 Rolls of Parlt. VI. 66/2 In case all other things were thoroughly passed and concluded betwixt his Highnes and theym. 1522 MORE De Quat. Novissi. Wks. 76/2 Weknow them...yet not so very thorowly as we might peradventure. 1593 SHAKS. 2 Hen. IV, I. ii. 200 To look into this Business thorowly. 1643 BURROUGHES Exp. Hosea iv. (1652) 77 This promise is not yet thoroughly fulfilled. 1736 BUTLER Anal. II. vi. 224 Whoever will weigh the Matter thoroughly. 1846 RUSKIN Mod. Painters I. II. i. vi. § 8 The thoroughly great men are those who have done everything thoroughly. 1878 HUTTON Scott III. 35 She had a thoroughly kindly nature.

Thoroughness (*þʌ*rōnĕs). [f. THOROUGH a. + -NESS.] The quality of being thorough or of doing things thoroughly; the condition of being done thoroughly; completeness of execution or treatment; completeness in general, perfectness.

1843 PRESCOTT Mexico (1850) I. 159 A book of the highest authority, for the perspicuity, fidelity, and thoroughness, with which the multifarious topics in it are discussed. 1848 MILL Pol. Econ. I. vii. § 3 The thoroughness of their application to work. 1862 DANA Man. Geol. II. 245 The exception to the thoroughness of the extinction in the Eastern border region. 1897 E. K. CHAMBERS in Bookman Jan. 113/1 He has emulated the Teutonic thoroughness without the Teutonic pedantry.

Thoroughoute, etc., obs. forms of THOROUGHOUT.

Thorough-paced (*þʌ*rōpēst), a. Also β. †through-paced. [f. THOROUGH adv. + PACED.]

1. lit. Of a horse: Thoroughly trained; having all his paces. rare. ? Obs.

a 1661 FULLER Worthies, Huntington. (1662) II. 51 It is given to thorough-paced-Naggs, that amble naturally, to trip much whilest artificial pacers goe surest on foot.

β. 1668 Lond. Gaz. No. 272/4 A Baye Mare,..flat ribb'd, Roach back'd, through paced.

2. fig. Thoroughly trained or accomplished, perfectly skilled or versed (in something); hence, thoroughgoing, complete, perfect, thorough.

1646 JENKYN Remora 18 The thorow-pac'd Politician borrows this of the Atheist. 1678 CUDWORTH Intell. Syst. I. iv. § 30, 382 Anaxagoras..was severely taxed...as one not thorough-paced in Theism. 1710 PALMER Proverbs 114 A thoro'-pac'd villain. a 1715 BURNET Own Time an. 1681 (1823) II. 278 Men of a thorough-paced obsequiousness. 1823 LAMB Elia Sec. II. Old Margate Hoy, A hearty thorough-paced liar. 1850 GROTE Greece II. lvi. VII. 132 Introducing more thorough-paced oligarchy into the already oligarchical Sikyônian government. 1893 Spectator 28 Jan. 101/2 A Thorough-paced English gentleman.

β. 1652 FULLER Church Hist. I. iv. § 13 Constantius was a through-paced Christian. 1658 PHILLIPS Dict. Ded., Anuniversally through-pac't Dictionary. a 1661 FULLER Worthies, Huntington. (1662) II. 50 He was through-paced in three Tongues, Latine, Greek..and Hebrew. 1691 WOOD Ath. Oxon. I. 535 Robert Burton..was..a thro-pac'd Philologist.

So †Thorough-pace v. Obs. intr. of a horse; †thorough-pacer, a horse having all his paces.

1684 Lond. Gaz. No. 1945/4 A bay Nag..seven years old, a thorough pacer. 1690 Ibid. No. 2545/4 A light sorrel Gelding,..walks, through-paces and gallops.

Thorough-passage: see THROUGH-PASSAGE.

Thorough-pierce: see through-pierce, in THROUGH- 1.

Thorough-pin (*þʌ*rōþin). Farriery. [f. THOROUGH- + PIN sb.[1] (cf. sense 10).] A swelling in the sheath of the tendon of the flexor perforans muscle in a horse's hock, appearing on both sides so as to suggest a pin passing through; also a similar swelling in the carpal joint of the fore-leg. Cf. earlier thorough serewe, etc.: s.v. THROUGH- 2.

1789 Bath Jrnl. 22 June Advt., [A pony] with a spavin and thorough pins. 1832 YOUATT Horse 265 We have spoken of wind-galls...A similar enlargement is found above the hock...As from its situation it must necessarily project on both sides of the hock, in the form of a round swelling, it is called a thorough-pin. 1906 Daily News 20 Apr. 6 Amitie, a very well-bred mare, is marred by a thorough-pin.

Thoroughpost: see THROUGHPOST.

Through-put to -run, etc.: see THROUGH-.

†Thorough-see', v. Obs. [OE. þurh sēon, f. þurh THOROUGH, THROUGH adv. + sēon to SEE: cf. OHG. durhsehen, Ger. durchsehen.] trans. To see through (lit. and fig.: cf. SEE v. 24). Hence †thorough-see'ing vbl. sb., the action of this vb.; ppl. a. that sees through; †thorough-see'able a., capable of being seen through, transparent.

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xlii § 1 Hē geseohð & þurhseohð ealle his ġeceafta ġemēdemest. a 1200 Moral Ode 90 (Lambeth) He þurþ-sihð uches monnes þonc [v.r. þurh-sihð eches mannes þanc]. a 1225 Ancr. R. 50 þe blake cloð...is þicunc..& wurse to þurhseon. 1513 GRIMALDE Cicero's Offices (1556) 7 Whoso thorowseeth moste what in everye case is truest. Ibid. 68 So desireful of thorow seing and learning the nature of things. 1561 T. HOBY tr. Castiglione's Courtyer IV. (1577) X vij b, The eyes of the minde...then beginne to be sharp and thorough seing, when the eyes of the body lose the floure of theyr sightlynesse. 1562 TURNER Herbal II. 151 The rosin or turpentine [of Terebinthus]...is clere, & thorow seable, whyte, like a glasse & blewish gray.

Through-seek, -shining: see THROUGH-SEEK, -SHINING.

Thorough-stitch, through-stitch, sb., adv., and adj. Obs. exc. dial. [f. THOROUGH adv. + STITCH sb.]

† A. sb. ? A stitch drawn right through the stuff; hence fig. in reference to thoroughness of action: cf. B. Obs. rare.

a 1569 KINGESMYLL Man's Est. xv. (1580) 124 Now there fore to knitte vppe the knot, and to make a through stitch. 1663 COWLEY Cutter Colman St. II. viii, When I do a business, I'm for through-stitch; I'm thorough pac'd.

B. adv. Right through, through to the end; thoroughly, completely: almost always in phr. to go thorough-stitch (with), to perform something thoroughly, carry it out completely and effectually, go through with: 'a tailor's expression for finishing any thing once begun' (Egan Slang Dict. 1823).

1579 GOSSON Sch. Abuse, Apol. (Arb.) 68 Philippe of Macedon tooke vpon him to reason with a new Musition.. and was not able to go thorowe stitche. 1596 NASHE Saffron Walden 37 That wee might have some round worke, and gone thorough stitch. 1634 FORD Perkin Warbeck II. iii, He that threads his needle with the sharp eyes of industry shall in good time go throughstitch with the new suit of preferment. 1685 EVELYN Diary 22 May, The...Chief Justice Jefferies..went thorough stitch in that tribunal. 1694 R. L'ESTRANGE Fables CXXXIII. (1714) 150 Tis Perseverance alone that can carry us Thorough-Stitch. 1723 MANDEVILLE Fab. Bees (1729) I. 216 A Man of Honour enters into a Conspiracy with others to murder a King; he is obliged to go thorough Stich with it. 1824 Blackw. Mag. XV. 147 We have gone too far to retreat,..we must e'en go thoroughstitch. 1904 Eng. Dial. Dict. s.v. Thorough, She's means to do the place up thoroughstitch.

C. adj. Thoroughgoing, out-and-out. ? Obs.

c 1685 in Verney Memoirs (1907) II. 306 A through-stitch enemy to the crown. 1785 A. GIB Sacr. Contempl. 402 It may not suit with his courage or his prudence to be thorough-stitch with it. 1822 HAZLITT Spirit of Age 333 He..must make thorough-stitch work of it. 1828 WILSON in Blackw. Mag. XXIII. 785 [He] seems to have no thoroughstitch advocate in the London press.

Hence †Thorough-stitched, through-stitched a. Obs.

1682 MRS. BEHN City Heiress 35 You are resolv'd to make a through-stitch Robbery on't. 1799 T. TWINING in Recreat. & Stud. (1882) 233 What a painstaking, thoroughpaced, through-stitched man you are when you set about anything!

Thorough-stone: see THROUGH-STONE 2.

Thoroughte, obs. form of THROUGHOUT.

Thorough-toll: see THROUGH-TOLL.

Through-touch: see THROUGH- 2.

Thoroughwax (*þʌ*rōwæks). Also 6– thorow-, 6 thorowe-, 7 through-, 6–7 waxe, 6– -wax. [f. THOROUGH prep. and adv. through + WAX v. to grow, after G. durchwachs; from the branches appearing to grow through the leaves.] A name for the umbelliferous herb Bupleurum rotundifolium, also called hare's-ear, having roundish-oval perfoliate leaves, and small greenish-yellow flowers with conspicuous bracts.

1548 TURNER Names Herbes 85 Perfoliata is an herbe wyth a leafe lyke a pease...The Germans cal it Durchwasz. It maye be called in englishe Thorowwax, because the stalke waxeth thorowe the leaues. 1578 LYTE Dodoens I. xcv. 137 This herbe is now called..in English Thorowwaxe and Thorowleafe. 1597 GERARDE Herbal II. cxlviii. § 1. 429 Thorowe waxe or Thorowe leafe, hath a..stalke, diuided into manie small branches, which passe or go thorow the leaues. 1698 PHILLIPS (ed. 4), Thorough-wax, ..a Martial Herb, somewhat bitter and astringent and good against Ruptures. 1848 J. E. SMITH Eng. Flora II. 93 B[upleurum] rotundifolium. Common Hare's-ear. Thorow-wax.

Thorough-winded: see THOROUGH- 2.

Thoroughwort (*þʌ*rōwŭt). [f. THOROUGH prep. or adv. + WORT, after THOROUGHWAX.] A North American composite plant, Eupatorium perfoliatum, having opposite leaves, each pair united at the base so that the stem appears to grow through them (connate-perfoliate), and large corymbs of numerous white flowers; valued for its tonic properties; also called boneset or crosswort.

1828 in WEBSTER. 1845–50 MRS. LINCOLN Lect. Bot. 185 Florets tubulous, without rays; as, boneset, or thoroughwort (Eupatorium). 1857 GRAY First Lessons Bot. (1866) 100 Cases of real leaves growing together..., those of the common Thorough-wort, and the upper pairs in Woodbines or Honeysuckles. 1893 F. P. HUMPHREY New Eng. Cactus 27 Aromatic herbs, pennyroyal, thoroughwort, and catnip.

†b. = THOROUGHWAX. Obs. rare[1].

1597 GERARDE Herbal, Table, Throughwoort and his kinds.

Thorow, obs. f. THOROUGH. Thorowout, thorowte, etc., obs. ff. THOROUGHOUT.

Thorp (*þɒ*rp). arch. and Hist. Forms: a. 1 ðrop (prep), 1–5 þrop, (4–5 throop-e, þroup), 4, 9 dial. throp (5 þrope). β. 1–2, 4–5 þorp, 5– thorpe, 5, 7– thorp. [OE. and ME. þrop and þorp hamlet, village, farm, or estate; Com. Teut. = ODFris. thorp, therp village, mod. Frís. terp village, village-mound (see TERP); OS. thorp (MLG., LG., MDu., Du. dorp, LG. and EFris. dörp); OHG. (MHG., Ger.) dorf village (locally 'gathering of people, meeting'); ON. þorp village, hamlet, farmstead (Norw. torp, Sw. torp cottage, little farm, Da. torp farmstead, hamlet, borough), Goth. þaurp estate, land, field :—OTeut. þorpo. Ulterior etymology doubtful; original sense and its development in the Teutonic languages not clear.

ON. has (app. thence derived) þyrpast to crowd, throng, þyrping crowd; and þorp is by many referred to same root as þ. þurðn, Gr. τόρβη crowd, tumult. Others compare L. turba tribe, and OCelt. trēb* subdivision of a tribe, W. tref town. For other suggested cognates, cf. Kluge, Franck, Doornkaat-Koolman.]

A hamlet, village, or small town; in ME. esp. an agricultural village: see quots.

Not a frequent word in OE., being chiefly found in Glosses and Vocabularies, in form ðrop, which was also the prevailing form in ME. down to 1400. þorp appears once in late OE. and in the north in 14th c., and may really be due to Norse influence. In various forms as Thorpe, Throp, Thrup, the word occurs as a place-name, and is a frequent second element in these in the forms -thorpe, -throp, -trup, chiefly in the Danelaw district. It appears to have been a 'common noun' to Langland and Chaucer; but in Caxton to be a literalism of translation. As a separate word it has been used occasionally from 1600, but is app. only literary or archaic, rarely dialectal: see Eng. Dial. Dict.

a 725 Corpus Gloss. (O.E.T.) 557 Competum [=cross-ways, Carfax], tuun, prop. a 800 Epinal Gloss. 307 Competum, tuun, uel þrop. a 1000 Æthelred Poe. in Wr.-Wülcker 147/5 Pandus [= farm, piece of land], prop. a 1000 Agr. Gloss. ibid. 207/14 Competum..i. uilla, uel þingstow, uel prop. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 89 Bethlage, Swo hatte þe þrop be preoste ymuken, hi sides Ierusalem. c 1350 Will. Palerne 2141 To seche eche cite & alle smale þropes. 1362 LANGL. P. Pl. A. II. 47 For lewede, for leredе, for laborers of þropes [v. rr. þrepis, þorpes]. 1393 Ibid. C. I. 219 As barons & burgeis and bondemen of þroupes [v. rr. propes, þropes, thropes]. c 1386 CHAUCER Wife's T. 15 Citees, burghes, castels, hye toures, Thropes, bernes, shipnes, dayeryes, This maketh that ther been no fliaryes. — Clerk's T. 143 Nought fer..There stood a throope [v.r. thorp], thrope 3, thorp 3] of litel sete dilitable, In which that poure folk of that village, Hadden hir beestes and hir herbergage. c 1440 [see β].

β. a 1122 O. E. Chron. an. 963 (Laud MS.) Sce. Petres mynstre Medeshamstede, and sette þa þorpes to þæm lin. 13.. E. E. Allit. P. B. 1178 He wast wyth werre þe wones of porpes. c 1381 CHAUCER Parl. Foules 350 (MS. Gg. 4. 27) The kok that orologe is of thorpes lyte. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 490/1 Thrôrpe, thrope, þrytylle town. 1481 CAXTON Reynard viii. (Arb.) 23 The worde anone sprange oueral in the thorpe [Orig. Flem. die mare die spranck over al den dorp]. 1485 — St. Wenefryde 18 He reteynynge his felawe with hym abode that nyght in a thorpe. 1600 FAIRFAX Tasso XII. xxxii. 219 Within a little thorpe I staid at last. 1613 W. BROWNE Brit. Past. II. iii, About whose Thorps that night curs'd Limos went. 1814 WORDSW. Excursion VIII. 101 Welcome, wheresoe'er he came—Among the tenantry of thorpe and villa. 1895 TENNYSON Brook 29 I hurry down...By twenty thorps, a little town, And half a hundred bridges. 1864 — Enn. Ard. (end), The little thorp had seldom seen A costlier funeral.

Hence †Thorpsman, a villager. Obs. rare.

1674 N. FAIRFAX Bulk & Selv. To Rdr., The inbred stock of more homely women and less fliching Thorps-men. 1876 Whitby Gloss., Thorpsmen, villagers. Old local print.

Thorpole, variant of THIRLEPOLE Obs.

Thorrocke, Thorsday, obs. ff. THURROCK, THURSDAY. Thorst, obs. f. THIRST; obs. var. durst, pa. t. of DARE v.[1]

Thort, obs. pa. t. of THARF; Sc. f. THWART.

Thorter (*þɒ*rtər, Sc. þɒrtər), adv., prep., adj., sb. Sc. Forms: 5 thwortour, thurtour, thourtour, 5–6 thortour, 6 -oure, -yr, -ir, -ar, (thortwart), 7 thorture, 6– thorter. [In early forms thwortour, thurtour, thortour, Sc. forms of THWARTOVER: cf. Sc. a-thort = a-thwart. The second element has been so weakened as to appear a mere suffix, as in easter, wester, etc. Thortwart is a deformation.]

† A. adv. Athwart, across, crosswise. Obs. rare.

c 1470 HENRY Wallace v. 1110 Feill off thaim dede fell thwortour in [= into] the feyn.

B. prep. Athwart, across, overthwart.

1533 BELLENDEN Livy I. vi. (S.T.S.) I. 39 Incontinent be buschiment foresaid come thortoure bare gate. 1609 Sc. Acts Jas. VI (1816) IV. 443/2 Landis..beginnand at be watter of Tarress..To rowaneburne and thorter Ingreis geattis by the fute of magilwod. 1897 I.D. E. HAMILTON Outlaws xviii. 209 You daurna show your face thorter the water.

C. adj. Crossing, lying athwart, transverse. Thorter land, land lying across or beyond a certain area, outer land; thorter way, a cross-way; so thorter lane, road, etc.

c 1470 HENRY Wallace IV. 540 A cleuch thar was, quharoff a strenth thai maid With thwartour treis. Ibid. IV. 162a A thourtour bande, that all the drawcht wphae, He cuttyt it. c 1475 Rauf Coilgear 569 In ane thourtour way, Seir gaitis pas thay,...Thus partit thay twa. 1533 BELLENDEN Livy II. xvi. (S.T.S.) I. 194 Sic thingis done, he past fordward with thortoure passage in [= into] pe latyne way. 1535 Aberd. Reg. XV. (Jam.), To remoif, red, & fluit of the said inland thortyrland, yard, & forentres. 1580 Burgh Rec. Edinb. (1882) IV. 185 To cass mak sufficient thorter barris of iroue, and thair thairs in the window of the mid hous. 1814 North. Antiq. 404 (Jam.) To look through an elf-bore in wood, where a thorter-knot...has been taken out. Mod. Forming part of local names: ...there is in Dundee a 'Thorter Row', which 'crosses' between the Nethergate and Overgate; in Hawick 'ThorterDykes', beyond the Loan-head, etc.

†b. Coming athwart; obstructing, opposing.

1533 BELLENDEN Livy I. v. (S.T.S.) I. 35 The sabyne halyis ...be preiss of pair thortwart coming devidit & put sindry pe armit ostis. 1536 — Cron. Scot. III. iv. (1541) 27/1 Sa angill of thair bodyis, that thay may dant all thortour and difficill gatis.

†D. sb. Opposition, obstruction, resistance.

1581 J. MELVILL Diary (Wodrow Soc.) 124 The thrid thortar and debat quhilk he haid was with the provist, bailyis, and counsall, about mariscoll. 1598 Ibid. 532 Anent quhatsoever the thorterris and accidentis fallin out.

Hence Thorter v. trans. and intr., to cross the path or way of; to thwart or oppose (a person); hence Thortering vbl. sb., thwarting, resisting; +Thortersome a., tending to thwart, obstructive.

1608 JAS. VI Let. in Calderwood Hist. Ch. Scot. (1678) 581 Their willingness...hath been ever thortered and impeded by too many. A Warning to Mr. J. Hutcesone Gd. Newes in Evill Times (1708) 46 There is much Thortering with, and Murdering of Light in Scotland now, but Thortering of Light shall be the dearysomest Sin that ever Scotland had. 1890 J. SERVICE Their Metaphors xiv. 101 They [witches] made wee maiks oot o' clay...of them that had thortered them, stappin' the maiks fu o' preens. 1606 BIRNIE Kirk-Burnhill (1833) 30 The passage so impeshed with thortersome throughfares.

Thor·ter-i·ll, Sc. Also thwarter-. [f. prec. + ILL sb.] A disease of sheep, characterized by distortion of the neck; louping-ill.

1791 Statist. Acc. Scot. I. 138 Palsy, called trembling, or thorter ill, to which those fed on certain lands are peculiarly subject. 1808 Sporting Mag. XXXII. 295 A sheep which had died of disease (the thorter ill) and was at the time in a state of putrescence. 1829 HOGG Tales, Sheph. Cal. xvi. The thwarter-ill (a sort of paralytic affection) came among them [the sheep].

+Thor·tron, a. Sc. Obs. rare. [f. THORTER: cf. southron.] Having a transverse direction.

c 1580 Balfour's Practicks (1754) 439 Thortron burnis in monthis nie Sall stop na heid roume, thoch thay be.

+Thorty, obs. form of THIRTY.

1558 Sel. Cas. Star Chamb. (Selden) II. 60.

Thoru, poru, thorugh, thorw, etc., obs. ff. THOROUGH, THROUGH sb.[1]

‖ Thos (θōus). Pl. thoes (θōu·iz). [L. thōs, pl. thōes, a. Gr. θόος, pl. θοῦ-ες, a beast of prey of the dog kind.] The Greek and Latin name of a beast of the canine group; probably a jackal of some species; but variously identified or imagined by 17th c. translators. See also THOUS.

1601 HOLLAND Pliny x. lxiii. I. 303 Wolves, Panthers, and Thoes, kindle their young before they can see. Ibid. lxxiv. 308 The Thoes and the Lions doe finely jarre and disagree. 1607 TOPSELL Four-f. Beasts (1658) 581 The lesser kinde of Thoes are the best, for some make two kinde of Thoes, and some three...We will therefore take it for confessed, that the Thoes is a beast empendered betwixt a Wolf and a Fox, whereof some are greater and some are smaller. 1706 PHILLIPS (ed. Kersey), Thoes, ...a Lynx, a Creature resembling a Wolf, but spotted like a Leopard. 1753 CHAMBERS Cycl. Supp., Thos, ...a name given to an animal of the wolf kind, but larger than the common wolf. 1839 C. H. SMITH Dogs I. v. 207 It may be, that one of the smaller Thoes of Aristotle is the true Jackal.

Thos, pos, obs. form of THOSE, THUS.

Thosan, obs. form of TUSCAN.

Those (θōuz), dem. pron. and adj. (pl.) Forms: α. 1–3 θās, 1–4 þās, 4 þaas, þais, 4–5 þase, (5 þaes); 5 thas, thase, 5–6 thais. β. 3–4 þos (3 posse), 4–5 pose, thoos, (5, 7 thoses, Scotticized thoise, thoyse), 6 thouse; γ– those. [OE. þās, þāz, MS. þōs, pl. of THIS, which during the ME. period became synonymous with þā, THO, pl. of that, which it at length superseded, and thus came to be used in its current sense. The identification of þās (þaas, þase, þais(e) with þā began in the north, where it is evidenced c 1300–1340; the use of þōs (thoos, those) for þō, in middl. and south, came later. Chaucer has only tho; and most of the examples of those(e before 1475 occur either in middl. versions of northern poems, such as the Anturs of Arthur and Sir Perceval, where the scribe transliterated thas(e into thos(e, or in the works of northern men, as Wyclif, whose native dialect had thas(e. In Eng. literature, those, thoos, thoes, became common first in works printed by Caxton, and thenceforth those and tho continued to be used in the same sense, tho gradually becoming rarer, till c 1550.

The early southern ME. þōs = THESE, appears to have been retained longest in Kentish: see quot. 1340 in. I. 1. It was of course obsolete in Middl. Eng. before thos, thoes in the modern sense was accepted. It is doubtful whether thaas ever found a footing in Scotland, where þā continued in use, and still exists as THAE pl. of that.]

1. Demonstrative pronoun.

†1. Plural of THIS B. I = THESE B. I. Obs.

c 825 Vesp. Psalter xliii. 18 [xliv. 17] Das all cwomun ofer usic. a 900 K. ÆLFRED Laws Introd. c. 49 § 7 Ic ðā ÆLfred cyning þas togeðere gegaderode. c 900 Bede's Hist. III. xix. [xxvii.] 242 Betweoh þas wæron twegen geonge æðelingas. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. iv. 9 Ealle þas ic syllle þe. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 217 Ac ich ne mai ne ich ne can þose [f. e. words] on upenli. 1340 Ayenb. 10 For alle þos beyð uaise wytnesses. Ibid. 39 þise makeþ þe uaise mariages. þise beniméþ þe heritages. þos doþ zuo moche kueand...ad þi his hi doþ be hare greate couaytise.

2. Plural of THAT: indicating things or persons pointed to or already mentioned: see THAT B. I. 1.

1340 HAMPOLE Pr. Consc. 6556, I fynde weyne peynes fourtene, ... And whilk þas er i sal yhow telle. a 1400 K. Alis. 4923 (Bodl. MS.) A folk wonep biside poos, þat beep ycleped Parangos. 1477 EARL RIVERS (Caxton) Dictes 33 It made diuers bataylles ... and of thoos, xij the most to be studyed by ordre. 1591 SHAKS. Two Gent. III. i. 225 A Sea of melting pearls, which some call teares: Those at her fathers churlish feete she tendred. 1599 — Hen. V, III. vii. 74 The Armorer I hope in your Tent to-night, are those Gloues and Sonnes vpon it? 1611 BIBLE Eccl. vii. 28 A woman among all those haue I not found. 1653 WALTON Angler ii. 65 Milk. What Song was it, I pray? was it, Come Shepherds deck your heads: or, As at noon Dulcina rested: or Philida flouts me? Pisc. No, it is none of those. a 1822 SHELLEY Serchio 36 Melchior and Lionel were not among those. Mod. Who are those passing? Those are our neighbours Smith and Jones. I looked at all the books on the top shelf, but it was not one of those.

b. Preceded by and, introducing an additional qualification of the things or persons mentioned in the previous clause: plural of THAT I. 2 a.

1545 ASCHAM Toxoph. II. (Arb.) 162 Other and those very good archers in drawyng, loke at the marke. 1590 RYTHER tr. Ubaldino's Disc. Span. Invasion 5 Through penurie of many and those necessarie things. 1601 HOLLAND Pliny (1634) I. 529 If the vineyard lie pendant vpon the hanging of an hill, it requireth deeper ditches, and those raised vp well with earth. 1697 DRYDEN Virg. Georg. iv. 189 Lord of few Acres, and those barren too. 1701 NORRIS Ideal World I. ii. 53 Other figures...and those perfect ones. Mod. I have only three, and those not of the best.

3. In opposition to these; sometimes spec. = 'the former': plural of THAT B. I. 3, 3 b. For quots. see THESE B. I. 2, II. 2. Also in contrast to (the) others.

1653 WALTON Angler iv. 116 Palmer flies, not only those rib'd with silver and gold, but others that have their bodies all made of black. 1656 STANLEY Hist. Philos. I. 2 6 Those affirming they had bargain'd onely for the fish, the others that they bought the draught at a venture.

4. As antecedent pronoun, followed by a defining word or phrase, viz. a relative clause (with relative expressed or understood), a participle (or other vbl. adj.), or a preposition (esp. of) with a sb. which serves to qualify or particularize those: plural of THAT B. I. 6-8. (= Ger. diejenigen or die, F. ceux, celles.)

a. In general sense: chiefly, now only, of persons: those who = the people who; those of = the people of, etc. Plural of THAT B. I. 6 a, c, 8 a.

1340 HAMPOLE Pr. Consc. 7510 Alle þase þat wille þairsyn forsake. c 1400 MAUNDEV. (Roxb.) xv. 67 þase þat trowes perfitely in Godd sall be sauf. c 1440 Alphabet of Tales 296 Pase at salde bere hym myght gett hym no ferer. 1477 EARL RIVERS (Caxton) Dictes 125 Those that be nedy. Ibid. 129 Thoes that blame. 1535 COVERDALE Prov. viii. 12, I inn lounge vnto those that loue me. 1548 FORREST Pleas. Poesye 55 Of those that they had too them made sublugate. 1554-69 T. WHITMOUNE in Songs & Ballads (1860) 11 All thoys that have years this understande. 1590 SHAKS. Com. Err. III. i. 48 Who are those at the gate? 1598 — Merry W. v. v. 57 Those as sleepe, and thinke not on their sins. 1600 — Hen. IV, II. iii. 20 Those of his Chamber, as it seem'd, had don't. 1610 — Temp. I. ii. 398 Those are pearles that were his eies. 1613 — Hen. VIII, III. i. 167 Pray thinke vs, Those we professe, Peace-makers, Friends, and Brethren. 1777 ROBERTSON Hist. Amer. (1778) II. 216 Those who appeared more gentle and tractable. 1790 BURKE Fr. Rev. 50 Those from whom they are descended. 1856 GEO. ELIOT Ess. (1884) 232 Those among our painters who aim at giving the rustic type of features. 1896 Lone Times C. 410/1 Any person other than himself and those claiming under him. Mod. Of those expected only a few turned up.

b. Referring to things or persons mentioned immediately before, and equivalent to the with the pl. sb.; e. g. in quot. 1593, those = 'the storms'. Plural of THAT B. I. 6 b, 8 a.

1477 EARL RIVERS (Caxton) Dictes 31 Diuerse opinions, And in especiall thoos of plato. 1593 SHAKS. Lucr. 1589 These watergalls...Foretell new stormes to those alreadie spent. 1611 BIBLE Josh. iii. 16 The waters which came downe from aboue, stood and rose vp vpon an heape...and those that came downe toward the sea of the plaine...failed, and were cut off. 1774 GOLDSM. Nat. Hist. (1790) VII. 51 The oysters...are by no means so large as those found sticking to rocks. 1779 Mirror No. 6 P 70 The classical writers...were those from whose works he felt the highest pleasure. 1797 Encycl. Brit. (ed. 3) IV. 778/2 The larvæ, which resemble those of the wasp. 1819 KEATS Ode Grecian Urn ii, Heard melodies are sweet, but those unheard Are sweeter. 1874 DASENT Half a Life II. 76 His laws being like those of the Medes and Persians.

II. Demonstrative adjective.

†1. Plural of THIS B. II = THESE B. II. Obs.

a 900 K. ÆLFRED Laws Introd. Drýhten wæs sprecende ðas word to Moyses. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. vi. 32 Ealle þas þing þeoda secead. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 11 (De Quadragesima) þas dages beoð iset us to muchele helpe...al swa moyses...feste þes dages. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 183 Þos feawe word...seide ure drihten. c 1205 LAY. 672 Brutus hine bi-þohte...& þas [c 1275 þeos] word seide. a 1250 Owl & Night. 139 (Cott.) Þos [Jes. þeos] word a,ar þe nightingale.

2. Plural of THAT B. II. 1.

a. 13. Cursor M. 2590 (Gött.) As it was hite [v. r. hight] bifor þas [C. þais, F. þai] dais. Ibid. 4948 (Cott.) þan spak ruben, þe eldest brother, Stilli menand til þas [F. þase] oper. Ibid. 8187 (Cott.) He tok þans [G. þai] wandes in his hand. Ibid. 19859 Quen petre þais (G., F. þa: Tr. þo) vubeses sagh. c 1440 Alphabet of Tales 82 With all pase candels he carsid þis fend & entiriditid hym.

β. c 1375 Cursor M. (Fairf.) 7254 Bi a piler was he sette to glew þos [C. þan] gomis at mete. c 1380 WYCLIF Serm. Sel. Wks. II. 112 Bifore þat tynne were þos wordis spoken of Crist. a 1400 Sir Perc. 229 Fyftene wynter and mare He duellede in those holtes hare. 1477 EARL RIVERS (Caxton) Dictes Pref. 3 Ony of those bookes. Ibid. 27 Whiche was a Cyte in those dayes. 1492 in Lett. Relat. Ill. & Hen. VII (Rolls) I. 99 Bring the said Sir Robert and thoes other oure rebelles and traitours. 1526 TINDALE Luke i. 39 Mary arose in those [COVERD., & Gt. Bible those] dayes. 1595 SHAKS. John III. iv. 61 Binde vp those tresses. 1659 Hamilton Papers (Camden) 90 So many men...with those I haue bein, as will make up that number. 1741-2 CHALLONER Mission. Priests (1803) II. 129 John Sugar was born at Womborn... of a noted family in those parts. 1845 M. PATTISON Ess. (1889) I. 14 A living stirring picture of the Church and State of those days.

b. Indicating things or persons as known to be such as described: plural of THAT B. II. 1 b.

1590 SHAKS. Mids. N. III. ii. 140 Thy lips, those kissing cherries. 1698 CUDWORTH Intell. Syst. I. ii. 61 As for those Romantick Monogrammons Gods of Epicurus. 1703 CHALLONER Cath. Chr. Instr. 178 Those two great Lights of the Church, St. Gregory Nazianzen and St. Basil. 1822 SHELLEY Question 10 Dulcises, those pearled Arcturi of the earth. 1855 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. xx. IV. 494 Those worst enemies of the nation.

c. Used instead of that with a sing. noun of multitude (now only with collectives in pl. sense, as clergy, foot (foot-soldiers), horse, vermin); and esp. with kind, sort, followed by of with pl. sb. (see KIND sb. 14 b). Cf. THESE B. II. 1 d.

Those kind (or sort) of men, is put for 'men of that kind (or sort)', L. ejus generis homines, and is grammatically anomalous: cf. THAT B. II. 1 c.

1560 WHITEHORNE Ord. Souldiours (1588) 9 b, Behind the said teeth to place those number of men which first were taken out. 1601 SHAKS. Twel. N. I. ii. 10 You, and those poore number saued with you. 1652 H. WALKER Gth. & Rom. Hist. 266 He...chased away those Vermin of Courtiers. 1875 GLADSTONE Glean. VI. 126 Some of those clergy who are called Broadchurchmen.

1565 J. SWAKES in Hawkins Voy. II. (Hakl. Soc.) 51 Those sorte of men are eaters of the flesh of men, as well as the Canibals. 1577 NORTHBROOKE Dicing (1843) 99 From whence those kinde of playes had their beginning. 1608 DOD & CLEAVER Expos. Prov. xii-xiii. 120 In those kind of trees, the root cannot defend the branches, nor bodie. 1761 H. WALPOLE Let. to H. Zouch 3 Jan., The little regard shown ...to those sort of things. 1798 JANE AUSTEN Lett. (1884) I. 187 Those kind of foolish and incomprehensible feelings. 1887 RIDER HAGGARD Jess 126 Those sort of reflections.

3. In opposition to these: plural of THAT B. II. 2; cf. I. 3 above. For quots. see THESE B. II. 2.

4. In concord with a noun which is the antecedent to a relative (expressed or omitted), or which is further defined by a participle: pl. of THAT B. II. 3.

c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 13 þas þas .x. bebode þe godalmihti seolf idiht. 1526 TINDALE Eph. v. 12 Those thynges which are done of them in secrete. — Prefe 10 Those thynges which they knowe not. In those thynges which they knowe naturally they corrupte them selves [so COVERD. & Gt. Bible]. 1539 BIBLE (Great) Rev. i. 3 And kepe those thynges [WYCLIF & COVERD. those] thynges which are written therin. 1563 WINJET Four Scoir Thre Quest. § 35 Wks. (S.T.S.) I. 100 Gif ze be nocht admittit be thais Kirkis, quhone ze serue. 1599 SHAKS. Hen. V, IV. viii. 96 The Names of those their Nobles that lye dead. 1632 MILTON Epitaph Marchioness Winchester 43 Those Pearls of dew she wears. 1779 Mirror No. 30 P 2 Those national boasts which are always allowable. 1780 Ibid. No. 70 P 5 Those useful chronicles of facts, called newspapers. 1839 GEO. ELIOT A. Bede xix, Brethren and sisters...who have none of those comforts you have.

5. = Such: plural of THAT B. II. 4. Now rare.

1605 SHAKS. Lear I. i. 99 I returne those duties backe as are right fit. 1611 — Cymb. v. v. 338 Those Arts they haue, as I Could put into them. 1632 MASSINGER & FIELD Fatal Dowry III. i, Obnoxious to those foolish things As they can gibe at. 1689 LUTTRELL Brief Rel. (1857) I. 567 The town ...was reduced to those straights, that it relieved...it must have surrendred in two daies time. 1887 DISRAELI Viv. Grey v. vi, He spoke of you in those terms that make me glad that I have met the son.

+Thost(e. Obs. [OE. þost = OHG. dost.] Dung, excrement; a turd.

c 1000 SAXL Leechd. I. 364 Scinsecum men wyrc drenc of hwites hundes þoste on bitere lege. a 1300 E. E. Psalter lxxxiii[i]. 11 [10] þai for-worhted in Endor, þai ere made als thoste of erthe þar-of. a 1327 Pol. Songs (Camden) 237 Alle weren y-buld'an horse thoste. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) IV. 423 Alle men þreve on hym drit and thoste. c 1425 Cast. Persev. 2413 in Macro Plays 149 Al oure fare is not worth a thost. c 1440 Pallad. on Husb. iv. 348 Asse vryne & swynes thost. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 492/1 Thoste (or toord), stercus.

† Tho·ther, coalesced form of the other, frequent from 14th to 17th c.; in later time also written th' other: see TH-, TH'.

Often used in contrast to THONE = the one: see THONE, ONE 18, 19, and THYNNE.

c 1300 Beket 4/6 Tho were thothere glad ynous. c 1400 Trevisa's Higden (Rolls) III. 65 (MS. y) Jooper wys men. 1534-5 MN. Rawl. D. 777 lf. 67 b, One of them in [etc.] and thoder in the hawpace. 1556 Kenninghall Wills (Surtees) I. 73 To my children thother half. 1633 T. STAFFORD Pac. Hib. i. i. (1821) 11 On thother part.

Thou (ðǫu), pers. pron., 2nd sing. nom. Forms: 1–3 ðu, 1–5 þu, (2–3 tu, tou, -te), 3 (þe, þeou), ðhu, 3–5 þou, 3–6 thu, (4 þouȝ), 4–5 þow, (-tow), 4–6 thow, 4, 6 (9 dial.) th-, th', (5 thowe), 4–thou. (Mod. dial. thau, thaw, thah, tha; theau, theow, thou, thu; tau, taw, ta, tay; teau, teaw, teu, tou, tow; doo, dou, du, etc.: see Eng. Dial. Dict.) [OE. ðū, þū; Com. Teut. and Indo-Eur.: = OFris. thū (dū), OS. thū (MDu., MLG., LG. dū), OHG. dū (MHG., Ger. du), ON. þú (Norw., Sw., Da. du), Goth. þu :– OTeut. þū = pre-Teut. tū: = L. tu, Ir. tú, Welsh ti, Gr. σύ, Doric τύ, Lith. tu, OSlav. ty, Skr. twa-m. The oblique cases, and the possessive, are formed on a stem þe- = pre-Teut. te-: see THEE, THINE. The pl. YE, in OE. gé, is from a different root, to which also belonged a dual git, YIN, 'ye two', still used after 1200 in ME. The acc. and dat. sing. were levelled in OE. under the dat. form: see THEEM. The OE. genitive was identical in form with a possessive adj. þīn: see THINE, THY. The paradigm of thou is therefore as follows:

Old English.

| | Singular. | Dual. | Plural. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Nom. | þū, þu | ȝit | ȝé, ȝe, ȝie |
| Acc. | þec; þē, þe | inc(it; inc | ēowic; ēow (iuih, iuh) |
| Dat. | þē, þe | inc | ēow |
| Gen. / Poss. Pron. | þīn | incer | ēower |

Middle English.

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Nom. | þū, þou, þow | ȝit, yet | ȝe, ȝie, yhe, ye | |
| Dat. Acc. | þē, þee | inc, ȝinc, ȝunc | eow, eou, ou, ow, ȝiu, ȝu, ȝou, yhu(etc.) | |
| Gen. | þīn | inker, ȝunker, unker | eower, eour, ower, ȝure, ȝour(e | |
| Poss. Pron. | þīn, þī | inker, ȝunker, unker | | |

Modern English.

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Nom. | thou | [obs.] | ye, you |
| Dat. Acc. | thee | " | you |
| Poss. { absol. | thine | " | yours |
| Pron. { adj. | thy | " | your.] |

1. The pronoun by which a person (or thing) is addressed, in the nominative singular; the pronoun denoting the person (or thing) spoken to.

Thou and its cases thee, thine, thy, were in OE. used in ordinary speech; in ME. they were gradually superseded by the plural ye, you, your, yours, in addressing a superior and (later) an equal, but were long retained in addressing an inferior. Long retained by Quakers in addressing a single person, though now less general; still in various dialects used by parents to children, and familiarly between equals, esp. intimates; in other cases considered as rude. In general English used in addressing God or Christ, also in homiletic language, and in poetry, apostrophe, and elevated prose. For details of dialect use, see Wright, Eng. Dial. Dict., Thou II, Eng. Dial. Gram. § 404.

In ME. freq. combined with its verb when this precedes, the þ being then absorbed in the preceding t, as artow = art thou, hastow = hast thou. The initial þ also became t after s, t, or d, as hauis tu = hast thou, þat tu, and tu: see T 8.

Beowulf 507 Eart þu se Beowulf? c 825 Vesp. Psalter ix. 13 Þu uplest mec of ȝeatum deaðes. c 1205 LAY. 609 Niðing þou ert al dead... Þote þu min lare do. Ibid. 2978 Þeou [c 1275 þou] ert leouere þene mi lif. a 1225 Ancr. R. 240 Þench ec hwat tu swuist God, uor his god deden. c 1240 Dreizun in Cott. Hom. 199 So þu dest and so þu schalt. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 361 For ðhu min bode-word haues broken, ðhu salt ben ut in sorȝe luken, In swinc ðu salt tilien ði mete. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 6371 Þou no salt of þin lifode neuere carle noȝt. a 1300 Cursor M. 19585 (Edin.) Hauis tu [v.rr. þu, þou] na parte .. here. Ibid. 1253 (Gött.) In þat way sal yu [Cott. þou] find forsoth Þi moher. Ibid. 2306 (Fairf.) Werrour artow [Cott. art þow] gode in fist. c 1390 CHAUCER Astrol. t. § 13 Thanne hastow a brod Rewle. c 1440 Pallad. on Husb. i. 42 The better may thowe with that water holde. 1535 COVERDALE Ps. lxiv. [lxv.] 1 Thou, O God, art praysed in Sion. 1592 SHAKS. Rom. & Jul. i. v. 9 Good thou, save mee a piece of Marchpane. 1597 — 2 Hen. IV, ii. ii. 17 How many paire of Silk stockings y^u haste. 1671 H. M. tr Erasm. Colloq. 326 Why shouldest thou do so, seeing how thou was not far from thine own shew? 1715-20 POPE Iliad XII. 60 Oh thou! bold leader of the Trojan bands, And you, confederate chiefs from foreign lands! 1741 RICHARDSON Pamela II. 273, I dare say thou'lt set the good Work forward. a 1835 MRS. HEMANS Graves of Heroes, viii, Alas, for love! if thou wert all, And nought beyond, O Earth. 1872 TENNYSON Gareth & Lyn. 1210 Thou—Lancelot!—thine the hand That threw me?

Dialectal. 1579 SPENSER Sheph. Cal. July 33 Syker, thous but a lassie loord. 1607 BEAUMONT Woman Hater iii. 1, Heres ta, and tha [Hearest thou, if thou] wants lodging, take my house, 'tis big enough. 1802 R. ANDERSON Cumberld. Ballads, Sally Gray iv, Had tou seen her at kurk, man, last Sunday, Tou couldn't ha'e thought o' the text. 1861 E. WAUGH Birtle Carter's T. 32 Well neaw, mind ta does do. 1876 Whitby Gloss. 171/2 If thou will gan, sithence he's, 1885 HALL CAINE Son of Hagar I. i, What sayst tha, Reuben?

b. Used in apposition to and preceding a sb. in the vocative: in reproach or contempt often emphasized by being placed or repeated after the sb.

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xxvii. § 2 Ic ascige ðe, þu Boetius. 13.. Cursor M. 13632 (Gött.) 'Haid ye to him', said þai, 'þu caitiue'. c 1350 Will. Palerne 312 A! gracious gode God! þou greetest of alle! c 1425 ? LYDG. Assembly of Gods 1394 'What' seyde Rygthwysnes, 'thow olde dotyng foole'. c 1485 Digby Myst. III. 1309 Loke þat we have drynke, boy pou. 1590 SHAKS. Mids. N. v. i. 177 Thow wall, o wall, o sweet and louely wall. 1601 — Jul. C. iv. iii. 301 Sleepe against Lucius: Sirra Claudio, Fellow, Thou: Awake. 1610 — Tempest iv. iii. 52 Thou lyest, thou testing Monkey thou. 1756 HOME Douglas III. iii, Thou riddler, speak Direct and clear. 1820 WORDSW. Ch. Sun Salvador t Thou sacred Pile! whose turrets rise.. Guarded by lone Sn Salvador. 1899 (Westmorland), Get oop, thoo lile lignbed!

2. As sb. a. The person or 'self' of the individual addressed. Cf. THEE pron. 4 a.

1693 DRYDEN Persius' Sat. i. 249 Thou, if there be a Thou, in this base Town, Who dares, with angry Eupolis, to frown. 1832 CARLYLE Sart. Res. II. ix, Because the Thou (sweet gentleman) is not sufficiently honoured, nourished, soft-bedded.

b. The word itself: see also THEE pron. 4 b.

1655 BAXTER Quaker Catech. 27 The Quakers..call out for a formal Righteousnesse.., consisting in such things as these following, to wit,..That we say (Thou) and no (You) to him we speak to. 1694 PENN in G. Fox's Jrnl. (1827) I. Pref. 17 They also used the plain language of Thou and Thee to a single person. 1827 HARE Guesses (1859) 119 When you came into use among the higher classes, the lower were still addrest with thou. 1905 Daily Chron. 16 Feb. 5/1 Among the concessions that have been shall be addressed in the second person plural, not as is usual throughout Russia, in the case of the working classes, in the singular 'thou' (a mark of inferiority).

Thou (ðǫu), v. [f. THOU pron.] To use the pronoun 'thou' to a person: familiarly, to an inferior, in contempt or insult, or as done (formerly universally, now less frequently) on principle by Quakers: cf. note to THOU pers. pron. 1. Often in phr. to thou and thee, to thee and thou: cf. also THEE v.[2] a. trans. b. intr. (or absol.). Hence Thouing vbl. sb. (Cf. THOWT[E v.) a. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 492/1 Thowtyn, or seyn thow to a mann (A. thowyn or sey þu), tuo. 14.. Voc. in Wr.-Wülcker 618/7 Tuo, to thow. c 1450 in Aungier Syon (1840) 297 None of hygheneese schal thou another in spekynge. c 1530 Hickscorner (1901) 149 Avaunt, caitiff, dost thou thou me! I am come of good kin I tell thee! 1564-78 BULLEYN Dial. agst. Pest. (1888) 5 He thous not God, but you[s] hym. 1603 COKE in Harrave State Trials (1776) I. 216 All that Lord Cobham did was by the instigation, thou viper; for I thou thee, thou Traitor! 1664 PEPYS Diary 11 Jan., She [a Quakeress] thou'd him [the king] all along. 1682 R. WARE Foxes & Firebrands II. 103 He..Quaker-like, thou'd and thee'd Oliver. 1805 tr. Lafontaine's Hermann & Emilia I. 110 When she heard the young people thou and thee each other. 1888 Liversedge, Yorks. Dial., Shoo said, Art thah goin'? Yo' knaw shoo al'us thah's ma. We're owd mates.

b. 1679 Establ. Test 23 A Jesuit takes a Lodging at a Quakers, can thou and thee, and yea and nay, as well as the best of them. 1697 State Philadelph. Soc. 2 They were not so silly as to place Religion in Thouing and Theeing. 1883 Globe 24 Mar. 1/5 In this country 'thouing' is a lost art.

Thou (þou), sb., a colloquial and familiar shortening of the word thousand; esp. a thousand pounds sterling; but also in other senses: see quots.

1869 tr. Sue's Myst. Paris I. xxvi, The annual amount of his betting-book reached to two or three 'thous'. 1897 Speaker 13 Nov. 535 The writer did not demean himself by fixing his price at so much 'per thou'. 1899 Daily News 23 Feb. 6/2 Fancy Wellington and Nelson caaed for copy at the rate, say, of five hundred pounds a 'thou'. 1902 Westm. Gaz. 30 June 3/3 In engineering we divide the inch into one thousand parts, and the expression of dimensions in 'thous', as they are called in workshops, is far more convenient than the expression of the same dimensions in parts of millimètres.

Thou, pou, thouch(t, obs. forms of THOUGH.

Thoucht, obs. Sc. f. THOUGHT sb.[1]; also of thought pa. t. of THINK v.

Though (ðǫu), adv. and conj. Forms: see below. [OE. had ðēah, þēah, þēh, corresp. to Goth. þauh (= þaw 'in that case' + h = L. -que 'also'), OFris. thāch (Saterl. dach); OS. thōh (MDu., Du., LG. doch), OHG. doh (shortened fr. dōh), ON. þó (contr. fr. þauh*), MSw., MDa., þo, tho. Of the numerous ME. forms, those in a and ā were developments of OE. þāh, þāh, þāh, with various treatment of the diphthong, and early shortening of the vowel in unstressed position (cf. Ormin's þāhh, Lamb. Hom. þāch), with subsequ. stress-lengthening, as þeih, they, and hauch, thaw, thaw. The y forms were from Norse, representing ON. þóh* (intermediate to þauh and þó), shortened in Ormin to þōhh, with subsequ. stress-lengthening to þōuȝ, though, thō. The Norse form gradually gained over the native a and ā forms, which disappeared from literature before 1500. The ð forms show the same development of f from ȝ, gh (χ*), as in laugh, cough, tough; thof was occasional in literature as late as 1720, and is still prevalent in many varieties from Yorksh. and Lancash. to Hampsh. and Devon: see Wright Eng. Dial. Gram. In Scotl. and north of Engl. though is pronounced (þō); the Hampsh. and WSom. thof also is (þof), not (ðof).]

A. Illustration of Forms.

α. 1 þēah, ðēh, 1–3 þēh, ðeoh, þeih, 2–3 þeoh, (þeȝh), (Orm.) þēhh, þeih, 3–4 þeigh, 3–5 þei, þey, 4 þeiȝh, 4–5 þeyȝ, þeyh, þeiȝ, theȝh, thei, 5 þeiȝt, theiȝh(e, they (the). Also 3 þaih, þaiȝ, þayh, þayȝ, þay, 4 þai.

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xix. § 1 Hu neara þære eorðan stede is, þeah heo us rum þince. c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Mark xiv. 29 ȝif uel þāh alle ȝeondspyrand sen. ah..nefre ic. — John iv. 2 Þauh hi hadeȝ ne fulwude. 971 Blickl. Hom. 37 Þeah [see B. I]. Ibid. 55 Þeh he geunlice ȝehyre þa word. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 77 He [Christ] nis nawiht alle monne lauerd, þeah alle men hon on his onwald. c 1200 Vices & Virt. 9 Þeih me niede me to ðan aðe, ne ne net me nohit te forsweriȝen, ac soþ te seggen of ðan ðe te an bicleped. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 83 þeh [see B. II. 4]. Ibid. 159 Al þat man doð..þeiȝ hie ben don ec for godes luue. c 1200 ORMIN 305 Þatt teȝȝ..sinndenn þohh swa þohh i þohht. c 1205 LAY. 1302 He þus seide, soð þeih [c 1275 þoh] hit nare. Ibid. 22736 Wunder þeih [c 1275 þeh] hit þunche. c 1250 S. Eng. Leg. I. 260/148 Þei he fader and moder aslouȝ. c 1350 Will. Palerne 689 As þeiȝh he gyled were. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) I. 211 [þeȝ þou nyȝh alle fallynge be. c 1394 P. Pl. Crede 69 Þeiȝ his felawes fayle good. 1398 TREVISA Barth. De P. R. III. iii. (Bodl. MS.), Þeȝ (L. quamvis) þe soule be onlo to a body. c 1400 Brut 49 As þeiȝt Voriger hadde mount wiste þeyl. 1400 in Rev. & Hist. Lett. Hen. IV (Rolls) 38 Thegh John Welle hath doon as thu above hans certefied. c 1425 Seven Sag. (P.) 1741 He loved hit well, the hit were bad. a 1450 Le Morte Arth. 1985 What wondyr thoȝ hys hedde be lyke a lyon. 1456 LOVELICH Grail lv. 298 As they Alle they in the world hadde ben there. c 1205 LAY. 2513 Þaih he here rædd gold. c 1250 Hymn Virgin 62 in Trin. Coll. Hom. 257 Betere ne miȝte he þaiȝ he wolde. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 3284 Þei [v. r. þay] so were wif.

β. 1–3 þah (3 taȝh), 2 þach, þaȝh, 3–4 þaȝ, 5 þagh, thaȝ, thaghe, thaȝhe; 2–5 þau, 3 þaue, 3–4 þauh (tauh), 4–5 þauȝ, þaw, 5 þawe, thau.

c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Luke xviii. 4 Þah god ne ondredo ic ne monno sceonniȝo. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 15 Þaȝh [see B. II. 2]. Ibid. 147 Þach his ikunnesse þine ne bole. c 1205 LAY. 244 Þa com his lifes ende, laðþah him were. a 1225 St. Marher. 4 Freo wummon ich am aut tah godes þeowe. a 1240 Urelsun in Cott. Hom. 203 [He] beiðð adun toward þe his., heuued, ase þauh [v. r. Ibid. 189 þah] he sitide [etc.]. a 1250 Owl & Night. 1274 þah he haabe neole. c 1320 Þauȝ [see B. I]. 1340 Þaȝ [see B. II. 3]. 1362 LANGL. P. Pl. A. i. 132 No dedly sunne to do dyȝe þauȝ þou scholdest. c 1400 Sir Amadace xxviii, Quat wundur were hit, thaghe him were wo? 1426 AUDELAY Poems 15 Thaȝ Kayme his borne broder were cursid. a 1450 MYRC Par. Pr. 91 And thaghe þe chylde bote half be bore.

γ. 3 (Orm.) þohh (tohh), 3–4 þoh (þoch, 3 ðhoȝ), 4 þoȝ, þhoh, þouh, þouȝh, þowh, þowȝh, 4–5 þowȝ, þouȝ, -e, þou, þoȝh, þow (dow), þo, 4–6 thow, 5 þowe, thoȝe, thouȝ, thowh, thowȝh, thou, Sc. thouch, 5–6 thoughe, 5–7 thoȝh, 6 Sc. thouch, 5– though; 5–9 tho, 6– tho', (7 thō).

c 1200 ORMIN Ded. 135 Þatt batt teȝȝ all forrwerrpenn itt. Ibid. Introd. 23, & itt wass þohh full mikell rihht. c 1275 LAY. 2345 He seide, soþ þoh [c 1205 þeih] hit neare. Ibid. 4264 Þoh [c 1205 ȝef] he hadde man linage. 13.. Cursor M. 21818 (Edin.) at tu funde þoh [Cott. þof, Gött. þouh] I walde it noȝte. Ibid. 24590 þho þu wald þai birid þi barn. Ibid. 73 (Gött.) þou i sumtime be untrewe. Ibid. 4763 (Fairf.) Þo þai had siluer and golde rede. Ibid. 10941 (Gött.) And dow þai þar-fore nurnand were. 1377 LANGL. P. Pl. B. vi. 40 And powgh ȝe mowe amercy hem, late mercy be taxoure. c 1380 WYCLIF Serl. Wks. III. 328 Þouȝ men ben neverse so opynly cursid. c 1425 Seven Sag. (P.) 576 Hit his no wondir iho me be wo. c 1425 ? Hoccleve (Furnivall) VII. App. 519 (MS. B) Thouȝ that tale teller were as huge as a geaunt. c 1449 PECOCK Repr. ii. 195 ȝhe, thou þo gouernunciis..be weel ynouȝ. 1456 SIR G. HAYE Law Arms (S.T.S.) 81 Thouch thni be belle of corpis. c 1489 CAXTON Sonnes Aymon xxxii, ye shal thoughe he clothe wronge to leve me here. a 1520 SKELTON Agst. Garnysche 124 Thow a Sarsens hed ye here. a 1540 BARNES Wks. (1573) 281/1 Though all the worlde say nayes. a 1550 Christis Kirke Gr. xvi, Thoch he wes wight, he wes noght wyse. 1615 HIERON Wks. I. 628 Thogh He do not alwaies shew it. 1643 DENHAM Cooper's H. Poems (1703) 12 Tho deep, yet clear, tho gentle, yet not dull. 1711 SHAFTESB. Charac. (1737) II. 149 Tho the impatience of abstaining be greater. 1742 Thof [see B. I].

δ. 4 þowf, 4–5 þof (of), þofe, thofe, thoffe, 5 (yof), þaf, þuff, 5–6 thaff, 5–7 (dial. –9) thof, 8 dial. thoff.

13.. Cursor M. 698 (Cott.) Þowf he was euer witttur. Ibid. 17648 And þof a smitt noght he not se. c 1340 HAMPOLE Prose Tr. 7 Thofe I ware, quod he. Ibid. 21 Thoffe I be a wrech and vnworth. c 1440 þof, yof [see B. II. 1]. c 1440 Lay Folks Mass Bk. (MS. E.) 7 Þaf a Mⁱ· [= thousand] clerkus dyd noght ellus. c 1440 Alphabet of Tales 64 þuff all he lafte it. c 1450 Thof [see B. II. 2]. 14.. Kyng & Hermit 158 in Hazl. E. P. P. I. 19 Thaff thow were sych thre. a 1565 J. HEYWOOD Dial. Wit & Folly (Percy Soc.) 8 As thowghff he knewe th' end of thing at begynnyng. 1695 CONGREVE Love for L. iii. xv, A Sailor will be honest; thof mayhap he has never a Penny of Money in his Pocket. 1748 Thof [see B. II. 1]. 1803 MARY CHARLTON Wife & Mistress II. 149, I never mintioned it before, thof I knowed it all along!

c. (Chiefly Sc.) 4–5 þoght, (4 þoght, thowght), 4–6 thought, 4–7 thoght, 5–7 thoght, 6 thought, thowght, tho'.

1303 R. BRUNNE Handl. Synne 969 Y wlde nat leue for here to wrche Þoght men rong none at be cherche. c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints Pirol. 166 Thowcht god cheid Androw firste To be ane apostill. 1375 (MS. 1489) BARBOUR Bruce I. 264 Þe may weile se, thought nane 3ow tell. c 1470 HENRY Wallace I. 24 Thocht Inglismen sweyt at thir iourney, Beit [etc.]. 1530 in W. H. Turner Select. Rec. Oxford (1880) 78, I wolde it had ben uppon the constabyll, thought it had ben worse. 1535 Thocht [see R. II. 1]. *c*1560 A. SCOTT Poems (S.T.S.) 19/2 Thocht I had rycht nit bot a rok. 1567 Pa. II. in Gude & Godlie B. (S.T.S.) 122 Thocht v.r. thoghtthow..þe Jugeit thus Full falsand wrangouslie.

B. Signification.

An adversative particle expressing that relation of two opposed facts or circumstances (actual or hypothetical) in which the one is inadequate to prevent the other, and therefore both concur, contrary to what might be expected.

I. adv. For all that; in spite of that; nevertheless, howbeit, however, yet. Now colloq.; usually enclitic, as 'he did though' (hi did dō).

971 Blickl. Hom. 37 Ne magon þis þeah calle men don. *c*1175 Lamb. Hom. 119 Monie þewas heddo...e monnen þuncheð rihte, ac hi þah ledaõ to deõe on ende. a 1225 Ancr. R. 10 Ich am blac & tauh hwit, heo seiõ. Ibid. 422 Ancre ne schal nout ... turnen hire ancre hus to childrene scole. Hire meiden mei þoch, techen sum luttel meiden. *c*1320 Cast. Love 1296 Persones breo in þrillihod, And o God þaus in on-hod. 13... Cursor M. 5750 (Gött.) Þe tre ...semid to brine, And þou [Fairf.] seij bar was na fir widin. 1350 SHAKS. Mids. N. III. ii. 243 Your hands then mine, are quicker for a fray, My legs are longer though to runne away. 1672 DRYDEN Assignation Prol. 3 Prologues like bells to Churches tell you in this chiming verse,.. With this sad difference though, of pit and pew, You damn the poet, but the priest damns you. 1741 RICHARDSON Pamela I. xxv. 30 Is there no Constable nor Headborough, tho', to take me out of his House? 1872 BROWNING Fifine at the Fair lxvii. 13 It did its duty, though. 1888 ANSTEY Tinted Venus vii. 81 It was a bore, but I've got over it. She told me what was inside though.

II. conj. (or conjunctive adv.).

1. Introducing a subordinate clause expressing a fact: Notwithstanding that; in spite of the fact that, although. (Formerly with verb in subjunctive, where the indicative is now used.)

*c*888 [see A. 1]. 971 Blickl. Hom. 21 [He] biõ þonne undeallic, þeah he ser dealliche were. *c*1175 [see A. 1]. 12.. Morral Ode 356 Ne mai non vuel, beon inne gode riche þeh þer beõ wunienges fele. 13.. E. E. Allit. P. B. 233 For-by þaj he rape were rank, he rawþe watz lyttel. 13.. Gaw. & Gr. Knt. 63 Ladies lauõ fil loude, þoȝ þay lost lauõen. 1362 LANGL. P. Pl. A. 1. 10 Ich was asked of hire face þauh hoo feir weore [B. þeiȝ she faire were]. *c*1440 York Myst. xxx. 45 My-selfe yof I saye it. Ibid. xlviii. 344 Helpe ne holde, Hadde I neer doughte were. *c*1475 [see A. 2]. 12.. Morral Ode 356 Ne mai non vuel, beon inne gode riche þeh þer beõ wunienges fele. 13.. E. E. Allit. P. B. 233 For-by þaj he rape were rank, he rawþe watz lyttel. 13.. Gaw. & Gr. Knt. 63 Ladies lauõ fil loude, þoȝ þay lost lauõen. 1362 LANGL. P. Pl. A. 1. 10 Ich was asked of hire face þauh hoo feir weore [B. þeiȝ she faire were]. *c*1440 York Myst. xxx. 45 My-selfe yof I saye it. Ibid. xlviii. 344 Helpe ne holde, Hadde I neer doughte were. *c*1475 [see A. 2]. 1535 STREWAT Cron. Scot. (Rolls) II. 390 The duke...Treitrit him well thocht he was far fra hame. 1610 SHAKS. Temp. II. iii. 135 Though thou canst swim like a Ducke, thou art made like a Goose. 1701 DE FOE True-born Eng. II. 314 They are no kings, though they possess the crown. 1746 FRANCIS tr. Horace, Art Poet. 414 The hone Gives edge to razors, though itself has none. 1748 SMOLLETT Rod. Rand. vi, The French..are very civil, tho' I don't understand their lingo. 1840 DICKENS Old C. Shop xv, A gentle heart, though scathed and hard though it was. 1857 BUCKLE Civilis. I. xi. 647 Though they rallied, the effort cost them dear.

b. With ellipsis in the subordinate clause: usually directly preceding an adj., pple., sb., or adj. phr. qualifying the subject of the main clause, or an adv. or adv. phr. qualifying the verb.

1596 WEBBE Alb. Eng. ix. 208 (1602) 216 It was objected, though untruely, That they were yele. 1599 SHAKS. Much Ado II. i. 215 The base (though bitter) disposition of Beatrice. 1711 SHAFTESB. Charac. I. iii. II. (1737) III. 48 Favourable to a few, tho for slight causes. 1832 CARLYLE Tales xv. 268 For the zealous Youth Resolved, though timid, to profess the truth. 1875 JOWETT Plato (ed. 2) I. 256 One who, though a foreigner, has often been chosen their general. 1895 N. & Q. 8th Ser. IX. 260/2 Though marred by eccentricities and extravagances of language, the play has genuine dramatic fibre.

2. Introducing a subordinate clause expressing a supposition or possibility: Even if; even supposing that; granting that. (With verb in subjunctive.)

*c*888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xiii, Hwæt hæfst þu..æt ðæm weian, þeah hy nu ece wearon? *c*1175 Lamb. Hom. 15 Þauh we sunedhie nu on þisse life ne scal na mon usellen þer uore. a 1300 Cursor M. 4296 Strengh o luue ..nan mai stere, þof his hert al stillen were. a 1450 MYRC Par. Pr. 358 For þaj a preste be but a fonne Aske hys teyynge welle he cotme. *c*1450 in Aungier Hist. Syon Monast. (1840) 385 None shal enclyne to other, thof it be the abbes that passethe by them. 1539 BIBLE (Great) Job xiii. 15 Though he slaye me, yet wyll I put my trust in hym. 1610 SHAKS. Temp. I. i. 62 Hee'l be hang'd yet, Though every drop of water sweare against it. 1714 ADDISON Spect. No. 557 P 2 He would not accept of one [witness], tho' it were Cato himself. 1884 Leisure Hour Oct. 621 Though knots be tied in the sunshine, they're meant to hold in a gale.

b. With ellipsis (as in I b).

1591 SHAKS. Two Gent. III. i. 102 Though nere so blacke, say they haue Angells faces. 1703 ROWE Fair Penit. II. ii, No Place, tho' e'er so holy, shou'd protect him. 1792 CHARLOTTE SMITH Desmond II. 346 If she looks pale, though only from slight cold or fatigue, I fancy her about to be ill. 1875 J. P. HOPPS Princ. Relig. x. (1878) 32 Though punished by the rulers, [he] may be rewarded by the ruled.

3. Introducing an additional statement restricting or modifying the preceding: And yet, but yet, but still, nevertheless, however. Sometimes preceding the main statement. (Coinciding in sense with I, but differing in construction, being conjunctive.)

a 1250 Orrmin 105 in Cott. Hom. 19 Ful wel þu me lesie þauh þu stille were. 1340 Ayenb. 9 Þet is on of þe zeuen dyadliches zennes, þaȝ per by zome bronches þet ne byeþ naȝt dyadlich zennes. *c*1400 Destr. Troy 1312 Tho þat left were on ryue þoght þei lite were. 1526 Pilgr. Pyes (W. de W. 1531) 2 Thoughe it be necessary to all manner of religyous persones, yet moost expedient it is to prelates. 1678 BUNYAN Pilgr. 178 Glad shall I be, if I meet with no more such brunts, though I fear we are not got beyond all danger. 1774 MITFORD Eur. Harmony Langs. 16 Tho what has been printed on both sides is little red. 1810 CRABBE Borough vii. 48 To show the world what long experience gains, Requires not courage, though it calls for pains. 1894 Solicitors' Jrnl. XXXIX. 2/2 The..report..must state that fraud has been committed, though the guilty person need not be specified.

4. In more or less weakened or modified sense, often nearly coinciding with if, but usually retaining some notion of opposition. † a. After negative or interrogative phrases with wonder, marvel, be sorry, care, etc., where if or that is now substituted.

*c*1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 117 He forbed his apostles, þat hie neren noht sorie, þeh he hem forlete lichnaliche. 1340 HAMPOLE Pr. Conc. 1882 I rek noght, þogh þe rynes be rude. 13.. Cursor M. 4122 (Gött.) Na wonder þan þow [Fairf.] him was wa. 14.. Beryn 953 No mervell pouse his herte wer in grete mournyng. 1557 NORTH Guevara's Dial. Pr. 295 I do not wonder though they are full of dysenses when they are old. 1637 GILLESPIE Eng. Pop. Ceremn. Ep. A ij b, He cares not though the Church sinke.

b. In phr. as though: as if; as would or might be the case if; so as to suggest the supposition that. (With verb in past subjunctive (also with ellipsis), or with inf. of purpose: cf. as if s. v. IF 8 c.) In quot. 1297, with ellipsis of as (obs.).

Here the opposition is not between the two suppositions actually denoted by the main and subordinate clauses, but between two facts, one expressed by the main clause, and the other implied; e. g. in quot. 1398, 'I thank you as much as though I did', = 'I thank you as much as I would thank you if I did eat (though I do not)'.

c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 7 Sainte powel wrot þo a writ,.. and dude him seluen mid hem þaron, alse þeih he sunful were. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 165 Vpe he hul of þe þek þe wind bere inn Vp of þe ere þe ofte comp of holes þel hit were. 13.. Cursor M. 19658 (Edin.) Qui wondir sis...Als þoȝ his war don wip ur mist? *c*1400 Brut 238 Buried in þat sande, as þaus þai hade bene hondes. 1509-10 Act 1 Hen. VIII, c. 18 § 2 The Quene [shall] have like Habilitie...as though she had ovygrowen bene within this Realme. 1583 STUBBES Anat. Abus. II. (1882) 72 This is as though a man should despise meane fare, bicause he cannot come by better. 1598 SHAKS. Merry W. I. i. 291 I'faith, he eate nothing: I thanke you as much as though I did. 1632 LITHGOW Trav. vi. 298 The Camell..hath a most slow and lazy pace..., as though he were weighing his feete in a ballance. 1794 MRS. RADCLIFFE Myst. Udolpho iii, I have reason to love him as though he was my own son. 1864 DASENT Tale & Earnest (1873) II. 239 This looks as though Magnus was more afraid of Harold than of Sweyn. Mod. He shaded his eyes as though dazzled by the light. He raised his hand as though to take off his hat.

† c. simply. If, supposing that. Obs. rare.

1526 TINDALE Acts xxiii. 9 Though a sprete or an angell hath apered to hym, lett vs not stryue agaynst God.

5. With special constructions (in sense 1, 2, or 3). † a. Followed by that (in OE. þe): see THAT conj. 7, THE particle 2. Obs.

c 1050 Byrhtferth's Handboc in Anglia (1885) VIII. 302 Þeah he calle þas salce geare þishhon heora concurrentes. *c*1200 ORMIN Dedi. 155 Ice hafe hemm wrohht þiss loc To þeȝres awle nede, Þohh batt tess all forrwerrpenn itt. a 1300 Cursor M. 1803 Bot þof þat noe was in quert, He was noght al at es in hert. *c*1386 CHAUCER Prol. 729, I pray you.. That ye suffre it nat my vileynye Though that I plevnly speke. *c*1475 Rauf Coilȝear 106 Thocht that I simpill be, Do as I bid thee. 1595 SHAKS. John III. iii. 57 Though that my death were adjunct to my Act, By heauen I would doe it. 1605 — Lear IV. vi. 219 Though that the Queen on special cause is here Her Army is mou'd on. 1711 in 10th Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm. App. v. 160 It appears to be a mock-siege; tho' that Gluckle gained the town in earnest.

b. Strengthened by all, following (see ALL C. 10 a) or preceding. Obs. (exc. in comb. ALTHOUGH). Also by even preceding: see EVEN adv. 9 c.

Even though is not used by Shakspere nor in Bible of 1611.

*c*1325 Song Mercy 168 in E. E. Poems (1862) 123 Al þauȝ I kouþe, yf þat i wolde. *c*1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. Wace (Rolls) 16055 Powh al he hadde Crysten feyh, To þo Crysten he dide vuel enough. 13.. Cursor M. 4146 (Gött.) Al þou þair treuthes sundri wase. a 1400 in Hampole's Wks. (1866) I. 200 Þofe-all they know me noghte for þi sone. *c*1400 MAUNDEV. (Roxb.) Pref. 2 John Mawndevyle, Knyst, þof all I be vnworthy. *c*1450 St. Cuthbert (Surtees) 107 Þof all' he be with outen gylte. 1609, 1791 [see EVEN adv. 9 c]. 1896 J. H. NEWMAN Serm. Var. Occas. i. (1882) 12 Nor, even though it be told to her, can she enter into it.

† 6. Ormin has the combination þohh swa þehh, lit. 'though so though', 'though so yet', in the sense 'nevertheless', 'notwithstanding'. Cf. THOUGH-WHETHER in same sense.

This is the only use of the form þehh in Ormin.

c 1200 ORMIN 9717, & þeose name þohh swa þehh Bitacneþþ rihhtwisnesse. Ibid. 395 [see A. 4], 1104, 9713.

III. as sb. The word used as a name for itself, or an utterance of it. nonce-use. (Cf. IF B.)

1634 CANNE Necess. Separ. (1849) 255 To answer his ifs & thoughs & whats particularly.

† Thoughless, pajles, adv. or conj. Obs. [i. þaȝ, THOUGH + -LESS adv.] Nevertheless.

1340 Ayenb. 6 Oure lhord...ous uorbyet..þet me ne zuerie, ...pajles ine guode skele me may zuerie wyþ-oute zenne. Ibid. 8 þis heste uorbyet þet non ne ssel slage oȝren...Pajles uor to slaȝe þe misdoeres,...hit is guod riȝt by þe laȝe. Ibid. 9.

Thought [(θɔ̄t). Forms: 1–3 þoht, 1–4 þoht, 2–4 þought, 3–4 þoȝt, 3–5 þouȝt, 5– thought; also 3 þoucht, (Orm.) þohht (θhoχt), 3–4 þoȝte, 4 thouȝt, (thouht, thouth, thout, thoght); 4–5 þoȝht, thoȝt, (þout, þouth, thoȝth), Sc. thoucht; 4–7 thoght; 5 þowȝt, þouȝte, thoȝte, (thowhte, powȝth, þowth, towyth (? towȝth), 5–6 thoughte, thowhte, thowhte, 6 thowghte, thoft), 4– Sc. thocht. [OE. þoht, shortened from þōht*, :–þaŋχt-*, from stem of þencan THINK v.2 + -t suffix 3. Cf. OS. githâht (Du. gedachte), OHG. gidâht; also ON. þótti, þóttr, Goth. þâhtus (:–þuŋχtus*). In most of the senses thought corresponds not so much to OE. þoht, as to the compound geþoht, which survived in the 12th c. as þoht: see sense 2.]

1. The action or process of thinking; mental action or activity in general, esp. that of the intellect; exercise of the mental faculty; formation and arrangement of ideas in the mind.

In quot. *c*1250, thinking in a specified way; nearly = feeling, emotion.

a 839 Laws of Ecgbert c. 5 Mid þohtes wilnunga..besmiten. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 2254 Quanne losep hem alle saȝ, Kinde ðoȝt in his heorte was ðaȝ. 1377 LANGL. P. Pl. B. v. 513 þise Ribaudes..repente hem..þat euere þei wrathed þe...in wowde, þoute, or dedes. c 1425 Craft of Nombrynge (E.E.T.S.) 28 Here he teches þe to multiplie be þowȝt figures in þi mynde. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 492/1 Thowhte, or thynkynge, cogitacio. 1530 PALSGR. 280/2 Thought, the laboryng of the mynde, cogitation, pensee. 1637 MILTON Lycidas 189 With eager thought warbling his Dorick lay. 1704 NORRIS Ideal World II. iii. 102 Whether Brutes are capable of thought? 1794 PALEY Evid. III. viii. (1817) 393 Thought..can be completely suspended and completely restored. 1872 KINGSLEY Hypatia (ed. 2) 266 The pale..student, oppressed with the weight of careful thought. 1875 JOWETT Plato (ed. 2) IV. 270 Psychology..analyses the transition from sense to thought.

b. As a function or attribute of a living being: Thinking as a permanent characteristic or condition; the capacity of thinking; the thinking faculty; in early use often nearly = mind.

c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. xxii. 37 Luca drihten..of alle hearte ðine & of alle sauele ðine & in alle ðoht ðinne [L. in tota mente tua]. — Mark v. 15 Sittende ȝecladed.. & hales ðohtes [L. sane mentis]. [*c*1175 Lamb. Hom. 99 He onlihte ure mod mid seofanfald ȝife, þet is mid wisdom, and angite mid þohte, and streinde [etc.]] c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 71 We hauen on ure þoht, to shewen him ure sinnes. a 1300 Cursor M. 22166 (Ed.n.) Þai sale be studiand in þair þoste [Gött. thouth] Quan þair þaie he be crisie oure nai. Ibid. 25598 Do wickednes vte of vr thoght. c 1386 CHAUCER Wife's T. 227 Greet was the wo the knyght hadde in his thoght. c 1400 Emare 223 Alle hys hert & alle hys þowȝth, He to love was yeborowȝht. c 1460 Wisdom 959 in Macro Plays 67 Put yt, Lorde, in-to my thowte. c 1470 HENRY Wallace I. 251 With hewy cheyr and sorowful in thocht. 1605 SHAKS. Lear IV. vi. 45 Had he bin where he thought, By this had thought bin past. 1830 TENNYSON Deserted House I, Life and Thought have gone away. 1877 E. R. CONDER Bas. Faith i. 8 Thought, feeling, will, are the three strands of the triple cord of life.

c. The product of mental action or effort; what one thinks; that which is in the mind (sometimes, as expressed in language: cf. quot. 1702).

c 1200 ORMIN 2577 Forr hire þohht & hire word & hire weorrc wuss clene. c 1250 Hymne to God 12 in Trin. Coll. Hom. 228 Þu þe wost al ure þoucht. c 1290 Beket 1188 in S. Eng. Leg. I. 140 He rounede in is wiues ere, and tolde hire al is þoȝt. c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints i. (Petrus) 424 Cum forth, and say þi thoucht and ded but delay. c 1400 MAUNDEV. (Roxb.) xiii. 59 Oure Lord takes mare hede to thoȝt þan to word. 1560 BIBLE (Genev.) Ps. cxxxix. 2 Thou vnderstandest my thoght afarre off. 1702 ADDISON Dial. Medals i. Wks. 1721 I. 439 One..may often find as much thought on the reverse of a Medal as in a Canto of Spenser. 1732 POPE Hor. Sat. II. ii. 129 Thus Bethel spoke, who always speaks his thought. 1822 T. B. CORNWALL Flood Thessaly ii. 533 Those wondrous letters..By which bright thought was in its quick flight stopp'd And saved from perishing. 1865 TYLOR Early Hist. Man. iv. 68 Thought is not even present to the thinker, till he has set it forth out of himself.

d. In a collective sense (with defining adj.): The intellectual activity or mental product characteristic of the thinkers of a particular class, time, or place; what is or has been thought by the philosophers or learned men of some specified country, etc.

a 1853 ROBERTSON Lect. (1858) 228 Wordsworth is the type of English thought. 1856 N. Brit. Rev. XXVI. 39 How old is Modern Thought?—a few years only:—we think ten years—in this country, will include the time within which this peculiar tendency and feeling has distinctly shown its characteristics...Modern Thought, regarded as the opposite and the antagonist of an unexceptive submission to the authority of Holy Scripture. 1884 F. TEMPLE Relat. Relig. & Sc. v. (1885) 132 The leaders of scientific thought. Mod. Plato and Aristotle, the leaders of Greek thought.

2. (with a and pl.) A single act or product of thinking; an item of mental activity; something that one thinks or has thought; a thing that is in the mind; an idea, notion. (Sometimes, as expressed in writing: as in quots. 1645, 1709, 1875.)

c 975 Rushw. Gosp. Matt. ix. 4 And þa þeseende Þohtas heora cwæþ to heom forhwon þencaþ ge yfel in heortum eowrum? [c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 109 Þan alden his to warniene wiþ unele i ohtas.] c 1200 Vices & Virt. 11 Oþer of boþutes oþer of wordes oþer of weorkes. 13.. Cursor M. 2710 (Cott.) Vr thoghtes ar þai be thoght..he seis. 1451 CAPGRAVE Life St. Gilbert 86 Occupied with orisones and meditacionis to avoyde euel boutes. 1557 N. T. (Genev.) 2 Cor. x. 5 Wherewith we..bringe into capitulatie euery thoght, to the obedience of Christe. c 1568 KING H. STEWARD in Bann. Poems (Hunter. Cl.) 70 Gif cairfull thoftis restoir My havy hairt. 1604 SHAKS. Oth. III. iii. 161 Oth. He know thy Thoughts. Iago. You cannot, if my heart be in your hand, Nor shall not, whil'st 'tis in my custodie. 1645 FULLER (title) Good Thoughts in Bad Times. 1709 POPE Ess. Crit. 354 The last..couplet fraught With some unmeaning thing they call a thought. 1754 GRAY Progr. Poesy III. iii. Thoughts that breathe, and words that burn. 1803–6 WORDSW. Intim. Immort. xi, Thoughts that do often lie too deep for tears. 1824 L. M. HAWKINS Annaline I. 344, I will collect my scattered thoughts. 1864 BROWNING Ad Vigor viii, One scarce can say...That he even gave it a thought. 1875 JOWETT Plato (ed. 2) V. 28 A similar thought is repeated in the Laws. 1891 'J. S. WINTER' Lumley i, Here I'm idle and haven't a thought in my head—there my brain positively teems with ideas.

b. spec. An idea suggested or recalled to the mind; a reflection, a consideration.

a 1240 Urtisun in Cott. Hom. 203 Hwi ne bi-hold ich þis euer in mine heorte, and þenche ôet hit was for me...þis þoht wolde siierliche ontenden so þoht lue on me. 1593 SHAKS. Rich. II, v. v. 46 Like silly Beggars, Who sitting in the Stockes, refuge their shame That many have, and others must sit there; And in this Thought, they finde a kind of ease. 1665 BOYLE Occas. Refl. v. v, This..is onely to tell us, what you observe's not, what Reflections you made upon it, and..that which I was inquisitive after, was your Thoughts. 1818 SCOTT Hrt. Midl. xxxvii, The thoughts that ye hae intervened to spare the puir thing's life will be sweeter in that hour..than [etc.]. 1853 J. H. NEWMAN Par. Serm. (1837) I. i. 15 Though this thought should not make a man despair to-day, yet it should ever make him tremble for to-morrow.

c. Second thoughts: ideas occurring subsequently; later and maturer consideration (usu. in phr. on or upon second thoughts). So first thoughts.

1642 CHAS. I Mess. to Both Houses 28 Apr. 4 Second thoughts may present somewhat to your considerations which escaped you before. 1667 MILTON P. L. IX. 273 Now advise Or hear what to my mind first thoughts present. 1689 BP. CARTWRIGHT Chaged Coll. (Camden) 15 Are you ..willing upon better and second thoughts to submit? 1711 HICKES Two Treat. Chr. Priesth. (1847) II. 396, I desire you to send your second thoughts and reflections upon it. 1838 J. H. NEWMAN Par. Serm. (1842) VI. ix. 41 It is often said that second thoughts are best; so they are in matters of judgment, but not in matters of conscience. 1864 TENNYSON Sea Dreams 65 Is it so true that second thoughts are best? Not first, and third, which are a riper first? 1891 Pall Mall G. 5 Are you ..willing upon better and second thoughts to submit? 1711 HICKES Two Treat. Chr. Priesth. (1847) II. 396, I desire you to send your second thoughts and reflections upon it. 1838 J. H. NEWMAN Par. Serm. (1842) VI. ix. 41 It is often said that second thoughts are best; so they are in matters of judgment, but not in matters of conscience. 1864 TENNYSON Sea Dreams 65 Is it so true that second thoughts are best? Not first, and third, which are a riper first?

3. Proverbial Phrases (from 1 and 2): a. As swift as thought, etc.; so at, like, upon, or with a thought, in an instant, immediately, at once. b. Thought is free: one is at liberty to think as one will.

a 1225 Ancr. R. 94 Ase swifte ase is nu monnes þoht, & ase is þe sunne gleam. 1572 FORREST Theophilus 342 in Anglia VII, Made in vocation, And was present in manner, as a thought. 1588 SHAKS. L. L. L. V. ii. 261 Fleeter then arrows, bullets, wind, thought. 1610 — Temp. iv. i. 164 Come with a thought; I thank thee Ariell: come. 1612 — Wint. T. IV. iv. 565 Faster then Thought, or Time. 1845 GOSSE Ocean iv. (1849) 108 The whole body of fishes like a thought, leaving their unhappy comrade to his fate. 1885 C. F. HOLDER Marvels Anim. Life 230 Quick as thought the skipper hurled his weapon.

b. 1580 LYLY Euphues (Arb.) 281 Thought is free my Lord quoth she. a 1600 [see THRALL *a.*1 (b)]. 1601 SHAKS. Twel. N. i. iii. 73. 1673 KIRKMAN Unlucky Citizen 185, I would tell him that thought was free, and I should not tell him what I thought. 1690 DRYDEN Amphitryon ii. i, I dare say nothing, but thought is free.

4. In various specialized senses (from 1 and 2): cf. various senses of THINK v.[2]

a. Consideration, attention, heed, care, regard. To take thought, to consider, meditate (how to do something, etc.). In quot. 1262 implying indecision.

a 1250 Owl & Night. 492 He ne rekþ noht of clennesse, Al his þoht is of golnesse. a 1300 Cursor M. 1563 (Cott.) On al thinges was mare þair thoght [G. thoghtes] þan was on drighin þat al wroght. c 1385 CHAUCER L. G. W. 373 (Balade) This schulde a rygghtwys lord han in his thoght. 1509 Payne Fool Marr. 125 And wyll take thought, and often mose How he mygte fynde [etc.] 1558 Rep. Privy Council Scot. I. 519 Ne persoun..takkis thocht quhat unhappy deid he sall tak upoun hand. 1602 SHAKS. Ham. III. i. 85 And thus the Native hew of Resolution Is sicklied o're, with the pale cast of Thought. 1684 EARL ROSCOMMON Ess. Transl. Verse 160 Pride, Proceeds from Ignorance, and want of Thought. 1742 GRAY Ode Eton Coll. x, Thought would destroy their paradise. a 1845 HOOD Lady's Dream xvi, Evil is wrought by want of Thought, As well as want of Heart! 1862 P. HALL Hindu Philos. Syst. 109 To realize his own wretchedness, so that he may take thought how to escape from it.

b. Meditation, mental contemplation; † perplexity, puzzled condition of mind (quot. 1387, and cf. 5); † transf. subject of meditation (quot. c 1300).

a 1300 Floris & Bl. 34 On blancheflur was al his þoht. c 1300 B. F. Feather cxviii[i]. 109 Hou lued i lauerd, þi lagh ai; Mi thoghte es it al þe dai. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) I. 311 To brynge here hertes out of bought þat here þeyl speke of laborintus, here I telle what laborinthus is to menynge. c 1420 Sir Amadace (Camden) xx, On the dede cors, that lay on bere, Ful mycelle his thoghte was on. 1612 SIR W. MURE Misc. Poems ii. 13 Perceaung me in thot perplex'd. 1715 POPE 2nd Ep. Miss Blount 33 In pensive thought recall the fancy'd scene. 1842 TENNYSON Lord of Burleigh 21 From deep thought himself he rouses. Mod. She was lost in thought.

c. Conception, imagination, fancy.

a 1300 Cursor M. 21630 (Edin.) Mar mitis hauis nr haued wrost Þian ani man mai þinc in thogt. 1413 Pilgr. Soule (Caxton 1483) iii. x. 56 The grete horrour thereof may not be ..declared by..thought of mannes herte. 1593 SHAKS. Lucr. 288 Within his thought her heavenly image sits. 1602 MARSTON A. & M. I. Wks. 1856 I. 29, I long, beyond all thought, To know the man. 1671 MILTON Samson 117 O change beyond report, thought, or belief! 1742 COLLINS Ecl. ii. 50 When thought creates unnumber'd scenes of woe. 1832 TENNYSON Miller's Dau. 237 With blessings beyond hope or thought. 1850 — In Mem. lxx. 8 In shadowy thoroughfares of thought.

d. The entertaining of some project in the mind; the idea or notion of doing something, as contemplated or entertained in the mind; hence, intention, purpose, design; esp. an imperfect or half-formed intention; with negative expressed or implied = not the least intention or notion of doing something. Also in pl. as 'to have thoughts (of)'. Cf. THINK v.[2] 8.

c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 1153 Þis maidenes deden it in god þhoht. c 1320 Cast. Love 4 For nas neuere good werk wrought Wt-oute biginninge of good þoht. c 1425 Cast. Persev. 581 in Macro Plays 94 Of worldly good is al his þouth. 1525 COVERDALE Jer. xxix. 11 I knowe, what I haue deuysed for you..My thoughtes are to geue you peace & not trouble. 1610 SHAKS. Temp. IV. i. 220, I do begin to haue bloody thoughts. a 1771 GRAY Tophet 6 Satan's self had thoughts of taking orders. 1818 SCOTT Hrt. Midl. xlix, Knock down the lass as she has no thought to buy it. 1849 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. vi. II. 76 All thought of returning to the policy of the Triple Alliance was abandoned. Mod. I had some thought of going, but found I could not manage it. I had no thoughts of it then.

e. Remembrance, 'mind'. † To hold in thought, † to have thought on, to keep in mind, remember. Obs. or merged in the general sense.

1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 6553 Of alle is proute deden i ne may uorbere nost, þat i ne mot þou telle of on, nou it comeþ in mi þoht. 13.. Cursor M. 24012 (Gött.) To domes-dai liue if i mogte, & yode it neuer on of mi thoght. 13.. Minor Poems fr. Vernon MS. i. 66 Hold hem in þi þouht. c 1400 Gamelyn 474 Adams wordes he held in his thought. c 1475 Rauf Coilzear 257 Haue gude thocht on my Name. 1611 SHAKS. Cymb. IV. iv. 33, I and my Brother are not knowne; your selfe So out of thought,..Cannot be question'd.

f. Mental anticipation, expectation. (Now mostly with negative expressed or implied.)

a 1307 in Pol. Songs (Camden) 220 Tho [=when] he wes in Scotlond, lutel wes ys thoht Of the harde iugement that him wes bysoht In stounde. 1597 SHAKS. 2 Hen. IV, i. iii. 30 Flatting himselfe with Project of a power, Much smaller, then the smallest of his Thoughts. 1611 BIBLE Ps. xlix. 11 Their inward thought is, that their houses shall continue for euer. 1677 HALE Contempl. ii. 127, I had thoughts to find repose there. Mod. I had no thought of meeting him there.

g. An opinion or judgement; a belief or supposition; what one thinks of or about a thing or person.

1596 SHAKS. 1 Hen. IV, iii. ii. 131 Heauen forgiue them, that so much haue sway'd Your Maiesties good thoughts away from me. 1606 — Tr. & Cr. iv. i. 53 Who in your thoughts merits faire Helen most? 1613 WEBSTER Devil's Law-Case (1623) 270 Yet I have failed to the good thought I held of you. 1786 BURNS Twa Dogs 221 The Ladies arm-in-arm..As great an' gracious a' as sisters; But hear their absent thoughts o' them. 1832 SCOTT Ct. Robt. xxvii, What, then, are thy thoughts of the Emperor? 1838 BROWNING Childe Roland i, My first thought was, he lied in every word.

† 5. Anxiety or distress of mind; solicitude; grief, sorrow, trouble, care, vexation. To take thought, to trouble oneself, grieve, be anxious or distressed. Obs. (exc. dial.: see Eng. Dial. Dict.).

c 1220 Bestiary 682 in O. E. Misc. 22 He suggeden & sorqeden & weren in þoht, Wu he mihten him helpen ovt. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 1432 Ysaac..wuaðe ôor in þoht and care, For moderes dead and sondes fare. c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. (1810) 85 þe kyng had fulle grete þouht, his reame agayn him ros. c 1425 Cast. Persev. 292 in Macro Plays 86, I stonde & troobye, vl hil of þouth. 1489 CAXTON Faits & V. 46 Paris kyssed Vyenne with grete syghes and thoughtes. c 1500 Nutbrown Maid 119 in Hazlitt E. P. P. II. 277 To make thought, Your labur were in vayne. 1523 LD. BERNERS Froiss. I. ccxxxiii. 304 His wyfe..toke moche thought for his enprysyng. 1526 TINDALE Matt. vi. 31 Therfore take no thought sayynge: what shall we eate? 1556 BP. PONET Treat. Politic Power I iij b, Wriothesley..either poisoned himself, or pyned awaye for thought. 1608 E. GRIMSTONE Hist. Francois (1612) 276 Valentine, Duchesse of Orleans (seeing her paines lost..) dies for thought within few daies after. 1613 PURCHAS Pilgrimage (1614) 871 Soto died of thought in Florida.

b. transf. A cause of distress or anxiety, a 'trouble'. Obs. exc. Sc. and dial.

1649 CROMWELL in Carlyle Lett. & Sp. (1871) II. 188 How many considerable ones we have lost, is no little thought of heart to us. 1887 Suppl. to Jamieson, Addenda, s. v., That wild son has been a sair thocht..to his mother. 1895 CROCKETT in Cornh. Mag. Dec. 569 So many bairn's things were just a cumber and a thocht to me.

6. A very small amount, a very little, a trifle. (Usually, now always, adverbial.)

1582 MULCASTER Positions xxxix. (1887) 204 The prince is a thought abouue him for all he be his brother in respect of old Adam. 1599 SHAKS. Much Ado III. iv. 24, I like the new tire ..if the haire were a thought browner. 1617 HIERON Wks. II. 207 A wound may be giuen in a thought of time, which yet may be in healing aboue a yeere. 1628 GAULE Pract. The. Panegyr. 49 They are not currant, if they want the least Thought of a Graine. 1727 SWIFT Let. to Sheridan 12 Aug., My giddiness seized me, I think I am a thought better. 1818 SCOTT Rob Roy iv, He seems a thought rash. 1897 G. ALLEN Type-writer Girl xvii, The champagne..was a thought too dry.

7. attrib. and Comb. a. attrib., as thought-accent (accent of thought), thought-box, -coop, defect, -form, -life, -line, -manufactory, -part, -production, -seed, -sheep, -sign, -system. b. objective and obj. gen., as thought-abhorring, -exceeding, -giving, -inspiring, -reviving, -shaming, -sounding, -stirring, -straining, -tracing, -transcending adjs.; thought-catcher, -conductor, -maker, -sprinkler, † -taking (see 5). c. instrumental, as thought-bewildered (bewildered by thought), thought-burdened, -fed, -laden, -pressed, -unsounded, -wearied, -working, -worn; locative, as thought-bound (bound in thought), thought-fixed, -free, -set, -tinted; similative, as thought-swift; thought-worthy (worthy of thought). d. Special Combs.: thought-body (Psychics), see quot.; thought-consciousness, consciousness in the state in which it is during the process of thought; thought-counter, a current symbol of a thought; thought-executing a., (a) in quot. 1605, † doing execution with the swiftness of thought (Aldis Wright); (b) executing the thought or intention of a person; † thought-sick a., sick with † thought or thinking; thought-sign, a symbol of thought or judgement, the copula of a predication; † thoughtswift, flying a., that flies as swift as thought; † thought-taking sb., the taking of thought; thought-transfer, -transference (Psychics), transference or communication of thought from one mind to another apart from the ordinary channels of sense; telepathy; thought-transfer v., trans. to convey by thought or telepathically; hence thought-transferential a., pertaining to thought-transference; thought-wave, (a) in Psychics, a 'wave' or undulation of a hypothetical medium of thought-transference; (b) a † wave or impulse of thought passing simultaneously through a crowd of persons or other living beings; thought-word, a word conceived in the mind but not uttered; thought-writing, the recording of thought by graphic symbols directly denoting ideas; ideography. See also THOUGHT-READING.

1835 Woman I. 104 An idle set, a *thought-abhorring crew. 1897 ANNYU. Greek Gram. § 40 The *Thought-Accent is the stress or emphasis laid upon a word or syllable, in order to bring out the meaning of the sentence. 1796 COLERIDGE in J. Cottle Early Recoll. (1837) I. 199, I wandered on so *thought-bewildered, that it is no wonder I became way-bewildered. 1893 H. R. HAWEIS in Forth. Rev. Jan. 121–2 Assume that there is something personal about us able to manifest and arrange matter, and thus assert itself after death..suppose we call that something our *thought-body. Consider then the evidence; first, for the thought-body as Double, and second, for the thought-body as Ghost. 1886 TUPPER My Life as Author 145 The emptying out of my *thought-box.., a most necessary relief. 1892 SYMONDS Michel Angelo II. xii. viii. 31 This terrible *thought-burdened form. 1584 LYLY Campaspe v. iv, I am no *thought catcher, but I geese vnhappily. 1889 SIR W. F. BUTLER C. G. Gordon viii. (1899) 183 This lightning *thought-conductor [the electric telegraph] had been used..to disseminate lies and foster gambling in stocks or horses. 1901 E. B. TITCHENER Exper. Psychol. I. i. 1 A *thought-consciousness, our mind as it is when we are arguing something out. 1870 LOWELL Study Wind. (1886) 309 His importation of the French theory of the couplet as a kind of *thought-coop did nothing but mischief. 1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VII. 423 The auditory and visual images of words which constitute our habitual *thought-counters. 1637 NABBES Microcosm. I. B iv b, Dispute not..your owne *thought-defects. 1593 NASHE Christ's T. Wks. (Grosart) IV. 61 *Thought-executing glorification. 1605 SHAKS. Lear III. ii 4 You Sulph'rous and *Thought-executing Fires. 1819 SHELLEY Prometh. Unb. I. i. 387 Trampled down By his thought-executing ministers. 1874 GEO. ELIOT Coll. Breakf. P. 472 The thrill ..Of *thought-fed passion. 1773 BRATTIE Tri. Melancholy III, The *thought-fix'd purtrainture, the breathing bust. 1892 Month Jan. 10 The *Thought-forms with which he has surrounded himself. 1626 SHIRLEY Brothers v. iii, To clear myself *thought-free From any promise. 1729 SAVAGE Wanderer III. 167 *Thought-inspiring Woe. a 1847 ELIZA COOK Summer is High iv, My *thought-laden brow. 1834 J. PARKER Apostolic Life III. 267 The writing..is a kind of body in which his *thought-life lives for ever. 1909 J. WELLS Stewart of Lovedale xxxiv. 371 His strenuous life had deepened the *thought-lines on his strong face. 1855 Pict. Cabr. Heroism 244 Pictures of the *thought-maker at his work. 1850 RUSKIN Mod. Paint. V. viii. i. § 14. 164 From the time of the Ariso[phanes thought-shop to the great German establishment, or *thought-manufactory. 1796 T. TOWNSHEND Poems 69 The musing *thought-prest head. 1884 J. TAIT Mind in Matter (1892) 114 Tunnelling out a theory of *thought-production. 1825 D. L. RICHARDSON Sonn. 24 A calm and *thought-reviving sound. 1839 BAILEY Festus xx. (1848) 245 He would his brain had died ere it conceived One half the *thought-seeds that took life in it. 1813 HOGG Queen's Wake 225 Still his *thought-set eye was raised To Ettrick mountains. 1605 SYLVESTER Du Bartas ii. iii. 1. Abraham 373 Your *thought-shaming acts. 1598 J. DICKENSON Greene in Conc. (1878) 109 *Thought-sicke louers haue onely reason their soueraigne refuge. 1602 SHAKS. Ham. III. iv. 51. 1854 S. NEIL Elem. Khet. 34 The *thought-sign is also possesses its own specific signification.

1598 SYLVESTER Du Bartas II. I. iv. Handie-crafts 304 Reinsearching thoughtwounding Judge. a 1774 TUCKER Lit. Nat. (1834) II. 506 Thought*-stirring fervours of prayer and devotion. 1595 MARKHAM Sir R. Grinvile xiv, In that same myd-daies lower came sailing in a thought*-swift-flying pynnace. 1900 Month Sept. 262 The Church has used..whatever other thought*-system she has found in vogue. 1615 HIERON Wks. I. 661 Exercised with a world of cares and thought*-takings. 1668 WILKINS Real Char. II. viii. 201 Anxiety, Discontent, thought-taking, dump, trouble, anguish. c 1845 Hood Two Peacocks xv, As if thought*-tinted by the stains Of gorgeous light through many-colour'd panes. 1791 COWPER Yardley Oak 158 The thought*-tracing quill. a 1721 KEN Hymnarium Poet. Wks. 1721 II. 104 O Great I am, enthroned on high, Of Thought*-transcending Majesty. 1898 Month Sept. 232 Other perplexing instances are tortured into cases of thought*-transfer. 1901 Westm. Gaz. 8 Jan. 4/2 The Psychic has only got to thought-transfer his desire for telepathic verification. 1884 E. GURNEY in Pall Mall G. 29 May 2/2 Our conclusion as to genuine thought*-transference. 1886 MYERS Phantasms Living I. lxxxi. 43 It was thus..that thought-transference, or telepathy, was first discovered. 1905 A. R. WALLACE My Life II. 310 Thought, or brainvibrations, may be carried by the ether to other brains, and thus produce thought-transference. 1890 O. LODGE in Proc. Soc. Psych. Research Dec. 461 The hypothesis of a direct thought*-transferential means of obtaining information. 1898 SWINBURNE In the Bay xxxix, The thought*-unsounded sea. 1891 Cent. Dict., Thought*-wave. 1901 Daily Chron. 18 Sept. 3/2 The Greek idea of a thought-wave, or wind of thought, sweeping through crowds. 1818 SHELLEY Lines Bonaparte's Letter I. 24 The sun floats up the sky, Like thought*-winged Liberty. 1889 MIVART Orig. Hum. Reason 106 Expressing a voluminous perception by a sudden gesture far too rapid even for thought*-speed. 1905 Hibbert Jrnl. Jan. 277 The doctrine of the Logos, the Thought-Word in the Cosmos. 1816 L. HUNT Rimini iv. 88 His thought*-working head. 1846 MRS. GORE Eng. Char. (1852) 127 Sparing and thought*-worn, there is nothing in his gravity of brow to encourage indiscreet encroachment. 1889 LEVER Davenport Dunn ii, Thoughts of what alone is thought*-worthy. 1890 Smithsonian Rep. 50 The monographs on sign language and ideography, having as their text the attainments of the North American Indians, may contribute to the understanding of similar exhibitions of evanescent and durable thought*-writing.

Hence (chiefly nonce-wds.) †Thoughtive a., addicted to or engaged in thought, thoughtful; Thoughtkin, Thoughtlet, Thoughtling, a small or insignificant thought; Thoughtsman (nonce-wd., after draughtsman, etc.): see quot.

